

Red Forces Massing For New Action

Germans Report Crossing Of Danube By Soviets 15 Miles From Hungarian Border; Broadcasts Report Open Revolt Inside Budapest As Reds Drive On City.

London, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The German high command said today the Russians had crossed the Danube at Apatin, in northern Yugoslavia 15 miles south of the Hungarian border and 125 miles south of Budapest, and a "battle is still raging there."

The broadcast, communique said the Russians had penetrated that part of Apatin which is on the west bank.

The Russians were reported massing men and materials along the eastern front today for the "decisive action against the vital centers of Germany" promised by Premier Stalin.

A brief Soviet communique dismissed developments by noting "no essential changes at the front," but the German radio, in a portentous tone, described the comparative quiet as "the calm before the storm."

Besieged and strife-torn Budapest was considered the most likely target for a fresh and heavier assault. The Berlin radio reported new concentrations of Soviet tanks in the outskirts of the Hungarian capital.

The Russian drive on the city over the plains from the Tisza river slowed perceptibly two days ago in the face of desperate German and Hungarian resistance and heavy rains which interfered with operations southeast of the capital.

Red army spokesmen have been reported in the northern and south-eastern suburbs of Budapest and a flanking armored column apparently is about 12 miles north of the city. Another quick advance along the Danube river valley in that sector was reported last night by the Morocco radio.

Continental broadcasts told of open revolt inside Budapest, but there has as yet been no confirmation that Soviet troops actually are inside the capital.

New blows also were expected against the 30 battered German divisions reported trapped in western Latvia beyond the Baltic port of Liepaja. The German command last night said the first stage of the battle at this front was a defensive victory for their army which they said warded off blows of 60 Russian infantry divisions and 18 tank divisions.

East Prussia, which is expected to be a theater of violent battle this winter, was the scene of local fighting along the Niemen river yesterday.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst. The way military operations are developing in Europe it looks as though the Allies were getting ready for simultaneous offensives in both West and East. A squeeze attack calculated to achieve a quick kill through terrific pressure. Along with the evidences of General Eisenhower's preparations for a big drive it's now reported that the Red armies are massing in strategic sectors of their long front. So Marshal Stalin meant business when he said last Monday that the Allies had assumed starting positions for an offensive against the cities of Germany, and that the Reich is "on the verge of inevitable catastrophe."

Where Stalin Locates German Strength

On eve of what Stalin termed great actions pending against Germany, the Russian premier reported the disposition of German armed strength as shown on this map. Latest battlelines also are shown extending down into the Balkans. Boxes show German divisions, while arrows locate main Allied drives on the squeeze upon the enemy (AP Wirephoto).

NAZIS CANCEL CELEBRATION

Munich Putsch Anniversary Passes Speechless

London, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Berlin broadcast indicated today that for the first time the greatest of Nazi party holidays will pass without a speech from Adolf Hitler.

Last night was the eve of the annual celebration of the abortive 1923 Munich Beer Hall Putsch, and it has been the custom since Hitler's rise to power for high ranking party members to meet in Munich with him and renew their pledges of faith in the Fuehrer.

But the German radio announced that because of the Reich's "total mobilization" the celebration would take place "at a later date" not specified. It appeared that no speech would be forthcoming from Hitler.

Earlier neutral correspondents in Berlin cabled they had been informed the party expected Hitler to speak. When he had not gone on the air by 8 p. m. a powerful ghost voice broke into a German radio program with this demand:

"Why doesn't Hitler speak? Why does the Fuehrer keep silent? What is the matter with Hitler?"

Hitler has made no appearances before a microphone since July 21, when a voice purporting to be his broadcast an assurance to the German people that he was safe after the bomb attempt on his life.

The London News-Chronicle said yesterday it had "reliable information" that Hitler's silence has been due to mental illness.

Yanks Battle Typhoon And Reinforced Jap Column In Drive Toward Ormoc

By C. YATES McDANIEL General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 9.—(AP)—(via Army Radio)—Weather-beaten Yanks there have spread thin and their supplies bogged down, are fighting extremely tough Japanese opposition in the battle for the road to Ormoc today.

Elements of four Japanese divisions, including the crack First, are making the Americans pay dearly for every ridge in the Pinamopan area.

Only a trickle of supplies is reaching the Yanks because of roads made impassable by the storm, while many advance units are conserving their ammunition and in some cases going without food.

Major Gen. Irving, 24th division commander, told Fred Hampson, Associated Press war correspondent with the 24th, he was convinced a heavy Japanese concentration is across his front and that it will take a powerful assault to clear it out.

He added that the Carigara coast road is in such bad condition he (Continued on page seven)

Methodists Ask Dry Referendum

Raleigh, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Delegates to the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church in annual session here, were on record today as requesting the 1945 session of the General Assembly to call a referendum "for the restoration of laws for the absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic."

At the same time the conference heard Bishop Edwin Holt of Washington, deliver an address on temperance in honor of the anniversary of the conference's board on temperance.

The prohibition resolution was presented by Rev. L. D. Hayman of Whiteville, and said that "the people of North Carolina have twice voted to make illegal the manufacture and sale of intoxicants."

The resolution also recalled that all candidates for governor this year had pledged themselves for such a referendum.

Bishop Hughes told the delegates that alcoholic beverages cannot be legalized without sin.

Memorial services were held for the Revs. G. W. Perry, E. D. Weather, L. B. Pattishall, E. H. McWhorter, N. B. Johnson, D. R. Williams and T. G. Vickers, who died during the last year.

Meadows Trial Set For Jan. 29

Dr. Leon Meadows, former president of East Carolina Teachers College, will be tried in January on charges of embezzlement and false pretense in the handling of college funds.

Dr. Meadows, scheduled to be brought to trial next Monday at a special term of court ordered by Governor Broughton, was granted a 60-day postponement last night by Judge Clawson Williams in Kingston.

Meadows' attorney asked a 90-day delay to complete an audit of the college's books and to complete their defense. Solicitor D. M. Clark opposed any postponement. At the conclusion of the two-hour long hearing, Judge Williams granted the 60-day deferment and set the trial for January 29.

The Pitt county grand jury indicted Dr. Meadows on 12 counts early this year after a state audit had charged the educator failed to account for $13,000 of college and special student funds.

Superior Court Clerk J. F. Harrington today announced that the special term of court scheduled for Monday had been cancelled and special jurors and petit jurors would take notice not to appear as no court would be held.

Casualties Over Half A Million

Washington, Nov. 9.—(AP)—American battle casualties have passed the half-million mark.

Secretary of War Stimson said today that army casualties reported through Oct. 28 total 437,356. The latest navy list accounts for 71,839, giving a grand total for both services of 509,195, based on notices which have gone to next of kin.

The new army total is an increase of 20,235 over that reported a week ago, which covered the period through Oct. 21. Stimson said part of the jump is due to revision of the system for handling individual casualty reports, intended to bring the casualty figures more up to date.

The navy total increased 1,269 since its report a week ago.

The army casualties reported to date, compared with those reported a week ago, killed 24,811 and 80,666; wounded 243,054 and 229,212; missing 55,011 and 53,622; prisoners 54,480 and 53,621.

The navy comparison: killed 28,589 and 28,231; wounded 29,442 and 28,441; missing 9,311 and 9,421; prisoners 4,487 and 4,478.

Nation Goes Back To Work After Election

Roosevelt's Hand Strengthened By Democratic Gains In House And Senate

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS. President Roosevelt's fourth term victory, sweeping in the electoral vote, was won by the smallest popular vote margin since 1916, the nearly complete returns indicated today.

With 44,353,865 votes reported, the President's edge over Governor Charles E. Dewey stood at 2,867,319: Roosevelt, 23,610,587 and Dewey, 20,743,268.

The President was leading in states with 413 electoral votes and Dewey in states with 118, but where Michigan's 19 votes eventually would wind up was in doubt although Dewey held a slight lead.

Four years ago the President won 4,937,717 over Wendell L. Willkie in a total popular vote of 59,315,312. In 1936, he defeated Alf Landon by over 10,000,000 and in 1932 won from Herbert Hoover by more than 7,000,000.

Hoover's margin over Al Smith in 1928 exceeded 6,000,000. Calvin Coolidge won over John W. Davis in 1924 by more than 7,000,000. Warren G. Harding defeated James Cox in 1920 by over 7,000,000.

Woodrow Wilson's margin over Charles E. Hughes in 1916 was only the basis of late returns, the Democrats held a plurality of at least 49 seats with 13 contests still undecided.

Swept into office along with the President was a strengthened Democratic majority in the House. On decided. By contrast, the Democratic margin over the Republicans in the present House is only two seats with minor party members (Continued on page seven)

Throws In Three More Divisions In Offensive Near Metz; First Army Begins To Regain Lost Ground In Hurtgen Forest; Heavy Bombers Support Patton.

By WILLIAM FRYE. London, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army infantry jabbed into a yielding Nazi line at four places along a 50-mile front today in an attack supported by 1,300 U. S. heavy bombers which laid a carpet of explosives on front line enemy positions in the Metz area.

The Third Army chieftain threw in three more American divisions in the move toward the Rhine, doubling the force employed in the jump-off attack yesterday, and extended his operations to the north of the fortress city as well as to the south.

Berlin's radio commentators declared Patton, striking from just below the Luxembourg border to the Rhine-Marne canal east of Nancy, was signalling the prelude to "the big offensive" aimed at bursting open the historic gate to the Palatinates which was chosen by Napoleon as the marching route for his battalions and regiments.

The fortresses and Liberators, timing their blow at mid-morning, synchronized their attack with hundreds of divebombers which hit the same area, and swept to unusually low levels to pinpoint their targets.

It was one of the few times the heavy bombers have flown against tactical targets in this theater. A notable previous strike was in the St. Lo breakthrough in Normandy in July.

Pilots said snow blanketed many of the battle areas.

Front line dispatches said Patton sent two divisions into action north of Metz this morning and that fresh progress had been made in the area of Berg, just below the Luxembourg border. A third division joined the attack which attacked south of the city yesterday on a 25-mile front.

At least 16 villages were captured in the combined advance of the Third and Seventh armies, with two Third Army corps, the 12th and 26th, in action. Several of the villages had been previously captured, however, and relinquished in the face of counterattacks.

South of Metz the attack spread all the way from Cheminot, 10 miles south of Metz and four miles east of the Moselle to the Chateau-Snelins area where the doughboys hammered a mile-deep wedge north of the Rhine-Marne canal at a point 20 miles east of Nancy and an equal distance west of Sarrebourg.

DEWEY BACK ON THE JOB

Believes War Responsible For His Defeat.

By JACK BELL. Albany, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Giving evidence of feeling that he was licked by the war and not the Democrats, Governor Thomas E. Dewey went back to his desk in New York's historic old state capitol today to begin a new role as a defeated candidate who remains the titular head of his party.

Although the vanquished Republican presidential nominee declined public comment on the national election results, his supporters left no doubt that Dewey believes the single factor which gave President Roosevelt a fourth term victory was that a majority of Americans did not want to change administrations while the world battlefronts still are flaming.

Looking relaxed and fresh despite an almost sleepless night of analyzing election returns and talking by telephone to party members all over the nation, the governor told a news conference in New York City yesterday.

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW. Washington, Nov. 9.—(AP)—The veterans of World War I can get ready to cash in the last of the bonus money given them by Uncle Sam.

It will amount to about $273,050,000, all that's left of $3,710,000,000 originally set up for them.

Their 9-year bonus bonds—this was the second of two plans to do something for them—mature June 15, 1945. A great block of them was cashed in long ago.

The veterans of this war get their musing out pay—nobody calls it a bonus—when they're discharged. The most any one of them can get is $300.

They get a number of other benefits under the "G. I. Bill of Rights"—education, loans, unemployment pay—if they want them.

The veterans of the other war got none of those benefits. When mustered out they received only $1 for every day of service—up to 60 days in this country and $1.25—up to 90 days—for every day of overseas duty.

And for their bonus they battled a long time. Congress tried one plan to help them in 1925 and turned to another and final one in 1936.

After many other schemes had been rejected, Congress in 1924 set up a 20-year endowment insurance plan for them. This was really a bonus plan. It had no connection with the war risk insurance for which the men had paid during the war.

ODT Official To Be Here Tonight

Mr. E. S. Atkins, "Maintenance Specialist" of ODT will meet with members of the automotive industry, service station operators, truck operators, etc. tonight at 8 p. m. in the City Hall.

Mr. Atkins has just returned from the Atlanta office and will be in a position to pass on to you the latest available information on maintenance problems.

Everyone interested is invited to attend.

The insurance went into effect Jan. 1, 1928. The policies were supposed to mature in 1945. It worked this way:

Since they already had been paid for the first 60 days, that period of service was not counted in the insurance policy. But for every day of service beyond 60 days, the veteran received a credit of $1 if it was in this country, $1.25 if overseas.

But no veteran could get credit for more than 500 days. So the most cash credit he could get was $525 for 500 days overseas, $500 for 500 days in this country.

But—he received no cash in this deal. The money for days served was credited to him. It acted as full payment on his insurance policy.

This is the value of each veteran's policy varied according to the amount of his credit and age. The older he was—and therefore the shorter his life expectancy—the lower the insurance policy value.

Program At Art Gallery. The board of sponsors of the Community Art Center is inviting the public to see the exhibits now on display in the gallery at Sheppard Memorial Library.

The board is expanding its program. Not only will exhibits be shown regularly in the gallery, but monthly exhibits will be on display in the woman's club- USO for the benefit of the public. As well as for service men. Programs on the various arts will be given at least once a month in the auditorium at the library. The first program in the series will be given tonight at 8 o'clock when Dr. Robert Humber will talk about Art Museums he has seen at home and throughout the world.

The gallery is open to the public daily from 2 to 8 o'clock. Tonight it will open at 7 o'clock and remain open until 8, the hour for the program to begin.

The following exhibits are now showing: Graphic Art features a group of color lithographs, as well as examples of wood engraving, etching and lithography in black and white.

The group of color lithographs gives an excellent idea of the wide range of effects to be obtained through a method that answers the artist's demand for a print medium permitting freedom and spontaneity of expression, yet at the same time capable of producing multiple impressions. The group of black and white lithographs offers the visitor to the gallery the opportunity to study the work of a number of technical artists.

A small exhibit of reproductions of soldier-artists at Camp Davis, loaned by Mrs. Ward Moore Tripp, give interesting insights to a soldier's life at this North Carolina camp, as well as some beautiful views of camp buildings and activities.

In the exhibit case in the gallery can be seen beautiful Wedgewood and other pitchers from the pitcher collection of Mrs. R. M. Garrett.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR November 9, 1904

There was enough scratching to indicate that some folks must have the itch.

The man who bet the wrong way is most disgruntled.

Those Republicans who were expecting to carry North Carolina are wondering what struck them.

There may be some satisfaction in explaining how come, but the reason can be given in few words: The other fellow got the most votes.

The night of the election President Roosevelt made the statement that under no circumstances would he seek or accept a nomination for another term. He may get the country in such a fix as not to have any more presidents after his next four years expire, if his imperialistic ideas keep growing.

Chapter 18

Rory had been right. The sun beat down mercilessly on the ship as she made her way slowly through the locks and reaches and lakes of the Canal. There was no hurrying, no escape, no shade to be had except for the brief periods spent low in the locks. On deck it was a dazzling glare; inside the ship was like an oven.

Cherry had kept inside most of the day, watching as much as she could see through her portholes, avoiding both Rory and Douglas, who were on deck most of the time. Marines, fully armed, patrolled the ship steadily all day.

It gave them all a queer feeling to see the marines with their rifles and revolvers marching steadily around and around the decks, up and down and inside the accommodation, too see, too, the big silver barrage balloons suspended above the Canal, and the guns mounted along the banks.

In the early afternoon Terry dragged Cherry on deck to see Miraflore Lake. Douglas found a deck chair for her and put it close to his own. The others were standing by the rail, walking from side to side of the ship as someone called out that there was something fresh to look at.

"Come and sit down, Cherry. You can see everything from here by just turning your head. Use my binoculars."

It was the first time they had spoken today. His voice welcomed her, caressed her, asked her without words why she had been avoiding him again. He added regretfully, "You've missed a lot."

The Commodore steamed very, very slowly across the lake, leaving hardly a ripple. She made so little commotion that the song of birds on the little islands dotted all over the lake could be heard clearly.

Terry came and plumped down on the deck in front of them. "Oosh! I'm hot!"

She felt his arms and legs. His usually brown skin had gone a dusky pink. "You're embarrassed, darling. I'll put some lotion on that tonight."

"I'm not blistered," he said regretfully. "Rory! Uncle Douglas says she was once a forest, and they filled it with water to let the ships go through. Poor trees, those white things are ghosts, aren't they?"

"Very ghostly," Rory agreed, his eyes behind their dark glasses searching for Cherry. He found her sitting beside Douglas, and said hurriedly, "Come over to the other side, old man. We might see an alligator. They like the cool mud in the shadows, where the rivers come down into the lake."

Cherry saw Rory hesitate, and take the little boy away. She thought he'll think I've been sitting here with Douglas all day, making the most of the Canal.

Douglas said, "Use the glasses. It brings up all the detail." Obediently she took off her sun glasses and used the binoculars. They brought out each tiny detail like a cameo. Then she saw a lily tree with its white bells hanging motionless, a small lonely house on the bank with a patch of brighter green grass in front of it and a reboat moored to a stake, and a few hundred yards farther on a river flowing into the lake.

She shifted the glasses a little.

Framed in them now she could see Rory and Terry, larger than life. She saw Julia walk up and join them, fresh as paint in a white pleated silk frock when everyone else was showing the ravages of the day. They were only a few yards away, the other side of the deck, but she felt like an eavesdropper when that encounter was imprisoned in the circle of her vision, when she saw Julia's smile and her arm go around Terry. Standing like that by the rail, the three of them made an intimate little group. It came to Cherry suddenly that Julia was free; free to marry again if she wanted, and attractive enough for any man. She had thought of her as a flirt, over-anxious to get a cavalier, always instinctively seeking male company. But seeing them there like that, melting into the intimacy that a man, a woman, and a child will always give, Cherry thought. He could marry her, if he wanted to. She's about ten years older than he is, but that doesn't matter nowadays. She's a little beast, but he's too nice to know that. And she's such a clever little beast!

She lowered the glasses hurriedly and handed them back to Douglas. Her face flaming suddenly.

"Thank you. I have got to go now."

"Oh, surely not so soon?" He stood up, oblivious of the group over on the other side, concerned only with Cherry. There might have been no one else in the ship, no one else in the world. Instinctively she knew that, and it made her feel horribly guilty.

He said, "You've caught the sun, darling, already. Your skin is so fair. Better put some lotion on your face as well as Terry's."

"I will," she promised hurriedly.

"And—please, Douglas, try to forget last night. Until we arrive, anyway. Just treat me as—"

"As a very charming young stewardess?" he inquired, twinkling.

"All right, Miss Mayne. She's a very nice, efficient stewardess, Miss Mayne. But now and then I'm going to have a little private conversation with Cherry, who's quite a different person. Surely your outside conscience won't object to that—"

She laughed. "Not so long as it is a private conversation! This deck isn't exactly secluded, is it?"

When she had gone Douglas sat down again, closing his eyes against the glare and dreaming of Cherry. He made little scenes for himself. Cherry in the garden at Weston Park. Cherry pouring tea out of the old silver teapot in the study that was so cozy for winter afternoons. Cherry riding with him on his inspection of the home farm. Cherry—ing the lower classes to broaden their minds, don't you?"

There was a stunned silence. The pleasant day cabin was full of embarrassed people. Captain Brigrison frowned, the other women made their faces quite blank, and Rory stiffened suddenly; he could feel the blood slowly welling up his neck and beating in the big artery like a drum.

The only unembarrassed person was Douglas. He put down the glass he had been holding and smiled at Julia, speaking gently and with great distinctness. "I think you are mistaken, Mrs. Scott-Frison. Personally, I don't believe there is such a thing as a lower class. If there is, Miss Mayne certainly does not belong to it. I am hoping she will do me the honor to become my wife."

Captain Brigrison felt like cheering. Instead, he motioned his steward to fill up the glasses and said, "I think we should all wish you happiness, Sir Douglas. Miss Mayne's father was one of the grandest commanders I ever sailed with."

It was on the tip of Douglas' tongue to say, "But she has not said yes, yet—" but the stunned look on Julia's face stopped him. After all, it would be a pity to give the woman the satisfaction of knowing that nothing was settled yet. And Douglas hoped that it would be settled by the time they reached home. All he had said was that he hoped she would do him the honor to become his wife—and that was true enough.

Rory leaned against the bulkhead in the background, unobserved, feeling as if he had been hit in the solar plexus.

His first instinct, too, was to cheer. Never had he seen a snub administered more neatly and thoroughly where it was deserved. But his reaction was very different from Captain Brigrison's.

Something snapped in Rory's head. Everyone was drinking, wishing Sir Douglas every future happiness, laughing and talking to cover Julia's blush. Rory said, "Your health, sir," and gulped his drink, and mumbling an excuse about seeing the purser, got himself out of the captain's room somehow.

Abruptly, with his face set in the old grim lines, Rory went below to look up his friend the surgeon. He missed hearing Julia offering a tardy apology. "I'm afraid you misunderstood me entirely, Douglas! I was just thinking of the working classes in general, and how good you have always been to them. I certainly didn't mean Miss Mayne particularly."

"Of course you didn't," Douglas agreed smoothly, "but I would like to ask you all to treat this matter as confidential until we are officially engaged. Captain—"

"Naturally, naturally!" Brigrison assented heartily, smiling. "I agree absolutely. It might cause a rumpus among the crew, and I can't afford

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

GOD STILL RUNS THE WORLD

A friend of mine went into a strange church some time ago, and before the service began he glanced over the printed bulletin. Early in the service was a responsive reading in which occurred the words, "The Lord reigneth, let the earth rejoice." As my friend read this, he gave a chuckle which caused everyone in that part of the church to look sharply in his direction, for the printer had inadvertently got the letter "r" into the word reign so that the passage read, "The Lord resigneth, let the earth rejoice." The man got to thinking that after all there are many people who wish He had. Hitler and his crowd would be very well pleased if the Lord resigned and allowed them to run the world. There are some people who are quite sure that they could manage things much better than the Almighty. There are also many people who believe that the Lord has resigned. They think He had turned the management of the world's affairs over to Satan or to the dictators, to the criminals and the scheming politicians, to chiselers and those who love to spread a lie.

But everyone who bases his reasoning on such an assumption is due for a rude awakening. The Lord still runs the universe. He has not resigned and He does not intend to. Principles may make a slip once in a while, but the fact remains that the Lord reigneth, and the hearts of the faithful rejoice in this knowledge.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

By BUS HAM
(Substituting for Jack Stinnett, who is ill.)

Washington—Your nation's capital feels that it has grown up, is now big enough to take a regular place when the war ends beside New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Los Angeles, where big things happen outside the governmental sphere.

To provide the locale for major events, a week has been set aside as "National Stadium Week" to launch a drive for a "Coliseum without a top on it, large enough to accommodate any event in this country."

Those quotes are the words of Floyd D. Akers, general chairman of a committee which has been working to revive the stadium idea... a dream that would bring international conferences, Olympic games, Boy Scout jamborees, religious and educational meetings, great musical gatherings, military competitions and the like to Washington.

"We're not thinking of building just another immense football stadium," Akers said. "This is the nation's capital, the new center of the world, and it should be the world-events capital as well."

This stadium idea isn't exactly new. It has been kicked around for years, but this revival apparently gathering enough force to reach a happy realization as a major undertaking in Washington's post-war planning.

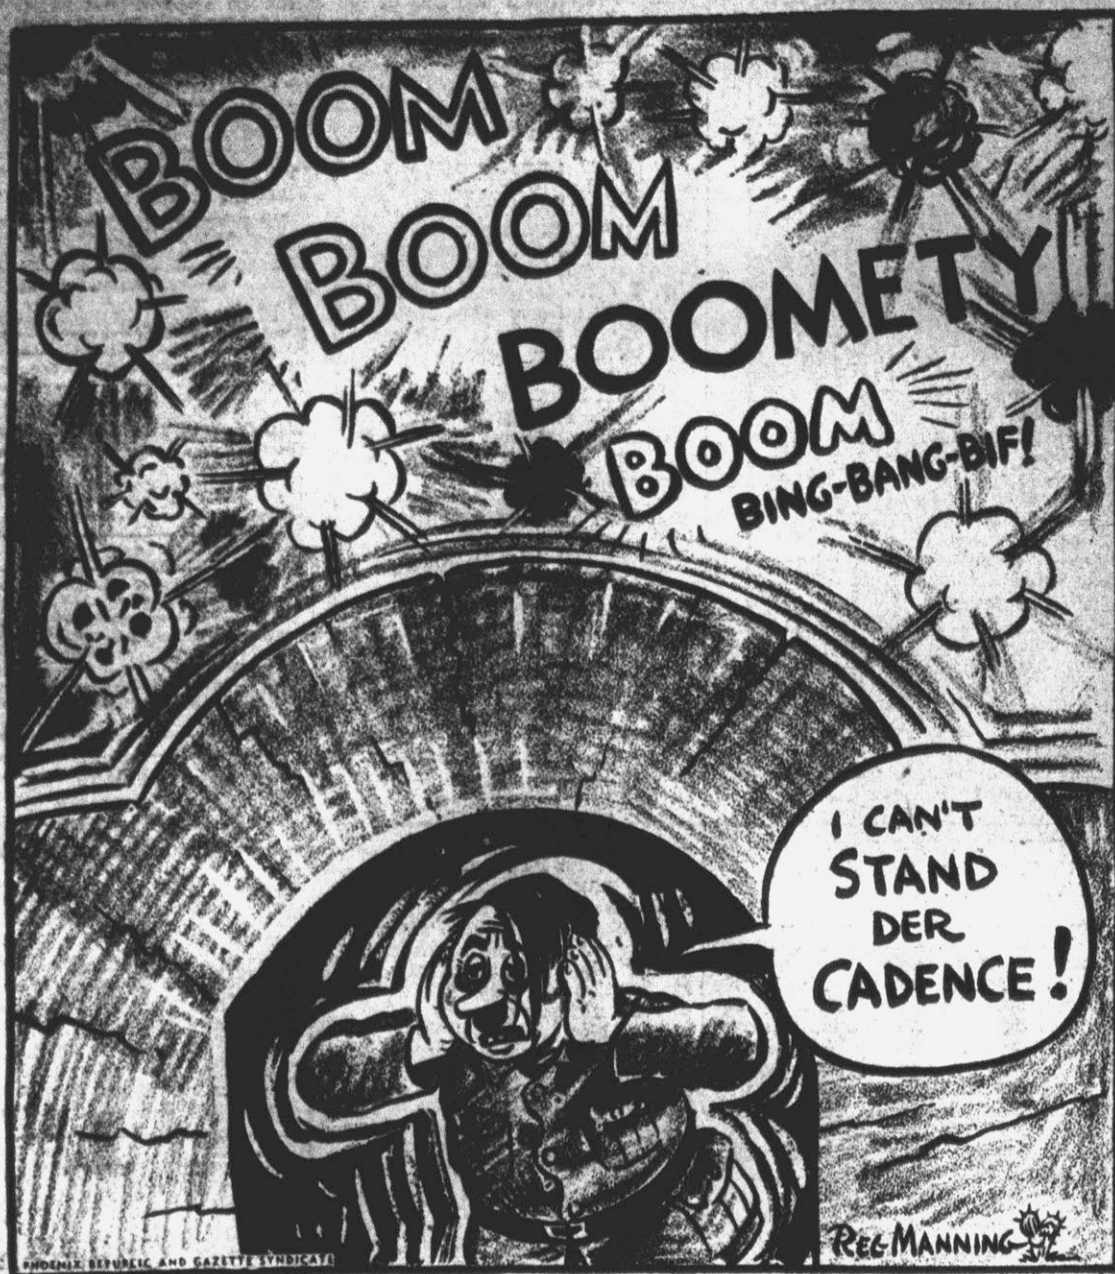

It isn't a one-man or one-group effort, and to make sure that everybody has an opportunity to express himself a downtown mass meeting has been called, with congressional, civic, religious, educational and sports leaders participating.

Special guests, such as Babe Ruth and Walter Johnson, Gen. Tunney and Jack Dempsey, and Army and Navy officials were invited.

Bills for the construction of a stadium were introduced in Congress before the outbreak of war, and Congress will have a part in the present planning... The important role of appropriating money.

Estimates of the cost run as high as $40,000,000, but that includes not only a stadium seating upwards of 100,000, but tennis courts and stands, a rowing course on the adjacent Potomac; highway, railroad, parking facilities and everything else that goes into such a super structure.

'Decadence' Of Democracies

The land, 150 acres, already is available.

Naturally, top-flight collegiate football games figure in the planning. Washingtonians feel that the capital is the logical place for the Army-Navy game.

To make the 48 states feel they have an interest in the project, each state will be urged to send its outstanding football team here from time to time.

There also is discussion of the stadium's being dedicated as a national war memorial.

"Why not have a memorial that can be utilized by the people of a nation who gave so much to this war instead of the customary type of monument" the committee reasons.

eran Jones—had three courses open to him. He could let his $1,560 insurance policy run until 1945 and receive thereon only $1,560. Or, he could turn it into bonds and cash it at once, receiving only $1,560. Or, he could turn it into bonds and hold them, getting the benefit of that 3 per cent interest a year.

This building should be of such size and have such accommodations as would probably take care of about 40 women members of the staff.

ECTC has never had a gymnasium or a physical education building, hence it has been seriously handicapped in carrying on a program of health and physical education. Such a program is of utmost importance from the standpoint of the personal health of the students enrolled, for the adequate training of those who will later train others along these lines, and from the standpoint of personal development and self-control.

Certain additions in personnel will be needed to meet post-war education expansion. For more efficient handling of the administrative work of the college, a dean of the college, a director of practice teachers and placement, and a director of public relations and student welfare are needed.

The legislature will also be asked to make funds available for six additional teachers this next year; a teacher of manual arts, one or two physical education teachers, and additional instructors in English, social science and music. Since educators expect the real influx of returning service men will be on college campuses a year from next September, the legislature will also be asked to provide funds for adding five additional teachers in 1946-47. The end of the war will bring such great demands to the colleges and to the teaching profession that it is wiser to prepare now than wait until the actual need arises.

policy, he could cash it. It was worth a lot more than the money with which he was credited for his insurance. If he died any time after getting the policy, his beneficiary would get its full value.

For example: veteran Jones, when he received the policy in 1925, was 33 years old and had a credit of $625. He died the next year. His beneficiary received $1,560. If he had lived out the 20-year life of the policy, Jones would have received the same amount, $1,560.

Another point: two years after a policy had been issued to a veteran, it had a loan value. He could borrow money on it. Many did.

But before any of the policies could run their course, Congress on Jan. 27, 1936 adopted a bonus bond plan which practically scrapped the insurance plan. The new one worked like this:

A veteran could transfer his insurance into bonus bonds and cash them at once if he wished. Many did. But the bonds paid 3 per cent interest a year for 9 years. They were to mature June 15, 1945.

fanatical struggle.
"We will surely be adding to the burdens of our forces if we lull ourselves into thinking or acting on the basis that the war is as good as won," said Mr. Waldrop. "We must be prepared to furnish our armed forces with all of the implements of war indefinitely. If we prepare for a long war, we will have a short one. If we prepare for a short one, it will inevitably be a long one.

this time to jobs, farms and businesses.
By carrying out plans already made, he said, the nation can provide jobs for veterans and war workers and "avoid another false boom like that which burst in 1929 and a dismal collapse like that of 1930 to 1933."

ors" or leave them a shred of open or secret control of instruments of government, or of military power.
Although the President is due back in the White House tomorrow, foreign policies and international security probably will await another conference with Churchill and Stalin.

Domestically, the administration program looks ahead to a demand for "well over a million homes a year for at least ten years." Such construction will be privately financed for the most part, with the government stepping in where needed.

New highways, parks, thousands of new airports, planes, new low-priced cars, hospitals and health clinics—all these are on the construction charts for checking the usual job-slackening after wars.

Other Roosevelt pledges for the future:
1—A merchant marine big enough to meet expanded world trade.
2—Easier business taxes to spur industrial development.
3—Special capital and credit for small business, with every facility to buy government-owned plants, equipment, etc.
4—Collective bargaining must be the main reliant for pay adjustments.

5—Elimination of poll taxes.
6—Expansion of the TVA idea into similar developments for Missouri, Arkansas and Columbia River basins.

Dewey Back...

terday that he was "very happy over the high confidence" the people had expressed in the state government by returning a solid Republican majority in both houses of the legislature.
This firm party grip loomed large as a factor in the future plans of the 42-year-old former candidate who universally is expected to seek reelection to his state office as a possible prelude to another try for the presidency in 1948.

The Deweys, who came home last night from New York City expect soon to depart for a rest. They may go to Sea Island, Ga.

Dewey displayed satisfaction at yesterday's news conference because of what his supporters termed a "very close" race he gave President Roosevelt in the popular vote. Although the President won by a top-heavy majority in the electoral college, National GOP Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., and others were represented as feeling the final outcome would show Dewey lost by what they called an "eyelash" of about 2,500,000 out of 50,000,000 votes.

The New York governor was described as believing that his campaign has been instrumental in forging what his supporters alluded to as unusual unity on the part of the Republicans toward foreign policy.

There was ill-concealed delight in the Dewey camp at the defeat of Rep. Hamilton Fish (R-NY) whose candidacy the GOP presidential nominee had denounced, and in the apparent loss of his senate seat by Sen. Gerald P. Nye (R-ND). Both have been classed as favoring only restricted American participation in a world security organization.

On a RAF fighter was lost and 42 U. S. fighters failed to return but most of them were reported to have landed in France because of the weather.

Nation Goes
holding four and five vacancies.
With 5 Senate contests undecided, the Democrats seemed assured of maintaining at least their present strength.
Meantime, the nation bound up its election wounds and settled down to a let's-get-on-with-the-war attitude.
"Let us unite to win the war and to achieve a lasting peace," was the solemn request of Mr. Roosevelt as he prepared to return to Washington from Hyde Park. This was the attitude, too, of the defeated Thomas E. Dewey.
Mr. Roosevelt's vote of confidence will still be fresh as he heads into an expected talk before Christmas with Stalin and Churchill.
Democrats elected 19 Senators to give them 55 seats in the 96-man Senate which must approve peace treaties by a two-third vote. The Republicans added 12 to their holdovers. Four contests remain for later counts to settle definitely. One seat is held by a Progressive.

Late returns showed that Democrats unseated Republican Governors in Ohio, Massachusetts, Missouri, Idaho and Washington, while the Republicans captured Governor's chairs from their opposition in Indiana and North Dakota.
Left in doubt, possibly until next week when all the state's service vote will be counted, was the Utah governorship. It was a neck and neck race by Democrat Incumbent Herbert Maw and Republican J. Bracken Lee.
Governor Dewey of New York, who philosophically accepted his defeat for the Presidency, could take pride in the fact that the indicated popular vote margin by which he lost is the smallest in 28 years.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin
By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

LAND OF PLENTY

How good it seems to be able to have all the beef we want, once again. And to know that in eating our fill of this lean, unmarinated beef, we are not depriving others of food they should have. Our hats are off to the patriotic farmers who have made this possible. Thanks, partners!

Country Fried Steak... Like Grandmother's

1 lb. steak, cut 1/4 inch thick
1 tsp. Wilson's B-V
1/2 cup flour
1 1/2 tsp. Advance Shortening
Spread steak on both sides with Wilson's B-V (about 1/4 tsp. B-V to each 4 by 5 inch serving). Pound four into steak with mallet or heavy saucer. Fry in the hot Advance Shortening (or bacon drippings) over moderate heat for 10 minutes, turning once. Keep skillet covered after meat is browned. Serves 4.

"DOWN-ON-THE-FARM" AROMA

The moment our photographer came into the dining room the other day he said, "What smells so good? It reminds me of my grandmother's kitchen." It was this country fried steak which had just gone from the frying pan onto the platter, all ready to have its picture taken. True, it did fill the room with that old-time, pleasing aroma of grandmother's kitchen, down on the farm. And this steak was cooked just the way she almost always used to do it.

Keep it Under Cover

Note that the recipe specified cooking the steak covered, after browning. That's so the steam, confined to the pan, will create the moist heat necessary for tenderizing this leaner kind of beef. And it really does get wonderfully tender, cooked this way. Wilson's B-V which you spread over the meat before frying, gives the steak an extra, full measure of that good beef flavor you want. The B-V also flavors the drippings so that your gravy will be as rich and good as the meat itself.

"Land of Plenty" Menu

What better companions for country fried steak than boiled potatoes with cream gravy, cole slaw, and green beans cooked with Wilson's deliciously sweet Certified Bacon, cut in small pieces? For dessert, make it something light such as canned peaches and tiny cup cakes. The lean, unmarinated beef of today will make you many a fine meal. Use it liberally for country fried steak, pot roasts, stews, Swiss steaks, meat pies and similar dishes. It's the long, slow cooking with moist heat that makes this beef so tender and delicious.

IT'S WORTH REMEMBERING

Three tsp. equals one tbsp.; sixteen tsp. equals one cup.
One pound of margarine equals 2 cups or 32 tsp. Ask for Certified Margarine if you want a sweet, mild margarine. It's the spread that Batters Your Bread.
Wilson & Co.'s B-V recipe booklets, Homemaker Prize Recipes, are now at your food store. They're free, so get your copy while the supply lasts.
Sincerely yours,
GEORGE RECTOR

are making feverish preparations for a new offensive in the Aachen region" also and were seeking to eliminate German artillery observation posts by dropping smoke canisters on them. Artillery fire was intensified on both sides, the Germans said.

In Holland where the first snow of the season fell last night, Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's 21st army group had seized all of Walcheren island at the mouth of the Scheldt except a tiny pocket around the village of Bultinge and St. Laurens, two miles northwest of Middleburg. This pocket was isolated from the coast.

South of the Maas (Meuse) Poles had blown their way through the concrete defenses around the southern end of the Moerdijk bridges and were attacking an enemy bridgehead 1 1/2 miles long and three-fourths of a mile deep.

The U. S. First army was slowly regaining some of the ground lost this week southeast of Aachen to strong German counterattacks. The Allied communique said the Americans were advancing slowly against heavy enemy pressure in the area south of Vossenack and southwest of the town of Hurtgen against "very heavy resistance." West of Schmidt, which the First Army reached before being thrown back enemy pockets are being mopped up, the announcement said.

cause of mud and washouts it cannot supply such an attack until a stock pile of supplies is built up at Pinamopan.
The general said that Japanese failure to attack the American holdings may mean that he has been caught off balance or his supplies, too, are bogged down.
"The Americans are fighting in the toughest terrain I ever saw, and this storm hasn't helped," said Irving. "Because of the size of the Jap force we've had to spread ourselves a bit thin."
Spencer Davis, another Associated press war correspondent with the 24th, in a dispatch filed yesterday, but delayed in transmission, described an assault by American troops on one of the Ormoc valley ridges during the height of a howling wind and rain storm. The Japs fled leaving shattered mounds of unburied dead behind.

Still indecisive, the battle centered in ridges abutting a horseshoe bend, with the tiny village of Limon as its focal point. Neither side claimed victory. General MacArthur's communique stated simply that "heavy fighting on the ridge lines is taking place on the winding road."
The Japanese commander, newly appointed General Tomoyuki Yamashita, declared only that the Americans "will find out that conditions here in the Philippines are entirely different. Here in the Philippines

American artillery continued to batter the Japanese communications lines which feed forces now locked in the Ormoc road fight.
Aerial warfare was brought to a standstill by the hurricane.

Phantoms Will Play At Elizabeth City Friday

The Green Phantoms meet their seventh gridiron foe of the season Friday afternoon when they play the Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets in Elizabeth City.

The Phantoms, after playing Raleigh last week, were bumped up slightly and some of the regulars may not see much action tomorrow afternoon. Dave Perkins has been hampered by a knee injury all week and Jimmy Futrelle received a back injury in the Raleigh contest limiting both to little service. Several linemen are on the injured list. Bobby Clark has a bad knee and several more men from up front have minor injuries.

The Phantoms, however, are expected to present a stubborn aggression.

The forward wall of the Phantoms is expected to play good ball like it did last week, holding the feet Raleigh backs on many occasions.

The Phantom backfield will not be prepared as well as the line but a couple of reserves have been looking good in practice lately and Coach Clark believes that they will turn in a good showing as the regulars have displayed this season.

The Elizabeth City team has suffered only one loss this season, that being to a strong Maury High eleven, and they are reported to have a heavy and fast team.

The probable starting lineup of the Phantoms tomorrow afternoon is expected to be the usual unit: Batchelor and Fleming, ends;

Haywood Dail Tells About Farm Bureau

Haywood Dail, guest speaker at the Lions Club's weekly supper meeting at the high school cafeteria Monday night gave some interesting information about the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Pitt County Farm Bureau chapter. He said with pride that the farmers have a watchdog at the national and state capitals to look out for their interests and see that they get as fair a deal as other American industries. Membership in the association is steadily increasing and the Farm Bureau's influence is being used effectively for the farmers. "Every farmer should be a member of the Farm Bureau for his own good and his future welfare," Dail said. President O. E. Dowd, presided.

Two other starters, Bob Smathers and George Owen, were also nursing injuries and it was doubtful if they would start.

Football Briefs

Wake Forest, Nov. 9 — (AP)—Coach Penhead Walker was somewhat worried today, as Wake Forest approached its game with Duke at Durham Saturday, for it became known definitely that Buck Garrison, his big guard mainstay would not start against the Blue Devils because of injuries he suffered in the Clemson game.

Chapel Hill, Nov. 9 — (AP)—The Tar Heels shortly will lose Bill Smith, top tackle, who has just received notice to report for his army physical, but he will be available for the William and Mary game Saturday, and may be available for the remainder of the season.

Raleigh, Nov. 9 — (AP)—The North Carolina State Wolfpack was traveling today toward Miami where they will meet Miami's Hurricane Friday night.

Prior to the departure of the Wolfpack the team took part in a scrimmage session and blackboard drill.

The team was due to arrive in Miami this afternoon possibly in time for a workout in the Bowl.

Durham, Nov. 9 — (AP)—The Duke coaching staff cast about today for replacements for several men who are on the injured list.

Lacking the services of Tackle Frank Irwin and Blocking Back John Krizza, who have not turned out for practice this week, the Blue Devils will be badly crippled for their game with the Wake Forest Deacons.

The athletic office today reported a brisk demand for tickets to the coming game.

Tallwister Ed Ricks won the attendance prize, given by Charley McBrayer.

Guests of the club were Lion R. E. Webb, a newcomer to Greenville, and F. A. Jordan.

State Alumni Club Has Supper Meeting

The Pitt County chapter of State College Alumni Club held a supper meeting at the Country Club in Farmville last night. Dr. A. M. Foust of State College was guest speaker. Fellowship, feasting and reminiscing about student days featured the meeting. President S. L. Daughtridge presided. The next meeting will be held at Bethel on the second Wednesday in March.

Anti-Closed Shop Amendments Pass

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 9 — (AP)—An anti-closed shop amendment has been written into the State's Declaration of Rights by vote of the voters in Tuesday's election.

One of the most bitterly-contested proposals ever to be placed before Florida citizens, the amendment today had rolled up a majority of 14,300 with only 264 scattered precincts out of 1,480 unheard from.

President Leo Hill of the Florida Federation of Labor, which vigorously fought the measure as a "dangerous" step, last night conceded its adoption.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 9 — (AP)—A proposal that Arkansas use constitutional means to prevent the operation of closed shops has received the favor of the voters in reports from more than half of the election returns in Tuesday's voting. The vote in 1,264 of the state's 2,087 precincts showed; for the amendment 71,747 and against 64,897.
