Supertorps Blast Nanking And Japanese Home Islands

Tokyo Says 80 Of Giant Bombers Raided Kyushu And Saishu Yesterday; Washington Reports Attack On Nanking Today; Nimitz Reports Other Air Activity.

By The Associated Press Eighty American Supertorps bombed Kyushu and Saishu islands of Japan about 10 a. m. Saturday (Tokyo time), Tokyo radio reported today.

An Imperial Japanese communication reported by the Domei news agency and recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said the B-29s caused only "slight" damage and "fled after blindly dropping bombs, from above the clouds."

Kyushu is the southernmost and most bombed of the home islands of Japan. Saishu lies about 150 miles to the west, just below the southern tip of Korea.

The communication made no mention of the B-29 raid on Nanking announced by the War Department in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 11—(AP)—Flying from China bases, a large task force of B-29 Supertorps today attacked Japanese occupied Nanking, hitting docks and warehouses.

The War Department announcement of the attack followed by a few hours, the Japanese claim that "several scores" of American aircraft had appeared over north Kyushu at 10 a. m. Saturday (Japanese time).

The War Department communication relating the latest assault by the giant bombers gave no details of the damage inflicted at Nanking, but said that further information would be released as soon as available.

This was the second major daylight operation by planes of the 20th air force within a week, other India-based craft having struck on November 5 at installations at Singapore, at the tip of the Malay peninsula, and at an oil refinery at Pangkajene-Bladon on the north coast of Sumatra.

The claim that American planes had appeared over Kyushu was made by the Japanese Domei agency in an overseas broadcast.

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, was quoted as saying: "Our air defense units at present are giving a hot reception to the enemy raiders."

The type of aircraft reportedly seen was not given. Kyushu island was hit by a strong force of Supertorps on October 25, and returning pilots said the Onna airbase there was perfectly patterned with bombs. The area embraces one of the most important aircraft assembly plants in (Continued on page four)

Flanking Movements Increase Pressure on Hungarian Capital.

Moscow, Nov. 11—(AP)—A wide outflanking movement took shape on two sides of Budapest today while the main Russian forces holding the city under siege clung to their positions in the capital's southern suburbs against desperate Nazi counterattacks.

One group of Marshal Rodlo Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine army edged westward from the wide Tisza river bridgehead capturing additional strong points northeast of Budapest and strengthened their hold on the vital Budapest-Miskolc railroad.

Other Russian units of Yugoslav partisan troops of Marshal Tito pushed forward west of the Danube river in a drive up through southern Hungary aimed at Pecs.

The outflanking movements developed attacks on German and Hungarian positions over a 200-mile front, either end of which can turn into a serious by-passing of Budapest.

Malinovsky's troops yesterday breached the Budapest-Miskolc line at Mezokovesd, 65 miles northeast of Budapest.

Slogging onward in heavy mud, the Russian infantry added eight villages and one railway station to the Soviet salient stretching from the upper Tisza river to the base of the Matra mountains, Moscow announced.

This sector, where the only essential changes of the entire eastern front were reported in the last 24 hours, was a steadily growing menace to the rear of the German and Hungarian forces still strung out some 40 miles east and northeast of Budapest.

Mezokovesd itself was threatened by the Russians with the capture of Borodosszame, four miles to the southwest and two miles from the railway which skirts the Matra mountains.

The Second Ukrainian army group, capturing 4,100 prisoners in the last 48 hours, raised its total bag of prisoners to more than 46,000 since October 6 when the invasion of Hungary began, Moscow said.

Deliver Armistice Day Blow On Industries.

London, Nov. 11—(AP)—U. S. Eighth Air Force bombers and fighters resuming their attacks against Germany's synthetic oil plants and railroads in the Ruhr, delivered an Armistice Day blow today at Gelsenkirchen and Coblenz.

Approximately 450 Flying Fortresses and Liberators and almost an equal number of fighters participated.

At the same time heavy bombers and fighters from the U. S. 15th air force in Italy attacked targets in southern Germany, the Berlin radio said.

France Gets Place On Advisory Commission

Action By 'Big Three' Is Great Step In Restoring France To Position As Great Power.

Washington, Nov. 11—(AP)—The United States, Britain and Russia today invited the DeGaulle government of France to assume full membership on the European Advisory Commission.

This is the most advanced step yet taken toward reconstituting France as a great power.

The invitation was extended to the French provisional government at Paris, where Prime Minister Churchill is making an Armistice day visit today.

The action was announced jointly here and in London and Moscow. Acting Secretary of State Stettinius issued this statement:

"At the Moscow conference a year ago the American, British and Soviet governments decided to reestablish in London a European Advisory Commission for the purpose of studying certain European questions and submitting joint recommendations thereon to the three governments.

"Among the matters which are receiving the close attention of the commission is the question of the surrender terms to be imposed on Germany, and the treatment to be accorded that country.

"Conscious of France's vital interest in the solution of the German problem and of the part which France will inevitably play in maintaining the future peace of Europe, the government of the United States is happy to join in extending to the provisional government of the French Republic an invitation to full membership on the European Advisory Commission.

Representatives of the three governments are today communicating this decision to the provisional government of the French Republic at Paris.

London, Nov. 11—(AP)—The Finnish radio announced today that Juho Paasikivi, veteran peace envoy and friendly to Soviet Russia, had accepted the premiership in a new Finnish government.

He succeeds Erho Castrén, whose government has been criticized for its handling of the Russo-Finnish armistice problems.

Churchill On Surprise Visit To French Capital

By GLADWIN HILL Paris, Nov. 11—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, Britain's self-styled "Wandering Minister" of diplomacy, came from behind a 24-hour secrecy screen in Paris today and joined Gen. Charles De Gaulle in a traditional tribute to war dead at the Arc de Triomphe on the French nation's first Armistice Day observance in five years.

The British prime minister arrived in Paris by plane yesterday with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden for political and economic talks with the French.

Wearing the powder blue uniform of a Marshal of the Royal Air Force, Churchill laid a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier and reviewed an "hour-long" parade of French forces down the Champs Elysees.

Small detachments of British soldiers and American Army and Navy base units also marched in the parade. Despite the official secrecy thrown about Churchill's visit until his 11 o'clock appearance at the ceremony, the capital's main avenue was bordered by a tight jam of people. Thousands kept up an intermittent chant, "Vive Churchill,

Allied Forces Smashing Deeper Into Reich Today

Heavy Fighting Rages In Battle For Leyte

Japs Lose 10 Ships Bringing In Reinforcements.

By C. YATES McDANIEL General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 11—(AP)—Japan's "Tiger of Malaya," whose do-or-die stand on Leyte has flamed into a savage battle involving more than 100,000 men, poured thousands of fresh Nipponese against the Yanks today, after landing them from a 19-ship convoy at a cost of three transports and seven destroyers.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, taking great risks with Japan's dwindling reserves of cargo vessels and escort warships, got reinforcements to Ormoc despite determined attacks spaced over a 24-hour-period by American planes and patrol torpedo boats. A heavy rain squall, prolonging a previous cover of darkness favored the gamble.

The reinforcements, which reasonably might exceed 10,000, buttressed 35,000 other enemy troops of three fresh divisions moved in on western Leyte to replace 35,000 casualties already inflicted by four American divisions.

The biggest and most crucial land engagement since Gen. Douglas MacArthur returned to the Philippines Oct. 20 is developing.

Both sides are well equipped and backed by heavy artillery. The enemy-convoy of four 5,000-ton transports and 15 destroyers—the Japanese frequently use the swift destroyers for troop-carrying as well as escort duty—was spotted by U. S. airmen Thursday afternoon, as it entered Ormoc Bay.

Lightning fighters divebombed with 1,000-pound explosives, Mitchell medium bombers went in at low level. The Yank fighters, in small force but hit a transport smoking before breaking off the engagement.

Thursday night, patrol torpedo boats darted in and out of destroyer searchlight paths, slipped by gyasers churned up by five-inch guns and succeeded in sinking a warship.

"When the fish hit the destroyer, there was a huge orange explosion almost like a phosphorous bomb," Lt. Joseph Beckman of Tacoma, Wash., later told Dean Schedler, Associated Press war correspondent.

"A great sheet of flames shot high into the air."

At dawn Friday, Mitchells in force took the air. But a rain squall blotted out the newly-arrived convoy. When that cleared, the Japanese billowed a smoke screen over the ships.

A Japanese air cover of more than 20 planes were routed. At least 16 were shot down, possibly five more.

By noon, the Mitchells got to work. They sank three transports and six destroyers.

Capt. Edward Maurer of Nyack, N. Y., who led one flight of Mitchells, saw one transport go down in 30 seconds.

Later he told Richard Bergholz, Associated Press war correspondent, "I'll never forget the sight of that transport. One minute, you could see this huge ship sitting there behind the ackack screen, with troops diving for cover all over the deck. The next second you could see a puff of flames, a geyser of smoke and the transport was gone. All that was left was a column of smoke to 7,000 feet and an oil slick on the water, plus a lot of bodies in the bay."

The action ended late yesterday when the convoy remnants fled west toward Cebu. The attack cost four bombers and four fighters.

Minute Women Made Big Sale War Bonds

"Minute Women in Tobacco Land," under the direction of Mrs. Dink James, chairman, sold $47,000 worth of "E" War Bonds at the Greenville tobacco warehouses during the past five weeks. The warehouses booths were closed yesterday. A War Bond booth will be opened Monday at the Guaranty-Bank and Trust Company, with Mrs. James in charge, and another at the State Bank and Trust Company with Mrs. Martin Swartz, Woman's Club War Bond and Stamp Committee chairman, in charge.

All of the "E" bonds sold since November 1 will be credited to the Sixth War Loan drive which begins on November 20.

J. Herbert Waldron, Pitt County War Finance Committee chairman, said the harder the fighting becomes in the South Pacific and in Europe the more money Uncle Sam needs to carry on the war.

Washington, Nov. 11—(AP)—Ambassador Mehmet Munir Ertegun of Turkey, dean of the Washington diplomatic corps, died early today. Sixty-one years old, he suffered a heart attack 12 days ago and since had been under the care of physicians at the embassy.

In a close race Democratic Representative Francis J. Myers (above) of Philadelphia is leading Republican James J. Davis for the United States Senate by 1,593 votes with all but three precincts reported. The service votes, to be counted November 22, could swing the election either way. (AP Wirephoto).

AGENTS SEEK ROCKET SITES

Nazis Threaten To Use V-2 Against Antwerp.

London, Nov. 11—(AP)—British agents on the continent are reported hunting down the launching sites from which V-2 "flying telephone pole" rockets are fired against southern England so that heavy bombers may give them the appropriate measures promised by Prime Minister Churchill.

Britons who had seen the red flash of V-2 explosions and heard the peculiar double rattle of the blasts were reading details of the new 1,000-mile-an-hour weapon and photographs of its effects in newspapers today.

Third Army Closes In On Metz From North And South after Advances Up To Nine Miles; Patton's Forces Within 20 Miles Of German Saar Border.

By WILLIAM FRYE London, Nov. 11—(AP)—U. S. tanks and infantry, slugging well beyond the 1918 Armistice Day battle-line, opened a broad wedge southeast of Metz today, and all but sliced the Metz-Sarrebourg railroad in fighting advances within 20 miles of Germany's Saar border.

Lt.-Gen. George Patton's Third Army had thrust as deep as nine miles in three days, and Berlin asserted 600 tanks were engaged in the offensive now in its fourth day of earth-shaking battle.

Fourth Division armored units reached Lucy, 17 miles southeast of Metz, and two miles from the Sarrebourg railway, virtually denying its use by the Germans. These units had advanced 5 1/2 miles beyond Delme, rises in 24 hours. Six miles to the northwest, men of the Sixth armoured division entered Luppy, three miles from the rail-line.

Other Doughboys drove nearly seven miles north of captured Chateau Salins to Habouange, 24 miles southeast of Metz, and 20 miles from the Saar.

North of Metz, another Third Army prong, pushed slowly eastward from Marbais, occupying a woods about four miles above Metz. It was about 16 miles from the nearest columns battering into the German flank southeast to that fortress city.

Still farther north, Third Army troops had established three bridgeheads over the Moselle river near Lutzerath on a curving battle-front that was about 16 miles to the frontier of the industrial Saar.

Rain, minefields and stubborn resistance slowed progress along the 75-mile Metz front. Two German counterattacks were beaten off near Marbais, and Koenigsmaacher on (Continued on Page Two)

British Subs Sink 45 Ships

London, Nov. 11—(AP)—British submarines sank 45 Japanese vessels in Far Eastern waters in recent weeks, an admiralty communique announced today.

A communique said the toll included one large and one medium sized supply ship, a submarine chaser and three landing craft. In addition, a medium-sized supply ship and a minesweeper were probably sunk and 14 supply vessels damaged.

The large supply ship, which was sunk by a torpedo, was intercepted while under escort near Padang, off the west coast of Sumatra.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press War Analyst

Twenty-six years ago this Armistice Day I was on the British front in France waiting for the eleventh hour to end the hell which we called the World War, and my most enduring memory is the fantastically tragic circumstance that brave men were dying right up to the time of the order to cease fire.

Although we knew well before the Armistice hour that the conflict was ending, the big guns continued to belch death. Fighting raged fiercely along the Allied fronts, until a few seconds before eleven when the thunder ceased and left great armies stunned with the strange silence.

There is, I believe, a great lesson in this for us today as the Allies gird themselves for the coup de grace which cannot long be deferred. We must realize that even though the defeat of our enemies is inevitable, our men must continue to risk their lives until the "cease fire" is given.

The moral is that we on the home front must jump in now and keep our forces supplied with the wherewithal to end this bloody business quickly. There's tough fighting still to be done. In all theaters are signs of a desperate last ditch stand by our enemies.

On the Western front the Germans are battling fanatically to block Allied preparations for a general offensive. The United Nations are attacking to improve their positions for the big day and this spade work is going on from Holland to the Swiss border. It's hard work, for if the troops aren't battling in water to their middles, they probably are knee deep in clinging mud. The fighting is particularly heavy in the Metz sector where General Patton is staging a large offensive to secure German key communications east of that stronghold.

Out of this bitter struggle for position is emerging a compact front from which General Eisenhower can launch his crucial drive.

In the Orient the Japs are rushing to battle. Despite the brilliant beginning of our invasion of Leyte, the Nipponese have succeeded in replacing their heavy losses there, and a great battle is joined. The fight for the Philippines may be hard and long, though we shall win. So it goes. Secretary of War Stimson says of the western theater that American soldiers "know it is going to be difficult, and costly to carry out the large scale offensives which will be necessary to bring us victory." He also declares "Japan is going to fight in the Philippines to the bitter end." And Lt. Gen. Vandegrift, Marine Corps commander, tells us the toughest part of the Japanese war is ahead, and that "the coming year will be the supreme test."

With all this before us it's easy to see that we are at that crucial stage of the global war where our fighting forces are going to need vast supplies of all sorts from the home front if the war is to be speeded up. Shortage of supplies—and there have been shortages—mean delay in forcing the enemy to his knees.

We need only this much more for a complete picture: Lt. Col. W. H. Higgins, U. S. Army Ordnance officer, stated in a speech in Toronto this week that on the Western front it had been necessary to ration shells used in 240-mm guns. "It is very important," he warned, "that we supply General Eisenhower's men with all the shells they need."

Forecasting Election Results Babson Discusses Next Four Years

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 10.—Notwithstanding the results of Tuesday, I now make some predictions as to what will happen at Washington during the next four years. These forecasts assume that the Republicans and Conservative Democrats will combine to control Congress.

Taxes Will Be Lower Taxes will materially be reduced. A reduction in excess profits taxes will come shortly after the collapse of Germany. Most "nuisance" taxes will be eliminated. Corporation taxes will later be put back nearly to pre-war figures. Personal income taxes should be reduced; but these will be the last to be lowered.

There will be no attempt to balance the budget. This is something to aim for, but will be done slowly. Too radical cuts could cause deflation which at this time would be worse than inflation. The United States will, however, diligently work for a better financial setup for which we all should be thankful.

Coming Foreign Policies Great Britain, Russia and the United States will combine and hold the peace so long as they remain friends. (China may or may not be admitted to the inner councils.) How long these three great nations will remain friends, is anybody's guess. Other nations will be admitted to some sort of a world organization; but they will not have much to say.

Congress will pass legislation so that our navy and air force can act—in emergencies—without the formal declaration of war. But this is a feeble step toward permanent peace. This can be secured only as all nations are willing to give up certain rights as to tariffs, immigration restrictions, natural resource monopolies, etc. I see no sign that the in-coming administration at Washington will do this.

Aid to Farmers Both farmers and union labor have had their homesteads. Both will get less consideration during the next four years. We may, therefore, expect lower farm prices and only a few—if any—wage raises. Certainly the total income of both groups will be much less. The hourly rate for wages may not be cut, but "overtime" will be out the window. We will go back to the 40-hour week. I strongly advise both farmers and wage workers to begin immediately to "save up" money for a rainy day. It surely is coming. Moreover, this would still be true if the election had gone the other way.

Free Enterprise to Be Tested Both candidates at heart believed in "free enterprise" so long as it will keep people employed. When however, it does not prevent unemployment the voters surely will demand that something be done. This "something" will be quick remedies contrary to the spirit of free enterprise.

Certainly, much will be done for the returning soldiers, sailors and airmen. Some of this aid will be uneconomic and wasteful; but Washington will be driven to it. Such action will help along the inevitable inflation and some day cause us a lot of trouble. This, however, should not come until around 1950.

Conclusions In short, conditions make presidents, rather than do presidents make conditions. The masses of the entire world are on the march. Neither Roosevelt nor Dewey nor an undecided election can stop them. It is a mistake to try to block them as did Avery of Montgomery-Ward; it is a mistake to cheer them as have many politicians during the past two months. The wise man will attend to his own business, keep out of debt, educate his children to be useful and wait for these masses to learn their lesson through experience.

As to the effect of the elections on the markets, I expect no more changes than have already occurred. I am bearish on municipals and other high grade bonds; but am still bullish on most well-selected stocks. I do, however, not like the rails, aircraft or shipping stocks for the next four years.

Strength FOR THE DAY

THE COST OF PEACE

What will insure peace in the new world? Nothing but a profound desire on the part of the majority of the world's population to have peace and a willingness to pay the price of peace.

the Moselle sectors.
Elements of the Sixth armored division which took Luppy and fought astride the road from Pont-a-Mousson to Falquemont split German forces of undisclosed size.

On this 26th anniversary of the armistice of the first World War and Patton's 59th birthday at least six U. S. infantry divisions and two armored divisions were engaged along the line above and below Metz.

The German Transoceanic news agency broadcast a report that 600 tanks were engaged in the Allied offensive and said that "the earth of Lorraine is shaking from a hundredfold thunder of countless heavy guns."

Despite these enemy reports of the mounting intensity of the battle one claims the recapture of the Germans of the strategically important Delme ridge—the Allied communique said the Americans had advanced "against light to moderate resistance."

Gains south and east of Koenigs-moer in the Moselle bridgehead 29 miles north of Metz were reported by the Allied communique, as well as small advances in the area of Mathries-les-Metz, 4 1/2 miles north of Metz.

In the Aachen sector inside Germany, where infantry of the American First army has been trying to breach the approaches to Cologne with a limited attack in the Hurtgen forest area, a German counter-attack was thrown back.

Extensive minefields were encountered by the Yanks attempting to drive the fiercest resistance Germans out of their dug-in positions around Herten Wes of Schmidt, however, limited progress was reported as the Americans continued mopping up enemy pillboxes.

Patton's Third army troops had advanced to points 4 1/2 miles north and little more than eight miles southeast of Metz itself.

New Allied Gain On Italian Front

Rome, Nov. 11—(AP)—Eight army troops, driving ahead north of captured Forli, smashed into strong German tank and infantry defenses today along a canal running from the northwest corner of the Bologna-Rimini highway town.

Southwest of Forli the Germans have taken up positions along the Montone river. Castruccio, about five miles southwest of Forli, has been evacuated by the Nazis but they are holding tenaciously in the hills.

On the fifth army front due south of Bologna there was aggressive patrolling yesterday punctuated by German artillery fire. Indian troops scored an advance in occupying Mont Budriako, 2,200 foot feature east of the Faenza road.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By HERMAN ALLEN
(Substituting for Jack Stinnett, who is ill).

Washington—No big military operation is complete without a crop of reminiscences and a few coincidences. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's landing on Leyte is no exception.

It was on Leyte that MacArthur carried out his first assignment as an officer, just 41 years ago—in November, 1903.

Frankly, I can't claim credit for digging this story up myself, but I found it so interesting I'm passing it on to you. It was George Conroy of the Washington Post who got an interview with Maj. Gen. Charles Douglas Herron, retired, who was MacArthur's roommate for six weeks out there on Leyte and served with him several more times as the years rolled on.

MacArthur's assignment in 1903 was a rather strange one. Six months before, the army had sent a shipment of lumber and nails, to a point a few miles south of Tacloban, the capital of Leyte. They were told "here is your station. If you want to get out of tents, start building."

The officers simply appropriated land and started building. MacArthur's job, when he got there was to "survey the area and prepare a map of a proposed military reservation." Actually, the reservation was practically built. What the army, tongue in cheek, wanted was a map showing what land had been taken over so that the owners could be paid for it.

MacArthur, at that time a second lieutenant of engineers, prepared a beautiful map, presumably the fill-

KIWANIS HAS MARINE NIGHT

The young lieutenant felt quite an impression on Leyte. For one thing he was the only speaking-new West Pointer there, quite a contrast to the Spanish-American war and Philippine insurrection veterans stationed there with the 18th infantry garrison. He had a challenging example to live up to—that set by his father, Arthur MacArthur, former commanding general in the Philippines.

Maj. Martin Recites History At Club's Weekly Banquet.

By CHESTER WALSH
"Happy days were here again" last night when the Kiwanians held their weekly supper meeting at the Rotary building and enjoyed one of those fine old southern meals that caused the late Irvin S. Cobb to declare "All North Carolina needs is a press agent," a period of fine fellowship before the meeting, during the proceedings and after it was all over.

The Kiwanians, through the courtesy of the Rotary club, now hold their meetings in the spacious Rotary building. They were a happy lot of men, inspired by the presence of a number of charming women, some delightful songs by Mrs. Jean Aebounis Pigott and Marine Pvt. Gene Coughlin, with Camille Jernigan as accompanist, and Ed Bloom leading the singing of Kiwanis songs.

The Kiwanians and their guests hobnobbed, swapped reminiscences, indulged in the pleasures of gossip in the lobby, and everybody got better acquainted with each other. It was like the good old days at the Woman's club before the Kiwanians gave up the place for the use of the USO center. Ed (Little Lamb) Rawl, Joe Taft and "North Carolina" (that's N. C.) Brooks simply "oozed good cheer" making the folks feel at home.

Give Free Lessons In Flying Planes

By CHESTER WALSH
After the war aviation will be as popular a pastime as motoring was after World War I. Small planes will be on the market after this war is won and they will be reasonably priced, industrialists predict.

Civilians who are interested in flying will have a wonderful opportunity to become pilots when a Civilian Air Patrol cadet unit is organized in Greenville under the sponsorship of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce, Jerry Vaven, chairman of the Jevcees Aviation Committee, said today.

Plans are now being made to organize a Civilian Air Patrol cadet unit. Men and women of all ages and boys and girls may learn to fly without cost if they sign up for the Air Patrol cadet school here. Former Army, Navy and Marine pilots will be instructors. The cadet school will be under the direction of the U. S. Army Air Force. A 25-hour ground course will be provided for 15, 16 and 17-year-old boys and girls, and a 10-hour ground course for adults. The only cost for the student pilots would be for their uniforms.

Matt R. Long, prominent businessman and former pilot, has been asked to be commander of the local CAP squadron of 50 members.

Persons interested in learning to fly and be ready to take to the air after the war should contact Jerry Vaven or any member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee for full information.

"We have a big airport right at us, planes will be easily available after the war and it is now time for those who hope to become pilots to begin to learn," Mayor Bruce Sugg said today.

There will be a public program at the Mt. Calvary Free Will Baptist church of which the Reverend Mr. E. M. Hill is pastor, Sunday afternoon November 12, at 3:30 o'clock at which time the charter for the Pride of the East Chapter No. 524 Order of the Eastern Star will be presented.

Every member is urgently requested to sit en masse. Program for the occasion will be found elsewhere in this paper.

The chapter was organized around nine months ago with a faithful group and has become the largest chapter order of Eastern Star for colored in the state of North Carolina. The organizer, Mrs. L. E. Latham, has been commissioned grand lecturer for eastern Carolina.

Free Will Baptist Conference Closes

The Central Conference of the Free Will Baptist Church Friday closed a three-day session at Sweet Gum Grove Church. The conference went on record as favoring a state-wide referendum on the liquor question. Speakers at the meetings included Rev. L. B. Manning of Fountain, Rev. J. C. Snow and Rev. N. B. Barrow of Snow Hill, Rev. R. N. Hinnant of Micro was host pastor.

Reports of various departments showed considerable progress and improvement over previous years.

Blind Persons Are Making Door Mats

Frank M. Brown, president of the Pitt County Blind Association, brought to the Reflector office today a flexible wooden door mat made by blind persons under the direction of Miss Jennie Lee Manning of Bethel, full time caseworker for the association, and others. The plan is to provide means for the blind and near-blind to make themselves self-supporting and manufacture of these door mats is one of the numerous projects contemplated. The door mats will shortly be on sale at local furniture stores.

Metal, rubber and fiber door mats are hard to get under wartime conditions. The wooden mats are strongly made and serviceable.

Elizabeth City Wins Over Phantoms 7 To 6

Greenville Played Excellent Ball And Was In Scoring Position When Game Ended.

Greenville High School Phantoms came out on the smaller end of a seven to six score at the hands of Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets in Elizabeth City yesterday afternoon but other than the fact that in the statistics the game is chalked up as a loss, there are few regrets. Entering the contest strictly as the underdogs, the Phantoms playing a bang-up defensive game, became the first team in the state to score on this year's Yellow Jacket squad, and held the mighty Jackets on the one foot line for four straight downs to prevent a score just before the first half of the game ended. Time also was against the Phantoms when the game ended with Greenville in possession of the ball on Elizabeth City's 10 yard line with first down and goal to go.

Coach Snag Clark was well pleased with the performance of the team yesterday afternoon and said it pointed to two exceptionally good games when the Phantoms meet New Bern here next Friday night and the Elizabeth City Yellow Jacket here on Friday night November 24. The whole team did excellent work, the coach said. The only other team that has scored on the Yellow Jackets this year is the strong Maury High School team, of Norfolk which defeated the Jackets two weeks ago.

In the first half good blocking and tackling by the Phantoms made it impossible for the Jackets to do much gaining either on the ground or in the air and the only real threat came at the very end of the period when the Phantoms took possession of the ball on their own one foot line after holding the Jackets for no gain on four straight downs.

Elizabeth City scored its touchdown in the second half when a lateral pass and a 35 yard run carried Reynolds over Greenville's goal line. A double reverse on end-around was good for the extra point.

In the final quarter of the game Greenville's touchdown was set up

The Germans claimed last night that once "the process of exact aiming is completed" their V-2 stratosphere rocket would make Antwerp useless as a supply port to the Allies, and that front lines also would be targets.

There has been no official report that this latest Nazi weapon is being used against Allied positions on the western front.

The latest official statements of the condition of Antwerp's harbor facilities said they still were intact.

More than a score of Japanese fighters were encountered Monday over Tori Shima in the northern Kuriles. They covered attacks over a period extending back to Monday.

The raiders hit north of Tokyo at the Kuriles, south in the Bonins and Volcanoes. Other targets were Marcus, the Marianas, the western Philippines, Borneo, Celebes, the Moluccas, Ceram, Timor, New Guinea, New Britain, New Ireland and the Solomons.

Fifteen enemy fighters challenged raiders of the western Philippines and three were shot down at a cost of two Liberators.

A medium cargo ship was damaged off Chichi in the Volcanoes. A 2,000 ton freighter was sunk and a 6,000-ton transport damaged in the western Philippines. Two coastal vessels were destroyed off Borneo. Two small freighters and a coastal vessel were set afire off Dutch Celebes and five schooners were damaged.
