German Forces Fall Back Before Russians In Hungary

Powerful Russian Drive Flanking Budapest Imperils Three Important Rail Towns; Moscow Reports No Change In Battle Along Grimly Defended Budapest.

By DANIEL DE LUCE Moscow, Nov. 18 (AP)—Nazi defenders on a battle line stretching northeast from besieged Budapest gave ground again today in the face of a sustained Russian flanking maneuver that pressed the enemy deeper into the Matra and Bukk mountains on the Slovakian frontier.

The Russian drive imperiled three important Hungarian rail towns—Eger, Miskolc and Hatvan. The valley town of Eger on a secondary communications route barely four miles from a Russian column that stormed through Maklar after capture yesterday of Fuzesabony on the Budapest-Miskolc railway. This advance gave the Red army control of a 27-mile section of that vital line.

A Soviet salient menacing Miskolc was widened with the capture of Tisza Luc, 12 miles to the southeast. Seizure of Karacsand, midway between Fuzesabony and Hatvan, put the Russians within five miles of Gyongoes, another enemy base in the foothills of the Matra mountains.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky claimed no decision yet in the fierce tank battle being waged for Hatvan, 26 miles northeast of the Hungarian capital. Hatvan, terminal of a main line running north into Slovakia, was reported under attack from three sides. The Russians announced seizure of Szany, five miles southeast and Zsombok, nine miles southwest.

The Russians reported no change in the battle along the fringes of grimly defended Budapest and likewise maintained silence about the Danube bridgehead, south of the capital in the vicinity of Batina, where Russian and Yugoslav partisan forces have been driving north from a Belgrade springboard.

Martin Swartz Was Elected Director

At a meeting of the Mid-Southern Gas Association in Raleigh yesterday elected J. S. Rider of the Consolidated Utilities of Sumter, S. C., as president. A. E. Jones of Wilmington and C. B. Zeigler of Gastonia were named vice-presidents, and E. W. Ruggles of State College secretary-treasurer.

Martin Swartz, superintendent of Greenville Utilities, was elected a member of the board of directors.

Funeral services for Boone Carter, radio commentator and author who died suddenly after his broadcast Thursday, will be conducted in a mortuary chapel here tomorrow morning.

The county autopsy surgeon has attributed Carter's death to apoplexy. Carter was 46.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

I wanted to drag you away from the Allied offensive in western Europe for a moment to consider another critical situation in our global war—the fresh peril threatening China from the great Japanese offensive, and the volcanic circumstances surrounding it.

Let's start with these volcanic circumstances first as the easiest approach to the subject. We've heard sharp words exchanged in the past few days between Moscow and Tokyo, beginning with Marshal Stalin's blunt characterization of Japan as an aggressive nation. The Allied public has seized eagerly on this as possibly signalling Russia's entrance into the war against Japan.

Now that's a startling development, for Moscow and Tokyo long have been observing polite silence towards each other, recognizing that they have a non-aggression pact. What then should cause this sudden heat? Stalin is a man of few words and never speaks without purpose.

It strikes me that it may well be connected with China's new danger, which a cabinet-spokesman asserts represents the greatest military crisis she has faced in more than seven years of conflict. I'll put a finer point on it than that by saying that China is about as close to being knocked out as she could be and still hang on by her teeth.

The intensified Japanese offensive already has almost completed its capture of the Hankow-Canton railroad, thereby driving a huge corridor—north and south—through the heart of southern China. It has deprived the American airforce of in-

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 18 (AP)—An official of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad announced here that its passenger train No. 91, bound from New York to Miami, was wrecked at about 8:30 a. m. today between Hortense and O'Neal, Ga., about 79 miles north of this city.

CRACK TRAIN IS WRECKED

No Details As To Deaths Or Injuries Available

Chief Clerk W. S. Bailey said he had been informed that all but three last cars of the 18-car train had left the track, but there was no information as to whether any deaths resulted or the number of injured.

All communication lines were knocked down and put out of commission by the wreck. Bailey explained. He added that a flagman from the train apparently walked to a nearby point where it was possible for him to use a portable telephone to give word of the accident.

Wrecking crews were dispatched to the scene from Waycross, Ga., and ambulances and other medical assistance was reported sent from Jessup and Waycross.

J. P. Walker, general superintendent of the railway, left his headquarters here to rush to the scene immediately after receiving notice of the accident, cause of which had not been determined.

U. S. AGAINST CONFERENCE

Opposed To Meeting Suggested By Argentina.

Washington, Nov. 18 (AP)—Prospect for a Pan-American conference this year to settle the explosive Argentine issue faded today with disclosure of the United States' position against such a move.

Mexico already had informed the remainder of the American republics of its view that the Argentine request for a foreign ministers meeting to air its role in hemisphere affairs should not be accepted.

The United States followed with a document distributed to the other governments showing its agreement with the Mexican policy.

Both countries expressed their favor for a hemisphere conference on Dumbarton Oaks world security plans, but without inviting Argentina on an equal status with the other republics.

Doublet the question of Argentina's role would arise at a meeting of American foreign ministers. The statements left open the possibility that Argentina could present its case subsequently to what they termed the more important question of world peace.

Most of the other countries have remained officially silent on Argentina's request for a conference.

Organize Civilian Air Patrol Here

A public meeting of persons interested in learning to fly an airplane and becoming members of the North Carolina Civilian Air Patrol will be held at the High School Library next Wednesday night, November 22, at 7:30.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Civilian Air Patrol Committee, Jerry Vaden, chairman, is sponsoring the meeting.

Major J. D. Winstead, commander of the CAP in this area, will speak.

Matt R. Long, prominent businessman and pilot, has been appointed commander of the wing to be organized here and has accepted.

Under present plans boys and girls from 16 years old may enlist in the ground training classes and adults—no age limit—may join. The training course in aviation is entirely free. The Army Air Corps sponsors it. Instructors will be Army, Navy, Marine and civilian pilots.

Everybody interested in learning to fly is invited to attend the meeting. Mayor Bruce Sugg, who favors the course, said today.

Washington Hints New Invasion Of Philippines

Powerful Seaborne Forces Expect To Strike Jap-Held Islands In The Near Future.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER Washington, Nov. 18 (AP)—Powerful new seaborne invasions of the enemy-held Philippine islands appear probable in the near future.

The probability grows out of information disclosed in an official summary of the recent great victory over the Japanese fleet, which may turn out to be among the decisive battles of modern times, the navy says.

The same communique indicates the possibility of American landings in islands north of the Philippines to sever the island-guarded route over which the enemy even yet is pouring reinforcements south in a desperate effort to check General Douglas MacArthur's Leyte and Samar campaigns aimed at the eventual conquest of Luzon.

Luzon is the key to domination of that area of the Pacific. Recapture of bases which MacArthur lost in the first weeks of the war under overwhelming enemy pressure will both slash the Japanese empire in half and provide a starting point for whatever new drives west to China and north to Japan are in the making.

The navy communique, issued yesterday to bring the October 23-27 battle of the Philippines up to date, still did not give an estimate of damage suffered by American ships because it said "the Japanese are still wondering what hit them."

On the other hand, the communique brought out that all the damage suffered by ships other than the six American combat vessels actually sunk, was capable of repair. "Some of the United States ships hurt in the fight are already back in duty," the navy disclosed.

Total Japanese losses were put at 48 ships sunk or damaged plus an undetermined number of destroyers which Admiral Chester W. Nimitz had previously fixed at 10 for a grand total of 58 enemy vessels either destroyed or in some degree injured in the attack.

The navy drew two overall conclusions as to the effects of the battle on the Philippines campaign: 1. There is no prospect that the enemy can now "prevent our own reinforcement and supply of General MacArthur and his gallant troops."

2. The Japanese will continue to reinforce their units on Leyte and Samar despite the crippling of their fleet because the location of the islands affords protection and hiding places for short, fast transportation runs. But the reinforcements must move in at an increasingly diminishing rate.

The full story of the battle showed a carefully worked out plan of attack preliminary to the Philippine action which gave MacArthur the benefit of great surprise in the landings on Leyte. These actions running back to October 9 cost the Japanese a total of 115 to 125 ships sunk, 56 probably sunk or heavily damaged, 21 damaged, and almost 600 airplanes destroyed.

They also baffled the Tokyo command. The communique brought out it was suffering from the loss of 800 planes and other damage inflicted by Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's carrier task force of the Third fleet in the operations which led up to the landings on Peleliu and Morota, southwest of the Philippines, on September 15.

Patton's Forces Lash Out In New Attack On Germany

JAPS FIGHT STUBBORNLY

Nippon Tanks Score Breakthrough On Leyte.

By C. YATES McDANIEL General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 18 (AP)—Japanese tanks, large and small, broke through an American roadblock to reinforce troops stubbornly resisting the advance of the U. S. 24th division against the important Ormoc road village of Limon, it was revealed today.

American patrols penetrating the outskirts of Limon near the northern terminus of the Ormoc highway believed the Japanese had withdrawn from the village after a terrific artillery barrage. When the main body of troops pressed against the city they met strong Japanese opposition.

Fred Hampson, Associated Press war correspondent with the 24th division said Limon is held by hundreds of well dug in Nipponese soldiers with all types of weapons except heavy artillery. Yesterday afternoon, he reported, a Japanese light tank ran a gantlet of American fire to get through a roadblock two-and-a-half miles south of Limon and into the village. Later six large tanks tried the same trick, but three were turned back.

Hampson's dispatch did not indicate what happened to the other three and it can be assumed they, too, got through.

He added that the Japanese evidently intend to hold the valley below hotly contested breakneck ridge overlooking Limon as long as possible and at any cost until the greater portion of their Ormoc forces can consolidate their positions for a major stand, possibly in a valley where the road branches from the Ormoc highway and runs to the west coast of Leyte Peninsula.

On the north, east, and south, American troops broke up the enemy's desperate moves without losing a foot of ground. In some cases they even advanced slowly.

The most important of these advances was the completion of an envelopment movement by units of the 24th Infantry south of Limon, four miles from Pinampon. They threw a road block across the Ormoc highway a mile south of Limon. Japanese supply columns moving north along the road toward bloody Limon village were destroyed.

This block was established by units swinging around the enemy positions at a tortuous route through the jungles. They were battered by driving tropical rains, made their way through seemingly bottomless mud and continued advancing in some cases when their food ran out. Their position apparently has cut off the enemy units at Limon without chance of further assistance.

The American forces near Limon, on contrast, received help from fresh troops, veterans of the "Red Arrow" 32nd division who learned about jungle fighting at Buna and Aitape. General MacArthur's communique, mentioning the 32nd for the first time, said it had driven a deep wedge into isolated Japanese strong points north of Limon.

This action serves as protection for the rear of the battle-weary 24th, now forcing its way toward the mountain village. Last reports from front-line correspondents placed it within half a mile of the town.

In the Mt. Minor and Badian areas east of the Ormoc road, other units of the 4th and of the First Cavalry were reported to have repulsed several suicidal counterattacks.

POLES GAIN ON ITALIAN FRONT

Capture Communications Center On Bologna Road.

Rome, Nov. 18 (AP)—Monte Fortino, five miles south of Faenza, has been captured by Polish troops in the Eighth Army drive on that important communications center on the Bologna-Rimini road, Allied headquarters announced today.

Allied troops took the town yesterday in a 1,000 yard advance against the bitter German resistance and then threw back two heavy counterattacks.

Other troops pushed to within four miles of Faenza, encountering stiff opposition.

British infantry and tanks moving northwest of the village of Villa-grappa were heavily engaged by the Germans at a road fork 300 yards southeast of Funga. The Germans in the area were strongly entrenched and backed up by tanks and considerable artillery.

Troops on the Adriatic sector were active in patrol operations. The airport of Molinaccio, less than two miles west of Ravenna, was cleared by tanks and artillery.

German planes bombed Forl in the night, but little military damage was caused.

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 18 (AP)—"A Congressman, a Congressman said today, 'is the most scared thing there is when he thinks the public may think he's trying to keep himself in office.'"

He was explaining why Congressmen may hesitate to act on a proposal made this week in Congress that the two-year term of Representatives be extended to four years. And this reasoning by a fellow Congressman makes sense to Rep. Lea (D-Cal.), who made the proposal. In fact, he thinks it may be one of the main stumbling blocks.

"The lawmakers still remember the chilly response when one of them suggested a couple of years ago that they vote themselves a little salary hike."

Lea's plan would require amending the Constitution. But he doesn't expect anything to be done about it at this session of an expiring Congress. He says it's a trial balloon to test public reaction.

Sudden Drive toward Saar Sends Patrols Into Germany While Other Units Storm Into Fortress City Of Metz; Advances On Other Allied Sectors.

By WILLIAM FREY London, Nov. 18 (AP)—Americans of the Third Army unmasked a new attack and drive toward Germany's northern Saar on a 15-mile front today, invaded the Reich at a new point farther north, and stormed into Metz from two sides.

These triple developments on Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's front were part of a series of sensational advance by six Allied armies hitting with 1,250,000 men toward the Rhine along a 400-mile front.

East of Aachen the U. S. 1st and 9th armies deepened a wedge reaching within 25 miles of the Rhine. Berlin said this assault was broadening with U. S. armored units driving northward from Gellenkirchen toward or behind Roermond, Dutch border city menaced by a British offensive. South of Aachen, Berlin added, the First Army's right wing was swinging into motion between Stolberg and Montjoie.

The French First Army at the lower end of the long front had thrust within five miles of Belfort, deep in the historic gap. Above it the U. S. Seventh Army picked up two to three miles along a 30-mile front in an offensive pointed at Strasbourg.

The British in southeastern Holland pressed forward, fighting close to Roermond and threatening Venlo farther north, another gateway city to Germany.

Patton's rampant Third Army sent mechanized cavalry patrols over the German border near the junction of the Luxembourg and French frontiers, and about five miles northeast of the Saar itself. Infantry crossed the Moselle bridge into Metz from the north during the night, while other patrols from the south also penetrated the city, where the Germans have been preparing a stiff defense in the streets and the thick stone walls of the houses.

At the same time Gen. Patton's new push developed a thrust 15 miles to the southeast toward the Saar border, and armor newly thrown into the offensive rolled forward four miles to near Bouzonville, 20 miles northwest of Saarbrücken, chief industrial center of the German valley.

Slightly to the north other armored fingers stabbed near Pfalzort in a three mile advance to a point but two miles from the German border and only nine miles west of Saarloris.

Elements of another mechanized cavalry group entered Merscheidweiler, a mile south of the German border, on the flank of the thrust into Germany.

The push into the Reich was the second time the Third Army has entered Germany. Patrols crossed from Luxembourg several weeks ago, but there have been no recent reports of their activity.

The present thrust, front line dispatches said, carried over the boundary a quarter of a mile, and (Continued on page two) more experience than a man serving 2. Here are some arguments against the longer term: Under the present arrangement the voters have a chance at least every two years to register their approval or disapproval of what their Congressmen are doing.

This means the Congressmen are closer to the people than the Senators who have six-year terms. By campaigning and hustling for votes, the Congressmen learn what the people think and want.

Under Lea's plan the whole House of Representatives would not face election every four years. Every two years about half the House would stand for re-election. The other half's turn would come two years later.

Lea suggests it be done this way: With the states divided up into numbered congressional districts, as at present, Representatives from the odd and even numbered districts in the states would be elected every two years alternately. This would resemble the procedure with the Senators. There are 96 of them. They have 6-year terms. But every two years 32 of them come up for election.

Some exception would have to be (Continued on Page Two)

Strength FOR THE DAY
 BY EARL L. DOUGLAS

OUR INFLUENCE ON OTHERS
 Our behavior and attitude toward life affects others to a degree we do not always appreciate. This is especially true in the case of the influence which we exert among our friends, in our places of business, in our churches, in our social contacts.

The person who meets the tribulations of life in a courageous spirit, and with plenty of faith in God can be sure that, in ways he cannot understand, his courage and faith are being transmitted to the wavering heart of someone else. If we are defeated because of our lack of faith, we can be sure that those who come in contact with us will be spiritually hindered, even though they do not know why. Young people constantly look to older people in matters of this sort and are greatly influenced by what they observe. Every time a person of mature years fails morally, he damages the faith of someone, and particularly of some young person.

Beneath all the processes, which in some measure we understand, are certain spiritual relationships which no one understands. These things have to do with the transfer of thought and the influence one personality has upon another. Of this we can be sure, that faith, enthusiasm, despondency, and malice are all transferable, or, to change the figure, contagious.

 half-way to Paris.

The operations of the Third Army were only a part of a series of sensational advances scored by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's six armies smashing through the Rhine along a 400-mile front.

East of Aachen, the German high command said, a battle of "utmost intensity" was raging on a 50-mile front with the American First and Ninth armies throwing in large forces and attacking as many as 42 times in single sectors.

Focal point of the attack, the Germans said, was north of Aachen. The communiqué declared 122 American tanks were shot up in the first two days of the battle.

Allied sources gave few details of this action but made it clear the Germans had been unable to check the drive and front reports said the Doughboys had pushed to within 25 miles of the Rhine.

Fighter-bombers, supporting the ground operations on all sectors of the front, bombed and strafed the enemy from Duren in the Aachen north to Colmar and Mulhouse in the south, hitting fortified towns, sun positions, strong points and other defense positions as well as front line troops, rail transportation targets and supply dumps.

Kiwanians Enjoy Weekly Meeting
 By CHESTER WALSH
 Lieut. Lester Jones, commander of Troop A, State Highway Patrol, guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club's weekly meeting last night, gave an informative review of the patrol's activities during the war. Enumerating the many calls the patrolmen had, he recalled the constant watch kept along the coastal area for sabotage and subversive activities in cooperation with the FBI; the running down of rumors and the many false reports made to the department and reminded that after Pearl Harbor the citizenship became suspicious of each other and resultant false alarms. Lieut. Jones said frequently the patrol had to investigate people and places on reports when they knew that the complaints were unfounded. During the battle of the Atlantic when ships were being sunk off our coast, the patrolmen spent many hours working with Naval Intelligence in the swamps along the coast and along the shores watching for enemy landings. He said the situation was more critical than the public realized.

Lieut. Jones pointed out that his department has worked with the armed forces, the FBI and SBI and the OPA in war regulations. The patrol recovered hundreds of tons of black market sugar and millions of black market gasoline and sugar coupons. The patrol is called on to check on dope peddlers, suppress race riots and locate draft dodgers. When the draft board made its rounds on the highway patrolmen Troop A volunteered as a unit for service in the Army and its services were accepted. The officer paid fine tribute to the officers and men of the patrol, John Arthur Collins was in charge of the program. President Dick Bundy presided.

Special guests of the club were Cpl. John Laws, M. M. Messing, C. L. Teague, W. M. Young and Miss Thelma Exum, Troop A's executive secretary.

Haywood Dall, always cheerful, always interesting, made an impressive after-dinner speech in favor of the Farm Bureau of the State of Danville, Va., talented violinist who is stationed on the Washington market, delighted the Kiwanians with his music and had to play several encores. Mrs. Ray Tyson was accompanist. Tige Gardner led the singing of Kiwanis songs. Chester Walsh won the attendance prize, given by Joe Taft. Invited guests were Drs. J. L. Winstead, K. L. Pace and J. W. W. Carter, Rev. Virgil Haven, Christian missionary from Africa, John Collins and Dr. R. J. Slay of the college.

Women IN THE CHURCH
 by Mary Fowler

Word comes from Nanking, China that the main building of Orling College for Women, built some 20 years ago by seven American Protestant women's societies and by Smith College, and said to be the "most beautiful college buildings" in all Asia, are being used by the Japanese to store ammunition. Fear is that the Allies may bomb the campus in recapturing Nanking, or that the Japanese may blow it up when they leave. Meanwhile, the college, under President Wu Yifang, China's noted woman educator, carries on classes in Chengtu, West China, 2,000 miles away. And American church women are now gathering funds to re-assemble students and faculty in Nanking when the war is over, to furnish scholarships to needy students, to re-equip the looted institution—and probably rebuild some or all of its edifices.

There has recently been installed in St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church, Massena, New York, a stained glass window depicting Madame Chiang Kai-Shek in native Chinese costume and amid a garden of Chinese flowers, as a symbol of the international unity. Here in Kemer, the college-educated daughter of China is shown in an American church, in glass that has been gathered from medieval days of France, Belgium and England. In the portrayal Madame Chiang holds a scroll which bears her famous phrase delivered in Madison Square Garden, New York, "We must try to forgive."

Operating a doll beauty shop has brought new ambition to Miss Peggy Harper, who received her training in the "doll orphanage" in the Goodwill Industries of Indianapolis, Ind., and Milwaukee, Wis. This young woman, a victim of paralysis since childhood, was timid about seeking employment. Given an opportunity to "put new life into the hapless waifs of doll-dom—the dolls' children," Miss Harper has determined that some day she will own her own doll shop. Repairing dolls is one phase of the program of "rehabilitation of people and things" carried on through the Goodwill Industries, started more than 25 years ago under the auspices of the Methodist Church.

Cases Tried Friday In Recorder's Court

Judge Jimmy Roberts held "graduation exercises" in City Recorder's Court, Friday when he found Manuel Moore, 17, colored, guilty of carrying a concealed weapon and assault with a deadly weapon and gave him a certificate of graduation from the Juvenile Court, accompanied by two six-month suspended sentences and fines and court costs.

The judge, observing that Moore's last trial was in Juvenile Court, gave him six months on the roads for carrying a concealed weapon and six months for assaulting William German, colored, with a deadly weapon. The court suspended judgment on payment of $50 fine and costs in each case.

Probable cause was found against Andrew Thorpe, colored, for breaking and entering a woman's bedroom on Pitt Street. Dick W. Kelly Knox, colored, paid $25 for profane language.

In the case of Lieut. T. R. Moore and J. E. Randolph, charged with reckless driving, Randolph was called and failed to answer and a capias was issued for him. They had an auto collision on Dickinson Avenue.

Grimes, colored, was convicted of the larceny of a pump punch from Sarah Moore. He was given six months on the roads, judgment suspended on payment of $15 fine and $2.50 for the pump punch.

No Circus

Greenville held a crowd of disappointed people Friday. Thousands were here from all directions expecting to see Forepaugh and Sells Brothers big show. When it was learned that one section of the circus train was in a wreck on the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad there was much disappointment. All the forenoon a crowd was collected around the depot waiting to see the circus train come in and unload, but it never came.

Greenville had been congratulating itself upon having a date with the biggest and best show traveling the south this season, hence the regret was all the greater that circumstances interfered with the show here.

of the growth of the individual into a wholesome personality and worthy citizen of the world. He stressed the responsibility of each person in working for permanent peace. He thought that an understanding of all people would more readily be brought about through the formation and use of a new and fitting language which could be readily understood and spoken by all nations.

At the conclusion of this most interesting and enlightening discussion, the hostess served delectable refreshments, consisting of nuts, fruit cake and ice cream.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. G. Fleming on November 18, at which time Miss Eunice McGee will review "A Bell for Adano," by John Hersey. —Reported.

Win By Score Of 19 To 6; New Bern Quits In Protest Less Than Two Minutes From End Of Game.

With Greenville High School Phantoms leading 19 to six the New Bern Bears walked off the field here last night about a minute and 50 seconds before the end of the game following a protest in which the visitors claimed failure of the officials to call an offside against Greenville. When play ended the Phantoms were in possession of the ball for first down and 10 yards to go on about the visitors' 30 yard line. From the starting whistle the Phantoms outplayed the visitors as evidenced by the fact that the locals scored their first touchdown one minute and five seconds after the game got under way. New Bern's only score came in the second quarter and at no other time during the game did the Bears even threaten. The Phantoms showed much improvement over previous games in that they got under way as soon as the game started and played bang-up ball until the finish. Better blocking and tackling than in previous games was much in evidence. Greenville's first touchdown came at the very beginning of the game when it received the Bears' kickoff on its own 20 yard line. On the first play Perkins passed to Fleming on the 45, who ran the ball to New Bern's 35-yard line. On the next play Perkins ran 35 yards for a touchdown. Futrelle's kick for the extra point hit the crossbar of the goal post and was no good. New Bern received Greenville's kickoff on its 30 yard line and ran it to the 45. After no gain for two plays New Bern kicked out of Greenville's 25 yard line. After returning the ball to New Bern's 49 in a series of plays in which Futrelle, Leggett and Jordan carried the ball, Greenville was penalized five yards and was forced to kick to New Bern on her 33. New Bern made a first down and then Williams intercepted a New Bern pass and ran to the 25 yard line. On the next play Futrelle raced 25 yards for Greenville's second touchdown. Perkins went over for the extra point making the score 13 to nothing in favor of the Phantoms. Greenville kicked to New Bern and after a first down by the Bears, Lee intercepted a New Bern pass on Greenville's 46 yard line. New Bern then intercepted a Greenville pass on her own 46 and ran it to the 48 where the period ended with New Bern in possession of the ball.

In the second quarter after a saw-saw battle in which both sides exchanged punts twice, Clinton Harrison of New Bern, got away for a 45 yard run for the Bears' only score of the game. An attempted line play for the extra point was no good. The Phantoms again took over the offensive after New Bern's kickoff and drove back into New Bern territory where a pass and lateral Perkins to Fleming was forced carried the ball to New Bern's four yard line as the half time whistle blew. In the third quarter after returning the kickoff 20 yards New Bern failed to gain and kicked to Greenville's 35. A series of passes and line plays carried the Phantoms to New Bern's 30 yard line from which point Futrelle by shifty running avoided the New Bern tacklers and went over for a touchdown. An attempted pass for the extra point was no good. In the fourth quarter New Bern was on the defensive most of the time and three times Greenville carried the ball deep into Bear territory. As the quarter neared the end Greenville received New Bern's third down punt on its own 20 yard line and with passes and line plays advanced it to New Bern's 45 yard line. On the next play a pass from Futrelle to White on New Bern's 30 was completed but New Bern protested on the ground that a Greenville player was offside and left the field to end the game. Greenville's starting lineup, Dennis Fleming and Julian White, ends; Joe Lupton and Lewis Lawrence, tackles; Kenneth Dall and Lawrence Posey, guards; J. T. Wil-

ARMY-NAVY GAME MOVED

Football Classic To Be Played At Baltimore.

By WILLIAM A. VARN
Baltimore, Nov. 18.—(AP)—There were cheers from all sides today as the Army and Navy moved to return their traditional football rivalry to the Public State in Baltimore December 2 after two years of gridiron jousting in the war-mandated comparative secrecy of the shores of Annapolis and the plains of West Point.

Beyond the simple announcement that the 1944 tilt, on which may possibly hinge the national collegiate championship, would take place in Municipal Stadium here before as many as 71,000 fans instead of Annapolis where 19,000 would have watched, there was little more to be known.

Although orders for tickets began pouring in to Naval Academy athletic offices by wire and mail, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public still didn't
