Nazi Military Power Is Getting Low

Hitler Losing Average Of About Six Divisions A Week; Of Present Estimated Strength Of Six Millions Troops Only One And Quarter Millions Really Fit.

By ROGER GREENE. 21st Army Group Headquarters, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler now probably has about 6,000,000 troops to wage the climactic battle of Germany, including about 1,250,000 really fit men between the ages of 19 and 46, according to the best available information here.

Under the leadership of three commanders Field Marshal Walther Von Model, Col. Gen. Kurt Student and Gen. Hermann Balck, with Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt as supreme chief of staff in the west, the Nazi Fuehrer has more divisions massed on the Allied front in western Europe than on D-Day. But they are far inferior in quality.

(Von Model is commander of the northern group of German armies in the west. Balck is in command of the southern group and Student is a parachute expert apparently in command of German parachute troops.)

On June 6 there were approximately 65 German divisions on the Western front, compared with about 70 today. But when Gen. Eisenhower's forces stormed the beaches of Normandy a German division had an average strength of 17,000 men, according to information here. Today many Nazi divisions average less than 11,000 men, it is estimated.

Hammered incessantly and violently for nearly six months by Allied armies in the west, the enemy has been manufacturing divisions continuously but losing far more than he is making. In recent operations the Germans have been losing about six divisions a week.

On the Eastern front, today there are about 106 divisions. Information here divides them as follows: Western front, 70; Eastern front, 150-160; Italy, about 30; Balkans, about 20; Scandinavia, about 20, and inside Germany, about 20.

In London a military source said the line-up of some 300 divisions did not take into account several million supply and maintenance troops which would bring Hitler's total forces to approximately 6,000,000 men.

As the Germans pull back into the Reich itself, thereby shortening lines of communication, Hitler may reinforce his Western front by the year end and at the same time feed other reinforcements into the east.

The Germans have been producing Volk Grenadier divisions since September 1, and can be expected to increase the number during the winter and early spring. These soldiers are described as a mixture of shoddiness and experienced veterans, including many ex-soldiers called from German war industries, convalescents and foreigners.

As a rule they are intelligent, and feel their lack of training. Some times they are sent to the front after less than 12 weeks training. They fight hard to begin with but wear down quickly.

These Volk Grenadiers are chiefly intended for static use and are badly equipped for transport, depending mainly on bicycles and horse-drawn vehicles. The quality of their officers is poor. Their non-commissioned officers are mostly (Continued on page eight)

AIR OFFENSIVE HITS NEW PEAK

Yesterday's Announced Plane Losses Reduced By 33.

London, Dec. 1.—(AP)—U. S. Air Force heavy bombers from Italy apparently were striking Germany today as grey wintry weather halted a two-day offensive by the British-based U. S. Eighth Air Force and the RAF.

Berlin broadcasts warned the Germans of raiders over Bavaria. Losses of the Eighth Air Force in the fleet-filled skies over oil plants and rail yards in Germany yesterday proved considerably less than the originally announced 56 bombers and 30 fighters. Sixteen bombers and 17 fighters previously said to be missing were reported safe. This left 40 bombers and 13 fighters still unaccounted for.

Some 8,000 planes had attacked synthetic oil plants in the Leipzig area and rail yards about Saarbrücken. The tactical air force, supporting ground troops, lost three medium bombers and one fighter.

Last night's RAF attack by perhaps 1,000 planes was directed at Duisburg in continuation of the relentless assault on West oil and transport centers. Duisburg was hit for the second time in 12 hours.

Not since 63 U. S. bombers went down to combined ack-ack fire and fighter opposition over Berlin in April have Allied planes encountered such concentrated defense fire as they did yesterday, particularly in a 40-mile square area near Leipzig.

Tempering the heavy losses reported by an Eighth Air Force communiqué was the belief that most of the fighter pilots grounded in friendly territory.

The German air force declined to come out to meet the massive formations of Fortresses and Liberators. Four enemy interceptors were shot down.

Fortresses struck at Bohlen, Zeitz, Merseburg and Lutzendorf near Leipzig, roaring over the targets at 25,000 to 30,000 feet with a full complement of fighters. Results here were described as "very favorable."

The blows topped a 36-hour continuous aerial offensive which left the Reich erupting from an average of 10 tons of bombs a minute from the 11,000 planes flying on seven major missions in that period and some 4,000 sorties in support of the ground armies.

General De Gaulle Arrives In Russia

London, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Gen. De Gaulle has arrived in Russia to confer with Premier-Marshals Stalin, the Moscow radio announced last night.

Topics to be discussed include a new Franco-Soviet pact, the fate of Germany after the war, especially in connection with the status of the Rhine land and the Western Reich, and collective security.

Times Changes. Baltimore, Dec. 1.—(AP)—It's just a century ago that Samuel B. Morse invented the telegraph and sent a single sentence from Washington to Baltimore. Saturday approximately 300,000 words will be sent from the Baltimore Stadium press box on the Army-Navy football game.

FICKLEN HEADS ORGANIZATION

Named President Of Citizens Association.

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Governor-elect R. Gregg Cherry yesterday told the North Carolina Citizens Association that because of the unprecedented surplus, "the taxpayers of the state, faced by the heavy federal taxes, have a right to expect some relief either by way of adjustment in tax schedules or by refunds or credits during this temporary surplus period."

"It seems to me," he said, "at the present time when we have an unusual surplus accumulated, that the state supported institutions have a right to request a portion of this surplus to be used for their benefit."

Cherry's primary recommendation was to use the surplus to pay off the state's indebtedness. Cherry appeared on the program with former Governor J. C. B. Ehrighaus, Governor Broughton, tax experts and business men.

K. F. Wenz, of Canton, said in a prepared speech which was read when he was unable to appear that "if we reduce taxes now, we will pay for it later, both in higher taxes and (Continued on page eight)

Will Name Ship For Bethel Man

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Names of merchant seamen who died as a result of direct enemy action will be assigned to the last 100 ships in the Liberty ship construction program, the Maritime Commission announced today.

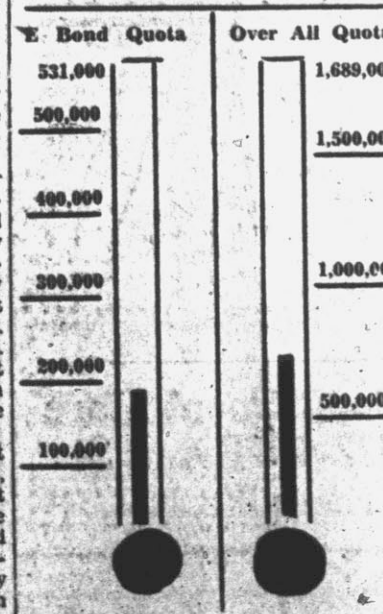

The ships named from the list of 722 dead in the merchant marine casualty reports will honor also the more than 5,000 merchant seamen listed as missing or prisoners of war.

Previously, liberty ships have been made for 20 merchant seamen awarded the distinguished service medal posthumously.

The first group of 22 names were assigned to hulls on the ways at five southern shipyards.

Names selected for five ships being built at Southeastern Shipbuilding Co., Savannah, Ga., included: Mack Bruton Bryan, third assistant engineer on S. S. City of Rayville, sunk by explosion November 9, 1940; born at Bethel, N. C., August 11, 1890; sister, Mrs. J. S. Fox, Randleman, N. C.

Seventh Jap Convoy Is Smashed By U. S. Fliers

MacArthur Says Japs Have Lost 26,000 Troops In Attempts To Reinforce Leyte Garrison.

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines Dec. 1.—(AP)—Japan's disastrous attempts to replenish her Leyte garrisons have cost her 26,000 troops lost at sea in the destruction of seven convoys, the latest one on Thursday with 5,000 men and uncounted supplies aboard.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today that low-flying American pilots sank a 9,000-ton transport and three small freighters headed toward the west coast port of Ormoc on Leyte. In addition, a 5,000-ton freighter and a destroyer were hit and left ablaze.

The transports were heavily loaded with men. General MacArthur said in his communique, "and the enemy's loss of life is estimated at 8,000 men."

It was the second convoy destruction in two days. On Wednesday, 13 ships were wiped out, two at the dock after unloading but the rest sunk at sea with all hands aboard. MacArthur said 29 transports totaling 103,750 tons and 18 escort ships have been sunk in the seven convoys knocked out.

Fighters, hitting at madhead level, bagged the bulk of the carefully dispersed convoy off Masbate and Cebu but one small freighter, falling prey to a night patrol plane, was sunk as far west of Leyte as Mindoro Island.

Another freighter was sunk off Borneo during continued widespread bomber raid on the central Philippines and islands to the south, and a bomber scored a hit on what was described only as a "large enemy vessel."

A submarine was sunk off western Leyte Monday by two destroyers of a force sent into those mine- and dangerous waters to bombard Japanese installations.

Associated Press correspondent Dean Schedler, aboard one destroyer, said the American ships made ready to take the survivors aboard but under the glare of searchlights the Japanese could be seen holding objects that looked too much like grenades and guns for safety.

The Japanese were left splashing in the sea. Four American escort carriers were acknowledged by the Navy as damaged in the historic Philippines sea battle of Oct. 24. They were the Kalamita Bay, the Fanshaw Bay, the White Plains and the Kitkun Bay.

May Not Tie Tax Freeze To War Powers Measure

By FRANCIS J. KELLY. Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A plan to pin the bill freezing the social security payroll tax onto another measure extending the President's war powers met a cool reception in the senate today.

NAZIS FALLING BACK IN ITALY

Fifth Army Advances Against Light Resistance.

Rome, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Troops of a Fifth army Indian division moved forward today along the Florence-Faenza road against only light resistance and reconnaissance reports indicated the enemy was withdrawing from the mountains, in that area to the Po valley.

The German move apparently was to straighten out a bulge in his line between Bologna and Faenza. On the Eighth army front there was no change in positions. Allied troops still were engaged in heavy fighting around Alberto, northeast of Faenza.

Southwest of Faenza patrols found the Germans still dug in on high ground behind the Lamone river.

Northwest of Modigliana below highway nine the Monte Pregelanello and Tramonti areas were cleared of the enemy. Farther west Monte Del Tesoro, Monte Fortino and the Roncolese areas were occupied after several fierce encounters.

British troops of the Fifth army found Fontanelice, 9 1/2 miles below Imoia on the Imola-Castel Del Rio highway, had been evacuated by the Germans.

A German counterattack east of Monte Belmonte near highway 9 1/2 below Bologna was repulsed. The entire highway area was under heavy German artillery fire.

West of the Pistola-Bologna highway the Fifth army made limited gains north of Bombiana. Still farther west other Fifth army units withdrew after running into strong concrete emplacements and heavy machinegun and mortar fire.

Lt. Preston Clark Killed In Battle

Lieut. Preston C. Clark, 21, U. S. Army, was killed in battle in Germany on November 17, according to a message from the War Department to his family. He volunteered in Battery A, 113th Field Artillery in 1940. He went overseas last February.

He was the youngest son of Mrs. George A. Clark and the late Chief of Police Clark of Greenville. He was promoted from sergeant to lieutenant on the battlefield recently. He was a member of a forward observation post when he was killed.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ruth Moyer Clark of Snow Hill; a daughter, Ruth Cotten Clark, born after her father embarked on ship for Europe; his mother, Mrs. Georgia Clark of Greenville; three brothers, Robert B. Clark of Washington; Pfc. George A. Clark, Jr., U. S. Army in Italy; and Sgt. Baxter McL. Clark, Army Air Force, stationed in Greensboro; three sisters, Mrs. G. L. Pleasants and Mrs. H. B. Drum of Greenville, and Mrs. Cameron McL. of London, on Monday. Police Chief E. R. Richardson said last night.

Admits Starting Fire

Thomasville, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A 20-year-old youth whom he identified as Craig Sparks Chappell admitted setting the fire which destroyed a 12-room boarding house and took the life of 11-year-old June West on Monday. Police Chief E. R. Richardson said last night.

Final Notice To Subscribers

Attention of our subscribers is again called to the necessity of all subscriptions being placed on a PAID-IN-ADVANCE basis immediately.

(Card notices have recently been mailed out to all of our subscribers in the city of Greenville whose subscriptions have expired or will expire by December 1. We regret that it will be necessary to drop all unpaid subscribers from our city list after this week.

Notices are now being sent to our mail subscribers and all mail subscriptions not paid in advance by the end of next week, December 2 will be dropped from lists that date. If the label on your paper shows your expiration date prior to 12-10-44 don't wait for a card notice but get your renewal in now.

We do not want to lose any of our present readers but wartime conditions and the scarcity of paper make it absolutely necessary that we conserve our supply for those subscribers who are paid in advance.

Killed Rommel (?)

First Lt. Harold O. Miller (above) of Santa Rosa, Calif., was the pilot of a U. S. plane which strafed what he believed was a German staff car 20 miles behind the Normandy front July 24. It was that same day that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was injured fatally in an automobile accident near the front, according to official German admission months later. (AP Wirephoto).

NINE DEAD IN AIRLINE CRASH

Accident Occurred In Heavy Fog Near Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A Transcontinental and Western Airlines passenger plane, with 23 aboard, crashed in a heavy fog in the nearby San Fernando valley early today as it was nearing its destination at Burbank en route from San Francisco. Police reported that at least nine were killed.

Twenty passengers and three crew members were on the plane including Mayor Harley Knox of San Diego who was injured. Knox said City Manager Walter Cooper of San Diego also was on the plane. Police said Cooper was unaccounted for and possibly was one of the dead.

Two officials said two crew members were killed. They were Capt. J. P. Snowden, Burbank, Calif., and First Officer T. L. Bamberger, Alameda, Calif. The plane's hostess, Donna Marr, of Burbank, was taken to a hospital with a leg fracture and other injuries.

Lee Flanagan, acting regional operations manager of TWA at Burbank, said the pilot of the plane was in radio contact with Lockheed terminal just a few minutes before the crash.

At the police receiving hospital, Mayor Knox told newsmen he was awake at the time of the crash. The air liner, he said, apparently was trying to come down through fog and "was wobbling a little."

Today On The Home Front

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The fight on the Senate's exclusive treaty-settling power is under way. It may get some place. Probably not. Not now. Maybe later. Years later. This is the story.

Under the Constitution only the Senate—which has 96 members—can approve treaties with foreign nations. The House of Representatives—with 435 members—can take no part in treaty-making.

But approval of a treaty needs a "yes" vote from two-thirds of the Senators present at voting time. Thus one-third of the Senators plus one could wreck a treaty.

The fight now is to change the Constitution so that treaty-making could be done by House and Senate and with only a majority vote in both places needed.

American First And Ninth Armies Slash Through German Villages In Bloody Fighting; Third Army Reaches Saar; Seventh Cracks German defenses.

By JAMES M. LONG. Paris, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Four American armies threw the Germans back across the Roer and Saar Rivers, chief northern and southern barriers to the Rhine, and broke through German defenses in the easternmost tip of France today.

U. S. First Army troops struck for the chief remaining keys of Nazi strength along the Roer southwest of Duren in the Cologne Plain as Gen. Eisenhower daily increased the pressure on whining enemy forces.

U. S. First Army troops struck for the chief remaining keys of Nazi strength along the Roer southwest of Duren in the Cologne Plain as Gen. Eisenhower daily increased the pressure on whining enemy forces.

Battling in the easternmost point of France above Strasbourg, the 15th Corps of the U. S. Seventh Army broke through the Germans' main defenses in the woods southwest of Haguenau and surged into the outskirts of that key communications supply center 28 miles southwest of Karlsruhe, Baden.

The U. S. Ninth Army of Lt. Gen. William Simpson already had drawn up in solid assault strength along the Roer and Inde Rivers for a distance of 15 to 20 miles northwest of Duren when Hodges' men launched their attack for a similar footing along the stream southwest of Duren.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's U. S. Third Army surged up to Saar on a front of at least 15 miles, solid against the Siegfried Line. His 10th armored division chased the Germans across the Saar River at Merzig.

The Ninth Army captured Weis and seized three-fourths of the hamlet of Beck as it threw a tight encircling force at the town of Elmlich, on the road to the Rhineland city of Munchen Gladbach.

Beck is three miles west of Linlich and already had been bypassed on either side at captured Lindern and Hoven. Its streets were filled with German dead as the result of a hail of American phosphorous shells. Patrols stabbed across the Inde.

On Simpson's right flank, the First Army was less than a mile over a mile from the Roer at a point about 6-1/2 miles southwest of Duren.

Gey is 3-1/2 miles northeast of Hurligen and is one of the principal keys to open country beyond the Hurligen Forest. The Americans were within 1,000 yards of Gey.

The Americans in their drive on the two villages encountered intense small arms fire, mines of many sorts, roadblocks of felled trees laced with boobytraps and many other types of defenses.

The Americans rolling out of the woods southwest of Haguenau in the eastern tip of France took prisoners who said they had just arrived from the West.

Rumor Denied. Chungking, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A source close to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek ridiculed today a report published in London that Chiang and his wife had separated. This source said the report was malicious and mendacious and should be thoroughly discredited.

Senator not anxious to let Representatives cut into their special piece of pie—their exclusive treaty powers. If they block the move now, it may be years before any strong effort is made again to force a change.

But if Senate and House both approved the proposal would have to go to the states for their okay before the Constitution actually was amended.

Three-fourths of the State Legislatures—or State Constitutional convention specially called for this measure—would have to approve.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE. Associated Press War Analyst. The fierceness of the fighting over the water-logged terrain of the northern battle-front opposite the Rhineland lends particular point to Secretary of War Stimson's bluntness and unadorned statement that Supreme Commander Eisenhower had to delay his general offensive until enough artillery ammunition accumulated.

The developing battle of the Cologne plain is a grim business. It bids fair to be one of the toughest, most sanguinary engagements of the war—for it's the final phase of armageddon. The expenditure of life and materiel on both sides will be great.

Heavy artillery plays an important role in this bloody crisis. The big fellow, as the secretary points out, is used not only to destroy the enemy but to smash his fortifications. If these enemy strongholds weren't reduced by high explosives they would have to be stormed by the infantry at a terrible cost in life.

So the giant guns are one of the greatest safeguards of the lives of our boys. That's why, as Col. Stimson says, "we insist on an overwhelming artillery power for the support of our infantry, not merely to gain success in battle but more particularly to hold down the number of casualties."

Social and Personal

Mrs. Laura McLaughlin and Miss Mary Bryan of near Ayden, spent today in Greenville.

Miss Judy Sawyer, who has been a patient in Duke Hospital for the past few weeks, has returned to Greenville and is convalescing at the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. Clyde Landing, 1100 Colonial avenue.

Mrs. W. M. Scales, Mrs. George Doughty and Mrs. Walter C. Hargrave have returned from San Francisco, Calif. Mrs. Doughty and Mrs. Hargrave will reside at their respective homes here for the duration.

Senator Arthur B. Corey attended the meeting of the North Carolina Citizens Association in Raleigh yesterday.

Mrs. Margaret Claypole of Simcoe, Ontario, Canada, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Kittrell in Winterville.

Lt. (j. g.) W. A. Sugg, of Washington, D. C., will spend the week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sugg.

Mrs. J. B. Spilman and Cpl. J. B. Spilman have gone to Manteca to spend the week-end with Mrs. Spilman's sister, Mrs. R. B. Eberidge.

Chatham Book Club. Mrs. W. P. Moore entertained the Chatham Book Club on Tuesday afternoon at her home on East Fourth street.

Upon arrival Mrs. Moore, assisted by Mrs. Durwood Tucker, served a delicious dessert course with coffee.

Mrs. Moore introduced as her guest speaker, Miss Mamie Chandler, who gave a very interesting and timely talk on a social question stressing the need for an intelligent and kindly approach to our racial problems.

At the business session the club voted to donate to the Christmas cheer boxes and to the Tubercular Seal drive.

Sans Souci Club.

The Sans Souci Book Club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. E. Hooker at her attractive home on Fifth street. In her usual cordial manner, Mrs. Hooker welcomed her guests. The president being absent, Mrs. Frank Wooten, vice-president, presided over the business meeting preceding the program.

Mrs. Herbert Waldrop presented a request from the Red Cross asking for a donation to assist them in preparing Christmas boxes for the hospitalized servicemen in this area. The club was delighted to give a donation for this work.

Mrs. Key Brown, chairman of the program committee, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Frank Wooten who gave the program for the afternoon. Mrs. Wooten's program is always regarded as the highlight of the club year. She chose as her subject the life of Saint Benedict. In her delightful and inimitable manner she told the story of this great saint's life who built the famous monastery and established the order of Benedictine monks. She told of the many great things he accomplished for early Christianity. It was a privilege to hear the history of this great saint told by Mrs. Wooten as she has the gift of turning back the pages of history and making her listeners feel that they are living in the past.

During the social hour Mrs. Hooker served delicious refreshments. —Reported.

Women in Business.

Mrs. Key Brown, who has been employed the past eight years, by H. A. White and Sons, recently resigned and is now engaged in the mortgage loan and real estate business in room 300, State Bank and Trust Company building. He represents several leading insurance companies and the State Mortgage Company of Raleigh. His territory is east of Raleigh.

Return to Pennsylvania.

Prof. and Mrs. J. W. White have returned to State College, Pa., after a brief visit with relatives in Greenville. Prof. White is a brother of Mrs. D. D. Overton, Mrs. E. H. Foley and Milton H. White. He has been a member of the faculty of the Pennsylvania State College since January 1, 1906, where he is engaged in agricultural research. Although Prof. White has lived in Pennsylvania for 39 years, he still retains his southern accent, and is still a Tar Heel at heart. He is proud of the south and its traditions and says that North Carolina is looked upon, up north, as one of the south's most progressive states. He marvels at the rapid growth of Greenville from a small country town of 1,500 to a progressive city of 15,000 population.

Athenum Book Club.

The meeting of the Athenum Book Club was held Nov. 28 with Mrs. S. M. Crisp at her home on Fifth street.

The home of Mrs. Crisp was beautifully decorated. The centerpiece on the dining room table was an artistic arrangement of carnations and ferns.

A delicious two-course luncheon was served. After the luncheon Mrs. Crisp introduced the speaker, Dr. Walter Pott, who gave an interesting talk on the progress of medicine during the war.

Mrs. W. W. Lee, the president, presided over a short business meeting. The club voted that each member take a Christmas box for a soldier that the Red Cross is responsible for.

After distribution of books the club adjourned.

Guests for the afternoon were Mesdames John Mitchell, E. B. Picklen, W. G. Glass, and E. S. Askew of Oriental.—Reported.

Band To Play For Production.

One of the more unusual features in tonight's Chi Pi production of Emyln Williams' "A Murder Has Been Arranged" is the featuring of the E. C. T. C. swing band as the band. Sir Charles Jasper has employed to entertain at his dinner party on the stage of the St. James Theatre in London. The band will also play during intermission.

Members of the band are Richard David, who also plays the role of Cavendish, the band conductor; Elizabeth Cotten, Faye Jessup, Elizabeth Darden, Mary Barden Taylor, Elizabeth Morgan, Mitchell White, Josephine Gibson, Layton Clark, Wanda Syndall, Mr. Charles Fisher, faculty adviser, will also play with the band. Dorothy Peebles is manager.

Colorful period costumes have been ordered from Eve's costume house in New York. These costumes will be used in the dinner party scene where the cast changes into the costumes of "ghosts of history" from the theater's wardrobe, such as Henry of Navarre, Marie Antoinette, Mary, Queen of Scots, Catherine the Great and Caesar Borgia.

Presbyterian Announcements.

"CHRISTMAS CHEER BOXES"

Pitt County Red Cross Chapter has pledged to send 400 "Christmas Cheer Boxes" to hospitalized World War II veterans at Camp Lejeune, Cherry Point and the Greenville Marine Air Station. The boxes will contain confections and novelties and will be wrapped in Christmas paper. Women of the Red Cross will need some help in filling and wrapping the boxes and will ask for volunteer workers. They will be wrapped at the Red Cross surgical dressing station. Women willing to assist should communicate with Mrs. K. B. Pace or Mrs. J. T. Little, Bethel, Farmville and Ayden will also send "Christmas Cheer Boxes."

Inter Se Club Meets.

Mrs. Reynolds May was hostess to the members of the Inter Se Club on Tuesday, November 28, at her home on Eighth street.

Mrs. A. T. Bilbro, president, presided over a short business session. During this time a collection was given to the Red Cross for the Christmas stockings to be given to the hospitalized service men. Mrs. Bilbro welcomed Mrs. W. S. Radford, a guest member of the club.

Mrs. Joe Taft gave to the club a most interesting paper on General George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army. In Mrs. Taft's discussion of General Marshall all she gave a complete summary of his military and private life she stated that he is the man who is responsible for everything about the army, for its planes, its tanks, its food, its men, its spirit, and its leaders. He is not only our No. 1 soldier, he has also become a military statesman. The army which he has served for 42 years believes he is one of the greatest military leaders we have ever produced. The American people like and trust him. Never in our history has a military man enjoyed such respect on Capitol Hill. A smoothly working relationship exists between him and the White House. The White House rarely suggests anything counter to War Department policy. As senior member of the combined chief of staff, the British and American top commanders of land, sea and air forces, he has been largely responsible for the success of British-American cooperation in arms and unity among the Allies. In official Washington, says Mrs. Taft, there is a slogan for any military crisis which reads "Trust to God and General Marshall."

Chapter 3

Doctor Webb appeared, a tall, gaunt man with lines of responsibility carved deep into his face. His hair was gray and his hands long and bony and a physician as well as Premier. His voice, when he greeted Jason, was low-pitched and carried the rasp of one accustomed to instant obedience. He wore steel-rimmed spectacles which he removed often and wiped nervously. Without the spectacles, his eyes appeared gray and icy cold. Occasionally he blinked as if his eyes troubled him.

"Well, Captain," Doctor Webb rumbled, "and how is my cargo of pipe?"

"Safe enough," Jason told him. "You'll find a bit of rust here and there, but that's only natural. Pumice stone and a little rubbing will soon remove that. And now, I have a present for you, sir." He stopped and opened the trunk, exposing the bottles to view. "A dozen choice Jamaica rum."

Doctor Webb gave him a onesided smile. "That's the way of you trading captains. Wherever you go, your damnable rum goes with you."

"But, doctor," Mrs. Webb protested, crossing swiftly to her husband's side. "Captain Blake is offering the spirits as a gift. The rum will be a welcome addition to your medicine chest."

"Suppose so," grunted the doctor, tilting back in his chair. "You've made a fast voyage, Captain. For ten years I've been dreaming of the water works. I'm truly grateful. The king will thank you personally. He will receive you tomorrow morning at court."

Jason noticed that the doctor spoke without considering the convenience of the king. "My brother is with me, sir," he reminded the Premier.

"Bring him along," rumbled Doctor Webb. "But don't bring any rum for the king. Sorry I must hurry away." The doctor stood up and grasped Jason's hand. "Should like to have heard something of Boston. Been eighteen years since I was there."

Mrs. Webb smiled up at Jason. "But we're islanders now," she said.

softly. She accompanied Jason to the door. He felt a sudden sympathy for her, wanted to stop and talk. Some day he would call on the Premier's wife—get to know her. He was certain that he and this slender, quiet, understanding woman were to become friends.

When Jason returned to his ship and reported to Caleb that they were to pay a formal visit at court the next morning, the younger man did not seem pleased. "What good," he objected vigorously, "is all this dressing up in uncomfortable clothes and kowtowing in front of a kanaka king? There's the cargo to be unloaded, and a new cargo for the return voyage to be thought of. I'll stay aboard and get the work started."

"It's the return cargo I'm thinking of," Jason told him. "Sandalwood if we can get it, and I think we can."

"Very well," groaned Caleb, "but you know how I feel about these natives."

The next morning, Jason and his brother, both in tall hats and long striped coats and shirts with ruffled bosoms, presented themselves at the palace. They were met by Doctor Webb and escorted into the presence of the king. The court had a stately and dignified air. It was held in a long, high-ceilinged room, the walls decorated with figured tapestry of brilliant silk. The ceiling was paneled in polish log wood, and the floor, inlaid with kor, kul-kul and hau woods, glistened underfoot. At one end, raised on a dais, stood a great golden arm chair with its red satin upholstery, the throne. Similar chairs, all gold and red, ranged on both sides. Above the throne hung a great shield emblazoned with the royal Hawaiian coat of arms.

The king, at 6:30, already inclined toward the hereditary stoutness of the royal family, was wearing the uniform of a full English admiral, a high-collared, long-tailed coat with gold buttons, gold epaulets, belt and sword. On his broad breast gleamed several foreign decorations. The king's face was round, a short mustache darkened his upper lip. His skin was the color of old leather. He held himself erect, one hand resting on the hilt of his sword. His eyes were far apart and slightly slanting. He smiled seldom, but was good-natured, self-indulgent, temperamental, lavish and greedy at the same time. His Majesty, Kamehameha III, a brown-skinned king ruling a brown-skinned people in an island paradise!

By the king's side sat his sister, Ayeen Lilia, her enormous body overflowing from a light-fitting purple silk dress with long sleeves. The queen was twenty years older than her brother, had been premier and regent during the king's youth. She was a jolly old lady, bubbling with laughter at the slightest provocation. But she could also frown and curse when things didn't go to suit her. She was unmoral, irreligious, sensitive, generous, kindly to her friends, cruel to her enemies.

Grouped around the king were the high chiefs, members of the House of Nobles with their wives. The throne on which the king sat was draped with the yellow feathered war cloak of the great Kamehameha I.

All this Jason took in at a glance.

And then he saw a girl in a dark red velvet dress cut low about the smooth golden curve of her shoulders. She was slender and graceful and, to Jason's eyes, bewitchingly beautiful. He gazed at her in astonishment. So fascinated was he by this loveliness that he did not hear the words of the Premier who was standing at his elbow. "Sir?" he stammered.

"Advance and greet the king," Doctor Webb repeated.

INSPECTOR REGAINS 16 LBS. TAKING RETONGA

He Was Down To 115 Lbs. And Could Hardly Eat, Sleep Or Work, Says Mr. Caudle. Feels Like Different Person Now.

MR. E. B. CAUDLE

"I was about to give up my job, but I have now regained sixteen pounds taking Retonga and I feel like a different person," gratefully declares Mr. R. B. Caudle, 107 Mississippi Ave., Knoxville, Tenn. Mr. Caudle's work as elevator inspector has called him to practically every state in the union. His home originally was in Sylacauga, Ala. Discussing Retonga Mr. Caudle happily continued:

"For about seven years I seemed to go from bad to worse. I practically lost all desire for food, and what little I ate caused so much bloating in my stomach that at times I felt like I would pass out. I finally got down to only one hundred and fifteen pounds. I had to take a laxative every day. I was so restless at night that it seemed to me that I was up and down all night long.

"Retonga gave me so much relief

Strength FOR THE DAY. By EARL L. DOUGLAS. THE REAL PROBLEMS UNTOUCHED. The fabulous robot brain, a huge mechanism housed in a casement of light metal 51 feet long and designed to make every conceivable kind of mathematical calculations, has received a great deal of attention in the news columns recently. We explain over such a marvel of man's ingenuity and feel that it marks a great human advance. Probably it does. Practically every achievement advances the race. But the item of significance we should never forget is that a machine of this sort can never solve the real problems which trouble men's souls. It may carry out its solutions accurately to 23 significant figures, but it cannot tell man how to live, it cannot counsel him in his choice between right and wrong, it probably cannot in any way help us in our everyday living. The great problems of life cannot be solved by logic and especially not by machines. Man is a creature who lives part of his life in the physical world and part in the un-physical spiritual world. The most significant part of his life is in the un-physical world. The robot brain is a marvelous adjunct to the physical side of life, but it answers none of the questions which will save a man's soul. These he has to have answered in quiet hours of meditation, in seasons of worship, in the experience of prayer and by a sincere searching for truth as God has revealed it in the Bible. The robot brain is good as far as it goes but it doesn't go far. All Rights Reserved.—Babson Newspaper Syndicate

Today On The... (Continued From Page One) and thought, will consider that anything justifies such a drastic change in our government. "Many drastic things might be done with the approval of a bare majority—things that we might regret later." But the House members are not the only ones seeking the change. The proposal has gained widespread support around the country. The New York Times—in commenting upon Senator George's statement—points out that the only way to find out what the people think is to submit the problem to them in the form of the proposed amendment. This idea could be carried further: If the Senate refuses to approve the proposal—the necessary step before it is submitted to the people—then the Senate is preventing the people from expressing their will. The constitutional provision giving the Senate exclusive treaty powers was drawn up 150 years ago. And a lot of things have happened to treaty-making since then. This side of the story will be told tomorrow.

To the People of this Community. Five billion dollars of the 14 billion dollars our country needs to press the war against our enemies must come from individual investors. That sounds like a lot of money, actually it is a lot of money. Actually it is a lot of money. The failure of the Sixth War Loan is up to each individual investor. Secretary of the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., emphasized the dramatic truth of this observation by pointing out that "Out of every thirteen men, women, children and babies in the United States, more than eight have purchased Bonds of their Government"—in all, 85,000,000 Americans. Every war loan has been over-subscribed because Americans by the millions have shared its responsibility. Americans such as you have recognized the need of extra War Bond purchases over and above their normal payroll savings. The extra Bond you pay cash or sign up for today in your place of employment is your personal extra contribution toward victory and the return of loved ones to our community. There is no such thing as a little fellow in a War Bond drive. Everyone is important and big. Your War Bond purchases, multiplied by the War Bond purchases of your friends and neighbors, become a fighting power which saves lives of Americans on the battlefronts and brings us nearer and nearer to our common objective. THE EDITOR.

AMERICA IN WARTIME. By JACK STINNETT. Washington—Make no mistake about it, the color of the 79th Congress on many matters is going to be quite different from that of the 78th. To explore all shades of it will take a whole series of articles and some of those shades can't be determined until the first battles of next January and February make the alignments more clear. However, one thing is certain: on the matter of foreign policy, the administration has made its greatest gains since well before Pearl Harbor. This is a vital point now, since the resignation of aging Secretary of State Hull. Probably more than any member of the cabinet, Cordell Hull had the respect and admiration tion of Congress. His policy of cooperation with representatives of both sides of the Capitol did much to dispel the antagonism between the legislative and executive branches. But if the State Department returns to its old conservative aloofness from the mundane matters of legislation, the President will need every gain that has been made in the Senate, where two-thirds of that body must consent to any treaties or agreements made with the other world powers. Numerically, the change in the Senate alignment isn't worth mentioning. The temper of the new Senate will be something else again. The voters turned out six of the President's most persistent opponents in the upper chamber. These are Republican Senators Gerald P. Nye, N. D.; John A. Danaher, Conn.; Rufus C. Holman, Ore.; and Democrats: Westley Clark, Idaho; Bennett C. Clark, Mo.; and the late E. D. "Cotton Ed" Smith S. C. Sen. Robert R. Reynolds, N. C., another thorn in the administrative side, didn't choose to run. Among the new senators who have views, which to say the least, are far less antagonistic will be Democrats Clyde Hoey, N. C.; William Fulbright, Ark., who made a brilliant record on foreign affairs in the House, and Republicans Leverett Saltonstall, Mass.; Wayne L. Morse, Ore.; Burke B. Hickenlooper, Iowa, and Forrest C. Donnell, Mo.

tainly is no friend of the administration, but realignments on the Democratic side of the committee will more than offset that with vacancies left by Reynolds, Clark, Mo., and Guy M. Gillette of Iowa, to be filled. In addition to all this, the health of Sen. Hiram Johnson, of Calif., once one of the most powerful of the so-called isolationists, doesn't permit his taking the active role he once held. There still is an important non-interventionist bloc in the Senate, greater in number in fact than the six who sidetracked participation in world peace plans after World War I. Just how active it will come to be undoubtedly will depend on public opinion as peace plan ratifications comes to a vote.

Big Gobbler Routs Robber at Waldrop's

By CHESTER WALSH. Marmaduke Llewellyn, stately turkey gobbler at J. Carroll Waldrop's house, 500 West Fourth Street, routed a nocturnal robber in the back yard Wednesday night and preserved his feathery self for the dinner table at the Waldrop home on Christmas Day. It was learned from Police Chief Herbert Wooten today. Waldrop was fattening the gobbler for a feast and had him parked in a pen in the yard. Somebody with a "taste for white meat" went over the fence and nabbed the gobbler. When the robber started to get over the fence Marmaduke Llewellyn gave a sudden swoop of his wings, the robber lost his balance, the fence broke down and the nocturnal prowler fled. Waldrop reported the theft to police. Later he found his gobbler contentedly resting on one foot on the other side of the fence and captured it. Neighbors say he is now keeping the gobbler in the kitchen, but this was not verified.

Maj. W. H. Stanley Leader Local Post

A public service welcoming Major W. H. Stanley of Elizabeth City as the new commander of the local Salvation Army post will be held at the army chapel on Dickinson avenue Sunday night at 7:30. Major Stanley succeeds Adjutant Elizabeth Speers, who recently resigned from the army. She went to Baltimore to visit relatives. She will be married during the holidays. The new commander and Mrs. Stanley did outstanding work at Elizabeth City. She has been ill at Duke Hospital for some weeks. They have a daughter, Mrs. D. A. Tillet, whose husband is in the army, and a son, Gerald H. Stanley, 12. Mrs. Tillet will assist in the work here. Major Stanley has had service in all of the principal cities of East Carolina. He is a native of Georgia but has been in North Carolina since 1913 and a Salvation Army officer for 23 years.

Cases Tried Today In Recorder's Court

In Police Court today Judge Roberts convicted Jake Barnhill, colored farm laborer, of assaulting Mabel Cherry, colored, with a beer bottle and gave him two years on the roads. According to testimony, Barnhill threw the bottle at somebody in The Tavern, care operated by Bill Bradsher for white and colored people on Dickinson avenue, near the Norfolk Southern depot. The bottle struck the woman, severely cutting her about the face. She will probably lose the sight of an eye. Barnhill has a court record, it was stated. Ephraim Harris, colored, was not guilty of assault with a deadly weapon. Fornication and adultery: Eph-

Grants Reprive To Three Negroes Raleigh, Dec. 1—(AP)—Governor Broughton granted a one-day reprieve yesterday to Ralph Thompson, Bessie Mae Williamson and Annie Mae Allison, negroes, scheduled to die in the gas chamber December 8 for the first degree murder in Mecklenburg County. The reprieve automatically sets the new death date for December 29. It was granted, the Governor said, to "give more time for the study of the case." Conviction of the trio by the lower court was upheld last week by the State Supreme Court.

Japs Evacuate Town In Burma Myitkyina, Burma, Dec. 1—(AP)—Royal Scots of the 36th Division have marched into Pinwe, seven miles north of the key Burma railway junction of Narba, 167 miles from Mandalay. Pinwe was occupied yesterday without resistance. More than 100 Japanese dead were found in the streets. There was evidence that in the last two days the Japanese had tried to burn and wreck bridges leading from the town. Considerable Japanese equipment was captured. The enemy withdrawal from Pinwe came after two weeks of fighting by troops of the 36th Division. Six African troops, it was announced, advanced along the west bank of the Chindwin toward Kawla, 140 miles northwest of Mandalay.

Albert B. Fall Died Yesterday El Paso, Tex., Dec. 1—(AP)—Albert B. Fall, 83, Secretary of the Interior under the Harding administration, died here yesterday. He was one of the central figures in the Teapot Dome scandal in the 1920's.

Fall had been ill for years. He had been confined here in William Beaumont General Hospital from 1935 to 1938, and in Hotel Dieu, Catholic Hospital where he died at 5:30 p. m. (Eastern War Time) yesterday, since 1942. His physician Dr. John Morrison, was the only person at his bedside when death came. Fall was born in Frankfort, Ky. He was prospector, ranch hand, school teacher and attorney at Las Cruces, N. M. He was appointed Secretary of the Interior by President Harding and executed leases to public oil lands which led to prison and loss of his wealth.

To Urge Farmers Diversify Crops Raleigh, Dec. 1—(AP)—Representatives of the state's agricultural agencies are mapping a program to make farmers conscious of crop diversification. Leaders at a meeting here last night discussed plans for vocational education and extension work to educate the farm owners to the need of money crops other than cotton and tobacco. Cotton is receiving keen competition in the world market, leaders of the discussion said and Harry Caldwell, master of the State Grange said that tobacco—the state's chief money crop—may not have the bright future generally expected of it. Governor-elect R. Gregg Cherry attended the meeting and pledged his cooperation in supporting the interests of the farmer.

Women IN THE CHURCH
by Mary Fowler

Late in the summer, UNRRA suddenly called upon the women of the churches and synagogues of America for 15,000,000 pounds of used clothing for the suffering of Europe and Asia. The clothing was wanted by Sept. 26. With vacations still effective, without organization, and with the shortness of time, the task seemed impossible. Nevertheless the churches, at the suggestion of their national and state bodies, undertook the task—and overgave the amount needed. Practically all the work was done by women and women's organizations, for they searched their homes from cellar to garret. The result is that hundreds of thousands of homeless people in war-devastated lands will have this winter clothing "as good as any that can be bought on the market now."

Miss Ruth Ure, American missionary to India, who for some years has been carrying on important services for the National Christian Council of India in promoting literacy, the production and distribution of Christian literature, and in promoting the establishment of Christian homes, has assumed a new post in the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. From its office in New York she will promote these same three phases of Christian education in all the overseas areas in which the denomination serves.

Leaders of religious education throughout the United States point with some degree of satisfaction to the fact that while attendance in the formal Sunday school classes has been falling off in recent years, there has been a growing demand for week-day classes and for other periods and types of Christian training. A large percentage of the teachers are church-related women.

It is estimated that 1,500,000 children in 44 states are included in the "released time" plan; i. e., they are released on given days from their regular school to attend religious classes either in their churches or in schools. New York State reports 200 communities in which a total of 300,000 are in released-time classes;
73,000 are in Buffalo; 108,000 in New York City. Some cities in the United States have programs of religious education within the public schools; and recently similar regulations were adopted in England and in the Province of Ontario.

Girl Scout Council Banquet In January

At a recent meeting of the Girl Scout Council at scout headquarters at the City Hall Mrs. E. L.
Henderson, the commissioner, appointed the committees for the "parent-daughter banquet" to be held some time in January. Mrs.
J. E. Winslow read the previous meeting's minutes and Mrs. W. P.
Moore, treasurer, read the financial report.

The Nominating Committee announced the following slate for the coming year: Mrs. W. P. Moore for commissioner, Mrs. R. B. Lee for first deputy, Dr. H. G. Haney for second deputy, and Mrs. J. E. Winslow for secretary and Mrs. Walter Harrington for treasurer.

The next council meeting will be held on December 11 at 8 o'clock.

"PRESTONE" Anti-Freeze
KEEPS MOVING UP TO THE FRONT!
THE WAR PRODUCTION BOARD, with the cooperation of the Anti-Freeze Industry Advisory Committee, has put into effect a state allocation plan for the distribution of all brands of anti-freeze. This is your assurance that there should be enough anti-freeze of some kind to protect the nation's motorized equipment this winter.
However, "Prestone" brand anti-freeze may not be available in some localities. The supply for civilian use is considerably reduced because heavy shipments are going overseas for the Armed Forces.
If you are able to get "Prestone" anti-freeze remember that it lasts all winter. It won't evaporate, boil away or lose effectiveness through "foaming." Protects against rust and corrosion.

MARINES PLAY CHAPEL HILL

354 Basketers Meet Cloudbusters Tomorrow Night

By SGT. JOHN STANEK
Chapel Hill will play host to the flying saucers of VMD 354 on Saturday evening when the Cloudbusters open their 44-45 case season. The Greenville marines looked very promising in their first three starts this season and should be able to offer Pre-flight quite a bit of trouble for about 40 minutes. Having the advantage of three games, all victories, still does not make the local boys favorites for the coming battle. Pre-flight has the cream of the nation's young sporting crop, among them, the famous and able Otto Graham, ex-all-conference football and basketball star. Graham, with a good supporting cast of former college players pitted against a formidable array of marine talent should go to make up an exciting evening's entertainment for any spectator.

The marine team is composed of ex-high school players who are all enlisted men. They all have jobs in a marine aviation squadron such as mechanics, ordnance men, photographers, and other specialized marine corps aviation jobs. In their spare time, they can be found working hard on the problems of the hardwood court in the Greenville armory.
VMD's cast for Saturday night will include the hard driving, sharp-shooting, Fie. Heitrich, who has been a mainstay in former contests. Heitrich played for St. George high school in Chicago and did his post-graduate work in the C. Y. O. circuit. Another man who will figure in the final count will be Sgt. Teufel who is dangerous in the range of any opponent's hoop. In his civilian days, Teufel starred for Altoona high school in Pennsylvania. Then he has big Bill Hammond from Long Island, New York, where they play a fast brand of ball. To round out the probable starting team, there are Cpl. Unkel, and Pvt. Pawlowski, a couple of New Jersey boys who can be counted on for a dependable performance. On the sidelines waiting to play will be Cpl. Adams, Cpl. Sam Vokes, Hawks and McNally.
In preparation for the big Saturday night clash, the Greenville marines have requisited three foes of their own class. The Smithfield Rotary club, the Atlantic Field Marines, and Cherry Point's A and R went down in succession.
It was only through the efforts of Lt. Reicks, recreation officer, and Staff Sgt. Barry of the athletic department that this game was scheduled. Coach Bob Doyle and his assistant, Cliff Adams, also should receive a lot of credit for getting this team in such great shape.
The odds are greatly against the local Leathernecks, but their love for the Navy and their sheer determination may put them on top. We sincerely hope so.

ARMY PICKED TO BEAT NAVY

Robertson Chooses Army, Notre Dame, Georgia Tech And Virginia.

By ORLO ROBERTSON
New York, Dec. 1—(AP)—Here's the final fling at trying to pick football winners and its done chiefly because we want to let you know how we stand on Army-Navy.
Surrounded by all the good luck charms we could collect:
Army-Navy—The Cadets are supposed to have the backs and the Middies the line but Army's forward wall is no weakling (somebody had to open the holes and clear the way for all those touchdowns this season). Even if Navy's Bob Jenkins is at his best we'll string along with Army and will not be surprised if it wins by two or three touchdowns.
Great Lakes-Notre Dame—The Irish have lost their quota for the year (Army and Navy). The Sailors have bowed only to Ohio State. Notre Dame in a close call.
Georgia Tech-Georgia—Two defeats (Notre Dame and Duke) are all Tech is going to carry into the Orange bowl. Georgia Tech.
Texas Christian-Southern Methodist—Texas Christian, Southwest conference champs, also is headed for a bowl (Cotton). This one figures to be fairly easy for the Horned Frogs.
Tulane-Louisiana State—Duo Jones gets a chance to go to town against LSU. Tulane.
Nebraska-Oklahoma—The Cornhuskers have come fast in the last few weeks but they'll be stopped by the Sooners. Okla.
North Carolina-Virginia—Virginia even if Hank Walker is not in best of shape.
Southwestern-Rice—Rice will have to work to win.
Arkansas Aggies-Arkansas—A state rivalry with Arkansas on top.

Stockholders Meet In Annual Session

Mr. W. A. Minor, President of the Production Credit Corporation, Columbia, S. C., Will Be the Principal Speaker at the Annual Meeting of Stockholders of the Greenville Production Credit Association at the Courthouse in Greenville Saturday Morning at 10 o'clock, Robert A. Darr, Secretary-Treasurer of the Association, stated.

This is the 11th anniversary meeting of Greenville Production Credit Association. As usual, an interesting and instructive program has been arranged. John R. Carroll, president of the association, will be in charge. A report of the financial status of the association, as well as other interesting facts concerning its activities during the past year will be presented.
The Greenville Production Credit Association, which serves Pitt and Greene Counties is a cooperative credit organization owned and controlled by farmer-members and makes short-term agricultural loans to finance all types of farming. All members are urged to present and other farmers are cordially invited to the meeting.

RED OFFENSIVE MOVING AHEAD

Fifty More Towns Swept Up In New Drive.

London, Dec. 1—(AP)—The German radio said tonight that the eastern section of beleaguered Budapest was being evacuated.
The radio said the evacuation affected "the suburbs and districts on the left bank of the Danube" which represent the Pest half of the Hungarian capital.
By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, Dec. 1—(AP)—Enveloping 50 more communities in their new drive west of the Danube in southwestern Hungary. Russian troops today moved north to within 78 miles of outflanked Budapest and less than 100 miles of the Austrian border.
Moscow announced a nine mile advance north along the west bank of the great river yesterday. North-east of the besieged Hungarian capital other ed army troops seized the Axis strongholds of Eger and Szikso which guard invasion routes into central Slovakia.

Nazis Pushed . . .

rived from Holland.
The Germans were engaging in desperate shifts of strength in an effort to stem Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh Army drive, which at some points was less than 10 miles from the Baden border of Germany.
The Germans were pouring their final strength into the desperate struggle for a winter line west of the Rhine and were losing 3,000 men a day in prisoners alone. In dead and disabled Hitler was sacrificing more than that.
Security and other regulations lock the secret of Allied casualties for indefinite periods after operations and the cost in American, British, French and Allied lives in the great winter offensive, now in its 24th day, had not yet been disclosed.
But a general rule of war is that assault costs more in blood than defense.
The Allied campaign, yet to reach its climax of fury, was shaping bit by bit into three great wedges, each forcing the Germans to throw in thinking reserves to block the roads to Berlin.

Short Talks Mark Fellowship Supper

By CHESTER WALSH
An hour of fellowship with the members of the Ellington Bible Class of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church at an oyster and barbecue supper last night was a wonderful experience for the members and some invited guests. The nearly 70 members represent nearly every phase of life and the men are those who do things for the community life. The same "good neighbor" spirit prevailed at the supper meeting at the Street Department's plant on West Third Street that characterizes the Sunday morning meetings at the church. J. Carroll Waldrop was in charge of arrangements.
The officers of the class made brilliant after-dinner speeches (the best speeches I ever heard, said June Rose, master of ceremonies). President C. C. Hilton when called on for a talk, said, "Glad to be here, folks," and quit. "Great speech," Rose said. Then Treasurer Arden Tucker said "Ditto," and the other officers and Sam Underwood, teacher, and Mayor Bruce Sugg dittoed the short speech and it was great speech-making—short, all agreed. Thanks were extended to A. W. Stoneham and his workers who provided the supper.
The Ellington Bible Class was organized as a Baraca class more than 40 years ago. Kinchen W. Cobb said. Later it was named the Ellington Bible Class in honor of the late A. B. Ellington, trustee in the church and a prominent layman. The class has 70 members. Its Sunday morning meetings are broadcast over WPTC and are heard in a score of Eastern Carolina counties.

More Assistance For Outer Banks

Raleigh, Dec. 1—(AP)—Further assistance to residents of the outer banks who still are without adequate shelter as a result of a tropical storm 11 weeks ago was considered yesterday by representatives of the Office of Civilian Defense and the American Red Cross, Governor Broughton said today.
The Governor said that while $175,000 had been allocated by the Red Cross for repairing damages, 85 houses along the outer bank still are off their foundations because of the lack of labor and materials.
June H. Rose, assistant director of Civilian Defense, who at the Governor's request, recently visited the outer banks to ascertain the need for further assistance there, will make a complete report of his findings soon.

Other speakers were Dr. Clarence Herr of the University of North Carolina; retiring association President R. L. Pope, of Thomasville; Lloyd Griffin, executive vice president and Dr. R. S. Rankin of Duke University.
The association elected these officers: James S. Ficklen of Greenville, president; Don Elias of Asheville, first vice president; I. G. Freer of Thomasville, second vice president; Lloyd Griffin of Raleigh, executive vice president, S. B. Coley of Raleigh, treasurer, and these other members of the executive committee: R. L. The German high command already has bitten deeply into the class of 1928—boys of 16—and now has only about 150,000 left of that class to call upon for badly needed reinforcements.
The enemy strategy appears to be based upon a three-fold plan:
1. Rigid economy of troop expenditure.
2. Hold a tough screen against the Allied drive imperiling the great industrial Ruhr.
3. Block the Allied assault to the south.
