

Allied Forces Shear Off Part Of German Salient

Nazi Forces In Belgian Bulge Falling Back Toward Our River As U. S. Third Army Hammers At Southern Flank; German Armor Still Smashing At Strasbourg.

Paris, Jan. 12. (AP)—Allied armies apparently sheared off the western seven miles of the Belgian bulge today and gouged tentatively into the north and south flanks of the eastern half of the salient.

The U. S. Third Army penetrated twice into the German south flank between Bastogne and Vanden, in Luxembourg.

The First army stabbed across the Salm river to within ten miles of St. Vith. This action, with those of the Third Army, threatened to undercut any attempt by Field Marshal von Rundstedt to hold along the course of the Ourthe river and yield only the western half of his salient.

The Germans appeared to have pulled all but the last delaying rearguard from the western end of the Ardennes bulge, where the First and Third armies had netted more than 30,000 prisoners, killed uncounted thousands of Germans and destroyed at least the equivalent of six or seven divisions of tanks. The Sixth Army group in Alsace-Lorraine, where the Germans threatened Strasbourg in diversionary attacks, had bagged another 5,294 captives in the current campaign.

At points the Belgian salient now is only seven miles wide. As the Germans withdrew in near zero weather from the west, supreme headquarters announced that arm contact had been established between British forces and the American Third Army near St. Hubert. That anchor town was entered.

The southwest end of the bulge heretofore had been fluted, covered only patrols. Pressure from north and south had kept the Germans from risking a further advance.

The westernmost seven miles of the salient were regarded as supreme headquarters as good as pinched off, although there was no official word of actual contact between British and American forces east of the huge, hilly St. Hubert forest.

The roads, however, are virtually impassable for cross country movement in slush and snow. The Americans have cut the only road along the southern flank and presumably are quiet near the British who penetrated to Champlon, 13 miles west of Houffalize, before encountering opposition.

Naval Losses

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Naval vessels lost, announced through January 10, have totaled 254.

The following are the losses by categories: One battleship sunk; nine aircraft carriers sunk; five heavy cruisers sunk, one overboard and presumed lost; three light cruisers sunk; 49 destroyers sunk, four overboard and presumed lost, one destroyed to prevent capture; seven destroyers overboard and presumed lost; 29 submarines sunk, 29 overboard and presumed lost, two destroyed to prevent capture; 126 miscellaneous ships sunk, six overboard and presumed lost, seven destroyed to prevent capture.

BUDAPEST FALL NOW IMMINENT

Nazi Garrison Encircled In Narrow Area.

London, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The German radio said today that the Russians had opened an offensive on a broad front in southern Poland, striking from the Vistula bridgehead west of Baranow toward Krakow.

Moscow, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The last stark chapter of the siege of Budapest was being written today in a narrow strip of Pest, on the east bank of the Danube, with the Nazis squeezed into an area approximately two miles long and one mile wide.

Savage German attacks on the Soviet arc west of the Danube, to relieve the desperately struggling Nazi garrison failed again. Russian Marshal Fedor Tolbukhin was reported to have strengthened his positions and there appeared little likelihood of any German breakthrough.

In ten days of fighting to relieve the Hungarian capital the Germans have sacrificed 16,000 men killed, and approximately 650 tanks, on the basis of Russian accounts.

Official and unofficial Russian reports produced the impression the German garrison was on the verge of collapse. These reports stirred hopes in the Soviet public that the Hungarian capital, under direct assault since Dec. 29, would be fully in the Red Army's possession in another day or two.

BIG INCREASE IN PRODUCTION

War Program To Be Stepped Up 50 Per Cent.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Fifty percent of all war production programs will rise at a tremendous rate under a new speed-up which includes a three-fold increase in critical aircraft in six months, J. A. Krug revealed today.

Partly to equip new French army divisions for the fight against Germans, about $2,500,000,000 worth of new arms output is being added to the 1945 schedule, the WPB chairman said.

The expansion brings 1945 total output to some $4,500,000,000, slightly higher than 1944, and is "a more difficult program to meet," Krug told a news conference.

"There will be plenty of jobs for everybody in war industry and everybody who wants to get into war industry," he added.

"The feeling of the average worker last fall, when he didn't know whether or not he would be laid off, can now be dispelled."

The volume of munitions scheduled for shipment to the French army was not divulged, but other sources have given the impression that it is a substantial part of the $2,500,000,000 increase.

The Italians have wanted arms and material for more active participation against the Nazis, Krug acknowledged, but "I don't know that we are furnishing them any."

Without counting the new acceleration, Krug said 50 per cent of 1945 schedules call for increases, 15 per cent are stable, and 35 per cent taper off.

WOULD JAIL NON-WORKERS

National Service Draft Gaining Favor.

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. William S. Knudsen said today criminal penalties would be preferable to army induction for men refusing to take or keep essential jobs.

The ruddy-faced Knudsen, who gave up his post as head of General Motors to become a production "bottleneck buster," told the House Military committee "it would be bad" if the army had to accept men who refused to work in the war effort.

The "work or fight" legislation on which he testified provides for induction into special army or navy work units for men who shift their jobs without draft board approval.

While it applies only to those between 18 and 45, Knudsen said he believed national service legislation for all men up to 60 "would be better."

"I'm short of help; we can't get the help," he testified, referring to the big airplane plant he runs for the army at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio. He added that there also is a manpower shortage in the heavy ammunition industry.

Absenteeism, he said, is still "a very bad" problem.

Naval-Air Battle Likely Raging In South China Sea

MacArthur's Forces On Luzon Advance 10 Miles Toward Manila With Opposition Developing Against Both Flanks

(By The Associated Press)

The Japanese radio declared today that a third American convoy has reached Lingayen gulf.

The third convoy, the Japanese Domei agency said in a broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, included "more than 100 transports and a hundred and some more landing barges escorted by 10 carriers."

The Domei report said the new convoy was "advancing boldly in the face of our fierce attacks."

By C. YATES McDANIEL

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Rapidly advancing Sixth Army invaders at Lingayen Gulf have seized more than 10 miles of the San Fabian-Manila railroad, overrun 50 miles of road networks commanding the north ends of four main highways to Manila and turned what could have been the flank of a good Japanese defense line behind the Agno River.

These are developments for the first 48 hours since Tuesday's invasion. Much more remains to be disclosed.

Today's communique, covering action up to Thursday morning, reported advances in strength during the previous 24 hours of seven to nine miles—generally in the direction of Manila a little over 100 miles south.

Those advances, which added five towns to the more than two score communities captured, were limited more by caution and supply lines than by the Japanese.

The width of the beachhead along the gulf, originally 15 miles, now is 25, with the first real combat contact with the enemy reported on the left flank nine miles southeast of San Fabian.

From Lingayen to Manila, American planes ranged over the central Luzon plains where great tank battalions were gathered.

Yanks Widen Luzon Beachhead

The black area on this map represents the beachhead held by American forces invading Luzon island in the Philippines. Yanks have widened the original Lingayen-San Fabian beachhead to the westward, reaching points within two miles of Port Sual. The average general advance inland is about nine to 10 miles, although patrols have gone farther. (AP Wirephoto map).

Anti-Wine Measure Offered In Senate

State Employees Seek Increase In Pay; Other Bills Introduced.

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A bill to prohibit the sale or transportation of all wine or spirituous liquors in counties which have not held a referendum or have voted to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors was introduced in the legislature today by Senator Daniel of Beaufort.

The measure would affect all wines over one per cent of alcoholic content, but would not prohibit the sale of beer.

Another measure, by Senator Hundley of Davidson, would require railroad companies to guard trains standing across highways, for the protection of the public. The trains would be lighted or guard arms provided.

Senator Price of Rockingham introduced a resolution petitioning the state's congressmen to support the continuation of the tobacco control program.

Circulars signed "state employees" and asking salary increases were placed on legislators' desks before.

Halsey's Third Fleet Believed Seeking Keep Jap Warships From Escorting Reinforcements to Philippines From The South.

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters Pearl Harbor, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A tremendous naval-air battle likely is raging today off French Indochina between Adm. William F. Halsey's Third fleet and Japanese warships escorting reinforcements seeking to smash Gen. Douglas MacArthur's invasion army on Luzon in the Philippines.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz called in war correspondents on short notice last night and stated cryptically: "Carrier aircraft of the Pacific fleet are now attacking the enemy off the coast of French Indo-China between Saigon and Camranh bay."

That was all he would say.

The Japanese Domei news agency said today that "approximately 90 carrier-based planes raided the Cochin-China sector centering around Saigon" for nine and a half hours today.

(The Japanese broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, claimed that Nipponese anti-aircraft units shot down "at least 20 American planes" besides damaging others.)

All the circumstances of location and responsibility of Halsey's powerful fleet—he has been handed the job of keeping the Japanese away from MacArthur's men—suggest that an enemy convoy, escorted by war ships, was intercepted en route to Luzon, 1,000 miles from Saigon.

Camranh bay is the closest Atlantic Japanese fleet base from which the enemy could attempt reinforcement of Luzon. It has superb natural harbors and without a doubt has been developed and protected as one of Japan's key naval bases. It is 200 miles northeast of Saigon. Indo-China's chief commercial port before the war.

Fleet carrier forces engaged only a week ago in attacking Formosa and reconnoitering 500 miles of the China coast, dashed boldly across Japan's great sea communications to her conquered empire to strike the daring blow which undoubtedly startled the enemy.

Red Cross Girl Killed In Action

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Anne Kathleen Cullen, 26, of Larchmont, N. Y., the first American Red Cross girl to die through enemy action on the Western front, was killed Dec. 20 when she fell from an American hospital in Belgium.

Miss Cullen, member of a club-mobil group, was buried in a military cemetery.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

While we made a most auspicious beginning of the Luzon invasion—and the fair fortune continues so far as appears from news dispatches which are lagging because of security censorship—we should be prepared for some of the most bitter fighting of the whole Pacific war—and that means bitter.

As Secretary of War Stimson remarks, although the landings were made with surprising ease, this is only the beginning. We shall see more of those amazing fantastical sacrifices by the Japanese soldier, who is literally a god to them—so on as he calls them. That means so long as the government instructs him to stand firm, for despite his exalted place he is not a free agent.

It strikes me that the government will be influenced greatly by what happens on the continent. The Japanese are powerfully installed in Manchukuo and in most of China's developed territory. They have many resources there, including large war industries. Recently they have been moving some of their home industries to Manchukuo. To cap all this, there are on the continent some 2,000,000 Japanese soldiers who have dug themselves in like gophers during their long occupation.

It's difficult to escape the thought that the war lords might decide to make a final stand on the continent, even if things get too hot for them. (Continued on Page Four)

Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill To Meet

London, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Ankara radio quoted the newspaper Ulus today as saying that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin will hold their expected three-power meeting before the end of January at Teheran, scene in December, 1943, of their first meeting.

Jap Reactions

San Francisco, Jan. 12.—Bud Foster of the National Broadcasting Company reported from Honolulu today that Tokyo has "practically ordered" the Nipponese fleet out of hiding.

Foster said a Japanese broadcast recorded in Honolulu today ordered its fleet to end passive resistance shown American moves, and Japanese forces opposing the American invasion of Luzon in the Philippines and oppose U. S. Third Fleet units.

London, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Berlin broadcast a Tokyo dispatch today saying the "general staffs of all Japanese theaters of war will meet tomorrow afternoon."

"The meeting will take place in the office of the prime minister," the dispatch said. "An exchange of views on coming battles, on necessary measures and on present battle experiences is to take place."

Monday Deadline For Income Tax Estimates

By MAX HALL

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—There's a date on the calendar that is rushing down on millions of taxpayers with the speed of a buzz bomb.

The date is January 15—this coming Monday, January 15 is an income tax date. It has never been an income tax date before, and therefore some of the taxpayers are still asleep.

On the other hand a lot of them are waking up with startled eyes. The Bureau of Internal Revenue says the lines of people seeking information are lengthening all over the country.

County Schools Conserving Fuel

It has been considered the course of wisdom by county school officials to place the schools on a continuous session schedule so as to conserve fuel during the months of January and February.

This means that when school goes into session in the morning, work will continue straight through until closing time except the time required for lunch. Play periods and recesses will be eliminated since it is during these periods that doors are opened and buildings become cold. And also there are many days during January and February when it is not considered wise to allow children to go out of doors on the cold wet grounds.

It has been recommended that whatever time is saved by the continuous session schedule be taken off the morning periods so as to delay the school-opening hour until well after sun-up.

This measure is also intended as a gas and tire saving plan since whatever fuel is saved will reduce the consumption of materials needed for transporting fuel.

It is recommended that community meetings be held in small auxiliary buildings that can be easily heated. Large auditorium rooms should not be used until the fuel crisis is safely passed.

TURKEY WILL HELP ALLIES

Opens Dardanelles To Allied Shipping.

London, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Authoritative British quarters said today that Turkey had granted permission to the Allies to ship supplies to Russia via the Dardanelles.

No details were given, but the informants said they were under the impression negotiations had been handled mainly through military channels.

Turkey recently broke diplomatic relations with Japan, sending the last official Axis listening post out of the country and depriving the enemy of bases for Japanese agents who might report the movement of Allied supplies through the straits between the Mediterranean and the Black sea.

The straits are the easiest and most direct route of supply between the western allies and Russia.

Until now the chief routes have been the Northern sea-Arctic route to Murmansk, where there are difficult handling problems in winter, and the Persian gulf route, where a long overland truck and railway route was set up by the (Continued on page four)

Automotive Group Adopts Program

The Greenville District Automotive Maintenance Advisory Committee met last night, in the City Hall with Chairman Walter L. Harrington presiding.

R. S. Atkins, Maintenance Specialist of ODT, met with the group and outlined a suggested program for the Committee Activities for the year 1945 as follows:

1. Assist in locating needed replacement parts.
2. Promote careful use of tires.
3. Promote preventive maintenance of trucks, buses and passenger cars to prolong their useful life.
4. Advocate careful driving and preventive operation of vehicles to prolong their useful life.
5. Cooperate in recruiting employees for maintenance and repair work.
6. Cooperate in training and upgrading maintenance and repair work.
7. Assist members of ODT organization with advice and consultation regarding justification of doubtful applications for rationed or limited commodities such as gasoline, new trucks, shop equipment and the like.
8. Advise the District Office of ODT at regular intervals regarding critical maintenance problems in a community.

The program as outlined was adopted by the committee.

There was a discussion on the gasoline shortage which is critical and it was brought out that many essential operators are unable to secure gasoline. Service Station operators can not discriminate between passenger and truck operators in the selling of gasoline when they have a supply, but the committee is appealing to the passenger car operators to not fill their cars with gasoline during the shortage period so as to leave a supply for the use of essential operators.

They are coming largely from these four groups: 1. Returning veterans. The army is discharging about 70,000 monthly. Not all of them will go into the jobs mentioned above. Some will go to school and go to work and women who want work. There are about 50,000 in this group. It does not include boys who reach 18 and go into the armed services—but not all will go into war jobs. 2. Men between 30 and 38 forced out of non-essential work into war jobs through fear of being drafted. This is a potent threat, as will be explained later. 3. The War Manpower Commission expects to get workers through tighter ceilings—top limits on the number of workers employers can hire. This skims off workers who can be placed where needed. The 900,000 men for the armed forces will be found this way. Probably half from the 600,000 boys who reach 18 between now and July 1 and the other half mostly (Continued on Page Four)

Cold Wave Begins Subside Up North

By The Associated Press

A welcome January thaw brought relief to a large section of the frost-bitten country today but sub-zero weather continued to plague the New England states and northern New York state.

Mild temperatures prevailed from Pennsylvania west to the Rockies, where a break in the severe cold of the past several days to most of the plains states.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Elton E. McLawhorn attended the funeral of her father, Mr. J. C. Barrs in Augusta, Ga., this week. She was accompanied by Mrs. Elwood W. McLawhorn.

Miss Joyce Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Lloyd Tucker, is recovering nicely from an operation for appendicitis in Pitt General Hospital on Wednesday.

Mrs. Carrie F. Corey left today to visit Mrs. H. B. Stancill in Hoffman, N. C. and her son, Pvt. John F. Corey, who is stationed at Camp Croft, Spartanburg, S. C.

Mrs. Pearl Travis Conklin of Hornell and Centeseo, N. Y., is spending the winter with her daughters, Mrs. N. S. Tyson and family, and Mrs. E. Tuttle and family in Winston-Salem.

Mrs. H. P. Tyson underwent an operation in Pitt General Hospital this morning.

Dr. Margaret Deringer and Capt. Howard Wilson have returned to Washington, D. C., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson.

Mrs. J. B. Johnston is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles C. Cash and family, in Winston-Salem.

Capt. and Mrs. R. J. Slay arrived Wednesday night from Quantico, Va. Capt. Slay will spend a few days here before reassignment.

To Elect Vestry.
Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service of morning prayer the annual parish meeting of St. Paul's Episcopal Church will be held. Reports will be made by the various parish organizations. Also the parish treasurer, Mr. Frank M. Wooten, will give the financial report for the year just ended and a report on the results of the vestry members' canvass. The pastor will give his report on the state of the parish. At the end of the meeting a church vestry will be elected. All members of St. Paul's Church are urged to be present.

Present members of the vestry are Haywood Dail, senior warden, Sam O. Worthington, junior warden, J. T. Chestnut, secretary, Frank M. Wooten, treasurer, F. D. Duncan, Hill Horns, C. E. Mayo, C. C. Skinner, Charles White and N. K. Whitehurst.

Miss Etheridge Gives Program.
Miss Eleanor Etheridge delighted an appreciative audience last night at Sheppard Memorial Library with her talk on "Folk Songs of North Carolina."

She discussed the four types of songs: the traditional, ballad, the homestead or outlaw ballads, the white spirituals, and the dance songs.

Miss Etheridge sang "Barbara Allan," probably the best known of all ballads and led the audience in the singing of another ballad.

The weird, homesome charm of the plaintive, romantic "singin' can't see no native to mountain" she said, although many of them have authentic mountain historical background.

Following the program Miss Etheridge played a piano solo, a mazurka, upon request.

Junior Woman's Club Meets.
The Junior Woman's Club met Wednesday night at the home of Miss Phyllis Shuff, with Mrs. John Blackman assisting hostess. In opening the meeting, the president, Mrs. Ray MacKenzie, praised the club members for their successful work in carrying out the projects of the year.

Mrs. MacKenzie pointed out the fact that the club has definitely grown in effectiveness and prestige; having increased its active membership within the last year from 25 to 45 and in every way has been rendering essential services to the war program and to community betterment.

The club members unanimously voted to accept the sponsorship of the Tuberculosis Seal Sale as an annual project. The club very successfully sponsored the sale this year. Mrs. Gladys Gaston Ingle, Greenville chairman of the Seal Sale, gave a most interesting and satisfactory report of the results of the sale this year. In her report, Mrs. Ingle stressed the need of a county tuberculosis sanatorium and her hope that the club with the cooperation of the entire city and county, would make such a project a reality within the near future.

Mrs. Geraldine Wilkerson, chairman of the War Service Committee, asked that each member be responsible for filling a box for Russian relief. The group accepted Mrs. Wilkerson's request with enthusiasm.

Mr. J. H. Rose sent a message to the club asking that it direct the Greenville Women's Division of the "March of Dimes." This annual crusade against infantile paralysis has been helped by the club every year. Mr. Rose's suggestion was immediately accepted. Mrs. Jane Rowlette Gaskins accepted the chairmanship for the Greenville Women's Division. Mrs. Jane Forbes Black and Miss Doris Duval were appointed to serve with Mrs. Gaskins.

Mrs. Marie Smith Crute presented tentative plans for her dance recital, which will be sponsored by the club this year. All money cleared by the club from the recital will be donated to some worthy cause which will be announced in the near future.

After the business meeting was adjourned, the club members enjoyed a delightful social hour, during which time the hostesses served delicious refreshments.—Reported.

FRIDAY

6:30 p. m.—The Kiwanis Club meets at the Rotary building.

8:00 p. m.—Greenville Chapter of ECTC Alumni meets in the alumni office at the college.

Third Street P. T. A.
The January meeting of the Third Street School P. T. A. was held in the school auditorium, with the president, Mrs. Albion Dunn, presiding.

Miss Kate Foley's fifth grade gave the program, using Robert E. Lee as the theme. It was a typical classroom presentation of a well-planned history lesson. Sketches of Lee's life and poems about him were greatly enjoyed. A historical mural about Washington, Lee and Lincoln provided interesting as well as appropriate scenery for the occasion. This excellent piece of art work correlating art with history was done by Mrs. D. M. Clark's seventh graders.

Other outstanding murals decorating the auditorium were one portraying vividly in a childlike way, the story of "Snow White" and one on music. The "Snow White" picture was done by Miss Elizabeth Norman's first graders, and the music mural, showing children singing happily in a group, was painted by Mrs. Melvin Whitford's fourth graders. Mrs. George Hadley displayed a colorful floral P. T. A. poster which was made by pupils in her second grade.

During the business session, Miss Elizabeth Norman was asked to investigate the needs of the school cafeteria; the association voted to buy supplementary geography books for the seventh grade; and the recreation committee, composed of Mrs. R. B. Lee, Mrs. Guy Smith and Mrs. J. E. Smith, was instructed to make definite plans for purchasing playground equipment. Mrs. L. R. Bell read the "Objects of the P. T. A."

Approximately fifty members enjoyed this first meeting of the new year. Mrs. D. M. Clark's seventh grade won the attendance prize.

A social hour followed the business session.—Reported.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
Whereas, Our Heavenly Father in His unfailing wisdom and love has removed from our midst our Brother, Amos O. Clarke, and as his passing constitutes a distinct loss, not only to his family and community, but to his best of friends, and especially to our beloved order;

THEREFORE, be it resolved:

1. That we, the members of Greenville Chapter 149 Order of the Eastern Star, bow our heads in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father, who doeth all things for our good;

2. That we extend to the family of our deceased Brother our deepest sympathy and commend them to the Almighty Father for comfort and guidance;

3. That these resolutions be sent to them, a copy sent to The Daily Reflector, and a copy kept for our records.

Fraternally submitted,

A. A. U. W. Meets Monday.
The January meeting of the A. A. U. W. will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the New Classroom building at the college.

At the request of a number of the members, Dr. A. D. Frank, head of the college history department, will discuss current events, particularly in relation to the progress of the war.

Visitors will be welcome at the program.

Clio Club.
Mrs. W. S. Bost was gracious hostess to the Clio Book Club at her home on Harding street Tuesday afternoon. Upon arrival of guests and members, the hostess served a delectable sweet course with coffee. She was assisted in serving by her sister, Mrs. Joe Dixon.

Mrs. Jesse R. Moyer welcomed Mrs. Joe Dixon and Mrs. A. B. Cosby, new members of the club, and Miss Eunice McGee, a guest.

Miss McGee, guest speaker for the afternoon, gave a most dramatic and delightful review of "A Bell for Adano" by John Hershey. This is Hershey's first novel but it displays to full advantage his remarkable ability to create lovable and unforgettable characters and to make a story move quickly and with purpose.

In reviewing the book Miss McGee pictured the town of Adano as one of filth and suffering when Major Joppolo, the hero of the story, entered the town to take it over after the Germans were thrown out. Our success in occupied lands depends upon the men who administer. Mr. Joppolo tried to do all he could to make the people happy and get for them their bell. He ran into many difficulties such as the endless red tape between the Army and Navy; the English attitude of getting all from the Americans possible and a hard-boiled General. But he also had compensations such as the faith and love of the people for him and for Adano.

Quoting Miss McGee: "Read to know Joppolo well. He is our future in the world. Neither the eloquence of Churchill, nor the humaneness of Roosevelt, no charter, no four freedoms or 14 points, no dreamer's diagram so symmetrical or faultless on paper, no plan, no hope, no treaty, none of these things can guarantee anything. Only men can guarantee, only the behavior of men under pressure, only as Joppolo."

Third Street School News

Seventh Grade Visits Art Gallery
Friday the seventh grade of the Third Street School visited the Sheppard Memorial Library. The group saw the illustrations of Walt Disney. There were pictures of different comic characters, such as Bambi, Dumbo, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs and Donald Duck and other interesting pictures. Mrs. J. H. B. Moore explained and discussed them with the group. Some of them were expensive. They were lively looking and very comical. The president of the class, Bobby Flye, thanked Mrs. Moore for her hospitality.

P. T. A. Met Wednesday.
The Parent-Teacher Association held its regular meeting Wednesday. Miss Kate Foley and her fifth graders gave the program, which was about General Robert E. Lee. The seventh grade won the dollar for having the largest number of mothers present. Mrs. Albion Dunn, president, urges every mother of the Third Street School children to attend the future meetings.

Professor Visits School
Tuesday, January 9, the school took great pleasure in being visited by Prof. Ralph Deal of East Carolina Teachers College. Some grades were present at the time. The fifth grade helped by giving a short introduction of Lee. The professor made a very interesting talk on Robert E. Lee. Lee was born in Stratford, Va., in 1807. He was the son of the famous "Light Horse Harry." He married the great-granddaughter of Martha Washington. Lee was the only man that had a chance to fight on either side. There is a recumbent statue of General Lee in the Virginia Museum. His horse, Traveler, which has been curated, is also in this museum.

Fire at Third Street School
A large fire was started Wednesday morning at Third Street School. Mr. Rose and two firemen were present. The seventh grade boys helped get the fire started. The wind was in the right direction so the fire burned very fast. It got out of control but was soon regulated. The object of the fire was to burn the sandspars off the playground.

NEWS ABOUT SERVICEMEN

Serving in South Pacific
Somewhere in the Pacific—Three former Duke University students are serving with Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Sheppard, Jr.'s Sixth Marine Division in the Pacific. They are: Capt. James M. Slay, 408 Student Street, Greenville, N. C.; 2nd Lt. James W. McGorrey, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., and 2nd Lt. John W. Carver, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Capt. Slay, an operations officer, has been overseas five months. His wife, Mrs. Catherine Thompson Slay of Graham, N. C., is a Duke alumna, class of 1938.

Recovering
Mrs. Elton Zeno McLawhorn of Route 2, Ayden, has received word from her husband, Sgt. Elton Zeno McLawhorn stating that he is recovering nicely and would return to the States shortly. He has been overseas for the past year and has been in the hospital the past three months. Sgt. McLawhorn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zeno McLawhorn of Ayden, Route 2.

Awarded Bronze Star Medal.
With the 12th AAF—Tech. Sgt. Leinster A. Barnes, Jr., son of Mrs. L. A. Barnes of Winterville, N. C., has recently been awarded the Bronze Star Medal. He was cited for meritorious achievement as a voluntary truck driver in direct support of infantry combat operations in Tunisia. He made numerous trips through heavy enemy fire conveying troops and supplies to the front lines. Then, having completed his mission, with selfless devotion to duty elected to remain in the thick of battle to supervise the evacuation of a large number of personnel, thereby saving them from capture.

His wife, the former Miss Lois Anthony, lives in Oklahoma City.

Women IN THE CHURCH

by Mary Fowler

"Don't forget that your sons know enough to put on their own rubbers now," says Dr. Philip Jones of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City, speaking to church women of the pre-discharge education needed in the church before the servicemen return. "They have become adults in the hard, quick way. We need them in our churches, not as returning army and navy men, segregated from the ongoing church program, but to fill positions in our church." He urges the formation of church-wide councils which will plan not to be of obvious service to the returning veterans, but to act as "big brothers."

Under the auspices of "Bundles for America," church women from all parts of the United States will join during the first three months of 1945 in sewing some 450,000 garments for the relief of Filipino boys, orphaned from three years of Japanese oppression on Luzon and adjacent islands. Philippine War Relief of the U. S. A. will furnish the material; members of Local 10, Cutters Union of the C. I. O. will cut the garments; and church women organized under the United Council of Church Women, the missionary auxiliaries of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and a number of Jewish and Roman Catholic women's groups will do the sewing.

The ordination of a woman minister "for ecumenical work and the ministry of the written word" was recently conducted at the Broadway Tabernacle, New York City, with the approval of the New York City Congregational Church Association, the licensing body. The woman upon whom this unique distinction was conferred is Mrs. Elsie Thomas Culver, a Bachelor of Divinity from the Pacific School of Religion, and a publicist on the staff of the Church Committee on Overseas Relief and Reconstruction.

A group of blind Negro men and women have been meeting every Thursday for more than a year in the Parsons Reading Room at the Bethlehem House, Methodist social settlement in Memphis, Tenn., according to Miss Mary Ora Dunham, the supervisor. In this particular nook the blind men have built shelves for their Braille reading materials. Among them are the Bible, the Reader's Digest, and other magazines in Braille. The book is named for Miss Celia Parsons, once a kindergartner worker under the Methodist Church, who lost her sight after years of service. She is now employed by the state as home visitor and teacher for the blind—Negro and white—of Memphis and Shelby county.

Red Oak-Red Banks Meeting
A spirit of good fellowship was rampant at the joint Home Demonstration Club meeting of the Red Banks and the Red Oak Clubs last Wednesday night at the Red Oak community building. A friendly rivalry has always existed between these two clubs, keeping each on their toes at all times lest one should get ahead of the other. Two very fine club members from Red Banks have moved into the Red Oak community, and it was one of these, Mrs. Oia Kittrell, who was chairman of the building committee. Decorations of cedar and holly were used on the stage and a patriotic motif was used on the tables.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. L. W. Edwards, president of the Red Oak Club. All ladies of both clubs were recognized and they in turn introduced their husbands, sweethearts and guests. A very timely discussion by Miss Verona Lee Joyner, our Home Agent, and Mrs. Floyd Hendrix, our Farm Agent, was enjoyed by both the men and women and already the meeting has begun to bear fruit. Early the next morning one man who attended the meeting went to see another man who was there also, and they made plans to order their fertilizer at once, because as one said, "You know Mr. Hendrix warned us last night to get our fertilizer early." Another man said to his wife, "We must see that our medicine cabinet is complete with all first-aid articles because you know Miss Joyner told us that it would be possible to get a doctor every time we needed one." Another remarked, "Well my wife has been wanting me to underpin our house for a long time and I know I will have to do it now, after hearing what Miss Joyner said at the meeting." These are just samples of the results obtained from the meeting.

A most delicious menu consisting of baked chicken, dressing, celery sticks, carrots, hot rolls, coffee and home-made cake was served to the fifty-three men and sixty-three women present.

Mrs. Janie Gold Starling of the Red Banks Club, had charge of the recreation and everyone joined whole-heartedly in the games. A very amusing contest between four groups representing the four seasons of the year was enjoyed. Miss Beulah Lee Harrington and Mr. Floyd Hendrix won a contest to determine the man and woman who had the most different articles in their pocket and pocket-books. Miss Harrington had over 75 and Mr. Hendrix about 28.

A China auction netted a neat little sum and caused much merriment.

A stunt portraying Eve, Venus, the Gay Nineties, the Bride and a Modern "mother" brought gales of laughter. Miss Jeannette Haddock as a yodeling cowboy, played her guitar and sang. Little Miss Jo Ann Timberlake did a tap dance number, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. S. Pollard.

A lot of credit for the success of the meeting goes to the various ladies of both clubs who gave unselfishly of their time and energy. —Mrs. B. L. Tyson.

Stokes Meeting
On Monday night 15 club members and their husbands met at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Conleton at 7 o'clock. Greenery was used throughout the home for decorations. Guests were greeted by the host and hostess and were invited to find their place at card tables. A delicious chicken dinner was served.

Following this Mrs. Richard Barnhill, president of the club, presided over the meeting which was opened by the group singing "America." The program, "Looking Ahead" was presented by the county agent, Mr. F. P. Hendrix, and the home agent, Miss Verona Lee Joyner.

At the conclusion the members enjoyed an hour of fun with stunts

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

to attend their January meeting. It is fitting that the men should meet with the women this month, for it is time again to make plans for another year.

With the beginning of 1945, the fourth year of total war, farm families know that they have borne their responsibilities well. Despite shortages of labor, equipment, gasoline, tires and many other difficulties, they have achieved the greatest production in history. As a result of this production, the American soldier is by the best fed fighting man on earth. The nutritive value of the diet of both town and country people has been improved over pre-war levels.

These people were told that every effort must be made to maintain the present high production of needed foods and other crops. At the same time, it is essential to properly manage farm and home business affairs in order to make the greatest permanent improvement in rural living and in worthwhile community development.

When peace comes, all responsible citizens will have a vital part in changing from a world at war to a world at peace. Farm families, to take their rightful place, must have a clear understanding of the conditions facing them, their community, their nation, and the world.

For these reasons the farm men and women have been anxious to attend the meetings. Even with the hardships they are now facing, the people were bright and cheerful. No finer community spirit could have prevailed at any meeting.

Chapter 9
It was shortly before Christmas that Meredith received a call from one of the isolated mountain farms, where corn grew scantily through the summer, and where the farmer and his wife and children enjoyed a prosperity far and away from the normal expectations of such a crop. It was hard driving. The road was narrow, winding, twisting its way up the mountainside.

She came out at last on a little clearing where the house she was seeking loomed before her, a small, boxlike house with an "L" that held the "cookroom" (as mountaineers here called the kitchen) and that opened on a little side porch. The house was old, and its weather-stained boards had never known the feel of paint.

The door opened as Meredith stepped the car, and a woman leaned out into the angry, cold darkness to peer towards her.

"That you, Doctor Merry?" she called anxiously.

"Yes, Mrs. Loomis," answered Meredith, the cold wind almost snatching the words from her lips as she hurried up the steps and into the grateful, if stuffy, warmth of the house. "I'm sorry I couldn't get here any sooner. Where's the patient?"

"It's Dorazelle," answered Mrs. Loomis. She led the way into the front parlor, where the "company bed" stood in one corner, proudly adorned with the family's most choice linen—coarse cotton sheets adorned with hand-crocheted lace, pillowslips elaborately embroidered, and a handmade chenille bedspread that would have made an "antique" housewife green-eyed with envy.

Beneath a mound of hand-made, old-fashioned pieced quilts, a small girl with fever-flushed face and two bright eyes fought off the heavy covers and whined, "Mommie—I'm too hot!"

"An' it ain't been but a minute or two ago she was shakin' like she had a chill, and claimin' she was freezin'!" mourned Mrs. Loomis. Meredith said something soothing to the child and began her examination. But as the examination proceeded, puzzlement and uneasiness touched her, although she concealed this beneath her usual air of professional calm.

She left instructions for the child's care, and drove straight back to town and to the hospital instead of home.

Dr. Stewart Frazier, in his immaculate hospital whites, had just completed his rounds for the evening, and was about to have his dinner when Meredith came in.

"Hi, Doctor Merry," he greeted her with pleasure. Then as he saw her expression on her face, he said quickly, "Why, something's wrong! What's up?"

"Look, Stewart," said Meredith quickly, "listen to me a minute and see what you think."

Quickly she outlined the case of little Dorazelle Loomis, and then asked, "What would your first guess be?"

"Sounds a little like malaria," answered Stewart.

"That's what I thought," answered Meredith, uncertainly. "But malaria, Stewart, here in midwinter in the mountains? A child who's never been farther than River Gap towards a malarial climate in her life?"

Stewart looked puzzled and then he nodded. "It does sound screwy." "I want a blood test, Stewart," she said quickly. He nodded and led her way into the laboratory.

In an hour later they looked at each other, both a little pale, and Stewart nodded. "Malaria, all right—a funny kind, though. I've never run up against it before."

"Neither have I," said Meredith.

and for a moment they were both silent, a little frightened.

"Well, I'll see her again in the morning," said Meredith at last. "I've got to run now."

She made herself put the problem out of her mind that night, but the next morning before she went to her office, she drove over the evil mountain road to that little cabin again, and saw that the child was no better—no worse, perhaps—but surely no better.

She reached the hospital a little after one, and as she went along the corridor towards the door of her clinic a slim young probationer-nurse with sunny golden curls, came out of one of the few private rooms, carefully balancing a tray in none too expert hands.

Meredith said, "Hello, Rosie. How goes it?"

Rosalie looked up, steadied the tray, grimed wryly and said, "Hi, Merry! Not so hot. Still, I know I wasn't born with three thumbs and a chronic case of more than average stupidity. I'll lick this racket, or it'll lick me, before I've finished."

Meredith laughed. "Sorry you were in for it, darling?"

Rosalie considered that for a moment and then she shook her head. "Umm, no, I guess not," she answered, not too surely. "It's just that—well, sick people are sort of—well, messy. I hate the sight of blood, and if they ever get me into the operating theater, I'm warning you now, somebody's going to have to spend as much time taking care of me, as of the patient! But it's a funny thing. When you've done something to make life a little less painful for a patient, you have a sort of—well, a sort of happy glow. You feel so darned useful, all of a sudden. And for me, that's a pretty strange feeling!"

Meredith smiled at her warmly. "Know what?" she demanded. "You are beginning to be a nurse!"

Dr. Frazier came swiftly down the corridor, said something casual to Rosalie, almost as though he scarcely saw her, and Rosalie said docilely, "Yes, doctor." She winked at Meredith with a perfectly straight face, and went briskly down the corridor towards the kitchen.

Dr. Stewart Frazier looked down at Meredith. His face was tired and strained.

"Got a minute, Merry?" he asked, and the very gravity of his expression frightened her a little.

To Hold Religious Institute In City

At the January meeting of the Greenville Council of Churches this week, plans were made for the Institute of Religious Education January 21-25, for training Sunday school officers and teachers. The first session of the training period will be Sunday, Jan. 21, at 7:30 p. m. at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. It will last two hours. The same schedule will continue through Thursday of that week.

Special classes will be offered in the various departments from cradle roll and beginners through adult classes. Each church will be responsible for the teachers in the department assigned to that church. As a special feature of the institute, the Rev. Robert Hough, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Tarboro, will bring a chapel message each evening.

One of the outstanding features of Retonga is the hundreds of well known railroad men who have found such prompt relief through its use. Among the latest is Mr. W. A. Rudy, well known resident of 122-18th St., S. E. Roanoke, Va., who wears a diamond button testifying to his fifty years efficient service with the Norfolk and Western Railway. Discussing Retonga Mr. Rudy gratefully stated:

"I went down hill until I got to where I could hardly get around my home. My digestion went back on me, my appetite practically left me, and for weeks at a time I could eat only liquid food and fruit juices. My elimination became so poor that I had to depend entirely on laxatives. I tried various medicines and treatments only to keep on feeling worse. I began to feel lots of relief from the very first bottle of Retonga. Now I eat anything and lots of it. I sleep all night, whereas I used to

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

MAKING A FRIEND OF ADVERSITY

Some years ago in one of our large cities, a man was sent to prison for something everyone knew he did not do. In order to shield a woman who was the real culprit, this man pled guilty and served a prison term.

While in prison he became well acquainted with his fellow prisoners, and after he was released he decided to dedicate his life to the rehabilitation of men who faced the hard and distressing world after a term in prison. He was later elected to the Board of Trustees of the very prison in which he had been incarcerated, and he serves today as one of their most honored and useful members. Most of his time and much of his means for his is a man of wealth—so devoted now to work among ex-prisoners and their families.

He might well have spent his time in prison working up bitterness against the injustices of life. Instead, he set to work, after being sentenced for a crime he had not committed, to make himself as useful as possible to his needy associates. And with malice toward none and charity for all, he now does his bit to make the hard lot of his fellow sufferers more tolerable. It takes a lot of character to face life's reverses and both greet them and treat them as friends.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—One of the most recurrent rumors here over the years (at least eight of them) has been that Stephen T. Early, the President's secretary in charge of press relations, is on the verge of resigning.

There's reason for it. Steve himself refuses to discuss the matter with any one who might publish it. But intimate friends say very emphatically that he has been wanting to resign for nearly eight years.

Steve, now 55, has seen his three children grow from childhood to maturity since he has been on the White House executive staff. He has educated them. His salary is $10,000 a year, which may sound like a lot to some, but isn't in the big time in Washington. Living in Washington with a family and keeping up the necessary front commensurate with an important government position is a strain in far less inflated times than these.

If even half the rumors are true, Steve has been offered some mighty attractive civilian jobs in recent years. To mention the surprising thing is that he hasn't jumped at some of them before now. But to insiders and his intimates there's no particular mystery about it.

In the first place, Early is a good soldier. He proven that in World War I. He was originally lieutenant in a machinegun company, one of the most expendable fighting groups of that war, constantly under fire from the day it hit the front lines. He came out of the war an infantry captain. The point is that Steve served where he was ordered.

There never has been a time of stress (and when hasn't there been in President Roosevelt's 12 years?) when Steve would have deserted his post even for the greater rewards of civilian employment, unless his chief wholeheartedly and without any personal pain could give him the green light.

Now that we are deep in the midst of global war, Steve has had more than ever to push his personal ambitions and wishes for his family farther back on the shelf. As long as the President feels that he is needed and his post can't be adequately filled, Steve will stay on because he is a good soldier and because he never wavers in his loyalty to the President.

One other factor makes it hard for Steve to sever old ties—sentiment.

Early is the last of the four persons in the secretariat who have been Mr. Roosevelt's most trusted intimates since even before he first entered the White House.

Louis Henry Howe, that little political genius who had so much to do with the President's ascent, was the first to be taken by death. Then Marvin H. McIntyre, the President's most trusted handyman; and finally Marguerite A. ("Missy") Le Hand, a paragon of personal secretaries.

If Early goes now, as he might, F.D.R. will fight out his fourth term without any one of those who have worked closest and most harmoniously with him through most of his turbulent years.

them to hold out in Japan. I don't advance that as a probability, but surely it is a possibility.

Undoubtedly much may depend on whether ussia comes into the war against Japan. Should that happen it would, of course, be a body blow to any scheme for holding on to the continent. As things now stand, the Chinese are so weak militarily that the yare hanging on by their teeth, and the Allies have a long way to go before they can establish a fighting machine in China capable of ousting the invaders.

In any event, we certainly must plan on having to beat the Japanese militarily before they will quit. It would be foolish to assume otherwise.

from the 1,525,000 men 18 through 29 and those now in 1-A.

Even though that 15-29 group may be made up of men with deferments because of their service in the work in farm, factory or for the government, draft boards will have to cut into them because the services want younger men.

But while all the emphasis will be on taking men under 30, some between 30 and 38 will be taken. Because of that, the government can scare a lot of them into taking war jobs.

It comes down to this: a man between 30 and 38 has to say to himself: I can take a war job or I can take a chance with my draft board.

Under the circumstances you'll have to pay the whole estimated tax in one lump. This will hit a lot of farmers because they were not required to file declarations last April. If you have already filed a declaration, you can amend it January 15. Use the same form, writing "amended" at the top. Amending your estimate is often a good idea—if the first guess was wrong, though it's not compulsory unless you underestimated your tax by 20 per cent or more.

For example, suppose Mr. Jones believed in April that his tax would be $400. Actually it turned out to be $481. He missed it by more than 20 per cent, and must file an amended declaration to avoid a penalty.

Now here's a technical point: The law says if a person estimated his 1944 tax last April on the basis of his 1943 income (but on the basis of 1944 rates and exemptions which were in effect in April), he doesn't have to pay a penalty even if he underestimated by more than 20 per cent.

Another task: If you filed your declaration last April you may have been making quarterly payments in connection with it. If so, the final payment is due January 15. If you are amending your declaration now, this will change the amount of this final payment.

But—as said before you don't have to do any of those things if you can file your final return by January 15 instead of March 15 and pay whatever tax is due to be attached.

Cases Tried Today In Recorder's Court

In Police Court today Judge Roberts continued judgment until Friday in the case of O. C. Carr and Jenetta Harris, colored, charged with fornication and adultery. The court stipulated that the couple come into court with a marriage license and prepared to be married by the court clerk to avoid being sentenced.

William Henry Jones was given six months on the roads for driving drunk, his third offense, the court pointed out. Jones gave notice of appeal. A similar case is pending against him in Superior Court.

G. S. Rowlette paid costs for special counsel in the case of Mary E. King, colored, paid $5 on costs for assault. Louise Forbes, colored, same offense, $15, costs deducted.

Sarah Tripp, white, was given 30 days in jail for being drunk and using profane language. Judgment was suspended on payment of costs.

Drunks: Dalton Creech, 30 days, suspended on payment of $15 and costs on probation for two years; Robert A. White, costs; Alton A. Askew, $15; Isaiah Peyton, colored, $15; John H. Sheppard, colored, costs.

An announcement last Sunday said Maj. Gen. Donald H. Connelly, who set up the Persian command in 1942, was being recalled and that his chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Donald P. Booth, was taking over.

(It was believed in Washington that the Allies have been using the Dardanelles for several weeks under the Montreux convention of 1936, which permitted Turkey to re-fortify the straits, closed the straits to warships of belligerents except under certain conditions and provided passage for merchant ships both in peacetime and wartime).

V-Bombs Kill 367.
London, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Nazi V-bombs killed 367 British civilians and seriously injured 847 during December, the Ministry of Home Security announced today.

Red Star front dispatches said prisoners reported German artillery was almost out of ammunition and machinegunners and riflemen were running out of cartridges. They have been cut off even from airborne supplies since early this week.

Meanwhile, Soviet forces under Marshal Rodion Malinovsky grappled for a stronghold on the sector north of the Danube, opposite Komorom, communications hub 40 miles northwest of Budapest and within 50 miles of Bratislava. This is the springboard from which the next great Russian advance is expected after resistance in Budapest has been liquidated.

In eastern Slovakia, other Russian troops were reported virtually on the outskirts of Kassai and field reports said the Germans were forcing civilians in the zone to evacuate deeper into the mountains.

The great State of North Carolina has grown rich out of this war's petitions read.

"Its employees have grown steadily poorer as a result of the higher cost of living. Basic living costs have gone up 30 to 35 per cent since 1939. State employees have had their meager salaries supplemented by a war bonus which averages only 10 per cent of base. This means that the state's employees have taken a cut of 20 or 25 per cent in real wages while they have faithfully continued to fulfill their duties.

There is no assurance that basic living costs will not continue to rise. It is respectfully requested that the General Assembly take immediate action to remedy this glaring inequity. Meanwhile, the state grows richer, its employees poorer, as a result of the war."

Senator Penland of Clay was named chairman of a committee for the State Commission for the Blind. Other members are Senators Cuipepper of Pasquotank, Barker of Robeson, O'Byrne of Wayne, Blythe of Mecklenburg, Clark of Edgecombe, Whitaker of Lenoir, McBryde of Howe, Horton of Burke, Gay of Northampton, Van of Sampson and Thomas of Ashe.

Senators Wallace of Johnston and Currie of Durham were named on a special committee to arrange for the 150th anniversary celebration of the founding of the University of North Carolina. The exercises will be held in the capitol Monday night.

A bill to give a wife an equitable share of her inestate husband's personal estate was introduced by Rep. Shuford of Buncombe. Under the measure, the estate of a husband would be divided equally between the widow and any children of the union. The bill was referred to Judiciary one.

Another bill, by Shuford of Buncombe, would invalidate any will made by the parties of a divorce after the divorce has become final in the state courts.

A Senate bill to reinstate the governor's emergency war powers was referred to Judiciary one. Also received were Senate measures to provide for interrogatories of the overseas; to continue the post of liaison officer between the House and Senate, and to provide for the naming of members of the Fayetteville board of aldermen.

Close observers saw a disposition on the part of the lawmakers, as evidenced by the speedy action they have given several Cherry recommendations, to expedite the business of this assembly and go home early. It was still estimated, however, that the session would run into March, be careful about burning brush and causing woods and other fires while grubbing tobacco plant beds. A state law requires farmers and others planning to burn brush to notify owners of adjoining property in ample time.

Beginning Feb. 1 permits to burn brush will be issued. The fire warden will announce the names of the permit writers shortly.

With the existing manpower shortage it is difficult to secure men to fight woods fires, Tyson says.

State Workers Visit Health Office Here

Dr. W. P. Richardson, county health administrator for Eastern North for the State Department of Health, was in the city a short time last week conferring with Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Pitt county health officer, C. M. White and C. S. White from the malaria control division for war areas, and A. B. Ferguson of the division of sanitation, who, with H. A. Hendrix, county sanitarian, made inspection of hotels, cafes, etc., in various parts of the county.

The visitors from the State Health Department were helpful to the administration of local health work, Dr. Ennett said.

Speeding Car Kills Girl On Highway

Americus, Ga., Jan. 11—(AP)—Highway patrolmen J. P. Hartsfield and W. T. Beauchamp went out to check on complaints that motorists were failing to stop while school buses load and unload.

They followed a school bus a few miles, stopped while the children got off. As the bus drove off, the officers saw a car top the hill and strike down nine-year-old Betty Huddleston, killing her instantly.

Investigate Slaying.
Lansing, Mich., Jan. 12—(AP)—Police today were following several "leads" toward solving the slaying of Republican State Senator Warren C. Hooper, principal witness in the Carr grand jury investigation of corruption in Michigan government.

Sentenced To Hang.
Atlebridge, Eng., Jan. 12—(AP)—A 12-man army court martial today sentenced Private George E. Smith of Pittsburgh to hang for murdering Sir Eric Teichman, British diplomat.

Sub Base Bombed.
London, Jan. 12—(AP)—Two squadrons of RAF Lancasters with an escort of Mustangs dropped six-ton earthquake bombs today on the enemy U-boat shelter and shipping at Bergen, Norway, the Air Ministry announced.

Killed At Grade Crossing.
Hickory, Jan. 12—(AP)—Jacob Marvin Clay, 66, was instantly killed and Andrew Alexander, 52, was fatally injured when eastbound Southern passenger train 12 struck their car at a crossing here late yesterday.

The two Longview men had finished work at the Piedmont Gas Company nearby just before the crash.

Moving
Raleigh, Jan. 12—(AP)—The Cherrys are moving to Raleigh, lock, stock and barrel.

The Governor and his wife plan to leave late today for Gastonia, where they will oversee the packing of their belongings for transfer to the executive mansion.

They recently sold their Gastonia home.

to our shipping" in the anchorage at dawn Wednesday. A spokesman said the attackers were improvised craft and most of them were sunk.

Enemy columns of artillery and supply, moving north on a main highway from the Manila sector, were strafed and dispersed by land-based medium bombers, attack and fighter planes. Many locomotives and 100 freight cars were destroyed or damaged.

On the outskirts of Manila, explosives were dropped on Nielson and Nichols airfields and to the northwest on Clark Field by Liberators which were greeted by intense anti-aircraft fire.

"Many enemy planes caught on the ground were destroyed," the communique said.

Orders Trial Of Saboteurs
Washington, Jan. 12—(AP)—President Roosevelt has ordered that the two men recently landed on the Maine coast by a German submarine be tried by military tribunal and subjected to the laws of war.

The order signed by the President does not mention any particular offenses against American shores, but declares all citizens of enemy countries who attempt to enter the United States in time of war, and who are charged with attempts at sabotage, espionage, or other hostile or war-like acts, "shall be subject to the law of war and to the jurisdiction of military tribunals."

The order empowers commanding generals of the several service and defense commands in the continental United States and Alaska to appoint military commissions for the trial of such persons.

Highway Workers Essential
Raleigh, Jan. 12—(AP)—Highway department workers are regarded as in work essential to the war effort and will not be reclassified under the new "work or fight" regulations. This assurance was given Charles Ross, acting state highway commissioner, chairman of the War Manpower Commission, he said today.

The Rosebud Usher Board of Sycamore Hill Baptist church had its holiday festival last Monday night at the home of Mrs. Catherine Wiggins.

Mrs. L. R. Taylor, the presiding officer, gave a brief synopsis of the work for last year and expressed her sincere appreciation to the members for their support.

Short talks were made by Mrs. A. B. Taft, Mrs. N. W. Cherry, Mrs. Mabel Nimmo, Miss M. B. Smith and Frank Norris. All of these commended the president and ushers for the good work done and gave them their prayers and best wishes for success in the future.

Guests attending were Mesdames N. W. Cherry, M. Y. Nimmo, Laura Brulington, Carrie B. Williams, Marvin Edwards and Misses M. B. Smith, Annie Godley, little Misses Onnie G. Williams, Ella L. Hines, Peggy Hopkins, Gloria Nimmo, Mr. and Master Frank J. Norris, Sr. and Jr., Master Charles L. Taylor and John Wells.

The club members were Mesdames C. Wiggins, L. Taylor, A. B. Taft, Lucy Jones, Minnie Edwards, J. A. Perry, Lula Ellison, Cora Burnette, Sara Wells, Lula Reeves and Mildred Williams.

The vice president, Mrs. Catherine Wiggins presented the president with lovely and useful gifts from each usher. Everyone present received a gift.

Mrs. Wiggins' home could have been well called house beautiful with its cozy appearance and lovely flowers.

Sunshine and charity really prevailed and the time was enjoyable. The club invited new membership of ladies who would like to do church, club or community work.

The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lula Reeves on Fleming street Sunday, January 14, at 5 o'clock. All ushers are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Obbie Drake have returned home from a brief trip to New York.

High-potash fertilizers are a good investment. With prices of potash still at low prewar levels and prices for farm products at high wartime levels, greater profits than ever before can be obtained for every dollar spent for this necessary plant food.

Not only maintain but build up the fertility of your soils. Now there is plenty of potash to make the high-potash fertilizers recommended by your official agricultural advisers. Use those fertilizers in the amounts suggested for your particular soils and crops.

BASKETBALL HERE TONIGHT

Phantoms And Juniors To Play Bethel At High School Gym.

Another full evening of basketball entertainment is on schedule tonight in the GHS gymnasium when the Phantoms clash with the undefeated Bethel five and the Phantom junior varsity plays the Bethel junior team. The junior varsity game will begin at 7 o'clock.

The Bethel boys expect to show the Phantoms a real battle tonight as they are undefeated thus far this season. They will be out to upset the Greensies since they will be the decided favorites. However, the Phantom squad looked good in practice yesterday and they will definitely do their best to run up as large a score as possible before the game ends.

The first string looked especially good yesterday. "Dead-eye" Futrell stood out in the decision by sinking his set-shots from all corners. "Big Joe" Lupton was off on his hooks under the basket, but he is expected to snap back tonight. The usual starting lineup will probably take the floor at game time. It is Billy Harrington and Mac Batchelor at guard; Jimmy Futrell and J. T. Williams at forward, and Joe Lupton in the "hole."

Starting for the juniors will probably be Ed Williams and Moutt Massey, forwards; "Cotton" Jordan and Sherrod White at guards, and Henry Turner at center.

Prisoner Of War

T-Sgt. William A. Crandell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Crandell of Stokes, has been reported a prisoner of war of the German government according to information received from the War Department on December 2 by his parents. Sgt. Crandell, who was stationed in England with the Army Air Forces as a gunner on a B-24 Liberator bomber, had previously been reported missing in action over Germany since October 19. He went overseas in July and received the Air Medal in August. He received his wings as a gunner after completing training at the Army Gunners school at Harlingen, Texas. Sgt. Crandell has three brothers, two of whom are in the Navy, and the other is in college.

Swallowed Penny
Atlanta, Jan. 12—(AP)—Two-year-old Barbara Anne Jones of Murphy, playing with her piggy bank, managed to get out a penny and, surgeons attempted to remove the coin by using a new surgical method but the coin—a pre-war, all-copper penny—failed to respond. An esophageoscope was used instead.

Dr. Harold Meyer Will Speak Here

Dr. Harold D. Meyer of Chapel Hill, head of the Department of Zoology, University of North Carolina, will be the speaker at the Girl Scout officers and leaders' annual banquet on January 17. The meeting will be held at the Rotary building at 7 o'clock. Mrs. E. L. Henderson, commissioner of Girl Scouts, Inc., will preside.

Mrs. James T. Uzzie, executive secretary, will make her report of the year's activities. It will show an increase in troop memberships and troop leaders. Camp Hardee, Girl Scout summer camp on Pamlico river near Chocowinity, was one of the few summer camps permitted to remain open last summer during the polio epidemic.

Dr. Meyer was the speaker at last year's meeting and was invited to speak again. He has been a member of the University faculty about 20 years; is an authority on recreational activities and chief of the Bureau of Recreation of the Extension Division; is chairman of the Recreation Committee for Social Service, educational director of Boy Scouts of America in the southeastern region, a past president of the North Carolina Physical Education Association and the State Parent-Teacher Association. The entire program time will be allotted to Dr. Meyer. Places will be provided for 100 guests.

Pitt County Medical Society Favors Plan

The Pitt County Medical and Dental Society met at the Rotary Building in Greenville Thursday night. Drs. J. L. Winstead and S. M. Crisp were hosts.

After dinner the meeting was called to order by President L. M. Garrenton, who outlined briefly his program for the Society for the year. Following this the scientific program consisted of a symposium on "Abdominal Pain." Dr. J. M. Winstead presented a comprehensive paper on "Abdominal Pain Outside of the Pelvis." Dr. W. H. Fott then covered the subject of "Pelvic Pain" with special emphasis on pain of menstrual origin.

The health officer reported a satisfactory communicable disease status and reported briefly on the general activities of his department.

Dr. John Cotten Taylor, counselor for the Second District of the North Carolina Medical Society, was present and talked briefly on the proposed program of hospitalization and medical care recommended by the Governor's Committee.

The Pitt County Medical Society unanimously voted to approve of the program and to urge the legislative representatives of Pitt County to actively support this legislation, which has now been introduced into the Legislature.

Arrangements were also made for holding in Greenville, within a few weeks the Second District Medical Society, the membership of which comprises most of the doctors of Lenoir, Pitt, Craven, Beaufort, Carteret, Pamlico, Hyde and Martin counties.

Flying Pup Arrives From South Pacific

Jersey City, N. J., Jan. 12—(AP)—Marilyn has her flying pup from Papua.

Her blue eyes sparkling with tears of joy, two-year-old apple checked Marilyn Diana Schwartz held out her chubby arms yesterday to meet her when she saw the female puppy sent her by an unknown friend in Papua and passed on from one army plane to the next.

Straightaway she informed her pet very seriously, "you're 'Choo Choo,'" and grabbed the somewhat dirty pup she had been told to expect.

This took aback Flight Officer Halbert L. Wilcox of Rapid City, S. D., who flew the little brown-and-white rolly-polly mutt up from Greensboro, N. C., on the last leg of its 13,512-mile air trip from the Pacific, only to find it named for a train.

at Marcouray near Laroche. The town was recaptured by cavalry of the 84th division and the 400 hard-riding men of the third armored division, who won fame under Lt. Col. Sam Hogan of Fort Worth and Pharr, Texas, was avenged.

Gallagher said that for every vehicle lost in the bulge battle, one or more—American and German alike—was lost to weather and terrain. He said the bulge battle was the most costly in men and materiel to both sides yet fought on the western front.

American vanguards pushed a mile south of Laroche today on the road to Bastogne and fanned out the road towards the crossroads village of Vibris, midway between Laroche and the pivotal communication center of Houffalize.

Supreme headquarters had no new reports of German gains toward Strasbourg from the cross-Rhine pocket, eight miles to the north or from the bulge north of Colfar, some ten miles south. It was not known whether this meant the Germans were being held or indicated a lag in communications.

Against the 7th and the French First armies in the south, however, the German First and 19th armies were hitting with increased armor, and threatening Strasbourg from positions nine miles north and ten south.

Camranh bay would be the logical point from which the enemy would try to send an expedition to reinforce its sorely-worried Luzon garrison. The Japanese would hesitate to send reinforcements from the north because of the American aerial assaults on Formosa and the Nipponese homeland.

Less risk would be involved in a dash straight across the south China sea. But apparently if the Japanese were taking such a chance, they were caught before getting well underway.

Big Increase ...

Superfortresses, C-54 cargo planes, jet-propelled fighters and all Navy fighters — is scheduled for a rise from $367,000,000 to $925,000,000 monthly in six months.

A nine per cent increase in all aircraft is planned, and Willow Run instead of cutting Liberator bomber output will hold production steady or increase it.

Unveiling the first actual plant production figures for B-29 Superfortresses, Krug said the Boeing plant at Renton, Wash., would have to boost its December output of 35 air dreadnaughts in December to 200 in July; to do so Flying Fortress production by Boeing must be transferred to Douglas and Lockheed, stepping up the latter plants.

Boeing's Wichita, Kans., Superfortress plant now is turning out 100 a month, Krug disclosed, but he withheld figures on the Omaha, Neb., and Marietta, Ga., factories.

Total aircraft production next year now is put at 82,250 war planes, representing successive increases over the 76,000 which were scheduled in October for 1945.

Krug said restrictions on outdoor advertising and ornamental and display lighting would not be im-

James K. Sanford Buried Greensboro

James K. Sanford of Greensboro, well known traveling salesman in the Carolinas, who died at Duke hospital Wednesday morning, was buried in Forest Lawn cemetery in Greensboro Thursday afternoon.

He was the father of Sgt. Elsie Sanford, recruiting officer for the WACS at the Durham office, who has spent much time in Greenville and is well known here.

Mr. Sanford was owner of the Sanford Service Company in Greensboro. He was active in politics and was on the Guilford County Democratic Executive Committee, a member of the Methodist church and active in Masonic circles. His wife, Mrs. Ruth Hall Sanford, and two sons and two daughters survive.

Seek Million Converts

Memphis, Jan. 12—(AP)—The Southern Baptists' campaign to win 1,000,000 persons to Christ in 1945 will be waged in "halls, tents, brush arbors and around log fires," says Dr. M. E. Dodd of Shreveport, La., director of the group's centennial evangelistic crusade. Dodd, planning the program here yesterday with crusade directors from 19 states and the District of Columbia, said the Baptists plan 50,000 evangelistic meetings this year.

Veteran In Grammar School

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 12—(AP)—A 22-year-old war veteran here asked to enroll in the sixth grade of the public schools. "There's nothing we can do but accept it," said supervising Principal D. Bailey. "But it's not such a good idea to have grown-ups in classes with children." Under the GI bill of rights a discharged veteran can go back to school and receive $50 a month.

Two Million Sheep Perish In Australia

Canberra, Australia, Jan. 12—(AP)—More than 2,000,000 wool-producing sheep have perished due to Australia's worst drought since being settled by whites and the country's most productive acres have been turned into huge dustbowls.

About 750,000 square miles—one third of the continent—particularly the southeastern portion is affected. Heavy rains are now falling but month-long continuous rainfall will be necessary to make the recovery substantial.

Editor Prisoner of War

Atlanta, Jan. 12—(AP)—New word that Managing Editor Wright Bryan of the Atlanta Journal is safe in a German prisoner of war camp was received today by his wife.

Bryan, on leave of absence as a war correspondent, was wounded and captured September 12 near the Third Army front in France. No direct word has been received from him but the War Department has listed him as a war prisoner and the Red Cross has reported his safety.
