NAZIS SMOKING RUSSIAN

Reds Outflank Berlin Defenses; Canadians Push Ahead

GERMANS RUSH IN RESERVES TO HALT DRIVE

Troops Closing In On Goch From Three Directions; No Effort Yet Made To Cross Rhine River; American Third Army Carves Out Small Gains

(By The Associated Press)

Paris, Feb. 16—(AP)—The Canadian First Army, aimed toward the heart of the industrial Ruhr, thrust almost a mile deeper into the lower Rhine valley of northwest Germany today through storms of heavy artillery and mortar fire thrown by an ever increasing flood of enemy reserves.

The Canadians held 20 miles of the south bank of the flooded Rhine from the Nijmegen sector to opposite Emmerich but made no threats at crossing the wide waterway. They stormed and captured water-barraged Hulst, a four-mile east of Kleve and 19 from the Ruhr gateway city of Wesel.

Scots, Britons and Welshmen under Gen. Henry Crerar's command inched toward the defense keystones of Goch and Calcar in the center of the bulging 20-mile front. One front dispatch said the British empire troops spread out south of Moyland, indicating an advance into the area less than two miles from Calcar. Scots swinging down the highway from Kleve moved to within 1,000 yards of Moyland.

Other troops closed slowly toward Goch from three directions and were within easy artillery range. Goch and Calcar both are important military highway hubs.

The Germans committed elements of an Eighth division to the critical northern front, the Eighth parachute division. Three other parachute, two infantry and two tank divisions have been identified. Prisoners totalled 5,700 for the offensive.

The American Third Army carved out half mile gains in the Pruem sector.

With the Roer River receding rapidly at the edge of the Colongprill, the Germans increased their artillery and V-weapon fire on the American Ninth and First Armies. (Continued on Page Two)

Airmen Continue Raids On Germany

Main Weight Of Assault Designed To Aid Russian Drive On Berlin

London, Feb. 16—(AP)—More than 1,000 American heavy bombers from Britain, continuing the record air offensive against the Reich, switched their attack back to western Germany today with seven simultaneous blows at oil targets and railroad yards in six cities.

At the same time U. S. 15th Air Force bombers from Italy smashed at the Obertraubling airdrome at Regensburg in southern Germany, where jet-propelled planes are based.

After a night lull in the offensive in which 16 cities from the Rhine to the Russian front were rocked with heavy loads of explosives, the American bombers from Britain attacked two benzol plants at Dortmund and Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr, two oil refineries at Dortmund and Salzbergen, and three large freight yards at Hamm, Osnabruck and Rheine.

The Fortresses and Liberators from Italy also battered a series of railroads, including those at Bolzano on the Brenner Line, at Rosenheim, 35 miles southeast of Munich, a junction between the Brenner Pass and Vienna, and another yard east of Innsbruck on a by-pass line from the Brenner.

The bombers from Britain were escorted by only 22 fighters, a good indication of the lack of punch the air force. The marshalling yards at Hamm are the largest in Germany and like Rheine and Salzbergen, twin cities just across the Dutch border, are important in the German scheme of supply against the Montgomery salient at Kleve.

It was officially announced that American losses in Wednesday's 2,250-plane assault on German targets close to the Russian front were eight bombers and five fighters. Yesterday's losses dropped to 15 bombers and six fighters to 12 bombers and two fighters. A number of planes previously reported missing were found to have landed safely in France.

Jap Shores Blasted By Greatest Armada In History Of World

More Than 1,500 Carrier Planes Take Part In Raid On Homeland, While Fleet Dares Enemy To Fight

By AL DOPKING

U. S. Pacific Headquarters, Guam, Saturday, Feb. 17—(AP)—Smoke columns 7,000 feet high plumed over the Tokyo-Yokohama area today marking targets blasted by more than 1,500 American carrier planes in yesterday's daring strike at the heart of Japan.

Returning fliers who rode B-29s over the targets while the Navy Hellcats and Avengers spit bombs and bullets at the Nipponese capital district said that aside from other damage, scores of enemy planes were caught on the ground.

The raid lasted more than nine hours while the greatest naval armada ever assembled challenged the Japanese fleet within 300 miles of Nippon's shores.

(Carrier attacks of this type usually last for two or three days. The power of the American force indicated this pattern would be followed again on Tokyo.)

Protecting Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier forces, battleships, cruisers and destroyers of Adm. Raymond A. Spruance's Fifth Fleet spread out in a 200 mile column in Japanese waters, daring the enemy fleet to come out.

Seven hundred miles to the south another task force, which Tokyo said was comprised of more than 30 warships, including battleships and carriers, shelled two Jima in coordination with land-based bombers which have been attacking the island outpost daily for more than two months.

A Japanese imperial communique reported that "carrier-based planes of a powerful enemy task force which appeared in the seas adjacent to our shores" attacked airfields in and around Tokyo in successive waves from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. today (Japanese time). The enemy Domei News Agency added that heaviest blows were rained on bases from which interceptors take off against superfortresses raiding the Nipponese capital.

Tokyo's seven millions, long familiar with superfortress raids, had never seen anything like today's carrier attack.

Something tremendous is unfolding. The long-planned and extensive operations threat-

Meadows Denies Use Of College Monies

Claims All Errors Made In Bookkeeping Instead Of College

Denying that he had ever spent one cent of the college's money for his own private use, that he had offered every cooperation to the auditors in an effort to clarify any item that they did not understand and that in the few errors he had made in entries in his record books the errors had been against him instead of the college, Dr. Leon R. Meadows continued his testimony in his own defense today. Dr. Meadows, former president of East Carolina Teachers College, is on trial on charges of embezzling more than $18,000 college funds and with false pretense.

Judge Clawson L. Williams of Sanford, presiding over the court, stated today that he would not hold Meadows tomorrow. Indications at the luncheon recess were that Dr. Meadows would continue on the stand throughout today and probably Monday. It now appears that it will be impossible to complete the case before week after next.

Dr. Meadows taking the stand about 4:30 yesterday began his testimony with a brief review of his early life and education. He was born in Alabama and his family moved to Louisiana while he was still very young. He attended schools in Louisiana, attended Baylor University in Texas, Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, and Yale University before coming to Greenville in 1910 as head of the English department at East Carolina Teachers College. He did graduate work at Columbia University during which he received a Ph. D. degree. He entered the armed forces in 1917 and served until November 1918. He caused a substitute teacher had already started the school term he did not return to the college until the following fall and in the interim he worked for the southern division of the American Red Cross.

After returning to his duties as teacher he also served as secretary to the faculty secretary to the board of trustees and was director of summer schools from 1922 until he resigned from the college in 1941. (Continued on Page Two)

KEY BASTIONS SOUTHEAST OF CAPITAL FALL

Moscow Says Armored Trains Bearing Down On Nazi Capital, Attacking On 30-Mile Stretch, Threatening Important Centers From Southeast

London, Feb. 16—(AP)—An armored mass of Marshal Konev's first Ukrainian army bore down on Berlin's Spree river defenses from the southeast today, smashing toward Giesebau and Cottbus, 31 to 52 miles from the capital.

Soviet war correspondents indicated that the Neisse river defenses had been shattered after fierce battles in the areas of Forst and Guben, two towns on that river which joins the Oder south of Frankfurt. They told of columns of tanks and cavalry rolling through shattered villages within sight of the Spree, and indicated that the main weight of Konev's First Ukrainian army had been turned in the Berlin direction after forming a firm link with Marshal Khukov's First White Russian army for an assault on the German capital.

How far the Soviet army, however, was reported across the Neisse and within 37 miles of the upper Elbe, the river which rises in Czechoslovakia near Prague, passes through Dresden and flows diagonally across Germany to the North Sea at Hamburg.

The Soviet armored trains bearing down on Berlin, Moscow dispatches said, were attacking a 30-mile stretch between Beeskow and Cottbus and flanking the Germans who have held up Zhukov's attack at Frankfurt and Kurstin along the Oder.

Beeskow is 31 miles southeast of Berlin, and 18 miles southwest of Frankfurt on the Oder.

Cottbus, directly south of Beeskow, is 51 miles from Berlin and 12 miles west of Forst, where the Germans reported Soviet penetrations yesterday.

Both Beeskow and Cottbus are on the Spree, which links up with many lakes and waterways to form a natural defense for Berlin.

Both are important communication centers. Cottbus is the hub of 13 trunk railroads, main highways and Autobahns and Beeskow is the center of eight such arteries, including the main Frankfurt-Letznaue railway.

Soviet correspondents said fighting was raging near the east bank of the Spree.

These dispatches indicated that Forst and Guben, 15 miles to the north, either had been by-passed or captured.

With his flank now solidly secured by the sensational advances of the First Ukrainian army, Zhukov is attacking the First White Russian army on Puersternberg, the fortress in the southwestern corner of the Oder bend below Frankfurt.

WOULD RETAIN STATE DIVISION

Introduce Bill To Increase ECTC Board Trustees

Raleigh, Feb. 16—(AP)—A special legislative commission recommended unanimously today that the division of game and fisheries be retained as a part of the Department of Conservation and Development but suggested that greater care be exercised in selection of wardens.

The commission, appointed at the direction of Governor Cherry, held four meetings. Two of them were public, and proponents and opponents of a move to separate the division were heard.

Proponents argued that sportsmen should run the division and asserted more could be accomplished with a separate and distinct organization. Opponents charged that the move was purely political and inspired by Rep. John Chalk of Richmond county, former game and inland fisheries commissioner.

Cherry has suggested that the legislature follow the findings of the special commission, of which Senators Eagles of Wilson is chairman. Other commission members were Senator Currie of Durham, and Reps. Burgin of Henderson, Graham of Robeson and Barber of Chatham.

Sensors Gay and Price of Rockingham yesterday introduced a bill to increase the membership of the East Carolina Teachers College Board of Trustees from 12 to 18. The appointments would be made by the governor, subject to senate confirmation.

Rep. Moseley of Guilford and Senator Bythe of Mecklenburg introduced companion bills to create the North Carolina Veterans Commission, which would coordinate and perform services now rendered by state departments and agencies. More efficient administration. (Continued on page three)

Says Plant Will Obey WLB Order

Asheville, Feb. 16—(AP)—The Asheville times said a spokesman for the American Enka corporation had told the paper in a telephone conversation from Washington today that the company intended "to comply fully" with an order issued by the National War Labor Board yesterday.

He was quoted as saying that all moves to resume production of rayon at the big plant near here would be taken as soon as the workers gave official notice they were ready to return to work.

The board after a hearing, ordered the employees to return to work and the company to arbitrate its differences with the Enka Union, a unit of the United Textile Workers (AFL).

Roy Whitmire, president of the local, was reported to still be in Washington today, as were officials of the corporation.

SEE ATTEMPT AT SABOTAGE

Says Manufacturers Undermining Clothing Program

Washington, Feb. 16—(AP)—There were two versions today of whether attempts have been made to sabotage the government's low cost clothing program.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles said indirectly that such an attempt has been made by a special advocate for a group of textile manufacturers.

Chairman J. A. Krus of the War Production Board declares he was shocked by reports of sabotage which reached him as the order implementing the joint OPA-WPB program was being signed.

Both agencies and the committee of industry representatives are in complete agreement on plans for increased production and lower prices for essential garments. Krus told a news conference yesterday.

The WPB chief said "One of the most amazing jobs has been done" in whipping the program into shape along lines announced last month. This calls for diversion of about 75 per cent of all civilian fabric to medium and low priced clothing.

Bowles, while taking no cognizance of published reports of sabotage, brought up the subject in a letter to members of the print cloth group of cotton manufacturers. In it he said that the executive director of the organization, William P. Jacobs, of Clinton, S. C., has been waging a pressure campaign "with members of Congress and various government agencies" to secure higher prices for cotton textiles and prevent wage increases "in the industry."

Bowles said these objectives were disclosed in a letter Jacobs wrote to textile manufacturers last month. Forming the textile industry "as patriotic as any other group," Bowles said he is confident its members will join in condemnation of the tactics which Mr. Jacobs' says he is using. Germany Under Martial Law

London, Feb. 16—(AP)—Almost all Germany was placed under virtual martial law today by a sweeping decree calling for military trial of "whoever tries to evade his duties toward the community."

Civilians who show "cowardice" will be subject to the death penalty in the Reich's defense areas threatened by the enemy.

The order was one of the most drastic decrees ever issued by the Germans in their effort to bring every man, woman and child into their struggle. It was issued, Berlin said, on orders from Adolf Hitler and with the agreement of Heinrich Himmler.

Electrocutted

Morehead City, Feb. 16—(AP)—David Strickland, 28, a Tide Water Power Company lineman, was electrocuted yesterday while working on a pole on the Lenoxville highway a short distance from here.

Continue Arguing On Manpower Bill

Washington, Feb. 16—(AP)—A potential union of two senate groups favoring somewhat similar plans to strengthen military secret service authority over work-or-jail legislation.

One of the groups is headed by Senators Kilgore (D-W.Va.) and Wagner (D-N.Y.) and Ferguson (R-Mich.). Their measure would give WMC power to fix employment ceilings in individual plants and to regulate or even prohibit the hiring of new workers.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and Revercomb (R-W.Va.) are authors of a somewhat similar proposal.

If the two factions get together, there is every likelihood they could force a WMC-strengthened out on the Senate floor as a substitute to the House-approved work-or-jail measure.

Condemned Men Given Reprieves

Raleigh, Feb. 16—(AP)—Four youths convicted in Guilford County on murder charges and sentenced to die were under reprieves today. One day stays saved three of them yesterday and today Governor Cherry granted a 60-day stay to William Joseph Dunham, convicted of slaying his former sweetheart, Laura Elizabeth Riley, last May 9.

The other three—Elmer Hardie Biggs, 21, his brother, William Dalton Biggs, 20, and John Edgar Messer, 19—were informed of Governor Cherry's decision to grant the stay less than 24 hours before they were scheduled to die. Their execution had been set for 10 a. m. today.

The governor's action automatically put off execution of the sentence for three weeks.

The men were convicted of slaying E. J. Swanson, Jameson merchant, in an attempted hold-up Feb. 19, 1943. The first time, the supreme court granted them a new trial.

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 16—(AP)—So you need a maid.

And you can't get one.

And you're sore.

A lot of housewives are.

A lot of housewives are suffering from housemaids' nay:

"No, ma'am. I can't work for you. I do better in a war plant."

And a lot of housewives, just because of good pay in war plants, would like to work there themselves and hire a maid to take care of the children.

Down south, I know, there's been peevishness among white women who couldn't get a maid. I've heard them say:

"You can't get a negro girl to do housework any more. They say they make more money elsewhere or they say they don't have to work because their husbands are making so much money."

I know that in a city like New Orleans you could get a negro girl before the war to work in the house for $3 to $6 a week but after war started some people had a time trying to get a maid for $15 weekly.

But the maid shortage has hit

Truman Moves To Invite President To Tell Of Meeting

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 16—(AP)—Vice President Truman took the lead today in a move to invite President Roosevelt to tell congress all he can—without revealing military secrets—about the big three's agreements at Yalta.

The vice president has told the President's advisers he believes Mr. Roosevelt would make a ten strike by appearing personally before the legislators for a frank discussion of foreign affairs such as Prime Minister Churchill often gives the House of Commons.

The idea, given some support earlier in the week by War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes, won immediate bipartisan approval in the senate. Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) observed that Mr. Roosevelt hadn't talked personally to the legislators for a long time and he thought it "would be a wonderful thing if the President could come up and tell us about this conference."

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican whip, seconded the motion, possibly with somewhat different motives.

"I think that congress is entitled to more details about these agreements than it now has," said he.

Truman's chief interest lies in quieting the complaints still heard in some senate quarters, despite the voluminous report on the Crimean conference, that congressmen don't know enough about what is going on behind the diplomatic scenes.

The administration has moved recently to give members of both parties a look behind the curtain with Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) leading a bipartisan delegation of foreign relations members to the White House before Mr. Roosevelt left for the meeting with Churchill and Premier Stalin.

Plaid No Contest In Circus Fire Case

Hartford, Conn. Feb. 16—(AP)—Six officials of Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Combined Shows, Inc., pleaded no contest in Superior Court today to charges of manslaughter in the circus fire which cost 168 lives and injured hundreds.

State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn, Jr., sought a bench warrant against the circus corporation on a charge of manslaughter but because he was unable to show authority for such action, Justice William J. Shea deferred immediate action.

Alcorn said that he had examined the authorities and he was satisfied a corporation could be charged with involuntary manslaughter although it could not be held criminally responsible for voluntary manslaughter.

Sentence was deferred until this afternoon, when arguments for the accused will be made.

Weather Forecast

Extended forecast for period ending February 21, 8 p. m.:

Mild temperatures beginning of period, followed by cooler over the week-end. Rising temperatures Mon-Wed and Tuesday, cooler again by Wednesday, showers at beginning and near middle of period.

Burned To Death In Hotel Blaze

Brevard, Feb. 16—(AP)—One man burned to death and two others were slightly injured in an early morning fire which heavily damaged the Pierce-ore Hotel here today.

The body of John Strane, 39, of Providence, R. I., badly charred, was found in a room where firemen said the blaze apparently originated. Strane was a representative of the United States Rubber Company.

John Haumann, also a U. S. Rubber Company representative from Providence, was taken to a local hospital for treatment of burns. He occupied the room adjoining Strane's.

Ralph R. Kintz, of Brevard, connected with the War Avarior Commission, was given first aid treatment.

Introduce Bill To Increase ECTC Board Trustees

Raleigh, Feb. 16—(AP)—A special legislative commission recommended unanimously today that the division of game and fisheries be retained as a part of the Department of Conservation and Development but suggested that greater care be exercised in selection of wardens.

The commission, appointed at the direction of Governor Cherry, held four meetings. Two of them were public, and proponents and opponents of a move to separate the division were heard.

Proponents argued that sportsmen should run the division and asserted more could be accomplished with a separate and distinct organization. Opponents charged that the move was purely political and inspired by Rep. John Chalk of Richmond county, former game and inland fisheries commissioner.

Cherry has suggested that the legislature follow the findings of the special commission, of which Senators Eagles of Wilson is chairman. Other commission members were Senator Currie of Durham, and Reps. Burgin of Henderson, Graham of Robeson and Barber of Chatham.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR February 16, 1905

Our neighbor town, Kinston, got on the government list for an appropriation for a public building.

shares, $7,680 in hotel stock in Birmingham, Alabama, and miscellaneous personal property of $4,000.

Asked about returns on his rental property in Greenville Dr. Meadows pictured himself as a community benefactor with the statement that he was known to be one landlord in Greenville who never put a tenant, especially negroes, out of a house because they could not pay their rents.

He further testified as to payments made to Garris Evans Lumber Company and Baker-Davis Hardware Company for cement and testified that all of it was used on the college property.

With regard to the J. W. Clark paying items he testified that claims of purchases and materials from Clark and payments to Clark for paving work at the college were each and everyone true and that every penny of it had been spent for the benefit of the college.

He further testified as to payments made to Garris Evans Lumber Company and Baker-Davis Hardware Company for cement and testified that all of it was used on the college property.

With regard to the item by item examination he declared that he had offered every assistance to the auditors in the way of explanation. He stated that he had turned over to Mr. Widenhouse 4,000 or 4,500 cancelled checks and had given him the full privilege of making a minute investigation of his bank account.

He explained in detail how money were derived in the summer term entertainment funds and admitted receipts of $15,597.53 of such funds into his keeping during the 10 years he was president of the institution.

He explained the gift of $250 by Miss Julia Taylor to the college in September 1941 and said that the amount remained in the summer term entertainment fund only about a month before being turned over to the college treasurer.

He explained receipts totaling $750 from Miss Ola Ross for the piano fund as regular term fund payments on a grand piano bought for the college. He stated that the summer term fund also paid $250 and that the balance of $1,400 was to be paid by the college.

Asked how he kept the college funds, turned over to him, he stated that they were deposited in his personal bank account. He declared that he had never kept but one bank account at any one and the same time. He stated that after receipt of the funds he began to disburse them under authority of the resolution adopted by the board of trustees in 1924 and that at times he spent more money for improvements than the funds actually contained, advancing his own personal funds and repaying himself when other receipts came in.

He testified that disbursements of the summer term entertainments funds were shown in his Memo Book No. 1 but that in some instances he had failed to record all disbursements made for the college and as a result had really contributed his own funds to the college. One such instance was $60 payment to Will Cherry for painting in the campus building May 1, 1940, whereby he was out $60.

Questioned about an item of $64.10 paid to Shoe and Cannon for work on the Immanuel Baptist parsonage and entered as a disbursement for the college he said it was an error in his book. On approximately the same day of the church transaction Dr. Meadows had paid W. B. Shoe $72 for work at the college but had crossed the items and charged the wrong item on the books.

When asked how he had received payment and identified a receipt he had given Dr. Meadows for same but the item does not show as a disbursement in either of Dr. Meadows' record books.

for work at the college was not so charged. In the error of again charging the wrong item to the college Dr. Meadows cost himself $2.55. (S. T. Hicks has testified as to having received the $151 payment for work at the college.)

Taking up disbursements as recorded in his Memo Book No. 1 item by item he offered explanation of the purposes for which each expenditure was made and on each item denied that any part of it was for his own use or benefit. He said he had so advised the auditors.

she returned in 1937. Will Cherry, Negro painter, identified a receipt he had given Dr. Meadows dated May 1, 1940, in the sum of $60. He stated that Dr. Meadows had paid him that sum for painting work inside the campus building.

P. L. Goodson and W. H. Woolard testified to the good character of Cherry, W. B. Shoe, and the same defense witnesses about whom previous witnesses had testified. Frank Brooks testified to the good character and reputation of Dr. Meadows and the other witnesses previously named.

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, assistant dean of women at the college, testified to the many improvements made at the college under Dr. Meadows administration. She also testified that Ricks Tours students frequently were housed at the college for brief periods when leaving or returning from tours. She said that she had never seen Dr. Meadows use a typewriter. His character and reputation are excellent she said.

Recalled to the stand Mrs. Agnes Barrett identified a letter dictated August 17, 1942, by Dr. Meadows to Dr. E. R. Browning and one received by Dr. Meadows from Browning dated August 18. Both letters she said were a part of her office files. She also identified a statement of Dr. Meadows assets and liabilities dated October 29, 1934, which she said she saw Dr. Meadows sign and to which she fixed her signature as witness.

Dr. E. R. Browning was recalled to the stand and identified the two August letters exchanged between Dr. Meadows and himself. The letters which dealt with proposed improvements to the class room building were placed into evidence by the defense. Browning stated that the improvements referred to in the letters were later carried out.

S. G. Wilkerson testified to the good characters and reputations of Dr. Meadows, E. L. Baker, Roy Smith, L. M. Ernest, G. C. Honeycutt, N. O. Van Nortwick and Charlie Flye.

Mrs. L. R. Meadows immediately preceding her husband on the stand testified that she became a member of the college faculty in 1918 while Dr. Meadows was serving in the military.

She said frequently when they went to his office at night he would write letters in long hand and if copies were required for the files she would type them for him. Asked about materials Dr. Meadows had stored on the college campus she stated that when they moved from their own home into the president's home it was necessary to remove a large quantity of lumber and materials from their former home before renting it out and that the materials had been carried off on the college trucks presumably to the campus for storage.

County Teachers Met Last Night

A meeting of Pitt county teachers was held last night in the Court- house. Features of the program were addresses by Dr. Frederick P. Brooks and Dr. A. D. Frank. Dr. Brooks, who is the college physician at E.C.T.C., gave an interesting re- port on physical defects discovered in his examination of college fresh- men. Dr. Brooks stated his exami- nations reveal that many college students now have poor vision and made several suggestions for cor- rective measures.
 A plan for improving eyesight among school children is being sponsored by Greenville Lions Club. A state nurse will be brought to the county in arch to screen the children in county and city schools. This will be followed by a clinic for testing eyes and working out plans to get glasses for children that have poor vision.
 Dr. A. D. Frank, who is head of the history department at E.C.T.C., spoke in a very interesting manner on the Dumbarton Oaks World Se- curity Plan and made several con- crete suggestions looking toward the preparation of the people of the United States for cooperation with whatever plan is finally adopted by the great powers.
 F. Newman Lewis, principal of the Chicod school, was elected president of the Teachers to succeed Mrs. Margaret Lewis Speight, whose term of office expired in February. Miss Catherine McClees, principal of the Stokes School, was elected vice- president to succeed Miss Pauline Abeyounis, teacher in the Grimes- land School.

think; but I have no doubts—after the raid."
 "So you changed your mind?" said O'Shane thoughtfully.
 "I am always ready to admit an error," he snapped, stiffening.
 "No offense, Colonel. But a lone wolf gets kind of ringy. About that Olson killing—who brought the poor devil in?"
 "I went out with two of my men. A Double O rider found the body and rode over to give us word."
 "Any sign?" asked O'Shane sharply.
 "I'm afraid I'm no tracker, but Coyote Bill, one of my men, said a horse had been tied behind a clus- ter of rock close by. He picked up some cigarette butts, too."
 "Was the tracks plain?" asked O'- Shane.
 "Yes, Bill said the horse was nig- ger-heeled."
 "The redhead's eyes gleamed with a sudden inspiration. You'd know them tracks again, Colonel?" he in- terjected, with growing eagerness.
 "I'm sure I would," affirmed the Colonel, briskly. "The front feet toed out and the rear feet in."
 O'Shane abruptly turned and strode through the trees to where his roan and the pinto were cropping grass. He returned, leading the pinto.
 "Take a look at them tracks, Col- onel," he cried, over his shoulder. Thornton swung from the saddle and bent down, examining the pin- to's hoof-marks closely.
 "Why, they're the same?" he an- nounced. "Who rides that pony?"
 "Lobo, Fleeson's brother," return- ed O'Shane slowly, "a skunk from over the border who tried to knife me last night."
 "If you're not the most interest- ing man!" exclaimed Viola. "Ex- ceptation just follows you like a shadow. What a husband you'd

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WALKING THE TIGHTROPE
Have you ever watched a tightrope walker balancing himself with his long pole? It is a marvelous performance, and everyone stands against, feeling that surely the next moment the bold fellow will lose his balance and plunge to ruin.
Most people watching a tightrope performer undoubtedly feel that they would rather have the jobs they happen at that time to be holding than to change places with a tightrope walker.

Yet there are quite a few people who go through life walking a tightrope and balancing themselves with a long pole of compromise. Every step they advance must be taken with cautious deliberation. It involves jeopardy, lest they topple into ruin. Their faces are tense.
They have to keep themselves in balance, first on this side and then on that. Just as the people watching a tightrope walker wonder why in the world one ever chooses such work as a livelihood, so day after day as we watch those friends of ours who pursue their cautious and compromising way through life, we wonder why they do not come down onto the broad earth and walk along its pathways fearlessly.

"What will the neighbors say?"
"Will this course of action hurt me socially?" "Will it be better for me to stand by Bill in this controversy or to stand by Harry?" "What will the boss think if he knows the opinion I hold in this matter?"

Here we see the tightrope, the balancing pole, and every step fraught with anxiety.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—A rare thing developed in the House of Representatives when the Senate-passed George bill was hurried over to the lower chamber for consideration.
The House found itself virtually in position to confirm a cabinet member, a prerogative lodged solely in the Senate.

The George bill, as you know, was a compromise between those for and against confirming Henry
A. Wallace as secretary of Commerce, with all the vast Reconstruction Finance Corp. lending powers incorporated in the Commerce Department. Senator George of Georgia proposed that the RFC be separated from Commerce, and it was agreed the confirmation of Wallace would be postponed until the bill had cleared.

When administration followers in the Senate discovered that Wallace couldn't be confirmed if they insisted on his taking over the RFC, they came over to the compromise—rather hastily after President Roosevelt sent word that he would sign the George bill.

So it went to the House, which rarely is able to do more than specify for or against Presidential appointees.

The House does have one check on departments, agencies and bureaus. It controls the purse strings.
It hasn't been uncommon for the House, which originates all appropriations, to cut off funds for some agency if its appointive chief were particularly out of favor with House members. But in those instances, the House had to reckon with the Senate and often accept compromises from the upper chamber.

In the case of the George bill,
the shoe appeared on the other foot.
The House was a few days slow to realize the situation, but when opponents of Wallace in the south wing of the capitol did wake up, they saw that a little fingering might block the Wallace confirmation.

Parliamentary procedures are pretty dull, but briefly the idea was to burden the George bill with amendments which would not be acceptable to the Senate.

The Senate thus would have to vote on the confirmation of Wallace with all Commerce, lending powers intact. Observers and

The Sun Comes Up Like Thunder--

Capitol Hill strategists were confident that if that were the case
Wallace would be turned down.
The Wallace backers didn't fail to appreciate the situation. Led by Speaker Rayburn, they came out immediately for an amendment to remove the secretary of commerce from the Support-Import Bank board, hoping this would clear the way for Senate confirmation of Wallace on March 1.

A good many battles which have been fought on the home front between the administration and opponents have broken precedents.
None has been more unusual than this, which placed the House in the position of saying whether a cabinet nominee would be confirmed.
Several students of Congress are certain it never happened before.
For whatever happens to Wallace now, the whole of Congress must be responsible.

THE WAR TODAY

Employment of the total Allied air strength against Japan may give us a better test than we yet have had of how close air power can come to winning a war on its own. I hasten to add that obviously air power can't win alone, but it certainly will be a major factor in succeeding Japan.

We await with confidence the outcome of this engagement which Admiral Nimitz tells us has long been planned and which "fulfills the deeply cherished desire of every officer and man of the Pacific fleet."
The Japanese themselves announce soberly that waves of American carrier planes raided airfields around Tokyo for nine hours today. That means the defense was unable to cope with our assault.

There's another aspect of this great show to which I direct your attention. Subsidiary to the assault on Japan there is another attack on

Swift Commends Local Employees

Employees of Swift & Company in Greenville today won the praise of John Holmes, president, for their contribution to the company's record-breaking production and distribution of food and other products
during the past year.

Holmes gave this praise in his annual message in a special report to employees released by Mr. John G. Fleming, local Swift manager.

The report contained the names of all local employees with more than twenty years of service with the company and referred also to the seven employees who have gone from the Greenville organization into the armed forces.

Mr. Holmes told employees the company plans to improve its facilities at a number of plants and will expand along certain lines after the war.

The company's post-war change-over in its manufacturing operations will be relatively simple, he pointed out.

"This does not mean, however, that the post war period will present no difficult problems," he said.
"There will be need for new products, new processes of manufacture, and new selling and distributive methods."

"Our company will endeavor, so far as possible, to provide employment for all Swift employees upon their return from war service. Its first obligation, however, is to reinstate all of its regular employees.
Special steps already have been taken to that end, including returning service men and women that will make use of their new abilities and skills, and also to place handicapped veterans."

Today On The...

And the biggest change that took place among them was the shift from farm to factory, particularly munitions factories.

They've made their greatest employment gains in those industries and areas where the adjustments after the war will be most severe.

And says the Labor Department:
"The extent to which these gains can be retained will be largely dependent upon the maintenance of a high level of post-war employment."

Which means that if there are plenty of jobs for everybody, the negroes will have jobs. If not—what? They'll undoubtedly suffer first and most from unemployment.

Just as with the men, the most pronounced shift among the negro women was from the farm to the factory and perhaps that's why so many white women felt that negro maids were deserting them for war jobs.

Actually, as the figures show, they weren't. More negro women were working as maids than ever before.
But few enough of them left the farm for domestic work to make up the gap left by those 400,000 white domestics who quit doing maids' work.

Grain Market

Chicago, Feb. 16—(AP)—Grain futures were firm to strong today with wheat and rye gaining two cents or more at times and the remainder of the list holding sharply higher. Short coverings, commission house buying and a scarcity of offerings except on the bulges accounted for the advance.

STOCK LEAD, 16
New York, Feb. 16—(AP)—Assorted stocks reached for new 7-year highs in today's market although many leaders were hampered by profit cashing on the lengthy advance.

Dealings, fast in the forenoon when blocks of low-quoted issues ran to 10,000 shares or so, tapered after midday but turnover for the full proceedings was around the 2,000,000-share level. While minus signs were plentiful near the close, gains of fractions to 3 points were well distributed.

SEEK TO CLEAR WAY FOR VOTE

Wallace Control Still Hangs In Balance

Washington, Feb. 16—(AP)—The House passed and sent to President Roosevelt today legislation intended to clear the way for Henry A. Wallace to become secretary of a trimmed-down Commerce Department.

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Washington, Feb. 16—(AP)—The government future of Henry A. Wallace swung in the balance today, as the house met for a final vote on legislation intended to make way for him to become secretary of a trimmed-down Commerce Department.

An air of great uncertainty pervaded Capitol Hill, on how the voting will go.

The Democratic majority barely soukened through by 10 votes yesterday. The count was 292 to 192 as solid Republican ranks and a flying squadron of southern Democrats forced a test on the senate-passed George bill, attempting to sweep the measure off the floor without further ado.

A shift of six votes would have thrown Wallace's future into further confusion.

Anti-administration southerners were split yesterday. But Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), who usually spearheads the anti-administration coalition, predicted a sufficient number would swing over later to shelve the bill. On the other hand, Rep. Ramspeck (D-Ga.), Democratic whip, said the lines would hold to save the bill.

The senate bill, authorized by Senator George (D-Ga.), rises the multi-billion dollar Reconstruction Finance Corporation out of the Commerce Department, prior to a senate vote on confirmation of the former vice president as commerce secretary.

By defeating or shelving the legislation, passed by the senate 74 to 12, the house anti-Wallace forces hoped to bring about outright rejection of Wallace for Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet. Their strategy is to force the senate to vote on his confirmation for the joint post as commerce secretary and RFC admin-

GIVES TALK ON HONESTY

Founder Of Penney Stores Stresses Golden Rule To Audience At City Hall Yesterday

By CHESTER WALSH
"Much of the difficulty in the world of business is due to the fact that too many people are trying to get material gain without giving their best, or by foisting unfair values upon the public," said J. C. Penney, founder of the J. C. Penney Company and philanthropist, to a representative audience of business and professional men and women yesterday. "When we discuss honesty in the abstract there is no difference of opinion," he said.

The man who, with $2,000-$1,500 of it borrowed, opened a store in a small Wyoming mining town that has grown to a chain store system of 1,600 outlets, spoke in Greenville under the auspices of the Layman's Movement for a Christian World, Inc., of New York. He was accompanied by Weyman C. Huckabee, secretary of the Layman's

Movement. Mr. Penney recited interesting events of his life while establishing himself the "hard way."
"All that I am or ever hope to be, I owe it to my father and mother," he said. His father was a clergyman and businessman. "The uniformity of my father's life in business matters, helped to strengthen my faith in God when tragedy all but overwhelmed. If it is possible to live the Christian life at any point it is possible to live the Christian life in all relationships of society and business, according to the Golden Rule."

Mr. Penney's policy in life is belief that preparation wins; that hard work wins; that honesty wins; that confidence in man wins, and that the practical application of the Golden Rule wins.

After having built a chain of 1,600 department stores with outlets in every State of the union, Penney has turned his activities to the interlocking of Christianity and business, he said.

"I have built the stores on a basis of trust," he said. "No employee of the chain is under bond, not even the treasurer of the company, who handles hundreds of millions of dollars. We give our men careful training, shoulder them with responsibilities and share profits with them. Then we give them trust, and they very seldom fail us."

"We need to merchandise in religion. We go to church, but we do not apply Christian principles in our workaday lives." Mr. Penney said. "Practical application of the Golden Rule in business pays immense dividends; its application to every problem of life pays, and practical Christianity in postwar problems will play a vital part in shaping the future."

J. Herbert Waldrop, cashier of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, presided over the meeting. June H. Rose led the singing of "America." W. E. Hooker said the invocation. Mayor Bruce Sugg delivered a message of welcome. Mr. Waldrop said application of the Golden Rule had prompted Greenville people to provide the welcome for Mr. Penney and Secretary Weyman C. Huckabee, who accompanied him here. Mr. Huckabee in introducing Mr. Penney explained that he is devoting much of his time to furthering the work of the Layman's Movement for a Christian World.

At a luncheon at the Olde Towne Inn yesterday at noon in honor of Mr. Penney, he recited some interesting incidents of his early struggles for business success. He expressed pleasure for the reception given him in Greenville.

"I learned that I could hire men to do the job better than I when I opened my first store 43 years ago. I also learned that it pays to be unselfish from principle and to apply Christianity in everyday life," he said.

Weyman C. Huckabee, secretary of the Layman's Movement for a Christian World, Inc., New York City, introduced the speaker. Mr. Waldrop was master of ceremonies. In addition to Mr. Penney, Mr. Huckabee and Mr. Waldrop the following guests were present: O. E. Dowd, Lions club; J. W. Overton, Rotary club; Guy V. Smith, Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Viola Baker, Business and Professional Women's club; W. H. Woolard, president Guaranty Bank and Trust Company; E. Graham Flanagan, Ford representative; Dr. J. M. Barrett, Kiwanis club; R. C. Rankin, Tobacco Board of Trade; Dr. Robert P. Boyd, Ministerial Association; S. T. White, head of White's Stores; Mrs. Cora S. Powell, Merchants' Association; Charles R. McBrayer, manager of Penney's Greenville store, president of the Merchants' Association and president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Everett Blake and J. O. Ormsby, managers of J. C. Penney stores in Wilson and New Bern, respectively, and Chester Walsh, Daily Reflector.

Phantoms Play Wilson Monday

By DAVE CLARK
Coach Snag Clark's hard luck Phantoms take the hardwood once more here Monday night against the Wilson Cyclones after losing a tough one to the Raleigh Caps last Tuesday.

The Phantoms met the Cycles earlier in the season in Wilson and were edged out in another one of those close battles, which, by the way, the Greensies have lost three of this season, by the score of 2-24. They will really be out for revenge this time.

The Phantoms should be bouncing back after being beaten by Raleigh and ready to trounce any team they play. Wilson has a scrappy five, but it has lost some of its key men. The Cycles were beaten by the weak Fayetteville team 23-20 last Tuesday night.

The Greensies are expecting a real battle, however, since they know that Raleigh defeated the Wilsonians by only one point.

Nimitz Sinking . . .

1. The probability of blockading it into a condition for eventual invasion.

2. Continuous pounding to reduce its airplane factories to ruins.

Rocket and bomb-bearing Hellcats and Helldivers, swinging over Tokyo's 214 square miles, tore into airfields and military defense zones at 7 a. m. Japanese time. They tangled over the city with the Japanese air force in fierce sky fights.

Mitscher appeared bent on knocking out the bulk of Japan's home-based air force as his immediate objective. How well he can do that is suggested by the carrier air arm's achievements in January in destroying nearly 800 Nipponese aircraft in sweeps from Saigo, French Indo-China. During 1944, carrier planes destroyed 6,650 enemy aircraft.

"This operation has long been planned and the opportunity to accomplish it fulfills the deeply cherished desire of every officer and man of the Pacific fleet," exultantly announced five-star Adm. Chester W. Nimitz at his new Guam headquarters, within 1,500 miles of Tokyo.

To Mitscher, whose carriers began the westward sweep in January, 1944, in the Marshalls, went the honor of completing the last mile of the 4,000 to Tokyo from Pearl Harbor where Japanese carriers opened the war Dec. 7, 1941.

The close approach to Japan by the largest mass of American warships and carriers ever assembled flung a challenge at the Nipponese fleet. There was no indication it had been accepted.

Tokyo radio, confirming the attack, gave the homeland the hazy assurance that their air force was parrying the assault. By Tokyo's own admission, the Japanese fleet had full opportunity to move out and meet the American armada. Broadcasts acknowledged "enemy surface movements have been observed during the past few days."

Vern Haugland, Associated Press correspondent who saw the Giant fleet assemble for the Tokyo mission, described it as "the largest war fleet in history."

It includes the largest and newest aircraft carriers, battleships, light carriers, escort carriers, cruisers and destroyers.

It packs a wallop with "considerably more than 1,200 planes," Haugland disclosed.

Hundreds of warships and refueling units are participating. The warships have literally thousands of anti-aircraft guns to protect them against the best the Japanese air force can offer.

Cole's Hot Blast Heaters and Circulators
Remember cold weather is not over yet.

I bought a Cole
COLE'S COAL-BURNING
Heaters and Circulators $29.50 to $89.50

because . . .
ONLY THE BEST IS GOOD ENOUGH FOR MY FAMILY . . . that's what proud COLE owners are saying. That's what you will say when you own one. Come in and see these modern heaters that eliminate cold floor drafts. Notice the top-feed feature that prevents spilling coal or coal-dust on the floor. And remember, a COLE gives more heat with less fuel than any other stove of the same size fire-pot.
