HIMMLER OFFERS TO SURRENDER

Revolt In Munich Reported As Allies Move On City

Allied Armies Smashing Into Southern Redoubt

Disintegration of German Armies Continues; Captured Nazi General Says Hitler Will Die In Berlin In A Few Days And The War Will Be Over

By AUSTIN BEALMER Paris, April 28.—(AP)—The American Seventh Army closed today within 25 miles of Munich and broadcasts from that Nazi citadel said a revolt was seething in the city.

Augsburg, third city of Bavaria, fell to Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's troops. The Seventh Army reached the Austrian frontier at Pussen, 55 miles over the towering Alps from the Brenner Pass after charging 45 miles into the western end of the German national redoubt.

Three armies were advancing on Munich and threatening to encircle the city, third largest in Germany.

Gen. Patton sent U. S. Third Army Infantry 31 miles north of the city while his tank divisions moved down the Danube Valley toward an imminent junction with the Russians west of Vienna to seal off Czechoslovakia and carve bisected Germany into three death traps.

The French First Army was 40 miles southwest of Munich and deep in the Nazi redoubt. The closest approach to Munich was from the west by the British Second Army.

Third Army troops were chattering back and forth by radio with Russians in Austria. At last reports, the Americans were barely 25 miles from Linz, one of Hitler's favorite cities and on the last intact route into the redoubt from the Pilsen-Prague munitions area.

Germany was cut in two in the center and the Russians reported new junctions with American forces on the Elbe. The iron band between the southern and northern German pockets was perhaps 50 miles wide.

Gen. Patton's tanks beat down the Danube Valley toward an imminent new meeting with the Russians west of Vienna in a drive that will encircle Czechoslovakia and trisect Germany. The armies were in radio contact.

Patton's 86th Division drove within 31 miles of Munich from the north, entering Rohrbach. The Seventh Army captured Augsburg, 32 miles northwest, and moved within 26 miles of Munich in the area beyond Landsberg to the south of Augsburg.

BERLIN'S FALL IS IMMINENT

Nazis Offering Suicidal Resistance As Russians Reduce City To Rubble

By RICHARD KASISCHKE London, April 28.—(AP)—The German high command declared today that Soviet troops had crashed through Berlin's inner defense ring and were fighting on Alexanderplatz, site of gestapo headquarters.

Nazi planes were flying in reinforcements, food and ammunition to the fanatical garrison, the German communiqué said.

German armies facing the Americans on the Elbe have been withdrawn in an attempt to relieve the capital, the war bulletin said. Earlier, the Germans said a relief army was nearing Berlin from a Russian trap to the southeast.

Only one-quarter of the flaming, crumbling city remained in Nazi hands. Soviet troops were boring in block by block, and other divisions sped westward in a push to isolate the last Nazi Baltic ports.

Russian correspondents in Berlin declared trapped Germans were trying to escape in wholesale fashion. German officers could not halt the suicidal resistance because of Nazi SS "overlords," the correspondents added.

These front dispatches said many Nazis were discarding uniforms for civilian clothes. The broadcast German communiqué said the Russians had made new penetrations from the north in Charlottenburg, and from the south across Tempelhof airdrome, with "fighting for the center of the city begun on Alexanderplatz and at Hiesches Tor."

The Alexanderplatz runs through the heart of Berlin, and was a principal commercial center of the Reich capital.

Collect Old Paper For War Purposes

Scrap paper drives will be held in Greenville and Winterville Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Junior Chamber of Commerce and Boy Scouts will make the house-to-house collection here. The fire department, under Chief George Cox, will collect paper in Winterville.

Householders and business houses are requested to put paper out front to facilitate collection.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Associated Press War Analyst)

Shortly after the historic junction of the Allied forces in Germany was announced in the capitals of the big three, a keen follower of the war news remarked cheerily to your columnist: "Well, this looks like the end."

Unfortunately that's a wrong conclusion, and one which can lead to much disappointment. This joining up of the western allies and the Red army is a great moment which certainly will register on Allied and enemy minds alike as signalling an early victory—but it isn't the end of the war.

True, if we had the luck to capture or kill Hitler, that might result in a collapse of his followers. But barring this, the indications are that we must keep on until the remaining German pockets of resistance—the North Sea ports, Denmark, Holland, Norway, Hitler's Alpine fortress—have been cleared out by hard fighting.

As the Allies proceed with the kill we shall, I believe, see a startling transformation of the great fighting fronts to which we've become so used that they seem part of our maps. This change will be worth watching, because it will be most unusual if indeed it isn't unique.

Ever since the war started the interminably long Russian battle-line has run from north to south, facing the Germans. These lines have surged back and forth, but always they have been more or less perpendicular. Similarly, since the western Allies reached the Rhenish theater, the fronts have run north and south—perpendicular.

Now see what happens. The junction of the Allies in the heart of Germany has severed the perpendicular Hitlerite front. The perpendicular Allied fronts are now reforming into two approximately horizontal fronts, one facing north and the other south, with Czechoslovakia surrounded. Each will be half Russian and half western Allies. The northern front will proceed up towards the sea. The southern front will sweep down against Hitler's redoubt in the Alps.

The two most important immediate objectives naturally are the capture of Berlin and the spiking of the Nazi guns in the Alpine retreat. The military value of Berlin already has been nullified, for while some half million fanatical Nazi troops continue to battle fiercely in the center of the capital, the Russians have them surrounded and all communications there are severed. However, the psychological value of Berlin is immense, for its fall cannot but be a terrific blow to German morale throughout the Reich. It will give the Japs a nasty shock, for that matter.

Berlin is dying hard—but it is in its death throes. The vast metropolis is burning. The two great armies are fighting fiercely from house to house in the heart of the city. In the midst of all this inferno is a civilian population which may run close to three millions. Many of these are dying by violence, and undoubtedly the casualties from privation will be heavy, for the people are cut off from food and even water in many sections.

Thousands of pounds of clothing donated here for the people of war-ravaged countries during the National United Clothing Collection are at the armory awaiting sorting and packing. Sen. Arthur B. PROGRESS IN PHILIPPINES

Yanks Also Pushing Ahead On Okinawa

By FRED HAMPSON Manila, April 28.—(AP)—Embattled Yanks inched forward Friday on three major Philippine fronts—Baguio, Balete and central Luzon—and raced ahead against little opposition in a fourth sector, the approaches to Davao, on Mindanao island.

They smashed forward slightly against the continuing strong resistance from the Japanese defenders. Baguio, the Philippine summer capital.

The Yanks said they could see hundreds of civilians, who had been unable to get through the lines and out of danger in the city.

Some of the skirmishes in that area were fought well up in the mountains, above the clouds, and soldiers were wearing field jackets for the first time in this phase of the Pacific war.

In another laborious gain, the 25th division attacking Thursday night won a height overlooking Balete pass, the bottleneck to which the Nipponese have been clinging grimly as an avenue of escape from central Luzon to the Cagayan valley on the northern part of the island. Overcoming strong resistance, the Yanks at Balete captured five enemy tanks intact and turned them on the enemy. They sealed many cave positions, one containing a 70 mm. gun.

Little Nations Begin Fight For More Power

San Francisco Conference Gets Down To Real Business After Compromise Over Chairmanships

By The Associated Press The United Nations today. Two plenary sessions for speeches by delegation leaders. (10:30 a. m. Pacific War Time—1:30 p. m. Eastern War Time—and 3:30 p. m. P. C. W.)

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER San Francisco, April 28.—(AP)—More closeknit themselves, the Big Four managing this United Nations Conference today ran into a small organization challenge of a world organization dominated by major Allied war victors.

Spokesmen for Australia, Belgium and Bolivia urged more responsible roles for the world's smaller states. Their action signalled the long expected effort to shift the balance between the great and the small.

One immediate success of this pressure was expansion of the conference executive committee from 11 to 14 members. Now the small-state group aims at increasing the memberships on the world security council beyond the 11 proposed at Dumbarton Oaks.

As constituted by the 46-nation conference, the executive committee includes the Big-Three—China and France, which are to have permanent security council seats, and these other countries: Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Czechoslovakia, Iran, Mexico, Holland and Yugoslavia.

Hedging Against Inflation

Babson Discusses Twenty Big Industries

Babson Park, Mass., April 28.—On a recent vacation in Florida, I had time to study America's greatest industries with special thought as to their safety for postwar investments.

The Big Five 1. The industry, best able to meet inflation, should be retail trade. Those concerns having a book value approximately equal to the selling price of their stocks are to be preferred. The variety chains should be safest of all.

2. The oil group should come next in order. With these should be included certain metal shares although I do not like the coppers. Probably the greatest gamble, for good or ill, are the gold stocks.

3. The chemical industry should emerge from the war a leading postwar industry when the pharmaceutical group is included. Many new miracles are still in the laboratory stage.

4. The electrical equipment industry, including electronics and plastics, offers attractive fields, especially for returning servicemen.

5. Aviation should be included with the "big five", although its future is somewhat uncertain. I like best the transport companies; but their stocks now seem high compared with those of the airplane manufacturers.

An Investment Group 6. The paper and container industry should have better days ahead.

Americans In Italy Reach Swiss Border

Milan Radio Says German Commanders Trying To Negotiate For General Surrender Of All Forces In Italy

Rome, April 28.—(AP)—American troops, striking across the Po Valley and into the Alps, reached the Swiss border today and cut off all Northwestern Italy from exits to Germany, the Milan National Liberation radio reported today.

By MAURICE MORAN Rome, April 28.—(AP)—U. S. Fifth Army troops racing northward past the Po Valley were approaching Bergamo, strategic communications center only 30 miles from the Swiss border today.

(A Milan radio broadcast said United States troops had reached the Swiss border.)

The reaching of Bergamo, 125 miles southwest of the Brenner Pass, would outflank Milan, 26 miles to the southwest, and put Allied troops almost at the southern tip of Lake Como.

The Americans earlier had spearheaded close to Bergamo, 125 miles southwest of the Brenner Pass and 30 miles from the border in a swift dash to outflank Milan, 26 miles to the southwest. This placed the Fifth Army almost at the southern tip of Lake Como.

A First Armored Division spearhead that seized the Ghedi airport near Bergamo in a 31 mile advance moved on the field so fast a German sergeant assigned to blow the installations was captured before he could touch off a fuse.

On the Ligurian coast a special task force entered Pontremoli, 20 miles north of La Spezia, en route to Parma, Allied headquarters disclosed.

Other Fifth Army troops smashed into the great port of Genoa. The "Free Milan" radio declared German commanders were endeavoring to negotiate a general surrender of their hopelessly trapped forces in Northern Italy.

British Eighth Army units were mopping up a number of isolated enemy pockets south of the Adige River, but met determined resistance from positions north of the river.

Fifth Army troops north and south of the Po River continued their pursuit of the enemy against light, scattered resistance. Some enemy positions and fortifications were found abandoned.

The First Armored Division spearhead scored the greatest advance on the Fifth Army sector, rolling forward about 31 miles and capturing the airport near Bergamo.

The Eighth Army was meeting stubborn resistance along the so-called Adige or Venetian line, where the enemy was expected to rally remnants of his disorganized forces.

Suffers Stroke Stockholm, April 28.—(AP)—The newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, quoting "reliable circles," said today that Hitler had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage and was near death inside Berlin.

Churchill Neither Confirms Nor Denies Report But Declares That The Terms Are Still Unconditional Surrender To All Of Big Three Powers

Frustrated

London, April 28.—(AP)—Heinrich Himmler was reported today to have offered unconditional surrender to Great Britain and the United States, but Prime Minister Churchill in a special statement declared that only unconditional surrender to all three big powers would be accepted by the Allies.

The Prime Minister neither confirmed nor denied reports that surrender had been offered to the two western Allies, but not to Russia. Churchill declared:

"It has been reported by Reuters that unconditional surrender was offered by Himmler to Britain and the United States only. Further, that Britain and the United States have replied saying they will not accept any surrender except to all the Allies, including Russia.

"No doubt at a time like this all kinds of reports of proposals for German surrender from various parts of the German Reich are rife, as these are in harmony with the enemy's desperate situation.

"His Majesty's government have no information to give about any of these proposals. But it must be emphasized that only unconditional surrender to the three major powers will be entertained, and that closest accord prevails between the three powers."

Unofficial reports of a German unconditional surrender offer to Britain and the United States were published prominently in the British press today.

(The Allied-controlled Luxembourg radio, as heard by the PCO, said Heinrich Himmler had offered surrender.)

"Here is a special message," the broadcast said. "The following message has been conveyed to the foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain and Russia:

"(Heinrich Himmler has sent a message in which he guarantees the unconditional surrender of Germany to the United States and Great Britain. The governments of the United States and of Great Britain have replied that unconditional surrender will be accepted only if the offer is addressed to all the Allies.)"

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW

San Francisco, April 28.—(AP)—If someone tossed a hand grenade in the San Francisco opera house, it would be one of the worst explosions of history.

The reason: some of the highest officials of 46 nations—here to set up a league to prevent future wars—meet in the opera house. But things have been done to take real care of them.

There's plenty of security for the conference on security.

There are on guard the San Francisco city police, the California state police, the army, navy, FBI, the secret service, postal inspectors, special agents of the State Department and police officials brought in from other states.

Before the conference opened, the opera house was checked by the army for hidden mines. Daily it is checked to see that everyone leaves after the sessions and that no one sneaks in.

A battalion of military police guards all doors, checks all people entering to see that they have the proper passes, that they carry no suspicious articles.

If anyone looks bulky, he's searched. The delegates are whipped along in army cars from their hotels to the meeting place through special streets which are guarded by military police.

The whole area of the meeting has been roped off and no one—including automobiles or taxis—can enter without proper credentials.

And yet one secret service man, gazing down from a box on the bald heads of the diplomats, said pesti-

mistically: "This place is wide open."

All the precautions will be successful only if the conference ends without incident or accident.

The State Department men—under the leadership of Tom Pritch—former post office inspector—have established a special room in each of the big hotels.

There Pritch's men, city police, military police and navy shore patrol operate. The reason:

Suppose one of the delegates getting tipped in a barroom, got into a brawl with a civilian or a soldier. If it was with a civilian, the State Department men and city police would straighten it out.

It would hardly be diplomatic hospitality to jail a delegate for a fight. If it was a brawl with a soldier or sailor, the military police and navy shore patrol would straighten out that jam.

There have been persistent rumors here that government agents have disguised themselves as bell boys and waiters. Officials deny this. But they say this:

Every employe of every hotel has been checked to see that he is beyond suspicion. And only employes of long-standing are allowed to work on the floors where the delegates (Continued on Page Two)

ANGELS How long has it been since you heard a sermon on angels? Years.

But the Bible is very definite in its teaching about angels. They are spoken about several hundred times.

The word "angel" means "messenger." The angels are God's messengers, carrying out His will.

THE WAR TODAY

From the east the Red army is approaching the outer defenses of the Hitlerian nest through Austria, elements of the American Third and Seventh armies and the French First Army are sweeping in from the Rhineland theater.

Operations of the First and Ninth armies along the Elbe were mostly blocked out, and the Russians said little of the campaigns around the south and north pockets.

The Russian capture of Wittenberg, 26 miles northwest of Torgau and 17 east of American-held Dessau, suggested that the corridor between the southern and northern redoubts might be 50 miles wide by now.

Both Konev and Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov, commander of the First White Russian Army group reducing Berlin were filling out the occupation of Germany up to the Elbe on the fronts opposite the First and Ninth armies.

Konev's armies reported sharp fighting in the Dresden area.

Today On The...

Police experts from other states—eight of them—have been brought in to do various jobs of protecting the conference, including this: looking out for pickpockets.

Besides that, the army is taking no chances on air raids by the Japanese with a plane launched from a submarine.

There are anti-aircraft guns and crews on rooftops all around San Francisco.

But the protection given here is only the tail-end of the security job.

Fitch's men traveled across the country on every train that brought delegates here. They met planes, at airports all over the country, which brought delegates in.

As for the food the delegates eat in the big hotels: the cooks have been checked.

And perhaps the delegates themselves are not without fear that anything could happen.

Soviet Commissar Molotov wanted an armored car, when he arrived here to ride from his hotel to the delegates' meeting place. There was none available.

All the while, however, the protecting officials stay in the background and you probably wouldn't notice them unless you looked for them.

Anyone entering the meeting place has to show credentials several times. Fitch has told his men: "Don't be trigger-happy. Don't pull any guns unless it's necessary. But use them if you have to. That's why you were given guns instead of feather dusters."

The German high command reported that a relief army was "rapidly nearing" the ruined and flame-swept city after breaking out of a Russian trap to the southeast. However, such an escape appeared highly improbable since the Soviets moved strong forces out of that area for a twin offensive toward Hamburg, Rostock and other port cities, and toward a second linkup with American troops on the middle Elbe.

While the Reds hammered out gains of a mile and more around the city's bomb-pulverized inner core of 49 square miles, the Nazis' fading radios concealed the situation as "critical" and said the battle of Berlin would decide the war.

Nazi propaganda insisted that Hitler was still in the surrounded capital, from which escape by air was cut off with the fall of Tempelhof airbase yesterday. Moscow ridiculed the story, but Swedish dispatches said the fuhrer's headquarters were established in a fortified underground hideout in the famous zoological gardens. Enemy broadcasts admitted that Russians fighting in the poisonous working class section of Moabit were threatening the gardens' outer fringes.

As the eight-day-old battle neared its dramatic climax, Nazi radios called on Berlin's mothers to take up arms and a Moscow dispatch said brigades of women snipers already were in action. Aged men, small children, clerks, teachers and other unskilled fighters also were reported.

Soviet writers said tricky Nazi storm troopers were camouflaging themselves in civilian clothes but continuing the battle. "Hardly a building" was still intact, a Russian war correspondent reported, and food supplies were steadily running out. A Soviet writer said the spring sun over the city was blacked out "from the dust of hundreds of thousands of houses breaking asunder."

The ruin was so vast, Moscow said that the enemy was unable to house his wounded. Dogfights raged in the smoke-laden sky as Soviet planes battled the feeble remnants of the German airforce.

Tells Of...

(Continued from page one) such things in a civilized community, we used to say. "April 13, 1945, will be remembered by me for as long as I live. It was the day (today) that I first realized the true reason I was fighting. It was April 13 that I saw a German concentration camp.

"I tried to describe the scenes I saw. Nevertheless I will try. "Along with me came five other American soldiers. We rode in a jeep. Before we arrived at the concentration camp (or better still—murder house), we were smiling, but you should have seen the smiles vanish when we saw our first row of starved Poles, Jews and Russians.

It was horrible! Human beings lying naked—row upon row—on the grounds of the camp. What mutilation, broken bones and charred bodies. It was evident (even though the lives ones told us the full story) that they all died of malnutrition. I saw thousands of them. The stench that filled the air was sickening. If only the people who don't realize why we fight could see this sight!

The concentration camp was located near railroad yards of a city whose name I can't mention. Can you imagine that—a concentration camp ten blocks from a large city. The buildings were yellow, they looked like cement houses. The crematorium was conveniently located near the buildings where the inmates ate, slept and, shall I say, existed. A Pole I spoke to said the crematorium had already disposed of 7,000. I saw some bodies so fresh rigor-mortis hadn't even set in.

"Little will America ever realize what was in store for them had the Nazis overrun our country."

Girl Scout News

Greenville Girl Scouts are getting their plans made to go down to Camp Hardee for the next few Saturdays getting in the swing of a real camp season in the summer beginning June 15 and running for a six weeks' session. This will make three two-week periods for campers to apply for a cot to dream on under the stars and listen to the Pamlico wash up on the shore.

There may be some scout who does not have an application blank on hand, and one needs such an implement please call the Girl Scout office, 222, and one will be promptly mailed, and we want every scout in Greenville who desires to have a part in our own camp this summer to go. Mr. Hardee was a very generous man to give us such a gift, to enable us to build that lodge, infirmary, and get those wonderful tents that campers are so crazy about. Then the Greenville citizens got their noses together and bought the land to build on. Greenville scouts and patrons surely support their own camp and take great pride in the fact that we have one. Many scouts from Eastern Carolina write in every day wanting to know if they can come to our camp. It so happens that there are only eight more cots for Brownies in the first period and seven more vacancies for our scouts. So if you want to go to Camp Hardee please do not put off getting your application in to the Girl Scout office, so that you will get your desired place. In the mail yesterday Pavetteville wanted 16 reservations at one time. Many more requests like that, and there will be a closed book on applications to the camp.

Camp dates—First period, June 15-29; second period, June 29-July 13; third period, July 13-27. For Greenville scouts register an application blank in folder with $1.00 other goods apply with $2 application fee. Registration fee, for board, due upon arrival at camp, $25 for two weeks. Health certificate, filed in by physician a week before camp, is to be brought to camp with the camper.

ter the war. This applies to agricultural machinery and perhaps to railroad equipment. The immediate postwar future of office equipment depends upon what the Allied governments do with their surpluses.

Industries to Avoid 16. The machine tool industry has had and passed its honeymoon. 17. Certain public utility stocks being, or to be, liquidated, have profit possibilities; but the bloom is off of the rest of the group. 18. Profits of the coal industry should severely decline after the war. This especially applies to the anthracite companies. 19. It seems as if the receipts of the motion picture industry would fall off after the war if television becomes universal. 20. The worst of all industries is likely to be the railroad industry, including perhaps hotels, etc. Beware of the rails!

THE WAR TODAY

From the east the Red army is approaching the outer defenses of the Hitlerian nest through Austria, elements of the American Third and Seventh armies and the French First Army are sweeping in from the Rhineland theater.

Operations of the First and Ninth armies along the Elbe were mostly blocked out, and the Russians said little of the campaigns around the south and north pockets.

The Russian capture of Wittenberg, 26 miles northwest of Torgau and 17 east of American-held Dessau, suggested that the corridor between the southern and northern redoubts might be 50 miles wide by now.

Both Konev and Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov, commander of the First White Russian Army group reducing Berlin were filling out the occupation of Germany up to the Elbe on the fronts opposite the First and Ninth armies.

Konev's armies reported sharp fighting in the Dresden area.

Little Nations...

2. Under Anglo-American insistence, the steering committee refused to complicate management of conference work by having rotating chairmanships for the key executive and steering committees. Molotov finally agreed that Eden, Song and he would "delegate" their authority to Stettinius for this job. That made the American secretary in fact the chief of those committees.

3. The Russian proposal to include the White Russian and Ukrainian Soviets in the proposed world assembly of nations went through without a hitch. Stettinius endorsed it under specific instructions from President Truman to carry out the pledge which the late President Roosevelt made to Premier Stalin at the Yalta Big-Three meeting.

4. A proposal made by Molotov to seat the present Warsaw government at this conference was talked down, outmaneuvered and finally smothered under a resolution, which the conference approved, telling the Big-Three to settle their differences over Poland and expressing hope it would be done before this conference ends.

S. forces at Okinawa for several days, their mainland staging bases in southern Kyushu having been under steady bombing by Marianas-based Superforts, carried planes and Iwo-Jima-based fighters.

Hitting in good weather, at medium altitude, from 100 to 150 Superforts again struck at Kyushu's main airfields today. It was the third raid in 48 hours and the 10th in the past month.

Capture of three key hills in the center of the southern Okinawa front places American troops in a dominating position for the drive on the two airstrips.

Marine Corsair fighter pilots bombed Japanese gun emplacements near Machinato airfield which were shelling U. S. ambulances evacuating wounded.

Units of Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh division killed more than 150 Japanese withdrawing supplies from caves. Those refusing to surrender were sealed in their lairs by heavy explosions.

Associated Press Correspondent James Lindsay said Japanese shelled the Katana airfield area for the first time in a week, pitching 200 rounds of artillery shells on one 96th division area and 70 rounds into a 27th division sector.

Nimitz, after announcing Japan's new secret weapon—a 19-foot wing human-guided aerial bomb released from a mother plane—made no mention of it today. It was first used against American ships April 12. Sailors promptly dubbed the secret weapon "Baka Bomb"—baka coming from the Japanese word meaning fool.

Chatham Book Club.

Mrs. Frank Bendall gave a most timely and helpful paper on "How to Operate a House Without a Servant" before the Chatham Book Club when it met last Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Durwood Tucker at her home on West Fourth street.

"Keeping house successfully," said Mrs. Bendall, "without a servant demands that all tasks be divided into three classes: (1) those that must be done; (2) those to do if time permits; and (3) those that can be eliminated." With the aid of modern labor-saving devices the work that must be done can be accomplished so as to leave the homemaker with some leisure in which to pursue social contacts and intellectual interests. This bit of leisure she must insist on lest she become just a housekeeper. Well-planned housework can keep a woman fit, not fatigued. Mrs. Bendall begged that women dignify homemaking by raising it to the level of a profession or trade.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. Will Moore, the president. Eighteen members and one visitor, Mrs. Harvey Clayton, a former member from Wilson, were present. The hostess served a sweet course before the program.

Eighth Street Christian Church.

The emphasis in the worship services at the Eighth Street Christian Church tomorrow will be on Christian Education. We are glad at this time to pay a special tribute to the large group of men and women and young people who give much time voluntarily to this great cause of Christian Education. All officers and teachers in the Sunday school are urged to be present for the service tomorrow.

The Eighth Street Church is announcing a special series of evangelistic services during the week May 6-13, with Dr. R. H. Crossfield as special speaker. He is well known in Greenville, having served as an interim pastor at the Eighth Street Church for several months just prior to the coming of the present pastor, Dr. Crossfield is a strong Gospel preacher, as well as a delightful personality, world traveler and lecturer on world conditions. The community is invited to hear him each evening at 8 o'clock during the week of May 6-13.

On next Sunday morning the church is inviting members of the Red Oak Christian Church to worship with us in the annual observance of "Rural Life Day" throughout the congregation will bring their dinners to the church and we shall share the Sunday dinner together with our guests in the basement of the church.

Immanuel Baptist Church.

Members and friends are invited to attend Sunday school and worship Sunday morning and a special service of baptism at 8 p. m., at the Immanuel Baptist Church.

Sunday is being observed as Intermediate Day in the observance of the Southern Baptist Centennial Crusade. We welcome all intermediates to all services. At the morning hour the pastor preaches on the theme "God and Circumstances."

Sunday marks the close of our current series of broadcasts over WGTC; however, we are happy to announce the special program of broadcasts at 2:15 p. m. from WGTC of the Southern Baptist Centennial program which has been transcribed for radio. This program is due to begin Monday, April 30, and continue Monday through Friday for two weeks.

We invite all Christian friends to remember in prayer one of our members that has been reported missing in action, Opl. Kenneth L. Henderson. Two others of the members of this church have also been reported missing, but one was announced as being a prisoner of war, Lt. Edgar Denton. From Lt. R. O. Everett we have not heard directly, but we are continuing in prayer for him and all others of these boys. If you believe in prayer, join with others in praying for their safe-keeping.

The cottage prayer and study hour.

Wednesday is being supported in a fine way. We invite you to join us next Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Wilkerson, Eighth and Evans streets.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, April 28.—(AP)—The stock market climbed to another 8-year average peak today on one of the best Saturday volumes of 1945 with selected rails, motors, steels, liquors and assorted industrials recording advances of fractions to 2 points or more.
The expected quick collapse of the Nazis, loosening of government re-conversion restrictions, forecasts of widespread post-war prosperity and the growing urge of idle investment funds for employment again received the principal credit for extension of the upswing. Transfers for the two hours approximated 800,000 shares.

Highway Commission
Raleigh, April 28.—(AP)—Governor Cherry said today he probably would announce Monday the names of the chairman and 10 members of the State Highway and Public Works Commission.

British Gains
On Burma Front
Calcutta, April 28.—(AP)—British armor, sweeping southward in Burma a distance of 50 miles in 24 hours, has reached a point only 62 miles from Rangoon, the Southeast Asia Command announced today.

Advancing along the Mandalay-Rangoon railway, the armored spearheads were closely followed by British and Indian infantry.
"Guerrilla forces operating on the flank and ahead of our troops are materially assisting the advance," a communique said.
Other forces driving along the east side of the Irrawaddy River are five miles from Allammyo, four miles northeast of Thayetmyo.
In the Taungup area along the west coast the 15th Indian Corps captured two important features from the Japanese after an air strike.

Singing By Massed
Choruses Pleased
Karl V. Gilbert, head of the music department of East Carolina Teachers College, who directed the singing of five massed high school choruses at the Wright building last night, revived the legend that a "singing community" is a progressive community. The boys and girls sang with spirit and feeling and manifested exceptional vocal talent and unusual training. The large audience was pleased and manifested its appreciation by profuse applause.

High schools represented were Kingston, New Bern, Williamston, Rocky Mount and Greenville. The program at the college last night was a fitting climax to "music day" in Greenville.
Following a band clinic at the college at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Earl Slocumb, of the music faculty of the University of North Carolina, the distinguished musician, conducted a program of massed band playing at the court house at 4:30 for an appreciative audience.

Chapel Hill Man
Speaker Kiwanis

of community activities, including the heads of the Woman's Club, Garden Club and other organizations. Marvin K. Blount had charge of the program. President J. M. Barrett presided.
There was rejoicing when General Chairman Ed Rawl, reporting on the recent minstrel, stated that the club netted nearly $1,800 from the two performances and the program advertising. A vote of thanks was given Producer and Director Ed Bloom and others who helped make the show a success.
Club singing last night consisted of singing of some of the minstrel songs.

Sues Railroad
Raleigh, April 28.—(AP)—A suit was on file in U. S. District Court here today by the United States Department of Labor against the Norfolk and Southern Railway Company which was aimed at bringing railroad "learners" and "trainees" under the wage and hour statutes.
