Superforts Put Torch To Industrial City Of Osaka

More Than 450 Giant Bombers Escorted By 150 Mustang Fighters Dropped 3,200 Tons Of incendiaries On Japan's Second Largest City; Huge Fires Raging

By ROBBIN COONS Guam, June 1. (AP)—Great waves of Superforts ignited fires in the manufacturing center of Osaka today that sent smoke billowing 27,000 feet above Japan's most highly industrialized city...

The principal portion of Yokohama is virtually destroyed. B-29 headquarters announced, as returning crews indicated they had left Osaka in the same condition today.

Eighty-six square miles of urban industrial areas of Japanese cities are now known to have been destroyed or heavily damaged by Superfort incendiary attacks.

Semi-official Japanese broadcasts admitted flames started throughout the manufacturing center of Osaka were only "gradually being brought under control."

Smoke over Osaka was so dense that many returning airmen reported they couldn't see the flames. Only light fighter opposition was reported, including antiquated planes, probably because an escort of about 150 Mustangs from two Jima swept in head of the first wave of B-29s.

The few interceptors were so unaggressive that one American gunner described the raid as the second mass fire attack on Osaka, as a sort of a milk run.

Superforts flew through heavy cloud formations and sometimes snow, to reach the city, and began unleashing their flaming destruction by precision instruments through a light haze at 8:35 a. m. (7:35 p. m. Thursday, EWY).

The Japanese concentrated on harbor facilities, warehouses, and the important Sumitomo plant manufacturing dural sheet metal and aircraft propellers. Shipyards, two electrical equipment plants, power stations and Osaka's main railroad station, which is the heart of the city's communications system, also were under fire attack.

Tokyo broadcasts admitted fires raged throughout the northwestern section, where there is the greatest concentration of industries, including the Sumitomo plant, and broke out in nearby Amagasaki.

An Osaka army communique claimed 47 Superforts were shot down and 83 others damaged.

Some returning pilots reported heavy anti-aircraft fire but most of them described it as meager to moderate.

Today's strike was made in broad daylight, in contrast with the last (Continued on Page Four)

Big Three Meet Getting Closer

Washington, June 1. (AP)—President Truman said today that a meeting of the "big three" was getting closer.

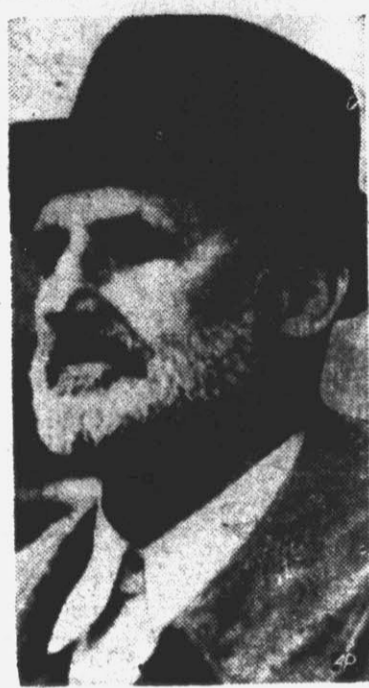

The President told his weekly news conference that a delay in the conclusion of the United Nations conference at San Francisco would not affect in the slightest plans for a meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

Asserting the big three conference was getting closer he said he thought he could say it would take place in the not far distant future.

He said there was a possibility it would take place in this country but that this was by no means a probability.

Resistance On Okinawa Near End

Yanks Pursuing Disorganized Remnants Of Once Powerful Garrison

San Francisco, June 1. (AP)—Japanese headquarters claimed today that continuing air attacks aided by submarines, have sunk 21 American ships and damaged 30 others in Okinawa waters in the last three weeks, but admitted Nipponese ground forces have been unable to halt the U. S. advance on the island 325 miles south of Japan.

American communiques have reported 13 ships none larger than a destroyer, sunk and 44 damaged in two months.

By HAMILTON W. FARON Guam, June 1. (AP)—Organized Japanese resistance on Okinawa appeared to be ended today.

Tenth Army Yanks pursued crippled, disorganized remnants of the Rising Sun's once-powerful island garrison and closed a trap on Shuri town while Radio Tokyo admitted Japanese losses were "gradually increasing."

With Marines on the west and Infantry on the east, the Americans cut through both flanks to isolate the Shuri key point of Japanese defenses and to drive spears on both flanks southward so swiftly the retreating Nipponese were unable to set up new defenses.

Sixth Division Marines completed the mop-up in Naha, former capital city of the island with a population of 66,000, smashing furiously from all directions into remaining pockets.

Japanese Domei news agency, meanwhile, admitted in a dispatch broadcast by Tokyo radio, the "penetration" of Naha by Americans. It termed the situation a "critical development" which compelled Nipponese commanders to withdraw "part of their troops to positions in the rear in order to consolidate their defense lines."

Elements of the Sixth Marine Division, Associated Press War Correspondent Al Dopking reported from the front, were pursuing the "withdrawing" enemy southward toward the mouth of the Kozuba River and toward the Naha-Yonabaru road south of Shuri. Those which did not "withdraw" were either killed or captured.

Radio Tokyo yesterday admitted the Okinawa defense had been split into multiple fronts, but claimed, nevertheless, today that the Japanese still were engaged in "savage hand-to-hand fight" against the Americans with "our men inflicting tremendous bleeding on the enemy."

Three-quarters of the original Nipponese garrison on the important Ryukyu Island have been killed or captured. It appeared certain the remaining 25,000 or fewer Japanese, their line crumbling, will be unable to make a prolonged stand.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported today that of the original Okinawa garrison of 85,000 troops, 61,519 have been killed and 1,353 captured in the two-month campaign. The two-week Yank assault which (Continued on Page Four)

Sgt. Robert Smith Has Been Liberated

Staff Sgt. Robert D. Smith, U. S. Field Artillery, who was reported missing in action in Germany last March 6, has been liberated from a German prisoner of war camp according to a message from the War Department to his sister, Miss Catherine Smith of Fayetteville. The message also stated that Smith had been returned to his own outfit. He entered the armed service in 1941. Sgt. Smith's brother, J. H. Smith, is manager of the Greenville bus station. Another brother, Preston Smith, who lived in Greenville several years, now lives in Fayetteville.

Several Hurt In Train Wreck

Kissimmee, Fla., June 1. (AP)—Wreckage of the Atlantic Coast Line's West Coast Champion which derailed just north of here yesterday was being cleared today with railroad officials estimating another day would be required to complete the task.

The three-unit diesel engine pulling the crack New York to Tampa train left the rails taking a baggage car and five steel coaches with it. The engine overturned and caught fire.

Twenty-seven persons were slightly injured in the wreck, which occurred on a straight stretch. About 400 yards of the single track were ripped up.

J. E. Johnson, electrical superintendent of the train, said he thought the derailment was caused by a split section of track.

U. S. Delegates Seeking To Speed Peace Charter

Committees Grind Ahead On Details As Signs Point To Early Ending Of Conference

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER AP Diplomatic News Editor San Francisco, June 1. (AP)—Prospects for settlement of the Franco-Syrian dispute combined with reports of improved American-Soviet relations today to brighten delegates' hopes for an early, successful windup of the United Nations conference.

Forceful leadership by the sponsoring powers is regarded among United States delegates as the means for shaking the conference out of its legging committee work and whipping the charter for a new league into final shape.

Many delegates are saying privately that the time for action to that end is at hand and the place to begin is among the big five. The United States sought agreement with British, Russian, Chinese and French spokesmen on half a dozen pending questions, and an early meeting of secretary Stettinius with the other four delegation chiefs is expected.

Moscow reaction to a proposed big-five statement on the veto voting issue is due in a day or so. The statement is intended to reassure small nations that the big-power veto could not be used to prevent their getting at least a preliminary hearing before the prospect would security council. At the moment a Moscow answer is the key log in the work jam.

Many delegates are becoming increasingly restive under the pressure of urgent problems arising in their home capitals. Foreign minister Ed-

Says Tremendous Market Ahead For Automobiles

By DAVID J. WILKIE Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit, June 1. (AP)—A tremendous market for passenger automobiles lies ahead and "if everybody will get in the pitch we'll get somewhere after this war," says Henry Ford II, who has just completed his first year as top executive officer of the Ford Motor Company.

By "everybody" young Ford made it clear he meant labor management and government alike. "For our part" the 27-year-old executive vice president said in an interview, "we plan to employ as many workers as possible and pay them as high a wage as we possibly can. But there must be fair days' work for a fair day's pay. Wages are a part of the product; they are not the result of the employer's generosity nor the employee's ability to bring pressure to bear. The minute you start paying high wages for no work you create a situation where there is a lot of money and nothing to buy with it. That's what we have today."

"Confidence is our first need; confidence that work brings reward." Ford said the War Production Board's program for the car industry to make 200,000 cars during the remainder of 1945 did not permit any company to produce its quota on an economical basis, "yet," he said, "we've got to do it in order to get going."

He predicted a period of widespread unemployment during the reconversion period "if we're not

Japs Preparing For Stand On China Coast

Chinese Report Enemy Falling Back On Three Other Sectors

By SPENCER MOOSA Chungking, June 1. (AP)—The Chinese High Command announced today that Japanese troops were pushing southward along the East China sea coast in Chekiang Province in a possible attempt to establish a new anti-invasion line even as they gave ground in three other sectors.

The enemy columns reached Pingyang Sunday in a 10-mile advance from Jun, the high command said. Pingyang is 30 miles south of the port of Wenchow. It is 245 miles south of Shanghai and 150 miles northeast of recently-liberated Foochow, from which Chinese divisions are striking up the coast through Fukien Province.

A collision of these forces with the freed enemy elements appeared likely. The Chinese were pursuing withdrawing Japanese garrison units and a Chinese army spokesman said the pursuit action had reached a position 19 miles west of Siapu, near the coast 75 miles northeast of Foochow.

Inland, the Chinese announced gains in both Hunan and Kwangsi provinces. The high command said Chinese troops had driven to position nine and a half miles west of Shaoyang (Paoching), from which the Japanese launched their ill-starred drive across Hunan toward the American air base of Chihkiang, 120 miles to the west. Chukowpu, 25 miles northwest of Shaoyang, was believed. Enemy killed and wounded in Hunan were declared by the army spokesman to have totaled 28,000 in the 50-day period ended May 28.

Gains were noted in the Chinese efforts to consolidate the 145-mile cap into the enemy corridor to French Indo-China both above and below Yunnan (Nanning). The high command said Suilo, on the highway to Indo-China, 60 miles southwest of Yunnan, was recaptured after an all-day battle Wednesday. The army spokesman said that Pingyang, an important highway function 60 miles northeast of Yunnan, was regained the same day and that the troops swept on to the vicinity of Tsinkong (Chienkiang), 25 miles farther.

The army spokesman said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces were intensifying their preparations for a grand general offensive and predicted that this would be launched "earlier than originally planned."

New Superfort Field Dedicated

Guam, June 1. (AP)—To bring "this unsought, destructive war to a swifter and surer conclusion," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz today dedicated a giant new field for the use of B-29 Superfort bombers.

Nimitz paid high tribute to the construction forces of the army and navy who in two months cut the great airfield, the fifth B-29 base in the Marianas, from dense jungle.

The commander-in-chief spoke with a shining new Superfort resting before him reviewing stand minutes before the ship, piloted by Brig. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong, Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., had made the first landing on the field.

The new field is the third army airfield on Guam.

Alfred Caravito Killed In Action

Mrs. Alfred Caravito, the former Miss Edna Rose Whitehurst of Greenville, received the following message from General A. Vandegrift, U.S.M.C., commander of the Marines.

General Vandegrift stated in his message: "Der'yv regret to inform you that your husband, S-Sgt. Alfred Caravito, U.S.M.C., died May 11, 1945 of wounds received in action on Okinawa Islands. Ryukyu Islands in the performance of his duty in service of his country x x Please accept my heartfelt sympathy."

Just before his death, Sgt. Caravito had received the announcement of the birth of his son, Alfred Caravito, Jr., on April 25.

Sgt. Alfred Caravito was a native of Orange, New Jersey and entered the Marine Corps in July, 1942. He received his basic training at Parris Island, S. C., after which he was stationed at Portsmouth, Va., and Camp Lejeune, N. C. On March 13, 1943 he married Miss Edna Rose Whitehurst of this city and they made their home at Camp Lejeune until October 27, when he was sent overseas with the First Marine Division — the First Engineers.

NEW AIR BLOW AGAINST JAPS

Raids Against Harbors of Borneo and Formosa

By FRED LAMPSON Manila, June 1. (AP)—The U. S. 13th air force stepped up its assaults on oil-rich Borneo as Australian invasion forces wound up their initial operation on its northeastern island of Tarakan.

Today's communique reported raids which extended through a third straight day the aerial pounding of airfields, waterfronts, shipyards and other installations on Borneo.

With more than 100 bombers and fighters taking part each day, the 13th raiders struck Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Brunai bay on the northwest coast, Balikpapan on the east central coast and Banjarmasin on the south coast.

The Aussies, who landed on Tarakan May 1, presently are finishing off enemy holdouts in caves. Augmenting the 13th's long range efforts a seventh fleet Liberator sank a medium freighter near Banjarmasin.

The fifth air force, aided by clearing weather, sent more than 100 Liberators with a fighter escort to Formosa Tuesday and followed up with a 60-plane raid Wednesday. More than 500 tons of explosives hit waterfronts, warehouses and barracks.

Three far-ranging fifth air force Liberators sank a medium cargo vessel at Shanghai before dawn on Tuesday, despite heavy anti-aircraft opposition. Seventh fleet planes wrecked seven coastal vessels in the Hong Kong area.

The other combatant craft were three small patrol vessels and a coastal minesweeper. Noncombatant ships claimed in the latest toll were a large tanker, five medium merchant vessels, two medium freighters and a small merchant vessel.

Washington, June 1. (AP)—United States submarines have sunk 14 more enemy ships, including a destroyer and four other combatant vessels in Pacific waters, the Navy announced today.

The three other combatant craft were three small patrol vessels and a coastal minesweeper. Noncombatant ships claimed in the latest toll were a large tanker, five medium merchant vessels, two medium freighters and a small merchant vessel.

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 1. (AP)—Dump overboard any illusions you have that the new league of nations being formed at San Francisco is a cure-all for world trouble. It isn't.

This is a realistic assessment, not necessarily a gloomy story. But there's no sweetness and light in it. Because—you are getting a beautiful preview right now of what the future may hold.

You're getting it in the flaming French-Syrian dispute. If the new league were in existence right now and if it wanted to prevent the French from further shooting up the Syrians, France could stop any league action against itself by simply telling the league it couldn't act.

You think it could be as simple as that? Sure, you'll see. Just substitute two other nations for France and Syria some time in the future. The whole Arab world is united now. Further French action in Syria—which the French once controlled but allowed to become free and independent—might throw all the Arabs into war.

The British have pleaded with the Troops, However, Will Remain In Present Positions Instead Of Returning To Barracks As Requested By Churchill; France Invited To Discuss Settlement In Tri-Power Parley

By the Associated Press London, June 1.—France refused today to comply with Prime Minister Churchill's request that French troops in Syria retire to their barracks to avoid the possibility of clash with the British, but in a conciliatory move ordered her troops to "cease fire."

"French troops will remain in their positions," said a French communique issued in Paris after a cabinet meeting.

By ordering French troops to cease fire the French thus complied with half the request of Churchill, backed by President Truman, to take steps to end the bloodshed.

In further steps to solve the dispute that threatened to plunge the Arab world into revolt, it was disclosed that the United States had agreed to sit with other powers in the role of mediator.

(It was authoritatively learned tonight that the French have replied to the American note on Syria with a message to Washington in which the De Gaulle government stood by its original position that France should deal with the Levant country without outside interference.)

The British Foreign Office announced that France had been invited to participate in a London conference with Britain and the United States to settle the issues involved in the Arab-supported demands for full independence and Allied insistence upon safeguards for their communications lines to the Pacific.

Byroutch dispatches said all was quiet in Syria and Lebanon after the French finally stopped their shelling and bombing of Damascus, Syrian capital, and that small arms fire had ceased. At least 400 persons had been killed and 500 wounded.

The British commander in the Middle East, Gen. Sir Bernard C. Paget, flew to Byroutch this morning in a bomber escorted by Spitfires. British destroyers swung at anchor in Byroutch harbor.

British troops, tanks and vehicles moved along the main roads toward Damascus yesterday following Prime Minister Churchill's order to interfere.

Paris newspapers used the term "ultimatum" in describing Churchill's note asking Gen. De Gaulle to halt French military activity in Syria, but discussed the situation in generally moderate terms.

The general tone, however, was of injured French pride, rather than concern.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign News Analyst) Maybe in the long run the Franco-Syrian upheaval will prove to be a good thing, for it demonstrates anew that the whole of Europe and the Mediterranean countries are as inflammable as tinder and that anybody who flips a lighted match carelessly aside these days is bringing forth catastrophe.

One doesn't mean to be cynical in this observation, for it's a cruel thing that this reminder should have to come through more bloodshed. But we must know that we've come mighty close to another great conflagration. You can't rekindle the fire anywhere without the terrible danger of its spreading.

And Syria isn't the only danger spot by a long shot. Europe is full of delicate political situations, any one of which could easily precipitate fresh tragedy. The present affair seems at this writing to have been got in hand through the stern intervention of Britain, with the moral support of the United States. John Bull stepped in to halt the fighting—and he was wearing his guns loose in their holsters. At the same time British Prime Minister Churchill told General De Gaulle in Paris that "once firing has ceased and order has been restored we shall be prepared to begin tripartite discussion here in London." This means that the United States and Britain are ready to sit down and hash the Syrian difficulty out with France. That's the language of peace.

Some French circles have been insisting that the dispute with Syria is France's own private affair. But that argument doesn't hold water any more. I do a lot of fishing up in the wooded wilds of northern Maine and everywhere are warnings of the danger of forest fires. If I'm careless with my campfire, or a lighted match, it certainly is no private affair of my own. It concerns the lives and property of thousands of people over great areas. This bloody lesson may have a salutary effect in another way. It shows that the great powers intend to maintain order. It shows that they intend to do so even if they (Continued on Page Four)

Red Oak News

A few of the members of Red Oak Church and Sunday school met recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tyson to discuss plans for the improvement of both the Sunday school and church.

The meeting was opened by the singing of some favorite hymns and prayer.

A goal was set for the coming year for the physical set-up of the church. Two new sets of concrete steps, concrete walks, a special flower bed, tracking for floors and re-freshing floors, ceiling lights and most important of all, a baptistry, were planned. The need has been paramount for a long time for a baptistry. Committees were appointed and they are to report at a meeting which will be called the week following third Sunday.

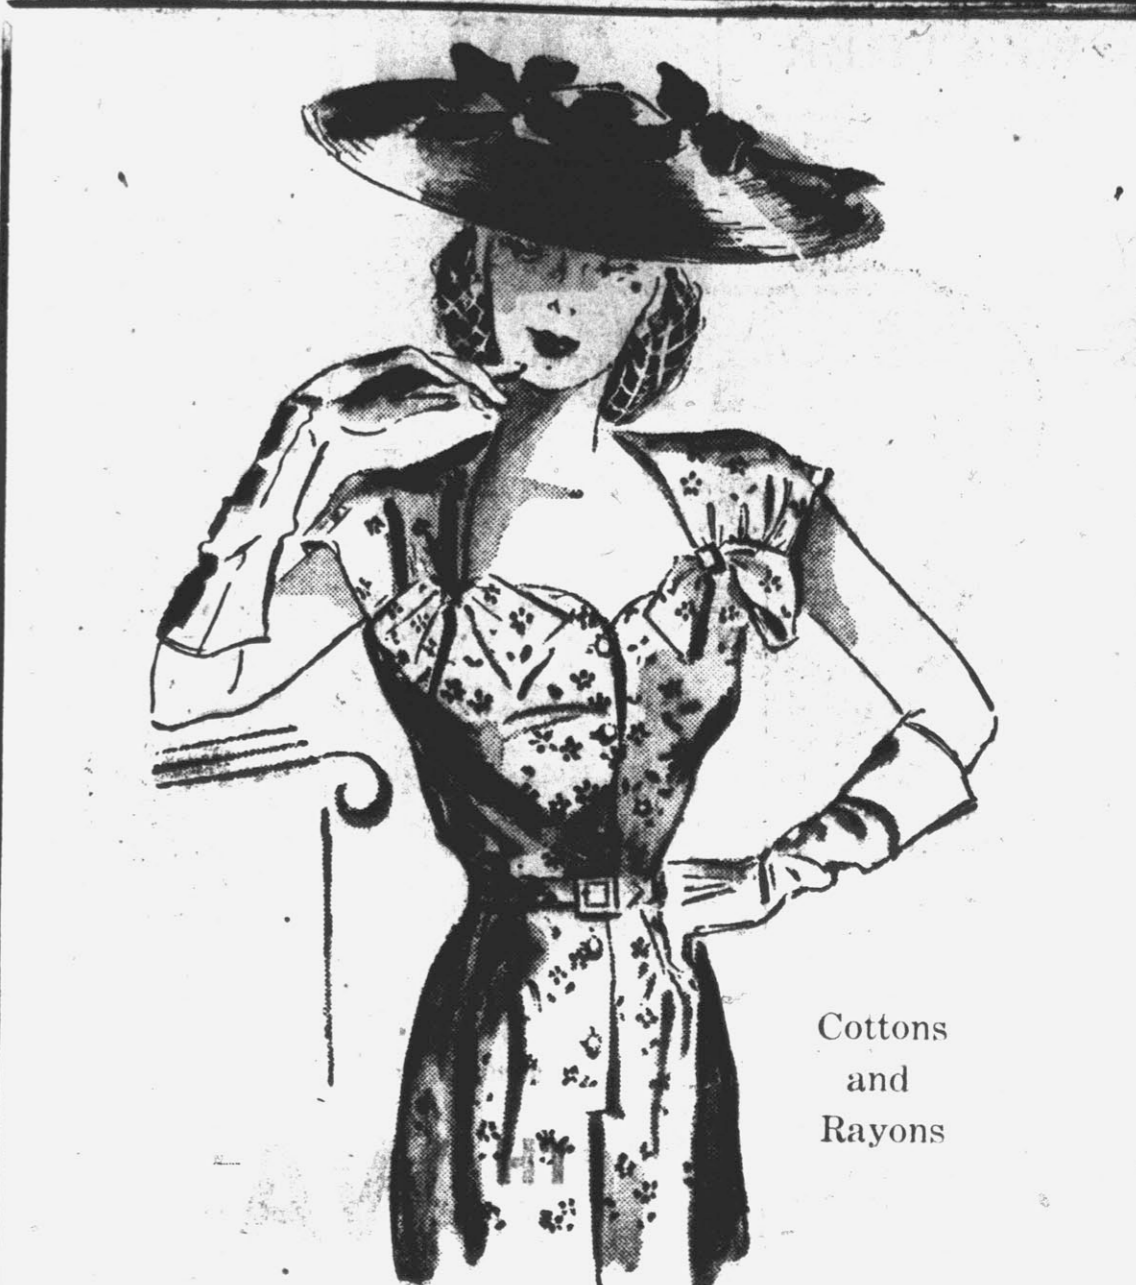

Plans were also made for the improvement of our Sunday school. Sunday school will begin promptly at 10 o'clock and will close at 11. Invitations have been sent to several families in the neighborhood who are not attending Sunday school at any place to affiliate with Red Oak.

Three new teachers have been added to the teaching staff. Mrs. Thurman Page will resume her old job of teaching the beginners' class. Mrs. Page taught this class for several years and we are very fortunate to have her take charge of this class again.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Evans will each have a class. They have always manifested a great deal of interest in Red Oak and we feel sure that the work will go forward with their help.

Mrs. H. R. Allen, Mrs. James Allen and Mrs. Leon Tyson will each teach their same class. With every-one backing up our faithful superintendent, F. L. Allen, we should have a good Sunday school each Sunday morning.

If you are not attending Sunday school anywhere, we would be glad to have you join one of our classes next Sunday.

Miss Pittman Complimented.
Mrs. Olive Mayo Tver of Falkland was hostess at a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening honoring Miss Ruth Pittman, bride-elect.

Miss Mattie Little was in charge of the contests and games. Mixed spring flowers were used in decorations throughout the home. The dining room table was covered with a lovely lace cloth, the centerpiece being an arrangement of purple and pink larkspur. On one end of the table was a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, flanked by burning candles in crystal holders.

Alumni Day At College.
Honor classes at ECTC Alumni Day tomorrow will be the classes of 1939, 1935 and 1944. Special recognition will be given members of the classes during the exercises which will be opened at 10:30 a. m. with an address of welcome by Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, acting president.

Mrs. Augusta Woodward Marcom of Raleigh, president of the Alumni Association, will make the presentation of the alumni award to a member of the graduating class. Following the welcome to the new alumni, Miss Camille Jernigan, president of the senior class, will give the response. Vocal selections by Jean Abernethy Piggott and a group of thanksgiving and for-ward messages by Clarine Johnson will complete the opening session.

A business meeting luncheon, and one house in the New Classroom building will mark the late morning and afternoon sessions. At 6:30 p. m. the class of 1945 will participate in the annual allegiance service, to be held on the west campus.

These men can tell you why the 7TH WAR LOAN is the BIGGEST yet!

YOU ARE being asked to lend more money than ever before—in the 7th War Loan.

These men can tell you why.

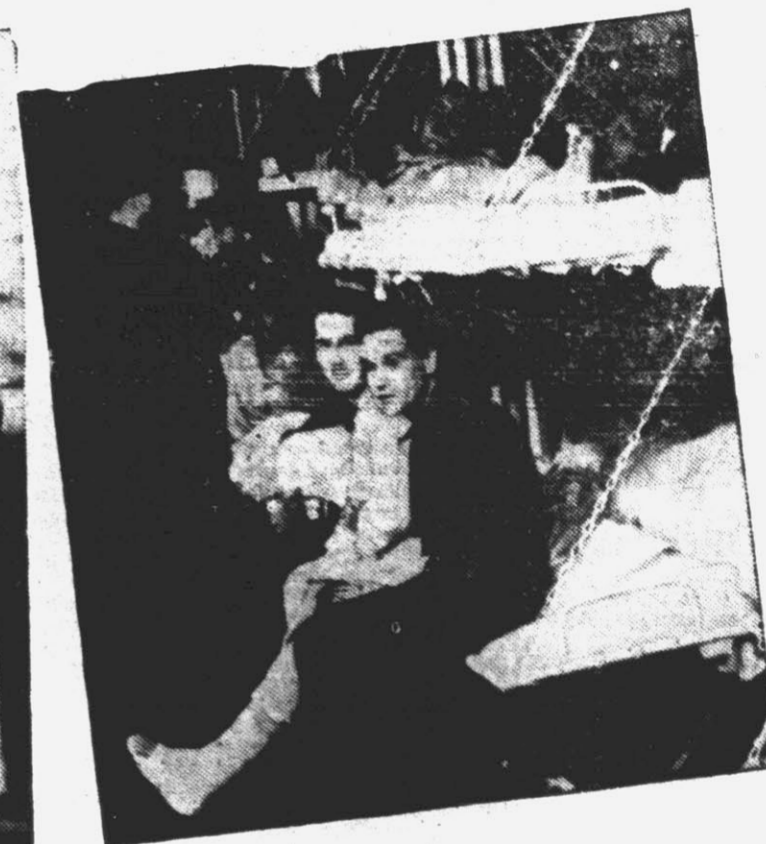

They can tell you of giant ships ready to slide down the ways this year.

They can tell you of a whole new air force in the building—huge new bombers and fast new jet-propelled planes coming off the lines by thousands.

They could show you why it is cheaper and quicker to give our Pacific Forces entirely new equipment sometimes—instead of shipping tanks and guns from Europe.

They can, in short, show you 101 ways in which your dollars are needed more than ever to bring America's might to its full strength—so that we may crush our foe the faster, make an end of killing, and bring our men back home.

Will you tell these men "I can't afford to buy my share"?

THE GENERALS and admirals can show us why our money is needed—more money than before.

But other men can show us something, too.

They're the men with twisted, crippled limbs... with clever iron hooks instead of hands. The blind men... the men with scarred, seamed faces. And perhaps worst of all, the men with blasted, darkened minds.

They can show us, clearly, how small is any sacrifice we make in lending money.

If you have an income, whether from work, land, or capital, you have a quota in the 7th War Loan. Find out what that quota is—and make it!

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE HOURS OF DISCIPLINE TELL

Antonio Allegri had gained some fame as a painter in his little Italian village. He made a journey to Bologna once that he might see one of the paintings of Raphael. It was the famous painting of St. Cecilia whose playing was supposed to have been so exquisite that it brought angels down to listen and to teach her new melodies. As Allegri stood before this marvelous painting, he realized that his care and self-discipline had not been in vain. He had done his best up to a little rural village, and as he measured his work against that of the great master painter, he realized that he had much of which to be proud. Allegri looked upon the work of Raphael and said quietly, "I too am a painter."

It was the fine and satisfying conclusion of one who had worked sincerely and who realized, when he came in contact with a great painting, that his care and hard work had been worth while. His days of discipline had not been in vain. Often, perhaps, he had sighed and inwardly—if not outwardly—protested the humdrum monotony of it all. But as he looked at the work of Raphael he realized that technique and artistic effect such as these were purchased at the cost of infinite patience. Then did he see of the travail of weary hours and was satisfied.

preventing future war goes—is the security council.

It will be made up of 11 members. Five of them will be permanent members, the big five. United States, Britain, France, Russia, China.

The other six will be representatives of smaller nations elected for two-year terms.

It is this security council which decides whether one nation has been an aggressor against another and whether the league should use force to stop the aggressor.

If it decides to use force, then the United Nations will put their military resources at the disposal of the league. But—

Before the security council can decide that the league will use force, all five of the big powers must vote "yes," plus at least two "yes" votes from the smaller members.

Suppose that right now the league were in existence and the security council decided to vote to use force against France to stop the disturbance.

France—being one of the five permanent members and voting "no"—could stop any league action against itself. Okay! Nothing happens. Without France voting "yes" or without all five big powers voting "yes"—the league can do nothing.

But suppose the other four big powers decide that France—even though voting "no" has gone far enough—must be curbed even if it means the other four big powers throw their armies against France.

In that case we'd have another world war. The league wouldn't force in it. The league was thrown out of it as soon as France voted "no." But remember—

All the big powers are making alliances—they're very busy making them now—again some future time when they might be needed. France is doing the same.

So suddenly you'd have—perhaps—Russia and Poland and Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria, all allies, and England with Holland and Denmark and Belgium, all Allies, suddenly moving against France which had as Allies Spain, Italy and Austria. You'd have another world war.

Secretary of State Stettinius made it plain—for anyone who has illusions about the new league of nations—that you can't expect perfection. He said:

"What happens if one of the five permanent members embarks upon a course of aggression and refuses to recognize the machinery of the world organization? x x x in such an event, the answer is simple. Another war has come, vote or no vote, and the world organization has failed."

involved, in the view of the American delegation, is the ability of the big five to win a greater degree of unity on remaining conference problems.

The Americans therefore are seeking agreement on plans for:

1. Future amendment of the charter and a decision on whether any one of the five powers should be able to veto an alteration.
2. Election of judges of a new international court.
3. Measures against erring league members and decision whether they should be subject to expulsion.
4. Election of a secretary-general who would be the league's chief executive officer.
5. Treaties by which military forces will be made available on the call of the security council.
6. Statements on equal access of all member nations to trade and raw materials and also on promotion of "full employment."

Next to disposal of the veto issue, big five agreement on these questions is considered essential to stepping up conference procedure.

Meanwhile the United States delegation was reported to be behind cancellation of one committee session yesterday and an attempt to get another cancelled today because of pending decisions related to these unsettled issues.

One problem of the American delegation is that members believe it has about reached the end of its ability to make concessions on some points. Among these is a French effort to have the question of regional defense pacts reopened and a Russian proposal for changes in a trusteeship formula.

One committee handling social and economic provisions of the proposed new charter decided after three hours of debate last night that some time later the present conference will meet to deal with other United Nations meeting to deal solely with the promotion of intellectual and cultural cooperation.

Before the security council can decide that the league will use force, all five of the big powers must vote "yes," plus at least two "yes" votes from the smaller members.

The War Today ...

have to employ force. They want to settle disputes by mediation but object appeasement is out the window. Britain and America have acted promptly in this matter, and it must be assumed that Moscow is in accord and would have taken an active hand if necessary.

This quick, firm action by the Anglo-American pair is calculated to dispel the fears which have been aroused among the small nations that the Atlantic charter with its promise of self-determination and sovereignty doesn't function. Certainly the Syrian affair has been a terrible shock to the security conference in San Francisco, but it needn't be discouraging. The European war is barely over, and we must expect to encounter many and harsh difficulties before real peace can be secured.

Probably the Syrian imbroglio also will lend force to the argument that the peace of the world must, for the time being, rest mainly on the shoulders of the Big Three—America, Russia and Britain. That perhaps isn't an ideal situation, but it is based on the horse-sense that this trio of great powers are the ones which have the physical strength to maintain order so long as they stand together.

It is a reassuring circumstance that in the present instance this strength is maintaining the ideals of the Atlantic charter. Unofficial circles in Paris are calling the British action "power politics," but one doubts whether little Syria will regard the matter in that light.

Vote To Remodel Senate Chamber

Washington, June 1—(AP)—Tired of squinting and cupping their ears, members of the senate committee on public buildings and grounds have voted unanimously to remodel the senate chamber.

"I can't see to read in the senate and that's the only place I can't complain Senator Morse (R-Ore) before yesterday's vote.

Senator Hart (R-Conn) said that a week after he became a member of the body he got worried and went to an ear specialist.

"I told him I couldn't hear in the senate chamber," he said. "He examined me and said I had fine ears for a man of my age."

Washington, June 1—(AP)—Tired of squinting and cupping their ears, members of the senate committee on public buildings and grounds have voted unanimously to remodel the senate chamber.

"I can't see to read in the senate and that's the only place I can't complain Senator Morse (R-Ore) before yesterday's vote.

Senator Hart (R-Conn) said that a week after he became a member of the body he got worried and went to an ear specialist.

"I told him I couldn't hear in the senate chamber," he said. "He examined me and said I had fine ears for a man of my age."

Grain Market Chicago, June 1—(AP)—Grain markets, some of them down more than a cent in early futures trading, rallied during the final hour today to erase a large part of the losses.

New York Cotton New York, June 1—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 5 cents a bale lower to 5 higher, July 22.98, October 22.59, and December 22.50. Futures closed 15 to 30 cents a bale higher.

N. Y. Stock Market New York, June 1—(AP)—Buyers reentered the stock market arena today and bid up assorted rails and industrial specialties although many leaders were neglected.

Dealings expanded at intervals on the comeback and transfers for the full proceedings were around 1,200,000 shares. Advances of fractions to a number of points for isolated favorites predominated near the close.

French Troops... (Continued from page one) ment did not say when the orders to cease fire had been given. Up to noon French spokesmen in Paris had been denying such an order had come out, but said the local commanders in Syria were instructed to meet the situation as they thought best and in a "conciliatory spirit."

Bevrouth dispatches quoting official announcements there, however, said the French commander in chief had agreed to cease fire and accept British orders after a conference with the British commander.

When the French communique finally was issued it came after a cabinet meeting at which Foreign Minister Georges Bidault had given a full report.

Dr. Gaulle apparently had waited overnight to get a line on French public reaction. A Minister of Information spokesman in Paris, asked when De Gaulle would reply formally to Churchill, said "I can't tell whether there will be a reply."

A commentary from the French of desire of every Home Purchaser probably is the day when he will make the final mortgage payment. That happy day seems to come sooner to families who finance Home Purchases through this Association. Our Direct Reduction Plan genuinely contributes to ease of ownership.

G. I. Bill Of Rights

Summary
It can be seen from an examination of federal legislation concerning veterans, that vast sums have been provided for hospitalization, vocational training, financing of loans, employment rights and unemployment benefits. The administration of Public Law No. 346 (the GI bill) will cost, alone, up to 3 1/2 billion dollars.

However, legislation and billions of dollars won't do the job by themselves. Now, while the load is light is the test period for the American public, as well as the employees of the various federal, state, county and civil agencies to whom the job is delegated.

You, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, should concern yourselves with passing on to the returning veterans as much reliable information as you can possibly gather. In the next article of this series we intend to furnish as accurately as possible, a directory of agencies with addresses and phone numbers. This will be, in our opinion, the most useful of any one article published to date.

Accepts Invitation
Albany, N. Y., June 1 — (AP) — Governor Thomas E. Dewey, 1944 Republican presidential nominee, today accepted the invitation of President Truman to confer with him in Washington.

WILL RETIRE FROM COLLEGE

Miss Sallie Joyner Davis Was Charter Member Of Faculty

Miss Sallie Joyner Davis, charter member of the ECTC faculty and noted authority on North Carolina history, will retire this month.

Born and reared in Wayne county, she was first employed as a typist on a section of the former plantation granted to her family centuries ago when the state was first settled. Miss Davis learned at first hand the true plantation life. Member of a family noted in education, Miss Davis is a descendant of Christopher Eisler, leader of the German Palatines who settled New Bern, North Carolina. Her family still owns part of the land granted to them when North Carolina was a royal province. Her uncle, Dr. J. Y. Joyner, was a leader in public school education for half a century and a former state superintendent of public instruction. The ECTC library bears his name. James Davis, another relative, set up the first printing press in the state in New Bern. Her father was one of two brothers who were heads of the Davis school in La Grange, one of the last of the academies for which North Carolina was noted.

Miss Davis attended public and private school in Goldsboro, Mary Baldwin Seminary in Staunton, Va., and is a graduate of the Woman's College at Greensboro, and studied at Trinity, the University of Pennsylvania, and the University of California. She was a student of John Spencer Bassett, the noted historian, when she was at Trinity (Duke University).

She graduated with the first four-year class at the Woman's College, at a time when the state paid everyone's tuition. After graduation she, with four others of her class, decided voluntarily to teach in the Oxford Orphanage school to show appreciation to the state. For three years she served as principal of the school and then taught history for six years at the Woman's College in Greensboro. She joined the faculty of the newly-established East Carolina Teachers Training School as a charter member in 1909.

Miss Davis has served on the College Library committee from the time the college was opened. For ten years she was chairman of the Chapel Committee and for 25 years a member of the Commencement Committee. For some years Miss Davis served on the Executive Board of the North Carolina Literary and History Association.

In 1936 the Sallie Joyner Davis arboretum was established on the campus as a perpetual memorial to Miss Davis' services to the College and to the state. Ever since that time, the arboretum has been a place of beauty and quiet, welcoming picnic groups and individuals seeking relaxation in a spot of unusual charm.

A special tribute to Miss Davis appeared in today's issue of the Techno Echo, ECTC campus newspaper.

Ballentine Is Grifton Speaker

Grifton, June 1.—Thirteen graduates of the Grifton High School heard a commencement address on Wednesday night by Lieut. Gov. L. Y. Ballentine in which he told them the future of the world was theirs and urged them to "go forward."

The program for the evening was opened with the hymn, "God of Our Fathers," followed by the invocation given by Rev. R. E. Walsen, pastor of the Methodist Church. Special music by the school choir was "Prayer" from Hansel and Gretel, and "Blue Danube." Miss Sue Waller was music director.

Principal John Biggers presented State Senator A. B. Corey of Greenville, who in turn presented the speaker, Lieut. Gov. Ballentine.

Awards were made to the highest scholastic records in the high school grade, and went to Miss Ida Margaret Hart, senior, Talmage Stokes, Mary Alice Corey, and Ramona Taylor. Certificates for "best all round" seniors were given Peggy Burney and Billy Smith. Valetictorian and Salutatorian were Ida Margaret Hart and Walenah Quinley.

Mr. E. W. Fleming of the school board, presented diplomas to the seniors, Ida Margaret Hart, Walenah Quinley, Peggy Burney, Mary Worthington, Elsie McLawhorn, Vivian Turnage, Christine Dawson, Jean Moore, Myrtle Ruth Collins, Minnie Mae Corey, Billy Smith, Velvin Dennis and Louis Cannon.

Recognition of servicemen was made by Rev. R. E. Walsen and the closing hymn was "Blest Be the Tie."

On Sunday night the baccalaureate sermon was given by Rev. John M. Waters of the Bible Department of Atlantic Christian College. Special music by the choir was the singing of the "Lord's Prayer" and "Largo."

On Monday night the seniors presented their class exercises in the form of a play, "Isle of Our Dreams." This was a scene from today with the setting in a cottage garden in Ireland. Taking part were all members of the senior class and their mascots, Janet Walsen and Tommy Sugg, with Miss Sue Waller, pianist.

Rabbit Club Had Birthday Party

By CHESTER WALSH
The Rabbit Club last night celebrated its 65th anniversary with a barbecued chicken supper at the community building in Winterville, provided by Vernon Cox, Luby Williams and Jesse Jones, and barbecued by Leland Forlines.

Dr. J. L. Winstead, Claude D. Ward, Rufus Keel, Register of Deeds Roy T. Cox, Ray Olesley and Mayor Wayland Hunsucker made anniversary speeches, each man being limited to 70 seconds.

The Rabbit Club is a unique group. It was first organized as a hunting club to rid the section of great herds of rabbits which damaged gardens. Hunters would gather at certain times to run down the garden marauders. A pack of hounds was acquired and the hunts became "fellowship affairs" with rabbit stews, barbecued and otherwise.

Three generations have been represented in the membership. There are no officers. To get something across, the entire membership must vote and the Rabbit Clubbers are known for their unanimity. The Rabbit Club has for many years gotten behind community projects and helped to carry them on to success, especially wartime projects. It cooperates with town officials, the Ruritan Club, Woman's Club, churches and schools.

The Rabbit Club supported the establishing of the community canner and helped to find J. H. (Prof.) Mobley over in Sampson County, brought him to Winterville to teach agriculture and later become one of the town's most useful citizens. Membership is restricted to "men" who do things for their communities. Plans are now being discussed for admitting women to membership when the State law permits them to serve as jurors.

Rev. E. C. Cole, pastor of the Winterville Baptist Church; W. W. Massenill, C. L. Teague, and Sheriff Ruel Tyson are honorary members. Police Chief Jim Buck is sergeant-at-arms.

Get Ready To . . .

of staff have decided "that our army can deliver its heaviest blows in the Pacific and win final victory most quickly with a strength which a year from now will be about 7,000,000."

"By maintaining our army at this size," the President said, "we shall be able to more than double the force we now have in the Pacific and hurl against the Japanese an overseas force larger than the 3,500,000 men who united with our Allies to crush the Wehrmacht and the Luftwaffe."

The President said the strength of 7,000,000 men was decided on by the joint chiefs of staff after consultation with General Douglas MacArthur and Admiral Chester Nimitz.

"These are the men," the President said, "who will be carrying the fight to the enemy, but obviously they cannot operate effectively unless there are adequate reserve troops in training in the United States, and also an adequate base from which our advance troops can be supplied and serviced."

"It is our plan that every physically fit soldier in the United States who has not yet served overseas be assigned to foreign duty when he completes his training, or if he is fulfilling an essential administrative or service job, as soon as he can be replaced by a returning veteran. This has been the Army's policy since the beginning of the war. It will be rigidly adhered to in the re-deployment period."

Mr. Truman declared the military policy for defeat of Japan calls for: "1. Pinning down the Japanese forces where they now are and keeping them divided so that they can be destroyed piece by piece. "2. Concentrating overwhelming power on each segment which we attack. "3. Using ships, aircraft, armor, artillery and all other materiel in massive concentrations to gain victory with the smallest possible loss of life. "4. Applying relentless and increasing pressure to the enemy by sea, and on the land, so that he cannot rest, reorganize or regroup his battered forces or dwindling supplies to meet our next attack."

The President said by reducing the army strength from 8,300,000 to 6,968,000 and by maintaining the army calls on Selective Service at a level substantially higher than requirements for actual replacements, it will be possible to discharge during the next year a total of 2,000,000 officers and men. This will include those leaving because of wounds, sickness and age as well as those leaving under the point system.

"We have not yet come up against the main strength of this Japanese military force," he said.

A special communication of Greenville Lodge No. 284 A. F. and A. M. will be held Saturday at 2 o'clock for work in the fellowcraft degree. All fellowcrafts and master masons invited.

James Brewer, Master, N. R. Joyner, Secy.
