LEGION CALLS FOR TRAINING IN PEACETIME

Says Plan Offers Most Economical And Best Guarantee For National Security

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST Washington, June 5—(AP)—A peacetime draft plan which would provide military training without requiring youths to leave home environment for long periods as proposed to congress today by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A substitute for the American Legion-backed proposal for one year of continuous training at the age of 18, the VFW program calls for training in the National Guard or Naval and Marine Reserve units for a three-year period.

Under the PVW proposal, as explained to the House Postwar Military Policy committee by Omar K. Ketchum, national legislative representative, compulsory military training would be given in a boy's own community without disturbing his home life or his education.

The training automatically would become a member of the National Guard or a Naval or Marine reserve unit at a predetermined age, would participate in weekly drills and training periods at his local armory and take two weeks of training every summer at a reserve camp.

Ketchum said the VFW would insist on a specific ban against use of trainees in civil emergencies, such as strikes.

Ketchum testified after John Thomas Taylor, head of the American Legion legislative committee had endorsed a full year of continuous training.

Taylor testified before the House Postwar Military Policy committee as a congressional proponent of peacetime draft legislation conceded privately that victory in Europe has weakened their position. The committee has scheduled two weeks of hearings on the issue.

Asserting "there is nothing in the proposal of universal military training that can or will breed wars or foster militaryism in America," the Legion witness added that "there can be no stronger influence for lasting peace, no greater safeguard against lawless international aggression."

Taylor declared the Legion-backed proposal, which would require most able-bodied youths to take a year of military training when they reach the age of 18 or shortly thereafter. (Continued on Page Five)

Reports that the Chinese have cleared the enemy from several towns along a 75-mile stretch of coast from Foochow to Saipu naturally revive consideration of an American amphibious operation in that direction.

There are several objectives to be gained which must weigh heavily among military leaders.

Some months ago it was thought that occupation of Formosa and a drive into the continent might prove desirable, might even be necessary before Japan could be invaded. Then it began to appear that Formosa could be neutralized, and that an invasion of Japan might entail little more effort, and might produce infinitely greater results than a strike into Japanese-occupied China.

That still remains true. An invasion of Japan embraces the strong possibility that it would be decisive, whereas, barring a surrender in which military men decline to place any hope, operations in China would only be preliminary to the knockout.

The Grave Of Lidice

Soldiers stand with heads bowed at the memorial grave which marks the place where the village of Lidice once stood, ten miles northwest of Prague in Czechoslovakia. The Czechoslovakian and Russian flags fly from poles on either side of a two-foot high crucifix with a placard reading: "Here lie bodies of Lidice's victims, murdered June 10, 1942, by the German invaders." The village was erased from the earth by vengeful Germans, who killed the males and sent the women and children off to concentration camps following the assassination of hangman Reinhardt Heydrich.

Americans Make Swift Progress On Mindanao

Manila, June 5—(AP)—Converging columns of the U. S. 24th and 31st divisions made swift progress today on Mindanao Island. Two centers of Japanese resistance have been broken in the past three days. A substantial number of Nipponese are caught between these forces, Associated Press Correspondent Richard Bergholz reported.

Twenty Fourth Division elements under Maj. George Willets advanced 1,800 yards northwest of captured Ula Village without opposition. Ula was one of a group of villages wrested from the Japanese Saturday by the 24th and guerrillas after stiff fighting just off Davao Gulf.

Stalin Has Been Asked to Reconsider His Statement On Right Of Free Discussion

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER AP Diplomatic News Editor San Francisco, June 5—(AP)—France would go along with the United States in event of a showdown between this country and Russia on the veto issue at the United Nations conference. Chairman Paul Boncour of the French delegation said today.

Any break between the United States and Russia would be agonizing to the French delegation, Boncour said in an interview, but France would vote with America, however reluctantly.

Another French delegate, commenting on this possibility, said "It would be very annoying but we would support the Americans, x x x we have been with the Americans all along on this point."

France and Russia have a 20-year alliance. Boncour declared that should the Soviet and the United States run counter in the veto question voting, the American position would be upheld 45 to 5, with Russia, the Ukraine, White Russia, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia in the minority.

U. S. Secretary of State Stettinius was looking today at the White House for a decision on whether a showdown with Russia should be forced on the right of free discussion in a world security council.

Stettinius is caught in a sharp difference of American opinion here. The outcome depends on what happens overnight in Moscow. Premier Stalin has been asked to reconsider his government's recent statement to the Big-Five at the United Nations conference that any big power in the council should be able to veto discussion of any problem.

It is the conflict between this and an American-sponsored statement (Continued on Page Four)

Women Hope Buy Ambulance Plane

By CHESTER WALSH It is a wonderful experience to meet and talk to returned servicemen and learn something about the great hardships the men on the battlefronts endure while risking their safety and lives," said Mrs. Charles E. Blair, Greenville War Bond Committee chairman.

"It should be a gratifying experience for us on the homefront to buy War Bonds to back up the men who are fighting our battles. The bonds are profitable and will be as useful as currency when civilian goods are again manufactured. It doesn't cost us anything to buy War Bonds. They net us a substantial profit, especially the E bonds, which sell for $18.75 and net $25 in 10 years. People who buy War Bonds can look a returned veteran in the face with a clear conscience," she said.

The Women's Division of the War Finance Committee have as a special objective the selling of enough E bonds in the county to pay for a P-54 transport convertible ambulance plane. They cost $375,000. Pitt County women sold $650,000 worth of War Bonds in the last drive. If they can sell a little more in this drive they will not only buy two ambulance planes. So far, they have sold only $43,064.65 worth and are now urging the people to buy bonds and stamps.

Mrs. John Warner is Pitt county chairman, Mrs. James S. Picklen is area chairman of the War Finance Committee.

RUSSIA GETS ALLIED SHIPS

Receives Vessels From Britain And America

London, June 5—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill disclosed today that Britain met Russian demands for part of the Italian fleet by turning over eight former American destroyers among other ships.

The United States also turned over some ships, mostly merchantmen, but also including the U. S. Cruiser Milwaukee, Churchill told Commons.

The Russians, he said raised the question of the disposition of the Italian navy immediately after Italy's surrender. They asked for one battleship, one cruiser, eight destroyers, four submarines, and 40,000 tons of merchant shipping.

The agreement to turn ships over to Russia was reached at Tehran, he said.

Since Italian ships were built mostly for temperate waters of the Mediterranean, Churchill continued, it was decided that they would continue in service in the Allied cause, and an equivalent number of British warships and merchantmen would be delivered to the Red Navy on temporary loan. Churchill said this was the action taken.

Half of the merchant ships and all the warships with the exception of the United States Cruiser Milwaukee were provided by the British government.

"The British warships handed over were the battleship Royal Sovereign, eight former American destroyers, (Continued on page four)

Occupation Zones Of Germany Are Announced

Washington, June 5—(AP)—Germany's frontiers were rolled back to the boundaries of Dec. 31, 1937 today in a joint occupation statement by the Allied powers.

The statement by the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia, recreates the German nation as it was before Hitler's annexation of Austria and Czechoslovakia. The declaration was made simultaneously in Washington, Moscow, London and Paris.

No announcement was made regarding a joint control arrangement for Austria which is expected to be set up in the fairly near future. Treatment of Austria presumably will be tempered by the Moscow declaration of 1943 which looked toward a restoration of Austrian freedom, depending upon Austrian efforts in behalf of their own liberation.

The Austrian situation is complicated by the recent establishment of the Renner government in Vienna behind Red Army lines, which has not yet been contacted by representatives of Britain, the United States and France.

Bombers Set Fire To Kobe; New Advance On Okinawa

Surprise Amphibious Landing Almost Surrounds Jap Garrison On Oroku Peninsula; Nimitz Predicts Victory On Okinawa May Come In Three Or Four Days

By HAMILTON W. FARON Guam, June 5—(AP)—American Marines fought for complete control of the last Japanese-held airfield on Okinawa today in the wake of a surprise amphibious landing which put strong American forces on three sides of the enemy's Oroku Peninsula garrison.

Tough paratroopers and Marine raiders of the Sixth Division overran half of the big Naha Bay, on the island's west coast.

Other Tenth Army troops slashed ahead in the central and eastern areas, reaching the southern coast and registering advances up to three miles, a record for the campaign.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz in a hearty message of "Well done," to the officers and men of Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner's Tenth Army, foresaw the conclusion of the Okinawa campaign within the next "three or four days" if they "can maintain their high-speed maneuvers."

Supplies were parachuted to battle line troops as the clinging mud, which for days slowed troop advances, continued to hold supply vehicles in its grip.

Japanese propagandists viewed their garrison's lethal position with alarm and Tokyo's newspapers agreed "unmistakable signs point to the enemy's intention to invade the Japanese mainland."

Japanese Domei news agency warned the loss of the island would lead to increased air attacks, both from Okinawa-based planes and by Superfortresses.

Surprisingly light opposition was encountered by Maj. Gen. Lemuel Shepherd's Fourth Regiment as it plunged ahead from an 1,800 yard beachhead to attack Naha airfield, best of the Japanese-built domes on the island.

Associated Press Correspondent Al Dopping, with the Fourth Marine Regiment which executed the amphibious hop, wrote that the Leathernecks found the operation easier than they expected, and casualties were light.

"Most of their trouble," he said, "was in getting over the coral reef which stretched out into the Pacific for 200 yards. Some amphibious (Continued on Page Five)

Halsey's Hunting Ground Again

The Navy has revealed Adm. William F. Halsey is back with his powerful Third fleet in the Pacific. On Okinawa, Americans gained through crumbling Jap defenses. Yanks were routing Japs from caves in the mountains on Mindanao. Japs reported an attack on Marcus Island by a U. S. submarine.

Legal Technicality May Free Meadows

Possibility That Second Trial May Be Delayed Or Not Held At All

The possibility that the second trial of Dr. Leon R. Meadows on charges of embezzlement and false pretense may be further delayed or never held at all loomed today as lawyers studied all the legal ramifications of the "former jeopardy" motion injected into the case yesterday by Judge Albion Dunn, chief of defense counsel. Judge J. Paul Frizzelle presiding over the special term of court, called to hear the case, took the matter under advisement and stated he would hear arguments on the motion tomorrow morning. A special venire of 100 Lehigh county citizens has been summoned to appear here tomorrow morning at 9:30 from which the jury is to be drawn.

The case hit a legal snarl yesterday afternoon when the defense contended that Judge Clawson L. Williams, who presided over the first Meadows trial, abandoned the case when he opened a regular civil term of court while the jury was deliberating on the Meadows case and that therefore Williams was without legal authority in ordering a mistrial in the case when the jury reported that it could not reach an agreement. The defense contended that under these circumstances there had been no mistrial in the first case but that on the other hand Meadows had been automatically freed by the judge's action and that therefore to attempt to retry him was placing him in jeopardy the second time for the same alleged offense.

Solicitor D. M. Clark replied that he had asked Judge Williams prior to the opening of the regular term (Continued on page four)

The graduating exercises of the class of 1945 will be held Wednesday night, at the College at 8 o'clock.

Armada Of Approximately 450 Superforts Drop 3,000 Tons Of Incendiaries Transforming Jap Industrial And Transportation Center Into Mass Of Flames

By ROBBIN COONS Guam, June 5—(AP)—Approximately 450 Superfortresses battled through snow, fog, thunderheads, accurate anti-aircraft fire and fastly strong fighter opposition today to transform the industrial and transportation center of Kobe into a mass of smoke and flame.

The B-29s, flying through weather so bad they had to make the trip without fighter escort, found perfect weather over Japan's largest port city and spent an hour setting it afire with 3,000 tons of incendiary bombs in a blazing first anniversary celebration of the initial Superfort raid.

Returning pilots described the results as excellent. They guessed damage would exceed the nearly seven square miles burned out of Yokohama in the May 29 strike at Nippon's second largest port.

About 40 Japanese fighters, some of them fairly aggressive, were sent up to intercept the light bomber formations, and a few flew above the B-29s to drop phosphorous. But they couldn't keep the daylight attackers from coming in dead on their target in the third fire strike at Japan's sixth largest city.

Six hours after the last bomber turned away Japanese broadcasts conceded that fires were only "gradually being extinguished." Tokyo said fire bombs also set flames in Mikagomachi and Ashiya, industrial towns respectively two and six miles east of Kobe on the rail lines running along Osaka Bay to the city of Osaka, last previous B-29 target.

The Domei news agency, quoting a joint army-navy communique issued in Tokyo, said 56 Superfortresses were shot down, 23 were damaged. Seven Japanese interceptors were listed as lost, including those that carried out body-crushing attacks.

Superfortresses centered their incendiaries on a heavily industrialized square mile area of eastern Kobe, including the cities two main railway stations, the extensive Kobe Steel Works, shipyards and major docks. This is approximately adjacent to nearly nine square miles in the center of the city burned out in previous strikes.

While the B-29s were enroute back from Kobe, Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's 21st bomber command headquarters reported that nearly three and one-half square miles of industrialized Osaka was destroyed (Continued on Page Six)

CHINESE DRIVE AGAINST JAPS

Closing In On Former U. S. Base At Liuchow

By SPENCER MOOSA Chungking, June 5—(AP)—The Chinese high command said today Chinese forces were executing an enveloping movement against Japanese forces at Liuchow, former site of a U. S. 14th Air Force base, and Ishan, 43 miles to the west.

Severe fighting was reported in the suburbs of Szelo on the highway to French Indo-China, 70 miles southwest of Liuchow. The high command announced the recapture of Kweihshien, important port on the West River in southwestern Kwangsi Province, 95 (Continued on Page Four)

Lt. Edgar Denton Back In States

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Denton have received a telegram from New York from their son Lt. Edgar Denton stating that he has arrived safely in America and hopes to be home soon.

Lt. Denton, an Army air force pilot, was shot down over Germany and spent many months in a German prison camp before being liberated when the Americans overran the German forces in the closing days of the European conflict.

There has been strenuous agitation in the past two years to abolish that two-thirds rule. Some congressmen wanted a simple majority vote of both houses—the Senate and House of Representatives—to be all that was necessary to ratify a treaty.

The Senate couldn't see that. Why should it, it must have asked itself? Here it had great and special power—a power not shared by the House—and why should it yield any of it? It hasn't. The Senate is still in the saddle.

The American delegates at San Francisco know all that. They know what the Senate did about our joining the old league. They know it might happen again. The American delegates know, in spite of all their work in San Francisco, that a maximum of 33 displeased Senators could keep us out of the new league.

They know that every word which goes into the new league charter will be examined by the Senate. Some Senators, who otherwise (Continued on page four)

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Reports that the Chinese have cleared the enemy from several towns along a 75-mile stretch of coast from Foochow to Saipu naturally revive consideration of an American amphibious operation in that direction.

There are several objectives to be gained which must weigh heavily among military leaders.

Some months ago it was thought that occupation of Formosa and a drive into the continent might prove desirable, might even be necessary before Japan could be invaded. Then it began to appear that Formosa could be neutralized, and that an invasion of Japan might entail little more effort, and might produce infinitely greater results than a strike into Japanese-occupied China.

That still remains true. An invasion of Japan embraces the strong possibility that it would be decisive, whereas, barring a surrender in which military men decline to place any hope, operations in China would only be preliminary to the knockout.

But there are problems connected with the invasion of Japan which have not been solved, and chief among them probably is the lack of sufficient air bases. Certainly we do not now hold the ground to care for all available planes. Compare England and Italy with Okinawa, Iwo and Saipan and you get some idea. And England was terribly crowded.

Pallbearers will be five nephews, B. L. Julius, Alfred, Johnny and Jamie Ross and A. U. Leggett. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery. Mrs. Simmons was a member of Whitchard's Primitive Baptist Church. She spent her entire life in the Pactolus community.

In Memoriam
On March 12, 1945, the death angel came to Greenville and called Tom Watson home our beloved Thomas Mervell Watson, known to the doctors and his close friends as "Tommy."

Dr. Watson was born at Wagram, N. C., October 25, 1885. Here he spent the early days of his life. He attended the Medical College at Wake Forest, N. C., and Tulane University, New Orleans, La., where he received his M. D. degree on June 12, 1919. He practiced general medicine a short while at Maxton, N. C. While treating children there he had the call to specialize in pediatrics so he could fill a wider duty to seriously sick babies and children. He studied his specialty at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. Then he limited his practice to babies and children and located with Dr. J. B. Sidbury at Wilmington, N. C. He remained there six years and came to Greenville in April, 1920, where he spent the rest of his life. He was a loyal member of the Memorial Baptist Church. He belonged to many medical societies including the Pitt County Society, N. C. State Medical Society, A. M. A., and he was a member of the American Academy of Pediatricians. He was a member of the Board of Directors of Pitt Community and Pitt General hospital from July, 1942, until the time of his death.

Dr. Watson's friends covered a wide area. He had very close friends in medical fraternities reaching from the Gulf of Mexico to Boston, Mass., and he also had intimate professional associates in many western states.

Dr. Watson lived with us here in Greenville for 15 years. During this time he endeared himself to the hearts of doctors, patients and other friends in a deep sincere manner of loveliness and devotion that few men possess.

We, the Medical Profession, who lived with him so closely, loved him so much on account of his unselfishness, unpretentiousness and outstanding ability and honesty, are deeply grieved at his passing. We will be saddened all our lives by not having the privilege of his mingling with us any more and filling us with the highest type of inspiration. From an overseas doctor comes the message: "What will Pitt County be without Tommy?" While we are deeply saddened on the other hand we are forced to realize that we were most fortunate and blessed to have had the privilege of his associations for the years we have had him in our midst. With the great spiritual atmosphere we enjoyed while with him, we feel that surely the angels in heaven had loaned him to us, and the high type Christian he was he had filled his earthly mission and left his spiritual example for our eternal benefit. We will forever be lifted up by having lived under his Christian influence.

Surely Dr. Watson has lost nothing. His life was so magnificent and beautiful, so filled with faith, hope, love and sweetness. His life on earth was so completed that he was ready and called to fill a richer life in his heavenly home. Therefore he resolved that in the passing of Dr. Watson first, we have lost a dear friend, a Christian gentleman and a most valuable citizen in our community. Second, we have lost an expert physician in his specialty and a most beloved friend to the doctors. Third, that a copy of these resolutions be mailed to his family, a copy be spread in the minutes of the Board of Directors of Pitt Community and Pitt General hospital, and a copy be published in the local newspaper.

Fine Spirit Army Nurses
Mrs. Minnie Morton Ward, wife of Lt. L. B. Ward, U. S. Army, who was severely wounded in France last August when a German bullet struck him in the jaw, has received a letter brimful of human interest from Lt. Toni Mordasky, army nurse who attended Ward in an English hospital and did not expect him to live. "Your husband had plenty of grit, and when a patient has a will to live, his own fight is half of the recovery," the nurse wrote. "Lt. Ward was the worst casualty I had seen and I was determined to help him to live. We rejoice that he is recovering satisfactorily and I am sure that the great surgeons of the army will make him fit again."

The letter is characteristic of the brave spirit of army nurses. Ward is now in Tuscaloosa, Ala., with his wife and son, Kirk, to be near the Northington General Hospital. Army surgeons plan to restore his jawbone by plastic surgery. Mrs. Ward is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Otis Morton of Greenville.

With 30th Infantry Drive
Among the crack American troops crossing the Rhine river was the veteran 30th infantry division, of which Staff Sgt. Elmer Cox and Tech. Sgt. Howard J. Simpson of Greenville, were members.

Landing on the French coast shortly after D-day, the division went into its first fight on June 15, battling across northern France into Belgium and Holland and the smash into the Siegfried Line last October. When Von Rundstedt made his gamble in December, the 30th was called to Belgium, where it handled its portion of the northern flank in typical fashion.

Strength FOR THE DAY
 By EARL L. DOUGLAS

NO OTHER ANSWER
 The head of the French Huguenot church, speaking in this country recently, declared that the catastrophe which overtook France was the culmination of a widespread disregard of religion among a great section of the population, which began a generation or more ago. He dwelt upon the fact that this spirit of paganism existed in all lands which were overrun and defeated by Fascism. This last calamity, he maintains, was the result of years of religious indifference.

We had better be careful in this country. Many people are unaware that vast sections of the population in fact over fifty per cent of our people—are in no way influenced by the Church. Ninety-five per cent of our criminal class come from homes utterly devoid of religious influence. The Sunday schools of the country are having a hard time to hold their pupils. This thing we call juvenile delinquency is the customary rebellion of adolescence grown to such proportions as to become a social problem.

We cannot maintain standards of righteousness without the influence of religion. Anyone who believes that ethics can exist apart from religion can also believe that trees can grow suspended in mid-air without any connection with the soil. For us it is back to religion, or forward to chaos.

AMERICA IN WARTIME
 By JACK STINNETT

Washington — When President Truman appointed lanky, young Texan Tom C. Clark attorney general, he was putting another fellow "on the spot."

It seems to be a game President Truman enjoys; perhaps because the tragic circumstances that elevated him to the Presidency put him very much on the spot.

The reason, however, that Tom Clark is here is that he has a reputation for winning every case he takes. This, of course, isn't true, but his record really is remarkable. As a young lawyer, he skyrocketed as civil attorney for Dallas County, and scored practically 100 percent.

Eight years ago, he came into the government as attorney for the Department of Justice. He has since held more jobs than you could throw a gavel at including anti-criminal division, and such complicated matters as reallocating the Japanese living on the west coast after Pearl Harbor. His record still is 90-plus per cent and Clark is all modesty, not braggadochio, when he says simply "Well, I never take a case unless I think I can win."

Tom Clark comes from a family of lawyers, both by birth and by marriage. His father, William H. Clark, came from Mississippi but made his mark at the bar and the bank in Dallas.

Young Tom finished high school in 1917 and his father sent him to Virginia Military Institute. A year later, he was in the National Guard and served a month as sergeant before the Armistice.

Note: One more Army man that President Captain Harry of World War 1) Truman has appointed to key government jobs.

After that, Clark went to the University of Texas at Austin to pick up his law degree. It was there that he met Mary Ramsey, whose dad was Judge William P. Ramsey of Cleburne. They were married in 1924. There are two children: Mildred, who's a sub-deb; and "Bill," who is in high school.

Aside from his record as a winning lawyer, the thing you most often hear about Tom Clark in Washington is that "he's the friendliest guy in town."

The thing that lawyers hate on is that Tom Clark is a lawyer. This isn't really a complaint against his predecessor. The point that makes it that Clark is a lawyer's lawyer is that why he's on the spot. If the lawyers knock him down, he will mean creating new WPA's. Australian finally suggested the league should say it would promote full employment. No. That wasn't right. It bothered the American delegation which at last suggested that the league should "seek solutions for problems of unemployment."

That's a lot different from promoting full employment, although even that phrase is pretty vague.

 miles south-southeast of Luichow. From Kdehsien, the high command said, one column was moving down the West River while a second column was moving northward toward Muson, about 55 miles south-southeast of Luichow.

In the coastal province of Fukien, the high command said, Japanese remnants are being pursued north-east of Foochow.

A semi-official Chinese dispatch said today that Chinese forces had occupied Siapu, 75 miles northeast of Foochow, and added that Japanese forces were fleeing northward along the highway leading to Wenchow, 220 miles south of Shanghai.

Siapu was originally captured by a small enemy relief force which the Japanese landed on the Fukien coast in support of enemy troops withdrawing northward from the Foochow region along the highway to Wenchow.

An official Chinese announcement said Chinese forces in Kwangsi Province had reached a point 21 miles southwest of Luichow, site of a former U. S. airbase which was captured by the Japanese last November. This represented a seven-mile advance on 24-hour basis. But the Japanese were reported standing firm near Ishan, 43 miles west of Luichow.

An American communique announced that planes of the U. S. 14th Air Force continued attacks on enemy positions in the Luichow area.

Occupation of Siapu by the Chinese suggested that the Japanese were retreating overland to Wenchow (Yungkia), a small but once thriving Chekiang port.

Chinese quarters believed that the force which the Japanese recently sent thrusting southward from Wenchow was going to the relief of withdrawing enemy troops.

The dispatch asserted that Japanese troops at Yuhawan Island off the Chekiang coast near Wenchow had been liquidated and that some puppet Chinese troops, previously captured by the Japanese, were hiding in the hills on the island.

In Northern Kwangtung Province east of the Canton-Hankow railroad, Chinese forces were reported to have inflicted heavy casualties on Japanese troops thrusting westward from Kuantu, 100 miles north-northeast of Canton.

Reliable Chinese reports chronicled a steady contraction of Japanese lines in Kwangtung and declared that among points abandoned by the enemy during this process, were Hoiping, Szeping, Sunwai, and Toishan, all lying in the area between Canton and the South China Sea. Many Chinese living in the United States come from these four towns.

 destroyers, and four modern submarines.

"Further, a destroyer was made available to provide spare parts," Churchill said, "and assumed 'full responsibility' for the transaction."

He did not make clear just what the U. S. contribution was outside of the cruiser Milwaukee, but it was presumed the Americans supplied half of the 40,000 tons of merchant shipping the Russians sought.

The disposition of the Italian fleet will be left to the peace conference, Churchill said.

Laborite Ivor Thomas suggested that, with the war against Germany over, the time had come for Russia to return the ships so that they could be used in the Pacific.

"These vessels would not be vessels we would use in the war against Japan," Churchill said. "We send to the other end of the world only our best and newest. The American would not thank us if we brought older vessels."

"I could not think of anything so ungracious as to suggest to the Soviet government that by withdrawing these vessels we had any objection whatever to their having a fleet and training their men for a powerful fleet and an adequate merchant marine fleet to travel all the oceans of the world."

London dispatches previously had disclosed that nine of the over-ripe U. S. destroyers traded to Britain had been sent into Russian service, but it had not been known that they were sent in response to Russian demands for part of the Italian fleet.

 would vote for our entry into the league, might turn away if a word, or sentence or paragraph assayed them.

That is one of the reasons behind the American delegation's care about what is written into the charter.

Already the work of the San Francisco conference has been criticized in the Senate, before the work is finished.

Senator La Follette (Iowa-Wis.) flamed at the veto power of the Big Five, the ability of any one of the Big Five to prevent league action against itself.

So the American delegation has been extremely careful of every move made at least by its own members.

Perhaps our delegates would have overruled with a great deal more boldness if they were into the league. It is a simple majority vote of both houses instead of the two-thirds vote in the Senate.

Perhaps the underlying spirit of the Senate accounts for this kind of outline on words by the American delegates.

Russia wanted the league to say every man has a right to a job. This could be interpreted by some Senators, of course, as meaning the United States would have to provide jobs for everyone, even if it were retreating overland to Wen-

Legal Technicality . . .
 of civil court, while the jury was deliberating, whether or not he had authority to do so and said Judge Williams declared that he was within his authority and the opening of the regular term in the interim would have no bearing on the Meadows case.

Judge Frizzelle, in continuing the matter until tomorrow morning, advised attorneys on both sides to be prepared to present legal proof and precedents for their contentions.

Other than the fact that the matter probably would finally be decided by the Supreme Court, there was no statement from any of the attorneys as to what the next step would be following Judge Frizzelle's decision in the matter.

These possibilities are open to the defense which accounts for the statement that the trial may be delayed or never tried at all.

Following the present of similar cases in some other states the defense could apply to the Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition and should the court grant such a writ the lower court would be barred from proceeding with the trial until such time as the higher court had rendered its decision on the "former jeopardy" plea. Should the higher court decide in favor of the defendant he would be free and no further trial on the charges would be held by the lower court. Should the higher court decide against the defendant then the trial of the defendant would be resumed.

2. Should Judge Frizzelle render a decision against the plea of the defendant tomorrow the defense could take exception and thereby open the door of appeal to the higher court should the jury find the defendant guilty. In such case the Supreme Court would have to decide the "former jeopardy" issue and if it found with the defendant his trial and conviction would be null and void, or should it find against the defendant the conviction would stand.

In either event it appears that the injection of the motion into the case has assured its final decision by the Supreme Court unless the defendant should be found "not guilty" by the lower court. In case of an acquittal the prosecution has no right of appeal.

Look To President . . .

 accepted by Britain, France and China, which has deadlocked the conference on the whole veto issue, despite rapid progress on other questions, including approval of much peace-enforcement machinery.

American officials hope that a Moscow decision will be forthcoming promptly. It could speed the work of the conference committees on remaining problems and possibly permit a windup by June 15.

The five Arab states, Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Iraq, agreed to vote as a bloc against granting the veto so long as the De Gaulle government continues in France. They are angry over France's Syrian policy.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.), representative of the American delegation on a conference committee blueprinting enforcement powers of a world league, offered yesterday's most advanced progress report.

The key charter of the developing peace charter is that dealing with peaceful settlement of disputes. The first section is that which is directly tied up by the veto dispute since the small nations want to know exactly how far any one great power could go in blocking even peaceful efforts to prevent war.

The second section, however, is that covering enforcement arrangements which the security council could use to restore or preserve peace and it was approved by the committee. Its main provisions are:

1. The council would have power to determine a "threat to the peace, breach of the peace or act of aggression" and might either recommend or order measures to restore order.

2. It could freeze a threatening situation and if the disputing nations failed to heed its orders to stop making trouble it could take that failure in account in its further steps.

3. Short of using armed force the council could then back up its decisions with such things as "complete or partial investigation of rail, sea, air, postal, telegraphic, radio and other means of communication and the severance of diplomatic and economic relations."

4. Other means having failed it could send United Nations land, sea and air forces into action.

5. It would get these forces from member nations, especially the big powers, and it should take the initiative in setting up treaties with the member nations to state exactly how many forces each would make available to it.

6. Particularly it should arrange for "national air force contingents for combined international enforcement action." This would be the council's nearest approach to an international air police force, although it actually would not be internationalized.

7. The council would say which one or more of the organization's members should take action when necessary.

8. Plans for military enforcement action would be made by the "military staff committee" a sort of global high command, which could, if it desired, have regional subcommittees. It would be composed of the chiefs of the staff of the Five Big powers.

Lord shall lift up a standard against him.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-lesson were: "Following from the Bible: 'Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Hearken not unto the words of the prophets that prophesy unto you; they make you vain; they speak a vision of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord. Behold I am against them that prophesy false dreams, saith the Lord, and do tell time, and cause my people to err by their lies, and by their lightness; yet I sent them not, nor commanded them; therefore they shall not profit this people at all, saith the Lord.' (Jeremiah 23:16, 32)."

The lesson-lesson also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The maximum of good is the infinite God and His idea; the All-in-all. Evil is a supposition, the truth of immortal mind sustain man, and today they annihilate the fables of mortal mind, whose fimsy and gaudy pretensions, like silly motes, singe their own wings and fall into the dust."

tractors hung up on the reef. Admiral Nimitz reported the Marines already had constructed bridges to Onoyama Island, in the center of Naha harbor, and were moving reinforcements and supplies across to strengthen the new position along a 1,200-yard beachhead on the southern shore.
There were indications that a fairly large group of Japanese troops was intact near the southern end of Naha airfield, for the Marines encountered considerable mortar and automatic weapon fire. They also ran into antipersonnel and land mines.
To the east, similar fire was encountered by Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Marine Division, which banged up to 1,000 yards near the center of the rapidly changing line, capturing Kochinda heights and Tomusu town.

MISS CORRELL WILL RETIRE

Music Teacher At College For 23 Years

Miss Lois V. Correll, piano teacher in the ECTC Music Department for the past 23 years, has recently announced her retirement. Miss Correll, a native southerner, born in Lexington, Va., came to ECTC to teach in the summer session in 1921 and became a regular member of the faculty in 1922. Since that time, hundreds of teachers in East Carolina have received their piano training from her.

She received her teacher's certificate from the Peabody Conservatory of Music and did further study at the New England Conservatory, Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y.; Chautauqua, New York; Peabody Conservatory; and in Paris, France. Among the well-known teachers with whom she has studied are Conradi at the Peabody Conservatory; Landow and Mrs. Genhart at the Eastman School of Music; and Madame Barouret de Giraldi at the Normal School of Music in Paris.

Three of Miss Correll's students played in the Commencement recital Saturday evening — Elizabeth Brown, Iris Lee and Camille Jernigan. Miss Correll's interest in instrumental music includes the violin. For several years she has been playing in the College orchestra.

Miss Correll plans to move into an apartment in Greenville where she will make her home and have a private piano studio.

Rotarians Hear Unusual Speech

By WYATT BROWN
The national debt in relation to national wealth finds the United States debt a small fraction of the total wealth. Hoover Taft told the Rotarians last night. He illustrated by citing figures from the Department of Interior records and figures on the resources which constitute the wealth. He announced as the title of his address, "A Vision in the Night."

Right now the national debt is 300 billion dollars and it is likely to exceed 500 billion by the end of the year. To measure by Taft recalled how perturbed the public was at the 30 billion dollar debt upon the advent of the first Roosevelt administration.

Compared to the national wealth of 12 trillion dollars, the speaker observed a healthy debt situation. Then he went into the sources of wealth—natural resources, productivity of labor and inventive genius. He cited the extent of exploitation of each natural resource revealing to his audience the abundance of each, or satisfactory substitutes. With greatest emphasis he spoke of the productivity of labor as the least heard of and yet the most abundant item of national wealth.

"This country is not bankrupt. Its wealth is beyond calculation. I look forward to the post-war world, Gentlemen. I give you the future. It will be abundant and interesting. Have no fear. It will be the most exciting adventure in the history of mankind," he declared in conclusion.

President Joe Moye presided. Fitz Gammon was greeted as a new member last night. Visiting Rotarians from Ayden were Bill Johnson and Bill Bateman. Guests of the club were Ensign Orville Hollenbeck of Monticello, Minn., Norman Scrivner and Herbert Waldrop, Jr.

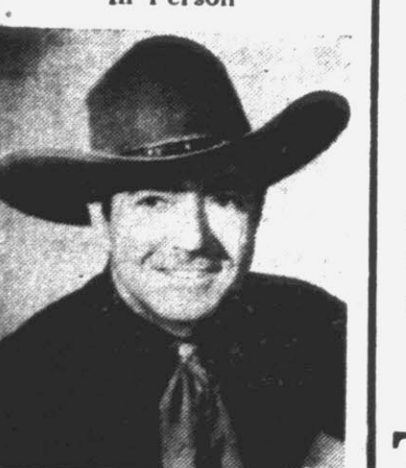

Jerry Vaden announced the organizing of a Rotary Club softball team.

Phil Goodson, chairman of the National Service committee presented the program. He persuaded all of the Rotarians to agree to buy at least one more War Bond before Father's Day, June 17.

Dr. Alfred Schultz read a letter to the club written by Hugh Winslow, who is now stationed in the Philippines.

Greenville Debate Team Wins Honors

The National Forensic League has granted a charter to the Greenville High School debate team. R. B. Starling, coach and director of the team, has announced. The purpose of the organization is to promote the interests of interscholastic debate, oratory and public speaking by encouraging a spirit of fellowship and by conferring upon deserving candidates a worthy badge of distinction. Officers of the Greenville chapter are: Robbie Dean Dixon, president; Bernadine Worsley, vice-president; and Gladys Tyndall, secretary. Other charter members are Frederick P. Brooks and Shelley Beard.

Greenville High School has had the best district debating record in North Carolina for the past two years. In 1944 Greenville's affirmative and negative teams won both championships in the district debate contest held at East Carolina Teachers' College. When the Greenville affirmative team won the district contest again last spring it was the only 1944 winner in the State to repeat.

The local winning debaters in 1944 were: Affirmative—Ralph Fleming and Richard Worsley; negative—David Whitchard and Gladys Tyndall.

In Nick Of Time

By TOM REEDY
Washington, June 5—(AP)—The Allied victory surge into Germany came just in time to break up what might have been the greatest U-boat campaign ever launched.
Previous official hints in this direction were given today meaning today by Senator Bailey (D-N.C.), Bailey told a reporter he had it on the best military authority that the Germans had developed a submarine so far advanced that it would have won the battle of the Atlantic.
Military authorities have said that evidence of a new giant drive on Allied shipping was plain in the Bremen and Hamburg construction yards.

Asks Conference On Middle East

Paris, June 5—(AP)—The French government decided today to propose formally a conference of the "Big Five" to consider the entire problem of the Middle East.
France's proposal followed suggestions Saturday by Gen. De Gaulle that such a conference be arranged as an answer to Prime Minister Churchill's call for a three-power conference in London by Britain, the United States and France.
Russia and China would be added to the conference, under France's proposal, and the Arab states also would be invited.
A communiqué said "The government has decided to propose that within the framework of international cooperation, with the agreement of the interested nations, the whole of the problems of the Middle East be submitted to a conference of the five great powers."
The government's decision will be transmitted immediately to Britain, the United States, Russia and China asking formal replies.

All Prisoners Are Recovered

Paris, June 5—(AP)—The Provost Marshal's office of the European theater announced today that virtually all American prisoners of war including those in Russian-occupied areas, have been recovered and that more than two-thirds have departed for the United States.
The announcement said 89,776 recovered American prisoners were either en route home or awaiting transportation.
Roughly 64,000 have been shipped home, it was said, and all except 3,000 to 4,000 of the remainder have been processed for shipment.

"The governments of the four powers hereby announce," one of the series of four statements on the occupation said, "that it is their intention to consult with the governments of other United Nations in connection with the exercise of this (occupation) authority."
At one point it was specified: "United Nations organizations will, if admitted by the control council to operate in Germany, be subordinate to the Allied control machinery and answerable to it."
The statements were released through the State Department here as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower left his Frankfurt-on-Main headquarters for a four-power meeting of Allied occupation commanders in Berlin.
