Final Victory On Okinawa Is Expected Momentarily

Tenth Army Seizes Island's Biggest Airfield And Control of Two Best Harbors; Yanks Effect Defense Against Suicide Planes; Remaining Japs Trapped

By LEIF ERICKSON
Guam, June 7—(AP)—The "final end" of the battle for Okinawa is in sight, largely because Americans perfected a defense against Kamikaze (suicide) planes. Tokyo's press and radio admitted today as American headquarters announced capture of the big Naha airport and further compressing of the remaining Nipponese garrison.

U. S. 10th Army engineers moved swiftly toward conversion of the Naha airfield into another effective base for airstrikes against Japan. 325 miles to the north. The field, a prime objective of the 68-day campaign, was taken over yesterday by Sixth Division Marines.

Japanese (Doem) news agency reported from its own correspondents the imminent end of Rising Sun strength on Okinawa with "the war situation gradually becoming more disadvantageous to our side."

"Further," Doem added, "the enemy has been effectively employing rocket ships and planes, which have checked our special attack (Kamikaze) corps aircraft from getting to their target. Kamikaze pilots have sunk 13 American ships and damaged 45 at Okinawa."

The newspaper Asahi, in an editorial broadcast by Radio Tokyo, commented the situation had become so grave "it is high time every bit of the nation's strength be thrown into this single battle of decision regardless of sacrifices involved."

"Without air supremacy," Asahi continued, "mastery of the sea cannot possibly be secured."

The "Remaining 15,000 Japanese on Okinawa were squeezed into a 25 square mile area at the southern tip of the island, where they apparently planned a final suicide stand."

Completion of the overrunning of Naha airfield was announced in Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's communique, which reported wide advances through the southern end of the muddy rain-swept island.

Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland, with Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr.'s Sixth Marine Division, said the Fourth Regiment which captured the airfield found wrecked Japanese planes of all types.

Landon Urges Nation To Support President

Swim Saved Five

Delton E. "Bill" Hayes recuperates in a hospital at New Orleans after his 17-mile swim that resulted in the rescue of five companions stranded in Lake Pontchartrain after their boat sank in a squall. Hayes spent 20 hours swimming to shore. He notified the Coast Guard and the Navy, and a flying boat was sent to pick up the men who had been in the water 23 hours. (AP Wirephoto).

Says Right Kind Of Relations With Russia First Step To Permanent Peace

Manhattan, Kas. June 7—(AP)—All M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee in 1936, called on Americans today to give their united support to President Truman "as he faces his crucial negotiations with Stalin and Churchill."

"We cannot merely attempt with fine words to sit on the lid of explosive forces now working in the world," the former Kansas governor told the Manhattan Rotary Club. "Our leadership depends on the vigor, soundness and unity with which we exercise it."

"The world is watching not only what our President does, but how we support his foreign policies."

At the same time, Landon said, America is failing to build a bridge of cooperation for peace in "our emotional approach to the problem of world peace and of Russia."

"The illusion current among many people that all we have to do is to follow the course charted from Moscow to Yalta is a dangerous fallacy that contributes to the difficulties of a satisfactory solution," the former Kansas governor said.

"Basically we have been trying to work with Russia, not only in war, but for a lasting peace. But Russia is making it exceedingly difficult, and there are those in the United States who are not making it easier by their loose talk that eventually we must fight Russia."

"There are still others who are not helping the situation by insisting that all Russians are perfect, and that all criticisms are Fascist lies."

"Whether the fault is ours—or the Russians'—or both, our first problem is to establish the right kind of relations with Russia."

Landon said there were five basic facts governing foreign affairs today. He listed these as:

1. A large part of the world hates the Russians.
2. A large part of the world fears Russia—an imperialistic, militaristic Russia.
3. Russia fears the rest of the world.
4. Whatever their doubts about us, a large part of the world wants American investment and American aid.

Sixty-Three High School Graduates Get Diplomas

Enjoyable Musical Program Featured All-Student Exercises Held In College Auditorium

By CHESTER WALSH
Greenville High School last night awarded diplomas to 63 graduates at impressive commencement exercises with an all-student program in the Wright Building at the college before an audience of more than 1,200 persons. Two of the graduates had entered the armed forces and their diplomas were presented to their parents. Fifteen other members of the class had graduated last summer, a year ahead of schedule, and two of them entered the armed service.

Harold A. McDougle, played "God Of Our Fathers" as a professional.

"Let Us Forget" Kipling's recessional was sung by the Mixed Chorus, under direction of Oona Shindler, as an accompaniment to an impressive memorial service, led by Supt. John H. Rose, in memory of the 15 students who had made the supreme sacrifice in World War II. Their names and the parents' names are as follows:

John C. Johnston, Mrs. F. V. Johnston; Lt. Stanley Woolfolk, Mrs. S. M. Woolfolk; Pfc. Jimmy Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Fleming; S-Set Linwood F. Jones, Mrs. Ernest Jones; Lt. Larry Edward Brown, Mr. Larry Brown; S-2 Charlie Gray Morgan, Mrs. Annie Stator; Lt. William Dail, Mr. and Mrs. Titus Dail; Lt. Preston C. Clark, Mrs. Geo. A. Clark; S-Set Morris Afevoms, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Afevoms; Engineer Cadet Bernard Spelman, Mrs. J. B. Spelman; Lt. Henry Matt Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Raal; Lt. Bill Alford, Mrs. D. S. Holmes; Cpl. Lewis Walter Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Cherry; Pfc. Hillard C. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Rogers.

Lillian Wooten, president of the Senior Class, introduced Gladys Tyndall, who delivered the commencement address. Her subject was "Our High School In War and Peace." She gave an interesting recital of what the school accomplished in peace and enumerated its wartime activities. Her message was a revelation of great things achieved at the school.

Supt. Rose announced the following awards:

Lillian Wooten received the Black Masques award for dramatics. She also won the scholarship award, presented by the Women's Club to the student with the highest scholastic standing.

Dennis Fleming won the athletic award, a cup, presented by the sons of the late Dr. Joe Dixon.

Charles Lindbergh Corey was awarded a $25 War Bond for the best paper in the State on American History, given by the Society of the Mayflower Descendants of N. C. through the extension division of the University of North Carolina.

The graduating class had some money in reserve and donated $85 for drum majorette costumes for the band and $20 to the Music Department.

Gladys Tyndall won the Keech Cup awarded each year as a signal honor to the most outstanding student during the four years in high school.

Superforts Batter Osaka With Bombs Again Today

Meadows Case Heads For Supreme Court

Judge Frizzelle Today Denied Second Motion For Change Of Trial To Another County

Albion Dunn of Greenville, chief defense counsel in the trial of Dr. Leon R. Meadows, said late today that he would "mail tonight" to the state supreme court Chief Justice W. P. Stacy a petition asking for a writ of prohibition in the former college president's hearing on charges of false pretense and embezzlement of more than $14,000.

Either the chief justice or any other justice could rule on the plea, and should any of them agree to hear it, the Meadows case automatically will be postponed until the fall sitting of the high court. The court had its last term sitting on Wednesday.

The suit for writ should arrive in Raleigh tomorrow, but the supreme court might delay action for several days. In that event the Meadows case will proceed.

Another defense motion for a change of venue was denied today by Superior Court Judge Paul Frizzelle in the trial of Dr. Leon R. Meadows and the judge ordered the summoning of a special venire of 150 more men from Lenoir county to proceed.

However, the court advised the three-member counsel on both the state and defense side that should it appear that a jury could not be seated from Lenoir, he immediately would order a special venire from a remote county.

In advising the court of that intent, he said that he had located an area in which neither the Raleigh News and Observer nor the Greenville Reflector was read. The defense had claimed that both papers were prejudicial to the defendant, and that both had influenced their subscribers and other readers.

Judge Frizzelle said from the bench that should it appear during the progress of the trial that the (Continued on Page Six)

Naha Mayor

Maj. Anthony Walker, 28, of Fairfax, Va., (above) is now mayor of Naha, Okinawa capital, "elected" for the job by his division commander. He was given the job by virtue of the fact that his company was the first to take residence in the city. The Yale graduate started the war as a private and won his commission through officer candidate school. Major Walker is shown while on duty in the Pacific area, but not on Okinawa. ## Armada Of 450 B-29s Blasts Japan's Greatest Arsenal With High Explosives; Raid Lasts For Over Three Hours; Jap Reports Admit Many New Fires Started

By HAMILTON W. FARON
Guam, June 7—(AP)—In a marked departure from recent fire raids, 450 Superforts blasted war industries and the arsenal in Osaka, the Orient's leading industrial city, with high explosives and incendiaries today in their tenth large scale raid on Japan within a month.

The B-29s hit this morning as Tokyo's radio admitted 200,000 more Japanese have been driven from their homes by American air attacks and would be moved to farms to help raise Japan's meager food supply.

The bombers struck for three hours through heavy overcast. Results were not observed. But a joint Japanese army-navy announcement admitted fires were started in the northern and northeastern industrial sections. The enemy said flames were "steadily being brought under control."

Tokyo did not disclose the effect of high explosives aimed at the concrete and steel buildings of the huge Osaka arsenal where much of Japan's medium artillery and small arms are produced.

Other Marianas-based city dreadnaughts, swarming in at medium altitude, poured fire bombs on a hitherto untouched factory belt south of the Shin Yodo River. The total bomb weight was not immediately disclosed.

Today's devastation added to the 11.5 square miles of Osaka—a city where the population averages 45,000 to a square mile—burned out in bombings March 14 and June 1.

The target of the high explosives is separated only by a moat from the Osaka castle, outstanding landmark of the city, making it likely that the castle itself did not escape damage.

"This second blast in less than a week at Japan's second largest city apparently marked it for the fate already befallen the largest, Tokyo. Recently the 21st bomber command said the B-29s had erased all targets they had set out to smash in the capital city. Later the command announced that "the principal portion of Yokohama (Tokyo's port city) is virtually destroyed."

LEGION URGES QUICK TRIALS

Veterans Want Just Punishment Of War Criminals

The County Post No. 29, American Legion, recently passed a resolution calling attention to the importance of administering swift and just punishment to the German war lords for their atrocities in World War II. The resolution points out that few of the Germans were tried for their war crimes after World War I. Copies were forwarded to U. S. senators from North Carolina and the congressman from the First District. It was signed by Arthur B. Corey, James R. Worsley and F. A. Jordan.

A portion of the resolution is as follows:

"Whereas, it is necessary and fit for the survival of civilization that those who violate the laws of nations and the sanctity of human life be punished for their misdeeds, in order that peoples and nations who violate treaties and are aggressors of other peoples and nations, may know of a certainty that they will surely be punished and punished sufficiently.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by Pitt County Post No. 39 of the American Legion, in regular monthly meeting assembled on Tuesday night, May 15, 1945, that the Allied Nations do now, before the violations are forgotten and the violators forgiven, organize the necessary and (Continued on page four)

Local Market Opens Aug. 21

Danville, Va., June 7—(AP)—First auctions of bright leaf tobacco for the new season will be held July 24 when the Georgia-Florida markets open, committees of the Tobacco Association of the United States decreed at a meeting here yesterday.

Other belts in the southeastern states will continue as follows:

South Carolina, Aug. 1; East Carolina, Aug. 21; Middle Belt Sept. 11; Old Belt, Sept. 18; and Dark Fire Cured, Virginia Belt, Dec. 11.

Besides arranging opening dates, the committees of the TAUS approved sales procedure recommended by a joint committee of the association and the board of governors of the newly-formed Bright Belts Warehousemen's Association.

The marketing plan would result in daily sales periods to three and one-half hours on all the cured markets with the exception of those in the Georgia-Florida Belt. Sales would be limited to 1,400 piles daily for each set of buyers, and the weight of piles would be limited to 250 pounds. The Georgia-Florida markets would be allowed four and a half hours selling time daily, and 1,800 piles for each set of buyers.

Churchill Denies Secret Agreements

London, June 7—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today that the big three made no secret agreements at Yalta that had not already been made public, but indicated that the discussions covered a wider field than the decisions officially announced.

Laborites asked specifically why differences had arisen over the broadening of the Polish government—an issue many believed settled at Yalta.

"There were no secret agreements entered into at all" except an agreement to give Russia three votes at San Francisco, Churchill assured Parliament. He then added significantly:

"The conversations, of course, proceeded in a very intimate manner and I am not prepared to say that everything discussed at Yalta could be made the subject of a verbatim report."

The big three at Yalta were Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Marshal Stalin.

Expect Russia To Lose In Fight On Veto Issue

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Diplomatic News Editor

San Francisco, June 7—(AP)—American-Soviet differences over the right of free discussion in a world security council headed today toward an open fight in the United Nations conference, with the prospect that Russia would be defeated.

The Soviet delegation is reported expecting no word from Moscow to change its decision that the Yalta voting formula gives each of the Big-Five powers the right to veto discussion of an international dispute in the council.

If this is borne out in official dispatches from Moscow, the official silence on the controversy which has been nursed along by the other powers in the hope of preserving Big-Five unity, may be broken abruptly in formal statements.

That would have the effect of speeding up conference work. The veto issue has jammed important progress for almost two weeks. First the Russian delegation waited for its original instructions on the veto issue, and then the United States sought to get Moscow to reconsider its views.

The Big-Five met late yesterday but the subject was not discussed. Instead the Russian, American, British, French and Chinese delegations dealt with relatively minor issues, getting final agreement on a French amendment designed merely to strengthen protection already proposed under the world charter for treaties against enemy states of this war.

The Russian view on the veto is flatly opposed to that of the American delegation which is shared by Britain, France and China. These four contend that no power could have a veto until after a dispute had been discussed.

When the Russians first took their position on this question, Secretary of State Stettinius and other American officials thought it was based on a misunderstanding and suggested that President Truman intervene with Premier Stalin. The Russian delegation chief, Andrei Gromyko at the same time, informed his government of the attitude of the other four powers.

Mr. Truman is reported to have asked his special envoy to the Kremlin, Harry Hopkins, to take up the question, detailing the American interpretation. American officials here expect that whether or not Gromyko gets further instructions, Hopkins will advise the President if and when a definite "No" is forthcoming. In that event, most delegates say, a conference controversy would be unavoidable.

For regardless of whether the Big-Five differ or agree they are committed to respect to the other 45 nations in this conference on how the veto would work.

Fire Last Night Nichols' Market

Fire did considerable damage to the stock of groceries at Nichols' Market, 123 West Fourth Street, about 1:30 this morning. Fire Chief George Gardner said the blaze originated in an electric motor in a cold drink box in the front of the store. Firemen used a booster hose on the blaze. The greater part of the damage was on the stock, caused by heat and smoke. D. M. Nichols, proprietor of the store, could not estimate the extent of damage this morning. He carries some insurance, he said.

Nichols and Joe Norman were in the store until nearly midnight last night rearranging the stock on the shelves. Everything was all right when they left. The fire was caused by either a short circuit or a dry bearing in the motor of the drink box, the fire chief said.

Nichols announced today that he hopes to reopen the store early next week after insurance adjusters have appraised the loss and the stock and store are cleaned up.

France Calls For Big-Five Meeting

Paris, June 7—(AP)—Authoritative quarters said today the French government had formally invited other members of the big five to participate in a conference on the Middle East.

French embassies in Washington, London, Moscow and Chungking were instructed to present the invitation, along with a short statement of France's reasons for calling the conference. A responsible source said no note was delivered in connection with the invitations.

This will require formal answers from the other countries. Prime Minister Churchill, at odds with Gen. De Gaulle over the situation in Syria, told Commons Tuesday that a five-power conference would "cause a great deal of delay and require very careful consideration on many grounds." He sought immediate mediation by the United States, Britain and France.

Sir Edward Grigg, British minister of state resident in the Middle East, said in Cairo today that the British had established an organization to harvest grain crops of Syria and Lebanon. The British Ninth army will supervise the organization, in which the French will not participate, he said.

He said the organization was formed to insure the protection of the Levantine grain surplus, urgently needed in liberated Europe.

Sixth Army Breaks Up Enemy Groups Near Manila

By FRED HAMPSON
Manila, June 7—(AP)—Doughboys of the 38th Division battled a desperate enemy throughout the Mariquina Hill mass, east of Manila Wednesday.

More than 3,000 Japanese have been killed in this area by Maj. Gen. William C. Chase's men and large quantities of military booty captured.

The Japanese, apparently aware that the 38th is breaking them up to liquidate them piecemeal, are fighting fiercely.

On Mindanao, Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger's Eighth Army troops made two new landings Tuesday to completely seal off Davao Gulf.

With warships and strong air support, the men landed at Cape San Augustin, southeasternmost tip of Mindanao, and on Balut Island. Opposition was negligible.

Congressmen Vote Selves More Pay

Washington, June 7—(AP)—The House of Representatives stuck by its self-voted $2,500 annual expense allowance for members today, despite the Senate's refusal to go along.

By a roll call vote 206 to 152, the House sent the legislative appropriation bill to President Truman for his approval with the expense allowance intact. The vote came after a sharp debate over whether the House should vote on setting pay expenses or should back out of the $2,500 it voted itself last month.

The expense item, one of the most controversial subjects to reach Capitol Hill in months, had frayed tempers to the point where at least one blow had been struck.

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 7—(AP)—Veterans of World War I can save themselves a chunk of money by doing the smart thing before June 15.

On that date the last war's veterans collect the last of their bonus money.

This money totals $275,000,000 in what is called "adjusted service bonds."

These bonds—although some veterans don't seem to have realized it—have borne 3 per cent interest since 1936. They will not bear interest after June 15.

That $275,000,000 is all that's left of $3,758,564,439 handed over by the government as bonus to World War I veterans and their dependents.

Here's the story:

Veterans of the last war, when discharged from service, were given $50 and carfare home. Then they began to fight for a bonus.

In 1924 Congress gave it to them in this way:

Veterans who had served in this country were to be given $1 for every day's service. Overseas veterans were to get $1.25 for every day abroad.

No veteran could receive more than $500 for total service in this country nor more than $625 for overseas service.

(Veterans with credits of $50 or less were given $50. That finished them. They received $5,501,880.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

One of the questions most often asked me by readers of this column, as the Allies close in on Japan, is whether Russia is going to join us in crushing the brigands of the Pacific.

That's not an easy query to answer in view of the fact that there has been no official pronouncement for guidance, either from Moscow or the other Allied capitals. Marshal Stalin as usual has been exemplifying his nickname of "the Sphinx" by playing his cards close to his chest. For this reason any guess as to whether the Soviet Union will make war on Japan must be based on two things: logic and significant trends.

On both counts, as I see it, the probabilities are that the Muscovites will come into the war.

When? Well, the bulk of their fighting strength in all categories is in European Russia. We must allow time for the shifting of much of this strength to far-off Siberia—a titanic undertaking. It might be several months before Moscow felt sufficiently well set—perhaps late summer or autumn.

That's the way things stand now, but right here we should take cognizance of this fact: a trend is like a new-born river; if it encounters a major obstacle it is diverted from its course. There's no guarantee that the present picture won't change, although there is no sign of any shift at this writing.

The first item to substantiate my belief that Russia will fight Japan is one of logic. Looking at the thing purely from the standpoint of self-interest, it's to the advantage of the Soviet Union (or so it strikes me) not only to see Nippon knocked out but to have a hand in the job.

Japan's whole grandiose war scheme of establishing a new order in East Asia under her domination is a direct challenge to every Russian interest in the Orient, territorial, political and economic. And this program is the culmination of a long series of aggressive acts against Russia, dating back to the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-05.

As a result of her defeat in that war Russia had to cede to the Japs her rights to the strategic naval base of Port Arthur, and important interests in Manchuria. The Japs also got half of the big island of Sakhalin. Tokyo annexed Korea, and extended her hold on Manchuria until finally in 1931 she took over that great country outright.

Then came a steady procession of Japanese treaties against Russian Siberia. Finally the Japs overran part of China and then, when Russia (Continued on page four)

Women's Club Holds Final Meeting The Women's Club over which the president, Mrs. C. C. Hilton, ably presided, held its final meeting of the year at the Woman's Club building on Friday afternoon, June 1.

Meeting opened with the reading in union of the Collect of the Churchwomen of America. Mrs. C. E. Oakley, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and yearly reports of officers, committee and department heads, followed.

The treasurer, Mrs. Harvey Ward, gave a very fine report of her year's work. She reported that the club now owns six $100 war bonds and that after all dues, but four had been collected and all expenses for the year paid, there was a balance on hand in the treasury of $109.72. Mrs. Ward received a rising vote of thanks for her splendid work as treasurer. Mrs. Ward also gave her report as chairman of the Finance committee.

Mrs. Dink James read Mrs. A. C. Tadlock's report of the Division of Art and gave her own report as chairman of the War Service Committee. Mrs. W. H. Woolard reported for the Literature Department and for the Membership committee. Mrs. R. L. Humber, for the International Relations Committee and Mrs. N. C. Brooks, for the Radio committee. Mrs. Martin Swartz, chairman of War Stamps and Bonds, reported that stamps and bonds sold by the club totaled $251.114.

It was voted that the following divisions of club work be listed hereafter as committees instead of departments: American Citizenship, Education, Art, Music, International Relations and Public Welfare. The club henceforth will have but four departments: the American Home department, the Literature department, the Garden club and the Junior Woman's club, since in order to be recognized as departments by the State and National Federations, it is necessary that regular meetings of such groups be held therefore, strictly speaking, the Woman's Club of Greenville has only the four departments, listed above, which function as such. Mrs. C. C. Hilton gave the president's report which was brief but impressive. Mrs. Hilton said she had cooperated with all civic activities and legislative projects, had assisted with the clean-up and salvage clothing drives in Greenville and as the result of the cancer control drive had sent a check for $1,000

Williams played an important and vital role in carrying supplies and fuel to our fast-advancing armies, and evacuating liberated American British and French prisoners of war. Troop carrier C-47s were required to fly to fields close behind the lines and were often the first American planes to land on German airstrips.

First Lt. James Bullock, a navigator from Greenville, N. C., made many of these flights. He completed his 19th combat flight just before V-E Day. Lt. Bullock has been previously awarded the Air Medal and two Oak Leaf clusters for a part played in the D-day operations over Normandy, southern France and Holland. He also participated in the airborne-troop carrier operations over Wesel, Germany last March. In addition to these awards he is entitled to wear five battle stars in his European Theater ribbon and a presidential unit citation for achievements over Normandy. Lt. Bullock is the son of Mr. Lester M. Bullock, who resides at 1318 Myrtle Avenue, Greenville, N. C.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR June 7, 1905

Some engineers are here making a preliminary survey for a railroad. Whether or not it means another road for this section we cannot say as we have seen no one who seems to know anything about it. Greenville has many visitors today and the lath string hangs on the outside.

Official quotations on strictly prime potatoes are as follows: New York $2.25, Pittsburgh $2.00, Philadelphia $1.50. Buyers are not offering over $1.10, owing to the downward tendency of the market.

R. I. During the night enemy fire landed an ammunition dump which contained approximately two hundred rounds of mixed high explosive and white phosphorus mortar shells. Despite the imminent danger of the explosion of the entire dump, Sergeant Weston, with one companion, advanced through the intense heat to the source of the blaze. Disregarding the danger, he covered the flaming shell boxes with his poncho and dirt, extinguishing the flame. Sergeant Weston's quick and courageous action saved the surrounding area from destruction and prevented possible injury or death to the men of his platoon.

Home on Leave C. B. (Petey) West III, seaman first class, is spending a seven-day leave at his home in Greenville.

Released From Army Cpl. Waldo E. Austin, instructor in gunnery at Largo and Randolph Field, Texas, has received an honorable discharge from the Army Air Force. He is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Nellie M. Denny and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward D. Austin, in Greenville. He was in the service nearly three years. He received his discharge at Fort Bragg several days ago. Austin is a son of the late Prof. H. E. Austin of the college faculty, and Mrs. Austin. He will shortly return to his home in Roanoke, Va.

Mrs. Nannie Moore Died This Morning

Mrs. Nannie E. Moore, 62, wife of W. E. Moore, died at her home, 101 East 12th Street, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, after suffering a stroke of paralysis a few minutes earlier. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mrs. Moore, daughter of the late W. B. and Pennie Brooks Albritton, was born and reared in the Red Bank community of Pitt county. Since her marriage she had lived in Greenville. She was a member of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Surviving are a son, W. E. Moore of Greenville; three daughters, Mrs. W. F. Jackson of Cherry Point, Mrs. Richard Cash of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Ross Sumrell of Omaha, Neb.; three grandchildren, a brother, B. G. Albritton of Pamlico; her step-mother, Mrs. W. B. Albritton of Washington, N. C., and two step-sisters, Mrs. Brvant Clark and Mrs. Wallace Whitaker of Washington.

Presbyterians Hold Revival At Chicod

Revival services which began at Chicod School last Sunday under direction of Rev. Hayes Clark, pastor of several Presbyterian churches in this county, will continue through June 17. Rev. Sam Vealy of Greensboro, Ga., is preaching each night at 8:30. A gospel song service precedes the sermon. Attendance has been gratifying. The evangelist's sermon subject for tonight will be "Angel, Heaven and Mankind." His theme for Friday night will be "Jesus of Nazareth Passeth By." The public is invited.

Reprints Received Reprints have been received of an article entitled "What After College?" written by Mrs. Adelaide Bloxton, new head of the ECTC Home Economics Department.

The article summarizes and discusses the results of a questionnaire sent out to 350 graduates of the Home Economics Department between the years 1929 and 1943.

Students Registered Today Students registered at 9 o'clock this morning in Wright auditorium for the first part of the ECTC Summer session.

Red Oak News

We were grateful indeed at the response of the people in Red Oak community to the invitation to attend Sunday School last Sunday morning. There was the largest number present that has been in a long while at Red Oak. Let's make it double that number next Sunday morning. We would like for everybody who was there last Sunday to come and bring somebody with them. With the large number of intelligent white families living within a short radius of the church, our Sunday school auditorium should be

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WHAT CONSTITUTES EDUCATION

Many a man sighs over the fact that he has never had a college education.

A college education is a great privilege, provided one has intelligence and common sense enough to enable him to make the best of his opportunities. But no one ever received wisdom in college. Wisdom is something which comes from God. He gives it sometimes to the college-bred, but just as often, and perhaps more often, to the so-called illiterate.

Wisdom is the capacity to know life, and especially to know the meaning of life. If a man knows only books, he does not have wisdom. If he knows only what his personal ambition leads to, he has never gone far enough to find wisdom. But if he is not able to read, yet knows that life is an opportunity to learn how to live in a universe presided over by Almighty God—that man has wisdom.

The trouble with so many of our educated people is that they do not have wisdom. They have book learning but not wisdom. They have failed to learn certain basic facts which are essential. It is to the unlearned with open hearts and minds that God so often tells his secrets and gives his peace.

God chooses the foolish things of the world to confound the wise—the weak things to confound the mighty.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—It isn't known generally even in capital circles, but none of the "elder statesmen" of the Roosevelt administration is more in behind-the-scenes activities today than former Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

In his 17th floor room at Bethesda (Navy) hospital, the 73-year-old Tennesseean is enjoying better health than at any time in recent years. His weight has increased about 17 pounds. He spends some part of each pleasant day strolling about the grounds or taking drives around the Maryland countryside.

Mrs. Hull, who goes daily to the hospital and has been a constant attendant ever since her husband became ill, has admitted to friends that she really could go home tomorrow.

But that's just what physicians don't want him to do. They realize what pressure visitors and old cronies would put on him.

Nevertheless, Hull has never for long relinquished his grip on the pulse of State Department affairs. To intimates, he says only that he is making himself available whenever his advice is needed, but it is something more than that.

All through the San Francisco conference he has kept a direct line open to the west coast city. He never is out of touch with the White House. President Truman has been to see him several times for long chats and Secretary of State Stettinius has reported to Hull almost as often as he has to the White House.

This doesn't mean that all the decisions that have been made at San Francisco have been Hull's. On some matters, it is known his advice hasn't even been asked. One of these reportedly is the decision to seat Argentina at the conference.

Hull admits to friends that he isn't particularly concerned over the minor details of international organization now but is conserving his strength for "the major problems which are to come."

This is freely interpreted by those few in the know to mean that the secretary emeritus intends to throw the full weight of his close relationship with many senators into seeing that the world organization is ratified.

plans for hemispheric solidarity. It's no secret that on his trip to Moscow he laid the foundation of Durnatun Oaks and the San Francisco World Security Conference.

If some behind-the-scenes steering is needed to keep that world organization from going on the rocks, its almost certain now that Hull will be found with a hand on the helm. Because of the respect which Congress has for him and the admiration in which he is held by diplomats of many other nations, including Russia, this may in the end be of vital importance.

times the value of the compensation certificate.

For example: A man who had $600 in certificates would, at the end of 20 years and without paying out a cent of his own money, collect $1,500 on the endowment policy.

In 1931 Congress passed a law which permitted the veterans to borrow up to 50 per cent of the face value of the policy but no more than $725. Many borrowed to the limit.

In 1936 Congress set up a new system. Congress said veterans could exchange their certificates for treasury bonds, called adjusted service bonds.

These bonds, as noted earlier in the story, carried 3 per cent interest. These were 9-year bonds. The new system went into effect June 15, 1936. Therefore the bonds mature June 15, 1945.

Example of what this means: Each bond was worth $50. Suppose you had a $50 bond. Three per cent interest for 9 years on $50 would be $13.50. So on June 15 you'd collect your $50 but $63.50.

Now—some veterans in 1936 never did exchange those old certificates—the old endowment policies—for the 3 per cent treasury bonds.

Therefore, they've been losing that 3 per cent interest since 1936.

If you—a veteran—still have the old certificates, you can change them into bonds by June 15 and get full credit for the 3 per cent interest for the past 9 years.

You can't change them or get any interest after June 15. If you don't change them before, you're out of money.

Example: Suppose in 1936 you had a certificate worth $1,000. Three per cent interest for 9 years on $1,000 would be $270. So, if you still have that certificate and don't change it by June 15, you can cash it in for only $1,000. If you change it to adjusted service bonds now on June 15 you can collect $1,270.

Some veterans who held their certificates since January 1, 1925—the 20-year endowment policy—cashed them in last January 1 when the 20 years were up.

Veterans wishing now to change their certificates into bonds must submit them to the Veterans Administration which forwards authority to the treasury for issuing the bonds.

When the certificates are held to maturity, and not exchanged for bonds, the maturity value of the certificates is paid through the veterans administration.

The War Today...

sia and the Western Allies were heavily involved in a life-or-death war with Germany. The Mikado's war lords launched their assault on America and the other United Nations with the object of overrunning all East Asia.

Of the recent trends, the one which seems to me to be most conclusive is Japan's own attitude of fear that Russia is about to declare war. We see this exhibited in the troops from Southern China northward toward the Soviet border. This is accompanied by a naive and very expressive chatter by Tokyo spokesmen about what great pals Japan and Russia are.

Another significant trend was Moscow's denunciation of the Soviet-Japanese neutrality pact on April 5 of this year. In making this move Russia pointed out that Japan is fighting against U.S.A. and Great Britain, which are the Allies of the Soviet Union, and that the pact thus "has lost its meaning and the continuance of it has become impossible." Previously, in November of 1944, Marshal Stalin had publicly described Japan as "an aggressive nation."

On May 18 of this year Moscow newspapers prominently displayed a letter to Stalin from the people of northern Sakhalin Island (Russia's half) on the twentieth anniversary of "liberation from Japanese occupiers."

The general implication of the letter seemed to be that the northerners wanted all Sakhalin returned to Russia.

At the same time the Soviet army newspaper Red Star reported a training meeting of Red army commanders in Far Eastern Siberia, facing Japanese occupied Manchuria. And on May 23 an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow said:

"The Red Army is now in the midst of the greatest training period of its 27 year history. Dispatches from all over the nation, including the far-flung garrisons of Siberia, have reported an intensive schedule of practice in marching, firing, military tactics and strategy."

He would be a hard man to convince who didn't conclude that present trends point to war between Russia and Japan.

with grass during the three or more months it was inoperative," he wrote, "but it won't take a great deal of work or time by American massive scale construction methods to make it considerably more than the major Ryukyuan air base it used to be."

Naha airfield, the main Japanese stop in ferrying planes to Formosa, the Philippines, East Indies, South China and Malaya, was half seized Monday in an amphibious hop across Naha harbor by the Leathernecks. On Tuesday they cleaned out enemy strongpoints and yesterday they took full possession.

The Marines also captured a small island immediately west of the airfield and then moved swiftly southeastward toward a juncture with Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Marine Division, shooting down the center of the island.

Naha harbor already was being rendered for American use.

Across Okinawa on the east coast, meanwhile, Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh Infantry Division cleared the Chinese Peninsula, southern jaw of Nakagusuku harbor, the island's best fleet anchorage and onetime haven for Nipponese warships.

The 32nd Regiment of the famed-out Seventh Division reached the eastern end of the escarpment, which arcs in a four-mile crescent across the island. The land mass, 500 feet at the highest point, provides the last rough terrain for a defensive stand.

Across Okinawa is driving a strong Japanese garrison west directly into the fire of Maj. Gen. Clarence Martin's 31st Division advancing eastward.

It was learned today that General Eichelberger presented a Silver Star, a Bronze Star and the Air Medal to Maj. Gen. Woodruff—the latter for flights in artillery planes over his front lines.

In the 38th "divide and kill" action in the Marikina Hill mass, one battalion battled the Nipponese atop Mount Purro while other elements fought toward Mounts Ayaas and Coponanan. Another column pushed toward Mount Mapatad.

As the troops fought farther into the mountains the supply problem became difficult. Engineers were able to bulldoze roads to the base of the mountains but in many places supplies had to be carried manually to the front line fighters.

In other far-flung Philippine battle areas, Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beighler's Buckeye (37th) Division rushed farther into north Luzon's Casayan Valley against sporadic but tough Japanese resistance.

The Fifth Air Force's round-the-clock airstrikes in support of the Buckeye's advance is the most intense of the Pacific war.

From Cebu in the Visayas came word that 120,000 Cebu City residents who fled during the fighting have returned and are now rebuilding the city. Cebu's provincial governor Leandro Tolome estimated that 25,000 Cebu inhabitants were killed by the Japanese.

tion. Rev. A. Hartwell Campbell: "The Heavens Are Telling" from "The Creation," and "Viennese Melody" by High School Orchestra; "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," by Mixed Chorus; Solo "My Friend," by Malotte, by Geraldine Allgood, with Kathryn Van Nortwick as accompanist; Overture, "The Midnight Sun" and "Star Dust," by High School Band; "Emitte Spiritum Tuum," by Mixed Chorus and alumni; Announcements of awards by Supt. Rose; Quartet, "A Moonlit Night," by Amos Leggett, C. J. Cannon, Robert Clark and Richard Five; Awarding of diplomas and "Star Spangled Banner."

"A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" by the Mixed Chorus elicited prolonged applause. The orchestra's interpretation of "The Heavens Are Telling" (The Creation) by Haydn, reflected talent and ability and good training. The band made a distinct hit with "The Midnight Overture" and "Star Dust."

The outstanding feature of the musical program was the singing of "Emitte Spiritum Tuum" by the Mixed Chorus and the following alumni: Elizabeth Briders, Louise Kille, Pearl Saeed, Mimi Tripp, Rosalee Brown, Frances Smith and Hennie Ruth Whichard. This hymn is a traditional feature of commencement.

Joseph M. Taft, vice-chairman of the City School Board, and Principal O. E. Dowd presented diplomas to 63 graduates. Those names, marked by an asterisk are in the armed service. The graduates are: Helen Ruth Adams, Geraldine Allgood, Annie Earline Allen, Vivian Gray Allen, Mattie Laurie Barber, Mary Lucy Barnhill, Ione Hooker Bradsher, Elaine Joyce Briley, Eleanor Bee Brown, Oscar Hubert Brown, Elizabeth Tucker Carter, Mary Ruth Carter, James Edward Collins, Jr., Dorothy Conway, Charles Lindbergh Corey, James Richard Corey, Thurman Lee Dell, Evelyn Louise Deaver, Robbie Ulidene Dixon, Carolyn Dove Duval, Sarah Jean Ellis, Dorothy Etheridge, Dennis Baum Fleming, Delphia Alma Fife, Nancy Virginia Gaylord, Mary Ann Harris, Arlene Hawkins, Rachel Whichard Hawkins, Frances Emitt Hobgood, Thelma Jewel Howard, Virginia Dare Hunning, Jean Yvette Johnson, Catherine

CARL LANGLEY IS BACK HOME

Flier Tells Experiences As German Prisoner

By CHESTER WALSH

Lieut. Carl W. Langley, pilot in the 485th U. S. Bomber Squadron, stationed in Italy, who was reported missing in action over Germany, then in a German prisoner of war camp, and later was liberated by the American Third Army, has returned to Greenville. He has no love for the Germans because of the soldier and civilian brutality toward Allied prisoners, he said.

Langley was shot down last March 2 over St. Johann, Austria. He suffered a fractured skull, wounded leg and neck and was in a hospital two weeks. He was then taken on a train with other prisoners to Weizler, Germany, and remained there two weeks. The Germans were constantly moving the prisoners away from the approaching Allied troops.

"The trains were in constant danger of the American P-48 planes, which would pick off with a bomb the locomotive and then strafe the coaches with machine-gun fire. Those 50-caliber machine-gun bullets have a wicked sound," he said.

From the Weizler prison camp they were marched for 18 days to Moosburg, Germany, 40 miles from Munich.

Langley remained in prison at Moosburg until April 29, when they were liberated by the American Third Army. He said that while the prisoners were being marched through various towns they were attacked by German civilians with rocks, clubs, etc., and that one prisoner's leg was broken.

"It was satisfying and gratifying," the Greenville pilot said, "when the American troops arrived at the prison camp. When the GIs saw how horribly the prisoners were treated they lined up the German guards and shot them."

Langley said the food at the camps was awful — two slices of black bread and three small potatoes a day. He lost 35 pounds. At this point of the interview with a Reflector reporter, Lieut. Langley's face beamed when he repeated blessings on the International Red Cross for the food and medicine sent to the prison. "Half of the prisoners would have starved to death or died of wounds or illness without the Red Cross boxes," he said. "One of the first things I am going to do now is to make a donation to the Red Cross," he added.

He told of being marched through Nuremberg, Germany, the birthplace of Hitler's Nazi Party. "It was in ruins."

After his liberation from prison, Langley was flown to Paris, France, and then went by train to Le Havre, where he embarked on a ship for the United States.

Lieut. Langley arrived in Greenville last midnight to spend a long furlough with his wife, who was Eoline Sawyer before marriage, and visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Langley of near Greenville. After 60 days he will report to the Army Airforce Redistribution Center at Miami Beach, Fla., for reassignment to duty. He entered the service in April, 1943, and was overseas six months.

trial heart of Osaka were burned out June 1 in a 3,200-ton incendiary strike by 450 Superforts, escorted by 150 two-bay Mustangs. The fires set them sent up smoke for 27,000 feet.

Munitions factories are among Osaka's choice targets. The Tokyo radio, admitting munitions production has not come up to expectations since late last year, announced a drastic shakeup, involving 67 persons in the administration of munitions production.

First reports on today's Osaka raid contained no mention of losses among the big bombers. Ten were acknowledged lost over the target June 1.

Today's raid was the second large scale assault this week over Japan, following by two days a raid in equal strength on Kobe, Nippon's sixth largest city and principal port.

During a period of little more than two weeks, large forces of the B-29s have poured more than 18,000 tons of fire bombs on Japan's industrial and military targets.

"If Japan persists in fighting this war to a finish," said Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Far East Air Force, at Manila yesterday, "she is liable to find the Japanese islands reduced to nothing but a menace to navigation."

Osaka's industrial areas embrace production units for machinery, machine tools, chemicals and aluminum. The city also is a ship-building and major railroad center.

business connections for political as well as economic reasons.

Europe, which for many centuries was the center of the world, is today the center of complete confusion, because of our military victories and lack of agreed peace policies among the Allies.

"These," Landon said, "are the plain facts of a situation that confronts us now and will confront us for many years to come, and it is the height of foolishness for us to continue to ignore it."

"A fundamental of our statesmanship is that the United States must be an honest broker for peace among the nations. Today we stand as one of three great nations holding the real power of the world — the United States, Russia and

ASK FOR DELAY OF DRAFT LAW

Organizations Oppose Peacetime Training Measure

Washington, June 7—(AP)—The National Congress of Parents and Teachers urged today that peacetime draft legislation not be enacted "at this time."

Mrs. William A. Hastings, Madison, Wis., president of the organization claiming a membership of 3,500,000 persons, told the House Postwar Military Policy Committee that PTA's stand was determined after full discussion with the members.

"If a reasonably sized standing army, along with a strong national guard force, is ready for an immediate emergency, then our youth, in good physical condition, skilled and alert in mind, can soon be prepared for any part they must play."

Talk of peacetime conscription now Mrs. Hastings said, is "inopportune" because millions of men now in the armed forces or "preparing themselves for war" could be mobilized quickly in case of another war "within the next few years."

"Whom do we fear?" she asked. "Why must we at this time reverse all our philosophy and fasten upon ourselves a system that we have always opposed?"

"Let us bring our thinking up to date and look forward to a united effort for peace," she concluded.

The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America also registered opposition to action on the legislation now.

Speaking for the Council, Dr. Herbert J. Burghalter, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, told the committee the organization represented 25 denominations with 25,000,000 members.

Burl A. Whitney testified that the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen opposed the bill on the ground that Great Britain. If we in the United States make plain that we are not and will not be a party by action or inaction to any scheme or intrigue to gang up on Russia, Great Britain, China or any other nation, then we have laid the cornerstone for lasting peace."

peacetime military training would be an invitation to other countries to prepare for war.

Dr. Robert Gordis, president of the Rabbinical Assembly of America, said passage of the bill at this time "would be unwise and even dangerous."

Delay in consideration of peacetime draft legislation also was urged today by the Catholic Hierarchy in the United States.

The views of Catholic archbishops and bishops were stated in a letter to Chairman Woodrum (D-Va.) from the Very Rev. Msgr. Howard J. Carroll, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The stand of the Catholic prelates, Monsignor Carroll advised Woodrum, was based on these considerations:

"A matter 'so important should await decision until the end of the war when it can be known what the international situation will be.'"

"Those now in the Army and Navy 'should be given an opportunity to express their views.'"

Military requirements until the end of the war can be met by extension of the Selective Service Act.

CONCERNING BOOKS

"Mazie Lantern," by Lady Eleanor Smith. Romantic story of the disastrous marriage of a Devon squire and a gypsy girl.

"Two Solitudes," by Hugh MacLennan. Canada between the two wars forms the setting of a story of the two factions that go to make up Canada—the English and the French-Canadian.

"Party Line," by Louise Baker. A portrayal of small town life in America which is delightful entertainment both for those who remember the days of the party line and those of a younger generation.

"Pride's Way," by Robert Molloy. Set in Charleston, S. C., just before World War I. The author is literary editor of the New York Sun and a native of Charleston.

"A Lion in the Streets," by Adria Locke Langley. A readable story of the rise of an American demagogue, Hank Martin of Louisiana, and his ultimate treachery to the simple people to whom he owed his power and who could not be deceived forever. It is, too, the story of a young teacher from up north whom he married and who loved him dearly but could not condone his unscrupulous ambition.

Meadows Case . . .

defendant Meadows, charged with false pretense and embezzlement of more than $14,000 while president of East Carolina Teachers College could not have a fair and unbiased trial in Pitt county, he would stop the proceedings.

He said that he believed the people of Pitt county were determined to see that Meadows was given a fair trial, and should the opposite be true, "I should feel sorry for the people of this county."

The defense, represented by Albin Dunn of Greenville, Clay Carter of Washington and John G. Dawson of Kinston insisted that of the first special venire of 100 summoned from Lenoir, at least 90 per cent of the prospective jurors were dismissed on the grounds of prejudice had advised the court that they believed Dr. Meadows was guilty.

The defense insisted, therefore that it believed the defendant could not be tried fairly in this county.

The court made its observations after all of the special panel except three had been dismissed. None of the three, however, had been finally accepted by either the state or the defense.

Special Prosecutor Jess Jones of Kinston, who arrived in court just before it recessed until 9:30 a. m., tomorrow, informed Judge Frizzelle that he, too, did not believe that a jury could be obtained from Lenoir. His arguments in that respect paralleled those of the defense. But the court ruled that the summoning must continue and that a decision on whether to summon a special venire from a remote county would be decided later. "We will get a jury, gentlemen," he said, indicating that he planned to hold the trial and not postpone it.

The defense, meantime, said it was undecided whether to appeal before the state supreme court in a suit to obtain a writ of prohibition in the trial. The defense had contended that Judge Clawson Williams of Sanford, who presided over the former eight-weeks trial, was without authority to preside over the Meadows trial in its last week because he had convened a regular civil term. The attorneys argued that in opening the civil term, he automatically disqualified himself to order the mistrial in the Meadows case, that Meadows was automatically acquitted and therefore could not be tried a second time.

Judge Frizzelle denied the former jeopardy plea, and the defense accepted, thus indicating the matter would be taken to the state supreme court. Attorney Dunn said last night that the issue would be taken to the court immediately. However, the fact that the court hit another legal snag today might delay application for the writ was evident. The defense, it appeared, did not want to "shoot both barrels" without necessity.

The defense harped long on the contention that the Greenville press, plus the Raleigh News and Observer, had not clearly reported the trial.

To that contention, Attorney Jones answered that the press had fairly reported the trial, and the mere fact that it had reported the real facts of the evidence alone was enough to dismiss such contention.

If the evidence was against the defendant, and the papers had reported such testimony, then the papers themselves could not be charged with taking sides, he said.
