Aussies Battle For Jap Airport

Tank-Led Troops Fighting The Japs Through Swamps And Jungle For Last Remaining Airfield In North Borneo; Enemy Forces Offering Stiffer Resistance

By JAMES HUTCHESON Brunel Bay, Borneo, June 14 (AP)—Primitive Dyaks of Borneo have attacked the Japanese with poison-dart blowers in independent support of the Australian invasion to liberate their home island.

Natives outside Brunel town told today how the fierce Dyak aborigines donned battle regalia and killed 14 Japanese in the last two days.

They said the Dyaks ambushed the Japanese and killed them with bow darts, swords and spears. They even had crude bayonets mounted on the ends of their blow guns.

New advances of the Aussies towards Brunel town, whose capture is imminent, increased to 15 miles the push inland since the June 10 landing.

Small amphibious landings up the Brunel river were coordinated with the overland advance along roads.

Tank-led Australian ninth division troops are battling Japanese through swamp and jungle for the only remaining airfield in this invaded north Borneo area after overrunning the other two without a fight, headquarters reported today.

The 4,500-foot Labuan island airfield, already being used by artillery spotter planes. It is being developed as a bomber base, within 800 miles of Singapore.

Fourteen miles south of the mainland invasion beach at Brooketon the 3,600-foot Brunel airfield also was won easily. It is two miles outside the capital city of Brunel on which the diggers are closing from two sides against enemy mortar, machinegun and rifle fire.

But the Nipponese on Labuan island, which commands the entrance to Brunel Bay, showed more fight as the invaders drove within two miles of the 3,600-foot Timbalat airfield. It is nearly five miles from the original beachhead outside Victoria town.

After recovering from the apparent early surprise—the enemy obviously expected an invasion at Jesselton 60 miles northwest—the Nipponese started using mines and bomb-traps extensively on both Labuan and the mainland.

Melbourne, Australia, reports stated the Japanese were seeking frantically to get reinforcements down to Brunel Bay from Jesselton over bomb-blasted rail lines.

Some of Borneo's finest rubber plantations fell to the Aussies in the Brunel airfield vicinity.

MEADOWS CASE MOVES ALONG

Prosecution Testimony Deals With False Pretense Charge

M. L. Widenhouse, certified public accountant attached to the state auditor's office, testified today in the trial of Dr. Leon R. Meadows that amounts which three negro workmen told him they were paid for work at the college was $705.40 less than that shown on receipts possessed by the defendant.

The state contends that Dr. Meadows had the receipts signed in blank and that he later filled them in for greater amounts than those actually paid.

The testimony pertained only to the false pretense indictment against Dr. Meadows, who also is charged with three bills with embezzlement of more than $14,000.

Widenhouse said he started his investigation of special accounts handled by Dr. Meadows at the college after he was shown a statement by Dr. E. R. Browning, in charge of the college stationery store. The statement from Dr. Meadows tended to show that he had expended $1,470.54 on college improvements. The defendant requested reimbursement from the stationery store surplus, and it was paid in two installments, according to the evidence. Widenhouse quoted Dr. Browning as saying Dr. Meadows had receipts for the expenditures, and the receipts, including those signed by the workmen, were turned over to Widenhouse by the defendant. Later interrogation of the workmen, W. S. Shine, Henry Freeman and A. L. Taylor, disclosed that they received lesser amounts than those shown on the receipts, Widenhouse testified.

The defense, trying to impeach the witness, contended that part of his testimony differed from that given in the first trial, which ended in a mistrial, and that Widenhouse asked W. J. Gatliff of the State Bureau of Investigation to come to Greenville and question the three negro workmen for confirmation of previous statements. Widenhouse said on redirect examination that Gatliff was ordered to make his investigation by the governor (then Governor Broughton). The defense also sought to show that the $1,470.54 statement included items for work done in and on buildings other than the new classroom building, which thus far has been the only structure under consideration. The admission of another $500 item, on which Meadows was acquitted at the last trial, was permitted in a decision. (Continued on page two)

Washington, June 14 (AP)—Draft to prepare for war with Russia have dropped up repeatedly at the House committee hearings on compulsory military training.

This so irritated Maury Maverick, chairman of the Smaller War Plants Corporation, that he went before the committee this week and said: "I drag Russia into the discussion of universal military service, one way or the other, is gravely dangerous talk and is certainly harmful in connection with any military policy."

There are various factors behind the suspicion and dislike of Russia, economics, religion, politics. Look at them separately.

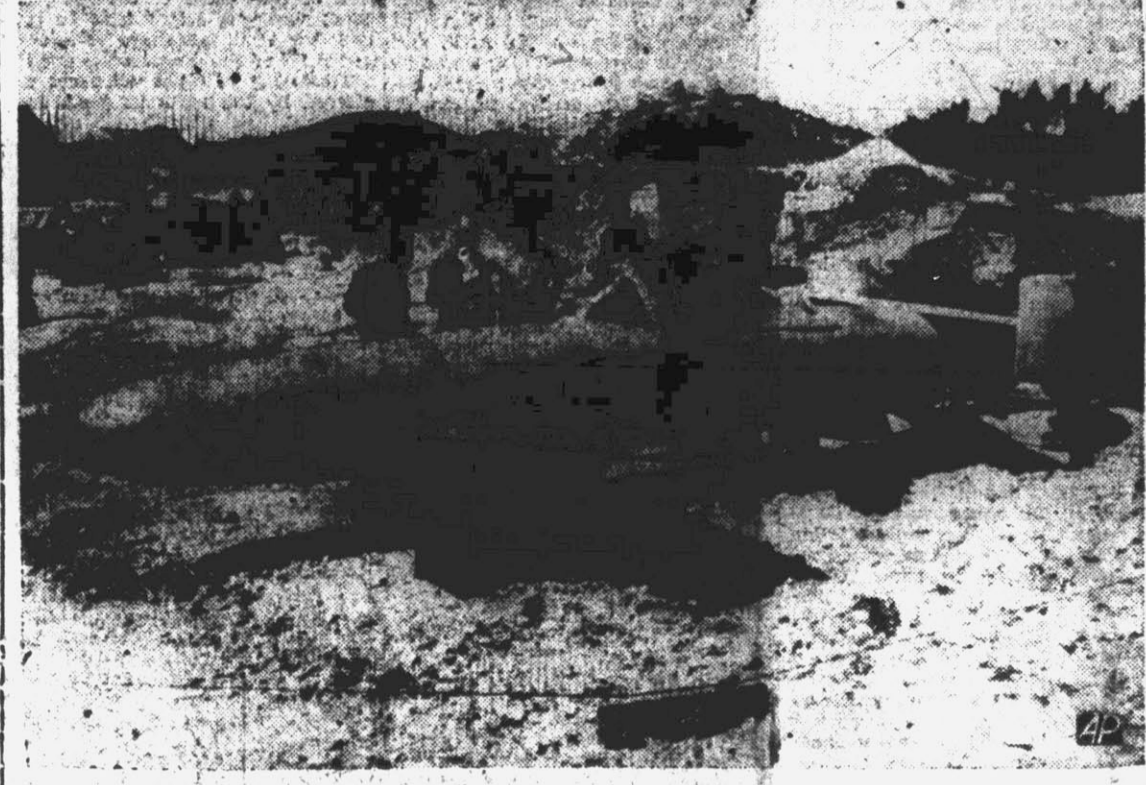

Russian influence has grown huge in Europe, particularly in eastern Europe. Drew Middleton, New York Times writer, a week ago said the Soviet Union also dominates—more than any country since 1939—the thought and conversation of western Europe from the Baltic down through the low countries to France.

Middleton added—after saying workers in many of these countries look to Russia as a hope for a better world—that Russia has a "considerable advantage in the presence of a pro-Russia party, that is, the Communist Party."

He said: "There is no party which is strongly pro-American or pro-British."

INDIANS WILL GET NEW DEAL

Britain Promises India Eventual Self-Government

London, June 14 (AP)—The British government, in a sweeping "new deal" for India, proposed today a new executive council which would be almost entirely Indian and, in the words of Viceroy Lord Wavell, "represent a definite advance on the road to self-government."

At the same time that the secretary of state for India, L. S. Amery, unfolded the statement of policy to Parliament, Lord Wavell announced in a radio broadcast, from New Delhi that orders had been given for the release of members of the Working Committee of the Indian All-Party Congress party still in detention.

Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of the party, was released, May 5, 1944, after 21 months detention.

The British government's white paper emphasized that its main position remained as it was—that "working out of India's constitutional system is a task which can only be carried through by the Indian people themselves."

But they (the British government) are willing to make possible some step forward during the interim period if the leaders of the principal Indian parties are prepared to agree to their suggestions and to cooperate in the successful conclusion of the war against Japan as well as the reconstruction of India which must follow the final victory.

This is not an attempt to impose a constitutional settlement, Wavell explained in his broadcast. "I x x x propose with full support of His Majesty's Government."

Vessel Explodes At Morehead City Norfolk, Va., June 14 (AP)—A Coast Guard air-sea rescue vessel exploded this morning at the Port Terminal, Morehead City, N. C., seriously injuring two members of the crew, Fifth Naval District headquarters reported.

Cut loose from her pier to save other vessels tied up there, the vessel burned to her water line and sank.

A tug poured streams of water on her in an effort to check the flames.

About a dozen members of the crew either were ashore at the time of the explosion or escaped injury. Cause of the blast was undetermined.

Identification of the injured men was withheld temporarily. They were taken to a Morehead City hospital.

Small Nations Demand Right To Quit League

Conference Committees Hope To Perfect World Charter By End Of Next Week

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER AP Diplomatic News Editor San Francisco, June 14 (AP)—The struggle of small nations to protect themselves against the big power control of a world league finally boiled down today to one demand—the right to withdraw from the organization whenever they wish.

Indications are that this demand will be granted, although with some strings attached. The big powers, having triumphed on the veto issue, are agreeable provided they do not get two other things they want.

1. A restriction that the charter being drawn up at the United Nations conference cannot be amended except on complete agreement of the United States, Britain, Russia, France and China.

2. A punishment clause under which nations judged guilty of grave violations of the charter would be expelled from the organization.

These are the main, closely related problems for the closing days of the conference. Prolonged discussion of them appears to be one of the chief reasons why the conference leadership has once more delayed the adjournment goal, this time from June 20 to June 23.

To make this time schedule the five agreed yesterday that the "weekend" should be a "working weekend" with Sunday meetings as necessary, possibly including even a full-day session of the conference.

Another piece of the charter worked near completion last night when conference commission No. 3 approved provisions for regional defense systems, like the Pan-American, to allow nations to defend themselves collectively if the proposed world league fails to do so. One committee approved 40 to 1—Brazil voting "No"—a general provision that there should be a secretary general who would set up whatever staff he wanted. The Russians reserved the right to battle for four or five deputies in a public session of the conference.

Yesterday's 20-to-2 committee approval of the veto voting formula (with 15 nations abstaining and three absent) put the conference a long step ahead. The action assures the big powers of control of the security council of the world organization in trying to settle disputes either by peaceful means or by force. The only restriction is that when one of the powers is party to a dispute it can not participate in a decision on that particular dispute.

Individual Bond Purchases Lagging Washington, June 14 (AP)—Individuals have purchased $5,397,000 in war bonds in the 7th War Loan drive, the Treasury reported today. This represents 77 per cent of the $7,000,000,000 goal.

In round figures, the Treasury said, sales of E-bonds total over $2,338,000,000 or 62 per cent of the $4,000,000,000 quota. Other sales to individuals aggregate more than $2,958,000,000.

Battle For Okinawa Is Now In Last Stages

Conference On Poland Will Begin Tomorrow

Moscow Announces Early Trial For 16 Polish Leaders For Terroristic Acts

London, June 14 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that the 16 Polish political leaders accused of "terroristic acts" behind Red Army lines would be tried "within the next few days."

The broadcast named Gen. Bronislaw Okulicki as ring leader of the Polish group which it said would be charged specifically with "organizing terroristic acts and maintaining illegal wireless transmitters in the rear of Soviet troops in Poland."

Earlier, Moscow had announced the arrival of Warsaw delegates to the Big Three Conference over the future of Poland. The Polish government in London expressed indignation over the meeting, which aims to form a Polish government of national unity.

The Moscow broadcast about the impending trial said: "Investigation by the chief of the Military Office has now been completed. In this case a total of 16 persons will be tried. The case has been put before the Military Collegium of the Supreme Court of the USSR for investigation. Hearing of the case will take place in the next few days."

The London Poles apparently were clinging to the hope that the Moscow conference, opening Friday, would bog down over the difficult problems which lie ahead of the delegates. Among these problems is the matter of the Polish army, many of whose leaders profess loyalty to the exiled government. The conference must consider also the disposition of Polish assets and Polish debts at present on the books of the London group.

An emergency cabinet session of the London Polish government was expected today. Its leaders were said to be interested particularly in placing their protest against the conference before Poles in America.

One spokesman for the London group suggested that his exiled government had been deserted outright by Britain and the United States in return for Russia's relaxation of her veto demands at San Francisco.

The London exiles steadfastly refused to recognize the authority of the Big Three powers to supervise the formation of a new provisional government.

The London group was outwardly indignant because it had not been consulted by the Big Three about plans for the conference. The Polish Ministry of Information attributed to exile sources a statement that this was the first time in the reconstruction of a liberated country. (Continued on Page Three)

De Gaulle Will Visit President Paris, June 14 (AP)—Gen. De Gaulle is expected to depart for Washington by plane next week to discuss with President Truman the situation in Syria and Lebanon, which French government spokesmen describe as "increasingly unsatisfactory."

The disclosure that De Gaulle is planning to confer with the President was made by official quarters following a report that the United States had declined France's invitation to a five-power conference on Middle Eastern problems.

A dispatch from Damascus last night quoted Syrian Premier Shukri al-Quwatli as declaring that French Generals Fernand Oliva Roget and Paul-Etienne Beynet should be prosecuted as war criminals for their part in the recent fighting in Syria, which he estimated had resulted in 800 killed and 1,500 wounded. He added there could be no peace in Syria and Lebanon until all French troops are withdrawn.

Rigid Controls Placed On Sugar Washington, June 14 (AP)—The government today clamped rigid controls on sugar in an effort to insure fairer distribution of available supplies.

Mixed quotas for all government agencies and other users were ordered by the War Food Administration which simultaneously announced that civilians will receive less sugar during the next three months.

Casualty Report Washington, June 14 (AP)—Combat casualties of the army and navy during the war reached 1,017,097 today, an increase of 5,048 in the last week.

JAP HOMELAND RAIDED AGAIN

Okinawa - Based Planes Blast Jap Airfields

Guam, June 14 (AP)—Fifty planes of the 10th Army Tactical Airforce, the largest force sent against Japan from Okinawa, gave the enemy homeland its sixth consecutive day of aerial pounding on Tuesday, the Navy disclosed today.

Marine Corsairs hit the Kanoya airfields of Kyushu with more than 12 tons of bombs and rockets. Hits were scored on parked aircraft and buildings were observed collapsing.

On the night home the raiders hit Kanbara and Tokuma airfields. One plane and its pilot were lost. Kyushu, which also has been hit by B-29s from the Marianas, and by carrier planes of Adm. William F. Halsey's U. S. Third Fleet, is the staging area for enemy suicide planes which to date have sunk at least 25 ships and damaged more than 50 others at Okinawa.

Japanese shipping off the main homeland island of Honshu was harassed again Wednesday by Navy search planes. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz also announced six strikes. (Continued on page three)

Premier Suzuki Concedes Loss of Strategic Island Near Jap Homeland; Major Pocket Of Jap Resistance Scattered After 36 Hours Of Bitter Fighting

By ROBBIN COONS Guam, June 14 (AP)—Marines scattered one major pocket of Japanese on Okinawa yesterday and Yank infantrymen drove two 400-yard wedges into the remaining 13 square mile area still held by the Mikado's men after wiping out a Banzai attack and winning a 36-hour grenade duel.

Tokyo broadcasts conceded that plight of 10,000 survivors, including every man and woman over 15 who was physically able to fight, was "truly desperate." And Premier Adm. Kantaro Suzuki conceded loss of the island, 325 miles from Japan, by saying neither the fate of the homeland nor his own as premier hung on the outcome of the Okinawa battle.

Radio Tokyo boasted that Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., U. S. 10th Army commander, was the first American general to suffer the "embarrassment of a formal rejection" of a surrender demand. Dispatches from the front said Buckner's offer was ignored but the tricky Japanese took advantage of a temporary suspension of artillery fire during preparations for possible peace to fortify a hill on the western flank—treachery which cost the lives of American Marines.

The Banzai charge, the expected forerunner of other suicide attacks, was made by 300 screaming Nipponese against the Seventh Infantry Division on the opposite flank. Every attacker was killed.

The Japanese prepared well for the assault. For 90 minutes, they laid down a barrage of mortar, machinegun and rifle fire and hurled grenades.

Then the Japanese attacked with grenades and satchel charges. Captain Dallas D. Thomas of Shawnee, Okla., and Torrington, Wyo., told Associated Press Correspondent Al Dopking that 250 were killed before dawn and the remainder were hunted down behind crags and killed by noon.

American casualties were light despite fierceness of the fighting. The action occurred near Hana-gusuku, eastern anchor of the Yaeju escarpment line, where the Japanese attempted to retake Hill 95.

On the opposite side of Okinawa, Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr.'s Sixth Marine Division completed smashing pocketed Japanese on Okinawa peninsula. The Leathernecks killed 3,500 enemy troops in their nine-day battle for the peninsula.

The Japanese now squeezed into one 13-square mile pocket behind the twice-battered Yaeju escarpment, today clung only by their fingertips to this bit of Okinawa's 465 square miles. But they clung tenaciously and stubbornly, forcing U. S. 10th Army troops to hammer at each single, separate finger.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst) President Truman's full schedule and other situations seem to indicate that the Big Three meeting will be held between July 5 and 15, but there is at least one possibility, if only a mere possibility, that it could come earlier.

Truman has a tremendous program before him between now and July 15.

The mere fact that the United Nations pact is expected to come before the Senate within that period would seem to be enough, since the President could be expected to play an important role then.

But Truman is to confer with Charles De Gaulle next week before leaving for San Francisco, where the United Nations Conference is expected to close Saturday.

He expects to spend two days at home in Independence, Mo. the following week—perhaps June 27 and 28.

Coupled with the fact that Winston Churchill has an election on his hands July 5, all of this rather restricts the time in which a Big Three meeting can be held if it is to fall within the 40-day period Mr. Truman predicted on June 7, which also ends July 5.

A meeting at such a time, taking the President and probably Harry Hopkins away from Washington when the Senate is expected to be debating the pact, would indicate supreme confidence of victory in what might very well turn out to be quite a fight.

Also, Mr. Churchill has already warned his constituents that he might have to be away before the election. Of course, that was before the meeting was definitely arranged.

Joseph Stalin is no longer head of army fighting in the field, which once gave him good grounds for becoming one of the world's most visited men. A little reciprocity right now might reassure some of his erstwhile callers who are hearing widespread gossip that perhaps their neighborly attentions were more tolerated than desired.

Grifton Club Meets
Grifton, June 14—The Grifton Club met for their June meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ivan Bissette. The high light of the meeting was a character sketch on Lillian Smith the author of Strange Fruit. This was given in an interesting manner by Mrs. H. C. Oglesby.

At the social hour Mrs. W. A. Evans and guest, Mrs. Hazel McCotter of Marion, S. C., joined the group. Mrs. Bissette invited her guests into the dining room where a delightful buffet supper was served. The table was centered with a lovely arrangement of altheas. Mrs. T. J. Williams was honored as it was her birthday with the group singing "Happy Birthday" and cake with lighted pink candles.

THELMA THOMPSON AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 10
Suddenly the three weeks were gone and Tommy was pronounced ready for his operation.

It was on the afternoon before the day set for the operation that Dr. Warner stopped Kay at the door of her hotel room. "I just want to thank you—for the sacrifice of your time and energy—for Tommy."

Kay looked up into his dark eyes. "Oh," she told him, "it has been no sacrifice. I've loved it here. Every moment of it."

"Well, you've done a great job. I've never seen such a wonderful improvement in a child," he assured her. "And I was really worried about his psychic side at first. But you gave him real courage."

"Oh, thank you."
"Dr. Sims had told me I could depend on you, but somehow"—he hesitated, and smiled—"one doesn't expect a young attractive girl to have much time—these days."

"I have plenty of time. And I hope I'll call on you again."
"I will," he replied. Then he added, "You may find Tommy a little apprehensive tonight—it's the last night, you know."

"I've thought of that," she murmured. "I think he will be all right. I'm not sure about myself—I never know what questions he's likely to ask—I don't always know what to answer."

"The main thing is to assure him you won't leave him under any circumstances," he suggested. "But I'm not worried at all about your answers."

After Dr. Warner had gone Kay wondered why his praise made her feel breathless and happy. After all she had been praised before.

Whatever Kay had feared about Tommy's nervousness that night she was not prepared for the frantic grasp of his hands on hers, nor the feverish light in his eyes when she prepared to tell him good night.

"Miss Kay, will it hurt when they put me to sleep?" he asked, desperation in his voice.

"Of course not. I'll be there—and Dr. Warner will be there—"

"I wish Dr. Sims would be there."

"Well, Dr. Sims is waiting in."

"Well, he's keeping his fingers crossed for you," Kay assured him. Tommy was silent for a few minutes, frowning up at the ceiling. Then he said: "Tell me one more a tortured blank of loveliness. He rose, walked to the window and stared out. He'd miss this place and he'd miss Kay. He wouldn't see her often. How could he? With her wealth, her bright security, her youth? Why, he was almost grown when she was in her cradle with her silver spoon in her pretty mouth.

Suddenly he saw her coming down the street. She had been to see Tommy for the last time. She was holding her fur coat close about her against the chill of the autumn wind.

"I'm sorry to be late," she said, smiling up at him, her cheeks glowing from the cold, her eyes shining. "I just had to see Tommy again."

He felt his heart quicken as he looked into her face. There was that lovely quality of spirit he'd recognized in the portrait of her mother in the entrance hall of the hospital in Lowell.

Playground Notes

The opening day program was held at the Third Street School Playground on Wednesday afternoon. An Indian Chief, little fat man, and some really colored crepe paper dresses competed for the costume prizes. First prize for decorated vehicle went to the owner of a bicycle decked in red, white, and blue crepe paper. The lemonade and ice were the most popular and enjoyed features of the afternoon.

The Boys Softball League is organizing this week under the direction of Jimmy Futrelle, manager. Third Street Playground has formed one team and is ready to play. Jimmy is meeting the Training School and West Greenville players this week. A team is being formed to represent Cotanche Park and will be composed of those boys who do not belong to any team. See Jimmy Futrelle at Cotanche Park for information.

Next week four new activities are being planned: Life Saving classes, formation of the Junior Playground Leaders' Club, Tether Tennis Tournament on each playground, and a new game called soccer baseball.

"Smag" Clark, at the local swimming pool will sign up those girls and boys who want to take the Life Saving classes and earn the Red Cross certificate.

For information about the Junior Playground Leaders' Club, talk to any of the regular playground leaders.

try that leaders of the resistance had been disregarded in an attempt to create the basis for the future of a country.

Both Britain and the United States maintain formal relations with the London exile government, but these relations have been on little more than a token basis since Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, Peasant Party leader, who has been invited to the Moscow conference, resigned as premier.

Moscow said the Warsaw delegation to the conference, headed by President Boleslaw Bierut, had arrived in the Soviet capital by plane last night. The United States and Britain will be represented at the talks by their ambassadors to Moscow—W. Averell Harriman and Sir Archibald John Clark-Kerr.

Jesuit's government to invite the Indian leaders to take counsel with me with a view to formation of a new executive council more representative of organized political opinion."

Wavell promised that it would be an all-Indian council except for the viceroys and the commander in chief. "It is also proposed that the portfolio of external affairs, which hitherto has been held by the viceroy, should be placed in charge of an Indian member of the council as far as the interests of British India are concerned," he said.

"A further step proposed by His Majesty's government is the appointment of a British high commis-missioner in India, as in the dominions, to represent Great Britain's commercial and other such interests in India.

"Such a new executive council will you realize, represent a definite advance on the road to self-government. It will be almost entirely Indian and the finance and home (departments) members will for the first time be Indians, while an Indian will also be charged with management of India's foreign affairs.

"The council will work within the framework of the present constitution, and there can be no question of the governor-general agreeing not to exercise his constitutional power of control."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WHO ARE THE DELINQUENTS?
The modern world is thoroughly familiar with the term "juvenile delinquency." This is only a fancy term for adolescent ferment which has grown into disorderly conduct following the last war as called "flaming youth." Every generation has known something about it—and practically every household.

Social and religious workers almost without exception put most of the blame for juvenile delinquency on the home. An acquaintance of mine was recently being shown through an institution for delinquent boys. "These youngsters are not delinquent," explained the official who was conducting the tour. "Their parents are delinquent."

What has happened to the modern home? First, it has ceased to be characterized by discipline. Few parents can say No to their children, and many of the things young people of all generations want to do lead into bad habits and trouble. Again children grow up without being compelled to assume a great deal of responsibility. There is also much to be said against amusements which are overstimulating. Most serious of all is the scant attention paid in the average American home to training in religion and morals.

"Let us support church and Sunday school to the limit. But let us remember that nothing can take the place of home in the molding of character and the cultivation of religious faith. Like bees like, and when children are delinquent, there is usually a quite apparent reason for their delinquency."

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

By JACKSON S. ELLIOTT
(Substituting for Jack Stinnett)
Washington, George Alexander Chase is in what he calls the "catacombs" for the duration of the war and he's nursing a big sickness.

"Homesick? Why I'm so homesick for the west that I can taste the snows of Mt. Rushmore. I'd swap the soot of the city for the Mojave sands in a minute, or—"

Grant has squeezed more of this nation's landscape into a camera lens than any other person, living or dead. Now he is stuck in a winding, pipe-filled basement laboratory in the old Interior Department building.

It's been just a little more than three years since the spare 53-year-old six-footer came back from his last trip "through" the open spaces. Today wouldn't be too soon for him to start off again.

"But I guess I'm stuck and I'll stay stuck till the wars over," he says.

If one picture is worth ten thousand words, Grant has penned and pictured volumes. He has at least ten thousand negatives of the nation's lands. Ten thousand is just a guess. After a while he says you lose count. And some of his pictures have been printed more than a thousand times.

But you don't hear much from Grant, about Grant. He has won a few awards when he found time to submit his work. Five of his pictures have travelled the world on U. S. postage stamps—those of Mesa Verde in southwest Colorado, Zion National Park's "Great White Throne" in southern Utah, Glacier National Park in northern Montana, Crater Lake in Oregon and Arizona's Grand Canyon.

He started taking pictures as a hobby. In 1922 he served as a National Park ranger in Yellowstone and began to do photography for the park. He returned to his home state of Pennsylvania—he was born in sleeping bags in the rain on lonely hillsides until the weather in Sunbury—and for a while was a photographer for the Pennsylvania State College Agriculture School. In 1929 he came to the Interior Department.

It was then that he began his trekking over the country, carrying cameras and equipment, sleep-

So this spreading Russian influence creates fear among some people in this country of the spread of Communism throughout Europe.

There has been much impatience here with Russia for failing to help reorganize the temporary Polish government. Russian puppet, really along democratic lines by taking in Poland of different political views.

Among religious people there has been strong anti-Russian feeling since the early days of the revolution because of the Soviet's anti-religious attitude and the closing of Christian churches.

This ban was relaxed somewhat after Russia entered the war. The Greek Orthodox Church is functioning again. It's not clear how fully it's functioning.

Since early Russian revolution days, when Leon Trotsky was preaching world revolution, there has been suspicion in the western world that Russia never would cease that ambition. Trotsky was thrown out. Stalin turned more toward nationalism and building a strong Russia.

But Communist organizations kept on operating in other countries. These always have been regarded—particularly in this country—as tools of Moscow.

No other European state before the war was Communist. But now with Russia as the greatest power in the world, there is renewed fear that it will actively resume its Communist missionary work.

There is the economic fear and distrust. The rich naturally oppose Communism. They know they'd lose what they have under a Communist regime.

The antics of the Communist party in this country hasn't increased any good will toward Russia. It was bitter and obstructionist in this country till Russia was invaded. Then it became very much pro-war.

It tried to lie down beside the capitalists and even went so far as to wish to see strikes outlawed even after the war.

French Communists lately have sold the American Communists to cut out this kind of collaboration with big business and to resume the original Communist line. You can be sure it will be resumed.

Smashing at the enemy finger on the western flank, Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Division Marines strengthened their position on strategic Kunishi Ridge by bringing up reinforcements. Subjected to heavy enemy fire as they crossed 800 yards of open rice paddies, the reinforcements were moved up in Sherman tanks and protected by a smoke screen. The return trip, because of the difficulty of taking up supplies, airplanes parachuted food, ammunition and water to forward elements.

In the center of the line, two companies of Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Division were locked for 36 hours in a hand-to-hand grenade battle. The action, Dopkin reported, was fought around a jumble of rocks south of Tomul town at the base of the main escarpment, which rises almost 100 feet straight up. The companies, commanded by Lt. Albert Strand, Mohall, N. D., and Lt. Harry J. Cline, Minot, N. D., killed 50 of the enemy.

Other troops of the 96th Division were assaulting two of three prominent peaks on a circular white coral plateau where the Japanese had chosen to die. These were the highest and steepest faces of the escarpment.

Bradley's doughboys breached the escarpment three days ago, but still had not reached its highest point.

In the Seventh Division sector, a forward artillery spotter saw 200 Japanese moving toward the point from where the pre-dawn bazooka charge was launched. He ordered artillery fire. Japanese not killed scattered for cover.

Shepherd's Marines, in breaking up the Oroku Peninsula pocket, overran a hospital where retreating Japanese had killed 150 of their wounded troops to prevent their capture by the Yanks.

Although the Oroku pocket was smashed, Shepherd's Leathernecks still had to clear out several isolated caves and pillboxes from which the Japanese continued to fire.

It might be significant that on Tuesday, despite fair weather, the enemy did not have even the consolation of seeing his own air forces over the Okinawa area to attack American shipping. Such days have been rare in this 75-day old campaign.

To Marry Again

She obtained a final divorce decree last week from musician David Rose.

Battle For . . .

Seventh Division, hammering at one of those fingers on the east flank, gained most of the escarpment him above Hanawusuku in a 400-yard advance. Hanawusuku itself, although behind American lines, still is no man's land. Both Japanese and American artillery dominate it.

Smashing at the enemy finger on the western flank, Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Division Marines strengthened their position on strategic Kunishi Ridge by bringing up reinforcements. Subjected to heavy enemy fire as they crossed 800 yards of open rice paddies, the reinforcements were moved up in Sherman tanks and protected by a smoke screen. ## STATE ALUMNI MEETS AYDEN

Col. J. W. Harrelson Speaker At Supper Session

By CHESTER WALSH

State College is an investment for the economic progress of North Carolina. Col. J. W. Harrelson, chancellor of State College and vice president of the University of North Carolina, declared last night at a meeting of Pitt County Chapter of the Alumni Association in Ayden.

He said State, VPI and Clemson College, land grant colleges, provided for with legislation nearly a century ago, were an upsurge of the people of the rank and file for education in the field of science. Harrelson's narrative history of the State's growth and development and its contribution to the fields of science was informative and interesting.

His recital of an incident last year when one North Carolina county received $1,000,000 more for its tobacco crop as a result of using disease resistant plants developed by the experiment station.

In Harrelson's tribute to the teaching staff at State College he said he knows the instructors are good because other institutions are always offering them more money and trying to hire them. Arthur Tripp, president of Pitt County Chapter, introduced the speaker.

Roy L. Williamson, secretary of State College Foundation, spoke briefly. The Pitt County Alumni gave him warm testimony of appreciation for his services. Williamson will shortly go to Burlington to become city manager there.

The meeting last night was held on the lawn of the Community Center in Ayden. New officers assumed their duties last night. They are Arthur Tripp, president, Ben Lang of Farmville, vice president, and Plato Evans of Greenville, secretary-treasurer.

Membership in the Pitt chapter is steadily increasing. Informal discussions featured the meeting. John B. Webb of Greenville made an interesting talk. The president appointed the following on the State College Foundation Committee: Ben Lang, chairman, and J. Y. Monk of Farmville, John Webb and W. N. Sprull of Greenville and Brown Hodges of Grifton. Connor Eagles is reporter.

John T. Thorne, prominent citizen of Farmville, and Chester Walsh, Greenville newspaperman, were unanimously elected honorary members of the Pitt County Alumni Association for outstanding services to State College and the local chapter.

The meeting was one of the best held in several years. Interest in the association is increasing, officers and committeemen are functioning efficiently for the advancement of State College and each member pledged himself to bring in a new member before the next alumni meeting in Farmville next November.

Savory Frankfurters . . . on Baked Potatoes

- Melt 6 tbsps. Certified Margarine.
- Add 1 tbsps. minced onion 1/2 cup diced green pepper and heat slowly until softened but not brown—about 5 min.
- Blend in 6 tbsps. flour
- Add 3 cups milk, gradually, stirring constantly until it boils.
- Add 6 Certified Frankfurters, sliced 2 1/2 tbsps. W.V. dissolved in a small amount of the hot sauce.
- Serve over baked potatoes. Serves 6.

Opposites Attract
Crispy corn sticks and baked potatoes are perfect accompaniments for these delicious Certified Frankfurters served in savory sauce. Corn sticks prefer a hot oven, 425° F., for 15 to 20 min.—allow up to 40 min. if baked in a pan.

Spring Treat
True shortcake is made with a rich biscuit dough (Advance Shortening or "Laurel-Leaf" Brand Pure Lard are excellent for making rich flaky biscuits), although many like to serve strawberries over individual sponge cakes. Ask your grocer for Clear Brook Eggs, for the flavor of sponge cake depends so much on the quality of the eggs you use.

SAVE WASTE PAPER
Paper is vitally needed. One hundred pounds of waste paper equals 1,410 boxes for emergency lifeboat supplies . . . or covering for 200 blood plasma containers. Save all newspapers, old books, magazines, wrapping paper, paper boxes, etc. Then call your local salvage committee.

BITTER FIGHT ON MINDANAO

Japs Fight Tenaciously to Prevent Yank Advance

By SPENCER DAVIS
 Manila, June 14—(AP)—Desperate Japanese forces, composed largely of beached naval personnel, are fighting tenaciously and fanatically to prevent a Yank advance along the east and west banks of the Davao River on southeastern Mindanao.

For a week these Japanese have held up a large-scale American advance.

On the east bank, veterans of Col. Thomas E. (Jock) Clifford's 19th Infantry Regiment finally smashed organized resistance in the hemp groves and jungled hills, headquarters reported today.

Scattered pockets however remain near Mandog.

The ultimate defeat of these Japanese on the Davao River, reported Associated Press Correspondent Richard Bergholtz, "is written in American blood."

West of Davao city, along the Talomo-Kibawe trail, other 24th Division troops commanded by Maj. Gen. Roscoe B. Woodruff, with elements of Maj. Gen. Jen S. Doe's 41st Division battled against tough opposition. Troops led by Maj. Nicholas E. Sloan of Hoopston, Ill., and Maj. Roy W. Marcy of Walla Walla, Wash., expanded bridgeheads they carved across the Talomo River while Doughboys of the 34th Regiment under Lt. Col. Lester Wheeler of St. Petersburg, Fla., ran into intense opposition driving up the main road from Ula to Bagulo, Mindanao.

Campbell Is Chosen President Of Lions

The Greenville Lions Club at its weekly supper meeting Monday night elected Rev. A. Hartwell Campbell president to succeed O. E. Dowd, whose term has expired. Other officers are V. M. Rawles, F. C. Cross and John W. Blackman, Jr., vice-presidents; Emul K. Willis, lion tamer; Bruce Baker, tail twister; and E. W. Harvey, Jr., re-elected secretary-treasurer. George Wilkerson and R. W. Davenport were elected directors.

Reports indicated that the club is enjoying prosperous growth. The membership is increasing and the members are manifesting keener interest in Lions activities. Retiring President Dowd and the other officers had a very successful administration the past year.

BOYD TAKES OFFICE JULY

Swear In New Officials City Hall On First Monday

By CHESTER WALSH
 Mayor-elect J. H. (Jack) Boyd will take the oath of office at the City Hall at noon on July 2. He succeeds Mayor Bruce Sugg, who was unanimously chosen by the Board of Aldermen to succeed Jack Spain nearly four years ago when he resigned to become secretary to Congressman Herbert C. Bonner. At the expiration of that term Mayor Sugg was elected without opposition at the following primary election. He stated at that time that he would not again be a candidate for the office. His administration has been outstanding in many ways. The city's finances are in better condition than at any time in its history. The administration made a record for collecting nearly 100 per cent of the taxes for 1944.

"Judge" J. Frank Harrington, popular clerk of Superior Court, will administer the oath to Boyd and the aldermen and the judge and solicitor of City Recorder's Court. They are: N. G. Raynor, N. C. Brooks, C. L. Bowen, Rufus V. Keel and W. H. (Bill) Smith. Keel and Smith were re-elected without opposition. Holdover aldermen are: J. A. Watson, Dr. M. B. Massey, L. M. Buchanan and Berry Bostic. Judge J. W. Roberts and Solicitor Elh Bloom were re-elected without opposition.

In a booklet recently issued, setting forth the city's financial affairs, the administration outlined plans already made for some comprehensive and constructive postwar planning. The municipality's wartime administration has operated under difficulties not encountered by previous administrations. Under the circumstances the policy has been far-seeing and economical.

Circus Adds To Claimants' Fund

Hartford, Conn., June 14—(AP)—From earnings realized at its performances in Madison Square Garden, New York, the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus today made available $50,000 to be added to the sum set aside for payment of claims arising from the circus fire here last July. The $50,000 check sent to Edward S. Rogin, Hartford attorney named receiver for the show, brought the total sums thus far available to claimants to $1,285,000. Attorneys concerned with the case have estimated that all claims arising from the fire, which caused 168 deaths and hundreds of injuries, will amount to $3,000,000.

Elks Will Conduct Flag Day Program

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill will be the speaker at the Elks Lodge Flag Day exercises tonight at 7 o'clock. E. Hoover Taft, exalted ruler, will preside. The lodge will hold its regular meeting at 8:30.

Chinese Troops Nearing Liuchow

Chungking, June 14—(AP)—The Chinese high command announced today that Chinese forces had reached the suburbs of Liuchow, former U. S. air base site in Kwangsi Province, and were engaged in fierce fighting with Japanese troops. The announcement also said heavy fighting was continuing in the suburbs of Ishan, railway town 43 miles west of Liuchow, which the Chinese evacuated Monday under heavy Japanese pressure after holding it for a single day.

STATE GUARD PARADES HERE

Battalion Officers On Recruiting Campaign In City

By CHESTER WALSH
 Col. Hugh Dortch of Goldsboro and other officers of the North Carolina State Guard were in conference in Greenville yesterday on a project to arouse public interest in the local company and secure recruits. The officers and sections of the Greenville, Wilson and Kinston companies paraded through the city yesterday afternoon. A small crowd witnessed the parade because it was Wednesday and nearly all business places observe a half holiday on this day.

Other officers here included: Maj. Scott Berkeley, Capt. Hollowell, Capt. Todd, Lieut. Allen of Goldsboro; Maj. E. E. Jones of Burlington, communications officer; Capt. Harvey McNair and a section of the Wilson State Guard, and Capt. Roy McLawhorn and Lieut. Joe Taylor of Kinston.

Officers of the Greenville company have had difficulty keeping the outfit up to the standard of 50 enlisted men. Businessmen believe the trouble was the annual encampment which would take men away from their work during a period when labor is scarce due to wartime conditions. Without the rule requiring attendance at the summer encampment, the local company could have maintained a full roster of men, numerous business leaders in Greenville said.

Capt. Jasper L. Jones, a veteran of the Marine Corps and the N. C. National Guard, did outstanding work as commanding officer of Company 4, resigned his commission about a month ago. Lieut. W. H. Woodard was elected captain and took over command of the company. Godfrey Oakley is first lieutenant and Roland Modlin is second lieutenant. A top sergeant is to be appointed.

The State Guard was organized after the war started to preserve order in case of riot or other emergency until the regular army could take over. The officers and men served without pay except while in camp. The American Legion sponsored organizing of the company. State Sen. Arthur B. Corey was the first commanding officer.

Earth Tremors Felt Chattanooga, Tenn., June 14—(AP)—A minor earth tremor near here that was felt in Chattanooga brought numerous calls to newspaper offices here late last night. Meteorologist C. B. Kallquist of the United States Weather Bureau placed the disturbance in the Blue Ridge, Ga.-Cleveland, Tenn., area. No damage was reported immediately.

One of the callers said the tremors occurred about 10:35 p. m. and lasted about ten seconds. A similar disturbance was reported in the same area in 1940.
