Jap Forces On Okinawa Surrendering In Drove

Americans Annihilating Fanatical Hold-outs; Capture Of Island Places Yanks At Doorstep Of Japan and Tokyo Warns Of Impending Invasion

By ROBBIN COONS
Guam, June 22—(AP)—American mop-up patrols began the grueling job today of annihilating Japanese sniper nests on Okinawa before the next big Allied invasion is staged from the newly-won island base 325 miles south of Japan.

Tokyo radio reported Premier Kantaro Suzuki warned his cabinet an invasion of Japan was impending and said the people of Kyushu, home island nearest Okinawa, were prepared for an invasion, convinced "the enemy will certainly land there."

Pacific fleet headquarters made no bones about the fact that Okinawa has become a forward staging base from which bomber and fighter planes can cover assault waves striking at Japan or China or both. An official memorandum from Adm. Chester W. Nimitz headquarters said it is also an American naval anchorage, in the center of waters formerly patrolled by the Mikado's imperial fleet.

Clean-up squads of Marines and infantrymen hunted over the charred hills of southern Okinawa with flamethrowers, rifles and demolition charges, to add to the 90,401 enemy dead. Japanese helped by mess suicides in their caves, or drowning in the surf. The air was permeated with the stench of death.

Other Yanks, sent out to keep U. S. casualties from mounting too far above the record figure of 36,588, pleaded through tank-borne loud-speakers for Japanese to crawl out of their holes and surrender. Four thousand already have.

All figures—Japanese dead, American casualties, Japanese prisoners—were records for any island taken in the drive which has carried Admiral Nimitz' forces from Pearl Harbor to the doorstep of Japan. And Okinawa was the greatest prize.

The cost to American ground forces through Tuesday was 6,990 killed or missing and 29,596 wounded. These were divided among the army, with 4,417 dead or missing and 17,033 wounded, and the Marines with 2,573 dead or missing and 12,565 wounded.

American naval casualties last were announced as totalling 4,270 killed or missing and 4,171 wounded from March 18 through May 24. Many of these were in the Okinawa (Continued on Page Two)

Japs Making Final Stand; New Landing On Borneo

By SPENCER DAVIS
Manila, June 22—(AP)—A battle—probably the final one of importance in the Luzon campaign—was being fought upon the Japanese-held Bataan Peninsula today by Philippine guerrillas blocking the path of retreat from the 37th Ohio Infantry Division.

An estimated 30,000 Japanese in the valley, cut in half by guerrilla seizure of Tuguegarao, were expected to risk their few remaining flame-throwing tanks in an attempt to remove the highway 5 block before the 37th can reach it from 35 miles away.

The Nipponese must do that if they are to keep open the way to Aparri, 65 miles north of Tuguegarao.

Headquarters announced that the guerrilla seizure of Tuguegarao in a communique today which also disclosed a new landing on West Borneo by Australian 6th Division troops, putting the invaders both north and south of the prized Seria (Continued on page Two)

Justice Robert Jackson Announces One Trial Will Be Held For All Major Offenders

(By ALEX H. SINGLETON)
Washington, June 22—(AP)—Justice Robert H. Jackson announced today a United States plan to prosecute Germany's arch war criminals in one collective trial and expressed hope that it might start "before the end of the summer."

Justice Jackson, the chief United States prosecutor, emphasized at a press conference that he could not speak for the three other major western powers, but said no objection to the proposal had yet been voiced by Britain, Russia or France.

The British Foreign Office announced that representatives of the United States, Britain, France and Russia would open discussions in London early next week to draw up a list of the major criminals and settle plans for their trial.

Jackson elaborated upon information of the collective trial plan obtained earlier in the day from a responsible American source.

The United States plan envisions trial by a military tribunal with each of the four major powers represented by "one or two judges," Jackson said. As now drafted, it carries no provision for representation by the smaller powers.

At the outset of the press conference, he emphasized that "No man will be given immunity because he has held a high military position if (Continued on page four)

LUICHOW FALL IS EXPECTED MOMENTARILY

Chinese Forces Drive Into Outskirts Of City Three Miles From Former U. S. Air Base; Gains In Other Sectors

Chungking, June 22—(AP)—Five Chinese columns are pressing on Luichow and one has penetrated to the south railroad station while others are attacking the former American air base on the southern outskirts which was abandoned seven months ago, the Chinese high command announced today.

A Chinese army spokesman declared that the bulk of the Japanese forces at Luichow had withdrawn northeastward to Kweilin, another former American air base city.

The spokesman said only 1,000 to 2,000 enemy troops were left behind to defend Luichow, whose occupation by Chinese forces was predicted in the "near future."

Maj. Gen. Robert B. McClure's headquarters at Kunming said that according to unconfirmed reports the city of Luichow, within three miles of the air field, was so closely invested that its occupation may be a matter of hours. These reports said the city was burning and the airfield had been destroyed.

McClure's headquarters said the Chinese push to within three miles of Luichow, as reported by official Chinese sources, represented an advance during the past seven days of 44 miles east from Ishan, and about 20 northeast from the Tang-shan direction. The headquarters statement added that Chinese forces are attacking Japanese positions on the approaches to Piansiang, on the highway 11 miles from the Indochina frontier.

The Luichow air field, a former U. S. 14th Air Force bomber base, is three miles from Luichow. Kwangsi Province road and rail junction, 400 miles southeast of Chungking.

The Chinese assault on the strip followed an announcement that Chinese forces driving on Luichow from the west along the Kweichow-Kwangsi Railroad and another column pushing up from the southwest, had effected a junction six miles southwest of the city.

The high command indicated the Chinese had turned the tide of battle in southeastern Kwangsi Province, where the Japanese had been attacking Chinese key points in an attempt to strengthen South China anti-invasion defenses. The Chinese counterattacked enemy troops operating in the vicinity of the important highway center of Anyuan, (Continued on Page Four)

Two Local Fliers Arrive In States

A telephone call from Boston last night announced the safe arrival there of Lt. R. O. Everett and Lt. Wilbur Brown, Army Air Corps pilots of this city. Both fliers were shot down over Germany and had been confined in German prison camps prior to liberation by the Russians during the final days before the Nazi surrender.

Lt. Brown is the grandson of Jesse W. Brown and Lt. Everett is the son of Mrs. S. J. Everett.

In their telephone message last night the two fliers stated they expected to arrive home in a few days for a well deserved furlough.

Urges Destruction Of German War Potential

Washington, June 22—(AP)—Bernard M. Baruch urged today that the United Nations "break once and for all Germany's dominance of Europe" with a specific, industry-by-industry destruction of Germany's war potential.

The financier and adviser to presidents also recommended, in testimony prepared for the Senate Military Affairs Committee, that "This German settlement be used as a basis for a comprehensive, all-embracing agreement with Russia" on major peace problems.

He said "A new wave of bomb shelters" would be the price of failure to achieve these objectives or to ratify and enforce, by universal military training and other means, the United Nations charter now near completion at San Francisco.

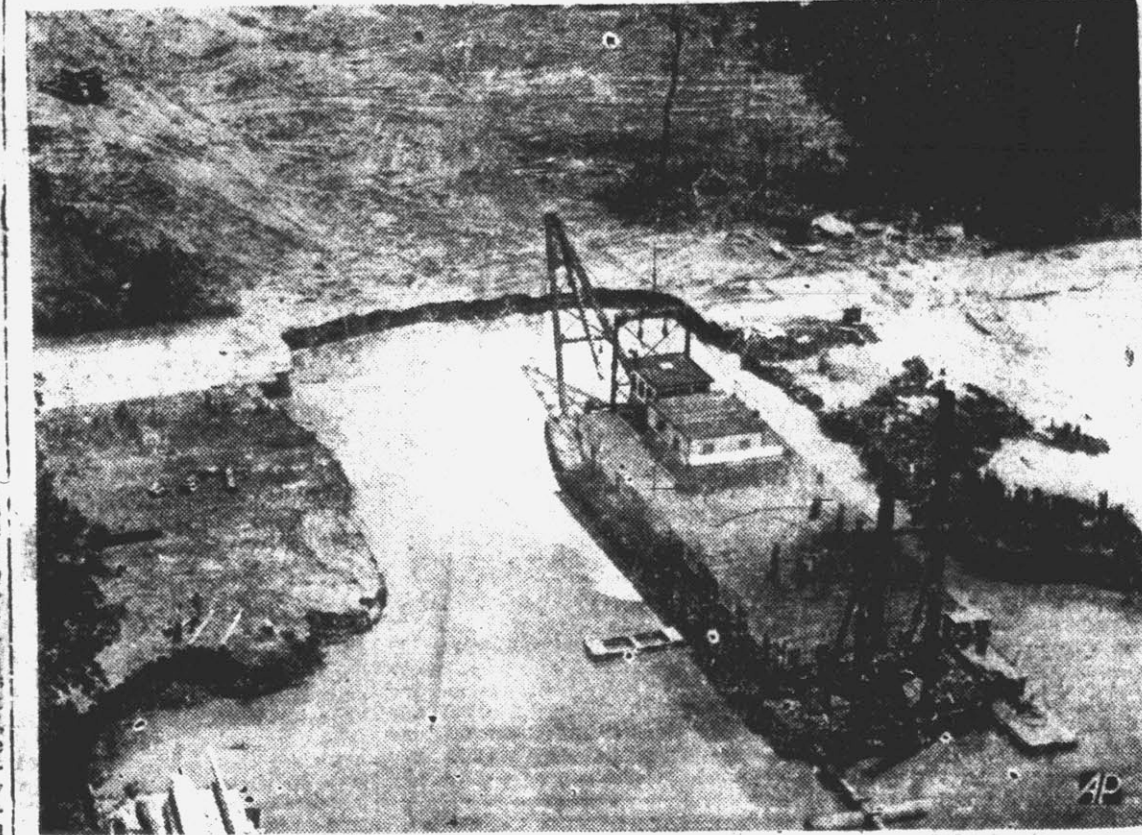

Asserting it was not enough to demand an "economically weak" Germany, Baruch said there must be a program "sufficiently specific industry by industry—so all of the occupying nations know they have agreed to the same thing."

"Whether one wants to be 'nice' or 'harsh' to Germany makes no difference. War must be displaced as Germany's chief business," he declared.

Baruch suggested that a supreme European reconstruction council be established and that "a positive American foreign economic policy" be developed to "preserve the American free enterprise system in a

A Chunk Out Of Camden County For Highway

After pumping out all of the sand within reach in the Pasquotank river near Elizabeth City to supply a million cubic yards of fill for the new causeway across the swamp, a big dredge of the R. C. The dredge is cutting its way across the Elizabeth City-Norfolk highway where traffic was suspended for 48 hours while the dredge worked its way forward. After the dredge ate its way into the clearing (background), a pontoon bridge (lower left) was swung into place on the highway. (AP Photo).

PROMISES TO CRUSH JAPAN

Marshall Warns Of Hard Fighting Ahead

Washington, June 22—(AP)—A $38,500,285,951 War Department supply bill went to the House floor today with an Army promise to speed victory over Japan by "an overwhelming application of force."

Its approval by the Appropriations Committee accompanied publication of three weeks of testimony by high army officials who forecast devastation for Japan more awful than that which battered the Nazis to their knees.

Testimony of generals of the Army, George C. Marshall, chief of staff, and H. H. Arnold, head of the Air Force, disclosed plans to use 1,000 B-29s daily in the Pacific war and to drop 2,700,000 tons of bombs in the Far East in the fiscal year starting July 1. That figure compares, Marshall said, with 1,555,000 tons rained upon Europe from 1942 to 1945.

In contrast to previous war years, the generals left much of their closed-door testimony in the print-days for a well deserved furlough.

Connally And Vandenberg Preparing Full Report On Proposed United Nations Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Diplomatic News Editor
San Francisco, June 22—(AP)—The United States Senate, with power enough to promote or kill a United Nations peace organization, will get a full report on the San Francisco conference next week from two of its members.

American delegates express confidence that the Senate will ratify the charter of the organization which they and representatives of 49 other nations have produced here in nine weeks of work.

But none would predict today that it would be done immediately, in time for President Truman to report it at the July Big-Three meeting at Berlin.

In fact, it appeared certain the Senate Committee hearings, a preliminary to debate on ratification, could not begin until the second week in July when detailed reports of conference debates will have become available. These and interpretive statements on various points of the charter are considered essential to Senate discussion.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), both members of the American delegation, have arranged to leave here two hours after President Truman addresses the closing session next Tuesday night.

Flying to Washington with the charter unless Mr. Truman himself takes it back directly to Congress will make a report to the Senate on Thursday. Vandenberg, who will travel with him, will make a further report and state his own position as chairman of the Republican Senatorial Conference, on (Continued on Page Six)

Warehousemen In Annual Meeting

J. Melville Broughton of Raleigh, former governor of North Carolina and now general counsel for the Bright Leaf Warehouse Association, and Fred S. Rostker, president of the association, were speakers at the annual meeting of the Eastern Carolina Warehousemen's Association here yesterday. Numerous matters of importance were discussed.

C. Kersey Smith of Kingston was elected president. Other officers chosen are: U. H. Cozart Jr., of Wilson, vice-president, and R. S. Dutche, of Waverly, secretary-treasurer. Directors elected are: W. Z. Morton, of Greenville; H. P. Foxhall, of Rocky Mount; H. I. Johnson, of Tarboro; R. A. Pearey, of Smithfield; G. L. Wainwright, of Smithfield; M. G. Little, of Robersonville; Wayland Sermons, of Washington; Lyman Wilkins, of Ashtabula; L. B. Bell, of Goldsboro; Johnny Gurkin, of Winterton; I. R. Clark, of Wendell; J. N. Fountain, of Farmville, and W. H. Hussey, of Wallace.

He added: "Cooperation is a two-way street. I would like to see this simple rule laid down. What we can do, the sooner we know it, the better."

COURT TAKES BRIEF RECESS

Meadows Trial May Last Longer Than Before

The second trial of Dr. Leon R. Meadows ended its third week today and it appeared that it would continue as long, if not longer, than the eight-weeks one that ended last March in a mistrial when the jury deadlocked 10 to two for conviction.

More than a week on this trial was devoted to selection of a 13-man jury. It finally was chosen from the fourth special venire. It was secured from Pasquotank County, after others had been summoned from Pitt and Lenoir counties.

Most of the State's evidence this time has paralleled that of the first trial, although its presentation has been a bit more rapid. It has sought to show that Dr. Meadows, former president of East Carolina Teachers College, acted under false pretense and embezzled more than $14,000 in special and student funds during the 10-year period he served in the presidency.

The defense has contended on cross-examination of State's witnesses that some of them acted under threat from other State's witnesses. (Continued on page two)

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 22—(AP)—Somebody slipped on the bill that would give congressmen a pension.

Mrs. Mary Norton of New Jersey, the first woman ever elected to Congress from the Democratic party, has been in Congress 21 years.

She thought it only fair that congressmen who spend all their lives—or part of their lives—in government service should be entitled to some recognition when they get old.

So last January she introduced a bill that would provide congressmen after serving a certain number of years with a pension after reaching 62.

She didn't draw up the bill herself. Congressmen usually don't draft their own bills. They turn the job over to experts in what is called the legislative service.

So everything was all set. And the Civil Service Committee of the House began hearings on her bill this week.

The bill would do something like this: Government employees—those who want to—contribute 5 per cent of their salary to a pension fund. When they reach a certain age, they can retire! After serving a specified number of years.

Five Other Targets Smashed In Third Heavy Bomber Assault On Jap Homeland Industries In Past Five Days; 3,000 Tons Of Demolition Bombs Dropped

By LIEF ERICKSON
Guam, June 22—(AP)—Four hundred and fifty B-29s today attacked Japan's last large naval arsenal and five big aircraft factories with 3,000 tons of demolition bombs in a precision raid made visually from medium altitude in clear weather.

Seven other small industrial targets were fire-raided Monday and Wednesday.

Japan's two largest arsenals, Osaka and Hiro, previously were virtually destroyed. The Kure plant, blasted today, manufactured guns up to 16 inches, projectiles, fuses, propellants and torpedoes. It covered approximately 11,000,000 feet.

The other five targets were the Mitsubishi and Kawasaki aircraft plants at Nagamigahara, 20 miles north of Nagoya; Kawanishi aircraft plant at Himeji and the Kawasaki aircraft plant at Asaka, both in the Kobe area, and the Mitsubishi-Mishima aircraft factory at Tamashima, 90 miles west of Kobe.

A Japanese communique claimed 26 of the giant raiders were shot down or damaged.

B-29s already have destroyed or damaged 112 square miles of Japanese urban industrial areas, 21st Bomber Command headquarters announced while today's raids were in progress. Recent B-29 attacks on seven smaller industrial cities—all made with incendiary bombs earlier this week—damaged more than nine square miles of factory areas.

Osaka, Japan's second largest city and its suburb, Amagasaki, suffered 2.71 square miles of new damage in a June 15 fire raid, increasing total damaged areas there to 16.75 square miles. This represents 26 per cent of Osaka's built-up areas and 17 per cent of Amagasaki's.

Incendiary bombs, aimed at hundreds of small Japanese home industries, on that raid virtually wiped out the major Amagasaki oil-pipe plant, the Sumitomo Kanagawa propeller plant, which was about 90 per cent destroyed or damaged.

A Card Holders Receive More Gas

Washington, June 22—(AP)—The 50 per cent increase in basic "A" gasoline ration went into effect throughout the country today. Motorists, using newly valid A-16 coupons, could buy six gallons with a stamp instead of four as heretofore.

That figures out to an average ration of three gallons a week, or about six miles of driving a day. Previously it was 2 gallons and four miles.

The six new A-16 coupons must last three months through September 21, and they are good for a total of 36 gallons, 12 more than the A-15 stamps which expired yesterday.

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Stars and Stripes in Paris, in an imaginary letter from a dead soldier, takes General Patton to task for telling a group of children they will be the soldiers of the next war.

General Eisenhower has added his voice to those who are advocating peace-time military training in the United States.

Russia, expected to announce relaxation of war-time living restrictions, at the same time accelerates military training and says, "The war in Europe is over but the military and political schooling and the training of fighting reserves does not cease for a moment."

tending to say he did.
At San Francisco, for the first time in history, all of the world's great powers, all its dominant forces, are arrayed for peace. The laws in the United Nations charter are prominent. To some they are disheartening. But it still represents the greatest step yet taken toward universal security. It does provide machinery by which the nations can have peace if they will to do so.

It represents something worth fighting for.

But the nations have not yet said that war will no longer be permitted. They have not agreed that their collective strength will be applied automatically against any one of them which first resorts to force. Local communities have established constabularies so that each law-abiding home no longer needs a rifle behind the door or a pistol in the bureau drawer. The world, as yet, has no such constabulary. Pending that, the generals who are hired and trained to look after the security of their countries are not necessarily out of step because they seek immediate insurance. They seek to preserve the step forward which the soldier has taken while civilian arrangements catch up.

Want Magazines In Paper Drive

Alton Barrett, chairman of the salvage committee of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, said today that he especially urged all citizens of Greenville to put out all their old magazines for the scrap paper drive on Sunday because "this type of paper is badly needed."

Cardboard was also emphasized by Chairman Barrett in telling the types of paper needed.

"I don't want anyone to get the idea, however," he said "that we don't want anything but magazines and cardboard for we do. All kinds of paper are needed. It just so happens that magazine paper and cardboard are the two most badly needed kinds at the present time."

The drive will be held Sunday afternoon starting at 2 o'clock and lasting until completed. It will be a house to house canvass just as the ones in the past.

The Javees will make a concentrated effort to get the biggest amount of paper they have ever gotten so far because of the increased need by the WPB for waste paper.

All persons in town are urged to cooperate by bundling their paper securely and placing it in front of their homes before two o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Patrons Warned To Wash Milk Bottles

City Sanitarian H. A. Hendrix said today that many milk bottles are being returned to the local dairy plant without having first been cleaned. He said this is a violation of the city milk ordinance adopted by the Pitt County Board of Health and he quoted from the milk ordinance as follows: "It is the duty of all persons to whom milk or milk products are delivered to clean thoroughly the container in which such milk or milk products are delivered before returning such containers."

Hendrix said not only householders are violating the ordinance but drug stores, cafes, restaurants, and other merchants are also violating it.

He called attention to the fact that it is much easier to clean milk bottles just after pouring off the milk than it is after the bottle becomes dry.

In the interest of better milk sanitation and better health, Hendrix requests full cooperation in the matter of cleansing all milk bottles and milk containers.

A person may be fined or imprisoned for violating the milk ordinance.

Famous Physician Died In Richmond

By CHESTER WALSH
Dr. Beverly Randolph Tucker, 71, internationally known neuro-psychiatrist, author, playwright and philanthropist, who died in Richmond, Va., Tuesday and was buried yesterday in Hollywood Cemetery, Richmond, was one of the best known men in the medical profession of Greenville, said today.

Dr. Tucker studied in this country and abroad. He was for many years on the faculty of the Medical College of Virginia. He also served in some of the most famous clinics in the United States and was head of Tucker Hospital in Richmond. Dr. Tucker made many contributions to medical science, especially in his research and findings on pellagra. He was a son of the late John Randolph Tucker and Fannie Booth Crumpler Tucker of Richmond.

Dr. Tucker was well known in North Carolina. He was guest speaker about a year ago at a meeting of the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society in Greenville and was a guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ennett.

campaign, where the Navy suffered from Japanese kamikaze (suicide) air attacks, but they also included the strike against the Japanese fleet in the inland sea March 18. It was pointed out that Japanese naval casualties were not included in the Okinawa list, although the Japanese by conservative estimate lost at least 3,500 dead in the inland sea battle alone.

For comparative purposes of ground forces against ground forces, 13 Japanese were killed for every American killed or missing.

In the final period, when their stubborn, cave-based defense of Okinawa was collapsing, the Japanese lost 3,058 killed in a single day.

On Wednesday 1,700 of them surrendered—a new high for the Pacific fighting—and Adm. Nimitz announced that at the end "Japanese soldiers were surrendering in groups in some cases led by their officers."

Others were coming into American positions brandishing surrender leaflets which the Americans had strewn behind the lines in past weeks.

Bedraggled Okinawan civilians also were streaming in, their presence impeding the final mop-up of the handful of Japanese still resisting.

There was a last sprinkling of banzai charges. Observers on the scene predicted that the elimination of skulking snipers should go more quickly than on other islands, as the long campaign had given the Americans opportunity to comb the back areas thoroughly.

nesses, that some of them have changed their testimony since the first trial, and that in at least two instances the account books of the Baker-Davis Hardware Company have been altered.

Among the last witnesses this week was W. L. Baldree, former superintendent of buildings and grounds at the college. The State alleges that $385.29 worth of work done by Baldree on Dr. Meadows' private property actually was paid for with college funds, and that college cement was used on the defendant's property.

The defense tried to show that necessary college improvements and beautification projects were made under Dr. Meadows' supervision, and that he used some of his own money on those projects.

F. D. Duncan, college treasurer, identified a number of college transactions of payments to workmen employed at the college.

The court will take a recess after today's session over the weekend and will resume trial Monday.

M. L. Widenhouse, of the State Auditor's office, was scheduled to return to the stand today.

The State yesterday scored in a legal skirmish when Judge J. Paul Frizzelle held that the defense could not refer to records kept by the defendant until they had been introduced into evidence.

Much of the day's session was devoted to the legal battle which involved two memorandum books kept by the defendant and which purport to show his receipts and expenditures of college funds.

The move of the defense in this connection was attempted during cross examination of Widenhouse. When the auditor left the stand yesterday it was with the understanding he would return to the stand today with an itemized account of part of his investigation.

The State sought to show through the testimony of H. I. West, former engineer at ECTC, that work done by the witness during his off hours on Meadows' private properties was paid for with college funds. The prosecution also endeavored to prove that West turned about $237.00 over to Meadows when the engineer left ECTC in 1939, and that the defendant kept that sum in his own possession and produced it four years later during the investigation. Meadows had claimed it was in his safe all that time.

The funds voted by the committee represented a cut of $586,810,000 from budget estimates and a reduction of $9,692,492,331 from money made available to the Army during the current fiscal year.

Of the total, $21,376,283,400 represents new appropriations, $8,885,501,051 is made available from previous appropriations, and $8,238,501,500 represents recoveries due to cancellations or reductions of obligations approved for prior years.

The committee, cautioning that "the battle of the Pacific is still in its initial stages" with many mileposts yet to be passed on the road to Tokyo, cited this testimony from General Marshall:

"It would be a costly mistake, a hideous injustice to our men in the Pacific, to relax now in optimistic estimates of the situation. The final victory of the battlefields will be ours, but it must not be delayed by optimistic errors of judgment or impatient demands for a return at home to the conditions of peace."

"There is little of military secrecy as to the general nature of our plans for the coming year," the five star general declared. "The offensive in the Pacific are to be intensified to the maximum degree possible. Air strikes of constantly increasing power will devastate the Japanese war-making facilities and defenses and pave the way for invasion."

A swift redeployment against our remaining enemy in the Pacific is our most pressing problem. Economy in lives and material, as well as the psychology of the American people, demand that we mount a swift, powerful offensive forcing a victory at the earliest possible moment. . . . We aim to use every man and every weapon practicable."

Reiterating plans for an army strength of 6,968,000 by June 30, 1946, Marshall said future circumstances may permit additional demobilizations and a reduction in the size of the 800,000-man European occupation force.

"For example," he said, "we have the great imponderable at the moment as to whether or not Russia will enter the war with Japan."

That, together with the possible accomplishments of Chinese forces, he added, "presents something for us to consider in our approach to final victory in the Pacific."

An idea of the devastation Japan can expect from skies blackened with super-bombers was given by General Arnold, who listed this destruction in Europe between D-Day and VE-Day: 108,000 railroad cars, 86,000 motor vehicles, 17,000 buildings, 8,000 armored vehicles and tanks, and 8,000 horse-drawn vehicles.

oil fields. An airport with two 5,000 and two 3,000 foot strips fell to the guerrillas who forded the Cagayan River and entered the capital of Cagayan Province in one of the most brilliant guerrilla exploits of the Luzon campaign.

Thirty-five miles to the south, the alarmed Nipponese lost nine of their dwindling supply of tanks in two counterattacks repulsed by the 37th Infantry Division near captured Itagan.

On Borneo, the Japanese left so hurriedly they abandoned hot food ahead of Aussies who seized the town of Lutong, and its second rate airfield and fanned out north and south.

Chapter 16

Kay woke to the sound of rain lashing against the windows of the Lambert house. The room was cold. She lay in bed waiting for Liza to come and light a fire.

She sat up, hearing Eloise's high heels tapping down the hall to Liza's room. "Eloise!" she called. The door opened and Kay asked, "Where is Liza?"

Eloise stared at her with bold indifference. "I really can't say. It's not my day to keep up with her."

Kay was so surprised that she couldn't speak for a moment. Then she knew. Liza was responsible for her maid's attitude. Kay felt a hot wave of anger surge through her body as she saw the deliberate impudence in the mulatto's pale blue eyes. Yet her voice showed no anger when she said:

"Well, find out, won't you? And tell her I want my breakfast."

Eloise tossed her head and made no answer as she closed the door. Kay stared at the wall, thinking perhaps she had dreamed the incident. Eloise, half white, with her brows arched above her insolent eyes, her perfect clipped English, unperturbed to her! And in her own house! She wondered if her stepmother had heard, and thought angrily. Do I have to stand for everything from Lucia?

She slipped out of bed no longer conscious of the cold. She was drawn to a robe about her when a knock sounded and Lucia entered.

The older woman was beautiful in a bright satin house coat, her dark hair falling about her shoulders. "My dear," she spoke soothingly to Kay, "let me apologize for Eloise. She doesn't understand taking orders from anyone but me. If you had only asked for her services I would have been glad to lend her."

Kay flushed angrily, but she managed to keep her voice calm. "I don't have to ask you for favors, Lucia. This is my home. I have my own servants."

Lucia laughed throatily. "You mean, Eliza? I told her again yesterday not to come upstairs. She upsets Eloise."

"Listen, Lucia—Kay's voice was sweetly warning—"did you understand me when I said that this house is mine? It doesn't belong to Francis. It belongs to me, just as Liza's belongs to her. My grandfather's will says so. She jangled when decided to finish what she had started. And though you have all the trees cut down and change everything here, you still can't change that will!"

Incredulous, Kay burned in Lucia's eyes. She looked at Kay for an instant, then her pose returned. "You are tired, dear," she said, "and no wonder, after that perfectly gorgeous party you and Francis gave for me." She turned to the bed, smoothed the covers. "Now come back and lie down. I'll bring your breakfast upstairs myself."

Kay shook her head. Lucia's manner of trying to place her in the wrong infuriated her even more. She said lightly, "I'll go down for breakfast and I want Liza here from now on."

"But, darling," Lucia protested, "are you walking over my orders?"

"Yes, I am," Kay said levelly, "if you want to put it that way."

She turned and walked swiftly into the bathroom. She saw Eloise in the hall; the girl had seen and heard everything. Under the shower Kay's anger gave way to regret. Katherine would have been so ashamed of her. For in Katherine's home no one was ever known to raise a voice in anger, to snarl or rebel.

Kay went on into the kitchen. Anna still reigned supreme there only by virtue of being a better cook than those recommended by Lucia's friends in Atlanta. Anna was scowling out the window at the rain.

Kay's heart sank anew. Liza had tried to cover up Lucia's unkindness, had been unwilling for Kay to know of it, for fear she'd become angry and play into Lucia's hands. Well, Liza's efforts had been in vain.

She slipped her coffee, and looked up at Anna's frown. "What's wrong with you this morning?" she asked.

In the Superior Court
N. L. May, Loan May, Mrs. Nicey May White, Mrs. Susie Ross, Mrs. Ada Mae Courtney, Mrs. Sue Mae Faulkner and Mrs. Mamie Lee Tyson.
-vs.-
Lee Edwards and Sylvia Edwards, P. B. Manning, Administrator of the estates of Lee Edwards and Sylvia Edwards, and the children and descendants of said Lee Edwards and Sylvia Edwards, if any there be, wherever found and located.

The defendants, Lee Edwards and Sylvia Edwards, if living, and if they be dead, their children and descendants, if any there be, wherever found and located, will take notice that a Special Proceeding as above entitled has been commenced in the Superior Court of Pitt County, North Carolina, for the purpose of distributing a sum of money formerly belonging to said Lee and Sylvia Edwards, nieces of Jesse Baker, deceased, late of Pitt County, North Carolina, which in the settlement of the said Jesse Baker estate in Feb., 1938, was paid into the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County because of the fact that the said Lee and Sylvia Edwards, or any children or descendants of them, could not at that time be found or located; which money is now being claimed by the petitioners herein, who are the collateral next of kin of the said Lee and Sylvia Edwards and are entitled to receive the same unless said fund is claimed by the said Lee and Sylvia Edwards, or their children or descendants within the time prescribed by law as determined by this proceeding.

The said Lee Edwards and Sylvia Edwards were grown women when last heard from about the year 1915 and rumor has it that at that time they were supposed to be living in the vicinity of Dillon, South Carolina, but there seems to be nothing definite about this.

And the above named defendants, Lee Edwards and Sylvia Edwards, their children and descendants, if any there be, wherever found and located, will further take notice that they are required to appear at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County in Greenville, North Carolina, on the 2nd day of July, 1945, or within ten days thereafter, and answer or demur to the complaint or petition of the petitioners or the petitioners will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the petition, namely that the funds be paid over to them as the next of kin of the said Lee and Sylvia Edwards.

This 22nd day of May, 1945.
J. F. HARRINGTON, Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt Co., N. C.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

SECURE FROM DEFEAT

To what extent can you really maintain that you have workable religious convictions? Do you really feel that your life is so guarded and sustained by spiritual power that no matter what the circumstances of life may do to the outside of you, they can do nothing to the inside of you?

If trouble, sorrow, and disappointment have not already come upon you, they will, in some measure at least be your lot before the span of life ended. Can the circumstances of life hurt the real you? Yes, they can destroy the real you. They can decimate and pillage until within and without your life will be a desolate charnel house. But if by the simple act of faith you lift that part of you which alone is real and eternal out of the reach of life's circumstances by putting it into the hands of God, then no circumstance of life, no matter how bitter and devastating it may be, will ever overcome and destroy you. The body they may kill. God's truth abideth still.

The kingdom is forever. The only defeat in life is inner defeat, and the only way to guard against this is to make the inner life strong.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—Not since we started our defense program nearly five years ago has there been so much genuine alarm here over the threat of inflation.

Members of Congress, government economists, experts in the Department of Agriculture and Treasury, the White House and of course the OPA, have expressed fears in recent days that the flood gates which have held back the torrents of runaway prices are bursting.

The immediate reasons for these fears are:

1. The Wherry "cost plus" amendment for all farm products in extension of the OPA. Sen. Lucas of Illinois has said that it will mean chaos in price controls. Director Chester Bowles says flatly that the House will kill it. But opponents didn't think the amendment had a chance in the Senate.

2. The alarming growth of black markets. (The latest is in eggs.) Enforcement agencies have been unable to check them, and already they are boosting the cost of living far beyond the one-third increase since 1940 shown in the statistics in which legitimate prices are used.

3. The farm land and real estate boom. It is now estimated that prices are rising at the staggering average rate of one per cent a month. Farm land prices already have increased more than 50 per cent since 1939, and the speculation in both farm property and real estate is shipping steadily toward the danger point.

The reasons for the great pressure on the flood gates now aren't hard to find. They are:

1. A national income of nearly $160,000,000,000, of which taxes and normal spending can take away only about 125 billion.

2. Accumulated savings since 1940 of more than $300,000,000,000—four times what it would normally be.

3. Millions of persons with money hungry for the things of which they have been deprived for more than three years. As an outgrowth of this last has come resentment at price controls and a dissatisfaction with OPA that results in a tremendous pressure on the lawmakers to abolish that agency or at least curb its activities.

New plans for tightening controls to halt or at least slow down the threatened inflation are pretty much in the blueprint stage and most of them deal with plans for extending controls to prevent inflation during the postwar reconversion era.

The experts here are almost unanimous in the belief that all of this adds up to plenty of reason for worry about what's just ahead on the inflation front.

Today On The ...

(Adolph J. Sabath, 79-year-old Chicago Democrat, has been in Congress 30 years, the man with the longest service.)

Mrs. Norton: Why does it put a strain on Mr. Sabath?

The CSC voice: Because if he wanted to get into the pension fund for the full benefit he'd have to pay 5 per cent of his congressional salary since 1920.

And sure enough. That's how the bill was drawn up and this is what it meant, at least in the case of a man like Sabath.

If he wanted to retire now, and enjoy the full benefits of the pension if it was passed, he'd have to pay 5 per cent of his yearly salary all the way back to 1920 when the Civil Service law went into effect.

That would cost him perhaps $11,500. Then he'd have to gamble on his chances of living long enough to get back the money he put in.

Mrs. Norton was astonished a little by this and said the bill would need some revision. This it will get, you can be sure. Congressmen don't want to have to dump anything like $11,000 into a pension fund! Especially if they are old.

The whole structure of payments to the individual congressman is too complicated to go into here. You'll have to wait to see what congressmen finally do about all this. They will have to watch out that they don't get hooked into anything like paying pensions due back 20 years. And they'll have to be sure that whatever they do—if anything—will really help the public.

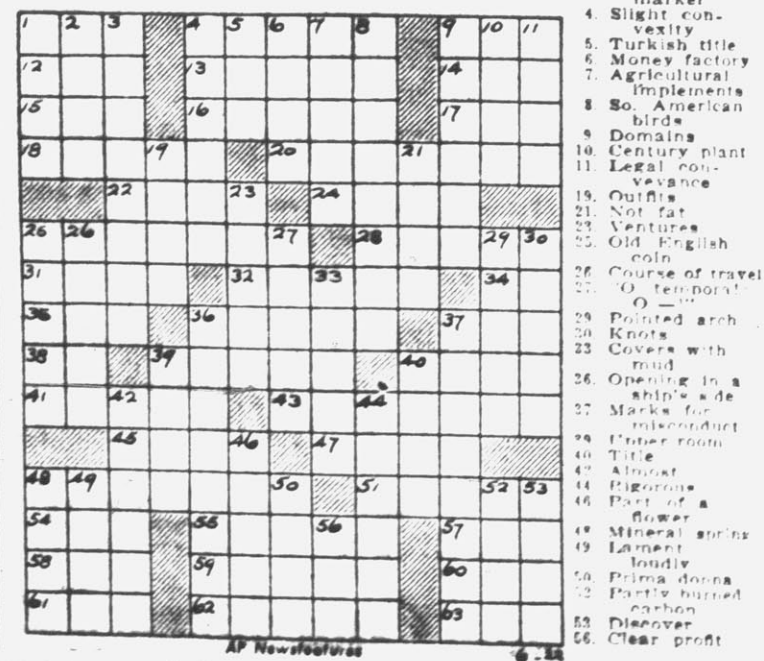

Three years ago Congress sought a pension for itself and got laughed out of it by the public.

Kellogg-Briand Pact, outlawing aggressive war, to support its charge of mass conspiracy.

The American plan for a mass trial unprecedented in history would bring together as defendants under a blanket conspiracy charge those accused of being responsible for starting World War II, including Nazi government leaders, top Nazi military chiefs, German industrialists and diplomats, SS and Gestapo leaders. Lesser Nazis would be brought in as witnesses.

No place has been designated as yet for the trial. It was established, however, that the United States had taken the strong position that the trials must not be postponed indefinitely. It is toward that end that Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief U. S. prosecutor of war criminals, is working now. He arrived here earlier this week with a staff of legal experts following consultations in Washington, where he made a direct report to President Truman on results of a preliminary survey.

Offered Education

Knoxville, Tenn., June 22—(AP)—A 17 year old girl who rode horseback from Mars Hill, N. C., to get a job in Knoxville, has been offered a complete education.

Mrs. E. S. Hodges of Birmingham, after reading of Myrtle Power's "three-day trip, made the offer. At present the girl is working at the soda fountain of a Knoxville drug store.

COLORED NEWS

Mt. Calvary F. W. B. Usher Board club held its June Queen contest Sunday, June 17th, with 262 people present.

The contest was carried out successfully after which a course of dinner was served.

The June Queen raising the highest amount of money was Miss Carrie E. Hemby, junior usher.

Beginning on Sunday, July 1, all Usher Board club meetings will be held at the church until further notice.

There will be a guest speaker at the meeting July 1st. All ushers are urged to attend. Visitors are also invited. The Usher Board is one of the leading and most outstanding clubs in the church. We wish to thank each and every one who helps to make our program a success and as our club pledge—"Our faith triumphant over our fears," and an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.—Esther Mae Porteur club reporter.

Reorganization Plan Is Buried

Washington, June 22—(AP)—President Truman's request for blanket authority to reorganize and control all federal agencies appeared today to be buried in a House committee pigeonhole.

In its place the Expenditures Committee probably will consider a bill by its chairman, Rep. Manasco (D-Ala.), which withholds more than a score of departments from presidential control.
But it isn't going to hurry into that one either, although most feel that some sort of a reorganization law is needed.

More than a month ago Mr. Truman asked Congress for legislation which would give the White House postwar string on all departments and independent agencies, power now held under emergency war-time laws. The authority is needed, the President said, to permit reshuffling of government business in step with changing conditions.

NEGRO SAVED FROM DEATH

Two Others Executed At State Prison Today

Raleigh, June 22—(AP)—Clarence Lord, 21, Cabarrus county Negro, was saved from death in the state's gas chamber today by Governor Cherry, who ordered his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

News of the commutation reached Lord scarcely ten minutes before he was scheduled to die for the shotgun slaying of his sweetheart, Elder Phifer.

Earlier, Lord had told prison Chaplain L. A. Watts, "I still have hope that I won't die this morning." He admitted shooting the girl, explaining that they were to be married, and that she began going with other boys when he was out of work and had no money. He told the chaplain, "I feel that I am a Christian, and I am not afraid to die."

Governor Cherry said he received a petition this morning signed by 11 of the 12 trial jurors in the Lord case, urging that the sentence be commuted. Shortly after the commutation was signed, Cherry said the twelfth juror, who had not been located in time to sign the petition, phoned the governor, asking that his name be added. A letter signed by Judge A. H. Gwyn of Reidsville, asking that the sentence be commuted, reached the governor several days ago.

Henry French, 31-year-old Montgomery county Negro, one of the three scheduled to die today, entered the gas chamber at 10 o'clock and was pronounced dead eight minutes later. French, convicted of the murder of Duck Legrand, a Negro woman, told Chaplain Watts this morning that he killed in self defense and did not think he was guilty of first degree murder. He said he felt he was a Christian.

William Jones, 53, Wake county

Negro convicted of the murder of his wife, was pronounced dead 7½ minutes after the gas started rising. Witnesses in Jones' case testified that he threw his wife on the floor, cut her throat with a knife, and then, while his 12-year-old daughter looked on, ran his hand in the knife wound and cut the woman's windpipe.

Jones told Chaplain Watts this morning that he spent all last night praying and did not eat very much this morning. He said he did not see any use in eating if he was going to die. "I feel that I am a Christian," Jones said, "and that it is all right with my soul. I am not afraid."

He told Watts that his daughter told lies on the witness stand and said his wife attacked him with a knife, and that in defending himself he caused her to cut her own throat with the open knife in her hand. Watts said he seemed "very much depressed and cried."

The supreme court upheld appeals from Lord and French, and refused a petition of Jones for a hearing of his case out of order.

Rigid central prison restrictions were relaxed today, permitting women reporters to witness executions for the first time since the electric chair and gas chamber were installed as methods of capital punishment at the prison in 1910.

Will Not Name Food Dictator

Olympia, Wash., June 22—(AP)—President Truman doesn't contemplate the appointment of a food dictator in a program looking to early straightening out of meat and other food distribution. White House sources said today.

What he has in mind, these sources said, is a closer working relationship between agencies supervising the production, distribution and pricing of food.

The program, to be put into effect when Clinton P. Anderson becomes Agriculture Secretary and War Food Administrator, will, the president told his press conference yesterday, bring about an improvement automatically.

He said there would be a unity of control over prices and food.

URGES PEOPLE TO BUY BONDS

Investment in Bonds Will Help Avoid Inflation

Washington, June 22—(AP)—The president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association urged today that "people only buy the merchandise they really need."

Benjamin H. Namm, of Brooklyn, saying we are in danger of losing, "in a price rise orgy, much of what we are fighting for," asked Americans to take the money they save by limiting their purchases and invest in the Seventh War Loan.

The association which Namm heads has a membership of department stores and specialty shops in all parts of the country.

In a statement made public by the Treasury Department, Namm said there is a growing danger in people with "more money than usual" all wanting to buy the same scarce merchandise.

He declared that one sure way of keeping the economy on an even keel is to "put every possible dollar into War Bonds."

The retail leader's statement supported the position of Treasury Secretary Morgenthau that the surpassing of the $14,000,000,000 overall quota in the bond drive yesterday does not mean that the whole job is done.

Total sales have reached $15,982,000,000 with the corporation quota of $7,000,000,000 passed with a sales figure of $9,782,000,000.

Morgenthau said in a statement that this was "gratifying," but he said complete success would be attained until the $7,000,000,000 quota for individual bond buyers is met.

Sales to individuals now are $6,262,000,000. Of that amount, $2,779,000,000 is in Series E bonds against an E-bond quota of $4,000,000,000. The drive ends June 30 with the accounting period continuing through July 7. It opened May 14.

National Debt Hits New High

Washington, June 22—(AP)—The national debt increased more than three billion dollars on June 20 and passed 250 billion on its way up—the biggest one-day jump since last December—the daily Treasury statement showed today.

The increase was attributed to corporation sales in the Seventh War Loan drive. The biggest one-day increase in the debt during the Sixth War Loan drive was $3,450,000,000, last December 2.

The total debt including obligations guaranteed by the Treasury now is $250,366,962,836.55.

Orders Confiscation Prague, June 22—(AP)—President Benes today ordered the confiscation of all farms and corporations in Czechoslovakia belonging to Germans, Hungarians and "traitors and Nazi collaborators of any nationality."

Weather Forecast Extended forecast for the Carolinas for the period beginning at 8:30 p. m. tonight and ending at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday:

Near normal temperatures with little trends; light to moderate precipitation occurring mostly in eastern sections latter half of period.

Recover Body Of Boy From River

By CHESTER WALSH The body of William Earle Grimes, 13-year-old Negro boy who was drowned while swimming in Tar River Wednesday afternoon, was recovered early today and taken to Flanagan and Parker's Funeral Home to be prepared for burial. He is a son of Mrs. Ethel Grimes, Cotanche Street.

Fire Chief George Gardner and Policeman Johnny Mobley and others stretched Hugh McGowan's 13-foot shad net across the river near the railroad bridge yesterday afternoon. Firemen and police and others had spent two days dragging the river for the body without success. They used a boat donated for the purpose by Richard C. (Dick) Stokes II.

When the net was set in the river the night watchman at the city electric plant was requested to watch it. About 4:30 this morning he reported that the body was in the net. Gardner, Mobley and two attendants from the funeral home and others assisted in removing Grimes' body from the net. Policeman George Clark and Marine military police assisted. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

"The river has many dangerous spots in it and it is always dangerous," Chief Herbert Wooten said today, and urged parents not to allow youngsters to swim in the stream.

OPA GETS NEW LEASE ON LIFE

House Defeats Republican Effort To Curb Controls

Washington, June 22—(AP)—The House today defeated a Republican sponsored effort to hold OPA's new lease on life to six months instead of one year, the vote was 177 to 126.

The vote for a full year's extension came after Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) walked into the House and appealed to the membership not to destroy OPA. Such action, he said, would bring inflation "in which many people won't have anything to eat and wear."

"This is a confusing and destructive amendment," Rayburn declared of the six-month limitation proposal.

An effort to kill legislation prolonging the life of wartime price and rationing controls was defeated overwhelmingly on a voice vote.

The action came on an amendment by Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) to strike out the existing clause of the OPA extension bill. He said "we should cut OPA's head off and start all over again."

A roar of "no" defeated the proposal. Only a scattering of voices were heard in its support.

The House called its members in to session two hours earlier than usual today for a series of show-down votes on price and rationing controls.

A Republican proposal to strip OPA of all authority over food by delegating its jurisdiction to the Agriculture Department was high on the calendar for the rare 10 a. m. (EWT) session.

STRIKES MAR HOME FRONT

War Production Is Cut By New Walk-Outs

By the Associated Press New strikes in vital war industries today pushed the total of workers idle in labor troubles beyond the 70,000 mark.

In Detroit, already plagued by a variety of work stoppages, 3,500 workers left their jobs in a Briggs Manufacturing Company aircraft plant in protest against lack of meat in their sandwiches supplied by a catering firm.

The CIO Union local president asserted the stoppage was undertaken against the advice of union officials.

The automobile city's dwindling meat supply was slashed further through closing of most of the community's slaughter houses because of a strike of 335 employees of four rendering companies.

In Eau Claire, Wis., 2,000 were idle at the Gillette tire plant of the U. S. Rubber Company because of a work stoppage in the tube department.

As these new disputes arose, however, a back-to-work movement was gaining momentum among the striking AFL drivers in the Chicago truck controversy raging for a week.

Throughout the nation the War Labor Board acted to end several of the strikes, some of which have been in progress for a week or longer.

One of the biggest strikes affected some 15,000 CIO glass workers in plants in 10 cities. Workers in eight plants walked off the job at last night's strike deadline, joining the 6,000 who have been on strike at plants at Ford City and Greighton, Pa. They voted to strike a week ago following breakdown of contract negotiations.

In Detroit, scene of scores of strikes, the main Packard Motor Company plant was closed, keeping 20,000 workers from their jobs producing aircraft engines and marine engines for PT-boats. The shutdown followed a strike of 1,000 CIO battle with AFL construction workers on reconversion employment.

Senate To Begin . . .

In San Francisco, Vandenberg has taken care, even as an American delegate, to keep his position fluid so that if he did not approve the charter in its final form he would be at liberty to say so. However, now that it is finished, it is reported that he will become one of its most outspoken supporters.

Senate ratification is regarded as the key to actual creation of the new international league. Unless all the big five countries (the United States, Russia, Britain, China and France) ratify it along with a majority of the other nations, it will not become effective.

This is a much tighter requirement than that which brought the old league of nations into effect. Senate rejection of the league treaty kept the United States out but did not prevent formation of the league.

The last sections of the charter finally were approved by conference commissions yesterday. The coordinating committee is still checking over wording. Translators are still busy with Russian, Chinese and Spanish texts to supplement the English and French versions already

But the only things lacking now are formal approval of the document in a conference plenary session Monday and its signing by delegates of the 50 United Nations Monday afternoon and night.

The signing will require an estimated eight hours. President Truman, arriving Monday afternoon, will witness a part of the long ceremony in a flag-draped hall in San Francisco's civic center.

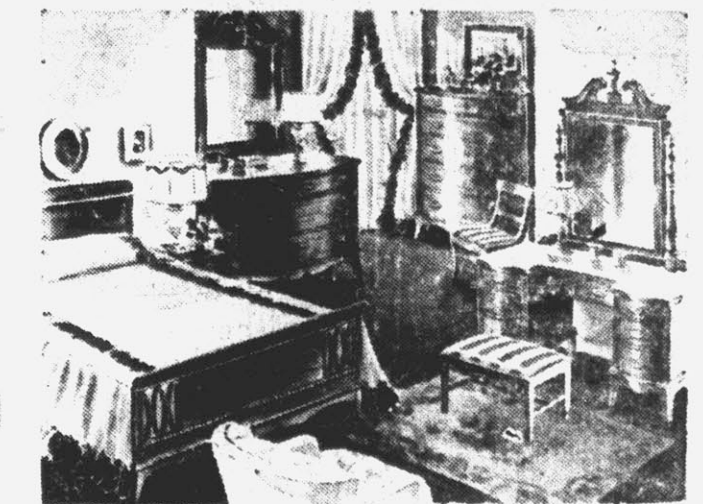

This will clear the way for the closing session Tuesday. Addresses of 3 to 5 minutes will be made by delegates of the big five and of Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Mexico, Saudi Arabia and South Africa. President Truman will begin his half-hour speech about 5 p. m. (Pacific war time).
