By LEIF ERICKSON
Guam, June 27.—(AP)—The great Marianas Superfortress fleet added Japan's principal remaining aviation gasoline refinery to its list of bombed industrial targets today.

Five B-29s failed to return to their bases. Tokyo broadcasts had claimed 28 were shot down and 66 damaged.

Although few airmen were able to observe results of the Tuesday strike, hits were seen on the Mitsubishi Aircraft Company's Kagami-gahara plant near Gifu and the Kawasaki Aircraft Company's Akashi plant.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

While we are surf-riding on the crest of the wave of hope from the San Francisco security conference, we shouldn't overlook that another peace parley of the utmost importance to the world is being held in far away India.

That's the renewed British-Indian effort to reach a compromise on the grave political problem which has torn that great sub-continent for decades. Solution of this problem would do more than any other single event (barring the defeat of Japan) to consolidate the East and the West in fellowship.

London, Never before, so far as I recall, have they met in India. It will be remembered that during Sir Stafford Cripp's mission in 1942 he conferred with the various Indian parties, but dealt with them separately and they had little or no contact with each other.

IMPORTANT STATEMENT

U. S. Eagerly Awaits Announcement By President

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Salt Lake City, June 27.—(AP)—President Truman left the Utah capital today after an unannounced overnight "rest stop" to receive the acclaim of the people who know him best, the folk in his home town, Independence, Mo.

Mr. Truman took off in his C-54 luxury transport plane from the army air field just west of here at 8:09 a. m., mountain war time. The sky was partly cloudy and the temperature mild after a cool night.

His press secretary, Charles G. Ross, would not reveal the nature of the imminent disclosure in advance of the President's departure.

"All I can say is that it is one of the most important announcements he has yet made," Ross told reporters.

He would not say whether it was of domestic or international significance. The press conference will be held in Memorial Hall at Independence at 4 p. m. central war time.

The Farmer's Worries Hampering Production

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—A nationwide black market in poultry threatens to bring an acute egg shortage and possibly to destroy the nation's laying flocks.

The house food shortage investigating committee found on its tour of the Midwest and far west that in many sections more than half the poultry moving to market is sold at from 10 to 50 per cent above legal prices.

Testimony was offered that fly-by-night dealers are driving up and down the countryside in search of poultry. They offer to buy laying hens, roosters or any kind of chickens available at prices which poultrymen find hard to resist.

Reference again was made to items included in the first trial, but which were removed from the current trial.

Fair Return

Prince Frederick, Md., June 27.—(AP)—Roy Green of Plum Point community received $200 for two of his home-cured hams and no OPA rules were violated.

Early Ratification Of Treaty Is Sought

MEADOWS CASE DRAGS ALONG
Defendant Still On Witness Stand Today
Dr. Leon R. Meadows continued today his recitation of item by item expenditures of special student funds while he was president of East Carolina Teachers College.

As the defense moved slowly in the item by item explanations, Dr. Meadows repeated time and again, in answer to interrogations, that he spent all the money for the good of the college. None of it, he said, ever was spent on his personal property, which he previously had described as extensive.

He said that two items totaling $14,200, identified as the J. W. Clark items, were for rock and cement used for paving on the college campus. He is accused of embezzling that amount, part of the $14,000 which the State contends he converted to his own use.

MORE STRIKES IN PROGRESS

Number Idle Workers Nearly 100,000 Today

(By the Associated Press)
The number of idle workers caused by strikes and work stoppages throughout the country edged toward the 100,000 mark today.

In Washington, government labor agencies expressed anxiety over the mounting number of strikes. In Detroit, the idle hit a new high for 1945, as more than 50,000 men and women stayed from their jobs because of various labor disputes.

As the total idle continued to grow steadily, a CIO union official in Detroit described the series of stoppages in the motor city "irrevocably." Today's estimated 90,000 out on strikes and stoppages nearly doubled the number affected last Wednesday.

There was no immediate prospect of wiping the slate clean of the rising labor strife but government labor officials were hopeful. They attribute the outbreak of strikes in Europe and indicated new congressional action would be necessary to deal with the problem.

The only bright spot along the labor front was in Chicago where the 11-day old walkout of some 6,000 truck drivers apparently had ended. More than 2,000 members of the Independent Chicago Truck Drivers Union last night voted to return to work, joining approximately 8,000 members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters who are back on their jobs.

After the government seized the 1,200 truck lines to break the strike, which stemmed from a War Labor Board wage-hour decision, soldiers were called in to drive and guard the trucks. In returning to work, the drivers accepted a $4.08 increase for a 51 hour week. They had demanded a $5 weekly hike for a 48-hour week.

Additional hundreds joined the strike in the motor city yesterday. The number at all Ford Motor Co. plants increased to about 12,000. Other idle included 22,000 at the Packard Motor Co.; 7,500 at the Budd Wheel Co., and 9,000 at the Hudson Motor Car Co.

There were no developments affecting the strikes of 16,700 CIO (Continued on page four)

Turks Worried Over Fate Of Dardanelles

Look To Britain And America For Hint Of Their Reaction To Russian Proposal
By FRANK O'BRIEN
Ankara, June 27.—(AP)—Turkey, disturbed by reports that Russia is seeking modification of the Montreux convention fixing the status of the Dardanelles, looking toward the United States and Britain today for a hint of their reaction.

While no concrete developments are expected before the impending "Big Three" meeting, it is believed in Ankara that Turkey will sound out opinion in both Washington and London in the meantime. It is expected that Foreign Minister Haskan Saka may stop off in Britain for talks with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden en route home from the San Francisco security conference.

Few developments affecting Turkey since the start of the European war have stirred Ankara so much as the rumors which have been current for the past 48 hours.

Official quarters have remained silent, it is possible to state on reliable authority.

During discussions preliminary to negotiations of a new Turkish-Russian pact of friendship and non-aggression in Moscow, the Russians raised for discussion the questions of the proprietorship of the northwestern Turkish province of Kars.

The Turks take the view that the Montreux convention, which has strained Turkey supervision of the strait since 1936, was an internationally negotiated instrument and can be altered only through a multilateral agreement of the great powers. (Continued on page four)

Differential To Remain The Same

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—The price differential allowed for the blue-cured flue-cured tobacco over untraded types is expected to be about 41-2 cents again this year.

Commodity Credit Corporation and OPA officials predicted continuation of the differential, allowed last year with ceilings of 39 cents a pound for untraded and 43-1/2 for OPA ceiling operations have not provided the same margin of profit that black market prices have netted to the producers of poultry meat. Neither have they provided the same margins of profit that have been provided other lines of endeavor.

Lawler urged an immediate increase in ceilings on eggs.

"Such an increase," he said "would encourage more producers to keep more laying hens on their farms, thus increasing the production of eggs."

Egg supply prospects for the last half of the year are further aggravated by the fact that eggs stored during the spring season of heavy production were less than half the quantity stored a year ago. Storage eggs are needed to fill the gap of low production during the summer and fall.

Americans Reported Fighting Their Way Onto Kume, 50 Miles West Of Okinawa; Tokyo Sources Predict Allied Invasion Of China Before Hitting Japan Proper

Guam, June 27.—(AP)—Radio Tokyo reported Allied invasion forces were fighting their way today onto Kume Island, 50 miles west of Okinawa, and predicted American assault forces may land on the China Coast preparatory to invading Japan.

The unconfirmed report on the Kume invasion said "heavy fighting is now in progress." It described the action as a "fresh landing" in the central Ryukyu islands where Americans are developing bases to hit the enemy homeland.

Tokyo quoted Maj. Gen. Masori Ito, one of Japan's leading military commentators, as saying there was no immediate prospect of an invasion of Japan and Okinawa is "totally unsuitable as a base for large scale operations."

Another broadcast quoted the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Hochi as noting "the possibility is great that the enemy will attempt a landing on the China continent in preparation for the actual invasion of Japan."

Capture of Kume would add a little more than ten square miles to the American-held Ryukyu area, including Okinawa and the nearby Kerama Islands. It would also protect the western flank of Okinawa where capture of 302 more prisoners boosted Nipponese losses for the campaign to 111,341.

Kume, shaped like a dog's head pointed toward the China coast, is due west of Okinawa's capital city of Naha, and within 300 miles of Formosa. On the west side, from the tip of the dog's snout, the island is 150 miles long, 10 miles wide, and rises over 90 feet and another near the south end up to approximately 920 feet. An all-weather highway traverses a large part of the island.

The new bag of prisoners increased the captive total to 9,498. One group was taken in by 10th army moppet squads when caught wading, deep in the surf off the southern end of Okinawa, trying to sneak north to become guerrillas. In the northern sector, Japanese hideout remnants ambushed and killed six (Continued on page four)

CLOSE VOTE ON TRUMAN PLAN

Committee Votes 10 To Nine On Succession Measure

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—By a one-vote margin the House Judiciary Committee today approved President Truman's recommendation that Congress make the speaker of the House next in line for the presidency, after the vice-president.

The vote was 10 to 9, taken in executive session. Several of those who voted against the bill said they would prefer additional time to study the measure.

The measure, which provides that the speaker of the House be substituted for the secretary of state as the map who would take over the White House in the absence of both an elected president and vice-president. (Continued on Page Two)

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW
Editor's Note: This is the third of six stories explaining the set-up of the new United Nations as it was created in San Francisco.

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 27.—(AP)—The General Assembly of the United Nations—called the "town meeting of the world"—is more than just a glorified debating society.

In that Assembly every member of the United Nations, large or small, will have one vote, and one can talk just as loudly as another.

The members can discuss anything coming within the scope of the United Nations charter. This covers a lot of territory in the international field.

This makes the Assembly a stage—or sounding board—where the world can express its opinions on what is happening in the world or is likely to happen if something is not done to stop it.

Someone like Hitler, starting to push his neighbors around, probably would think twice before going too far if he knew Assembly debate on his tactics was likely to organize world thinking and action against him.

But the Security Council—made up of the United States, Britain, Russia, France and China as permanent members, plus six smaller nations elected to two-year terms by the Assembly—is tied in closely with the Assembly.

Close Vote On . . .

(Continued From Page One) president, now goes to the House floor. Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex) is the present House speaker. The bill, written by Chairman Sumners (D-Tex) of the Judiciary Committee, follows exactly the presidential succession views outlined by President Truman in a recent message. It provides that, should neither a president nor vice-president be able to serve, then the presidency should pass to the speaker of the House, who must resign to accept the post. In the event the House was not in session or had no speaker at the time, the president pro tem of the Senate would become president to serve until a speaker qualifies. If there is neither a speaker nor Senate president, then the presidency would pass down the line of the cabinet as it now does—but only until a speaker could be elected and qualified.

(Continued from page one) Senate Thursday, and Vandenberg will speak on Friday. Secretary of State Stettinius also left for Washington with top State Department officials last night. Ahead of him is the task of leading the array of witnesses on world organization who will appear before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Stettinius left Leo Pasvolsky, an assistant and ranking American expert on the United Nations organization, here to attend an organizational meeting of the United Nations preparatory commission today. This commission, including representatives of all 50 nations, will have its regular headquarters in London, will prepare for the creation of the United Nations organization and recommend a site for permanent headquarters. Mr. Truman witnessed the signing of the charter by the American delegation. The United States delegation signed in 38th place. The President and Stettinius then went immediately into the final conference session in San Francisco's red and gold Opera House, and the signing by the remaining 12 nations was suspended until after Stettinius had rapped the final gavel at 5:29 p. m. (P.W.T.). Adjournment had no effect on the signing, and in fact, it will actually be completed in Washington since only English and French texts were available today and Chinese, Spanish and Russian are still to come. Guatemala was the last to sign here, at 7:20 p. m. (P.W.T.). Mr. Truman was preceded on the rostrum by 10 speakers, the delegation chiefs of the United States, Russia, Britain, China, France, Mexico, Brazil, Saudi Arabia, Czechoslovakia and South Africa. Over and over again they hammered on these main statements:

FIND BODIES JAP GENERALS

Commanders On Okinawa Committed Hara Kiri

By AL DOPKING and ROBERT GEIGER. 10th Army Headquarters, Okinawa, June 27—(AP)—The bodies of the Japanese commanding general on Okinawa and his chief of staff, who had slit their stomachs in hara kiri ceremonies, have been found in shallow rock graves at the southeastern tip of the American-won island. Col. Cecil W. Nist, of Salem, Ore., 24th army corps staff officer, said the bodies, in full field uniforms with medals and insignia, have been identified positively as those of Lt. Gen. Mitsuru Ushijima, commanding general of the 32nd Japanese army, and Lt. Gen. Isamu Cho, his chief of staff.

The hara-kiri ceremony for Ushijima and Cho was held at the entrance to a huge headquarters cave on Hill 69 while 10th army soldiers were in foxholes 100 yards away. The bodies were found at the base of a cliff 75 yards from the cave entrance, which opened onto a narrow ledge six feet wide and 20 feet long. Their stomachs had been slit crosswise and their heads virtually severed.

Buried with Cho was a heavy comforter and white silk mattress cover. On it he had written his own epitaph: "Twenty second day, sixth month 20th year of Showa era. I depart without regret fear, shame or obligation. Army Chief of Staff Cho Isamu. Age of departure 51 years."

Cho's epitaph indicated he and Ushijima fulfilled the Samurai code on June 22—four days after Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., commanding the U. S. 10th army, was killed by an enemy artillery shell.

Several days before, Ushijima had rejected Buckner's appeal to accept honorable surrender. By the thousands, however, other Japanese officers and men have been giving up. The story of the hara-kiri ceremony was told by a Japanese prisoner who said he had been a cook for General Ushijima.

His story: On the night of June 21, the cook was given instructions to prepare a dinner for an important occasion. At 3 a. m., on June 22, the cook was busy preparing breakfast when an orderly came and whispered that Ushijima and Cho were going to commit "seppuku," Japanese term for honorable suicide.

Forty minutes later, both generals appeared in full field uniform with their medals pinned on their blouses, their boots highly polished. They were accompanied by aides and followed by members of the staff to the narrow ledge at the seaward entrance.

The two generals conversed in low tones. A heavy comforter was placed on the ledge. Over it was laid a white sheet, symbolic of death. Ushijima knelt with his knees on the sheet, his head bent slightly forward. Cho knelt on his left. Both faced the Pacific ocean.

An aide held two knives, each half wrapped in white cloth. An adjutant, with drawn saber, stood behind Ushijima's right. Both generals bared their abdomens. As Ushijima plunged a knife into his stomach, the adjutant swung his saber downward, severing the general's spinal column. He tumbled forward dead. Cho went through an identical ceremony. Staff members flocked back into the cave as three orderlies chopped out coral rock. The bodies then were partially covered with stones. The bodies were found Monday by a patrol led by Col. John (Mickey) Finn, of the 32nd regiment, seventh infantry division. All Japanese leaders of high rank on the conquered island now are accounted for.

GENERAL PHILATELIST—Gen. Mark Clark, who commanded the U. S. Fifth Army in Italy, and Postmaster General Frank C. Walker look over Clark's collection of U. S. stamps, kept up for him during his absence.

HEROES ON THE ROAD TO VICTORY

Corporal JAMES GURLEY, on Bougainville, November 1, 1943, as a one-man attacking force, killed thirteen japs by hurling grenades through the opening of their pill box. Chapter 21
 "Kay," Rex said again, "my darling, this must be what death is like."
 "What do you mean?"
 "Kay, I'm married already." His voice was a whisper.
 She stared at him, her eyes wide and incredulous, her face growing white. "Married?" she repeated. "Oh, no! Not that, Rex."
 "Yes. My wife lives in California."
 He sat up and looked at Kay. She didn't answer. She was staring at him with disbelief in her eyes, begging him mutely to tell her it wasn't true.
 "So you see," he added, "I have no right to love you. And certainly I shouldn't have let you know."
 "Hush," she whispered. "I won't let you regret today. But—why isn't she here with you?"
 "I'll tell you, Kay," he answered. "It isn't a long story." He looked away from her, looked through the white and sapphire hangings through the window, as though he saw the gray stretch of time without her. "Amelia was a pretty girl and I fell in love with her. She was a few years older than I, and I didn't know much about women. I found soon after we married that she thought my family had money. They didn't."
 "When she found that she had thrown herself away on a poor medical student she was furious and promptly fell in love with another man whom she knew was wealthy. She asked me for a divorce. I refused. I worshipped her with a young boy's first blind adoration. Besides, I was going away to war and I wanted someone who cared whether I came back alive or not. I was so sure that she would get over her infatuation for that other man. You see, I really did love her enough to think that—"
 She paused a moment, staring into space. When Kay made no comment, he went on: "Well, Amelia was the kind of person who didn't believe in waiting for tomorrow. She ran away with her lover one night. In their hurry to get away they were speeding around a mountain. There was an accident and the man was killed. Amelia was hopelessly crippled. She blamed me and still does to this day. She says if I had given her her freedom they would never have run away and there would have been no accident."

 Kay nodded mechanically, but said nothing.
 "So I went to that other war and remained in Europe for years. I have sent Amelia the money she's needed all this time. I've never seen her since."
 "No! Oh, no!"
 "And so you know now, Kay," he said hoarsely. "Shall I go now?"
 "Yes," she whispered. "You'd better go." Thinking: I mustn't let him see how terribly hurt I am—ever.
 He turned at the door. "Kay," he asked, "will you do one favor for me?"
 She looked up at him, saw the pain in his eyes, heard the suffering in his voice. Rex, whom she loved with every fibre of her being, and who loved her. Theirs had been a brief dream that would never find fulfillment. And now what did pride matter if she could do something—anything—for him?
 "Yes," she replied. "I will. Anything you ask." She went to stand by him in the hall.
 "The President's Birthday Ball in Atlanta in January," he explained. "Will you go with me?"
 "Yes, I'll go, Rex."
 She shivered a little as she told him good-bye. It was not because the draft from the open door was cold, but because it took away the warmth of her familiar dreams.
 Kay turned to meet Liza's horrified eyes. "Dinner's ready. Where that man goin'?"

 "He's gone, Liza. And he isn't coming back."
 Lucia and Francis returned to Lowell about the middle of January. Lucia's black eyes shone with some inner excitement as if she knew a thrilling secret.
 The next morning Francis went to work and he telephoned for Kay to come down to his office in the mill.
 When she opened the door of his imposing, oak-paneled sanctum, he was standing at the window, gazing out. Kay's first impression was that he looked dejected. Then she changed her mind; Francis had never been dejected!
 "Hi, Daddy. This is like old times," she said wistfully. "It's good to have you back. I was lonely."
 He moved to his desk and toyed with a letter there. Then he said abruptly, "I know you're lonely and I'm sorry, Kay. I had hoped long ago that you and Lucia might be friends. Or that you might marry and have a home, a life of your own."
 "You never have been willing for her to manage the household. And she wants a home. I promised her one when we married."
 "But, Francis—"
 He held up his hand. "It's all right with us if you want it that way. But at least you won't object now to our leaving it and building one of our own."
 She stared at him, white-faced. So that was what they'd been planning that morning she'd overheard their conversation when Lucia had reminded him of a promise he'd made. "You mean you'd leave me?"
 "Lucia will be happier with a home of her own; it will give her something to do to occupy her mind and she'll not care to go out with your boy friend, Jimmy Brent!"

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

LOVE ITS SUFFICIENT REWARD

Some years ago the son of socially prominent parents became involved in trouble which finally led to his arrest and conviction for murder. He had long been the center of scandal, and everyone who had known him from his youth up declared that the youngster had precious little good in him.
But his mother did not feel that way about him. After he had been sentenced, his mother wrote him an understanding letter, a part of which is as follows: "Mercifully your life was given back to you, and for this let us give thanks. You have so many devoted friends and so much in yourself to live for...
I wish I could say to you some of the things that crowd in on me as I recall your many personal good traits. But as I cannot, you must simply believe in the constant love
of your devoted mother."

Everyone else gave him up. But in the hour of supreme trouble, his mother could think of nothing but his good qualities and thank God that at least his life had been spared that these good qualities might be cultivated and given to the world.

It makes no difference whether the mother was right or wrong in her estimate of the boy. At least we can be sure that the greater thing in all the world was shining out of her soul. No good is ever lost in God's universe. Every crumb of goodness is gathered up and cherished to the day of reckoning.
We can see no good that the mother's love accomplished in this case, but we can believe that God did see it and that He was pleased with her love.

AMERICA IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—Your capital in wartime is the most beautiful in the world.

The return of five-star Gen.
Dwight D. Eisenhower, wearing hero's laurels equalled by few if any military man in our history
has produced one quiz question, the correct answer to which is almost invariably greeted with amazement
or disbelief.

That is less than four years ago, the leader of the armies which have carried out the greatest military feats of all time was "just another colonel" in the United States army as completely unknown outside military circles as scores of other who wore "chickens" on the shoulders.

To Gen. George C. Marshall and President Roosevelt must go credit for recognizing that in that "just another colonel" they had "the man who," as the speechmakers say.

As Washington went about planning the biggest reception ever given one of its was asking, was:
"What will be done with Eisenhower now?"

To send him back to Europe would be to waste abilities that still are sorely needed elsewhere. To send him to the Pacific might be to divide and disrupt a command and certainly would be a slap at the generals and admirals who consider the fight against Japan their own private war.

All the discussion here has given rise to one frequent rumor that General Marshall might step down and let the man who was "just another colonel" four years ago take over as chief of staff.

The story persists here that President Truman's cabinet shake-ups aren't over.

There isn't a press and radio conference these days at which the President isn't asked if he has any announcement to make about plans
for Secretary of State Edward R.
Stettinius, Jr.

Most of the time, the President
rags out his stock answer: a good-natured, "No, but keep asking."
In some congressional circles, the President's announcement that he will take James P. Byrnes to the Three meeting near Berlin strengthened the foregone

Not Bad For A Start

conclusion on the Hill that Byrnes would be the next Secretary of State as soon as the San Francisco conference and the impending talks with Churchill and Stalin are over.
A recent visit to the White House of Secretary of Interior Harold L.
Ickes has given rise to the rumor that the "old curmudgeon," as he calls himself, also is slated for an exit.

If these two changes come, it would leave only Secretaries of the Treasury Morgenthau, of War Stimson, and of Navy Forrestal who served under President Roosevelt, a far greater housecleaning than any one anticipated when President Truman took office, although changes in Labor, Agriculture, the postmaster general and the attorney general were predicted in this column before the new administration was weeks old.

Sen. Elbert D. Thomas, of Utah,
one of the most erudite members of Congress and a long-time internationalist, has just come out with a book called "The Four Fears."
The Senator's objective is to clear the cobwebs of isolationism out of the public mind. He lists the "four fears" which are a menace to our full participation in a new world order for lasting peace as: "fears of idealism; of entangling alliances;
of England and Russia; and of revolution."

Superforts ...

Cossairs Thunderbolts and Aven-gers meanwhile reported destruction of 596 I-2 Japanese aircraft from mid-April to Sunday.

Army, navy and marine planes
continued to harass Japanese shipping and islands through the central and far western Pacific, and search Mariners of Fleet Air Wing
1 sank a freighter-transport in the Yellow Sea. Strikes again were reported on Japanese installations from the southern Ryukyus to the northern Kuriles.

We can change it or tear it up and simply tell the trusteeship council we've changed our minds and won't put Saipan under trusteeship at all.

None of the United Nations members is compelled to put seized territory under trusteeship. It's left up to the members themselves. But the trusteeship council comes under the General Assembly.

So far, however, we've been talking only about seized territory
which the diplomats call non-strategic.

For instance: Suppose all of Saipan was of no military or strategic value to us. If as an act of our good faith toward the natives, we wanted to place it under trusteeship, we'd place it under the Assembly's trusteeship council.

But suppose only half of Saipan was non-strategic and the other half of the most vital strategic importance. Suppose we still wanted to place it under trusteeship.

In that case, the non-strategic part would come under the General Assembly's trusteeship council. The strategic part would come under supervision of the Security Council.

"UNBLOCK" YOUR DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested.
And where it gets blocked when it fails to digest properly.

Thus, what you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—you want something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out thoroughly and help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and thoroughly "unblock" your digestive tract.
This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it—and you get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25¢. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

Important ...

ence, Mo., news conference this afternoon piqued Washington's curiosity aplenty today.

After Presidential Press Secretary
Charles G. Ross said at Salt Lake City, that Mr. Truman had upcoming "one of the most important announcements he has yet made," dopsters in congressional cloakrooms and departmental corridors went to work on Private predictions. These ranged from more cabinet changes to new international developments.

The most frequently heard speculation on capitol hill had to do with the possibility that Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., who has just triumphantly completed his work at the United Nations conference, might be due for another important diplomatic assignment.

Washington has heard for weeks
that should such a change be made,
the secretary of state post would go to James P. Byrnes, former war mobilizer and intimate associate of the late President Roosevelt.

SEEK TO SOLVE INDIA PROBLEM

Conference Near Agreement On New Government

By PRESTON GROVER
 Simla, India, June 27.—(AP)—Indian National leaders were reported near agreement today on the basic membership of a proposed new Viceroy's Council for India and it appeared possible they might go on to draft a complete scheme for an interim government before adjourning their present conference.

An official statement last night said the parley, summoned by Viceroy Lord Wavell, had reached "certain provisional conclusions" on British proposals to extend Indian self-government, but did not indicate the nature of the conclusions.

At the same time leaders of Mohammed Ali Jinnah's Moslem League declared that for the time being it was unnecessary to call the league working committee together to pass on pending proposals—indicating the Moslems had abandoned their original position that the Simla parley would have to be adjourned so that working committees could be consulted.

A Reuter dispatch from New Delhi said the Simla conference resumed for its third meeting this morning and recessed after one hour with the announcement that it would meet again tomorrow.

It was said, however, that there were one or two recalcitrant parties to whom any agreement along the lines outlined by Lord Wavell still was distasteful. One stumbling block was reported to be their insistence that only Moslem League members should represent Moslems on the Interim Council.

It was reported that conference delegates were discussing an arrangement under which non-league Moslems would name one council member, that Mohandas K. Gandhi's All-India Congress Party (which has some Moslem members) name another Moslem and that the League name three.

There was also discussion of proposals to award membership to Christian Indians and secluded castes. If these hurdles are passed, there will be easier sailing for the conference.

Women Drown In Lake Near Wilson

Wilson, June 27.—(AP)—Kay Phillips, 30, of Macleesfield, and Doris Newton, 22, of Tarboro, were drowned late last night when the boat in which they were riding with W. C. Haines, 34, of this city, capsized on Silver Lake, nine miles from here.

Both bodies have been recovered. Haines said the boat sprang a leak and sank quickly in deep water, that neither of the girls could swim and he was unable to save them.

NEAR GOAL IN PHILIPPINES

Organized Jap Resistance Approaching End

By SPENCER DAVIS
 Manila, June 27.—(AP)—Organized resistance in the Philippines rapidly is approaching an end.

Less than 20 miles separated American soldiers and Filipino guerrillas converging from both the north and south toward a junction in the flat river bottom above Tuguegarao, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Instead of fighting to the end in the lowlands, at least half of an estimated 20,000 Japanese on North Luzon were withdrawing to the high mountainous wilderness of the Sierra Madres on the east, leaving rear guards to fight a delaying action.

The same situation is true on Mindanao, where Associated Press Correspondent Richard Bergholz reported time and space are running out for the enemy west of Davao. Already harried Japanese have arrived at their last prepared positions in the Talomo-Davao river plain. Although they still are fighting fiercely, Bergholz said it was obvious that the strong, cohesive leadership which characterized the Japanese retreat thus far was beginning to break.

Promising Tobacco Crop Eastern Belt

R. C. Rankin, sales supervisor of the Greenville tobacco market issued the following crop report today:

"We have had very few troubles this year, less than in any year for a long time." That statement by a Pitt County grower sums up in a few words the general situation in Eastern Carolina, insofar as the current tobacco crop is concerned.

While conditions in the East Belt, taken as a whole, have been very satisfactory, there has been some variation in seasons during the past two weeks. Approximately two thirds of the belt had sufficient rain; the other third, composed largely of Halifax, Hertford, Bertie, Martin, parts of Edgecombe and localities in some other counties, has been dry. In the latter mentioned portions a lack of rain has slowed up growth, kept tobacco from filling out and brought a slight loss in bottom leaves, however, a general rain which came Monday will bring relief to the dry sections and improvement to the crop throughout the East. Coming when it did, this rain will materially affect the growth and development of tobacco, adding many leaves and pounds to the crop. Better stands and the slight increase in acreage planted this year, will bring an undetermined increase in planted hills, but much tobacco has buttoned out prematurely and the average number of leaves per stalk will be less. The increase in planted hills may offset the decrease in leaves per stalk and bring an increase in poundage. This depends altogether on future seasons.

There has been a little more than a normal amount of hail this year. Greene County took a 20 percent loss on about 500 acres; a community along the Pitt-Edgecombe county line had a 100 percent loss on about 50 acres. Other losses, mostly light, have been reported from various parts of the belt but all combined, will not affect the volume of the crop. Very little tobacco has reached a stage of maturity, but there will be scattered surpluses in the earlier parts of the belt this week.

Sugar Coupons Stolen

Hillsboro, June 27.—(AP)—OPA officials were pressing an investigation today into the disappearance of ration coupons good for approximately 2,500 pounds of sugar and 1,600 gallons of gasoline, which were taken from the Orange county ration board offices here.

Expect Reduction Discharge Points

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—Capitol hill expects the army soon to cut the present 85 point score required for discharge to either 80 or 78.

The final decision will be made on the basis of reports being received by the War Department from field commanders.

House Military Committee members say the new "critical" score will not change the weighing of points allotted in the tentative program. A man still will receive one point for each month of service, one additional point for each month of foreign service. Five points for each battle and twelve points for each child not in excess of three. No points are allowed for service after May 12.

May Give Workers Saturday Holiday

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—The War Labor Board ruled today that employers may give white collar workers Saturdays off during the summer without applying to the board for approval.

The WLB unanimously approved this resolution:

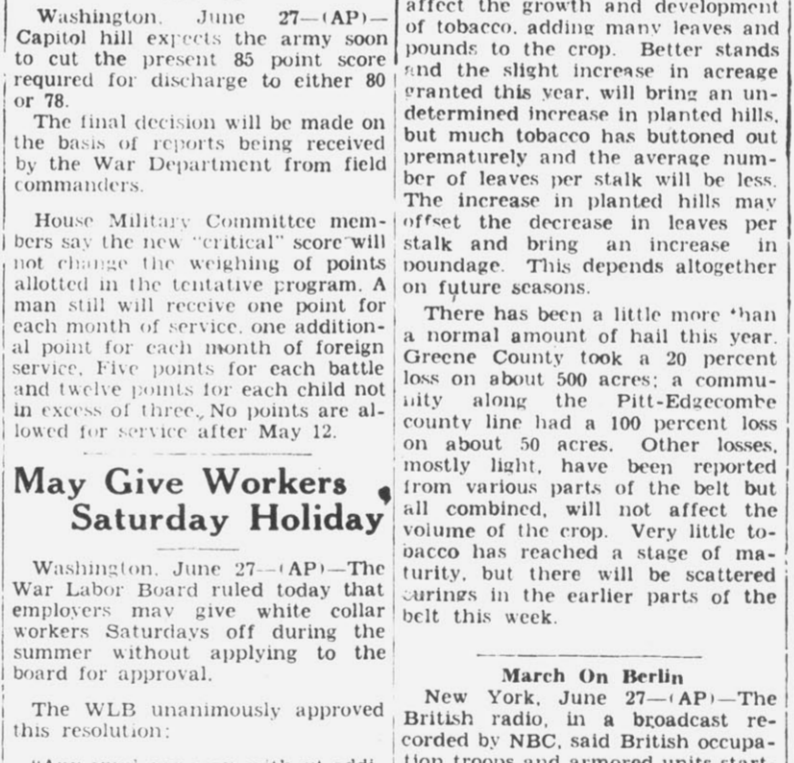

"Any employer may without additional board approval, pay to all employees in his offices or retail businesses, and to all his white-collar employees wherever employed, if adjustments in their wages or salaries are subject to the board's jurisdiction, their regular wages or salaries without deduction for the time not worked by such employees because of the reduction of a five and a half or six-day work week to a five day or longer work week, during the period from June 1 to September 15."
