

Urges Senators To Back Charter

Vandenberg Says They Must Accept San Francisco Agreement as Brave Experiment or Cheat The World Of Its Only Collective Chance For Peace

By JACK BELL

Washington, June 29.—(AP)—Senator Vandenberg (D-Mich) told his colleagues today they must accept the United Nations Charter as a brave experiment or cheat the world of "its only collective chance" for peace.

In a vigorous endorsement of the San Francisco Conference agreement for formation of an international organization, the chairman of the Republican senatorial conference called the pledges hewn out there "a new emancipation proclamation of the world."

Before the tall Michigan senator took the floor, Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican Steering Committee, said he and others are thinking of writing to urge the ratification resolution limitations on the authority of Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., will wield as American delegate on the proposed World Security Council.

Speaking from a prepared manuscript, Vandenberg said he would support the charter "in the deep conviction that the alternative is physical and moral chaos in many weary places on the earth."

"I shall do it because there must be no fault in our off-pledged purpose to outlaw aggression so far as lies within our human power," he declared, "I shall do it because this plan, regardless of infirmities, holds great promise that the United Nations may collaborate for peace as effectively as they have made common cause of war."

"I shall do it because peace must not be cheated out of its only collective chance. I doubt if there could ever be another or better start."

Vandenberg, who helped draft the charter as an American delegate, said the pacific settlement of disputes, not force, is the real genius of the charter.

Under the organization's formula, there would be no escape by any power from organized opinion of the world, he said, adding that "the self confessed criminal of tomorrow will stand condemned."

Vandenberg said some would contend that even a good league could not compensate for a bad peace.

"I am not dissenting for a single instant the dreadful responsibility which will rest upon those who chart the final peace," he asserted. "But I am saying that whatever the final peace may be, the protections for human rights and fundamental freedoms inherent in the San Francisco charter will inevitably make a better, wiser and a safer job of it (Continued on Page Two)

The WAR TODAY

AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
War produces strange compromises and affiliations—as witness the Chinese mission which is reported to be on its way from Chungking to Moscow under the leadership of Premier T. Y. Soong, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's brilliant brother-in-law (Harvard '15), who recently returned home from the San Francisco security conference.

Like everything else Oriental, there's considerable mystery attached to the Soong enterprise. However, it's clear enough that such a Chino-Russian meeting may prove to be of far-reaching international importance. It's easy to see that it could have a great bearing on Russia's post-war influence in Asia, and might strongly affect China's political future.

Be that as it may, speculation has it that Premier Soong may try to create a mutual aid pact which would bring Russia into the war against Japan. One also notes that Soong has been endeavoring to settle the dangerous and often bloody quarrel between Chiang Kai-Shek's government and the great body of Chinese Communists in Northern China.

As previously reported in this column, when I was in Chungking in '43 impartial observers generally believed that the quarrel between the Chinese Reds and the Chiang government likely would be settled by civil war. Recently the situation seems to have eased somewhat as the result of negotiations and offers of reform by the central government. Still, it's less than four

CHINESE TAKE LUICHOW FIELD

Jap Forces Pushed Back On Other Sectors

Chungking, June 29.—(AP)—A Chinese Army spokesman announced today that Chinese troops had captured the main airfield in the southern suburb of Luichow which Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's 14th Air Force was forced to abandon to the Japanese last November 7.

The spokesman said Chinese forces had retaken the city's south railway station.

Fierce fighting was reported raging in the western and northwestern suburbs of Luichow where other Chinese forces were battling their way toward the center of the important Kwangsi Province city.

The spokesman said Luichow had been burning since June 23 and that the core of the city was destroyed. He estimated that less than 1,000 Japanese remained in the city.

Approximately 100 miles northeast of Luichow Chinese forces were closing in on Kweilin, another former U. S. Air Base site. Dispatches from this front said one Chinese column was engaging Japanese soldiers at points 10 to 12-1/2 miles north of Kweilin and another was about 18 miles northwest of the city.

Between Luichow and Kweilin a Japanese force was reported pocketed by two groups of Chinese, one of which had reached a point three miles north of Luichow, while the other was closing in from 15 miles further north.

The Chinese spokesman said all Japanese remnants west and south of Luichow had been cleared out. This meant that virtually the whole Kweilin-Kwangsi Railroad had reverted to Chinese control—the first railroad occupied partly or entirely by the enemy to be restored to the Chinese since the war began in July, 1937.

The line, however, needs repairs and rebuilding.

The Chinese high command announced that the Chinese recaptured Langnan and Tingnan, communities.

Soldiers To Help Operate Railroads

Washington, June 29.—(AP)—The War Department announced today that 4,000 soldiers will be furloughed for work on U. S. railroads "to prevent a breakdown of rail transportation" during redeployment of troops to the Pacific.

The soldiers, all experienced railroaders in civilian life, will be furloughed for a 30-day period. They will work as brakemen, locomotive firemen, boiler makers, electricians, carpenters, mechanics, machinists and helpers.

Undersecretary of War Patterson said the action was authorized in response to an "urgent appeal" from the railroads for aid in easing a "critical" labor situation.

Months ago that the Chinese Communists were calling Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek a despot and were demanding his removal and punishment. Significantly, at the same time the Moscow press was supporting these demands for "liquidation of the Kuomintang dictatorship" and creation of a coalition government.

It's difficult to believe that Premier Soong could achieve agreement for Russian aid against Japan unless he provides assurances that Chinese Communism would get its place in the sun. Such assurances would be a lever with which vast China and its five hundred millions of people could be turned topsy-turvy politically.

The millions of Chinese Communists are in the northern part of the country near Russian territory. They have several numerically powerful armies in the field.

Suppose the Soviet Union should decide to throw its aid to the Allies in the war against Japan, and should give help in the form of military supplies shipped across the border into China. Those supplies presumably would go largely to the neighboring Chinese Northern armies—which are the Red forces. Obviously this would place them in a powerful position for bargaining with Chiang Kai-Shek. Obviously, too, this would enhance Russia's prestige in China.

Of course all this is speculative, but whatever may come out of the Soong visit to Moscow, of this we may be sure: we soon shall see an expansion of Soviet influence in the Orient. Just as the Red tide is moving.

Truman, Back Home, Greeted By Neighbors

Townfolk and neighbors flock around to greet President Truman (center foreground) upon arrival at his home in Independence, Mo., for his first visit since taking office. The Truman home is in the background at the left. Shortly after reaching there, the President announced he has accepted the resignation of Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state, and will appoint him as American representative on the Post-War Security Council and chairman of the United States delegation in the council's general assembly. He said he would appoint a successor to Stettinius as secretary of state next Monday or Tuesday. (AP Wirephoto).

Only Few Spectators Attending Meadows Trial

Dr. Leon R. Meadows testified today as his lengthy direct examination continued that the late E. G. Flanagan turned over to him in 1941 an itemized account of the expenditure of $2,000 which Flanagan said to have made from a $2,800 regular term student fund.

Dr. Meadows said that none of the funds was spent after 1938 and that the $800 remained in the college safe in the president's office until the fall of 1943. Then, Dr. Meadows said, the $800 was turned over to J. H. Waldrop, member of the board of trustees and a member of the budget committee.

The defendant, who is charged by the state with embezzling the $2,800 as part of the $14,000 total against him, said that he never handled any of that particular fund, and answered that none of it ever went for his personal benefit. Flanagan told him, he said, that the $2,000 (Continued on page two)

Germans Executed For Killing Flier

Reinbach, Germany, June 29.—(AP)—Three German civilians were hanged at dawn today by American Army executioners for killing an American aviator after he parachuted to earth from a flaming bomber last Aug. 15.

The hanging was the outcome of the first civilian war crime case brought to trial on German soil since the end of the war.

The three men hanged were Peter Back, Peter Kohn and Matthias Olerens, convicted respectively of shooting, clubbing and hammering an unknown flier to death.

Indian Parley Takes Recess

London, June 29.—(AP)—The New Delhi radio said today the Simla conference summoned by Viceroy Lord Wavell to discuss his plans for revision of the Indian government, has been adjourned until July 14 because of a disagreement between leaders of the Muslim League and the Congress Party.

The two factions had previously been reported deadlocked over the distribution of seats in a proposed viceregal council.

Japanese Moving War Industries

San Francisco, June 29.—(AP)—A large-scale transfer of war industries from Japan to Manchuria because of "the enemy's air raids"—which already have desolated broad areas of Nippon's main cities—was announced today by the Tokyo radio.

The broadcast, heard by the Federal Communications Commission, said that the transfer of war industries to the Asiatic mainland was even "more fundamental" than "large-scale dispersion of munitions industries in Japan."

"Mobilization of their composite power for backing Japan's fight against the enemy invaders in absolutely required of these continental areas," Tokyo added.

A Domei dispatch said that American planes based on Okinawa are opening the battle for air supremacy over the southern home island of Kyushu, but that this was but "a curtain raiser to the decisive battle of the Japanese mainland."

Truman Makes Plea For Ratification Of Charter

Says United States Must Lead The Way Or There Can Be No Peace In The World

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Kansas City, June 29.—(AP)—President Truman worked today on a message urging prompt Senate ratification of the United Nations peace organization charter.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told a news conference that the message "will be short, requiring about five minutes to read."

This development came after a speech last night in which the President put squarely up to the Senate what he termed the future peace of the world, and urged that the United States be the first nation to ratify the charter.

Although Capitol Hill sources in Washington reported the President will make a dramatic personal appearance before the Senate when the charter is submitted Monday, Ross said the President started work on the speech at 7:30 a. m. Central War Time at his home in nearby Independence before driving to the federal building at 8:55 a. m. to meet a flood of callers.

He will attend a luncheon Jesters Club at noon and later in the day (4 p. m. CWT), see former Kansas Gov. Alf M. Landon.

In his speech last night, the President said that unless the United States leads the way by ratification of the United Nations charter and a World Court, he declared, "there can be no peace in the world."

The Farmer's Worries Hampering Production

(Last of Four Articles)
By OVID MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Editor
Washington, June 29.—(AP)—Farmers, dealers in farm products and processors of them are overwhelmingly in support of the idea of a "food czar."

This fact stood out in hearings held by a Shortage Investigating Committee on its recent cross-country tour.

The farmers, dealers and processors interpreted President Truman's action in appointing Rep. Anderson (D-NM) as secretary of agriculture and war food administrator as a move to coordinate all food programs under a single agency. Anderson is chairman of the committee.

He takes over Monday on his new job.

Many of the complaints raised by various segments of the food industry—from farmer to retailer—involve production, price and distribution problems growing out of divided authority in Washington.

Typical of the reaction to Anderson's appointment as food chief was a statement made at Omaha by Sam McKelvie, member of the Hoover administration's farm board.

"It was the best news farmers had received from Washington in many months," he told the committee.

As an observer at the hearings, I was astonished to find how intense was the feeling against the Office of Price Administration at every place the committee stopped.

Often witnesses criticized the OPA for policies or programs for which it was not responsible. When they did, Anderson, the committee chairman, usually set them right.

U. S. Fleet Returns To Makassar Strait

Japs Claim American Cruiser Sunk; Airmen Pound Balikpapan

London, June 29.—(AP)—The Tokyo radio said today Japanese planes had sunk a large cruiser of the "Clematis" class, three other cruisers and the destroyer June 25 off Balikpapan. The broadcast added "It is believed there were more enemy losses." There was no confirmation from any Allied source.

By SPENCER DAVIS
Manila, June 29.—(AP)—An American fleet has returned to the Makassar Straits east of Borneo for the first time since the forlorn days of January, 1942. Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed today. The invasion-conscious Japanese reported a naval bombardment of the Borneo east coast had been in progress for ten days.

A Dutch correspondent who flew over the port of Balikpapan, fronting on the straits, reported earlier this week seeing the warships in action, and the Japanese radio has claimed that Allied landing attempts there already have been beaten off.

MacArthur gave no confirmation of these reports, but his command on the southwest Pacific today did report the destruction of three Japanese torpedo planes on Monday by American surface ships in the Makassar Straits and told of "continuing Allied air blows throughout the East Indies, particularly at Balikpapan."

The Australians last were reported to have taken Beaufort, in a 15-mile advance northeast up the Borneo coast along the narrow-gauge railway toward the Japanese base of Jesselton. Allied planes bombed Jesselton without opposition, and the Jesselton area from the sea.

Also pushing southwest on the North Borneo coast, the Australians were reported by the Melbourne radio to have made a junction with troops who landed last week at the Miri oilfield area in an amphibious jump. The Melbourne radio added that oil production had been resumed at Tarnakan, an isle off the Borneo east coast.

The softening-up and neutralizing process by the U. S. Fifth and 13th Air Forces and the Royal Australian air forces continued not only ahead of the ground forces but all the way (Continued on page two)

Wilmington, June 29.—(AP)—Dr. Thomas H. Wright will be consecrated Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of East Carolina October 5 in St. James Church here under tentative plans made public today.

Dr. Wright, rector of a San Antonio, Texas, church, is visiting in Wilmington now, conferring with leaders of the diocese, including Bishop Thomas C. Darst, whom he was elected to succeed.

Tax Revision Bill Approved

Washington, June 29.—(AP)—Tax revision legislation intended to improve the cash position of business and industry by $5,000,000,000 was approved today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The measure raises the exemption under the excess profits tax from $10,000 to $25,000, but makes no other material change in ultimate tax obligations of corporations.

Efforts to broaden the legislation to cut individual tax burdens were defeated.

The legislation is designed principally to make more cash available to business and industry to hasten reconversion, by speeding up payment on 10 per cent rebates due under the 85 per cent excess profits levy and other payments.

Wage New Fight In Price Control

Washington, June 29.—(AP)—Another forensic storm over OPA brews today.

A House Republican bloc organized a drive bent on restoring to price control extension legislation virtual "czarist" food powers for the secretary of agriculture.

Rep. Anderson (R-Minn) said his group will seek to reject a senate-approved two-chamber compromise and put back into the bill the supreme food powers the house voted to Clinton P. Anderson, incoming agriculture secretary.

The compromise grew out of separate house and senate measures extending the price control law one year beyond Saturday, with amendments designed to deal with food shortages.

Cloture Rule Sought To End Assault OF FEPC

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Washington, June 29.—(AP)—A 12-hour, 32-minute session that ended early today brought the senate face-to-face with a decision whether to ratify oratory.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and 31 colleagues representing both major parties presented a rarely-accepted cloture petition to limit senatorial debate.

Most of the free and unlimited conversation which began at noon yesterday centered on a controversial proposal to vote operating funds to the Fair Employment Practice committee, a division of government which has a minimum of support from southern senators.

Today On The Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW

(Editor's Note: This the fifth of six stories explaining the new league to keep peace—the United Nations—and how it will work.)

Washington, June 29.—(AP)—Suppose a couple of the United Nations get into an argument over things like these: Fishing rights in nearby waters or the use of a river separating the two countries.

Who's right? Who's wrong? They can argue, but who's going to make the final decision?

To settle international legal disputes like those the United Nations has set up an international court of justice.

This country can make use of that court because it's a very important part of the United Nations' machinery to keep peace and the United States is a member of the United Nations.

We were not a member of the old League of Nations, but we joined the world court in 1926 after an arrangement had been made to put us on a footing comparable to that of league members.

That old court will be scrapped now. The new court will take its place. Both courts differ only in minor details. The new one, like the old, will have 15 judges chosen from among the most distinguished jurists in the world. Their terms will be nine years each.

United Nations members don't have to lay their disputes before the court for settlement.

If two nations have a legal dispute and want to go to the court, they can do so. But if one wants to and the other doesn't, then the court does not get the case.

The court will decide on a dispute between nations only when the

Shipbuilding Center Of Sasebo And Three Other Industrial Cities Pounded By More Than 500 B-29s; Search Planes Add 23 More Vessels To Mounting Bag Of Shipping

Guam, Thursday, June 29.—(AP)—In the fourth American Superfortress attack mission of the week against the Japanese homeland, 50 B-29s struck the important Kure shipbuilding plant of the Nippon Oil Company on the southwestern Honshu coast shortly before midnight last night.

The raid came while huge fires still burned in Japan's great shipbuilding center of Sasebo and three other industrial cities today after nearly 500 Superfortresses rained 3,000 tons of bombs on the home islands.

The unrelenting war of attrition from the sky caught the Japanese without a defense. Not a single enemy fighter plane rose to meet the intruders.

The bombardiers singled out targets which never before had felt the full weight of the Superfortresses, designed by the American aerial command to rob Japan of the power to resist.

Returning pilots said large fires broke out in at least two of the centers. They said their raid was challenged only by anti-aircraft fire in the pre-dawn attacks on the principal island of Honshu, on which Tokyo is located, and on the southernmost island of Kyushu.

One bomber of the fleet failed to return.

Japanese broadcasts said the raiders also attacked the industrial city of Shin-osaka, on the southern tip of Honshu, and Kobe, on southern Kyushu.

The raids were announced by the 21st Bomber Command while fleet headquarters was disclosing new successes of search planes against supply shipping in enemy home water. Eight vessels were sunk and eight more damaged Wednesday and Thursday between Japan and Korea by planes which have accounted for approximately 200,000 tons of shipping in recent weeks.

The B-29 crewmen observed the large fires at Nobokawa, port and chemical center on northeastern Honshu, 100 miles west of Osaka. Nobokawa's fires sent smoke up through the clouds.

The clouds required instrument bombing and obscured results at the big naval base of Sasebo and the big coal port of Moji, both on the island of Kyushu.

Half of the formation attacking Okayama, which has a military arsenal, a troop training center and place parts factories, was able to bomb visually through a broken (Continued on Page Two)

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

COURAGE THROUGH THE YEARS

This is a day when we are hearing a great deal about military decorations. Men are having medals pinned on their chests as the results of their great heroism. There has probably never been a period in history which has produced a greater number of heroes than has this present period.

Yet, we must remember that all courage is not to be found on the battlefield. Someone has said that there is less need in the well-behaved life for heroic hours than for weeks and years that are grave and uniform, and pure. There is something about the excitement of battle which causes a man to forget himself and act bravely, unthinking of danger. But the greatest courage is the courage of endurance.
The people who bravely bear a heavy burden, who meet sorrow and learn to surmount its ravages are just as heroic as those who meet the imperative call of duty and in a brief hour of danger give the best they have to the task at hand.

Courage is character manifesting itself in the moment of danger or through a long season of endurance.
The reason we admire courage so much and put such great stock by it is because it reveals the kind of stuff one is really made of. The way we act in the moment or hour of crisis reveals to the world the kind of person we are.

The farmer attitude toward the OPA was typified by R. T. Smith, president of the Washington State
Farm Bureau:

"We believe the OPA's inability to deal with agricultural problems has been due to a large degree to too many non-agriculturally trained and inexperienced people, and to a lack of centralized authority."
Anderson took special cognizance of these complaints. He assured farmers and middlemen that they would get a "full hearing" after he becomes the nation's food chief.

The ground fire ranged from weak and moderate in most places to intense over Moji.

Chief among the targets as the B-29s raised the total of Japanese cities hit to 18 was Sasebo, with its shipbuilding and ship repair yards.
Moji is the southern terminus of a tunnel under Shimoda Strait, linking Honshu and Kyushu.

The fiery devastation wrought added to a total of 115 square miles already burned and bombed out of Japanese cities by the B-29s.
In their successful ship hunting between Korea and Japan Wednesday and Thursday, search planes of Fleet Air Wing One sank a small tanker, a small cargo ship, an unidentified freighter, four small craft and a freighter. They also damaged a small freighter-transport, five small cargo ships, a small coastal cargo ship and a lugger.

Although these achievements were not spectacular, they fit into the strategy of constantly whittling down the enemy supply lines.

On Wednesday, planes of the tactical air force set afire a small enemy cargo ship and a coastal vessel off the Aami Islands, north of Okinawa in the Ryukyus, and also damaged two coastal vessels and a barge. The following day, two luggers were sunk by Army Thun-derbolts of the Sakishima Islands, south of Okinawa.

Enemy planes feebly attempted to raid Okinawa Wednesday, headquarters reported today, but caused no damage. One was shot down.

seen for 100 miles. Liberators pounded the Tanshi Refinery half

Dr. Meadows filled out vouchers on Urges Senators ...

Vandenberg met the argument that what really was created at San Francisco was a military alliance among the United States, Great Britain and Russia with the agreement that so far as peace enforcement is concerned, there is substance to this contention.

"But I hasten to assert," he said,
"that so far as force is concerned, the world is at the mercy of Russia, Britain and the United States regardless of whether we are for this league or not. Those happen to be the facts of life."

"With the charter there is at least the restraint of a peaceful contract, for whatever that may be worth,
and the grim assurance that the aggressor who breaks this contract will stand in naked infamy before the embattled conscience of an outraged world."

It is his view, Vandenberg said, that in the charter the United States would sacrifice none of its essential American right. This is no world super government, he said, no world super police.

Declaring that none of its authors would certify to the charter's perfection, the Michigan senator said it offered "the only plan available for international cooperation in the pursuit of peace and justice."

"It is laden with promise and with hope," he declared. "It deserves a fair trial."

In a more critical spirit, Taft took note in an interview before Vandenberg spoke of the projected 11-member Security Council to have authority to order into action against an aggressor military forces to the assigned to it by agreement of the league members.

The question that arises, Taft said, concerns the possible use of American military forces in actual combat without prior specific authorization by Congress.

The Michigan senator, who began writing today's speech in the closing hours of the San Francisco conference, is expected to dwell on the means the charter provides for the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

Vandenberg's espousal of the charter is regarded in Senate quarters as likely to lead to strong Republican backing for the treaty. After he talks to the Senate the Michigan senator expects to explain next week to the minority conference, which he heads as chairman, the details of the charter and to urge its support.

high border on the Danube river.
Both need the use of its water.
Country AAA is further up the river.
It wants to build a power dam.
Country BBB objects. It says such a dam would drain off water badly needed by BBB.

(Most countries served mutually by a river have treaties governing the rights of those countries to the water.)

Countries AAA and BBB now get into a tangle over the interpretation of that treaty. Rapidly getting no-court.

The court rules that AAA can build the dam provided it diverts enough water to serve BBB's needs.
Since both have agreed to go to the court for a solution, both are expected to abide by the court rul-

Cases which are purely political—for instance, if Germany stalled on paying war reparations demanded by the Allies—won't go before the court.

Filibuster In . . .

senate approval of the long-disputed price control extension bill and a $38,500,000,000 War Department appropriation.

But the great bulk of the wordage was spilled on the FEPC proposition. Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) and a potent, talkative bloc of southerners opposed it on their contention that it spelled trouble between the races, friction in industry and governmental meddling in business.

Senator Chavez (D-NM) fought for it just as vigorously, contending the southerners were attempting to thwart the will of a majority of the senate.

The committee, established by executive order of the late President Roosevelt, is designed to prevent discrimination in employment because of race, color, creed or national origin.

Chavez seeks to write a $446,200 appropriation for FEPC into a $770,000,000 omnibus bill carrying funds to support a score of war agencies such as Selective Service, the War Production Board and the Office of Defense Transportation.

Theoretically, if the bill isn't passed by midnight tomorrow, the end of the current fiscal year, none of the agencies will have any operating funds. Practically, the situation won't be quite that acute.

The filibuster against FEPC was based on the nearness of the deadline.

Under senate rules, the cloture petition can't be voted on until Monday. Unless a deal is worked out meanwhile, it will be called up immediately after President Truman gets through asking the chamber

Local Boys In Tennis Tourney

Two Greenville boys advanced to the quarter-finals and a third was defeated in the longest match of the day in Wilson yesterday in the Eastern Carolina Tennis Tournament. The tournament, which may become an annual affair, started Wednesday afternoon and winds up on Sunday afternoon. It is being sponsored this year by the Wilson Rotary Club.

In the first match of the day (10 a. m.) Leon Meadows, Jr. of this city staved off match point twice in the second set of a two out of three set match to win the set, only to lose 63 in the third set to Billy Harrison, Rocky Mount banker and second ranking player of that city. Harrison followed his hard serve to the net to keep Meadows on the defensive, but still the match could have gone either way.

The set scores were 6-4, 7-9, 6-3. Jimmy Wells' opponent failed to make an appearance, and Jimmy automatically went to the quarter-finals, where he plays Harrison, the player who defeated Meadows. It is predicted by the Greenville entries that Jimmy, a left hander, may beat Harrison, even though he has been back from the Pacific war only one week. Meadows, himself, predicts this.

In the final match of the day, Percy Wells, another member of the tennis playing Wells family, won an exhausting three set match from George Pugh. While it was clear throughout that Percy was the better player, lack of endurance due to the torrid day, and lack of competitive practice nearly cost him the match. He took the match, however, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

There are two very good players entered in the tournament. One is to play Percy Wells today, and was a high ranking player on the West Point tennis team. The other is one of the high ranking players on the west coast, where they really raise good tennis players, and will be met by Jimmy Wells if Jimmy gets by Harrison today. He is a Sgt. Chambers from Cherry Point, and played against Big Bill Tilden when Tilden was at Cherry Point two weeks ago.

CHARTER FOR AYDEN LIONS

Club Banquet Last Night Was Brilliant Affair

By CHESTER WALSH
"Organizing of the Lions Club marks an important era in the life of Ayden and the community," said J. A. Jones, prominent Kinston attorney and governor of this district for Lions International, when he presented the charter to President W. H. Newsom at the "ladies and charter night" banquet at the Community Building in Ayden last night.

Incidentally, the Ayden club is the last established in the district with about 400 members, since Jones has been governor. He paid special tribute to Ayden's mayor, Dr. W. R. Smith, and Raymond Turnage, respectively, who delivered to the Lions felicitations and good wishes from the city administration and the Ayden Rotary Club. Rev. R. C. Wiggs, master of ceremonies, introduced the distinguished attorney.

The banquet was an elaborate affair. The banquet hall and lobby were decorated with a profusion of summer flowers. Fine fellowship, music, singing of Lions songs and special numbers by a quartet, cheer-ful neighborhood banter by the 103 guests present and a spirit of comradeship featured the event.

Lions District Governor Jones presided.

pressed appreciation to President Secretary-treasurer: Raymond Cox, O. E. Dowd and members of the Greenville club for assisting in organizing the Ayden club.

Rev. A. Hazlett Campbell, new president of the Greenville Lions Club, spoke impressively, enumerating the many opportunities in Lionism for community service.

Lion Dixie Cannon, retiring mayor of Ayden, welcomed the guests and introduced his successor, Dr. Smith.

Raymond Turnage, in a happy short speech, pledged for Rotary President Hal Edwards and the members fullest cooperation in promoting community projects.

Rev. W. H. Brunson, Christian minister, said the invocation.

President Newsom, in accepting the Ayden Club charter from District Governor Jones, was eloquent in his pledge for the members to carry on faithfully in community service, and stressed the point "We are here to serve." He defined the word, Lion, as meaning: "Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety."

Two of the features of the banquet were the singing by a quartet, Stella Jean Gaylor, Mrs. Helen Stroud, Pat McLawhorn and Clay Stroud, and the lovely women present. The delightful affair concluded with singing "Til we Meet Again."

The Greenville Lions Club had more than half its membership present and New Bern and Kinston Lions clubs were represented. There were a number of special guests.

Officers of the Ayden club are: W. H. Newsom, president; J. B. Hemy, J. D. Cannon and T. D. Cannon, vice-president; Clay Stroud,

Loses Life In Gasoline Fire

Denver, June 29—(AP)—Pfc. Harold Hooks, Jr., 20, of Kenly, N. C., was dead today of burns suffered when he ran through flaming gasoline to close a tank truck valve.

The tragedy occurred at Buckley Field, near here, where Hooks was filling the tanks of a Flying Fortress when the hose became disconnected. A spark from the pump motor ignited the gasoline, and Hooks closed the valve to prevent the flames from spreading.

The plane was destroyed, but nearby hangars were not damaged. Hooks leaves his father, Harold Hooks, Sr., also of Kenly.

More Troops Arrive In New York Today

New York, June 29—(AP)—The Queen Elizabeth, world's largest ocean liner, carrying more than 15,000 passengers including 13,658 American troops, will dock here today in its first official visit to New York City.

Previous trips to the city by the giant vessel were cloaked in military secrecy.

The ship also is carrying 1,202 Navy personnel, 442 Army nurses, and seven civilians, including Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, Senator Richard Russell (D-Ga) and Senator Burnett R. Maybank (D-SC).

Most of the Army troops are members of 8th Air Force ground crews and hospital units.

Another ship, the S. S. Marine Raven, with 3,002 troops of the 387th Regiment of the 97th Infantry Division, is scheduled to anchor off Piermont, N. Y., this morning.
