Borneo Drive Progresses Despite Stiff Resistance

Australian and Dutch Forces Advancing On Rich Oil Fields; Dutch To Use Recently Captured Airfield; Jap Pockets In Philippines Being Mopped Up

By SPENCER DAVIS. Manila, July 12.—(AP)—Australian Seventh Infantry and Dutch colonial troops advanced slowly today on Borneo rich Sambodia oil fields despite the tough delaying action being fought by beached Japanese naval personnel in the hot, steaming, rain-soaked equatorial forests.

Some six miles north of the Balikpapan town area, the Aussies, their path cleared by P-38 fighters of the 12th Army Airforce which sprayed a 12-mile area with jelled gasoline, breached the outer lines of the Japanese hinterland defense in an advance on "smashed stone" ridge.

The forward Digger elements, in driving a three-mile wedge into the Japanese positions, moved to within a half mile of the ridge, Mount Batocampar, a 300-foot hill feature in which the Nipponese are well fortified.

On the central sector, other Aussies repulsed Japanese counter-attacks three miles inland from the mouth of the Sepinggan Ketjil river, where the perimeter guards the Sepinggan airfield.

Associated Press War Correspondent Russell Brines reported the captured Sepinggan field within 10 days of completion and its Japanese built asphalt runways capable of extension to 1,200 feet.

Dutch sirmen, piloting Mitchell bombers are ready to go into operation from the field as soon as it is completed.

On the right flank, the Australians fighting along the single lane highway five and a half miles northeast of captured Mangar airfield received both naval and aerial bombardment support to smash Japanese artillery and mortar fire. Melbourne radio reported they had now reached the Adajerden river.

More than 40 Fifth Airforce Liberators pounded three West Coast Formosa airfields in continuation of the neutralization raids there, while in bypassed New Guinea the Australian Sixth Division has now achieved greater than half of its objectives in ridding the big islands of the enemy, Melbourne reported.

The radio quoted the Army department as saying the Aussies had counted the 8,000th dead Japanese on New Guinea.

Although in twilight, the mop-up campaign is still active as the Yankees hunt down the close to 30,000 Japanese still holding out throughout the Philippines. On Northern Luzon a pocket of from 12,000 to 14,000 Japanese are holding out in the rugged Cordillera.

Central and Sierra Madre Mountains. The Sixth Infantry Division reported the capture of an elaborate enemy stronghold in the Kiang-sektor which had withstood artillery, air and infantry heavy weapons assaults for days.

Japanese who have been expelled from the Cagayan Valley hoarded rice for months in the Sierra Madre Mountains east of the valley. Hundreds of Filipino civilians were imprisoned.

Foresee Unanimous Approval of Charter

Stettinius Explains

Opposition Witnesses Fail To Impress The Committee Members

Washington, July 12.—(AP)—Representatives of a score of organizations urged Senate ratification of the United Nations charter without change today as the Foreign Relations committee brought its hearing toward a close.

Dr. Reid was listed as spokesman for the American Association of University Women, the Association for Children's Education, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Girls' Friendly Society of the U. S. A., the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National Education Association, National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, National Service Star Legion, National Women's Trade Union League, United Council of Church Women.

Ulric Bell of Washington, submitted for Americans United For World Organization, a statement pleading for "quick ratification," asserting that "this country has been unable to escape involvement in wars—it should try involvement in peace."

The National Education Association's views were presented by William G. Carr, secretary, in a statement which noted that the group is "proud" of its endorsement of the League of Nations covenant in 1919 and extends the same support to the new treaty.

The hearings opened with what the committee expected to be the last opponent on the list, Thomas J. Reardon of Hartford, Conn., asserting that the charter compels a fundamental change in the constitution of the United States and that the treaty is "improperly before this committee."

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) told a reporter it now appears to him there may be no negative votes on the new treaty.

Similarly Senator Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, reported he could find no colleague disposed to oppose the ratification resolution, although he forecast that unsuccessful attempts would be made to attach reservations.

"We should make this vote unanimous," Hill asserted. "The Senate went to war unannounced, let's go to peace unannounced."

Palpably unimpressed by the arguments of 15 opposition witnesses yesterday that the charter destroys American sovereignty and is in fact only a military alliance, committee members recessed until 9:30 tomorrow morning, indications were that the actual hearing will not be resumed before Monday.

Meanwhile plans went forward for the removal of the sick juror, T. V. Sexton, to Duke hospital for examination by specialists and a report from them as to whether or not the patient might be able to return to jury duty without further undue delay.

Massed Air Power Hits Japan

More than 1,500 U. S. planes, based on carriers and American-held islands of the Pacific, struck Japan July 10 in the greatest single day's attack on the Japanese empire. Ship and plane symbols denote the course of attack. The heaviest assault followed on the heels of a raid by a force of 500 to 550 Superfortresses (line and plane symbols) on the Bay of Sagami, 100 miles north of Tokyo in the largest mission of the war, and also raided Gifu, Wakayama, Sakai, and Yokkaichi. Big Three Must Settle Many Important Issues

Truman Expected To Seek Closer And More Continuous Diplomatic Ties With Britain And Russia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER. AP Diplomatic News Editor. Washington, July 12.—(AP)—President Truman is expected to seek closer and more continuous diplomatic ties with Britain and Russia when he meets Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin at Berlin.

The objective will be to assure day-to-day handling of current European political problems which grew out of the war and for which quick solutions are considered vital to a workable peace.

At the heart of whatever proposal Mr. Truman makes along this line—probably to create an international commission—is the need to promote Big Three cooperation at a time when some forces are working to weaken it.

In some respects the stresses on this conference will be greater than those under which the late President Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin worked at Tehran and at Yalta. The biggest difference, of course, is that the three allies no longer are bound by the compelling need to defeat a common enemy.

They are confronted with the necessity for writing a common peace, but in this political and economic differences of approach pose problems which the purely military considerations of the past never brought up.

This time too the real blue chips of international politics are bound to come into play more than ever before. Issues no longer can be resolved in broad statements of principle. They are concerned with specific questions of boundaries, political alignments and territorial controls not heretofore tackled on a grand scale.

Generally, as diplomats here see it, the task of the Big Three at Potsdam will parallel but does not fit in directly with the work of the San Francisco conference. At San Francisco the United Nations were concerned with designing machinery to preserve peace.

At Berlin the job will be mainly one of arranging the transitions from war to peace.

This may be broken down into four main categories:

1. Long-range control of Germany, the top Allies—Russia, Britain, France and the United States—are now perfecting military controls for the relatively brief period of years in which they will be disarming and neutralizing the Reich.

2. Disposition of territories; there are more than 30 disputed boundaries in Europe, and there are Italian colonies to be disposed of. These are subjects for some sort of formal peace settlement in which all the states that fought Germany will be concerned.

But as they did at San Francisco the big powers may be expected to make their own tentative decisions preliminary to the final settlement.

3. Peace conference: Some Allied officials have contended that the job of liquidating the war should be done by a peace conference.

Committee Approves Tax Revision Bill

Measure To Ease Excess Profits Tax And Speed Refunds

Washington, July 12.—(AP)—The Senate Finance Committee today approved legislation to ease the excess profits tax and speed up tax refunds to corporations.

The measure, already passed by the House, is designed to improve the cash position of corporations by $5,500,000,000 to speed reconversion.

Chairman George (D-Cal) said that while the bill in general was approved there would be a roll of absent members on the question of retaining one provision.

This would authorize a railroad, when recognized as a new corporation under receivership proceedings, to use when figuring its tax any unused excess profits credits of previous net losses of its predecessor or corporation.

Earlier, Colin F. Stamm, chief of the joint committee on taxation told the committee that speed is essential if the measure is to have the desired effect of facilitating reconversion.

"Businessmen are now planning for reconversion and readjustment to peacetime operations," he said. "The immediate enactment of this bill would facilitate this planning."

The measure, passed by the House last week, would:

1. Increase the excess-profits exemptions from $10,000 to $25,000. Effective with the 1946 tax year.

2. Allow corporations to take currently the postwar credit of 10 per cent of the excess profits tax.

3. Advance to Jan. 1, 1946, the maturity date of outstanding postwar refund bonds.

4. Provide for speed-up of refunds due as a result of previous excess-profits losses or unused excess-profits credits.

Answering a question from George, Stamm estimated the change in the excess profits tax would result in a net loss to the government of about $160,000,000.

George said that committee members attending the session were "about evenly divided" on whether the provision affecting railroads should be retained. Consequently, he added, it was decided to take a poll of the full committee.

Aged Runaway

Washington, July 12.—(AP)—An elderly man, aged 70, was reported to have run away from his home in a small town in the north of the United States.

The man, whose name was not disclosed, was reported to have been seen in a nearby town, where he was being sought by local authorities.

He was described as being a white male, approximately 5 feet 10 inches tall, with short, graying hair and a mustache.

He was last seen on the morning of July 10, and his family has been unable to locate him since that time.

Anyone who has information regarding his whereabouts is urged to contact the local police department in the town where he was last seen.

Southern Japan Ripped By Bombers And Rocket-Firing Planes; Japanese Military Commentator Warns People That Threat Of Invasion Must Be Met

Guam, Friday, July 13.—(AP)—An air fleet of from 500 to 550 Superfortresses poured more than 3,000 tons of flaming and explosive bombs before dawn today on four Japanese cities and all centers spread over 400 miles of the home islands of Honshu and Shikoku.

The giant air raiders struck from Urawima, on the west central coast of Shikoku, to as far east as Utsunomiya, a city of 80,000 lying 60 miles north of Tokyo on the north Tokyo plain.

Guam, July 13.—(P)—Bombing and rocket-firing planes ripped Southern Japan and its island approaches Wednesday in a fiery follow-up to the big carrier and land-based air assault on Honshu and a Japanese military commentator told his people that adequate defense of the homeland from invasion required the growing challenge be met.

(The Federal communications Commission, meanwhile, recorded a Tokyo broadcast that a British carrier task force sent more than 200 planes from two flat-tops Wednesday morning against Sabang Island off the northern tip of Sumatra, 700 miles northwest of Singapore.)

New devastation to the Japanese homeland was reported by the 21st (Superfortress) Bomber Command which announced 93.5 per cent of the industrial city of Akashi and 95 per cent of the Maruzen oil refinery have been knocked out. Only five large tanks and a few smaller structures remain intact at the refinery, 35 miles from Osaka. The Kawasaki Aircraft plant was in the hands of the enemy.

Kobe. Airm Chester W. Minnis announced today that "strong forces of Corsair fighters and Avenger torpedo bombers" raided Kyushu and the northern Ryukyus Wednesday. They bombed, rocketed and strafed hangars, ships and buildings at Miyazaki airfield on Southeast Kyushu, the Inju airfield on Tanaga Island to the south and installations in the Amami group, northern Ryukyus.

"The fleet admiral, however, had nothing further to report on the powerful blasts Tuesday by more than 1,000 Corsair planes of Vice Admiral John S. McCain's task force 38 at a network of more than 70 airfields in the Tokyo area. His only "preliminary reports" on the action, making an incomplete assessment of results through Tuesday morning, had listed 154 enemy planes knocked out, all but two on the ground.

(In Washington, a Navy official said Navy and Marine planes alone already have destroyed more than 17,000 Japanese planes since the outbreak of the war.)

Tokyo radio said the carrier assault continued for a 12-hour period during which menacing land-based planes, including more than 500 Superfortresses, pushed to better 1,000 the number of American raiders over Honshu that day.

"Enemy propaganda on the invasion of the home islands is being carried on by the air force in the air seven to eight hours out of 24.

Now the air force has 12-13 hours, a figure beyond which they cannot fly with safety. Before Pearl Harbor they traveled about 1,100 miles a day. Now they're doing 1,800.

In April 1941 the domestic lines carried 308,644 passengers and traveled 114,748,987 passenger miles. In April of this year they carried 452,821 passengers and traveled 204,511,544 passenger miles.

Some of the transcontinental planes have passenger lists more than 70 per cent priority.

So the American domestic passenger planes are carrying the greatest load—in passengers and miles flown—in their history.

A big part of the passenger load is made up of servicemen going home or returning to their stations.

Anyone who has talked to a person—without a priority—waiting at an airport in this country for transportation can understand how nightmarish the waiting can be.

This is the journey of one passenger who had no priority:

A wait of at least 4 days at Los Angeles, from 6 a. m. to 12 midnight every day. Then a ride to Albuquerque. N. M. A 24-hour wait there. Then a ride to Kansas City. A 24-hour wait there. Then a ride to Dayton, Ohio. An 18-hour wait there. Finally a through plane to Washington.

TAFT FIGHTS MONEY PLAN

Senator Urges Tabling Bretton Woods Program

Washington, July 12.—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today denounced as "profligate lending" the international bank proposed under the Bretton Woods agreements and asked that Senate consideration of the measure be postponed.

Majority Leader Barkley (Ky) has insisted that the House-approved monetary pact be taken up Monday and pushed through ahead of the United Nations charter. Barkley said he thought the Bretton Woods debate would require about three days and that the charter, still before the Foreign Relations Committee, should wait even if it is ready for Senate discussion before then.

In a speech prepared for floor delivery, Taft concentrated his fire on the "profligate lending" aspect of the measure.

The WAR TODAY AN ANALYSIS OF THE NEWS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The fierce aerial bombardment which Admiral (Bull) Halsey's carrier-based warplanes have administered to Japan has led the Tokyo radio commentators to speculate whether this is the curtain-raiser for invasion.

Well, it could be, but the signs are that (barring some unexpected development) the Mikado's mother islands will undergo an awful softening up before we send our gallant troops up onto the beaches of Japan's serrated and strongly defended coast. Undoubtedly the little men of Nippon would like to see us strike now, before bombs have anesthetized their home-land.

However, the Allied command is under no enemy pressure in the Pacific and may be expected to proceed methodically in carrying out its program. That contemplates the blasting of Japan with continuous air raids until she is thoroughly off balance and numbed. Then we shall invade. That is, we shall invade unless the Mikado's government is smart enough to surrender before then and so save the country useless death and destruction.

How long will it take to reduce the main islands to the point where we can carry out amphibious invasions without undue casualties? That's a matter of pure speculation, but it's safe to say we can do it much more expeditiously in the case of Germany, and we have the testimony of German

Field Marshals Kesselring and Von Rundstedt that Allied bombing was the chief factor in the collapse of the fatherland.

Many observers have the feeling that the bombing of Japan may continue for several months as a preliminary to invasion—always making allowance for some fortuitous circumstance which would invite an earlier landing on the Japanese mainland.

Coolly and with great determination he fired a rifle grenade into the tank's tracks, rendering it immobile. Wounded in the neck by retaliatory fire, he remained steadfast and fired a second grenade into the open turret, smothering the tank completely out of action, and enabling his company to continue its advance.

Wounded by a machine gun bullet which entered the left side of his neck and came out of the back of his shoulder, Sgt. Caton spent four months in a hospital in England. Upon recovering, he returned to the contingent and was assigned to duty with the 3954th Quartermaster Heavy Truck Company.

Sgt. Caton enlisted in March, 1936, and was sent to Panama with the 14th Infantry Regiment. He came to France when the St. Lo offensive started in July, 1944.

He hailed mail to the First and Ninth U. S. Armies prior to VE-day, and his outfit now transports personnel to assembly areas for redeployment to other war zones.

Sgt. Caton has 122 points and is eligible to return to the U. S. for discharge. His mother, Mrs. Elma Caton, lives in Grimesland.

Efird's DEPARTMENT STORE
422-424 Evans St. Greenville, N. C.

Lucia continued to look out the window, her back to the door, her eyes wide with terror and defiance. How dare these people come to threaten her? Why, Francis ought to go out there and fight for her, she thought. But Francis was apparently doing nothing. He stood there with the others, his belief changing to tense excitement mingled with shame that this thing was happening in Lowell.

The first cries from the outside came. Lucia quivering with fright. She crouched down on the stairway. No one even looked toward her. Lisa, Anna, Sam, and Jerry huddled into the corner of the living room, their eyes rolling with apprehension.

"Mrs. Lambert! We want Mrs. Lambert!" came the shouts from the outside.

"Yeah. Just a few words with Mrs. Lambert!"

The loud, insistent cry was taken up by the enormous crowd as they advanced to the house, trampling on Lucia's beautiful formal gardens, the shrubs and grass.

Another yell: "Don't call her Mrs. Lambert. There was another Mrs. Lambert a long time ago!"

"Yeah!" came a louder cry. "We want Lucia! We want her to tell us how it feels to murder children!"

A loud voice screamed to the mob of workers: "She's afraid of us! She don't want to tell us how it feels to kill a crippled child!"

Then there was silence for a moment, broken only by angry mutterings from the people. Francis turned to the others. "I'm going out there," he told them. "I shall reason with them."

"No," said Ned decisively. "No don't let them see you now, Francis. If you failed, you'd never regain discipline."

Another loud cry from the mob: "What's Lowell coming to when our children ain't safe?"

Ned decided: "I'll see what I can do."

But with that decision a woman ran up to the porch and, facing the crowd, cried, "Are we going to let her hide behind the walls of her fine house and get away with it? She's hated us ever since she came here!"

"Send Lucia out," came the yell "Or we'll come after her!"

Lucia called to the others below her once lovely voice cracking with fright and anger. "You idiots! Why don't you do something?"

Kay turned to them. "I'll go out. They know me. And I understand them."

Rex caught her arm and held her close beside him. "No, I won't let you go. I've seen enough people suffer on Lucia's account. Not you, darling. I won't let you."

"No," Francis agreed. "I won't risk you. Kay, besides, you'd make it worse. You look too much like Katherine—"

In cries rose louder and louder. "Let's go after her. Are we gonna wait all day?"

Ned whispered hoarsely. "Get Lucia out the back! Take her away in your car!"

And Francis: "It's too late. They've surrounded the house!"

It was while the porch was packed with the infuriated people pressing against the walls and the windows that the door was suddenly opened from the inside. Dr. Sims was standing there, his white hair shining in the sunlight, his shoulders drooping with the weariness of service to these villagers, his old eyes dim and compassionate.

For a full minute he stared out at the crowd. When he spoke to them his voice was low and pleading: "There's not one of you who is as grieved over Tommy's death as I am," he said simply. "You know that, don't you?"

The people stared back at him, their fury and violence gone with surprise. Then their surprise changed to sorrow, and then to shame that he should see them here. Why, he was one of them; he had loved and worked for Lowell before most of them were born. Of all the men in the village he was the most beloved.

He spoke again. "It's time for the shift to begin. Go back to your work or you'll be late."

Dr. Sims turned back to the room. Lucia came and stood beside him. The crowd parted without a murmur as Lucia and Dr. Sims passed through to his car. He started the motor, ignoring Jerry's frantic cry, leaving behind the knowledge in every person's mind: "Dr. Sims is the only person who could have saved Lucia!"

The roar of the car drowned out Jerry's voice. "Lawd, you can't drive. Doc!" Jerry was wailing. "Sides, them brakes ain't no good. Come back!"

They drove down the hill, and had reached the end of Lambert Avenue when Lucia heard Dr. Sims moan as though in pain. She looked at him with irritation, then with fright.

She saw his face was gray with pain, his eyes were staring. His hands left the steering wheel and clutched his breast. Lucia knew in one flash of thought that he was having a heart attack. Intuitively she knew that he was dying.

She clutched the steering wheel and frantically tried the emergency brake. In vain. She looked at the old man angrily and even in her fright a strange, quick thought formed in her mind: What had Katherine Lambert meant to old Dr. Sims that he should die with her name on his lips.

His body slumped to one side of the seat and to Lucia's horror his foot continued to press on the accelerator. It was impossible to stop the car. To jump was certain death. Lucia's scream was high and shrill as the car reached the top of the hill and gathered momentum going down. She saw the bridge rushing at them from below. The bridge she'd feared and hated ever since she'd come to Lowell.

The car crashed through, turned slowly over in mid-air, and dropped to the railroad tracks far below, a mass of twisted, broken steel.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

A Victory Garden Boiled Dinner

A little meat flavor goes a long way when cooked with fresh vegetables. Such a dish makes a "homey" dinner which many a man will fondly recall as "just like Mother made." So why not yield to "his" whims and give your scanty red-point budget a treat at the same time?

- An Attractive Boiled Dinner . . . stretches meat flavor
- Cover 1 lb. brisket with 6 cups cold water
 - Add 1 tsp. salt, cover and simmer (don't boil) until almost tender (3 to 4 hours); skim off extra fat.
 - Add 6 or more potatoes 6 or more onions 6 or more carrots and continue simmering until tender.
 - About 15 min. before these vegetables are tender, add a head of cabbage, cut in sixths or eighths.
 - Arrange meat and vegetables on a warm platter and thicken the cooking liquid with a paste made of flour and water, adding Wilson's B-V as needed to give extra meat flavor to the gravy.
- Serves 6.

Clip Recipe Here—

Ahead of the Times?

If your Victory Garden hasn't progressed far enough to give you all of these vegetables, you'll find them on the market and at a reasonable price.

It's Accommodating

Beef flank or chuck may be used instead of brisket; in fact, this recipe will accommodate itself to any type of boiling beef your dealer can furnish. If you are from New England, Certified Corned Beef Brisket will be your choice. (Do not add salt when cooking corned beef.)

You may add turnips and beets, if you like, to your vegetables, but do cook and serve the beets separately, peeling them after they are cooked.

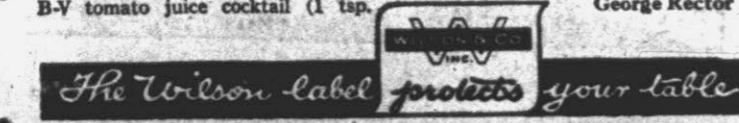

Start the meal with a refreshing B-V tomato juice cocktail (1 tsp.

How Do You Rate?

If you're wise, you'll budget your red points so there won't be a meat famine in your home the last week of the month. Haven't you noticed there is often a better selection of meat in the markets during the last part of the month? This is because many home-makers spend their stamps too fast the early part of the month and so have none left the last week. It's as poor a policy with points as with money, believe me.

Yours for wise budgeting.

New York, July 12 (AP) - Steels, motors, assured, rails and utilities attracted investment demand in today's stock market when early light selling failed to loosen accounts to any great extent.

Initial losses were erased in the majority of cases and gains running to a point or more were well distributed near the close. Several large "special" offerings aided the turnover which was in the neighborhood of 900,000 shares.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints of urine daily.

When the kidneys are tired, they permit poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause aching backache, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of ill-suffering folks who suffer from kidney trouble. Get Doan's Pills.

House Passes FEPC Measure

Washington, July 12 (AP) - The House refused today to restrict future activities of the Fair Employment Practice Committee to those connected with its liquidation.

It turned down, by a tie vote of 188 to 116, a South-backed move to prevent the FEPC from using any of its new funds for normal operations and then moved up funds for 16 war agencies.

The action was subject to a later roll call but there was little doubt that FEPC backers had the votes to give that agency $250,000 for its normal operations for the current year.

The legislative skids were greased to shove the bill through by nightfall and send it to the White House tomorrow. Not until it is signed into law will 16 home-front war agencies have money with which to operate.

All have been operating "on the cuff," so to speak, since the fiscal year started on July 1, and none can meet a payroll until the measure becomes law.

Attorney Reappointed
Washington, July 12 (AP) - President Truman today nominated Arthur J. Attkymer of Wisconsin for reappointment as a member of the Social Security Board. Attkymer is chairman of the board.

KIWANIANS IN CLASSY GAME

Farmville Club Defeats Greenville In Softball Game

By CHESTER WALSH
The Greenville Kiwanis Club's softball team outdid the Farmville Kiwanians two to one in Farmville yesterday, but Greenville's hits were foul balls. Farmville won the game, 16 to 8. The one-sided score may be accounted for by the fact that several of the Greenville players who knocked two- and three-base hits couldn't get to first base before the ball got there. It was a great ball game and everybody had fun—especially Guy Smith of Greenville, who went in as a pinch-hitter, made a hit and scored a run. The game was played for the benefit of the two clubs' underprivileged child funds and a substantial sum was raised. It was played in the Municipal Stadium in Farmville.

Don Conley and Judge Jimmy Roberts were the battery for Greenville and went the full route. Farmville used three pitchers. Fiser, F. Allen and Bradham, with Gilchrist doing the receiving. "Lath" (Tarran) Morris, Farmville third baseman, landed on one of Don Conley's last ones and the ball was reported to have landed near the courthouse in Snow Hill. Coach Milo Smith said after one more game he will have his Greenies in tiptop form. Two of his fielders, Noah Raynor and Bill Drum, collided chasing a fly and Drum did the flying trapeze act. Ed Rawl, Greenville second sacker, was fast.

Farmville has a good ball club in the field and at bat. As a matter of fact, the Farmville Kiwanians could have won the game in the first inning, but they did not bear down until the third when they scored six runs. The two teams will play a return game in Greenville in the near future.

After-game comments by the Greenville players were: "Some of our players were crippled during practice." "Joe Taft, flashy outfielder and safe hitter, was out of town." "Charley Flye, who made a homerun to help Greenville defeat Wilson some time ago, was not in the lineup." "Dr. J. M. Barrett, homerun ace, could not play." "Billy Woolard, crack third-baseman, could not play, and Henry Andrews, flashy infielder, was busy at the court house," and so on went the Greenville alibis.

Players participating in the game were: Greenville—Drum, Rawl, Mc-Konzie, Duncan, Rogers, Raynor, Tripp (who made a three-bagger), Lee Roy Bell, Conley, Roberts, Bostic, Bundy, Guy Smith, Dave Moore, and Odell Calhoun. Farmville—Chamblee, Pickett, F. Allen, Gilchrist, Fields, Satterthwaite, Bradham, "Lath" Morris, Barrett, Fiser, Bradham and Gilchrist.

Score by innings:

J. S. Whitehurst Died Early Today

J. S. Whitehurst, 87, died at his home in Winterville at one o'clock this morning, after a short illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Friday afternoon at four o'clock by the Rev. D. W. Alexander, Free Will Baptist minister of near Bethel, and burial will follow in the Winterville cemetery. Mr. Whitehurst was born, and reared in Pitt County. He had lived all his life in Pitt and Martin Counties. He was a member of Winterville Free Will Baptist Church and was a retired farmer.

Surviving are six boys: Claud L. and Vernon Whitehurst of Winterville, Sam A. Whitehurst of Greenville, Willie W. Whitehurst of Bear Grass, Robert L. Whitehurst of Williamston, and four daughters: Mrs. M. N. Moore of the home, Mrs. J. P. Stox of Winterville, Mrs. John G. Coltrain of Williamston, and Mrs. Rubin Bailey of Everette. He had 28 great grandchildren.

Garris Funeral Friday Afternoon

Funeral services for Herbert R. Garris, 63, who died in a Raleigh hospital Tuesday after a long illness, will be conducted from the home of his sister, Mrs. Beulah G. McLaughlin of Winterville, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. M. A. Woodard, Free Will Baptist minister of Winterville, and burial will follow in the Winterville cemetery.

Mr. Garris was born and reared in Falkland and spent his entire life in Pitt County.

Supreme Command Being Dissolved

Paris, July 12 (AP)—Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force will be dissolved at 12:01 a. m. on July 14, it was announced today by Gen. Eisenhower returning to the continent which his combined command helped free.

The American, British and French forces which served under the supreme commander will then revert to national controls. The SHAEF announcement of its imminent dissolution contained no details.

The mighty Allied forces will revert to their own national controls, and Eisenhower will step over to the command of the Americans and to his place on the Interallied Control Council for Defeated Germany.

An announcement several days ago said dissolution of Eisenhower's supreme command was being delayed only until he could return from the United States, say goodbye to his staff and direct the final ceremonies.

At that time dissolution of supreme headquarters of the Allied Expeditionary Force was expected about July 13. Eisenhower's return last night seemed to indicate it might take place on exactly that date.

JAP CONVOYS DRIVEN BACK

Air Power Tightening Blockade Against Japan

By LEIF ERICSON
Guam, July 12 (AP)—Japanese attempts to run two troop laden convoys of soldiers from Shanghai to bolster homeland defenses against an American invasion were apparently broken up by blockading U. S. naval aircraft, Rear Adm. John Dale Price reported today.

Price said none of the transports was sunk in the combined attack by Fleet Air Wing One Marines and Privateers and strafing Thunderbolt fighters, but none of the transports got across the Yellow Sea to Korea or through the Korean Straits to the Sea of Japan.

The convoys were presumably driven into the former German port of Tsingtao, churning yellow mud in the shallow water.

Heavy antiaircraft fire from the convoys prevented effective bombing attacks, but rockets from Thunderbolt fighters started fires lasting about 20 minutes on one ship.

The plain-spoken Arkansas-born admiral is relinquishing command of Fleet Air Wing One to become commander of the Okinawa operating base. In this assignment the 53-year-old Price of Little Rock, will direct the development of Okinawa as an advance naval operating base. The best potential harbor on Okinawa is Buckner Bay, which the Japanese used as a fleet anchorage when it was known as Nakagusuku Wan.

Price's new assignment was announced simultaneously with the award to him of the Navy Cross by Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz for directing the Fleet Air Wing's operations from Okinawa in which 59 sea-going ships, aggregating 145,000 tons were sunk and 194 other vessels totaling 138,000 tons were damaged.

Admiral Price said Fleet Air Wing One is able to maintain a patrol over Korea and Tsushima Strait more than 16 hours daily.

The aerial blockade of the Yellow Sea and Korea Straits has virtually stopped what used to be a fast and safe three-day ship run between Shanghai and the homeland, Price said.

YANK NOTCHES SHOVEL—Pfc. Bernard J. Hall, Triadelphia, W. Va., cuts nine notches on the shovel with which he captured nine Japs in the Ryukyus. Hall was digging a foxhole with the shovel when the Nips marched up and surrendered.

Presumably the Japanese are trying now to make the transshipment over a three-week route—by rail into northern Korea and then across the Sea of Japan. Planes of the Air Wing have broken the rail line.

Shipping is getting scarcer to find and Japanese antiaircraft fire more accurate.

Privateers crews making water-skimming runs on ships in Korea's maze of inlets have seen Koreans applauding their work, tossing their caps in the air and waving their arms.

"That's right in front of the Japs, too, you know," Price said.

Eighteen planes have been lost in three months operation by the Air Wing. All but six known survivors were picked up by Dumbo rescue planes which made 59 landings on the open sea to rescue 121 American and British air men.

About 140 B. C., the Emperor Wu nationalized the natural resources of China, established governmental control of trade and transport, fixed prices for commodities, laid a tax upon incomes, and organized public works for the unemployed.

The longest railroad bridge in the world is the 12-mile trestle over the Great Salt Lake, Utah.

Jap Platoon Is Wiped Out

Okinawa, July 12 (AP)—A heavily-armed Japanese platoon was wiped out in a two hour battle with alert American troops today after sneaking within 200 yards of American 24th Corps headquarters in the first organized attack since the Okinawa campaign officially ended.

The Nipponese were moving toward the headquarters of Gen. John R. Hodge when surprised by a patrol led by Sgt. Lynn Bullen of Mason, Mich. In the two hour fight 24 of the enemy were killed. It was not known if any escaped.

Truck Gasoline Coupons Ready

The War Price and Rationing Board now has the truck gasoline coupons. Those holding O. D. T. certificates may now receive the third quarter gasoline allotment.

COLORED NEWS

Staff Sgt. Arthur L. Norcott, Prof. J. D. Killingsworth, Buster Clemmons and Mesdames Lillian Ruth Hard and Emma N. Knealid spent the day in Grimesland Sunday, July 8th. There they attended the morning service of White Oak Baptist Church. Preceding the sermon S-Sgt. Norcott rendered a very soul stirring solo, "I'm Sending Up My Timber Every Day," which was enjoyed by all present. The Rev. C. C. Staton used for his subject, "The Three Crosses." After the service they were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Collin Dixon.

Sgt. Norcott who is home on furlough, has been stationed in Australia and New Guinea for the past two years. He is the son of Mr. Lawrence P. Norcott and the late Mrs.

KEEP PEPPY & KEEN with a SNACK IN-BETWEEN

You can't fool Mother Nature. Active, busy people need more nourishment than regular meals supply. You can stick it out from seven till twelve and from twelve until six without extra rations, but you won't feel just right or do your best without supplemental energy.

Get on the Dr. Pepper routine... a jiffy-quick energy lift at 10 in the morning and at 2 and 4 P.M. It really helps a heap, and how you will enjoy it. Dr. Pepper is no ordinary soft drink... it's different and better... never tires the taste. Make it your steady stand-by.
