Germany Faces A Tough Future

British Press Praises Terms Set Forth In The Big Three Announcement; Republicans Criticize Potsdam Agreement Indicating Senate Fight On Peace Treaties

London, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Veteran diplomatic observers agreed today the Big Three's Potsdam communiqué displayed a toughness with Germany sufficient to assure the world that it would be a long time before that nation again could threaten universal peace.

The London press chorused approval of the Potsdam decisions. Virtually the only complaints, either from newspapers or diplomatic observers, were aimed at what President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Premier Stalin did not say, rather than at what was announced.

It seemed agreed here in diplomatic circles that the mistakes of Versailles had been avoided and that closer cooperation of the big powers was assured in the reconstruction of Europe.

The Times called the Potsdam plan a "constructive program" which is "just through severe," and said it "holds a promise of an orderly transition for Europe." Pointing out that there were some "notable omissions" in the plan, including the withdrawal of Allied forces in Iran, the feeding of Europe and French claims in the Ruhr and the Rhineland, the newspaper said "continued collaboration and understanding among all three" nations would be necessary to complete the solution of all problems.

Dispatches from Madrid said it was expected that the sharp language of the communiqué telling Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Spain it was not welcome in the ranks of the United Nations would bring about another shift in the Spanish cabinet.

From Berlin Associated Press Correspondent Louis Lochner said that the conditions imposed by the Potsdam communiqué upon Germany made the Versailles treaty look like child's play. He pointed out that territorially Germany loses not only all she gained by the bullying diplomacy of Adolf Hitler, but also must write off some of the most valuable regions of Germany proper, such as Silesia, East Prussia and large slices of Pomerania. The age-long dream of German colonies, he added, must be buried forever.

An authoritative source in London closely connected with the Polish Government at Warsaw, said that on the whole the Polish government probably was satisfied with the Potsdam decisions, but added, there had been "some expectation regarding Stettin, so we didn't get all we asked." Polish sources said they still hoped for some concessions regarding Stettin—possibly a declaration that Stettin is a free city with commercial passage allowed Poland and Czechoslovakia.

MORE STRIKES ARE REPORTED

List Of Nation's Idle Increased To 56,000 Today

(By The Associated Press) Fresh labor disputes pushed the nation's strike total over the 56,000 mark today, an increase of about 10,000 in the last 24 hours and the biggest number added by stoppages in a week.

Two of the new walkouts were in Philadelphia and one each in Philadelphia, Pa., and St. Louis. A third strike was threatened in Philadelphia, as the number of disputes nationally touched 40.

Two plants of the Electric Storage Battery (Esbe) Company in Philadelphia were shut down by a strike which Joseph Kelley, president of CIO Local 113, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, described as unauthorized. A company spokesman said 3,500 workers were idled by the walkout, the cause of which was unknown by union or management officials.

At Wilkes-Barre, about 1,000 employees of the Vulcan Iron Works voted not to go to work today in a dispute over the company's alleged failure to arrive at a contract agreement.

Production of amphibious tanks and street cars at the St. Louis Car Company was halted by a strike of 1,100 employees who left their jobs in protest over vacation pay.

About 1,000 New Jersey employees of the Philadelphia Navy Yard voted to stay away from their jobs starting Monday in protest of the Philadelphia wage tax of one per cent on all wages in the city.

In Cleveland, 1,375 open health employees of the Republic Steel Corporation refused a "full crew" demand. Meanwhile, company officials said the 96-inch strip mill would resume rolling as 125 mill workers voted to return to their jobs.

Metal working industries claimed the bulk of workers off their jobs. These included 6,500 employees at eight plants of the Reynolds Metals Company, Inc., New York City, Glendale, N. Y., Louisville, Ky., and Richmond, Va.

Additional strikes broke out in Detroit where four plants employing more than 6,000 persons were idled. Those affected were the Bower Roller Bearing Corporation, 1,500; Fruehauf Trailer Company, 1,200; Marysville Plant of Chrysler Corporation, 1,500; and the Federal Mogul Corporation, 2,000.

Seek Consolidation Of Two Chief War Agencies

Mobilization And Reconversion Office May Take Over WPB And Stabilization Functions

By STERLING F. GREEN Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The administration moved in two directions today to strengthen its efforts to bring about rapid and orderly reconversion of industry.

Under the leadership of Director John W. Snyder, the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion has these in the fire:

1. Extension of the War Production Board's wartime powers to reconversion. This would be done by making WPB an operating arm of OWMR, a step Snyder hopes President Truman soon will take by means of an executive order.

2. Eventual merging of the Office of Economic Stabilization with OWMR. This would eliminate one tier from the structure of government agencies dealing with economic controls.

The OWMR-OWB consolidation may be months away, but stabilization officials said matters are now "plainly tending in that direction." Presumably it would not occur until reconversion was well under way, now under study by stabilization Director William H. Davis, are determined.

Once the policy course is set, these officials say, Davis probably would find the merger an appropriate time to end his long wartime service to the government. He formerly headed the National Defense Mobilization Board and then the National War Labor Board.

The OWMR-WPB proposal would enable its sweeping priority powers, now used solely in the interest of winning the war, as a tool to shape an orderly transition to peacetime activity.

By operating in the civilian field under Snyder's direction, WPB thus would supply the tools and personnel and OWMR the legal authority over reconversion conveyed to it by Congress.

For instance, there is a question whether WPB can proceed now to set quotas on exports of consumer goods without overstepping its wartime jurisdiction. Such action may be necessary to prevent exports from hurting the civilian supply at home.

Similarly, WPB will have increased difficulty, as war demands slacken generally, in enforcing its authority to allot scarce materials between one industry and another, and between one plant and another.

In view of the fact that a handful of materials—perhaps more than a handful, if Japan collapses quickly—will continue to be short after V-J day, reconversion planners believe that WPB's priority powers will be needed to steer goods and materials into channels most likely to produce a healthy economy during and after the transition period.

NEW CABINET IS ANNOUNCED

Premier Attlee Gives Names Of 19 Appointees

By W. W. HERCHER London, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee, turning from Potsdam to the problems of his new Labor government, announced today 19 additional members of his cabinet, including Miss Ellen Wilkinson as minister of education, second woman to attain cabinet rank in Britain.

For completion of the war against Japan, Attlee named a 61-year-old former miner, John James Lawson, as secretary of State for War. He replaces Sir James Grigg of the Churchill cabinet.

Attlee returned A. V. Alexander to his old post as first Lord of the Admiralty, succeeding Brendan Bracken. Alexander held the post throughout the coalition government of Winston Churchill. Bracken was first lord in the recent "caretaker" administration.

Britain's manpower problems were assigned to George Isaacs, the president of the Printing and Kindred Trades Federation, who became Minister of Labor and National Service. Ernest Bevin, the new Foreign Secretary, held this post in the wartime coalition.

Another important post, in view of the Labor Party's program of nationalizing mines and industries, went to Emanuel Shinwell, who becomes Minister of Fuel and Power. Shinwell, 61, and a veteran member of Parliament, serve as parliamentary secretary to the Department of Mines in two previous Labor governments, and has frequently crossed swords with Churchill in parliamentary debates.

Miss Wilkinson, red haired and 54, is former parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Home Security. The only woman in a British cabinet before was Miss Margaret Bondfield, one time Minister of Labor.

Sir Ben Smith, jovial resident minister in Washington, was rewarded for his work there by receiving the Ministry of Food appointment. He will have his hands full this winter maintaining the domestic diet and helping meet the enormous needs of Europe. Sir Ben, who went to sea as a youth and later became one of London's first taxi drivers, is 66.

One of the surprises in the list was the designation of Isaacs, who will be in charge of the manpower needs of the Japanese war and the conversion from war to peace time industry.

Frederick William Pethick-Lawrence inherits the troublesome job of Secretary of State for India and Burma from L. S. Amery.

James Chuter Ede is the new Home Secretary. George Henry Hall the new Secretary of State for Colonies, and Lord Addison the new Secretary of State for Dominion affairs.

More Japs Slain Calcutta, Aug. 3.—(AP)—More than 8,000 Japanese have been killed between the Rangoon-Mandalay road and the Sittang river in Burma in less than two weeks, southeast Asia command headquarters announced today.

Chinese Begin New Offensive Chungking, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Chinese high command announced a renewed drive on the Kwangsi front today and Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer indicated that American trained Chinese, including parachute troops, would soon launch large-scale operations against the Japanese.

Chinese troops in Kwangsi Province drove toward the important Japanese base of Chuanshsien, 67 miles northeast of recently-recaptured Kweilin on the Kweilin-Hengyang railroad, striking to points 12-14 and 19 miles west of the enemy-held stronghold. The Japanese rushed in reinforcements and are offering stiff resistance, the Chinese said.

Gen. Wedemeyer, commander of U. S. forces in China, disclosed that Chinese parachute troops who have been training at Kunning were shaping up well. Kunning is about 520 miles west-southwest of Chuanshsien.

He also declared that supply shipments over the Hump were increasing but that "our goal is sea communications."

Wedemeyer said employment of American-trained and equipped Chinese troops transferred from Burma "can be expected soon" in the China theater.

"I hope that in the not too distant future we'll have some large-scale fighting," he said.

Meet The Feet

Pvt. Phil Whelan, Infantry trainee at Ft. McClellan, Ala., placed the following ad in the camp newspaper, "I can't name a plane or a ship after my girl because I'm in the Infantry, I travel around on my feet." "Isn't there some girl who would like me to name my feet for her." Which has been deluged with letters from all over the U. S. and is shown under part of the avalanche of replies—and his feet. (AP Wirephoto)

By MORRIS LANDSBERG Guam, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The ports of besieged Japan have been sealed off from desperately needed food and war supplies by mines parachuted from B-29s, while disastrous new blows hit 91 more Japanese vessels, Navy and Army air officials disclosed today.

The 20th Air Force announced that every important harbor in the hope islands and the entire coastline of Korea to within 21 miles of Russia have been mined by Superforts and that enemy shipping has been cut to a "shadow."

"There are now no major shipping lines, ports or harbors remaining that offer safety to Japanese shipping," the announcement said.

The Japanese are so desperate that they have been forced to resort to still another suicide method—sending small craft through mined waters to clear the way for larger ships.

The 20th estimated that many hundreds of thousands of tons of critical Japanese shipping have been destroyed by mines, naval vessels or planes—with loss of their sorely needed cargoes—in the four-month blockade.

Other official reports told of fiery destruction of the big ship-building center of Nagasaki, unchallenged strikes around Nagoya and Kobe at factories and airfields, and the air blows that hit 91 enemy vessels, including at least five warships.

From an American carrier, an Associated Press dispatch told of Marine fliers in training "for their assigned mission—sky support for troops landing on Japan itself."

In a censor-delayed account, the dispatch from an American escort ship disclosed that a new Marine air group, "the Beachbusters," already had used Japanese-held Pagan in the northern Marianas, bombing realistically through anti-aircraft fire, to practice for the future invasion of Nippon.

Miss Sandra Slatin, pianist, played the Chopin Polonaise, much to the delight of the student audience.

Miss Olga Eitner, the violinist of the trio, played with sure technique and sympathetic tone.

As a trio the ensemble was gratifying. Perhaps the most interesting of the trio music was that of the Shostakovich pieces, arranged by Mr. Sykora.

More than 100 Army Mustangs from two swarmed on Nagoya and Kobe on Honshu yesterday noon, rocketing and strafing airfields, factories, railroad trains and small shipping — reported by General vessels sunk or damaged to the toll exacted Tuesday in the Kyushu sector.

They followed up history's greatest air assault by 820 of Spaatz' Superforts in the pre-dawn which heaped heavy damage on four Honshu cities and a Tokyo Bay oil center at a cost of one B-29 and damage to six others. Only 20 enemy fighters were encountered, although all four cities had been forewarned.

The equally important devastation of land targets was impressive. The Mustang force hit Nagoya and Kobe.

The reports of FEAP pilots scouring Nagasaki contained such details as freighters hit while fleeing—a harbor where dock explosions hurled debris a half mile into the bay.

For hours, the port where a third of Japan's commercial shipping is built was subjected to divebombing, low and high level precision bombing. Oil storage tanks and warehouses were engulfed by fires which could be seen for 25 miles.

Nimitz' final report on Monday's carrier sweep of Honshu made a total bag for that day of 116 Japanese ships and 278 aircraft destroyed or damaged. It also expanded the successes against land targets. Around the naval base of Matsura, docks were smashed. The vital Nagoya arsenal was blasted. Today's communiqué listed more hangars, locomotives, oil tanks and warehouses wrecked.

DOROTHY BURGESS

Chapter 17

When Mario strode up to the car with a Mario Drew swing to Madge's body, Uncle Louie stepped out and greeted her with a flourish of his derby. His blue eyes twinkled and his face beamed with a triumphant smile as he thought, My formula is a success!

"My dear Miss Drew," bowed Uncle Louie, "this is indeed a pleasure."

"So you are Uncle Louie," said Mario, as she gave his unique attire a curious once-over.

"At your service, my dear," he said, assisting her into the car.

"Well, here goes," said Mario, as she switched on the ignition.

"You know the direction my dear?"

"I should," laughed Mario, "it's been my goal for a long, long time."

Mario's explosive exit, which had nearly slammed the fender door off its hinges, brought Sophie out of the kitchen. She found Mario, who was of course Madge, standing like one stupefied.

"She sure left in a noisy huff," said Sophie.

"And she surely pulled a fast one on me," said Madge to herself.

"She pulled a fast one on you?" asked the surprised Sophie.

Madge asked herself, "Why didn't she tell me John had gone back to Winston Manor?"

So she knew it all the time. Well, what do you know!" said Sophie.

"If she had only told me, all this mess could have been avoided," continued Madge, "but maybe John isn't gone back to stay; maybe he's just gone back to pack and move out all his things."

"Didn't you tell me that he told you that, he was going back because—"

Madge didn't hear her, as she Sophie's presence, cried out, "If on that she is going back to him—instead of me! She'll do anything to turn him against me, even make him hate me!"

"If he lets her do that," remarked Sophie, "after you give up your career, he's nothin' but a deodorized skunk!"

Madge, who was still oblivious to Sophie's presence, cried out, "If only Uncle Louie were here to help!"

"Who's he?" asked Sophie blankly.

Then Madge berated herself, "I'm behaving like a chicken with its head chopped off. Uncle Louie did tell me what to do!"

"He did?" gasped Sophie.

Madge noticed Sophie for the first time and asked, "Where's the telephone?"

"You kiddin'?" asked Sophie.

"I remember," said Madge, as she turned and flew into the bedroom.

A very bewildered Sophie followed her strange mistress to find out what she was up to.

"Oh, dear," said Madge, as she seated herself beside the telephone.

"I'm so excited I can't seem to remember anything," she turned to Sophie, who stood in the doorway.

"Sophie, what's the name of that man who wrote that article in this morning's newspaper?"

"You kiddin'?" gasped Sophie.

"Oh, I remember, Felix Wilder!" said Madge, greatly relieved. "Oh dear," she cried again, "I can't remember the name of the newspaper."

"Express," said Sophie, whose being was now chronic.

"Please," said Madge almost apologetically, "do you happen to know the telephone number?"

"PA 2121," Sophie said, as though she was calling a prisoner's identification number.

"Thank you, ever so much," said Madge sweetly.

"You're entirely welcome," said Sophie, surprised at her own lady-like manner.

"Where's your bottle of Lotus Petals?" she asked.

"Hello?" said Madge into the phone. "Express? Will you kindly connect me with Mr. Felix Wilder? Tell him that Mrs. John, I mean Miss Mario Drew is calling. Yes, I'll wait, thank you."

"I said," said Sophie, "where's your bottle of Lotus Petals?"

Madge asked, "Lotus Petals? I don't know."

"Well, bow! me over with a feather," said Sophie, as she placed her hands on her bony hips. "That society dame has snatched your per-

Grain Market

Chicago, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Wheat rallied toward the close today, carrying other grains upward on the strength of broker buying, considered as further removal of hedges against cash sales to Mexico. Houses with eastern export connections also have been on the buying side. At the close wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 higher than yesterday's close, September $1.68 1/2-5/8. Corn was unchanged to 1/4 higher, December $1.18 1/2. Oats were 1/4 to 1/2 higher, September 65-64 1/2. Rye was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, September $1.48 1/2-1/4. Barley was 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, September $1.13 1/2.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Buying of rails brightened the stock market today in another of the slowest sessions of the past year.

Although numerous leaders failed to make the grade, gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed near the close. Transfers dwindled to around 500,000 shares for the full proceedings.

Baseball

Baseball is going GI in a big way now that the manpower scales are favoring discharges over inductions with returning servicemen holding the balance of power in both major leagues.

Take yesterday's big league scores, for example. A former soldier or sailor was the decisive factor in each of the six scheduled contests. Prize showpiece is Al Benton, the ex-star, who has blazed a path to the top of the American League pitchers with an unofficial 0.89 earned run average and a 10-2 won and lost record, including five shutouts. Only Dave Ferriss of Boston among the servicemen, overshadowed the Detroit star who might have been able to match the rookie's 17 victories if he hadn't missed six weeks because of an ankle fracture. Benton blanked the champion St. Louis Browns, 6-0, scattering seven hits to tie Ferriss for the whitewash lead of the majors. Jack Kramer, his mound opponent, did a turn in the Seabees but that didn't save him from his fourth straight loss. Eddie Mayo's two home runs ruined Kramer and assured the league-leading Bengals of their sixth successive home success.

Red Ruffing, 41-year-old veteran of the New York Yankees, showed he had lost little of his pre-war cunning in stopping Boston 3-1. It was two wins in a row for the 20-year-old pitcher, who had been in the red and his first complete game. Nick Eiten's three-run round tripper in the first inning made it easier for the recently discharged Air Force sergeant.

Out in Cleveland the Indians and Chicago White Sox held an old fashioned slugfest, captured by the Tribe, 13-7. Pat Seery's grand slam home in an eight-run third inning was an important factor but a neat job of relief chucking by Pete Center, an ex-GI, save the day, for Cleveland. Center received credit for his fifth success without defeat. Washington twice shaded Philadelphia, each time by a 2-1 score, moving to within 4 1-2 games of the top and here again the veterans were in the foreground. Al Evans, a discharged serviceman, doubled to open a ninth inning spurt in the opener and came home with the winning run on Pitcher Mickey Heafner's single.

Steve Gertin, Philadelphia's luckless and winless pitcher who spent two years in the Army, outpitched Marino Pierotti in the nightcap, six hits to seven but lost his 12th straight when the Nats scored twice on two hits in the seventh. Buddy Lewis, just returned from the Air Force, contributed a single and scored a run in the successful rally. Chicago reversed the score of Wednesday's game by handing Pittsburgh a 1-0 blanking in the only scheduled contest in the National League and once again a former soldier was the hero. Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, who rejoined the Bruins this spring, doubled home Don Johnson in the sixth inning to break up a scoreless duel between Paul Derringer and Preacher Roe.

With the St. Louis Cardinals tied.

Chicago picked up a half game and with Mrs. J. M. Reeves and Mrs. upped its National lead to 5 1-2 M. B. Burney as assistants. It is located on the campus of Ayden High School.

Ayden Negroes Operate Cannery

The colored people of the Ayden, Pleasant Plains and Grifton communities are showing their appreciation of their canner by canning all kinds of vegetables and meats available. Every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday they can be seen making their way there with baskets of vegetables to be canned. Approximately 5,000 cans of beets, tomatoes, peas, peaches, pork, beef, chicken and other fruits and vegetables have been canned. Five young cows have been canned. The cannery idea was begun by J. D. Lennon, vocational agriculture teacher, at Ayden and was completed by J. J. Brown who succeeded Mr. Lennon. He has worked tirelessly to get it in operation. It is the only one in this section operated by negroes. It is under the supervision of Mr. J. J. Brown.

Former Winterville School Head Dies

West Jefferson, Aug. 3 — Funeral service was held Thursday, Aug. 2, at two o'clock at the West Jefferson Baptist Church for F. C. Nye, 70, prominent educator, who died suddenly at his home here on Tuesday afternoon around five o'clock after being stricken with a heart attack. Rev. E. W. Powers, pastor of the church, was in charge of the service and was assisted by Revs. John S. Jordan, John W. Luke, and B. A. Meeks. Burial followed in the town cemetery. The body was taken to the church at one o'clock.

Professor Nye, who was principal of West Jefferson high school at the time of his death, had been in declining health for some time, but apparently had been feeling as good as usual until a few minutes before his death when he was stricken with a heart attack. Earlier in the day he had done some school work.

Hit-Run Driver Released On Bail

By CHESTER WALSH

Leon Leroy Cherry, Jr., of Bethel, discharged serviceman, who is charged with hit-and-run driving and seriously injuring Pvt. Robert Minton of the Greenville Marine Air Station on the night of July 21, was released from City Jail yesterday on $5,000 bond. His father, Leon L. Cherry of Bethel, signed the bond. Police Chief Jim Tanner said.

According to police, a car struck Minton on the Bethel highway at the end of the guard rail across the river and knocked him down an embankment. The Marine remained in the low grounds during several hard rains from Saturday night until the morning of July 24th, when he in some way crawled or walked across the bridge to the foot of Greene street. After being taken to the Marine Air Station across the river Minton was taken to the Naval hospital at Camp Lejeune. He was unconscious until yesterday, Chief Tanner said.

Chief Tanner, Lieut. Lester Jones of the Highway Patrol, Sheriff Paul Tyson and Deputy E. L. McMullan, in cooperation with the Bethel police chief and the sheriff of Macon county, worked on the case, while the injured man was still unconscious. By Saturday night they had sufficient evidence to swear out a warrant for Cherry. Chief Tanner said Cherry admitted striking somebody on the highway, but did not stop.

Minton continues in a serious condition, with a fractured skull and other injuries. He will lose an eye, police stated.

Weather Slows Burma Fighting

By G. MILTON KELLY

Calcutta, Aug. 2 (AP)—Monsoon rains in the lower Sittang River bend area of Burma have forced British and Empire infantry troops to wear Mae West life preservers when crossing normally calm and narrow streams which have been flooded into turbulent rivers of mud, men-back from the front said today.

A new system has been worked out whereby front line troops earn one day's rest in relatively dry quarters behind the lines after three days' fighting through shoulder deep mud in the area northeast of Rangoon, where more than 6,000 Japanese were killed in a recent nine-day period.

Southeast Asia Command headquarters said today that aggressive patrolling continued between the Rangoon-Mandalay railroad and the Sittang River. East of Pyu, enemy troops attempted vainly to escape across the river under cover of machinegun fire from the east bank.

Farther north, heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy on the Toungoo-Mawchi road.

British, Indian, Gurkha and patriot guerrilla troops have been pounding bitterly resisting Japanese forces believed to be trying to escape eastward toward Thailand to join with other pocketed enemy troops in a possible last-stand fight.
