Japs Not To Get Chance For Revenge

President Holds First Peacetime News Conference; War Will Not Be Officially Over Until Two Million Japs Lay Down Their Arms; Discusses Atomic Power

Washington, Aug. 16.—(AP)—President Truman said today he does not think the Japanese people will ever have a chance to obtain revenge for their defeat in this war.

In his first peacetime news conference the President declared that if Congress goes along, the scientific discoveries which made possible the atomic bomb will be turned to the welfare and benefit of mankind.

Commenting on the situation in the Pacific since he announced the Japanese acceptance of Allied peace terms, the President said:

The surrender will not be complete until two million Japanese lay down their arms.

General Douglas MacArthur will announce the signing of the surrender, which will take place at a point MacArthur designated.

There is no apparent necessity for dividing Japan into occupation zones although troops from all the Allies will be under MacArthur's command.

Congress will decide when to end the wartime draft, Mr. Truman said.

The President will make a recommendation to Congress on a peacetime military training program shortly after it meets again.

There has been no decision yet on combining the army and navy in peacetime, he said.

The President's declaration that Japan will have no chance to obtain revenge for its defeat came in response to a reporter's question.

The reporter said most Japanese radio pronouncements since acceptance of the surrender terms appear to indicate the Japanese are planning a military come-back in the future.

Nearly every defeated people felt that way about it, the President remarked. But, he added, he did not think the Japanese ever would have a chance to obtain revenge.

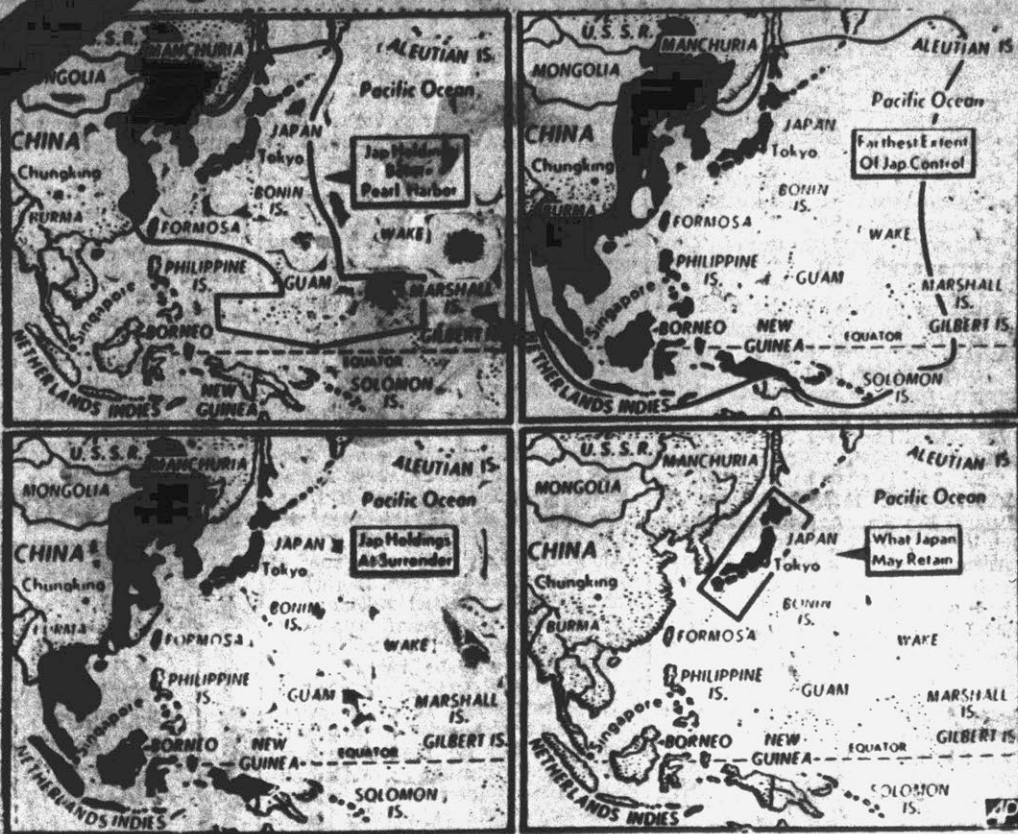

The President opened his conference with the remark that he had no particular news, but thought reporters ought to have a chance to look him in the face and ask him pertinent questions. He grinned as he said this.

There was nothing, the President added, likely to come out of this that the reporters would have to break an arm for in getting to the telephone. Some White House reporters have been injured recently in scrambles to break war news.

When a reporter asked what was to be done with the three large plants that make up the Manhattan project where the major work is done in producing atomic bombs, the President said that it is up to Congress.

In the long run, he said, the atomic energy developed for use in these devastating bombs can be employed for the welfare and benefit of mankind.

INCOME TAX CUT LIKELY

Congress May Pass Tax Revision Before Christmas

By MAX HALL.—(AP)—All Americans seem likely to get a cut in their income taxes after January 1. Perhaps several million will have to pay no income taxes at all next year.

Congress is coming back September 5 in a tax-cutting mood. Some of the best informed tax experts in Washington think a reduction in personal income taxes will be enacted before Christmas—with administration approval if the cut is not too drastic.

People in the lowest income group would be the ones whose income taxes might be wiped out entirely.

A survey of congressional and other tax authorities today produced the following picture:

1. No tax reductions are likely on 1945 income. The expected cut will be felt first in smaller payroll deductions starting January 1.

2. Federal taxes on such items as alcoholic beverages, furs, luggage, jewelry, theater tickets, cabaret spending, and telephone calls will drop back down automatically to 1942 rates six months after the official "termination of hostilities."

3. The 95 per cent excess profit tax on corporations is sure to be killed.

The size of any reduction in the personal income tax will be settled in Congress, maybe after a year.

105 American And 28 British Warships Included In Powerful Force

By MORRIE LANDSBERG.—(AP)—Admiral Nimitz today proudly named 105 of America's newest and fastest warships and 28 British vessels forming the powerful Allied Pacific fleet which helped push Japan over the brink of defeat with continuing naval blows in the final weeks of the war.

The American vessels operating as the Third fleet from July 10 to August 15, were joined by the British men of war on July 15.

The special communique identified for the first time the full strength of Admiral Halsey's task force 38, a powerful striking arm that packed a wallop of more than 1,000,000 tons of fighting steel.

The mighty concentration of American and British warships destroyed or damaged more than 1,500 Japanese planes and nearly 1,000 ships and small Japanese craft.

In the 37 day span of operations it struck Japan from the air on fourteen separate days and pulverized land targets with several naval bombardments. Only a single ship—a light American unit—was damaged.

Attached to Nimitz' honor roll was a statement of high praise for the hard working service forces which carried the supplies of war across thousands of miles of ocean and delivered them at sea to the fuel and ammunition-consuming fighting ships.

Even in its formidable array, however, the listing of the Third fleet's ships failed to show the entire strength of the Pacific fleet. For instance, the super-battleship New Jersey and the older Washington did not operate with Halsey during the period mentioned in the communique. Aside from the 10 fast battleships, there are also the older bombardment ships like the California, the New Mexico, New York and Texas.

The ten 27,000-ton Essex class carriers and the six Independence class carriers listed represent but a part of the U. S. array of flattops.

Out of action at the time were the Hornet, the Bunkerhill, the Franklin and the "Big E"—the Enterprise—which is in a pre-war class of its own.

In the battleship lineup, the Massachusetts, Indiana, Alabama and North Carolina were also listed.

Victory Loan To Start In October

Washington, Aug. 16.—(AP)—To help finance the war's windup, an Eighth War Bond drive—the Victory Loan—may get under way in early October.

Treasury Secretary Vinson, calling for no letup in payroll savings, said the campaign, with a probable goal of from 10 to 14 billion dollars, should "provide a fitting climax for the series of successful drives by which we at home have financed the war."

"There are millions of our men overseas. Billions of dollars will be needed to bring them home, to provide their mustering-out pay and to care for the disabled. Other billions will be required to provide for the contract cancellations and the unemployment which will be caused by the war's end."

RALLY HELD LAST NIGHT

Crowd Attends Victory Exercises At Stadium

A crowd of several hundred citizens gathered at the Smith Stadium at sunset yesterday to return thanks to God for total victory on the battlefields of the world, and to dedicate themselves to the difficult task of winning the peace of this war, and the prevention of any future wars.

People sitting in the grandstand, looked out over the fertile lands of this county bathed in the golden sunset of V-J Day, said "Amen" to the prayers of thanksgiving uttered by Dr. H. G. Haney and Rev. A. Hartwell Campbell, and then followed Robert Lee Humber, international lawyer who lived in Paris, France many years and who was in Paris when the Germans overran France in 1939. In an eloquent and impressive speech, and with keen interest and understanding, he told again and again the simple message that there must be international law in the future to prevent an atomic war of the future which could destroy the earth.

It was not an enthusiastic crowd. It was a serious-minded group that was present. Gold Star Mothers were there. Mrs. J. B. Spillman represented them. She said that the Gold Star Mothers would "carry on." And the crowd indicated that they could carry on, too.

Rationing Of Shoes And Tires May End This Year

Washington, Aug. 16.—(AP)—That unrationed gasoline soon will be back to pre-war quality.

Enough materials are available, the Petroleum Administration for War reported today, to return to peacetime octane ratings.

This will mean easier starting, especially in cold weather, and less motor ping and knocking.

Peacetime quality standards will be reestablished as soon as required refining and distribution adjustments can be made, Ralph K. Davies, deputy PAW administrator said.

The quality of civilian gasoline has declined appreciably since the beginning of the war, largely because tetraethyl was needed for production of 100-octane aviation gasoline.

Maximum rating for premium gasoline now is 76, a drop of two to four points, while regular gasoline has a 70-octane rating. This compares with 74 to 76 before the war.

The OPA followed its announcement yesterday with an easing of tire regulations to permit some A card motorists to obtain new tires.

These still will be rationed largely on the basis of occupational driving, but 5 per cent of each motorist's quota now may go to A motorist.

Certificates for new tires may be issued for cars used for non-occupational purposes—the old category for A cars—when denial of an application would cause "undue hardship," OPA said. No board,

Day Of Prayer

Washington, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Next Sunday, Aug. 19, has been set aside by President Truman as a day of prayer to God to "support and guide us into the paths of peace."

In a proclamation, issued today, the chief executive said: "I call upon the people of the United States, of all faiths, to unite in offering their thanks to God for the victory we have won, and in praying that He will support and guide us into the paths of peace."

"I also call upon my countrymen to dedicate this day of prayer to the memory of those who gave their lives to make possible our victory."

SAYS ATOMIC BOMB SAVED MANY LIVES

Churchill Says Its Use Shortened War; Russia Entered War On Date Planned

London, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Winston Churchill, who guided Great Britain through all but the last days of the war, told Commons today that the atomic bomb "more than any other factor" brought about the "sudden and speedy ending of the war against Japan."

For the first time he disclosed that he and President Truman had approved elaborate plans at the Potsdam conference "for a series of great battles and landings in Malaya, the Netherlands East Indies and in the homeland of Japan itself."

"We did not know how long the resistance of Japan would last," he said.

Churchill spoke as leader of the government's conservative opposition, a position to which he was relegated by the July election. He yielded his position as a Big Three leader late in the Potsdam conference to Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Generalissimo Stalin was informed that "he contemplated using an explosive of incomparable power against Japan," he said. "It is to this atomic bomb, more than any other factor, that we may ascribe the sudden and speedy ending of the war against Japan."

He credited the atomic bomb with saving a million American and a quarter million British lives which he said, would have been the price of an invasion of Japan itself.

He told the House that the secret of the devastating new weapon should not "at present be important." (Continued on page two)

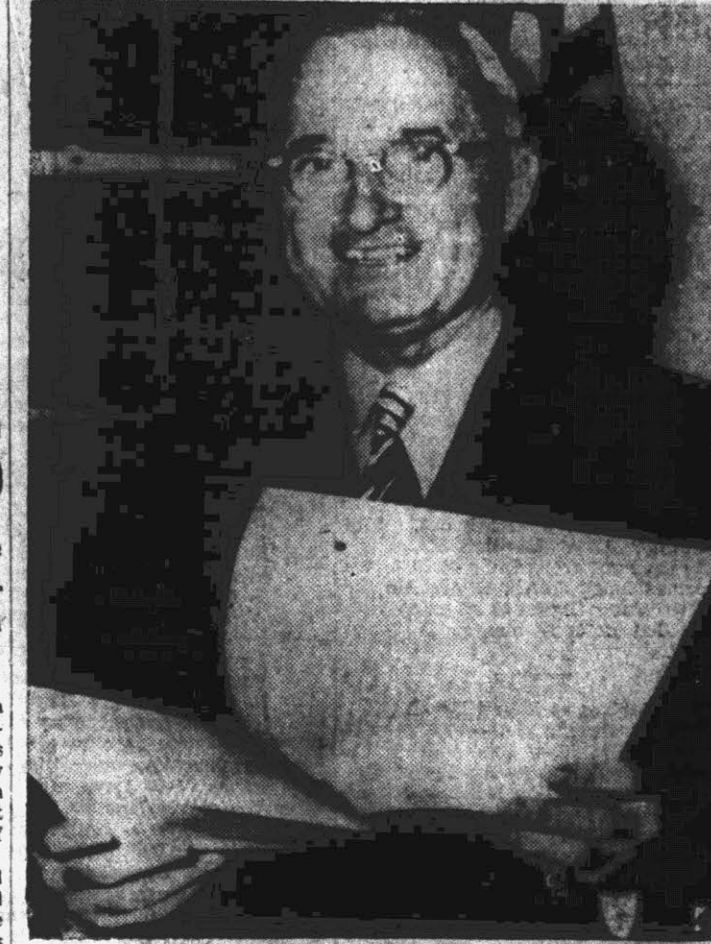

Another Japanese Meets Ancestors

London, Aug. 16.—(AP)—British press dispatches from Switzerland today reported that Lt. Gen. Tokamoto, Japanese naval attaché at the embassy in Bern, had committed suicide at Zurich.

Tokamoto was the second prominent Japanese official reported to have taken his own life since the Japanese surrender. Tokyo radio announced yesterday that War Minister Anami had taken his own life.

Nation Tackles Big Reconversion Task

Efforts To Be Made To Avoid Pitfalls That Followed End Of World War I

Washington, Aug. 16.—(AP)—President Truman, seeking to smooth the speedy change-over to peace, today moved to promote post-war harmony between business and labor.

At the same time, realizing that millions soon would be jobless, he told a news conference that a bill designed to steer the country into full employment, now in Congress, is must legislation.

Mr. Truman said he would call a conference of capital and labor as soon as Congress reassembles.

He did not explain what he hoped to achieve by this, but the government has been eager for management and labor to continue into the peacetime years the cooperation by which they helped win the war.

The President said the War Labor Board would be continued as long as there is necessity for it. The board has been the government's big stick in keeping industrial peace.

Other top developments on the home front:

1. Tax authorities said all Americans seem likely to get a moderate cut in their income taxes by Jan. 1.

2. The Maritime Commission said building would be stopped on some ships but that others—far along in construction—would be continued.

3. With gasoline rationing now finished, petroleum officials said the fuel would soon be back to pre-war quality.

4. The House Appropriations Committee is asking all federal agencies how much money they can turn back into the Treasury—now that peace is here.

5. The Army Airforces cancelled the planned production of 31,000 planes.

The pattern for the vast reconversion task ahead took clearer form today. It was bordered on all sides by official warnings that lessons learned from World War I must be heeded.

Top officials are saying a serious reconversion task is ahead.

Predict Shake-Up In State Bureau

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Capitol Hill authorities predicted today that a shakeup would occur in the State Bureau of Investigation within the next few weeks.

Spoesmen in the Department of Justice, which includes the attorney general's office and the FBI, admitted that Governor Cherry himself was holding up the appointments of replacements for two agents who recently resigned, and it is on his order that two additional agents authorized by the 1945 General Assembly have not been named.

The SBI is now headed by Tom Creekmore, who was advanced from assistant during the administration of former Governor Broughton.

Members Of Imperial Family Will Carry Order To Various Fronts To Assure End Of Hostilities; Several Days Will Be Required To Reach Some Isolated Units

San Francisco, Aug. 16.—(AP)—An NBC correspondent in Manila broadcast today that General MacArthur had notified the Japanese that their replies to his first and second messages had been received and were acceptable.

Ross McConnell, NBC correspondent in Manila, broadcast that MacArthur also notified the Japanese that they were authorized to change the type of plane to be used in carrying emissaries to Manila.

The Japanese in their reply had said they did not understand the type of plane he had designated and asked for him to repeat the instructions.

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Emperor Hirohito will send members of the imperial family to the various fighting fronts to assure that his orders to "cease fire" are carried out by the Japanese troops, the Japanese government said today in a message to General MacArthur which was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

The message advised the Allied supreme commander that the ending of hostilities had been issued as directed and added that members of the imperial family would enforce it personally, although in some isolated instances it might take as long as 12 days.

The message, in English, estimated that six days would be required to make the message entirely effective in China, eight days in Bougainville and 12 days in New Guinea and the Philippines.

The message also stated that the emperor had ordered that it was "impossible for us to arrange for the flight of our representative on August 17," as demanded by MacArthur, "due to scarcity of time."

"We will, however, proceed at once with the necessary preparations and notify General MacArthur as to the date of the flight of such representative, which will take place as soon as possible," the message said.

The type of plane ordered to make the flight by MacArthur also was questioned. The Japanese explained they did not understand the designation and asked the Allied commander to repeat the precise message of instructions to the emperor.

Today On The Home Front

By James Marlow

Washington, Aug. 16.—(AP)—It's not all gloom.

Government officials speak plainly about 5 million people out of jobs in 3 months, perhaps 8 million by spring.

Unless this picture is balanced a little it may give the impression that from here on we sink down into mass unemployment.

Those officials are telling what they think the reality will be. They hope that kind of unemployment will be only temporary.

They think—after the change-over to peace is well on its way—the total of unemployed may dwindle.

But in the meantime not everyone will have to go milling around for a job, just because the war's over.

There are industries which will be anxious to hire more people than they have now.

John W. Snyder, Reconversion director, spoke about the 5 and 8 million being unemployed but he also gives this side of the picture.

"Manufacture of many articles for peacetime, such as bulldozers and other construction machinery, lumber, drainage pipe and plumbing and heating equipment, processed food and the like."

These industries, he points out, can continue right on into peacetime with the kind of work they did in wartime. They won't have to convert.

And these, too:

"Mining, smelting and processing of raw materials such as iron, steel, copper, aluminum will likewise continue without the necessity of reconversion."

But then there were the plants which did straight, specialized war production but continued to turn out for war the sort of things they turned out before the war, essential civilian goods.

Now, dropping their war work, they can expand for the civilian market.

For example, and this is still Snyder talking:

Although 25 per cent of the commercial refrigeration and air conditioning industry capacity was converted to war production of such items as ordnance, airplane engine mounts, and so on, the rest of the industry continued to produce at the peacetime rate of 300 million dollars annually.

Sixty per cent of their products was for military use and the rest for essential civilian needs.

Other plants, like textile mills, will need very little reconversion to expand for civilian output.

Railroads are going to need work. Masters of farm machinery will need them.

Thus, although there will be a tremendous movement of workers in this country now, millions will be untouched by the war's end. They'll stay put.

It will be the task of the job-seekers to find their jobs. It will be industry's job to provide work.

The WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

He would be a man of small perception who thought the defeat of Japan could immediately transform the world into what Britain's famous fighting man—Tommy Atkins—describes as a place fit for heroes to live in, and yet it strikes me that we are entitled to entertain a good deal of optimism.

We stand at the gateway of a new era, and it can be one of peace and prosperity, or it can be a nightmare of turmoil. It all depends on how we approach the problems of remaking our world, for that's what our task amounts to.

It would have been a hopeless undertaking if Japan had been strong enough to stand the Allies off and force a compromise peace. That would have allowed the Japanese war-lords to make another attempt at conquest a generation hence—as we know from informed sources they were planning to do.

However, with Nippon rendered impotent we shall have knocked out the last of the great powers which had the obsession of enslaving their fellow men.

The western world is free of Germany, which for generations was the chief force of evil in the Occident. Now we are about to rid the eastern world of Japanese aggression. This double task had produced tremendous disorganization. It is resulting in great political and territorial changes.

Still, as I see it, this disorganization is paradoxically all to the good

—if we set about overcoming it in the right way. It means we are starting from scratch in our efforts to create a new peace structure. The pre-war world has been jumbled up, and we have the unprecedented privilege of reconstructing it on new and better lines. It's a situation which hasn't existed before, since Adam.

Of course this reconstruction is going to take time, and it will be fraught with many perils. Europe already is torn with political upheavals, some of which have produced bloodshed. We are likely to see a lot more of this before the continent settles down. Europe also is facing a dangerous period of hunger and cold and other privations, all of which are breeders of discontent. Much the same thing is true of the Orient.

However, it is fortunate (we hope) that the Big Three—America, Britain and Russia—have emerged from the war with such vast strength that among them they can, by working through the new United Nations security organization, keep things in hand during the rehabilitation. The only real danger of a breakdown would be in a quarrel among the trio. Should they fall out—but maybe we'd better not go into that.

It's no use dismissing this danger with the light remark that trouble among the Big Three is "impossible." That word "impossible" in the mealy mouths of hands-across-the-seas orators, has caused more trouble (Continued on Page Four)

Prior to the meeting of the chairman held an assembly of the members of all committees and officials.

He reported that 248 new Rotary clubs were chartered last year. While at national headquarters he heard that the British and Finnish clubs met regularly during the war. In England they met even though

Judge Frizzelle stated in denying the motion that there had already been three indictments and three bills of particulars in the case and that to admit the tax reports

"The fact that the German army surrendered on May 8 and the Russians declared war on August 8 is no mere coincidence, but another example of the fidelity and punctuality with which Marshal Stalin and his valiant armies always kept their military engagements," Mr. Churchill said.

The House cheered. "We were in the presence of a new factor in human affairs—powers which were irresistible," he declared of the atomic bomb. "President Truman and myself at Potsdam approved the military plans to unleash the dread forces."

The chunky, 70-year-old statesman declared that "there are no voices which assert that the atomic bomb should never have been used at all. But, he added bluntly: "I cannot associate myself with such ideas. Six years of total war have convinced most people that had the Germans or the Japanese discovered this new weapon, they would have used it upon us to our complete destruction with the utmost alacrity."

Cheers sounded from both sides of the House. Churchill asserted sharply: "I am surprised that very worthy people—but people who in most cases had no intention of proceeding to the Japanese front themselves—should adopt the position that, rather than throw this bomb, we should have sacrificed a million American and a quarter of a million British lives in the desperate battles and massacres of an invasion of Japan."

General Disease Rampant
Paris, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The United States Army disclosed today that its venereal disease rate in the European theater "has more than doubled" since V-E Day, with 43,752 men—the equivalent of three infantry divisions—contracting infections in the last two months.

Paris and Marseille, the Army said, are the main sources of infection, but the disease are on the increase in Germany, which is second to France among continental countries in the number of affected Americans.

J. H. Waldrop, member of the Board of Trustees, testified that he succeeded the late E. G. Flanagan on the board not after becoming a member of the budget committee had he ever heard anything about Mr. Flanagan handling any college funds until $800 was turned over to him by Dr. Meadows in December, 1943 during the course of the investigation. He said he had been very close to Mr. Flanagan in personal and business way and that none of Mr. Flanagan's business affairs at the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company revealed that he had ever handled any funds for the college or had advanced any funds to materials.

On Tuesday morning Judge Frizzelle denied a state motion, that had been hanging for some time, for the presentation of Dr. Meadows' income tax returns into evidence. Judge Frizzelle stated in denying the motion that there had already been three indictments and three bills of particulars in the case and that to admit the tax reports would necessitate the amendment of the bills of particulars. He said that he did not feel that it was just to the defendant to bring an amendment at this stage of the case when the defendant had already practically completed his presentation of evidence.

If arguments before the jury get under way Monday it is expected that the case will go to the jury by the end of next week.

The chunky, 70-year-old statesman declared that "there are no voices which assert that the atomic bomb should never have been used at all. But, he added bluntly: "I cannot associate myself with such ideas. Six years of total war have convinced most people that had the Germans or the Japanese discovered this new weapon, they would have used it upon us to our complete destruction with the utmost alacrity."

Cheers sounded from both sides of the House. Churchill asserted sharply: "I am surprised that very worthy people—but people who in most cases had no intention of proceeding to the Japanese front themselves—should adopt the position that, rather than throw this bomb, we should have sacrificed a million American and a quarter of a million British lives in the desperate battles and massacres of an invasion of Japan."

Chapter 25

Now Marlo, for the first time, pretended to be Madge while asking a question she had kept in reserve up to this moment. "John," she said abruptly, putting out her cigarette, "I want to ask you a very important question and I want you to answer me truthfully. Is that clear?"

"John nodded, with a foreboding of malignant things to come. Marlo finished her inquiry in a dangerously calm manner by asking, "Do you love Marlo Drew?"

"Darling," he said, "I can't tell you how happy I am that you've asked me that question. I've been wanting to tell you, to get it off my chest, and get ourselves straightened out once and for all time. And Fred will back up my every word. Marlo Drew was nothing more than a nightmare, which awakened me to the fact that I can't go on living without you. It's you I love, Madge, only you." He stopped. Never before had he seen such a ferocious expression on Madge's face. John and the doctor stood transfixed as Marlo rose angrily from theavenport.

"She hissed, "No one doublecrosses me and gets away with it. Is that clear?"

"No, I'm afraid not," said John. "Then I'll make it very clear, you're a timing chaser!" she flared, then shrieked, "Do you know who I am?"

"I think so," said John. "I," she said, straightening herself to a queen's height, "I am, I am, suddenly she gripped her head. "I'm dizzy!" And right before John and the doctor's eyes Marlo gracefully crumpled to the floor. The warning signal of Uncle Louie's miraculous formula had worked. It had successfully prevented her from exposing a secret.

"Let's get her to bed," said the doctor. The two men gently carried her down the long hall an into Madge's bedroom, where they carefully tucked her in bed. Again the doctor examined her.

"I can't understand it," said the perplexed doctor in a whisper. John whispered back, "She's in a faint, isn't she?"

"No," said the doctor. "Her's sound asleep."

"Asleep?" John asked in astonishment.

"Listen," said the doctor. And John heard faint, rhythmic snores come from Marlo.

"She can't do this to me!" protested John.

"Here," said the doctor, as he handed John two capsules; "take these and go to bed."

"They won't work," said John dejectedly.

"Two of these will cinch your sleeping. Now go to bed; I'll drop in in the morning."

The house had become deathly quiet when, suddenly, the hall light which was always kept burning throughout the night, slowly began to flicker out. Uncle Louie was keeping his word to Madge about switching off the electric lights. Outside, the stillness was broken by quick, stealthy footsteps coming up the gravel driveway. It was Madge. She had driven there in a taxicab, which she left waiting for her at the main entrance.

Slowly the heavy door swung open and Madge greeted in candlelight, a beaming Uncle Louie and a delighted Sunshine.

"Come in, my dear, come in," beckoned Uncle Louie. Sunshine who was not deceived by Madge's borrowed body, welcomed his mistress profusely.

"Sunshine! My darling Sunshine!" whispered Madge, as she knelt and took him in her arms. Then she looked up at Uncle Louie. "Is the coast clear?"

"Clear as crystal, my dear," he whispered, then closed the door. "Everything," he continued, "is running as smooth as can be." Then he chuckled coyly. "Our friend, Miss Drew, swooned this evening."

"No!" said Madge.

"Yes," he said gleefully, "she did. Miss Drew wanted to expose the secret of our formula."

Uncle Louie chuckled even louder as he said impishly, "I know I shouldn't have, but I did a little eavesdropping and I heard—" he stopped teasingly.

"What did you hear, Uncle Louie?" she begged.

"I heard John tell her," he laughed. "that he loves you!"

But Madge didn't laugh as she said tenderly, "John loves me."

"Very dearly, my dear," he said. "Then," she brightened, "all I have to do is to get back into my own body."

"It isn't quite as simple as all that," he said.

"No?"

"No, my dear. After you get the antidote from Miss Drew," he said, "you must then wait for me."

"But, Uncle Louie," she pleaded, "I feel so lost in this body, and now that I know John loves me—"

"But," he raised his hand, "Miss Drew is not completely cured. Her moods and desires are still too erratic. We must stabilize her to one trend of thought, and that must be that she no longer wants anything to do with John. Otherwise I wouldn't put it past the lady in question to squeeze John through a financial wringer."

"Then, Uncle Louie," she asked dependently, "how much longer do I have to masquerade like this?"

His eyes twinkled. "I think, my dear, you will be able to return to your proper abode tomorrow."

Strength FOR THE DAY
 By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE CALL OF THE HIGHER

Arabian horses are said to be subjected to such a strenuous training that they respond to orders with an inconceivable fidelity.

They are taught to obey signals given by the tones of a trumpet.
 This training goes on for months until, at the sound of the trumpet, every trained Arabian horse knows just what to do and responds instantly. One of the last tests given is to keep these horses in confinement for several days without water.
 Then when they are furnished with thirst, the doors are thrown open and they gallop out with a mighty clatter in the direction of the water holes. Suddenly the clarion notes of the trumpet are heard, recalling them to the stockade. Almost without exception these well-trained horses stop in their tracks, turn back and, although burning with thirst, return to the stockade.

A lot has been written about the matter of putting duty first and desire after. Also many maxims have been composed and many strong sermons preached on the necessity of learning to obey not the undisciplined urge of desire but the mandate of conscience. And surely if animals can be trained to put obedience before the gratification of desire, humans can be trained — or best of all can train themselves — to respond to the urge of the higher in the face of temptation to be weak and yielding.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK
 By JACK SINNETT

Washington—A move is under way to change the Philippine election law to permit more than 100,000 eligible Filipinos in the continental United States and Hawaii to vote in the vital initial postwar elections to be held in the islands this fall or early winter.

Senator William C. Yap, editor and publisher of the Magazine, Bureau lecturer, and Washington correspondent for several Philippine newspapers, is one of the Commonwealth leaders urging the Philippine senate to give absentee votes to the thousands of natives.

The journalist estimates there are at least 75,000 Filipinos in Hawaii and in the United States who would cast a vote if permitted, forming an important voting segment in an already heated campaign, which, according to informed observers, is likely to be very close.

Dr. Yap's idea is that some of the best informed voters would be those who saw from the outside the picture of Japanese occupation of the Philippines and reconquered by Gen. MacArthur's troops.

From a distance, too, he says, they probably would be better able to weigh the charges and countercharges which the "collaborationists" and anticollaborationists are hurling. On this bitter question and on plans for independence and economic future of the islands much of the political controversy there is now being waged.

An interesting sidelight on the proposal to give the non-resident Filipinos a vote is that when independence of the islands becomes a fact, the citizenship of those thousands now residing here or in Hawaii will have to be established by treaty. Whether their participation in the elections would have any effect on their citizenship status already is a point of discussion in Filipino circles.

Many, of course, long have been resident here and hold properties and jobs which they will not wish to sacrifice to return to their homeland.

Since liberation, the Philippines have witnessed a struggle for political power, with quiet, serious President Sergio Osmeña on one side and his long-time political associate and friend, Senate President Manuel A. Roxas, on the other.

When the late President Manuel Quezon left the Philippines and brought Vice-President Osmeña and several other members of his cabinet out with him. Roxas stayed behind. It was some time before Roxas became associated with the puppet regime of Jose Laurel.

When the islands were retaken by MacArthur, Roxas and his family were in Baguio. They slipped out of the mountain city and joined the guerrillas and later reached the American lines. Instead of bearing the stigma of "collaborationist," Roxas developed as a popular hero.
 For more than 20 years, he has been strong proponent of Philippine independence, and now is Osmeña's chief protagonist.

ble than all the statesmen of both hemispheres could repair. There are mighty few things which are "impossible"—as witness the atomic bomb—and most certainly quarrels among nations aren't impossible.

Yet, while America, Russia and Britain have some interlocking interests, there's nothing in sight which should cause dissension. Their present disposition is to work together on world rehabilitation.
 They've had their differences of opinion already — but the partnership remains sound.

So far as concerns another world war, the removal of the two great aggressor nations — Germany and Japan — plus the advent of the atomic bomb, bids fair to put the odds of war on the unemployed list.
 Heavens knows I've reason enough to be cynical after all the war, and revolution I've eye-witnessed in the last generation, but I really believe it's possible to have a lasting peace when we've done our job of putting a badly disorganized world in order again.

Names Of Ships . . .

South Dakota are of the South Dakota class, 27-knot powerhouses with standard 35,000-ton displacements. The North Carolina is a sister ship of the Washington, distinctive for their two-stack design, a little slower than some of their companions, but still considered fast for their 35,000-ton weight.

The biggest and most powerful of the battlewagons are the Iowa, Missouri and Wisconsin, which with the New Jersey form the 45,000-ton Iowa class. They are actually considerably heavier than their rated tonnage. Like the other new battleships they have nine 16-inch guns, but their big rifles are longer than on other classes.

The only British battleship listed, the H. M. S. King George V., is a 35,000-tonner with 10 fourteen-inch guns. Two other Royal Navy dreadnaughts, the Howe and the Duke of York, have been announced in the Pacific, but they did not travel with the Third fleet.

The Essex class carriers carry 90-odd planes and can step up to 34 knots, beating the British carriers on both scores.

The communicative listed the following American battleships: Massachusetts, Indiana, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, North Carolina and Alabama.

These carriers furnished the bulk of the 1,500 seaborne planes that helped knock out the Japanese.

Essex, Hancock, Bennington, Yorktown, Bunker Le., Bonhomme Richard, Wasp, San Jacinto, Independence, Belleau Wood, Monterey, Bataan, Cowpens.

Nineteen cruisers were named: Quincy, Chicago, Boston, St. Paul, knockdown fight.

The administration certainly will oppose any drastic slash in the income tax for next year, but there are strong signs the administration will not oppose a moderate reduction—for example, repeal of the "normal tax."

This normal tax—3 per cent of net income—used to be called the "Victory Tax."

If the "normal tax" were repealed, what is known as the "surplus" would be the only income tax left.

To put it on a weekly basis, a man with a wife and one child, earning up to around $30 a week, would see his withholding tax disappear.

If he makes $35 a week, his withholding tax would drop from $5.10 to $3. If he has an income of $50 a week, the tax would decrease from $8.40 to $7. Income of $70, from $4.50 to $7. Income of $100 from $15.70 to $13.20.

eff of the world, instead of its destruction.

He hoped the President said, that Congress would cooperate in peacetime development of the atom splitting project. He said the work is continuing meanwhile until Congress makes a decision. Previously, Mr. Truman had urged congressional establishment of a commission which would control production of atomic energy and direct its development for peacetime uses.

The President reiterated that V-J Day would not be a holiday. He added that the people had had enough holidays yesterday and today.

Discussing foreign affairs generally, the President said they had been talk at the Big Three meeting in Potsdam the Korean situation and it was his belief that the Cairo declaration which ultimately would make Korea a free and independent state would be carried out.

There was no talk at the Potsdam meeting, he said, of the future fate of Hongkong, British crown colony which was seized by the Japanese early in the war.

Rally Held . . .

Veterans of World War I were there. Their spokesman, State Senator Arthur B. Corey, representing the American Legion, promised the returning servicemen and their families, that the Legion and a host of other citizens would see to it that the returned fighting men would have every opportunity to obtain his rights in the world to which he is now returning.

The Greenville High School Band under direction of Harold A. McCougle was present to furnish music and the combined choirs of the churches under direction of Ed Parkinson, with Mrs. Guy Smith at the piano, furnished inspiring musfor the occasion.

Mayor Jack Boyd in a very fine way dedicated himself and the city officials to the problem of the returning fighters and the problem of housing Greenville. He promised to help Greenville the kind of city that a returning soldier, sailor or marine would like to live in—a typically fine American city.

The program was sponsored by the Ministerial Association, civic clubs of Greenville, the City of Greenville and the American Legion.

June H. Rose was master of ceremonies and the entire program was broadcast over WQTO.

inflation—soaring prices—could wreck the best-laid reconversion plans of industry and government.

Today—two days after victory—the home-front situation took on this shape:

The country has its instructions. Government agencies have issued their policy statements. Industry has a green light to produce in unlimited quantities. All sorts of wartime controls are crumbling. The consuming public threw its gasoline coupons and blue ration points in the waste basket.

From Reconversion Director John W. Snyder: "The greatest single danger to an orderly reconversion lies in the threat of inflation. We cannot and must not repeat our folly after World War I."

From Price Administrator Chester Bowles: "After World War I, economic fumbling delayed orderly peacetime reconversion for more than two years."

From Stabilization Director William H. Davis: "We cannot afford to risk an unstable, ruinous economy such as we had after the last war."

Then Davis, broadcasting last night with Snyder and other officials, recalled what happened after Armistice Day in 1918:

Price controls were dropped. Workers with new peacetime jobs rushed to stores to spend their savings. There weren't enough goods. Storekeepers and manufacturers started a "wild scramble" to buy everything they could.

Prices skyrocketed. Then came the collapse. People couldn't pay the high prices. Prices crashed. Bankrupt businesses numbered 110,000. Jobless people numbered 5,900,000. More than 400,000 farmers lost their farms.

Snyder, warning the nation "at the cross-roads," urged management, labor, farmers and government to work together with the same spirit that enabled them to win the war.

"I believe we are at the threshold of one of the greatest eras that mankind has ever known. It is ours to take hold of. What we do with it is up to us," the Reconversion chief declared.

Here are some of the latest developments:

1. The War Production Board said it will cut its 400 controls down to 40 by next Monday. Announcing its reconversion program, WPB opened the gates to unlimited production of autos, refrigerators, washing machines, and the like. It also gave the signal for industrial construction to begin. Controls on scarce materials and on inventories will remain temporarily.

Price Administrator Bowles announced OPA's reconversion program:

To keep price ceilings on food; to continue the drive to reduce clothing prices; to see that autos, electric irons, and other goods come back on the market "at or close to

Dr. Smith Plans Open Clinic Here

By CHESTER WALSH

Dr. Joseph Smith announced today that plans are nearing completion for a modern medical clinical building, to be erected at the corner of Fourth and Cotanche streets. Construction will begin as soon as labor and building materials become available. Present plans provide for opening the clinic the latter part of next year.

The clinic here will be similar to clinics in larger cities. It will be furnished with the necessary diagnostic and treatment equipment to render adequate medical service, including general medicine, minor surgery, obstetrics, ophthalmology, otology and laryngology and probably dentistry. The facilities will be available to both white and colored people, Dr. Smith said.

The personnel of the staff, physicians, surgeons, technicians, nurses and management will be built around Dr. Joseph Smith and his sons, Dr. James J. Smith and Joseph Smith.

With the resumption of normal transportation facilities, a majority of patients can be taken to the physician's office or to the hospital for diagnosis and treatment. With group or clinical practice, physicians and surgeons will be able to render more efficient and economical services to the community, Dr. Smith said.

Hot Frankfurters on a Cold Salad Plate

Hot Dish Each Meal

Make the Certified Frankfurters the one hot dish in this otherwise cold meal. Hot rolls or this quickly heated bread would be a delicious accompaniment:

Spread top of sliced loaf of bread with liberal amount of Certified Mayonnaise which has been softened. The loaf together (not too tight) with clean string and place in a deep pan with tightly fitting cover (a roaster is fine) and heat in a hot oven, 375° to 450° F., 20 to 30 minutes.

Green apple pie a la mode with coffee will make a fitting climax to this refreshing menu.

Equal Food Value

Although it's cooling, this meal is filling and satisfying even for an active man. After all, potatoes and other vegetables have the same caloric value whether they're served hot or cold.

Gotham Still Celebrating

New York, Aug. 16—(AP)—New Yorkers still bent on victory celebration—had turned Times Square into a bedlam of revelry again early today.

Some 1,200,000 delirious, singing, confetti-throwing celebrants jammed into the Square last night. Two million was the peak number of merry-makers in the area Tuesday night.

Yesterday, 10,000 Sanitation Department workers tackled the job of clearing away paper, streamers, noise-makers, bottles and ticket-tape.

The department estimated that 5,000 tons of paper was thrown from windows.

Half Million War Workers Already Laid Off

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Peace abruptly ended the well-paying war plant jobs of hundreds of thousands of Americans.

Many more will be out of work in the next few weeks.

How many could be absorbed into peacetime industry and how soon were largely matters of speculation.

An Associated Press survey of the larger war plant areas today showed that at least 400,000 workers were laid off immediately after the Japs surrendered and that another 1,878,000 would be affected at an early date.

Some of the plant closings were temporary while management could recover to peacetime commodities; some plants will reopen shortly with greatly reduced staffs, and some will remain closed.

This was the picture by cities:

Chicago: $2,000,000,000 in war contracts cancelled affecting 900 plants. Three plants employing 55,000 due for immediate shutdown.

Cleveland: Jobs of 100,000 workers affected by cancellation of $700,000,000 in war contracts. WMC believes cancellations to affect $80,000 in Ohio.

Detroit: 15,000 workers affected by immediate cancellations.

Philadelphia: Cramp Shipbuilding Company released 3,500 men.

Kansas City: Pratt and Whitney engine plant indefinitely laid off 17,000.

Omaha: About 18,000 war workers to be unemployed.

New Orleans: Delta Shipbuilding Company, Inc., normally employing 5,000, will close about October 1.

Memphis: Chickasaw Ordnance Works, employing 1,000, shut down.

Birmingham: Alabama Ordnance Works now closing. Employs 6,500.

Columbus: Ohio River division, army engineers, has halted $65,500,000 in ordnance construction in nine states.

Louisville: Five ordnance and munitions plants employing more than 25,000 closing.

Dallas: Few of 15,000 workers at North American Aviation to return after the V-J holiday.

Portland, Ore.: Kaiser yard officials said payroll of 60,000 employees to be dropped gradually.

Denver: Kaiser Industries laid off 3,500; Rocky Mountain arsenal to dismiss 1,000 employees.

Pittsburgh: 35,000 workers to be laid off as result of cancellation of $200,000,000 in war contracts in Philadelphia ordnance district.

Des Moines: About 18,000 workers laid off.

Miami: Florida plants dropped 3,200 workers.

Phoenix: Goodyear laying off 2,000 within next 10 days.

Indianapolis: 18,000 construction workers will be laid off at Charleston, Ind.

Ever since Dutch Leonard knocked Detroit out of the American League pennant on the last day of the 1944 season, the Washington knuckballer has pitched against the Tigers like he owned them.

Leonard has trimmed the Bengals four straight, counting that fateful 4-1 job last October 1 after he had been propositioned by a gambler looking for a sure thing. Dutch slammed down the phone and went out to hang a hex on the motor city that hasn't been broken yet.

Now that the race is showing signs of developing into a Tigers-Senators scrap down the stretch, Leonard's spell over the O'Neil clan promises to cause nightmares for Detroit boosters.

Opening a vital four-game series at Briggs' stadium yesterday with Canada is the greatest producer of asbestos in the world. Bubonic plague is transmitted to man by fleas from rodents.

A brilliant 8-0 shutout of the league leaders behind Leonard's four-hit throwing, Washington must be recognized as a serious threat to the race setters.

Osceola Bluffs' Nats are only 2 1/2 games back of Detroit with 48 to play and have beaten the front runners eight out of 14 times. Eight more meetings between the two contenders, three in the next three days in the Tiger's home air, may tell the pennant story.

The Chicago White Sox also are advancing in the race, occupying third place 3 1/2 games off the pace. Bill Dietrich stopped Boston, 5-1, in the first of two and Orval Grove bettered the job by blanking the Red Sox, 11-0 in the other nail.

Cleveland edged into the first division for the first time on Steve Gromek's 15th win, an 8-3 job over Philadelphia, while St. Louis bumped off New York, 10-4. It was a sixth straight loss for the Yanks who fell to fifth and only a game out of sixth.

Chicago's Cubs tore Brooklyn apart with a 20-6 barrage that all but exploded the Dodgers pennant dreams.

The defending champion St. Louis Cardinals lost more ground when they split a two-light pair in Philadelphia, bowing to the Phillies, 8-5, but bouncing back for an even break, 7-0, on rookie Glen Gardner's first big league start. As a result of the day's action Chicago's lead measures 6 games.

Pittsburgh advanced to within a game of fourth-place New York by outslugging the Giants, 11-9, and then easing out a 3-2 second game shade on Nick Strincevich's four-blow chugging.

Cincinnati continued its eastern tour, dropping its 12th and 13th in a row in Boston, 10-5, and 13-3.

Pledges Support to UNRRA

In answer to the call conveyed to us by S. B. Sirmomo, State Advisor and National Executive Secretary of the New Farmers of America, to pool all our resources and send as many cans of food as possible to help feed Europe's starving millions, the members of the Ayden chapter of New Farmers of America under the supervision of J. J. Brown, teacher of agriculture, have pledged themselves to purchase and fill at least twenty-five cans of meats and vegetables. These very enthusiastic forty-five members feel that this project is one way that a group of high school boys can contribute to the war and peace effort and they are urging each family that uses the cannery to contribute at least five cans.

As a group, we believe we can carry out our objectives better by systematic planning and careful supervision. As a part of a national organization, our main objective is to become firmly established in farming. We pay particular attention to the twelve objectives as given to us in our N.F.A. Guide:

1. To develop competent, aggressive, agricultural and rural leadership.
2. To encourage intelligent choice of farming occupations.
3. To encourage members in the development of individual farming programs.

4. To encourage members to drive the home, the farm and the road.

5. To participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of agriculture.
6. To practice and encourage thrift.
7. To develop character, train useful citizenship, and foster patriotism.
8. To participate in cooperative effort.
9. To provide and encourage the development of organized rural recreational activities.
10. To strengthen the confidence of farm boys and young men in themselves and their work.
11. To encourage improvement in scholarship.
12. To create and nurture a love of country life.

The following officers were elected about a functioning organization: Ernest Egan, president; John Egan, vice-president; John Peirce, secretary; Peter Chapman, reporter; Allen Roundtree, treasurer; Prof. J. J. Brown, advisor.

TROUBLE IN CHINA BREWS

Communists Defy Generalissimo's Order

By JOHN GOWEN
 Chungking, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Official reports today said Chinese Communist troops apparently bent upon seizing control of all key cities near the Yangtze River. Japanese forces had been ordered to remain in their present posts and to refrain from disarming Japanese and puppet soldiers was signed by Gen. Chui Teh, Communist commander, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, deputy commander, who said: "We consider your order a grave mistake and are compelled to refuse it firmly. Your order is only to the advantage of the Japanese, and traitors who have sold out their country."

An unidentified spokesman for the Communist news agency issued a statement referring to Chiang as a "Fascist chieftain" and asserting that his underground consisted of troops "serving the Japanese."

"Is there still any doubt that the danger of civil war is serious?" the spokesman asked.

He said that the Chinese high command in Chungking did not represent the people and appealed to the United States, Russia and Britain to permit the Communist command to send its own representatives to participate in the surrender of Japan and in the peace conference.

The Communists issued a communique saying their troops were near Peiping. No other major city was mentioned and the text was not passed by the central government.

It has long been known that Communist forces were solidly established in the hills dominating Peiping. There were no authentic reports on whether any Japanese garrisons had surrendered in that area.

There also was an absence of information from the vital port of Shanghai. Pre-armistice reports put Communist outposts within 50 miles of this great city and their underground was reported infiltrating into the city itself.

The formal rejection of Chiang's order for the Communist forces to remain at their present posts and to refrain from disarming Japanese and puppet soldiers was signed by Gen. Chui Teh, Communist commander, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, deputy commander, who said: "We consider your order a grave mistake and are compelled to refuse it firmly. Your order is only to the advantage of the Japanese, and traitors who have sold out their country."

TO KEEP JAPS DOWN BIG JOB

Defeated Nipponese Show No Signs Of Repentance

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
 Washington, Aug. 15.—(AP)—It was a long, hard fight to beat the Japanese. In the opinion of military and diplomatic authorities here it will be a longer and harder fight to keep them defeated.

Tokyo pronouncements at the end of the war indicate that officials of the surrender government do not regard the Allied victory as permanent. From the emperor down they have given their people a heavy dose of propaganda about building for the future. Evidently they are still thinking in terms of the 100 years of war they have talked about ever since it became obvious they could not win this time.

These statements by Emperor Hirohito, the resigning Premier Suzuki and others are being carefully analyzed here for clues to the problems confronting Allied occupation forces. In the opinion of experts two facts stand out:

1. Japanese leaders show considerable satisfaction that in surrendering they have been able to save—at least for a time—the political structure of their state built around the emperor.
2. They show no signs of repentance or feelings of war guilt. They lost the war because the Allies were stronger, and the implication is that they believe they now have a breathing spell in which to build new strength for themselves.

Balanced against these facts is the belief of authorities here that the war leaders and Hirohito himself do not necessarily speak for a majority of the Japanese people. If this is true, it may make the Allied task of controlling and rebuilding Japan somewhat simpler, although as in the case of Germany it still will be a gigantic job.

Officials responsible for forming American policy on Japan say that three forces may be counted upon to work among the people themselves for a democratized Japan:

1. This first great defeat in their history will show them that their sun-god superstitions did not make them invincible.
2. New political and social movements will be permitted by Allied authorities in line with the Potsdam promise that the Japanese are to have freedom of speech and other individual rights which they have not enjoyed for a score of years, if ever.
3. Students, professors, politicians and others who once formed a liberal element in Japan will be encouraged to develop a Japanese brand of democracy, which may or may not provide for continuance of the throne as the top piece of the government structure.

The ultimate objectives of American occupation policy are to rid Japan of its old-line military and bureaucratic leadership and its feudalistic system and to turn the country over to the Japanese themselves in the shortest possible number of years.

Japs Fire On Allied Plane

Pegu, Burma, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A C-47 RAF cargo plane carrying leaflets with the news of Emperor Hirohito's surrender of all Japan's forces was fired upon today over Moulmein, headquarters of Japanese remaining in Burma.

Indications were that the Japanese were ready to continue resistance, either in ignorance or disregard of the emperor's capitulation receipt.

The commander of the British forces on this 300-mile front declared: "We are ready for the Japs to do anything. He might even do a banzai charge. We are ready for that, too."

The order to stop offensive operations received today from 12th Army Group headquarters does not necessarily mean to cease fire in local areas, commanders here said. They declared that if the Japanese resumed shooting, they would get a reply in kind.
