The First B-29 From Japan Reaches Washington

An Army Air Forces band (foreground) serenades crewmen emerging from the B-29 Superfortress commanded by Lt. Gen. Barney M. Giles just after it landed at the National Airport in Washington at the end of a 3,500-mile flight from Japan. The ship was the first of three from Japan to reach the national capital. They intended to make it a non-stop flight, but all were forced to land in Chicago for refueling. (AP Wire-photo.)

Labor Disputes Reach New Peak As Additional Thousands Leave Jobs

Pacific Northwest Lumber Mill Workers Plan Walkouts Monday To Add Another 16,000 To The Already 230,000 Idle; Cities Suffering From Gas Shortages

(By The Associated Press) The nation's post-war labor disputes, most of them stemming from workers' demands for wage increases, hit a new high for the year today and the outlook for the immediate future was not bright.

The country's idle resulting from strikes and forced shutdowns for a variety of industries and businesses mounted to around 230,000, high for 1945 and more than 100,000 above the number idled by disputes immediately preceding V-J Day.

As government agencies planned efforts to halt the rising trend of labor strife, a strike threat came from the lumber mills of the Pacific Northwest, with a walkout of 60,000 workers called for Monday. Other strike threats also were heard and only a couple of minor stoppages were ended, putting the labor picture off-balance.

Detroit found little encouragement of effecting settlement of the multiple disputes that have idled some 86,000 workers, mostly in the automotive industry. A complete shutdown in transportation threatened the motor city because of the impending strike of CIO oil workers.

When his concern began operations here, Webb said, there were 13 dairies in Polk County from which a supply of milk could be purchased. At present there are only six local sources for fresh milk with a total of approximately 600 gallons a day.

More than a score of refineries and plants were closed by the strike of 500 employees in Texas, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, and West Virginia. Ten plants had shut down in Texas and at least 15,000 were off their jobs as they struck for a 30 per cent wage boost and other concessions.

Toledo was on a rationing plan for essential users of motor fuel as four refineries closed, while some 5,000 workers were off the job in eight plants and refineries in the Chicago-Northern Indiana area.

The biggest refinery in the Chicago area, Standard Oil of Indiana Refinery at Whiting, Ind., with 4,500 independent union members, remained open.

A mediation conference was planned in Chicago Tuesday as the Federal Conciliation Service moved in an attempt to effect a settlement of the strike.

The biggest strike threat in weeks came from the Pacific Northwest, the policy committee of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (AFL) in Portland, Ore., announcing demands for a $1.10 an hour minimum.

MILK SUPPLY HERE SERIOUS

Dairy Plant Manager Deplores Present Situation

John B. Webb, Jr., head of Carolina Dairy Products, yesterday expressed grave concern over the milk supply situation here and stated that despite the efforts of his concern to procure enough fresh milk for the community's needs, difficulties were mounting daily.

In explaining some of the present difficulties Webb recalled that 10 years ago the milk consumption in Greenville was approximately 290 gallons daily while at present the demand was 1,500 gallons.

When his concern began operations here, Webb said, there were 13 dairies in Polk County from which a supply of milk could be purchased. At present there are only six local sources for fresh milk with a total of approximately 600 gallons a day.

When the local supply began to fall off, Mr. Webb said he was fortunate to make connections in the Piedmont section of the state for enough milk to take care of the situation here but now that schools have opened and there was greater demand in that section he could not receive further shipments from that source.

The nearest source of supply outside local production is now Roanoke, Va., and considerable time is consumed in getting deliveries here from that area.

Mr. Webb said that he and his associates were making every effort to encourage a revival of the dairy industry in this county but that such a task was difficult so long as the labor shortage continues and farmers are compelled to devote practically all their time to their tobacco crop.

Out of the 600 gallons received from local sources by the plant, the hospital and homes with babies and invalids are being given first consideration, Mr. Webb said. If there is any balance it goes to other homes in the city leaving the supply from outside sources for schools and commercial users.

Mr. Webb stated that he deplored the present situation and hoped that something could be worked out so that the community could receive absolutely fresh milk daily but that under present conditions it would take time to bring about such a reversion.

CITY TO HAVE COLD STORAGE

Wesley Harvey To Erect Freezer Locker Plant Here

A modern freezer locker plant large enough to take care of the needs of the entire Greenville community will be erected here in the near future, according to announcement made today by Wesley Harvey, of this city.

Mr. Harvey, now in the army, is arranging for an early discharge from the service and expects to begin building of the plant just as soon as he returns home. In order to procure essential materials it is necessary that 60 per cent of the locker space be applied before the building work actually begins.

The plant will be modern in every respect and will offer complete storage service. Mr. Harvey stated there would be a salt meat room, a quick freezer room and the individual lockers. He stated that the plant would also be equipped to aid its customers in the way of cutting their meats, grinding and other preparations for storage.

Navy Planes Crash In Downtown Miami

Miami, Fla., Sept. 22—(AP)—Two Navy planes, one apparently in distress, locked wings and crashed into the heart of Miami's business district last night, killing two pilots and setting buildings ablaze in a two-alarm fire.

Carriers Too Big For Panama Canal

Washington, Sept. 22—(AP)—The navy's new 45,000-ton aircraft carriers, biggest warships afloat, are too hefty to pass through the Panama Canal in order to reach the Pacific they must round Cape Horn or sail east.

Confirming this today, naval sources said it is not a case of a man building a boat in his basement too big to take through the door. It is simply recognition that the canal, as a controlling factor in naval construction, is outmoded.

Supplemental locks, begun before the war but not completed, will eventually permit the carriers to get through the canal.

Today In Congress

Washington, Sept. 22—(AP)—Less taxes for war veterans than for other people.

Senator Walter George, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, swung behind that idea today. Congress finished the second full week of its postwar session with a surprising amount of work done—a staggering amount yet to do.

Leading Republicans said: They want Congress to have a look at a letter written by Gen. George C. Marshall to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey during the 1944 presidential campaign.

Government Reorganization—To give the President broad powers in streamlining agencies. Approved by House Expenditures Committee. House debate expected to begin on Wednesday. Senate Judiciary Committee still considering the subject.

Government Corporations—To bring them under strict control of Congress. Passed by House on Sept. 12. It's up to the Senate Banking Committee now.

Airports—To build thousands of them with federal-state funds. Passed by Senate on Sept. 12. The House Interstate Commerce Committee has approved a different version; and next week the House Rules Committee may decide if and when the House will debate the matter.

Babson Again Discusses Education

Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 22—As another school year opens, I want to again go on record that the present public school system is largely obsolete and inefficient.

Both planes were one-man single-engine night fighters from the Melbourne, N.S., training station. Names of the two pilots killed were not immediately available.

By "character," I mean his purposes, habits, and desires. As every modern psychologist knows—character is the big thing for which the public schools should aim. Yet, we turn this very technical task over to plumbers, storekeepers and politicians to solve. Top-notch educational experts tell me that the answer lies with properly directed emotional visual education.

I have a bunch of grandchildren. Incidentally, I believe that good healthy grandchildren, who love to work and have been taught to pray, are the best inflation hedges which any man can have.

RIVER STILL RISING HERE

Floods Reported Receding In Upper Parts Of State

One of the most severe thunderstorms in years, accompanied by torrential rain and strong winds night. Nearly one inch (.92 of an inch) of rain fell (92 of an inch) of rain fell here for the U. S. Weather Bureau, Raleigh, reported.

Police and fire departments and sheriff's and State Highway Patrol offices had no reports this morning of any serious damage by last night's storm.

Travel was resumed today on all main North Carolina highways except those in the Cape Fear areas, as four overflowing rivers—the Cape Fear, the Neuse, the Tar, and the Roanoke—which have been on the rampage nearly a week, subsided in their middle and upper reaches.

At Weldon, the Roanoke had risen to 48.8 feet and continued to rise slowly. There was 42 rainfall there last night, but Weather Bureau officials say that the Roanoke has just about reached a crest there.

Shotgun Shell Supply Is Short

Washington, Sept. 22—(AP)—Shotgun shells will continue in short supply until after the peak of the hunting season this fall.

Manufacturers are making shells in increased volume because of greater lead allotments, but can't get them to market in time to fire at this year's ducks.

But by December 1, a War Production Board official predicted today, supplies will be approaching normal. Current supplies are only about half normal requirements.

Earthquake Recorded New York, Sept. 22—(AP)—A light earthquake, estimated at 8,300 miles from New York and probably located in the southwest Pacific area, was recorded on the Fordham University seismograph today.

MacArthur Asks Full Accounting Of Japan's Financial Operations

By FLORA LEWIS London, Sept. 22—(AP)—Foreign ministers of the Big Five canceled at the last minute today their scheduled morning meeting.

CONCERN OVER SOVIET PACT

British Afraid Of Russian Control Over Hungary Today's meeting had been scheduled to take up the Hungarian peace treaty. No official explanation was given for the cancellation.

American at the council meeting apparently shared Britain's interest in the Hungarian trade treaty. Official British sources declared the pact was considered another step in what appears to be a Soviet campaign to hold a tight rein over the economic as well as the political life of all Eastern Europe.

Earlier, a reliable source said that Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov had protested that the council's communiques had been too detailed and that too much information had leaked out for closed sessions.

Results became apparent quickly. Last night's communiqué said only that the Romanian and Bulgarian peace treaties were discussed, with Soviet proposals as a basis, and that British and U. S. views were being considered.

The ministers are scheduled to decide today whether the entire Bulgarian-Yugoslav border should be outlined in the treaty for Bulgaria or only frontiers on which important alterations are made.

There appears to be no hurry to finish the treaties and this session is expected to break up next week. The detailed work, perhaps by the ministers' deputies, would be possible between sessions.

The ministers yesterday skipped completely the Greek claims on Bulgaria because the Russians refused to listen to the present Greek Government, with which they are dissatisfied, and the western Allies refused to negotiate with the present Bulgarian regime.

MacArthur's instructions on the demobilization of the naval police superseded Japanese plans to keep 11,279 of the police on duty at the end of October until all arms are collected.

Strength FOR THE DAY

Very few people are ever reasoned into Christian belief. Most of us continue in the faith in which we were born. This does not mean that we blindly follow tradition; it means that with the passing years we find ample justification for the faith we originally were taught to regard as valid.

Nothing persuades us of the validity of Christian truth, however, quite so effectively as the life of a Christian who sincerely lives up to what he believes. Justin Martyr, one of the most highly educated and influential Christians of the early Church, says that he was converted to Christianity not primarily by reason but by the fact that he observed the tremendous difference between the moral life of the pagan and that of the Christian. David Livingstone was led to consecrate his life to Christian service by the words and example of a humble Scottish preacher, Dr. Grenfell, the missionary to Labrador, was turned from atheism to Christianity by the simple, sincere words which came out of the very heart of the evangelist Dwight L. Moody.

When people really get religion, something happens to them. They are never the same again. Their tastes and desires change. They start to walk in a new pathway of life and find great happiness in so doing. Nothing leads them into the Christian way of life so securely as to see other people walking therein, and nothing keeps them steadfast amid temptation so much as to see others who continually practice what they profess to believe.

So while the Nationalists and the British government are still far apart, the wheels of peace are revolving. When we look at the countries mentioned in the Indian Nationalist resolution we find them seething with political unrest. French Indochina wants its independence. Nationalism is on the war-path in the Dutch island of Java, as it is in the East Indies. Netherlands minister of Colonies Longemann last July promised them their freedom under the Queen and pledged that Holland would forsake imperialism. Thus Asia as a whole presents a situation that calls for maintenance of powerful and mobile Allied military strength. Not that one ally should intrude militarily in the affairs of another, but there must be a safeguard against flames spreading from one country to movies, or radio. I sometimes wish neither had ever been invented. Moreover, I am much opposed to "babbling" or "amusing" children. Schools should not engage in any amusement program. I even believe that the bamboo stick and black walnut ruler should be retained as a part of the public school system. My purpose is merely this: The first purpose of the schools, after teaching the "three R's," should be to awaken children intellectually and spiritually. The best way to accomplish this may be to scrap much of the present school system and institute more carefully selected, both factual and emotional, visual education.

The union charged employers with failures to enter into negotiations and the "industry-wide strike requested by the workers recently" was called. A strike would affect AFL operations in Oregon, Washington and parts of Idaho, Montana and California.

A second strike threat came from New York City by the CIO Transport Workers Union. The union said unless 500 persons were kept on their jobs at the Miami, Fla. base, a strike of 5,000 ground personnel of Pan American World Airways would be called. Union leaders said they had advised the National Mediation Board in Washington the air line had advised 500 of its Miami employees they would be laid off Oct. 1. They said the workers told them they will not accept the layoffs and unless they are cancelled they will strike.

One bright spot was reported a-pace the trouble scene. In Washington, heads of seven AFL unions at Hollywood which AFL President William Green predicted would end the jurisdictional dispute. The union leaders agreed to let representatives of the locals involved at the studios try to effect a settlement.

Immanuel Baptist Revival
The Victory Revival of the Immanuel Baptist Church has created a great interest on the part of large congregations that have been attending to hear Dr. Herman Stevens bring great Gospel messages. The large number of children attending has been an inspiration to the entire congregation. Dr. Stevens has been giving object lessons with his knives which he has collected during the years.
Sermons by the visiting preacher have been of great importance. Upon invitation the congregation came forward for dedication after hearing the message Thursday night, "The Second Mile." After declaring that it was the most practical thing in the world, the preacher declared, "It will solve all our problems, at home, in the church, in the community, and in the world."

The services will perhaps continue into next week if the interest and attendance justifies. From present indications the revival will continue. Dr. Stevens will have the opportunity of talking to the boys and girls of the Sunday School. Then again at the morning hour of worship another in the series of sermons will be given. For the third time Dr. Stevens can be heard at the evening hour of evangelism, 8:00 p. m. The meeting has been marked by good music and fellowship. The junior choir composed of boys and girls has added to the good singing of the congregation.

The congregation and friends of the community are invited to attend these services Sunday.

Dr. Hollar Was Kiwanis Speaker

By CHESTER WALSH
"Public education is a debt the older generation owes to the younger generation," Prof. E. C. Hollar, head of the department of history at East Carolina Teachers' College, said in a talk at the Kiwanis Club's supper meeting last night, quoting a famous educator. The speaker interestingly discussed what education has done and is now doing, and visualized what is expected to be achieved by education in the future.

He gave the gratifying information that there are now 25,000,000 children in the public schools of the country. Prof. Hollar's talk was one of the best the Kiwanians have heard in some time. Don H. Conley had charge of the program.

Past President Dick Bundy presided for President J. M. Barrett, who is ill at his home.

Chairman Dick Bundy of the Ladies' Night Banquet Committee, announced that the annual affair will be held at the USO, Third and Greene streets, Thursday night, October 11, at 7 o'clock.

Carl McKinney, Dr. S. M. Crisp and Prof. Paul A. Toll of ECTC faculty had birthdays and they donated a nickel for each year of their ages for the underprivileged child fund. Wyatt Highsmith won the attendance prize given by Charley Blair. Invited guests of the club were B. L. Goodman, Carl Winders and H. C. Spencer.

Jaycees Enjoy Supper Meeting

By CHESTER WALSH
Last night was "fellowship night" at the Junior Chamber of Commerce supper meeting at the Old Towne Inn, with Vice-president Charley Marston presiding for President Belle Lamm, who is ill at the hospital. The meeting was informal, the members evolving the session into a round-table discussion of community problems and projects, including the county-city airport on the north side of the river, which will shortly be turned back to the county and city by the Navy Department, who leased it and improved it for the Marine Corps for the duration of the war.

Incidentally, it was the Junior Chamber of Commerce who started the movement for an airport here five or six years ago. When the airfield is available for civilian use this community will have a field with three 3,000-foot paved runways, with adequate parking aprons, modern surface and sewerage drainage, water and lights, etc. The Greenville airfield is nearer the heart of the city than any in the State. It is close to a railroad and a paved highway and only a few minutes' walk from the postoffice. The Jaycees nursed the airport project all along and now are discussing plans for securing adequate transport and mail service, a member of the chamber said.

Frank M. Wooten presented Lt. Howard Sugg, a son of former Mayor Bruce Sugg. He discussed life in the army and gave some interesting information. Lt. Tom Wilson, veteran Jaycee, who was recently released from the Army Air Corps, was given a warm reception. Plans were discussed for the Jaycees' "ladies' night banquet," scheduled to be held at the Rotary building on Wednesday night, October 3, at 8 o'clock, if President Belle Lamm, who is ill, is able to attend, it was stated.

The first automobile show was held in 1900 in the United States. The first Europeans to see Burma were the Portuguese.

You never cuddle up to a boiler that's running a high temperature!

The best treatment for any boiler, and incidentally for yourself, is to buy Residence Boiler Insurance.

$15,000 protection costs only $12.00 for the average residence

It pays for loss by Explosion, Cracking, Burning, or Bulging of boilers and other vessels; for extra cost to expedite repairs; for damage to your property and the property of others resulting from boiler accidents. Periodic inspection provided with the policy often increases operating efficiency and avoids tragic and costly accidents by correcting unsafe conditions.

Keep your boiler "normal" and your mind at ease. Send for folder "Why Worry About Boiler Accidents" or call this agency for further information.

Baseball PITT COUNTY HOLDS RALLY

Will Support Agricultural Foundation To Improve Farming

(By The Associated Press)

Ossie Bluege and Washington's 28 ball players are about the only folks convinced the Senators are still in the pennant race.

Staggering toward Philadelphia to wind up their season with three games against the Athletics, the Nats are 1-2 games behind idle Detroit which has six to play.

Neither contender has won a game since Tuesday and there have been no certain indications they are planning to snap out of it.

If the Tigers should drop all six and the Senators blow three, the St. Louis Browns could sneak right in the back door. But Luke Sewell's gang would have to uncork an eight-game winning streak, something they haven't been able to do all season, and grab all their scheduled tilts, including four with Detroit.

Washington disappointed their well wishers in dropping both games of their bob-tailed series in New York, losing yesterday 5-3. Zuber helped them along with six walks and a wild pitch but the Nats just couldn't do it although they rallied to tie at 3-all in the first half of the third inning.

George Stinweis hoisted a short homer just inside the foul line around the 295-foot mark to break the deadlock and Elton drove home the other score in the seventh. The veteran knuckleball artist proved an unhappy starting choice and was yanked for a pinchhitter after yielding three runs in the first frame on two walks and Elton's clout.

Trotter now is three games ahead of the import losing side of the ledger although each has 85 victories.

Loss of third baseman Harland Clifton for the rest of the year is another discouraging factor to the Senators. Clift was hit by a ball thrown by Wally Holbrook in pre-game batting practice and suffered a concussion.

All other clubs in the American were idle yesterday and only a two-night doubleheader in Philadelphia was listed in the National. The Dodgers lengthened their third place margin over idle Pittsburgh to two full games by grabbing both ends from the cellarists, 1-0 and 11-5, behind Ralph Branca and Les Webber.

Chicago's leading Bruins are at home to Pittsburgh, on today and tomorrow, and the St. Louis Cardinals, two games back, entertain the pesky Cincinnati Reds in single tilts tonight and tomorrow. If the Red Birds fail to make the grade they can blame Cincinnati which has taken them nine times in 17 meetings.

Others on the program were R. D. Beam, director of the Agricultural Foundation at State College; J. G. Vann, business manager; and H. W. (Pop) Taylor, alumni secretary.

In the course of the talks it was pointed out that Pitt is the greatest agriculture producing county in North Carolina and one of the leading 25 counties of the United States.

Pitt Countians who spoke in favor of the Agricultural Foundation were Bruce Sugg, president of the State Bank and Trust Co.; G. H. Pittman, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, who pledged 100 per cent cooperation; J. Con Lanier, prominent farmer; State Senator Arthur B. Corey, State Representative Sam O. Worthington, and J. E. Winslow, president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, who said the people of Pitt County will stand squarely behind the Foundation, and Arthur Tripp.

Pitt County will support the Agricultural Foundation for State College 100 per cent, a hundred farmers, businessmen and bankers pledged at a meeting at the Olde Towne Inn last night.

W. H. Woolard, president of the Guaranty Banking and Trust Company and Pitt County chairman for the Foundation, was toastmaster at the banquet. He explained that the Foundation, a non-profit corporation, was organized nearly two years ago, by philanthropic and patriotic citizens of the State for the purpose of improving agriculture in North Carolina and producing larger yields of better quality crops on less acreage.

E. V. Floyd, director of the Plant Food Institute of Virginia and North Carolina, substituting for Thomas J. Pearsall of Rocky Mount, president of the Foundation, said the objective of the Foundation is to provide funds to supplement salaries of scientists and research specialists at State College and the experimental stations in their work to improve agriculture in the State. Floyd paid tribute to Chairman Woolard for assembling such a representative group of men at the meeting.

County Agent Floyd, who followed with an earnest appeal for support of the Foundation and a more expanded agricultural research program. Some of the statistics he quoted are worthy of a special story.

Dr. M. T. Fritzsche, president of the Pitt County Farm Bureau, spoke enthusiastically of the Foundation's objectives and classified it as one of the greatest forward steps in agricultural improvement in the State.

Col. J. W. Harrelson, chancellor of State College, stressed the need of extensive scientific research work at State College. He pointed out that some great men are at work there, but that whenever a man does an outstanding job colleges in other states offer him more salary and take him away. He said the purpose of the Agricultural Foundation is to supply the money to supplement salaries of these scientists and keep them here for the benefit of our own farmers. The ultimate aim, he said, is to produce more valuable crops on less acreage.

L. D. Beaver, dean of agriculture at State College, gave some strikingly interesting facts. He reviewed the college's problem of keeping its research scientists after they accomplish something unusual, pointing out that other colleges offer them higher salaries. He favored the Foundation and said with its aid State College can keep, train and secure the services of the best men in the business. He said the research program will increase the production of corn from 21 to 40 bushels to the acre.

The starting lineup for the locals was: Ends, Turner and Ward; tackles, Whitehurst and Lawrence; guards, Flye and Clark; center, Williams. In the backfield, tailback Billy Harrington; fullback, Batchelor; blocking back, Whichard, and wingback, Morgan.

The G-Men weakened by the loss of four lettermen, played a valorous game against the bears and although the patched up local line was outweighed considerably, they held their own against the strong New Bern forward wall.

The Phantoms kicked to the Bears to start the game. Harrison received the kick and ran up to the midfield stripe. For the first several plays the visitors could make no headway through the line. However, when the first quarter was nearly half over an off tackle run by the New Bern tailback from about the 35 yard line was successful. The try for the extra point was no good, making the score stand 6-0.

Not to be outdone by the stalwart bears, the locals got down to quick business. Opening up an aerial attack, Harrington doing the pitching and Batchelor receiving, Greenville threatened. On a pass through the center, Batchelor's attempted plunge for the conversion was no good.

The Bears seemingly were held well in check during the second period and they never really threatened seriously. Jack Whichard, G-Man blocking back, received an injured nose during the early part of the first period and was removed from the game. Whether this incident inspired the locals or not it is not known but now that they had tied the score they were hankering for touchdown No. 2. In successive line plays the G-Men drove down to New Bern's five, where Billy Harrington, in a run over guard, crashed over for the locals to put them ahead 12-6. Again the extra point was not good.

The second half reserve power began to show. The big New Bernians as expected, came back fighting mad.

The third quarter was a see-saw battle until Clint Harrison of New Bern broke loose. On an electrifying run and scored the Bears second touchdown, 12-12. An attempted kick by Mercer was no good, making the ball game 12-12, with a little over one and a fourth quarter to go. There was no more scoring during this period.

The fourth quarter was the payoff time. Tired but still hustling, the G-Men battled on.

As the clock showed approximately five minutes to go, the Bears began to show their true colors. The Foundation is purely voluntary. gan a terrific ground offensive. They bulled their way down to the Phantom goal line. With two minutes to go, a New Bern back plunged over to put them ahead, 18-12. A pass for the extra point was completed but the officials ruled the receiver was outside of the end zone. The game ended shortly after this score, thus giving the New Bernians an 18-12 victory.
