TRUMAN SAYS ISOLATIONISM ROAD TO RUIN

President Gives Hint Of Plans For American Participation In Remaking World Order; Says Allies Approved MacArthur And Occupation Policy For Japan

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—President Truman declared today that any swing to isolationism in the United States would put this country on the road to ruin.

Then, with machine gun rapidity, he replied to a variety of questions which further revealed some of his plans for American participation in remaking the world order.

The disposition of Japan's fleet will be decided by an Allied Reparations Committee just as in the case of German naval force.

This would open the way for both Britain and Russia to claim a share as they did at the Berlin Big Three meeting.

In his forthcoming message to Congress on the atomic bomb he will say whether he believes the secrets of the bomb should be divulged to other nations.

The present organization of Japanese occupation under General MacArthur was agreed upon by all the governments interested—evidently meaning Russia, Britain and China.

Mr. Truman said he has received no proposal for creating an Allied Council on Japan.

He has no knowledge of any plans for another "Big Three" meeting.

In the President's opinion there is no evidence that the Big Five Council of Foreign Ministers in London has "failed"—the word a newsman used in asking the question.

Let's wait until we see what are the real results of the meeting before we call it a failure, the President said, and not make a decision on surmises.

The comment on isolationism came in a response to a question as to whether Mr. Truman thought the United States was in a more isolationist mood.

He was told that Columnist David Lawrence had suggested such a trend in an article published in the Washington Star last night.

Mr. Truman said he did not agree. If we ever get to that point, he said, we're on the road to ruin just as in 1920.

A swing into isolationism following the first World War has been blamed for United States failure to participate actively in world organization efforts.

There were many questions on the subject of Japan.

The President told his news conference that he knew nothing officially concerning reports that the Russians were seeking creation of an Allied Control Commission in which they would participate.

In London, Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov is reported to have criticized U. S. policy in Japan very sharply, complaining it was too soft, and to have asked establishment of such an Allied council.

Mr. Truman said any criticism of occupation policy could be continued on page four.

JAPS KILLED THREE FLIERS

Government Confirms Execution Of Doolittle's Men

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Three of the fliers who participated in Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle's raid on Tokyo in 1942 were executed by the Japanese, the War Department disclosed today.

This was the first confirmation that the three had been put to death by their captors although the late President Roosevelt announced in April, 1943, "with the feeling of deepest horror," that some of the raiders had been executed.

The War Department, on the basis of reports from the China theater, identified the three as:

1. William G. Farrow, Lakewood, Ohio.

2. Dean Hallmark, Dallas, Texas.

3. Staff Sergeant Harold Spatz, Lebo, Kansas.

The executions took place on October 15, 1942, at Kiangwan, China, the report to the department said.

The bodies were said to have been cremated and the ashes turned over to the International Red Cross.

The Japanese accused the fliers of strafing school children.

Eight of the Doolittle fliers, who made their historic flight from the carrier Hornet, originally were tried and condemned to death but sentences of five were commuted.

One of the eight, Lt. Robert J. Meder of Lakewood, O., died in a prison camp at Nanking, China, in December, 1943, after a 70-day illness.

Food Shortages And Other Economic Problems Still Unsolved

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER AP Diplomatic News Editor Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—It looks like trouble ahead in Germany.

Disagreements in Allied policy plus lack of supplies among the German people are blamed by diplomatic officials here.

Two possible results are foreseen: 1. Politically, Germany is believed to be moving toward a split down the middle. Under such a split the eastern part of the country now occupied by Russia would come under Russian influence as a unit of Soviet dominated Eastern Europe.

The western zones would come under Anglo-American influence.

2. Economically, conditions are so disordered that some authorities here believe the United States may be asked to appropriate money to send food to Germany this winter.

The whole German situation, involving both the conduct of affairs in the American occupied zone and relationships among the four Allied zones, recently has been obscured by concern over Japanese occupation policy.

Some officials are beginning to wonder whether conditions that might lead up to another world war already are becoming faintly evident there.

Here are some of the main points stressed by these people:

In the American zone efforts to remove Nazis from even minor positions of influence or public trust have been only partially effective.

The emphasis has been mostly on maintaining order, less on bringing about sweeping political changes.

American zone policy began under an occupation order preliminary to the Big Three meeting in Berlin in August. Unlike the policy instructions given Gen. Douglas MacArthur, however, the German order has not been made public.

A national educational policy was laid down for officials in the (Continued on page four)

NEW DISPUTES ARISE BEFORE BIG FIVE MEET

Russians Take Issue Over Wording Of French Communique; Allied Control Council For Japan Suggested; German Peace Issues Delayed By Arguments

London, Sept. 26.—(AP)—A fresh dispute disrupted talks of the foreign ministers of five leading Allied nations today, this one between Soviet and French representatives over wording of a communique last night.

Consequently, the scheduled discussion of German peace problems was postponed.

A disclosure that the United States was preparing to recognize Hungary had relieved tension earlier.

The controversial communique said the foreign ministers had discussed "preparation of French nationals in Soviet hands."

Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov of Russia was reported to have complained that the wording created the impression that the Russians had captured French nationals illegally.

He was understood to have demanded an official correction. France refused to agree, whereupon Molotov was reported to have said he would make a statement of his own on the subject.

This might be delivered here or in Moscow, the peace formula. It is understood that Dulles will seek a more precise definition of U. S. foreign policy.

The conference is expected to end tomorrow or Friday, at the latest. Planes were waiting to carry home Secretary of State Byrnes and Russian (Continued on page four)

MacArthur's Latest Order Strips Jap Army And Navy Of All Equipment And Directs That Food Supplies Be Turned Over To Civilian Population

By RUSSELL BRINES Tokyo, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Unconfirmed Japanese reports tonight said that Emperor Hirohito will meet General MacArthur tomorrow, presumably at the U. S. Embassy, which is the supreme Allied commander's residence.

Well informed sources earlier had said such a meeting—unprecedented in modern Japan—was being arranged but had cited no date.

Official army sources remained silent but MacArthur's public relations office announced that correspondents would meet at 9 a. m. tomorrow (8 p. m. tonight EWT) for instructions on covering a forthcoming event.

General MacArthur today stripped Japan's army and navy of all equipment, directing that their stocks of food and clothing be turned over to the famine threatened civilian population under a strict accounting.

A member of Japan's house of peers, meanwhile, proposed in an interview that Emperor Hirohito withdraw from all political affairs, in order to eliminate "the clique around the throne," and thus make democracy possible.

If the emperor withdrew to the background as a spiritual adviser and avoided political matters, Marquis Yoshichika Tokugawa asserted, there would be no political clique surrounding him.

Reorganization of the Japanese agency through which occupation headquarters works its will upon the conquered nation also began today, to shake off clinging domination by Japanese foreign office personnel.

Occupation forces will be bolstered soon by Chinese troops, said a Chinese government spokesman in Chungking today. He did not report their numbers or expected date of arrival.

The Japanese central liaison office through which MacArthur's commands supposedly are effectuated, is being broadened to include representatives of all fields of government, Japanese government sources said.

The office previously has had slight changes to make, however, since the Japanese Foreign Office had been doing out MacArthur's requests to appropriate Japanese governmental departments for action.

The Japanese Privy Council approved the reorganization at a special session in the presence of Emperor Hirohito yesterday. The battle for reorganization was one factor which forced the resignation of Mamoru Shigemitsu, the foreign minister who signed the surrender document for Japan. Shigemitsu had in his position current bureaucrats in the liaison office.

Government sources said the organization will be headed by a president of ministerial rank.

It was announced today that the (Continued on page four)

The WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Prayed nerves and shortened diplomatic tempers have been comprising much of the recent product of the Big Five Council of Foreign Ministers, meeting in London, to straighten Europe's chaotic affairs, but out there has been a highly important by-product.

We are learning very rapidly who is who in Europe—that is, what the great powers' new spheres of influence are. Yesterday's explosive meeting of the council (things were reported more tranquil today) gave us the best view we've had this far, and it was pretty conclusive.

Of course, as this council previously has commented, Russia is the new comer in the field of power politics, and so Moscow's ambitions have been the unknown quantity. Britain's interests—many of them of long standing—have been apparent, but Marshal Stalin has played his cards close to the chest and has had the world guessing.

The foreign ministers' meeting, however, has been a lot of gravel has hit pay-dirt finally.

An authority who attended yesterday's block-buster session said Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov had refused any plan which would give the western powers the right to take an active hand in the Balkans. In short, the Balkans are Russia's preserve—no trespassing allowed.

This confirmed a trend which long has been clear, and we now can draw a fairly conclusive map of zones of influence.

Lower Grade Meats To Be Ration-Free

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The government is expected to announce tomorrow that hamburger, sausage and lunch meats made from lower grades of beef will be reduced to zero ration values Sept. 30.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson disclosed last week that the three lowest grades of beef—canner, cutter, and utility—would be put on a zero ration value for the October rationing period.

Non-Suiting Many Old Civil Cases

At the civil term of Superior Court here this week 75 or 80 cases that have been on the docket for a long time will be non-suited. Many of the cases have been on the books so long the principals have forgotten about them.

Thompson of Elizabeth City, who is presiding here, and court officials are cooperating in eliminating those cases in which the plaintiffs showed no inclination to prosecute. Several divorces were granted on the grounds of two years' separation.

Incidentally, house-cleaning is going on at the office of Superior Court Clerk David T. House. The walls are being painted and the advertising matter littering the walls is being removed. The filing system is being overhauled and numerous other improvements are being made.

Today In Congress

By Max Hall

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The long-awaited event came to pass today: Congress set out to reduce your taxes.

The House Ways and Means committee met for the first time in 16 years to reduce—not boost—taxes.

Congress hopes to whip through a measure that will reduce income taxes in 1946 on individuals and corporations.

This also happened: 1. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee recommended that (one Senate and House—through a joint committee—study control and use of atomic energy.

2. William D. Mitchell—he was attorney general under President Hoover—was chosen unanimously as chief counsel for the joint congressional committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

3. Earl Browder, former head of the Communist party in this country, told the house committee investigating un-American activities that he did not know of American Communists having any "contacts outside the United States" between November 1940 and July 1945, when he was replaced as party chief by William Z. Foster.

Browder added: "I am at present unemployed."

Military matters gripped congress today: 1. A report sprang up in Washington on good authority—that President Truman favors sharing the atomic bomb with other countries under certain conditions. He may recommend this to congress.

2. An energetic effort was made in the senate to raise the pay of soldiers and sailors in order to attract volunteers and stop the draft.

3. An admiral told a house committee the navy has no present intention of ending its point discharge system, as the army may do this winter. But he said the navy may cut the number of points needed for

Nationwide Strike Oilmen Authorized

Approximately 650,000 Persons Off Jobs Today As Result Labor Disputes

Chicago, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The Oil workers' International Union, CIO, today authorized a nationwide strike if the present government sponsored Conciliation Conference fails.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach told the conferees at its opening yesterday that it "must not be permitted to fail."

Harry O'Connor, union public relations director, told reporters the announcement that a national strike had been authorized—an announcement read to the conciliators and to reporters—"meant a strike."

Minutes later O. A. Knight, Fort Worth, Tex., Union International president, burst into the lobby and told reporters and his own colleagues that "this doesn't mean a strike has been called—it means a strike has been authorized if this conference fails."

Immediate effect of the union's spectacular announcement on the conference, regarded in Washington as testing administration postwar labor policies, could not be determined.

Justice William L. Knous of the Colorado Supreme Court, presiding, hurriedly talked with Knight and other union officials in the Court lobby, then went into another closed session with industry representatives only.

Knight refused to tell reporters his union membership, saying "we have enough to do the job," but O'Connor said a complete walkout by this union would affect 250,000 workers in the industry.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS An off-the-job army of nearly 650,000 camped along the nation's postwar labor front today.

Postwar labor disputes were dir (Continued on page four)

TROUBLE IN INDO-CHINA

Kidnaping, Killings And Arson At Saigon

By VERN HAUGLAND Saigon, Indo-China, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Uncontrollable Annamites (natives) who kidnaped 41 Europeans and possibly killed 10 yesterday, burned down their market place last night. The spectacular fire, a few blocks from the city center, raged uncontrolled through Saigon's largest market place—a colorful collection of booths and sheds.

French who gathered in excited clusters on Main street and watched the flames and charged that Annamites stole Saigon's fire engines three days ago now were engaged in carrying out their threat to burn the city to the ground.

Annamites formerly composed a fire brigade which they now had (Continued on page six)

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—You and the public debt. Any connection? Sure.

Congress soon starts to whittle down taxes for 1946. The size of the cut you get will be tied right in with the public debt.

The debt's so big Congress can't chop too much off next year's taxes. The government needs a lot of revenue to pay off the debt, or part of it.

It won't be able to pay off the full debt for many years to come, if ever.

It can't even start to decrease its debt until its revenue exceeds its expenses. And that won't happen next year.

This is an explanation of the debt. How it works, how to get that way.

When the government's expenses are greater than its income—its income is mainly from taxes—it has to borrow money.

It borrows by selling bonds—War Bonds are an example—to you and to banks and institutions. It has to pay interest on those bonds until it's time for the bonds to be cashed. Then it has to pay the full amount of the bonds.

It may have to sell new bonds to borrow more money to pay off on the old bonds.

Between 1914, before we got into World War I, and 1940, the public debt rose from less than 1 billion dollars to 40 billion.

In those years it rose because we had the expense of World War I and the expense of creating jobs—paid at government expense—in the

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR, September 26, 1905

Pitt County Public Schools
The scholars of the county are soon to begin another year's work. It may not be out of place to review briefly what has been accomplished during the past two years.

Two years ago the board of education realized that the time had come to put a man in charge of the schools, giving all of his time to them. The progress made during these two years has shown the wisdom of their action. At this time there was not a public school in the county employing more than one teacher neither was there a single local tax district. Now there is a school in Greenville employing a competent superintendent with seven additional teachers; at Bethel, five teachers; at Ayden, five teachers; Farmville, four teachers; at Grifton, four; at Centerville, two teachers and at Ballard's Cross Roads, two teachers.

To Represent College
Miss Margaret Person, president of the Home Economics club at East Carolina Teachers College, left today for Batlinburg, Tennessee, where she will attend the regional conference for College Home Economics Clubs on September 28 and 29. Colleges from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Virginia will be represented. Miss Person, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Person of Louisville, will represent East Carolina Teachers College at the conference. She will assist in making plans and working out programs for the improvement of home economics clubs in southern colleges.

President of the Home Economics Club for 1945-1946, Miss Person has taken a leading part in college activities since she entered East Carolina Teachers College. She served as chief marshal last year and vice president of the Junior class.

DO DEWDROPS DROP?

YES NO

Ye poet sings of "falling dew." He means warm air kissing cooler grass and flowers—leaving moisture. It didn't drop from heaven. Same process causes frost . . . and another cold-weather truth is this: a Winter change now to Conoco Nth motor oil will fortify your precious car's engine with internal OIL-PLATING.

OIL-PLATING is closely bonded to working parts by the magnet-like action of Conoco Nth oil's added ingredient. OIL-PLATING resists draining down to the crankcase at every stop! The auxiliary was glad to have Mrs. Harry Calvert and Mrs. George Clark, Sr., as its guests.

The membership drive was started. Mrs. W. J. Bundy, who is chairman, appointed four teams and they are working enthusiastically to get all the old memberships renewed and as many new ones as possible before a conference date which is October 19.

Misses Mary Ann Harris and Ella Frances Viola gave interesting reports on Girls State, a school of government, sponsored by the auxiliary each year at Greensboro. These two young ladies were selected to attend because of their outstanding ability as leaders.

Mrs. Arthur Corey gave a report on the state convention which met in Raleigh this year.

New Year books were distributed and the president, Mrs. Worsley, appointed new committees to help carry on the full program which has been mapped out for the auxiliary this year.

After the business meeting members and guests were invited into the dining room for refreshments. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a beautiful arrangement of yellow crochets and purple lilacs.

Mrs. Sudele Core poured coffee and Mesdames George Spearman, John Collins Jr., Frank Taylor, J. J. Worsley, and Arthur Corey served salted nuts, sandwiches and cookies.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE WAY IS CLEAR

People who are of a skeptical turn of mind do a great deal of complaining about the difficulty of understanding Scripture. They say that there is very little in religion one can be sure about.

It is true that there are many things in the Bible hard to understand. But as the great Englishman William Wilberforce said many decades ago, "Let it also be remembered that in Scripture some things are difficult, that which we are most concerned to know is plain and obvious." While nobody has seen God, we nevertheless see in the world round about us continuous evidence of design. This created universe could not just have happened by accident. An intelligent power made it, and an intelligent power now sustains it.

The teachings of Jesus are difficult to put into operation but not difficult to understand. Love, fair dealing, goodness, and faith can be understood even by the humble and illiterate. Furthermore, God has not left us in the dark as to the destiny He has in store for us. The Christian gospel is the proclamation of His intentions with reference to man, and they are beneficent intentions.

If we want to pick out things here and there in the Christian religion which are hard to understand, we find plenty of such, but we have no excuse for our neglect of the religious life on the plea that we do not understand it. The pathway is plain before our feet. What we need to do is to get along. All Rights Reserved - Babson Newspaper Syndicate Airport Fire Wichita, Kan., Sept. 26 (AP) - Fire, punctuated by numerous explosions, destroyed the hangar and 40 airplanes at Municipal Airport early today. Fire department officials estimated the loss would be approximately $500,000. Cause of the fire was not learned.

Japs Killed . . . (Continued From Page One) Four others were liberated from the Japanese in China. The returning captives said they were captured after making forced landings during the raid on April 18, 1942.

They were taken to Tokyo and then to Shanghai where they were placed on trial before a Japanese court.

On October 15, 1942 five of them were ordered out of their cells and marched to the heavily guarded court room.

Farrow, Hallmark and Sgt. Spatz did not appear although the judge read out their names. Their comrades never saw them again.

No Reduction . . .

(Continued From Page One) order was issued in May, 1943. The low priced garment relaxations were in the so-called maximum average price regulation vigorously opposed by the industry since it was issued early this year. This opposition has brought an easing of the order for both fabric and garment producers.

Originally the regulation required these manufacturers to return to their average price lines of 1943, which were lower than those of this year. This meant that if a producer had discontinued low priced garments or materials he made two years ago, he would have to resume such production to be in compliance with the regulation.

This provision covered some 400 kinds of men's, women's and children's apparel made of cotton, wool and rayon.

Under the revised order manufacturers can turn to from five to 20 per cent higher average price lines than in 1943. About half of the increases are 10 per cent. Most of the rest are less. OPA stressed that this will not mean any increase in retail ceilings for garments. It means rather that a housewife, for example, will have to spend a little more for a dress because a cheaper one is not available.

OPA gave two reasons for relaxing the garment order. It said:

1. An acute shortage of lower-priced materials had made it impossible for manufacturers to obtain fabrics for the kind of inexpensive garments they produced two years ago. 2. A study of information submitted by manufacturers had shown the difference between 1943 and 1945 average prices to be much greater than expected."

Germany May . . .

(Continued from page one) American zone many weeks ago, after being worked out by educators advising the State Department. But it too has not been made public, and no one seems to know whether any progress has been made in putting it into effect.

As for the Russian zone, nobody outside it has any exact knowledge about what is going on. The President expressed impression of American officials is that the Russians have stripped their territory, particularly the Berlin area, of virtually all useful industrial machinery.

They say the indications are that Russia has gone beyond the limit of the Potsdam Big Three declaration. This called for removal of machinery down to the minimum required for essential peacetime existence.

Furthermore, officials here expect little or no help from the German eastern area in feeding people of western Germany. They say the Russians declined to furnish any food for British and American zones in Berlin.

The Potsdam declaration was supposed to provide for handling Germany as an economic unit. Machinery taken from the Allied western zones was to be exchanged for food taken from the surplus food areas of eastern Germany. There is no evidence, however, that anything has been done about this.

Truman Says . . .

(Continued From Page One) municated to him direct. The President reminded that American officials had said that when the Allied countries were not in agreement on occupation policy for Japan that the U. S. view would prevail.

He was asked if machinery has been provided in the control setup whereby other countries could protest occupation policies. The appointment of General MacArthur as Allied commander-in-chief, the President replied, was concurred in by the Allies.

A reporter wanted to know whether the Russians have an opportunity to express their views. Yes, the President asserted, they have a representative with MacArthur. Or, he added, they can convey their views to him.

The President, under rigorous questioning on foreign affairs, said he knew of no plans for another meeting of the Big Three. At the same time he expressed some impatience with published reports that the meeting of the Foreign Ministers Council in London was a failure.

All the report, he said, are pure surmise. He suggested critics wait until the foreign ministers report to see if the meeting is a failure or not. He said he had no comment on his own on the progress of the London parley and that his best guess is that Secretary of State Byrnes will return in about 10 days.

The President said that he knew of no plans of General MacArthur to return to this country, and that he knew of no reason to ask him to return at this time. He had been asked about recurring reports MacArthur might be recalled to make a report on occupation policy.

New Disputes . . .

(Continued From Page One) sian Foreign Commissioner, V. M. Molotov. American officials said they were going ahead of the British in their attitude toward Hungary. Informants at the British foreign office said the British view remained the same: that the Hungarian government is unrepresentative. The regime was established under Soviet sponsorship after the Red Army overran the kingdom. Both the United States and Britain are known to be disturbed by the Russian-Hungarian economic treaty which gives Moscow control over at least half of Hungary's economy. The American attitude as outlined here, however, is that the present Hungarian government is acceptable provided it pledges free elections.

Members of several delegations who earlier had commented on the growing tension at the conference could not explain fully the new friendliness, but it was pointed out that the discussions had veered away from the knotty question of Russian insistence on participation in Mediterranean control and American-British demands for a voice in Balkan affairs.

Meanwhile, there has been considerable discussion of the policy of the United States in the Pacific, despite Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' insistence that he came to London prepared only to discuss European questions. Tentative plans for a December meeting in Washington of an Allied control commission for Japan have been placed before the council by the British. It was reported reliably, reviving a plan under pressure from the dominions, particularly Australia.

Russian approval of such a plan was expected, although Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov apparently would prefer to tackle the problem immediately. He is reported to have criticized U. S. policy in Japan sharply, complaining it was too soft, and asking establishment of such an Allied council.

Despite an official Paris prediction last night that the council would wind up its conference today, turning over unresolved questions to deputies, it seemed likely that two or three more sessions must be held. Before a November meeting is set it is likely the ministers will have to thresh out the question of Russia's demand that future eastern European discussions be restricted to the Big Three powers.

The French were reported to have asked repatriation of Alsace and Lorraine citizens captured by the Russians after having been impressed into German military service. The Russians were said to have promised to weigh each case individually.

France's proposals for internationalization of the Rhineland and the Ruhr's heavy industry were believed to be high on the remaining agenda.

The first outfit from the European theater to arrive for occupational duty in Japan began landings today in the Yokohama area. It is the 97th Infantry Division which was on front line combat in Germany's Ruhr district.

The 97th is replacing the veteran 43rd Division, which will leave for the United States soon.

The organization will be divided into six departments, covering financial, home affairs and other fields, all required to meet the demands of MacArthur.

Previously much of the work was done by the Foreign Office which doled out requests to appropriate departments.

It also was disclosed that yesterday that General MacArthur and Jacob Malik, former Soviet ambassador to Japan, conferred prior to Malik's scheduled departure by airplane for Moscow.

Both MacArthur and Malik were silent on the conversations. Participants included Lt. Gen. Kuzma Nikolaevich Derevyanko, who signed the Japanese surrender document for Russia.

1945... TO THE SOUTH

After the Civil War, the tide of progress flowed westward. After World War II, the land of opportunity lies south of the Potomac. The South, today, represents a situation unique in American history... an old established civilization offering the limitless possibilities of a new frontier. In the South dwell 35,000,000 persons... one-fourth of the Nation's "human wealth"... yet there is space for millions more. The South offers climate ranging from temperate to semi-tropical. Whatever grows anywhere in America will grow somewhere in the South. Today, the South produces crops as varied as cotton and tung oil—yet it has but scratched the surface of its tremendous agricultural potentialities. Huge war industries in the South have trained thousands of skilled workers now ready for peacetime pursuits. Decentralization of industry, started before the war, will continue to favor the South—the ideal home for small manufacturing plants. Truly, the tide of progress moves to the South—bringing increased population, larger payrolls, new opportunities for everybody. Southern Dairies is proud of its share in contributing to the growth and progress of the South. We offer our fullest co-operation to the farmers, the business men, the bankers, who are working and planning for the South of Tomorrow.

HEROES ON THE ROAD TO VICTORY—

An American tank on Okinawa, commanded by Lt. Gregory Powers, knocked out six Japanese tanks with only twelve shells. Powers blew up three of the enemy tanks before they could fire at him.

It would have been too bad if Lt. Powers had run out of shells! It's our job to see that our men are kept supplied with what they need to do our fighting for us. When a veteran makes a Guaranteed Loan under the "G. I. Bill of Rights" he is protected against paying too much for his home or locating in a neighborhood where values are unstable. Let us explain the many attractive features of this home loan plan.

An Announcement

I Plan To Erect A Modern Freezer Locker Plant

in Greenville in the very near future. Before construction can begin, 60 per cent of the lockers must be rented. Locker rentals are at the rate of $15.00 per year per locker. Advance locker reservations are being received now, and the $15.00 per locker deposit will be held by the State Bank and Trust Company in Greenville in escrow until the plant is in operation. Locker deposits will be returned by the State Bank if the plant is not built as planned within a reasonable time.

While I am getting my discharge from the army it will be impossible for me personally to take your application, so I have arranged with the citizens listed here to receive your locker applications:

State Bank and Trust Company, Greenville; Chamber of Commerce, Greenville; Merchants Association, Greenville; W. C. Spencer, Black Jack; Miss Helen Brooks, Red Banks; Miss Annie Carroll, Cox's Mill; Owen H. Lemmon, Route 1, Greenville; Cecil Satterthwaite, Pactolus; Mrs. J. Brantley Speight, Winterville, RFD.

Construction of this plant will begin as soon as enough lockers are rented to show that the people of Greenville trade area want this service.

Place your locker applications now, with any of the above named persons.

NEW SHELL GASOLINE

"TAKE IT FROM ME— IT'S THE NEXT BEST THING TO A NEW CAR"

Many times during the last few years Shell said that "the wartime achievements of Shell scientists will 'carry over' to your motoring"... We promised that Shell Research would be "translated into finer fuels and lubricants for your family car."

And now Shell keeps that promise! Now you can fill your tank with the best gasoline Shell has ever made for your car. There are two grades, Shell and Shell Premium. Look to Shell for the same leadership on the highways which Shell established on the world's skyways seven years before the war!

PHANTOMS TO PLAY FRIDAY

Will Meet Elizabeth City At Guy Smith Stadium Here

By MAC BATCHELOR
 The Greenville High School Phantoms open their third home clash Friday night by meeting the Yellow Jackets from Elizabeth City. A hard fought battle is expected at the Guy Smith Stadium Friday night at eight o'clock and the Greenies will need all the support possible.
 The Phantoms working under their new coach, Bo Farley, and his able assistant Snag Clark have made much progress so far this week and with the casualty list greatly lowered, the Phantoms should be in full force Friday night. Elizabeth City has always had a powerful and tricky eleven and were able to take the Green Wave last year by a 7-6 decision in the first game, but the Clarkmen came back to take the second 13-0. So each team will be out to see who can pull ahead in the series.

 The only information known about the Yellow Jackets is that they lost by a 6-0 score to a South Norfolk High team of unknown strength.

Trouble In . . .

 abandoned, leaving the city without firemen.
 Two platoons of British troops driving across the northern part of the city Tuesday afternoon rescued 31 of the 40 French men kidnaped by Annamites, a British spokesman announced.
 The British said nine were missing and probably slain.
 They said first reports did not make it clear whether women and children were involved, but one French officer said he was positive that some women and children had been kidnaped.
 The British also reported the kidnaping of a British officer, a former prisoner of war. Seized by the Annamites, he still was missing at nightfall.
 Fighting went on into the third consecutive day, and was the most widespread since unrest became riotous on Sept. 2. Annamites took over arms from surrendering Japanese at that time.
 They attacked the French, killing seven.
 Indian guards said that last night's market place fire was clumsily set. They added that they saw Japanese soldiers in the vicinity when the fires flared up.
 The fighting Tuesday occurred in all areas of the city except the center of the French sector.
 Annamites seized the slaughter house in mid-afternoon, leaving the city meatless.
 An estimated four-day supply of fresh foodstuffs was left on Tuesday, but last night's fire may have destroyed much of it. The city's rice stock, however, could last for four months.

Many Activities For New Students
 The annual orientation program for freshmen at East Carolina Teachers College continued through Tuesday and today with a round of activities, including a play program sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, a general assembly, directed by officers of the Student Cooperative Association and the beginning of registration for class work.
 The Women's Athletic Association entertained the freshman class Tuesday at a play period in Wright auditorium. Miss Doris Stevens, president of the association, welcomed the freshmen. Games and folk dancing led by Miss Mary Penny Smith afforded lively entertainment.
 A general assembly of new students was held Tuesday night in Wright auditorium. Miss Mary Cameron Dixon, president of the Student Cooperative Association, presided. She introduced the officers of the chief campus organizations to the students. These included Elsie West, Erma Hinnant, John Charlton and John Johnson, of the student government organizations; Jesse Parker, president of the Men's Athletic Association; Sara McKenzie, president of the YWCA, and officers of departmental clubs and literary societies.
 Miss Annie L. Morton, dean of women, presented her staff to the students and spoke on the relationship of students to the dormitory officers.
 College yells and songs led by Miss Peggy Honneycutt, college cheer leader and her assistants, Miss Carolyn Register and Miss Mattie Brown Hinton, brought the meeting to a close.
 The YWCA entertained at an informal "open house" after the assembly. Refreshments were served. Games and college songs led by Miss Patsy Pridgen made up the program.
 Freshman registration began Wednesday morning in Wright auditorium and continued through the noon hour.
 The program for tonight includes numerous other meetings and entertainments. The women students will meet in Austin auditorium at 7:30 to hear talks by Dean Annie L. Morton, Dr. H. C. Haynes, manager of the college postoffice, and Miss Elizabeth Temple, chief marshal. One of the busiest days of the fall term at ECTC will close with 10 o'clock meetings of students in Wilson and Fleming halls. Miss Ruth White and Miss Sallie Norwood, dormitory counselors, will preside.

Kiwanis Directors Have Supper Meet

The Kiwanis Club directors were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Brooks at their home on Greene street last night. It was a banquet and was elaborately served with pre-war cuisine. It is customary in Kiwanis for a different director to entertain the board at a supper each month when the meetings are held. Ed E. Rawl presided at last night's meeting for Dr. J. M. Barrett, the president, who is ill at the hospital.

Plans were discussed for the annual banquet to be held at the USO on Thursday, October 11. Dick Bundy is chairman of the committee on arrangements. A unique program will be presented: "Scholarship funds to assist worthy high school boys and girls who want to go to college were given much consideration. The Kiwanis Club reported $125 to the city schools to buy milk for underprivileged children. The club also contributed $225 to send a worthy boy to an industrial school in Western Carolina. The directors gave considerable time to discussing important matters to come up at the midwinter Carolinas Kiwanis district meeting in Charlotte in November, including a better way of electing a district governor and lieutenant governors. The Brookses were given a rising vote of thanks for their hospitality.
 Present last night were Vice-President Rawl, Jesse Moye, Dr. S. M. Crisp, J. D. Hice, Arthur Tripp, Dr. H. G. Haney, Dave Moore, Jr., Dick Bundy, Noah G. Raynor, Bill Taft, N. C. Brooks, and Chester Walsh, chairman of the Public Relations Committee.

Shift Control Of Highway Personnel
 Raleigh, Sept. 26—(AP)—The State Highway Commission at its regular meeting here today transferred personnel management in the highway and prison departments from the office of the chief engineer to the office of W. H. Rogers, Jr., assistant to the chairman, A. H. Graham, chairman of the Highway Commission, announced.

President To Speak

Washington, Sept. 26—(AP)—President Truman will address a Navy Day gathering in New York's Central Park October 27. He will make a brief speech the same day at commissioning of the 45,000-ton carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt in the Brooklyn Navy Yard.
 The commission also authorized the employment of a publicity specialist to direct the publication of a weekly bulletin, giving news of the highway and prison departments. For that job, F. O. Carver of Robero was appointed. Carver formerly did publicity for the commission before going to the Navy.
