Oil Workers May Accept Government Compromise Late Today; Telephone Strike Looms

By ASSOCIATED PRESS The government was full steam ahead on the track of conciliation today in efforts to catch up with mounting labor strife across the country. The strike lines expanded in the last 24 hours by fresh labor disputes and a survey disclosed some 43,000 idle, one of the largest numbers in months. New trouble threatened as a strike vote called for Friday will pull 200,000 telephone workers off their jobs for four hours. One of the newest disputes shut down Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corporation's plant at Fort Worth, Tex. Seven hundred AFL machinists struck for a 30 per cent wage increase and other benefits and their picket lines caused cessation of operations, keeping 8,000 away from work. The hottest spots along the troubled labor front were in the coal and oil fields. Labor Department officials, headed by Secretary Schwelienbach, gave the oil controversy full attention. Walkouts in these two key industries affect about 130,000 workers and have seriously curtailed production. A showdown appeared imminent in the oil controversy. In Washington CIO oil workers reportedly were ready to accept a government plan that would end a strike which has closed refineries and plants in 15 states and put about 40,000 workers on the strike lines. A decision was due late today (4 p. m. EST) from the Oil Workers' Union's executive board and operators on the government's peace proposal. The plan calls for arbitration of the union's demands for 30 per cent wage rate increase and temporary 15 per cent pay boost. Secretary Schwelienbach yesterday granted a 24-hour extension of the deadline for their reply to his plan. It rejected it would mean seizure of the refineries, some of which have been closed since September 16. The spreading soft coal strike in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky, keeping idle some 90,000 miners, brought an embargo on most shipments. The Solid Fuels Administration banned producers in the struck areas from making non-essential shipments. The Independent National Federation of Telephone Workers called 200,000 telephone operators, including long distance and local workers as well as other employees to leave their jobs from 2 to 6 p. m. (EST) Friday and hold a nationwide strike vote in a demonstration of union strength. Dial telephones will not be affected, but some teletype and broadcast operations will be disrupted during the four-hour shutdown. Other labor disputes, some new, continued to plague scores of industries in many cities. In Chicago and suburbs shutdowns affected 17 plants, involving more than 20,000 workers. In New York City, Fifth Avenue traffic was disrupted as CIO Transport Workers' Union bus drivers refused to work overtime and staged a slowdown which reportedly spread to bus mechanics (Continued on Page Six)

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Post offices for 105 North Carolina towns and 56 in South Carolina were among the list of 4,200 submitted to Congress yesterday as part of a $193,000,000 program. Commissioner of Public Buildings W. Englebert Reynolds, who submitted the list, pointed out that the inclusion of a building in the eligible list does not constitute a recommendation for its construction to be expected in the near future. He said that many may not be built for years. North Carolina eligible projects, post office sites and buildings unless otherwise noted, proposed cost limit: $85,000 each—Aberdeen, Andrews, Apex, Ayden, Belhaven, Benson, Bessemer City, Bethel, Black Mountain, Bladenboro, Bryson City, Chadbourn, Cherryville, China Grove, Clayton, Cliffside, Conover, Cramerton, Davidson, Draper, Drexel. Foreign Ministers Meet Ends In Disagreement

Secretary Byrnes Optimistic That Present Difficulties Over Procedure Will Be Solved

London, Oct. 3.—(AP)—U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov brought into the open today a disagreement among the major powers whether a Big Three understanding existed for blanket participation by all five principal powers in European peace settlements. Molotov, outlining to a press conference the Soviet stand on the 23-day conference which broke down last night in a debate over procedure, disclaimed any knowledge of an agreement for blanket participation of all five powers. Earlier Byrnes had said President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee left the Potsdam conference with the understanding that France and China would be permitted a full share in discussions of treaties, but that Marshal Stalin apparently understood the two nations would be barred from such discussions. Byrnes announced that the deputies of the council would continue work here on some aspects of the conference which ended without agreement on any major issue. Molotov admitted the existence of disputes within the council, but expressed hope for future collaboration to insure world peace. With the breakdown of the conference diplomatic sources here predicted that a new meeting of Premier Stalin, President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee would be necessary, but French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault asserted that any meeting of the Big Three powers alone would be "disagreeable to France." Bidault, also addressing a press conference, made it clear France was determined to have an equal voice with Britain, Russia and the United States in drawing up the European peace. Molotov was asked about the reported agreement early in the council conference which would have permitted all the foreign ministers to take part in the peace discussion. "You show it to me," he retorted. "Could there be such an agreement without signatures?" Byrnes, who had not hidden his disappointment at the results of the conference, appeared optimistic that the difficulties would be resolved. He said the deputies would continue studying the work of the five-power council in such matters as were not involved directly in the (Continued on Page Four)

More Restrictions On Japs; Russia Asks Joint Control

Moscow Says Four-Power Control Government For Japan Should Precede Organization Of Far Eastern Consultative Commission

London, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The Moscow radio announced today that Russia has informed the United States that the formation of a four-power control government for Japan should precede organization of a Far-Eastern consultative commission to direct long-range policy toward the defeated Pacific enemy. The Russian view was set forth, the radio said, in a letter handed U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes by Foreign Commissar Molotov in London yesterday. Byrnes announced Sept. 29 that the formation of a consultative commission in which other countries that fought Japan would be given a voice had been agreed to by Britain, Russia and China. Molotov's letter, the broadcast said, reaffirmed Russia's agreement with such a project, but added that, "Ernes' announcement 'does not reflect the present position.'" "Since the creation of the advisory commission had been delayed and since the situation in Japan had undergone changes," the letter said, "the Soviet government on Sept. 24 handed the council of foreign ministers a memorandum containing the proposal for creation of a control council for Japan with its seat in Tokyo and composed of representatives of the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union and China, and under the chairmanship of the representative of the United States. "The Soviet government considers that while the military period existed and the Japanese armed forces were not disbanded, there was a reason for the concentration of all functions for the control of Japan in the Allied commander-in-chief. "However, when the military phase ended, the Allies were faced with tasks chiefly of a political, economic and financial character, and to deal with such questions it is imperative to create an Allied organ which would enable the four Allied powers which played a decisive role in the defeat of Japan to carry out (Continued on Page Five)

Jap Government Warned To Keep Its Hands Off Korea; Rice Rioting And Written Protests Pile Up Trouble For Jap Government As Food Crisis Grows

Tokyo, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur today restricted Japanese overseas financial and business communications to messages he has approved, and warned the Nipponese government to keep its hands off Korea—while threats of famine brought fresh troubles to the Japanese cabinet. (Russia meanwhile has announced to the United States its determination to take a hand in control of Japan, the Moscow radio reported. The radio report said formation of a four-power control government for Japan should precede any previously agreed upon "consultative commission" to direct long range Allied occupation policy.)

American officials today reported they were watching strictly the activities of more than 100 former secret patriotic societies of Japan and "all other subversive" groups. Authorities are particularly vigilant, they said, against any evidence that these groups might be going underground to continue Rightist activities which were instrumental in whipping Japan into imperialism. The warning to Nippon to keep its hands completely off Korean government affairs followed purported "promotions" of Japanese officials or civil functionaries serving in Southern Korea. "All such purported promotions are ineffective," Allied headquarters asserted, adding that its own military government is the sole authority in Korea. The first report of a riot in Northern Japan gave further warning today of the approach of inevitable famine—and possible disorders—this winter. Women by the thousands are now writing Premier Prince Naruhiko Higashi-Kuni complaining they are having difficulty obtaining food. He has received as many as 1,000 letters in a day. Some sources saw the possibility of Higashi-Kuni resigning in the face of growing criticism of the government's failure to formulate a concrete plan to relieve food, housing and fuel shortages. His cabinet may go with him. The newspaper Mainichi speculated today that Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida, who last month replaced the surrender-signing Mamoru Shigemitsu, might be a possible choice for the premiership if Higashi-Kuni goes out. Yoshida, who was arrested by the Japanese gendarmerie early this year and held for nearly a month in a Tokyo jail, was characterized by Mainichi as "free from all suspicions of being a war criminal." Another newspaper, Yomiuri-Hochi, disclosed that 100 Japanese in one village of North Japan, where the current government allotment of rice was reported insufficient, broke into a government warehouse and seized 54 bales. The prefecture police made arrests and recovered most of the rice. The occupation of Japan will be (Continued on Page Four)

MAN KILLED BY FREIGHT

James E. Nichols Victim Of Accident Here Today

James Ernest Nichols, 66, was instantly killed at the Dickinson Avenue crossing of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad this morning about 9:30. A freight train shifting cars in the yards, traveling at reduced speed and lagged by Conductor H. T. Gunn, who was running slowly ahead of the train, struck Nichols. The train carried the body a short distance after the impact, Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said. An inquest will be held at the City Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. The body was taken to Wilkerson's funeral home for preparation for burial. Funeral services will be held at the grave in the Nichols family cemetery near Bellarthur Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. W. H. Brunson, Christian minister of Ayden, will officiate.

Error In Figures For Meadows Trial

In printing yesterday's report from Raleigh that the State Council had approved payment of fees and expenses to J. H. Harrell and Jesse Jones for their part in the second trial of Dr. Leonidas C. Meadows it was erroneously stated in this paper that expenses allowed Harrell were $242. The correct figure for this item should have been $24.

FBI Conference Held Here Today

By CHESTER WALSH Law enforcement officers, including military police, from a score of Eastern Carolina counties and cities attended the Federal Bureau of Investigation conference at the City Hall here today. Special Agent Edward Scheidt, in charge of the Charlotte office, who presided, pointed out that J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, had warned that neither law enforcement officers nor private citizens can ignore the increasing crime rate and the imperative need for vigilance in preparing for the post-war crime wave which will follow. He said that statistics show that more arrests were made in the first six months of this year than in 1944, nearly 25 per cent of them people not old enough to vote, and the predominant age was 17. Scheidt explained that the conference in Greenville was the one of a series being held in the Carolinas to bring about fuller cooperation among local, county, state and national enforcement officers. The Charlotte FBI executive took time out to introduce to the assemblage Police Chief James E. Tanner, who recently took charge in Greenville and paid him fine tribute. He also presented Pitt County Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson and State Highway Patrol Lt. Lester Jones, mentioned their good work and thanked them for being hosts for the conference. Scheidt also paid tribute to the late Police George Clark of Greenville. In Scheidt's discussion of "Post-war Planning for Police Departments" he developed a number of points of intrinsic value to the officers present. Special FBI Agent George G. Vlk discussed "The Care of Firearms" and Special Agent James W. Coan discussed "Personal Descriptions." The talks were illustrated. The conference was evolved into a round-table discussion of law enforcement problems. Scheidt said the meeting will be fruitful of good results and again warned that the imminence of a postwar crime wave calls for careful and serious planning. (Continued on Page Six)

Today In Congress

By Max Hall

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Congress got busy today on whittling down business taxes and government agencies. President Truman asked it to get busy, too, on a plan for developing power and navigation on the St. Lawrence River. He sent up a message urging approval of a Canadian-American agreement for improving the waterway. A House committee took a stab at corporation taxes. In the Senate, a proposal bobbed up for freeing all servicemen from paying income taxes from the start to the official end of the war. It came from Senator Johnston (D-SC). The whole house argued about reorganizing the government. The argument was over just how much Mr. Truman should have to abolish or merge bureaus and commissions. Republicans said reshuffling won't be enough. What is needed is "amputations," they said. Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) blocked House passage of a bill to give a special Gold Medal to General George C. Marshall, Army Chief of Staff. Let's wait, he suggested, until Congress has made its inquiry into the Pearl Harbor disaster. One investigation, he said, cast reflections on Marshall. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee fired questions at Spruille Braden, former ambassador to Argentina, but took no action on his appointment as an assistant secretary of state. Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson backstopped Braden at the committee meeting. A Standard Oil Company official told a Senate committee this coun-

The WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News By DEWITT FACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst General Two-Gun Patton transferred from command of his famous Third Army, in occupation of Bavaria, is being received by the public at large with mixed feelings—relief mingled with regret that misfortune should befall a gallant soldier. While no official reason has been given for placing the Bavarian administration in new hands, General Eisenhower's move follows Patton's recent statement to the press that some Nazis should remain in office for the sake of better administration. This was confirmation of Eisenhower's stand for elimination of all Nazis from office in accordance with the Big Three declaration of Potsdam. Patton made a big mistake there, but in assaying his difficulties we shouldn't overlook another error by the outspoken general. When he compared "this Nazi thing" to the "Democratic and Republican fight back home" he uttered what he himself later admitted was an "unfortunate analogy." Now of course there are few who won't praise Patton's aim "to insure ourselves that women, children and old men will not perish from hunger or cold this winter." That surely represents the consensus of American military men in Germany, from Eisenhower down to the ranks, and it represents the sentiment of the folk back home. And we are mighty proud that this is so. However, the Patton who thinks

Accepts Call To Watertown, N. Y.

Dr. John R. Bill, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, has accepted a call to St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Watertown, N. Y., and will leave Greenville on November 1. Announcement of the acceptance was made to the vestry here last night. Dr. Bill came to Greenville the first of August last year and has made many friends here. In announcing his acceptance of the new parish Dr. Bill said that it offered greater opportunity for service. Watertown has a population of 35,000, and the church has a membership of 763. It is in the New York Central Diocese. Dr. Bill is a graduate of the University of the South, Theological School at Sewanee, Tenn. He spent six years in the mission field in the northwestern states, a portion of which was working among students at the University of Idaho. Prior to coming to Greenville he filled a year's temporary rectorship at Norwich, N. Y. His wife, before her marriage, was Miss Louise Starr, daughter of the Rev. Homer P. Starr, D. D., rector of the Church of Holy Communion, Charleston, S. C. Prior to her marriage she was a student worker at the University of Georgia at Athens. Dr. and Mrs. Bill have three children. The NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW more plentiful in wartime—and by working overtime. In wartime—instead of his 40-hour pre-war week—he was working 48 and 52 hours. He got three and a half pay for every hour he worked over 40. Meanwhile living costs continued to rise but the WLB stuck to its rule: No basic increase of more than 15 per cent above January, 1941. Then the war ended. At one stroke the workers lost their overtime pay. They went on back to a 40-hour week. And a lot of the peacetime jobs won't pay as high as wartime jobs. So—poor paying jobs and loss of overtime took a double bite out of the pay workers could take home. Labor looked at this living cost index. In August, 1945, it showed living costs had risen about 28 per cent above January, 1941. (In the summer of 1942, remember, it had risen only 17 per cent above January, 1941.) But later says that living cost index is so inaccurate that it really should be double. In other words, it was 28 per cent in August by government figures, over January, 1941. By labor's figures, it should be 56 per cent. (A special commission appointed by President Roosevelt said the index was too low by about 4 per cent. So, by that figuring, the index should now be about 32 per cent above 1941 instead of 28 per cent.) No matter who's right—labor or the index—living costs have gone up at least 28 per cent while wages (Continued on page four)

End of Century Club
Mrs. Ficklen Arthur graciously entertained the End of the Century Book Club Tuesday, October 2, at her suburban home. Glen Arthur, Miss Paula Donnelly of Bowling Green, Ky., was a guest. Mrs. E. B. Ficklen poured tea at a beautifully appointed table where sandwiches, nuts and cakes were also served. A short business meeting was held after which Miss Mary Green of the East Carolina Teachers College gave a most interesting talk on "History and Development of Detective Fiction." She gave brief reviews of some of the best detective stories since 1841. She also told interesting stories of some of the writers and characters. Years ago a person who read detective stories was considered rather "low brow," but now it is considered a reputable form of reading enjoyed and much indulged in by men like Woodrow Wilson, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and many highly educated people.

The English has written the best detective stories with the American writers ranking second. Some of our most famous detective story writers are Anna Catherine Greer, Mary Roberts Rinehart and Elery Queen. After the new club books were passed the club adjourned.

Round Table Meets
Mrs. C. T. Munford was hostess at her home on Evans street, Tuesday afternoon at the first fall meeting of The Round Table.

Mrs. Spruill Spain, president, called the meeting to order and after the reading of the collect she introduced Mrs. N. J. Eubank as the guest of Mrs. H. L. Carr. She was given a warm welcome by the members. It was with a deep regret that the Round Table accepted the resignation of Mrs. E. L. Henderson. The roll was called and sixteen members responded. The minutes were read and a short business session followed.

Our study topic for the year is "The Pacific Area and Famous Women and Men." Mrs. J. E. Winslow, chairman of the program committee, presented Mrs. Charles O. Horne who gave a most interesting and informative paper on Hawaii. We look forward at each meeting to hearing Mrs. T. A. Ferris, our pronunciation referee, as she brings us some unusual words and always tops them off with "spice" which causes much fun and laughter. Our news for this meeting was summer reminiscences and it was interesting to learn how each member had spent the summer. The ladies had traveled all the way from the New England States to Miami, Fla.

During the social hour the hostess, assisted by Mrs. C. O. Horne and Mrs. Milton White, served a sweet course which was topped off with hot buttered popcorn and ice cold malaga grapes.—Reported.

Cllo Club Meets
The Cllo Club held its first meeting of the club year Tuesday, October 2, with Agnes Fullilove, at her home on West Fourth Street. Mrs. W. S. Bost gave an entertaining review of the book "Papa Was a Preacher." This gay, human picture of life in an American paragon was written, the author said, to show that "brown bread and the gospel" are good fare, even for six husky boys and two growing girls.

After this program the book committee read the list of books which will be exchanged during the year. They are: "A Lion Is in the Streets" by Adria Locke Langley; "Captain From Castile" Samuel Shellenbarger; "Immortal Wife," Irving Stone; "Dragon Harvest," Upton Sinclair; "Buffalo Coat," Carol Brink; "The Black Rose," Thomas B. Costain; "The Wayfarers," Dan Wickenden; "Broad Margin," A. R. Beverly-Giddings; "Young Bess," Margaret Irving; "We Flew Without Guns," Flight Captain Genovese; "Three Men in New Suits," J. B. Priestley; "Image of Josephine," Booth Tarkington; "The House in Clew Street," Mary Lavin; "Captain Hornblower," C. S. Forester; "Double Agent," Hildegarde Tellet; "Straight Down a Crooked Lane," M. B. Porter; "Bedelia," Vera Caspray; "The World, the Flesh, and Father Smith," Bruce Marshall.

Miss Fullilove, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Dink James, served a delicious salad course with coffee.—Reported.

Athenum Club
On Tuesday, October 2nd, Mrs. J. Knott Proctor was hostess to the Athenum Book Club at a beautiful and delicious autumn luncheon. The dining room and the house throughout was tastefully decorated in early fall flowers.

After a three-course luncheon the hostess introduced Mrs. Walter Taylor as her speaker for the program. Mrs. Taylor's subject was, "Rights and Benefits for War Veterans," a timely and interesting subject for each and every one at this time. Mrs. Taylor seemed rightly the one to explain the G. I. Bill of Rights since her position in the American Red Cross gives her insight to this particular phase of the returning veterans. The club is indebted to the speaker in explaining in detail so many questions that came up.

After the program Mrs. Walter Harrington, the president, presided over the business session. The roll was called and current events added spice to an already lively discussion.

Mrs. Taylor's subject was, "Rights and Benefits for War Veterans," a timely and interesting subject for each and every one at this time. Mrs. Taylor seemed rightly the one to explain the G. I. Bill of Rights since her position in the American Red Cross gives her insight to this particular phase of the returning veterans. The club is indebted to the speaker in explaining in detail so many questions that came up.

After the program Mrs. Walter Harrington, the president, presided over the business session. The roll was called and current events added spice to an already lively discussion.

Sugar Hoard Is Found In Java

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Discovery of 1,600,000 tons of sugar in Java recently surrendered by the Japanese, raised official hopes, today that sugar rationing might be ended by spring.

Disclosure of the find was made by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson after the word was brought to him by E. C. Zimmerman, commissioner of the Netherlands East Indies in this country.

Agents for the Netherlands colonies made the discovery in Japanese Java, which has been an important Pacific producing area.

Anderson said Zimmerman expressed belief that additional large quantities might be found in the interior as well as on other East Indies islands, such as Formosa and Borneo.

The sugar found in the Pacific will be tossed into a virtually empty United Nations pool and divided among countries dependent upon it.

While no official estimate was made, it is possible that this country will get between 700,000 and 800,000 tons from the quantity already found in Java. This would be virtually a two-month supply on the basis of present allocations to civilians.

ECTC Graduates All Obtain Jobs

Interesting statistics released today by the Office of Student Teaching and Placement of East Carolina Teachers College reveal that out of 136 graduates who received the M. A. B. or B. S. degree in 1944-45 the teaching profession claimed 101 young men and women.

Of those who entered school work, 10 accepted positions out of the state and are now teaching in 6 states, extending from Minnesota to Maryland. The 91 students who are now working in North Carolina schools hold positions in 39 counties. The largest number went to New Hanover County, with Pitt and Lenoir Counties the runners-up as employers of students from East Carolina Teachers College.

Only 11 of last year's graduates who reported have married. Office work, which ranks next to teaching, gave 10 employment. Other graduates are working as dietitians, home agents, laboratory assistants, librarians, and directors of nursery schools. Two are doing graduate work and out is studying optometry.

Chicago Wins ...

Lowrey sacrificed Johnson to third, going out, Newhouser to York. Cavarretta looped a single to center, scoring Johnson. Pafko then drove a double to the wall in left two bases when it bounced off Cramer's glove after the veteran had centerfield, scoring Cavarretta. Nicholson popped out to Mayo at second, scoring Pafko, and that was enough for Newhouser. Big Al Benton replaced the southpaw in the box for the Tigers. The Cubs had made seven runs and eight hits off Newhouser in two and two-thirds innings. Livingston was thrown out trying to steal, Richards to Mayo.

Three runs, four hits, no errors, none left.

Tigers—Cavarretta made a great diving stop of Webb's shot down the first baseline and tossed to Borowy for the putout. Mayo went down swinging at a third strike. Cramer worked Borowy for a pass. A Borowy fast ball forced Greenberg to hit the dirt and Umpire Bill Summers ruled that it had nicked the big fellow and waved him to first. Cullenbine popped up to Johnson at second for the third out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, two left.

Fourth Inning

Cubs—Hughes flew out to Cramer in center. Borowy struck out, swinging at Benton's sharp curve. Hack dealt out a roller toward third base, Benton's throw just failing to nail him. Johnson went out, Outlaw to York. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Tigers—York walked to open the inning after working Borowy for the full count. Outlaw lined a clean single to right, but Nicholson's quick recovery held York at second. The Cubs infielders talked to Borowy a moment, and he settled down and struck out Richards. Zeb Eason hit for Benton and went down swinging at a third strike. Webb popped out to Hack near the pitchers mound.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Fifth Inning

Cubs—The veteran righthander Jim Tobin went in to pitch for the Tigers. Lowrey bounced out, Webb to York. Tobin took Cavarretta's roller and threw him out. Pafko singled into left field. Nicholson fouled out to Richards behind the plate. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Tigers—Mayo singled cleanly to left. Cramer fouled out to Livingston toward third base. Greenberg pounded a single to center, but Mayo was out when he tried to reach third base on a beautiful throw from Pafko to Hack. Cullenbine filed out to Pafko in center. No runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

Sixth Inning

Cubs—Livingston flew out to Cramer in center. Hughes worked Tobin for a walk on five pitches. Borowy sacrificed him to second, the play going from Outlaw to Mayo, who covered first base. Hack was out, Mayo to York, on an easy roller. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Tigers—Rudy York socked a long single into left centerfield. Outlaw bounced a ball to Hack at third and the latter's throw to second was too late to force York. It was ruled a fielder's choice, and Outlaw was not credited with a hit. Richards flew out to Pafko in centerfield. Tobin lofted to Johnson just behind second base. Webb rolled out, Johnson to Cavarretta to end the inning. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Seventh Inning

Cubs—Webb went far back into left field to take Johnson's high fly. Lowrey flew out to Cramer in deep center. Cavarretta got hold of one and smashed a home run off a station at about the 350-foot line in right field. Pafko singled to center and promptly stole second. GREAT MINDS THINK AND WORK TOGETHER

We have been pointing to certain individuals in connection with the discovery of the atomic bomb and saying that these men were the originators. Certainly all honor and national gratitude should be accorded those who brought to completion that horrible mechanism which caused our enemies to throw up their hands and ask for mercy.

But we should remember also that no scientific advance ever takes place solely as the result of one man's efforts. Thousands of people contribute little units of knowledge to final achievement. Furthermore, there seems to be at certain times the mysterious working of minds all over the world on kindred scientific subjects. The best example of this was in the case of Wallace and Darwin who came to identical conclusions about evolution at the same time and who by mutual agreement published their papers on the same day. While Edison was working on the incandescent light, a French scientist was doing the same thing. There are many who believe that Morse could not have invented the telegraph had it not been for certain scientific research which was carried on by Professor Henry of Princeton.

Great minds work on great projects simultaneously. There are few star players in any field of human endeavor. We are all members of a team.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

By POPE HALEY
(Jack Stinnett is ill)

Washington—The former presidential yacht Mayflower, veteran of three wars, is still carrying on as a Coast Guard training ship, operating out of Boston.

The 320-foot, 2,700-ton craft, boasts a colorful career, surpassed by few other vessels afloat. She has had aboard since she was launched nearly a half century ago many of the great and near great of this and other nations. Her career appeared to be ended in March, 1929, when she was decommissioned by the Navy on orders of President Hoover. She was sold to L. P. Coe of Chicago, who towed her to Wilmington, N. C., to recondition her for exhibition purposes.

That plan was not carried out, however, and with the war she was converted for Coast Guard duty at Norfolk, Va., under the supervision of the War Shipping Administration. On Oct. 19, 1943, she was placed in commission by Rear Admiral Felix X. Gwax, then commandant of the Norfolk Navy Yard with Lt. Comdr. Fred E. Morton, USCG, as skipper. She was assigned to a task group under the command of Lt. Comdr. W. R. Crenshaw. The task group was operating under Rear Admiral D. B. Beary, commander of the Operational Training Command U. S. Atlantic Fleet.

After a brief period of anti-submarine patrol she was designated as a training ship for operation with the Navy. The Mayflower was designed by George I. Watson and built by J. and G. Thompson, Clydebank, Scotland, for Oden Goelet of New York. She was launched Nov. 6, 1896. The following summer her owner cruised around her in European waters. Among the guests entertained aboard were King Edward VII, Kaiser Wilhelm, King Carlos of Portugal and Grand Duke Boris of Russia.

After Goelet's death in September, 1897, the vessel was bought by the Navy for $430,000, and commissioned as a dispatch boat, the first converted yacht in the Navy. A month later the Spanish-American war broke out and she joined the blockade fleet off Havana. She captured two Spanish schooners and a British blockade runner. Later she participated in the taking of Cienfuegos.

During World War I, she spent

If We Show What's In Our Hand—

most of the time on special service in the Fifth Naval District, of which Norfolk is headquarters.

Between wars, the vessel was used by Presidents and cabinet members for pleasure cruises and inspection trips.

It was aboard the Mayflower that Theodore Roosevelt reviewed the Battle fleet before and after its cruise around the world. It was aboard the Mayflower that President Wilson proposed to Mrs. Galt and it was there that he received word of his reelection.

It was aboard the Mayflower that President Harding reviewed the Atlantic fleet in the Hudson River in 1922 and officially received several thousand bodies of American soldiers from France.

were held to a 15 per cent rise.

But now President Truman says this 15 per cent limit on wages is all off—that anyone can raise wages—If it's a big if giving a raise doesn't mean a boss will try to raise prices, too.

So this is the view of labor: It was held down during the war to a 15 per cent increase.

If workers got more than that in take-home pay it was through higher paid jobs and overtime. This increased take home pay helped offset the rise in living costs. But now take home pay has been cut through loss of overtime and lower paid peacetime jobs but living costs remain up 28 per cent, at least.

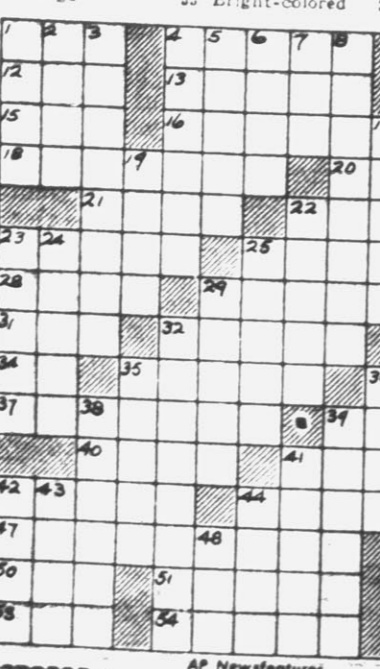

So unions want raises that will get workers back to something like their wartime take home pay. It's a problem for bosses to decide whether they can give the increases without raising prices.

young soldier who was a near and dear relative was starved to death by the Japs in a Borneo prison camp.

Europe is on the verge of a terrible winter. Allied experts have already warned up many times that starvation will run wild in many parts of the continent, and Germany will be hard hit. Field Marshal Montgomery, chief British occupation authority in Germany, stated in London yesterday that "unless coal production can be maintained and increased, nothing can stop the economic collapse of western Germany and a famine which would cost the Germans many lives."

Montgomery says this would mean that we should see "widespread famine and disease sweep through Europe." That is a situation which the Allies must meet—but we don't need Nazi assistance.

writing of Europe's peace treaties, thus correcting an impression which arose from his official statement last night that the council's work would be held in abeyance. He said he had referred to the matter of peace treaties alone.

The peace settlement, Byrnes said "cannot be based on battleships. It must be based on justice."

"We hold the power as trustees," he said, "and when we fail to remember that, power can be a menace."

He compared his attempts at every kind of compromise to break the deadlock over the Balkan peace treaty issue with the mediating role he once played in the U. S. Senate.

"There is a big difference, however," Byrnes said. "In the Senate, majority rules. Here we have to have unanimous agreement, just as on a jury. There are often mistrials because one man holds out against all the rest."

The deputies, he said, would continue studying such matters as food for Austria, restitution of property stolen by the Nazis during the war and the future of the Ruhr and the Rhineland. Byrnes said the United States considered it essential that the nations which participated fully in the war be allowed to participate fully in making the peace.

He said Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav M. Molotov raised no objection in principle to his insistence that a European peace conference be called for the final drafting of each treaty, but that the Soviet minister could not discuss the proposal without a personal consultation with Marshal Stalin.

It seemed obvious that President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Stalin would be obliged to achieve a basic meeting of minds before work could be resumed on the writing of the treaties.

It seemed likely that the chiefs of the three great powers would communicate through diplomatic channels to work out the procedural deadlock before meeting personally. Secretary Byrnes, in a statement at the close of the conference last night, disclosed that the main issue was Russia's insistence upon barring France and China from discussion on the Balkan peace treaties, but he added that "there is good reason to believe that with continued patience and understanding on all sides the essentials can be attained. We are determined upon that outcome."

The deputies of the five foreign ministers have been instructed to remain in London, but they will be unable to deal with major problems until some agreement is reached on procedure—and no date has been set for any future meeting of the foreign secretaries themselves.

The Japanese government took its first step toward alleviating the nation's critical food shortage by formally requesting permission of the Allied occupation authorities to convert two former naval fuel plants to the production of fertilizer. The government said Japanese farmers are short 1,500,000 tons of fertilizer this year. Reconversion of the plants at Yokkaichi and Tokuyama, the government said, would step up production by 200,000

Rio Conference To Be Postponed

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The United States has recommended postponement of the Inter-American Conference scheduled to open October 20 in Brazil because it believes Argentina has entirely repudiated its hemisphere obligations, acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson said today.

"In view of recent developments in Argentina, the United States government does not feel that it can properly negotiate or sign with the present Argentine regime a treaty of military assistance," Acheson asserted in a statement issued at a news conference.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers
Don't expect to get real relief from headaches, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.
In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And where it gets blocked when it fails to digest properly.
What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out thoroughly—like Nature got back on her feet.
Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and thoroughly "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

PLAY TARBORO FRIDAY NIGHT

Phantoms To Play Last Of First Series Of Home Games At Guy Smith Stadium

By DAVE CLARK
Coach Bo Farley's high flying Phantoms fresh from a 24-0 victory over the Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets, clash with the Tarboro

High gridders here Friday night in Guy Smith Stadium. This will be the last home game for the Phantoms for four weeks as they take four straight road trips, then return here for their last two games.
Rain cancelled Greene activity for yesterday, but Coach Farley will have his proteges back in action today. No serious injuries were sustained in the Elizabeth City fray and barring accidents today, the Phantoms should be in full strength Friday night.
Reports are that the Tarboro squad is no stronger than the one which bowed to Greenville 33-0 last year, but the Phantoms are working hard and not taking these encouraging reports too seriously. Especially since the Tarboro boys run from a tricky T-formation. How-

Football

By SCOTTY MINSHULL
AP Sports Writer

Richmond, Va., Oct. 3—(AP)—Probably the stand-out football game this Saturday in the South will be the meeting at Durham, N. C., of Duke's mighty Blue Devils and Navy, rated as two of the top teams this year.

While the game will have no bearing on the Southern Conference results will be watched with interest both by conference members and teams in other sections, especially the East.

Navy opened its season last Saturday by crushing Villanova, 49-0, while Duke already has two lopsided victories to its credit. What comes out of the Saturday mix-up will chart the course of the respective clubs through the grid changes for the remainder of the season.

The Middies put in a heavy session yesterday at Annapolis and returning to work with the first-string was Fullback Bon Jenkins, who sat it out against Villanova because of a knee injury. The Navy squad will leave tomorrow for Durham and may arrive in time for a brief workout there Friday.

At Durham, the Blue Devils went through a strenuous practice yesterday in an effort to maintain its high scoring record of the season to date by adding the Tar to the list of victims. Duke has 137 points to its credit to date, counting 50 in its white-washing of South Carolina in its opener, and last week trouncing Bogue Field (N. C.) Marines, 76-0.

Another game in the South which will take the fancy of the observers is the Virginia-Virginia Military Institute clash at Lynchburg. While the Cavaliers are not a member of the Southern Conference, they are regarded as one of the leading teams in the East this year and have attracted much attention from eastern followers of the sport.

The Cadets also boast an aggressive team this year and their showing against the Cavaliers will serve as an indication as to how they will stack up in Southern Conference play this year.

Conference interest is centered in the game at Roanoke between Virginia Tech's as yet untried 1945 football squad and the University of North Carolina. Tech has been absent from grid warfare for two seasons but reports from Blacksburg indicate that the Gobbler mentors are building a fast, strong team for the current season.

The Tar Heels added Dan Stigman and Jim Camp to their squad yesterday as they pushed drills at Chapel Hill.

Another highlight of the week-end card is the meeting between Wake Forest and Army at West Point. The Demon Deacons worked on pass defense today as a means of stopping the soldier backfield. Coach Peahead Walker reported that Nick Sacrinty, triple-threat tailback who suffered an ankle injury in the Tennessee game Saturday, would be back in the Army fracas.

Two other Southern Conference games slated are the University of Maryland's night game with the University of Richmond, at Richmond, and N. C. State's tussle with Clemson at Raleigh, N. C. The Wolfpack was whipped last week by Virginia, 26-6, while the Tigers took a 20-0 pasting at the hands of Georgia's Bulldogs.

Maryland, fresh from its victory over Gullford College last Friday, moves into the Old Dominion capital to take on a Spider eleven still licking its wounds after its 40-6 drubbing by VMI's Cadets.

FANS TO HOLD MEETING HERE

Coastal Plains League Towns Plan To Confer Here Oct. 14

By CHESTER WALSH

Greenville fans want baseball and prospects brightened considerably today when Guy G. Smith, president of the Greenville club when it was disbanded after the war started, announced that there will be a meeting of representatives of the towns in the old league held at the City Hall in Greenville Sunday afternoon, October 14. The meeting was called by Ray Goodman of Williamston, former president of the Coastal Plains League.

Smith, an ardent fan and supporter of baseball, said he will help to get a club organized here and off to a good start. He said considerable money will have to be spent on the ball park, building bleachers and fences, and improving the club house. The park was named Guy Smith Stadium in his honor.

Dave C. Moore, Jr., secretary of the Greenville club when it disbanded, had a letter today from Judge W. G. Bramham, Durham, president of the National Association of Baseball League, stating that he will cooperate in every way to reorganize the Coastal Plains League. Bramham said Arthur Eilers of Baltimore, Md., has been named promotional director for reorganizing leagues and that his services will be available to all clubs. Representatives at the meeting to be held in Greenville will be from Wilson, Rocky Mount, New Bern, Goldsboro, Williamston, Tarboro, Kinston and Greenville. There is some doubt, it is understood, about Williamson coming back into the league. The management disposed of its lighting system and some other equipment.

Today In Congress . . .

The bill before the House gives the President authority to abolish or merge any federal agency except the ten big departments and the Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Securities and Exchange Commission, and General Accounting Office.

Some Republicans will fight to reduce Mr. Truman's authority by adding more agencies to that list.

Rep. Randolph (D-WVa) said he will try to amend the bill to permit merging of the war and navy departments.

In that connection, Senator Edwin Johnson (D-Colo) proposed today that the armed forces be merged into a "department of national security" with five prongs: Army, Navy, Air Forces, Industrial Mobilization, and Scientific research.

And Congress talked about: Palestine—the Senate seemed in a mood to put itself formally on record as favoring the opening of Palestine to Jewish immigration. Railroads—today's Senate argument is on a bill to end the special, low rates paid by the government to "land-grant" railroads, which expanded during the last century by receiving federal gifts of land. The House already has passed the bill. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) stepped in today, proposing that the special rates run until next July—until military demobilization is largely finished.

Oil—a special Senate committee began a big study of the oil industry and its postwar prospects. Chairman of the group is Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

Paper—the House Newsprint Investigating Committee asked the State Department to explain how much newspaper will be needed by foreign countries and where it will come from.

Here's why the committee is interested: there is still a world shortage of newsprint, the paper that newspapers are printed on.

Ships—late yesterday the House passed a bill to allow the government to sell merchant ships built during the war. The bill sets up a price formula and other regulations. It was sent to the Senate.

New Store To Have Reception Tonight

The Southern Supply Company, retail dealers in home appliances and automobile supplies, will have "open house" at the new store, 414 Evans Street, tonight from 7 until 9 o'clock. Albert M. Lum, the proprietor, invites the public to visit the thoroughly modern and well stocked store. It will open for business tomorrow morning. The Firestone lines will be featured.

Manager Lum, who was manager for the Firestone Company here eight years, said today that the new store was established to provide in Greenville for the buying public the wanted merchandise in home appliances and automobile equipment. The building was entirely remodeled for a modern store. It is well equipped, the merchandise is displayed in a manner that makes it easy for buyers to select what they want. "Courtesy and prompt service and the best values for the money" will be the slogan at the Southern Supply Company's store, the manager said.

and servicemen. A strike of 85 AFL teamsters affected deliveries of foods.

The two-day-old walkout of between 7,500 and 10,000 AFL longshoremen, and checkers, tying up 40 ships in the Port of New York ended. A union spokesman said officials voted to recommend acceptance of terms offered in a new contract by the New York Shipping Association, which proposed reduction in the work week from 44 to 40 hours and wage increases.

Striking AFL lumber workers in the Pacific Northwest halted operations in CIO operated mills as pickets.
