New Jap Cabinet Completed Today

New Cabinet Composed Of Parliamentarians And Untried Liberals; Final Demobilization Of All Japs In Homeland To Be Completed Within Few Days

Tokyo, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Aging, dapper Premier Kijuro Shidehara completed his "safe and sane" government today, and planned the first meeting of his 15-man cabinet immediately, even before reporting its roster to the emperor—an unprecedented procedure.

Donel news agency said he would outline bluntly the headaches ahead for the new government, which most observers say cannot survive more than a few months.

Acceptance by Adm. Soymu Toyoda of the navy portfolio completed the new cabinet—all, said Secretary Daisaburo Tsugita, likely to meet with General MacArthur's approval. Tsugita also predicted that "another new cabinet will be formed by political party men when a majority party comes out of the general elections" next January.

Baron Shidehara drew heavily upon Parliamentarians and untried Liberals to make up his new government. Average age of the new ministers is 61. The roster (including five holdovers from the previous cabinet):

Premier Shidehara, 73, career diplomat tackling his first big domestic job.

Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida, 67, a hold-over who, like Shidehara, who opposed Nippon's militarist clique.

Home Minister Zenjiro Horikiri, 61, career government official.

Finance Minister Kichiro Shiba-sawa, 49, financier.

Commerce and Industry Minister, Sankuro Okawara, 60, parliamentarian and businessman.

Agriculture and Forestry Minister, Kenzo Masumura, 62, parliamentarian who has been parliamentary vice-minister.

War Minister, Lt. Gen. Sadashi Shimomura, 58, militarist. (Also a hold-over).

Navy Minister, Adm. Soymu Toyoda, 60-year-old militarist who commanded the Yokosuka naval base where occupation forces made their first amphibious landings on Japan.

Justice Minister, Dr. Chujo Iwata, 60, lawyer, also a hold-over from the previous cabinet.

Welfare Minister, Dr. Hitoshi Ashida, 58, parliamentarian, author and member of the House of Representatives.

Transportation Minister, Takao Tanaka, 57, parliamentarian and veteran member of the House of Representatives.

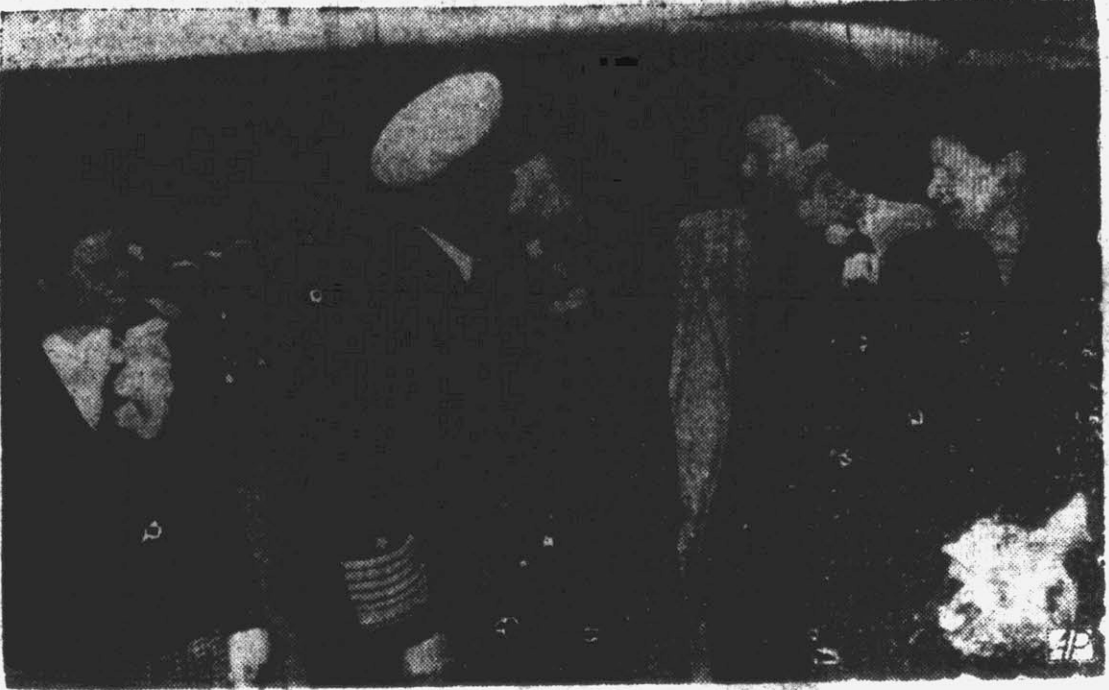

Education Minister, Tamon Maekawa, 61, journalist, another hold-over.

Ministers without portfolio: Daisaburo Tsugita, 63, parliamentarian, concurrently chief cabinet secretary.

Joji Matsumoto, 68, parliamentarian.

FORGER HAS LONG RECORD

Police Said Romain F. Daigle Operated In Many Cities

Romain Frank Daigle, 34, of Williamston, being held by local police on charges of forgery and passing worthless checks, has a long criminal record, Police Chief James E. Tanner said today. Daigle was arrested here Friday and charged with forgery and passing worthless checks at Curtis Perkins' and John Saled's stores, totalling $122.10.

Police said Daigle confessed that he had passed forged checks in 13 South Carolina cities, 10 in North Carolina, and one each in Georgia, Tennessee and Virginia. Daigle also told police he had served a term in a federal prison in Massachusetts.

Daigle was first put under surveillance here Friday when he used a typewriter to fill in blank checks at one business office and then a check protector at another. Police highway patrolmen and Marine military police apprehended Daigle at the bus station here.

He will be given a hearing in Police Court after further investigation.

The checks Daigle flashed here were crudely written. The name of Atlanta, Ga., motor line express companies was typewritten instead of printed, as was the usual printed firm name, under which checks are signed. Daigle wore part of a bus company driver's uniform and represented the checks to be for payroll money.

Nation's Labor Picture Is Some Brighter Today

Number Of Idle Expected To Be Cut By 200,000 This Week; Efforts Being Made To Avert Coal Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's labor picture, gloomy for weeks past, took on a brighter hue today as developments between labor and management pointed to a return of some 200,000 workers this week.

National attention was focussed on Washington, where Secretary of Labor Schwelb resumed efforts to bring about a compromise between John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and soft coal operators to end a walkout in approximately 600 mines and avert a nationwide coal strike.

There were definite indications that the strike lines, hitting a high record of some 550,000 last week, would drop to around 350,000 this week if back-to-work orders are obeyed. The strike in the coal mines is by far the major labor problem, with 163,000 miners out of some 600 pits in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana.

Of the number slated to go back to work today were 60,000 longshoremen and dock workers in the port of New York, about 60,000 automotive workers in Detroit, including 50,000 employees in the Ford Motor plants later this week, and 43,000 CIO Oil Workers. Some of the striking oil workers returned to their jobs over the weekend after back-to-work orders from their president, O. A. Knight, following government seizure of 51 refineries and plants in 15 states.

The New York longshoremen, however, failed to return to work this morning. A spokesman for the AFL local which last week led the walkout of about 35,000 to 60,000 men, said this group's policy was "no contract, no work, and the government can step in at any time it gets ready."

The local had voted to return to work pending negotiations with the New York Shipping Association for a new contract to replace on which expired Sept. 30. The dispute tied up shipping in the port of New York.

The labor strife in Detroit's big industrial area appeared considerably eased as back to work movements at two strike-bound auto and car parts-producing plants were expected to leave the motor city without a single major work stoppage for the first time in more than six weeks. Whereas in recent weeks the number away from their jobs by labor disputes totaled between 80,000 and 90,000, less than 4,000 were idle today in a series of small controversies.

A strike at the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Co., which has kept 4,500 off their jobs since August 23, was declared ended by CIO United Automobile Workers officials and they said members would be back to work today. With the promised return of the strikers, the Ford Motor Company said it was recalling thousands of its workers and expressed hope all 50,000 could be called back in another week.

Also in Detroit, the Federal Conciliation Service said a strike of 500 Hudson Motor Car Co. foremen had ended after five weeks and the company would recall its 6,000 production workers.

Also on the bright side was the return to work of 13,000 employees. (Continued on Page Four)

SEVERAL DIE IN ACCIDENTS

Six Killed On Highways, Two Others Gun Victims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Highway accidents and gunshot wounds took a toll of eight lives in North Carolina the past week-end.

The motor accidents, which were attributed in some instances to slippery roads and accounted for six of the deaths, also left a number of persons injured, several of them seriously.

The heaviest toll in any one accident was that near Camp Butler where three persons were killed when two automobiles collided early Sunday morning. The victims included Mrs. Ellen Hos Dunlap of Charleston, S. C., Willie Foster Morton of Raleigh, and Rufus Morton, Jr., of Durham, state highway patrolmen reported.

Patrolmen said the three were killed when Mrs. Dunlap's car and that occupied by the Mortons crashed near the Butler reservation about 4 a. m. Charles Hos, brother of Mrs. Dunlap, who occupied the car with her, was seriously injured and was under treatment at a Durham hospital.

Howard D. Keely, 45, of Norfolk, Va., suffered a broken neck Sunday afternoon and died instantly when his car overturned on a highway near Roanokeville. Highway patrolmen said a tire blew out and that Keely swerved his car quickly to avoid a collision with an oncoming machine.

At Charlotte, Machinist's Mate 2-c Harry G. Enloe, 24, Charlotte sailor, was killed about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning when the automobile he was driving collided with an Observer delivery truck.

A number of other occupants of the Enloe car were taken to a Charlotte hospital for treatment. Several of them dismissed later.

Most seriously injured were Leona Pitts, 19, and Lloyd Baker, 23, both of whom were reported in a serious condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bristow of Petersburg, Va., were seriously injured three miles north of Hendersonville, N. C., last night when their car collided with another. H. C. Hunter, brother of Mrs. Bristow, and the Bristows were taken to a hospital. (Continued on Page Six)

Cubs Defeat Tigers In Hectic Game That Went Twelve Innings After Tigers Tied Score At 7-All In Eighth Inning.

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Stanley Hack plastered a hit into left with two out and a man on second in the 12th inning today to drive in a run and give the Chicago Cubs an 8 to 7 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the sixth game of the World Series and knot the set-up at 3 victories each.

Despite chilly weather, a crowd of 41,769 flocked out today, contributing to a gross gate of $204,531, which made this the richest series in history.

With today's receipts, the first six games have drawn $1,288,277 into the cash register, which, with the $100,000 radio rights, eclipses the previous high mark of $1,322,323.21 set in the 1940 series between the Tigers and Cincinnati Reds.

Secretary Reports On Foreign Policy Today

By JACK BELL

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes goes to Capitol Hill today to explain American foreign policy amid indications of strong backing for his own stand at the recent London conference.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) arranged to have Byrnes give the Foreign Relations Committee (at 2:30 p. m. EST) a peak into the background of the conference which broke up in an argument with the Russians over who shall share in writing the peace.

Byrnes' radio explanation last week seemed to assure him of widespread approval in legislative circles for his demand that all the major Allies participate in peace discussions.

In almost identical words, Senator Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, and Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the Senate Naval Committee, declared their support of Mr. Byrnes' opposition to Russian demands that the Big Three alone decide the fate of Europe.

Hill and Walsh, who often represent widely differing views on foreign policy matters, told a reporter.

The position taken by Secretary Byrnes not only meets with general approval in Congress but almost. (Continued on Page Six)

Observe Business Women's Week Here

Mayor Jack Boyd today proclaimed this week "Business Women's Week," the 17th annual observance of the occasion. He said, "The business and professional women of the nation and state have contributed effectively to the social, economic and political life of the nation."

The mayor called upon the women to take an active interest in the job situation and their own community, to assist returning servicemen, service women and war workers to find jobs and obtain vocational and placement assistance when necessary.

Tiger Of Malaya Pleads Innocence

Manila, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Boastful Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, erstwhile "Tiger of Malaya," pleaded innocent of war crime today after his counsel said the American army had no case against him—and immediately the prosecution countered with a bill of particulars that accused the men of his command of 64 atrocities in the Philippines.

Torture, mutilation, and massacre of more than 25,000 non-combatant men, women and children, were listed.

The atrocities were not attributed to Yamashita himself. Since his trial, scheduled to begin Oct. 29, is to be the first of a round-the-world series involving war criminal suspects, the question of responsibility held by the imperial general for acts of the troops under his command was a precedent-setting point.

Today In Congress

By Max Hall

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Repercussions of the atomic bomb continued in Congress today.

They were felt at a joint hearing of Senate Commerce and Military committees on a proposal to grant broad federal aid to scientific research. Dr. Irving Langmuir of General Electric Research Laboratories told the senators that "there is no possibility of permanently keeping the secret of the atomic bomb."

And Dr. Isaiah Bowman, president of Johns Hopkins University, testified "the war is not over, only the military phase of it, in urgent support of the aid to research proposal. There is still need for preparedness, he added.

While congressmen groped for the answers to the atomic energy problem, three other committees were concerned with war-born matters.

The Pearl Harbor Investigating committee named Gerhard A. Gesell as its assistant general counsel. Gesell was counsel for the Securities and Exchange Commission in the case involving Richard Whitney, former New York Stock Exchange president. He asked to serve without compensation.

Brig. Gen. Robert W. Berry told the House Military Committee all army enlisted men with two years service, will be eligible for discharge effective next March.

The Senate Finance Committee heard from Gen. Omar N. Bradley, veterans administrator, that 81,266 veterans were receiving unemployment compensation under the "GI Bill of Rights" on September 22.

AP Loses Plea For Rehearing

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to grant a rehearing on its decision that the Associated Press must amend its by-laws affecting admission of members.

The high tribunal in a 5 to 3 decision last June affirmed a lower court finding that the by-laws restrain trade and thus violate the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. It directed amendment of the by-laws so as to prevent AP members from considering competitive aspects of an application for membership.

The AP, in asking a rehearing, contended among other things that to require opening of its membership was not an appropriate way to achieve objectives of the Sherman Act.

The Chicago Tribune and its publisher Robert R. McCormick, among the co-defendants with the AP in the Justice Department's civil suit, also asked a rehearing.

The court also denied the Tribune's petition.

The court, following its usual custom, gave no reason for its refusal to grant a rehearing. The single word "denied" simply was listed beside the case number.

Justice Burton took no part in consideration of the petitions for rehearing.

Under arrangements made for the filing of the petitions for rehearing, the Supreme Court's mandate carrying out its June decision was ordered stayed until 20 days after the tribunal ruled on the requests.

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Washington's decision to abolish Shinto as a state religion in Japan may prove to be the key to that misguided country's reformation for much of the hold which the militarists had on the people was attributable to the fact that the government spoke through the mouth of sacred Shinto.

Let there be some who fear this is a blow at freedom of worship, it should be said that it is not. The man merely dissociates the religion from the very obvious evils of government control, but leaves the individual Japanese the right to worship as he chooses. If he clings to the ancestor and hero worship, why is the basis of Shinto, the way of the gods, then it is his prerogative to do so.

The Shinto-state setup has been a natural for the industrial tycoons and militarists, who have worked hand in hand to conquer neighboring states and reduce them to vassalage. Government schemes, which ordinarily might have been objectionable to many of the Japanese public, became acceptable when passed down via the Shinto route.

The efficacy of this dual control was multiplied by the fact that the Mikado was head of both state and religion. As a direct descendant of the sun-goddess Amaterasu he is regarded as a deity portion of his subjects as a living god.

Because of this circumstance it strikes me as almost a foregone conclusion that Hirohito must abdicate as emperor when the separation of religion and state becomes effective. Obviously he can't hold both positions, and it looks as though fate has selected the one which he must abandon, for while a god may discard temporal rule it's hard to see how he can divest himself of a divinity which Japanese legend says runs back 2600 years and more.

As a matter of fact there has been considerable speculation among Japanese personages in Tokyo recently about the possibility of Hirohito abdicating the throne and devoting himself exclusively to spiritual leadership. However, something of an "if" enters in here, for there is more than a little demand in Allied capitals that the Mikado be tried as a war criminal. How such a trial would affect his status as a "living god" and especially if he were convicted, as one of the imperatorials.

It and when Hirohito steps down from his ancient throne, a situation will have been created which might spell the end of imperial rule altogether in Japan. Certainly the autocratic form of government which has existed for time immemorial will disappear, for Washington has made it clear that the rule must be drastically modified. The country can have an emperor if it wants one, but it will be a peoples government.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Hotels—nationwide—are jammed. It's a jam likely to last through Christmas, at least.

Trying to explain the reason for this, a spokesman for the American Hotel Association here says:

The crowded situation spreads from New Orleans to Seattle, from New York to Los Angeles.

In many of the New York, Chicago and Washington hotels, 60 per cent of the rooms are occupied by servicemen and women.

Now that the war's over, they have longer leaves, keep rooms longer. So do civilian guests.

They used to average one or two days to a room. Now it's three, four and five.

New York hotels are so crowded they've practically stopped accepting reservations.

You can write to a New York hotel, and maybe you'll get a reservation. Maybe you won't.

In Chicago the army used to have 1,000 rooms a day set aside for service people.

The rooms were in an army pool and were made available as needed by service people.

Recently the army asked for—and got—a total of 3,000 rooms daily.

Washington hotels are packed, not only with servicemen and women but with people on business or for errands.

It's so tight that Washington hotels are trying to keep organized groups—like conventions—away.

The Washington hotels are cooperating with one another in trying to find rooms for people needing them.

Last week this writer tried at 15 hotels to get a reservation for a friend. This was the answer:

One of the 15 was booked solidly for at least a week.

The rest were booked for longer than that.

And this has added to the room scramble.

Some people, wanting to be sure of a room, wire perhaps five hotels in one city for reservations in each.

When they arrive and get a room they neglect to cancel any reservation they got at other hotels.

This holds up rooms which other people could be using.

The army has predicted that the number of service men and women moving around the country won't reach a peak until December.

It seems therefore, that hotel rooms will be packed at least until then.

The situation is particularly tight in seaport towns or towns near the ports like Boston, New York, Seattle, New Orleans, Los Angeles.

When boats land there from overseas the service people flock to hotels and so do their families going to meet them.

The hotels themselves are short of help, now they have only 800,000. They are trying to get war veterans. (Continued on page four)

Instead of Him

by PEGGY O'MORE

Chapter 32
Jane's smart one," remarked aunt bitterly. "She slipped out of bed and worried her way—"

"Jane"—Mark Sheridan's arm was long—"I have a car outside; let's get out of here."

She could cry softly when they were alone; she could forget her bitterness and rest in the curve of his arm.

"You mustn't forget you made up her for the others," he said once, he reconstructed things, and now believe I understand everything. I'm too hurt at first—"

"Hurt," cried Jane.
"Yes, deeply hurt to think that she who you nor Mrs. Stanton trust—"

"Enough to reveal your relationship to me."

She didn't thought of it that way. I felt all along that Mrs. Stanton had become interested in the company from some unselfish motive. I'd been cheated of unselfish affection, and it meant a great deal more than the actual help she gave me through you. I hadn't—"

Jane sat up indignantly. "Mark Sheridan, you are the stupidest man I've ever known. For that copper shinty?" he asked. "That was money I had repaid wasn't it? I thought that, too, there in the lobby."

"It seems to me," Jane told him later, "that you were thinking of Mark Sheridan more than anyone else at that particular moment."

They drove into the painted hills, the road rose and purple and amber lights rising into a clear green sky. There was no one at the big house. The "issue" preferred the quiet notes of Sacramento. Only a faint maid awaited them.

"Dinner's all ready," she announced.
The table was set for two.

"Mrs. Stanton said you'd be coming together," the old woman said. She telephoned your office, and then Miss James said you'd gone to Washington. Miss Jane, she said let go."

The old woman smiled. "Yes, she did, and I remember her very well. Well, now that those two young ones have settled their affairs, can let go. I'm so tired and so very happy."

"And then she asked me not to try to awaken her."

"Jane, Mark her Jane could appear to be the other. When they were the old woman followed them and handed each a note.

Mark Sheridan read his in the light of the big porch.
She's ashamed of the scandalous rumors, son. I'm not; they've mixed in the sun and kicked a little to him for property's sake, but they've had their fun. They'll learn Jane has suffered from their antics by being passed around from one hand to the next with never a home she could call her own, never one person, excepting myself, to give her that unselfish love we all need.

"That's up to you, Mark. Make her safe and secure and loved. Besides, son, I'm going to rest well, knowing I have such a lad as you in my family."

And in Frank's room Jane read her last message.

A man who is stupid in those little things that delight the heart of a woman is a safe man, a good husband. His very stupidity proves he has not developed the talent for practicing on other women.

G. Mark is deliciously stupid and fine.

I've left the note to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sheridan, please attend to making this legal, immediately.

There was more Jane lingered over each word, each syllable, loving the tired old woman who had kept her final rest at bay until she had completed her work.

And then Jane went to the dressing room to powder and to comb her hair, to slip into a rose-colored jacket of velvet and go out to Mark on the porch.

"Jane, I want to explain—"

She laid a finger across his lips. "Let's not. I don't need explanations, Mark. Do you?"

"Neither now, nor ever," he answered.

The hills below them turned blue; the stars came out overhead. The ancient woman who had served Mrs. Stanton for so long stood at a window and watched the silhouette of the pair that seemed only one.

"That," she said softly, "is the best business deal Mrs. Stanton ever put over."

Junior Chamber Holds Meeting

The Junior Chamber of Commerce at its supper meeting Friday night voted to attend the Williamston Jaycees' "charter night" banquet at Williamston on October 15. President Belle Lamm, who recently underwent an operation at the hospital, presided. He was given a warm welcome.

Tom Wilson, one of the original members of the chamber and a past president, suggested that the meeting night now held on Friday be changed to avoid conflict with the Kiwanis Club's meeting. On motion of Fred Forbes the night was changed to Thursday at 7:15.

President Lamm appointed Tom Wilson, formerly in the Army Air Force, chairman of the Service Men's Committee. He and the president will name the other members of the committee.

Alton Barret, chairman of the War Salvage Committee, announced that his committee will conduct a waste paper drive here on Sunday, October 14, at 2 p. m.

A committee was appointed to cooperate with the high school coach in the interest of the young boys of the city. Godfrey Oakley is chairman. Other committeemen are Willard T. Kyzer and Jake Hadley.

Don Schlenze, Jr. and Judson Blount, Jr. were guests of the club.

In New Guinea there are mountains nearly 15,000 feet high which are snow-capped the year round.

Mark Sheridan read his in the light of the big porch.

Closes Investigation
Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Secretary Patterson closed the army's Pearl Harbor investigation today with a decision that facts do not warrant disciplining Col. Theodore Wyman, Jr., army engineer formerly in charge of Hawaiian defense construction.

He made public a previously withheld section of the board's report in which the army investigators reported "lavish" parties given by Hans Wilhelm Rohl, German-born contractor, at which Wyman was present.

LIBRARY
OR COLLEGEL. Fleming Un-king Collection
quired In France

L. Fleming, chairman of Foreign Languages Department at Carolina Teachers College, is packing a large collection of books, magazines, posters, photographs, and pamphlets which has just received from France. These will soon make these available to students at the college. These works, many of which are now unobtainable in America, are in a unique library.

Mr. Fleming, recently discharged from the army, served for 30 months as interpreter and translator for 15 months of this time having spent in France. His previous residence and contacts in France enabled him to acquire works which are rare in this country or impossible to get through ordinary trade channels. Many items were presented to him by agencies of the French government interested in the cultural relationships between the two countries.

The photographs are official. They picture French life, especially events of the Nazi occupation and the liberation and reconstruction of France.

Posters used by the Nazis show the anti-British, anti-American, anti-Jewish propaganda with which the Germans tried to divide the French nation.

One of the interesting items in Mr. Fleming's collection is a German reproduction of an American dollar with accompanying comments.

which constitute an attack upon Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

A large atlas of France and the province, published by the Comite national de Geographic, was a fortunate acquisition, for Mr. Fleming secured the last copy available in Paris at the time of his departure.

Several numbered and beautifully illustrated editions are included in the collection. Among the magazines are the latest editions of "Album de la Mode Du Figaro," "La Demeure," and "Art et Style," all rare in America at present. They are printed on fine paper and contain many attractive illustrations.

The fashion magazines showing the latest Parisian styles interest women students at the college, who notice that French hats are as startlingly odd as those worn by American women this season.

A number of exhibits of this material will be scheduled during the school year.

Similarly, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he thought it much better for Byrnes to "come back from London without any agreement than with a paper victory that sacrificed principle."

Byrnes is likely to get some suggestions from committee members that they be given more information about foreign policy, not only as it concerns Europe but as it relates to Latin America.

Several committee members apparently are misled that Byrnes did not talk to the group before he went to London. Some are displeased too at the precipitate action taken by the State Department in getting the Rio de Janeiro Inter-American Conference called off as a slap at Argentina.

Holding Negro For Forgery, Larceny

Police are holding James O. Wilkes, 24-year-old Negro of the Ayden community on charges of the larceny of an automobile and forgery. He will be given a hearing in Police Court after police make further investigation.
Police Chief James E. Tanner said Wilkes is charged with the larceny of a Ford car belonging to S-Sgt. Arthur R. Doyle, Jr. of the Marine Base at Cherry Point. Wilkes is also charged with forging the name of Hazard May, Ayden farmer, to a check for $31. Police said he was trying to pass the check to the Greenville Motor Company on Alameda Avenue for repairs on the stolen car. Motor company officials became suspicious, called the police. When Patrolmen Corbett and Crawford appeared they found out Wilkes was the very man they wanted, and they locked him up.

Catches Of Fish
Going To Waste

Beaufort, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Fishermen are making big hauls along the coast, but thousands of pounds of fish are being thrown overboard because of inadequate handling facilities.
Only last week a Dare County man gave a neighbor $1,300 worth of fish. Next Captain Bonner Willis loaded his boat with 90,000 pounds of food fish, but the market was unable to absorb more than 35,000 pounds at 4 1/2 cents a pound, so the captain took the rest out to sea and dumped it overboard.
Then Captain Willis brought in 60,000 pounds. There was no place to sell or store it, so Captain Willis had to throw the entire catch overboard—a cool $2,500.

The hard luck was blamed on a lack of ice and fish boxes. To handle some of the large catches now being made, truckers have driven to Elizabeth City, Norfolk and other cities to buy such ice and boxes that are available.

Fishermen said that the huge glut and lack of facilities are threatening to break the newly-found prosperity along the coast. However, Irving Morris of Atlantic collected $5,000 for one haul of spot and trout, and John Smith of Davis got $2,000 for a day's work.

New Parliament
Meets Tomorrow

London, Oct. 8.—(AP)—An untired Labor Parliament embarks tomorrow on the gigantic task of converting Britain's war-gear economy to a peacetime basis and providing homes for 4,000,000 bombed-out persons—a job which will be the supreme test of the Socialist reform program sponsored by the new "People's Government."

Nationalization of the country's major industries will be the keynote of the session.

The new Parliament received a warning of its difficulties last August, when it convened for organizational purposes after the July election landslide that carried the Labor party into power.

Beware Coughs
Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Business Women
Celebrate Week

President Truman officially opened National Business Women's Week today with a statement to Miss Margaret A. Hickey, of St. Louis, Mo., president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. President Truman said:

"The theme 'Jobs Enough to Go Round' which will emphasize the group discussions this year in the annual observance of National Business Women's Week is most timely. I hope that the forthcoming conferences will be fruitful of wise counsel and will develop many suggestions to make full employment a reality."

"Full employment means work opportunity for every man or woman who wants to work. This opportunity is necessary to the continued progress of our nation. Without work there is no wealth; for wealth is the result of applied labor. Work likewise is essential to the full development of our individual citizens. We can store machinery carefully away; we can leave untapped for future use vast stores of natural resources. But we cannot store away or leave untapped the skills and talents of human beings. Every day lost in enforced idleness is an opportunity lost, a talent diminished."

"Our democratic system has succeeded because it is the best method yet devised for permitting a man to develop fully his own individual talents. Its future progress will rest upon the degree to which we Americans continue to have the opportunity for profitable, productive employment."

Smaller Cotton Crop

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's production of cotton at 9,779,000 bales of 500-pound gross weight, on the basis of conditions on Oct. 1.

This estimate compared with 12,236,000 bales produced last year and with 12,293,000 bales for the ten-year (1934-43) average. The estimate a month ago was 10,026,000.

Two negroes, Thomas Moss and Kawan Burwell of Vance County, occupants of the other car, were reported in a critical condition.

The other highway fatality was reported at Raleigh where Archie Raymond Jones of Henderson met death Saturday night in an automobile-truck collision. Coroner Roy M. Banks reported. The accident occurred north of Raleigh on the Wake Forest highway when Jones' car and a bakery truck driven by J. R. Jones of Raleigh, crashed. The truck driver was taken to a Raleigh hospital.

Coroner H. D. Tomlin of Statesville, reported the death of Roy Allen Tilley, Jr., 19, who was fatally wounded when a 32 calibre pistol he and several friends were examining was discharged accidentally. Coroner Tomlin said a jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

The second gunshot victim was Harold E. Deaver, 14, of the Dix Creek section near Canton. Dr. J. Frank Pate, Haywood County coroner, said the youth was killed while squirrel hunting, and added that investigation indicated the tragedy was accidental.

Army Will Reduce Point Scores Again

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Effective next March, all Army enlisted men with two years service will be eligible for discharge, the House Military Committee heard today.

By that time, Brig. Gen. Robert W. Berry testified, enough high-point men will have been released to allow discharges on length of service alone.

Between now and March, Berry said, critical point scores for discharge will be reduced progressively. At present the figure is 70 points. In November it should drop to 60 points.

Berry also told the committee that "not many" 2-year veterans will be discharged soon under a recently announced policy of releasing "surplus" personnel.
