Montgomery-Ward Again Facing Strike Troubles

Huge Mail Order House Involved In Another Labor Dispute With Some 75,000 Employees Involved; Executive Board Authorizes Nation Wide Strike

By ASSOCIATED PRESS Further labor trouble for Montgomery Ward & Co was threatened today. A nationwide strike by some 75,000 employees of the huge mail order house, which in the last few years has been involved in numerous labor disputes, was authorized yesterday by the general executive board of the CIO United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employees.

The time for calling the strike, the board said at a meeting in New York, will be decided by President Samuel Wolchok. He announced he would call it "at the most opportune time."

First, however, Wolchok said the union, acting in the public interest would "exhaust the processes of negotiation and mediation. We are willing and offer to submit all issues to arbitration."

Elsewhere along the country's labor front, major disputes concerned the prolonged strike of movie workers in Hollywood and the United Automobile Workers fight to gain a 30 per cent wage rate increase for a half million motor industry workers. The various labor troubles in industry and business kept 223,000 workers away from their jobs, 2,000 less than reported idle yesterday.

While tabulations of yesterday's strike vote among some 125,000 of the Chrysler Corporation employees in 27 plants were not announced, CIO United Automobile Workers officials interpreted the results of a similar poll on Wednesday among General Motors workers as a "mandate" to press UAW wage demands. They said that although only 83,654 of GM's 325,000 eligible employees voted, the nearly 6 to 1 majority favoring a work stoppage was indicative of the workers' sentiments.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice-president, however, asserted that no strike would be called until every possible effort to reach a peaceful settlement has been exhausted and then not without approval of the union's International Executive Board. The union and corporation officials continued their wage dispute conference today.

In Hollywood, it was possible indication that the prolonged strike among movie workers might be settled. After hundreds of pickets gathered at Warner Brothers and some other studios yesterday, Herbert Sorrell, head of the striking conference of studio unions, last night ordered their withdrawal. His order came after a preliminary conference with producer representatives. A second meeting was planned today. There was further violence at the studios and at least one striker was injured.

ALDERMEN OK NEW HIGHWAY Proposed Boulevard Would Relieve Traffic Congestion

By CHESTER WALSH The Board of Aldermen in special session at the City Hall last night approved the State Highway and Public Works Commission's proposal to build a highway through the city to relieve the "bottleneck" of traffic congestion now prevailing. The new highway as mapped would branch off from the Falkland highway near the radio station and go eastward, paralleling the river to Elm street extended and thence along Elm to 14th street and connect with the New Bern highway near the Lovd Tucker farm. Mayor Jack Boyd presided.

A large number of citizens attended the meeting. Mayor Boyd District Highway Commissioner John G. Clark and District Highway Engineer W. N. Spruill explained that the cost of the highway would be borne jointly by the federal, state and city governments; that rights of way would preferably be procured from property owners at private sale, and that the main object is to build the highway with complete consideration for the interests of property owners in the city and outside the city limits. Navy Said London, Oct. 26.—(AP)—U. S. naval headquarters said today that of 18,200 naval officers and men stationed in the European theater Aug. 15, a total of 16,690 had been sent home for inactive duty or discharge by Oct. 15. A further decrease of 52 per cent in personnel was planned by Dec. 1.

The situation bristles with complications. The British government which holds the mandate for Palestine is trying to handle this hot potato, and the matter has been the subject of conversations between London and Washington. There has been a growing feeling in England that the United States should share in the responsibility of trying to reach a solution. This column yesterday suggested that the Japanese revolt against the British, and the native rebellion in French-Indo China, might well be taken up by the new world security organization for settlement. The question of self-determination is a logical one to come before all the United Nations. There naturally would have to be mediation by some country, to halt the fighting and preserve the status quo, pending the time when the security organization gets into full action. Why shouldn't a similar program be applied to the Palestine difficulty? Certainly there could be no (Continued on Page Four)

NAZI TRAITOR FACING DOOM DIES IN CELL

Dr. Robert Ley One Time Chief Of Hitler's Labor Front Hangs Himself In Cell In Nuernberg Jail Rather Than Face Trial

By GEORGE TUCKER Nuernberg, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Bull-necked, lugubrious Dr. Robert Ley, one-time luxury loving chief of Hitler's labor front, hanged himself in his cell last night at the Nuernberg jail, where he was awaiting trial as a war criminal. Col. John Harlan Amen, interrogation chief, disclosed today that Ley had left a document entitled "My Political Testament," which Amen said was "a terrific apology for his anti-Semitism." The message was directed to "My German People." Ley also left two other documents, prepared in his cell. One was a will, addressed to his children; the other a long discourse directed to his three wives. A spokesman said he called upon his last wife not to remarry, "because I know you love only me."

His suicide may mean major changes in preparations for the trial of the 22 other leading Nazis incarcerated there. With the opening of the trial just a few days away, Ley's death was believed to exclude the use of certain documents with high value as evidence, pertaining only to the ex-labor boss. Ley was pronounced dead at 8:10 p. m. (2:10 p. m. EST) last night, after efforts to revive him failed. The official announcement, issued by Prison Commandant Col. C. B. Andrus of Denver, Colo., said the body was discovered by a sentinel who became suspicious when Ley remained seated motionless in his cell for more than two minutes. He was buried early today in an unmarked grave. "The sentinel called the prisoner by name and received no answer," the announcement said. "The guard and the corporal (of the guard) entered the cell and discovered Ley was in the toilet area. His mouth was stuffed with rags torn from his underwear. Around (Continued on Page Three)

Wilmington Is Made N. C. Port Of Entry

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The port of Wilmington has been designated by the U. S. Maritime Commission as a major lay-up basin for surplus ships. Capt. Roger Williams, president of the North Carolina Shipbuilding Company, has been advised by Emory S. Land, commission chairman, that contract specifications have been forwarded authorizing the shipyards to map this work immediately. The program will assure continued large scale operations at the $200,000,000 shipyard here.

Today In Congress

By Max Hall Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The compulsory military training plan got a full-steam ahead signal in Congress today. House leaders decided to win a decision—one way or another—by Christmas. Maybe even by late November, a month from now. President Truman's proposal of a year's military training for all youths puts Congress on a political hot spot, these leaders feel. They want to get it out of the way, well before the 1946 congressional election campaigning. It's likely senators will also feel an urge for speed. A new fight popped up about the Pearl Harbor attack probe. And the Senate Finance Committee chairman, Walter George of Georgia, said the new tax cut bill will furnish all the relief people can expect of their 1946 incomes. About the Pearl Harbor investigation: Republicans hotly protested a White House order letting only a majority of the 10-man Senate-House joint Pearl Harbor committee summon witnesses of records. The four GOP members had also wanted freedom for each to sleuth out leads of his own. This is the way the Senate's War Investigating Committee operates. Mr. Truman when a senator headed up that committee. But as President he's rejected the plan for the Pearl Harbor investigators. Democrats defended the Truman action. They said the whole committee is responsible for examining the causes of the Hawaii base disaster and should go about it as a group. About taxes: House and Senate delegations

ASK CONGRESS TO GO SLOWLY Leaders Seek Delay In Ending War Powers

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Administration leaders asked Congress today to go slow in revoking war powers granted the executive branch of the government. Reconversion Director John W. Snyder declared such action now would "seriously interfere with the reconversion program."

He told a House Judiciary Subcommittee "no wartime control will be exercised one day longer than is absolutely needed," but added: "In our haste to return to the ways of peace there is grave danger (Continued on Page Two)

Truman Order Prohibits Republicans From Calling Witnesses

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—President Truman has signed an order which Republicans said today gives the Democratic members of the Pearl Harbor Committee a stranglehold on the investigation's course. The order provides that witnesses and records may be summoned only by majority action of the 10-member Senate-House group. Six members are Democrats. At the same time the President rejected a proposal that individual committee members be permitted to interview prospective army and navy witnesses and to look over official records. Republican protests may explode in the Senate and House unless some compromise is reached. They are keeping silent now in the hope they may force approval of procedure similar to that of the Senate War Investigating Committee. When Mr. Truman headed that committee as a senator, each member was free to poke into any government records he wanted to see. He could talk to anybody who might have information on the war program. Then he could report to other members and if they decided an investigation was warranted, it was so ordered. Senators said this system procedure (Continued on Page Two)

Early Recognition Of Venezuela Seen

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Recognition of the new revolutionary government in Venezuela by the United States and most other American republics is imminent, the State Department said today. In response to questions from newsmen, a department spokesman said that it is likely that the date for recognition of the new regime will be set within two days. This government has not yet heard from all the other American republics on the matter, he added. TOBACCO PRICES ADVANCE. The Greenville tobacco market brought its 10th week of the current selling season to an end this afternoon, disposing of approximately 1,575,000 pounds of tobacco on today's sales. Prices on all types of tobacco were consistently high on every sale today. Sales Supervisor R. C. Rankin said. Edge rows of tobacco were sold for prices that ranged from $48 to $50 per hundred, and, despite an ever increasing amount of common leaf from day to day, the overall average for today was well above $46 per hundred. Today's sales, added to leaf sold previously, will give Greenville a total of approximately 55,250,000 pounds for the season. Local tobaccoists are now predicting better than 60,000,000 pounds before the market closes.

MacArthur Looks To Washington For Word On Policy Of Other Allied Troops

By ASSOCIATED PRESS Tokyo, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The Japanese Foreign Office today showed reluctance to obey General MacArthur's unprecedented orders for the diplomatic isolation of Japan. Domei Agency quoted unnamed informed sources as reporting that the government would "exercise great care" in following the order, but that Foreign Office officials "would sort out" Allied authorities on whether the directive "conforms to the Potsdam Declaration." MacArthur yesterday ordered Japan to transfer all of her diplomatic and consular properties and archives everywhere in the world to the Allied powers, to cease relations with foreign governments, and to recall her diplomatic and consular representatives from abroad. The directive was prepared by the joint chiefs of staff in Washington. The Allies immediately after the cessation of hostilities, had requested Japan to cease relations with neutral powers. At that time some quarters of the government expressed the opinion that the request was inconsistent with the Potsdam pact. Since the surrender, Japan has maintained relations with Switzerland, Sweden, Portugal, Eire, Afghanistan and the Holy See. On the occupation front, MacArthur's headquarters said that plans for fitting other Allied troops into the setup await the conclusion of policy discussions among the big powers, then the receipt of orders from Washington. "So date, not one official word has come through." MacArthur, meanwhile, indicated impatience at slowness from the Japanese government concerning his pointed suggestions two weeks ago that Japanese big family monopolies be "democratized." A brusque headquarters statement said the Allied commander had received "no official communication from the imperial Japanese government on any phase of the Zaiabatsu (big families) question." American occupation officials probing into hidden resources within the conquered nation reported confiscation of $2,500,000 worth of radium from vaults of the German consulate at Osaka. The radium, from Czechoslovakia, had been intended for sale to Japanese hospitals, the report said. Authorities questioned concerning joint Allied occupation plans said they had no idea, when troops of the British Commonwealth, China and Russia would arrive, nor (Continued on Page Four)

Chairman J. H. Waldrop Announces Names Of Committeemen

J. Herbert Waldrop, chairman of the Pitt County War Finance Committee, issued the following statement today: "Pitt County's quota in the Victory Loan Drive is $1,265,000—of which $515,000 is in E Bonds. These quotas are somewhat less than in the last campaign. The campaign opens October 29th and continues through December 8th, except in E, F and G bonds and Treasury Saving Notes which count through December 31st.

Elderly Publisher And Editor Dies

Mooreville, Oct. 26.—(AP)—One of the state's oldest publishers and editors, Harry Preston Deaton, 73, of Mooreville, died at a local hospital yesterday. He was a native of Cabarrus County, and was formerly with the Charlotte Democrat when it was published by Major W. J. Yates. He later worked on newspapers in Washington, Memphis and Birmingham, returning to Mooreville in later years where he was editor and publisher of the Enterprise. Weather Forecast Extended forecast for period from 7:30 p. m. Friday to 7:30 p. m. Wednesday—Temperatures will average below normal; cooler at beginning of period, followed by rising trend latter part of week, becoming cooler again by Monday; light showers Sunday or Monday, otherwise no precipitation indicated.

The WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst One of the most dangerous of the many crises which are threatening international peace is that growing out of the dispute over whether unrestricted Jewish immigration should be permitted into Palestine. A host of homeless Jews in Europe—refugees from the Hitlerian storm—are crying for a raising of the barriers. Arabs in Palestine and in neighboring countries are offering their opposition—and threats of armed strife are in the air. The situation bristles with complications. The NATION TODAY

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER (Substituting for James Marlow) Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The world is beginning an armaments race without parallel in history. Half the world does not trust the other half. The United States and Britain know how to get along; but Anglo-America and Russia simply haven't had the combination. Washington and London shared virtually all their top war secrets—not all but 90 or 95 per cent. Russia would not trade. Secret. But diplomatic and scientific Washington are convinced that Soviet physicists and engineers are working 34 hours a day to catch up. Army, navy and political leaders say this means the United States must be so powerful that no other country will dare attack. And Russia feels she must be so powerful that no nation will dare attack her. official Washington thinks to help protect them against the capitalist west. The United States, while professing to love everybody, began staking out claims on strategic bases in the Pacific. Into this brew of suspicion dropped the atomic bomb. The Russians haven't said anything about the policy of keeping it more or less "Secret." But diplomatic and scientific Washington are convinced that Soviet physicists and engineers are working 34 hours a day to catch up. Army, navy and political leaders say this means the United States must be so powerful that no other country will dare attack. And Russia feels she must be so powerful that no nation will dare attack her. They did this for security reasons

Birth Announcements Mr. and Mrs. Julian S. Bullock of Conover, announce the birth of a son, Lawrence Rowland, on October 24th at the home of Mr. S. Bullock's mother, Mrs. R. P. Bristol, of Greenville. Mrs. Bullock is the former Miss Thelma Bullock of Greenville.

A. A. U. W. To Meet Mr. James Fleming, head of the modern language department at the college, will be the speaker at the October meeting of the A. A. U. W. The meeting, having been postponed from the usual time, will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock, in the new classroom building of the college.

Mr. Fleming has studied and lived abroad, and can draw on a fund of personal experience and observation to help create better understanding of other nations.

Those who are eligible for membership in the A. A. U. W. are especially invited to attend this first meeting. The program is open to the general public also.

Famous Ballerina at College The program for the performance of Marina Svetlova and Company, Saturday evening at 8:00 in the Wright auditorium of the college has been received, including 15 short numbers, 12 of which are varied and beautiful performances.

High spots are Svetlova's solo numbers. The first of these is a variation from "Princess Aurora" with music by Tchaikovsky, the role in which the famous ballerina won fame in the Ballet Russe. Others include a fanciful "Dance of the Elf" set to Grieg's "Butterfly," and the sprightly "Gay Nineties," suggested to Svetlova by Deems Taylor, the famous composer and music critic.

Alexis Dolinoff uses music by Strauss for his solo number, and is Svetlova's partner in another Strauss selection, "Viennese Waltz," a gay and romantic scene from a ball. The two Metropolitan stars appear together in "Meditation From Thal's," "Dancing School Recital," a humorous interlude; and in the swirling "Gypsy Dance from Mignon."

In gorgeous Spanish costume Elena Imaz will interpret such typical dances of Spain as the tango and the jota. With Dolinoff she dances "Leyenda," descriptive of a noble courtship, with music by Theodor Haig, evidently known popular taste for he will play Chopin's "Polonaise in A flat major" ("To the End of Time" melody) and the graceful "Claire de Lune" of Debussy.

Entertained at Tea The student branch of the Association for Childhood Education entertained freshmen members at a tea on Thursday afternoon in the parlors of the Education building at East Carolina Teachers College. Decorations of fall flowers and sprays of berries made the scene attractive. About fifty guests were present. Gladys Davis of Pikeville and other members of the special committee of the A. C. E. acted as hostesses.

Business and Professional Club The Business and Professional Woman's Club met Thursday night at the Old Towne Inn for the monthly supper meeting with 21 members present and seven visitors.

Mrs. Viola Baker presided. She reported on the district meeting that was held in Roanoke Rapids. Mrs. Ruth Garner, chairman of the Hallow-en program, gave her report.

She stated that the Hallow-en party would be at the high school on Wednesday night, October 31 from seven until ten. A prize will be given for the best costume. There will be throwing contests, darts, penny throwing, cake walk, home-made cake auction, free contest, ghost house, fun house, bobbing for apples, fortune telling, Bingo, fish pond, jitterbug contest, donkey contest, and a dance. Food will be on sale during the entire party.

Announcement was made of the mid-year council which is to be held at Sedgfield Inn, November 17-18. The next executive board meeting will be on November 8th with Mrs. Viola Baker at 319 East 8th street.

It was decided that the supper meeting would be held from now on at 7 p. m. instead of 7:30.

Dr. A. D. Frank presented the program topic, "Take Peace" after being introduced by Mrs. Ruth Meeks as the one person who knew the subject. He pointed out that we often confuse peace with security and that we are more concerned with international security now than peace.

He reminded us that the world cannot be brought back to normal circumstances without our first making sacrifices. We must set up a system of foreign trade to help the other nations.

Again we were reminded that we must learn to accept the government as our own responsibility. We must learn to vote intelligently. Finally Dr. Frank said, "We must think and write security to save the situation."—Reported.

Swanner-Whitchard Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Whitchard of Greenville, N. C., Route 3, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marian Darrell Whitchard to Pfc. James William Swanner of Pine-town, N. C., on October 17, 1945. Swanner is now stationed at the Lawson General Hospital, Atlanta, Ga.

He spent two years in the Atlantic on the USS Arkansas, two years land duty at Yorktown, Va., and the remainder of the time on the escort destroyer Reynolds in the Pacific.

Ask Congress... (Continued From Page One) that the very machinery we need to attain an orderly reconversion may be thrown out of gear by too hasty abandonment of some wartime controls.

In this category he placed rationing and priority authority, operation of the selective service system and many other powers.

Other federal agency officials also echoed Snyder's view later.

But four congressmen pleaded for immediate action on their bills to proclaim a legal end to the war either on September 2 or August 14. They were Reps. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.), Marlon Bennett (R-Mo.), Lewis (R-Ohio), and Boren (D-Okla.).

"It is morally wrong to keep men in the service who enlisted for the duration and six months by this legal trick of continuing hostilities beyond the end of the shooting," Miller declared.

"Many things are being done under the guise of the war effort and which the bureaucrats ought to be called on to justify," Boren said.

Regarding service men, Snyder replied: "The army does not believe we can safely proclaim hostilities are at an end. Our troops are still deployed in numerous isolated and unfriendly areas where the dangers of guerrilla warfare are always present."

He added that War Department officials would elaborate on this theme later.

Snyder insisted "it is essential that we retain the controls which make it possible for this government to live up to its commitments with other nations."

Said Snyder: "In a very real sense the war emergency continues."

President Truman in a message to Congress September 6, cautioned against "undue haste" and said "the time has not yet arrived for the proclamation of the cessation of hostilities."

Too speedy a reversion to pre-war legal status would mean chaos and confusion, Mr. Truman stated. Attorney General Tom Clark, in an accompanying report, said operation of the selective service system and many other powers held by the executive branch of the government will expire automatically if either of the suggested bills are adopted.

Subcommittee Chairman Hobbs (D-Ala.) told a reported study before recommending action. He said however, that it is important that legal status of the President's powers and of various agencies be made clear.

Republicans helped draft an order they hoped would permit its use by the Pearl Harbor Committee.

But when William D. Mitchell, counsel for the Pearl Harbor group, took the order to the White House Mr. Truman didn't sign it.

"Now the Republicans say the Democrats, with a six to four majority, will be able to dictate not only which witnesses shall be called but what records are opened."

Democrats retort that the whole committee, not any individual, has the responsibility for the investigation and the whole committee should decide its course.

The House heard charges yesterday that a bill to protect military secrets might prevent a full investigation of the Pearl Harbor attack.

Rep. Halleck (R-Ind.) charged that the bill would "seal the lips" of Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Lt. Gen. Walter Short, Pearl Harbor commanders in 1941, as well as persons who have information about Pearl Harbor contained in coded messages.

Republican members have been particularly anxious that the inquiry committee take a look at an unpublished portion of the naval inquiry board's report dealing with Japanese messages intercepted after the navy broke the Japanese diplomatic code in November, 1941.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal has urged that this portion of the report be kept secret. Members said it has not yet been made available to the Senate-House committee.

The Curious Clue

BY RUFUS HEED

Chapter 11

Seth's first impression of Douglas Gardner was that he combined capacity for swift action with keen intelligence. He wore battered old spectacles, and when he was listening to someone, or puzzled about anything, he would start polishing them with a crumpled-up handkerchief that usually left the glasses more fogged than they were before. He might be forty, but he looked younger.

"Cobol'll work all the harder, now that his men slipped up on Potter," Gardner said to Seth as they waited for the inquest to start that afternoon. "I know him—have worked with him before. He does some things very well."

"There's certainly room for improvement in what I've seen up to date, in his office. But then you and I have the dossier to worry about—not Cobol!" Seth's voice was sombre.

The place was suffocating and Ramon Delgado the only one in the room seemingly untouched by the wilting heat. Without prelude he outlined the case to the jury and started calling the witnesses in rapid succession. He evidently took his duties as coroner in a most businesslike fashion.

To Seth's intense relief, the dangerous time element in Suzy's evidence was not emphasized, although it was mentioned. By this time there was no doubt in Seth's mind that Dolores had been killed a few minutes after Suzy had left her. He knew that was too close to be safe unless other facts were definitely pointing in another direction. Evidently Ramon had such facts.

Cobo was called, and said that finger prints of five people were all over both the sitting room and the bedroom. He declared that nothing could be learned from them. Finger marks left by the murderer on the victim's throat gave no clue as they were bruises—not definitely finger prints. All five people in any way involved in the murder were accounted for, he said: General Howard, Seth Peabody, Miss Van Tyne, Mrs. Warner, certainly the coroner!

Ramon acknowledged this statement with a slight nod of his head and then asked the Chief of Police if he had found any trace of Henry Potter.

No, I'm sorry to say. He not found," Cobo replied. "But his time was also accounted for Saturday night in Luke Hale's office."

"But that was time after ten—before—wasn't it?" Ramon asked quickly.

Cobo nodded. "That's right. Time from ten until Mr. Peabody telephoned hotel manager that he had found body in Miss Van Tyne's room."

With that time gap before ten o'clock left in the minds of the jury, Ramon called Seth to the stand.

Ramon's questions quickly established the time Seth spent in the lobby Saturday night, waiting for Suzy. Also he brought out the time he loitered near the clerk's desk watching the dancers go on for their act. Then the coroner suddenly changed his tactics. He began to question Seth about the contents of the brief case that had been stolen.

"You went to the bedroom to get this dossier and found the trunk had been rifled, and the brief case taken? Is that correct?"

"Yes. That is right."

"Please describe to the jury what was in the brief case. Why is it valuable to you?"

"It contains plans, blue prints, and drawings of a steam engine for the new Van Tyne airplane."

"I understand the secrets of this new steam engine for airplanes is the burner. Were the plans for that burner in the brief case?"

For a long moment, Seth did not speak. Then he said in a low voice, "No."

"Where are the plans for this burner?"

"In New York."

"Were they ever brought to Key West?"

"No."

"Did you draw the plans for this burner and do you, personally, not the Van Tyne Company, own the patent to this burner?"

Seth hesitated, then said slowly, "I own the patent to the burner."

"Thank you, that is all. Witness dismissed."

"Now what in hell was he trying to do to me?" Seth demanded angrily as he and Gardner sat waiting for their mint juleps in Sloppy Joe's cool, high-ceiling bar, a few minutes later.

"Ramon's dumb like a fox! Look, Peabody, he might twist things you said this afternoon and make them look pretty bad for you."

"I don't see how."

"Just this way. You are all evidently agreed that Dolores found someone stealing your dossier. She recognized that person and was killed in order that the identity of the thief would not be known. The design of this engine and the plans for the airplane are highly valuable to you and the government. Delgado now goes a step further and puts you in a position where you can trade with the thief or might even be the thief yourself."

"Me—steal my own plans! Are you crazy?"

"Now wait a minute. Not so fast. You own the patent to the burner. Suppose a rival company now has your designs and blue prints. They are obviously no good without the design of your burner. That fact would enable you to ask any price you chose for the burner should said rival company decide that they would have to have your burner at any cost. And such a company would know they would have to deal only with you in the matter of Van Tyne Aircraft."

"Well, of all the diabolical things Good Lord!" Seth gasped. "I need a drink, but fast."

"They were still discussing this phase when Cobo came in to give them the verdict of the coroner's jury."

The verdict was that Dolores Carabelle was dead at the hands of person or persons unknown. The jury also recommended that Henry Potter and Seth Peabody be held over for further investigation by the Grand Jury.

Chapter 12

"That's the damndest verdict! What in Heaven's name does it mean?" Seth was bewildered, quite unprepared for Cobo's news and very angry. The little Chief of Police slipped silently into a chair beside him and waited patiently for the waiter to return for his order.

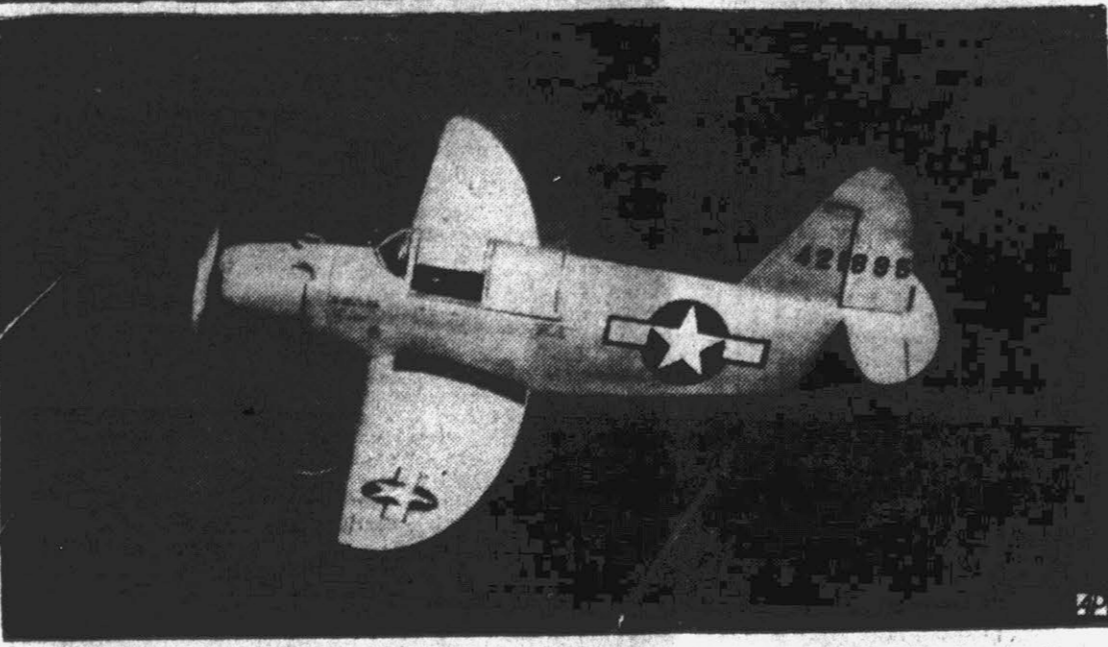

"I'll tell you what it means," Seth's fist hit the table. "That phony coroner is trying to pin a murder charge on me."

"Here, here, take it easy," Gardner pushed his spectacles up on his forehead and leaned forward on his elbows, watching Seth, but ignoring the quick fear in his voice. "That's the damndest verdict I ever heard of. The little Chief of Police met her death at the hands of person or persons unknown. That is the usual open verdict. Then the jury goes on to make a recommendation for further investigation holding you and Potter over for the Grand Jury."

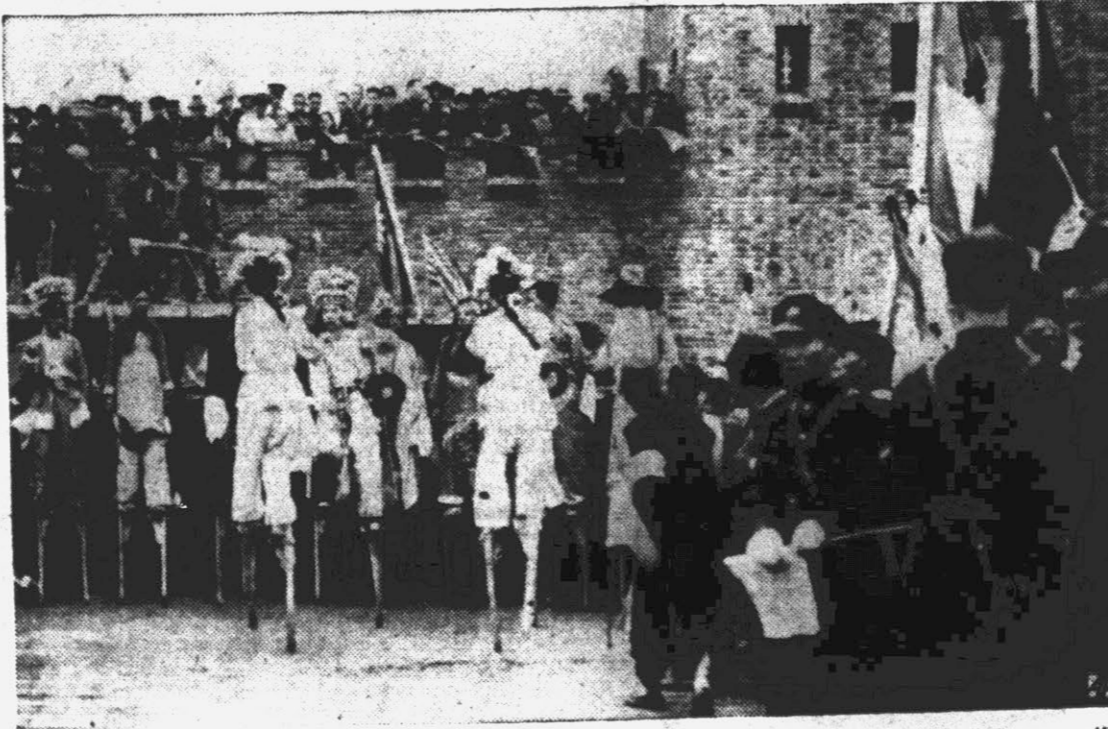

"Which probably means an indictment," Seth replied curtly.

"Not necessarily," Gardner drained his glass and motioned to the waiter as he came back and took Cobo's order. "Certainly there could be no indictment on the basis of the evidence we heard this afternoon. But the coroner's jury is right about one thing. A thorough investigation must be conducted until all facts are known. This case is still wide open. Am I right, Cobo?"

Cobo's eyes bulged with suppressed excitement. He nodded excitedly. "That is right. No clues any good—must work fast. Que dale!"

NATIVE STILT DANCE—Natives at Tangku, China, put on one of their rare stilt dances to welcome personnel of the First Marine division. Chinese soldiers stand at right.

"You said it," Gardner whipped the glasses from his forehead and began to polish them with a crumpled handkerchief and a rapid rotary motion. "The next 24 hours will tell the story—and, Peabody, don't misunderstand me. If you don't get your dossier back within that time, I think it's gone for good. Hours count now."

"Is there any chance that the person who stole the dossier is still on the island?"

"You mean Potter? Cobo asked abruptly. Both men looked at him curiously. Gardner said abruptly, "Could be. Anyway, Cobo, you want Potter. You don't know what he was doing from nine forty-five until ten Saturday night. You'll have to find that out pretty fast and we've got to catch him before he leaves the island. I didn't find a trace of any boat off shore this morning. He's still around here some place."

"But where?" Cobo shrugged his shoulders helplessly. "I swear he cannot get out of Key West—This time I know that—Jesus y'Maria!"

"Never mind Cobo. Before midnight we check again. By the way, Peabody, why wasn't the design for your burner in with the other plans for the plane?"

"The government did not ask for it, and we considered it too valuable to carry from place to place," Seth answered promptly. "But of course on the stand today all of this sounded like a criminal making his getaway. This fellow's gone too far. Damn him. I'll fix him so he won't."

"Don't be a fool, Peabody," Gardner said shortly. "I'm not pulling any punches either. But if you and Delgado mix things up, I'll bet you'll have so much more trouble, what you have now'll look like a meat market in war time—Nothing to it, Delgado's all right. He did a pretty good job this afternoon. But for God's sake, lay off him. You work with me and let Cobo and Delgado handle the murder end of this case. Right?"

Seth grinned, and Gardner could see the taut, straight line of his square-set jaw relax a little as he said: "All right, Gardner, you're the boss. I'll keep my troubles to myself."

Gardner laughed. "Now let's get going. I'm not taking time to go out to Fort Schuyler. I'll phone the General from here, and when do I see you again?"

"At dinner at the hotel—" Seth signalled the waiter for the check. "But why eat when there's plenty to drink!" A voice exclaimed behind him. Seth pushed back his chair, stood up, and faced Ramon Delgado. He had come over to the table unobserved by the three men.

"Okay, Joe. I'll take my usual. Gin and tonic." He smiled at Seth. "Not leaving us?"

"Yes. Going down town. I'll see you at the hotel, Gardner." Seth turned to go when Ramon stopped him by asking,

"Were you surprised at the verdict this afternoon?"

"Who, me?" Seth turned and stared down at the dancer, his faint smile vanishing as he answered him. "Nothing surprises me in this town and I'm not an object of concern or discussion. I just have a quaint old-fashioned objection to being smeared. It isn't going to take me long, either, to find out if my technique needs a shot in the arm."

"Poppa no like." Ramon shrugged his shoulders and concentrated on his drink.

Gardner jumped to his feet. "Wait a minute, Peabody. I'm going with you."

Seth stalked off; the federal man close at his heels. A few minutes later, as Gardner waited for the General in the telephone booth, he admitted to himself that Seth had cause for indignation. Only in Key West could there ever be such a fantastic opera bouffet setup for a murder investigation.

Then for a couple of minutes Gardner listened to some very good plain and fancy swearing from General Howard. The commanding officer of the fort was furious at the verdict and did not hesitate to say so. Finally, when he had calmed down a little, he asked Gardner what he was doing that evening.

"I'm going after Potter. I intend to find him tonight if he is still on this island. Peabody saw him coming in from a swim at three o'clock in the morning, Sunday. He says still be within swimming distance of the hotel."

"And he may have the dossier," the General conceded. "I've been thinking a lot about that man today."

"I'm going to stop thinking and smoke him out. Right now I'm going out to buy a bathing suit," Gardner replied. "I'll report to you first thing in the morning—six o'clock I'll call you."

But at six the next morning, it was the General who called Douglas Gardner.

Confiscates Radium

Tokyo, Oct. 26—(AP)—American occupation forces confiscated $2,500,000 worth of radium from the German consulate at Osaka on October 18, said a delayed official report reaching Tokyo.

The radium was packed in vials encased in lead-lined caskets within the consulate vault. X-rays disclosed the vials were leaking but the precious elements were preserved.

The Americans said the radium came from Czechoslovakia and originally had been intended for sale in Japan to hospitals.

Full Fashioned Mill Wins Award

More than 16,500,000 hours were worked without a single disabling injury in the three 1945 Statewide Safety Contests sponsored by the North Carolina Industrial Commission, according to reports now being prepared by E. G. Padgett, director of Safety for the Industrial Commission. These contests cover the textile, hosiery and furniture industries of the State and are annual affairs.

It is interesting to note that 100 or 56 percent of those participating in the Hosiery Safety Contest came through with a perfect score. The Greenville Full Fashioned Hosiery Mill, Felix Scheller, owner and manager, made a perfect record in the 1945 contests.

"A total of 699 plants registered for these contests," Mr. Padgett said, "and with the exception of one, every single plant that entered completed the entire contest period. This is the best average ever made, and indicates the interest industry as a whole is showing in accident-prevention work. These 699 plants employed 181,364 men and women, working 248,008,686 hours."

"The accident frequency rate in each contest showed a substantial reduction this year over the year 1944."

Pitt Ration Office Will Remain Open

Raleigh, Oct. 26—In line with OPA's declared policy of reducing the number of War Price and Rationing boards as wartime restrictions are removed, seven local boards in Eastern North Carolina will be abolished effective October 31 and thirty-three boards will be closed probably by November 30. Activities of these boards will be absorbed by centralized Price Control boards in nearby towns. Theodore S. Johnson, OPA district director, announced today.

Johnson said that the mergers, when complete, will reduce the number of boards now operating in the Raleigh district from sixty-four to twenty-four, a reduction of forty.

Boards to be closed and merged October 31 are located in Graham, Chadbourn, Tabor City, Halifax, Scotland Neck, Lillington and Red Springs.

The 24 offices to be retained will be known as price control boards. Their locations and the area to be

Strength FOR THE DAY. BY EARL L. DOUGLAS. AN OLD CUSTOM REVIVES. I met a very unusual man recently.

The reason I call him a remarkable man is because of a certain custom he has. He is a busy man of affairs, yet he tells that every day for at least fifteen minutes he sits down and meditates.

The Almighty is never in a hurry. Many of His great projects of creation have taken Him millions of years to accomplish.

We are part of a great universe. Nothing is more helpful than for us to sit down each day and think of our relationship to that universe.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK. BY JACK STINNETT. BY HERMAN R. ALLEN (Jack Stinnett is ill).

Washington — The news that Canada is setting up a capital district around the city of Ottawa stirred considerable interest here.

Right there the bitter comments began. It was noted further that the citizens of Columbia will retain all their rights as citizens.

The matter of "bringing the District into the Union" comes up every year. It is the subject of some discussion in Congress.

Several nations including Mexico, have some sort of a capital district. The only one where residents do not have a vote is the District of Columbia.

As you may know, Congress passes all the laws for the District and appoints three commissioners to run it. Two commissioners must be District residents and the third must be an officer of the Army about the Victory Loan

You are being asked to buy War Bonds—Victory Bonds, they are now—after the War is over.

Why?

All of us know, without being told, some of the reasons.

We know that a million and a quarter Americans were killed or wounded and that we must take care of the injured men and the families of the dead.

We know that there are still millions of Americans overseas and that we must bring them home as soon as we can and maintain them till they get here.

We know that the G. I. Bill of Rights gives these men—and rightly—mustering-out pay, loans, education—a chance to make up for the years they have lost—a chance to get a start in the free and peaceful world they won for all of us.

These facts are obvious—just as obvious as the fact that it will take a lot of money to handle the problems they present.

It's also obvious, when you come to think of it, that winding up a war as big as this one is expensive business in other ways. For instance, huge sums are still required to pay for war materials which were ordered, produced, and delivered some time ago.

These reasons for buying extra Bonds in the Victory Loan are clear and easily understood.

But there is another reason for making the Victory Loan a success which, perhaps, doesn't come so easily and clearly to mind:

In these years of war, the American people have displayed mighty sound judgment.

Man by man, family by family, group by group they have come to accept Bond buying as a way to obtain financial and economic security for themselves as individuals and for their country.

Whole communities have thus changed, in the last few years, from debt-ridden, hand-to-mouth groups to communities of solid citizens with a financial reserve, a financial stake in the American system, and a newly formed habit of regular saving.

As a result of this good judgment, we have been able to hold off a disastrous inflation, finance a good part of the costs of war, and save the incredible sum of 100 billion dollars.

And as a result of these accomplishments, we, as a nation, stand ready now to win our final battle in the fight to throw off the effects of war and get this country back, as fast as we can, on a solid, prosperous, peacetime economic basis.

To win this final battle, we need only keep on doing, for a little longer, the same things we did so well during 3½ years of war. We need to keep on saving until reconversion is complete.

The next few months will tell the story. And if, during this critical period, we will only use the brains, the will power, the energy, the enterprise, the materials and resources with which we won our war, we can't fail to win the peace and make this the richest, happiest land the world has known.

Making the Victory Loan a smashing success will be a clear notice of our intentions.

* Following the Victory Loan, the sale of E, F, and G U. S. Savings Bonds will continue through regular authorized agencies and through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Chinese Communist soldiers have attacked central government troops at points between 150 and 200 miles west of Peiping.
The Communists are sending in more than 100,000 reinforcements to the area.

Army Officer Was Ready Fight Again

By CHESTER WALSH
Capt. R. O. Williams, retired United States Army officer, of near Greenville, who had been in the artillery branch of the service 33 years when he retired in 1938, has gone to the Army Hospital at Fortress Monroe, Va., for a physical checkup. While in the army Capt. Williams saw service in many parts of the world and for a long time was stationed at Fortress Monroe.
After the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor in 1941, he volunteered his services to the army and was ready to fight again, but was rejected because of defective hearing which resulted from artillery gunfire. He took an active part in war work on the home front. Capt. Williams is remarkably well preserved physically and is mentally alert. It is an interesting experience to hear him relate some of his army experiences.

Thanksgiving Day
Shanghai, Oct. 25 (AP)—Thanksgiving dinner for a million men arrived today in the holds of the refrigerator ship Valentine.

Attend Meeting Of Credit Group

John R. Carroll, president of the Greenville Production Credit Association, and F. L. Little, Jr., secretary-treasurer, have returned from a planning conference of production credit association presidents and secretary-treasurers of Eastern North Carolina, held at Rocky Mount.

According to Mr. Carroll, the conference was held for the purpose of making plans for the twelfth annual meeting and outlining the objectives of the associations for the coming year. "The theme of the program at the annual meeting," he said, "will be increased credit service for the members of the production credit associations."

"The ultimate objective of our association is that it be entirely farmer owned," Mr. Carroll declared. During the eleven years since the association was organized we have worked toward this goal and are making steady progress."

Commenting on the planning conference, Secretary F. L. Little, Jr., said that a definite program for the annual meetings had been developed. "There is increased interest among our members and others in short-term cooperative credit," he said, "and we feel sure that those attending the annual meeting this year will benefit from the discussions and at the same time will know exactly how the association stands from a financial and membership standpoint."

Navy Parade

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—Naval craft ranging from some of Uncle Sam's mightiest seagoing fighters down to diminutive patrol vessels left berths in New York harbor today and steamed slowly into the fog-shrouded Hudson River to their anchorages for the most spectacular Navy Day in the city's history.

Fifth Fleet units, already acclaimed and inspected by hordes of New Yorkers, still anchor along the Hudson for review Saturday—Navy Day—by President Truman. Later they will return to their piers for further visits by civilians.

RETONGA ENDED HIS LONG SEARCH SAYS WEAVER

Distress From Acid Indigestion, Sluggish Elimination And Weak, Rundown Feeling Soon Relieved And He regained Several Pounds. Discusses His Case.

Happy and grateful for the relief Retonga brought them thousands of well known men and women are praising this famous herbal stomachic and itamin B-1 medicine. For instance Mr. W. W. Weaver, well known resident of 232 Gibson St., Cecartown, Ga., gratefully declares "It seemed to make no difference what I ate, my stomach would fill up with gas as tight as a drum. Many days my nerves were so badly on edge it was all I could do to stay on the job. Sluggish elimination forced me to take strong laxatives all the time, I felt full of toxic poisons, and my muscles often felt painful and achy. I lost weight and felt bad all over, and although I tried lots of different medicines I just seemed to go on suffering. "It would be hard to praise Retonga enough for the relief it gave me. The sourness, gas and painful aching muscles are relieved, I have gained eight pounds, and I have regained my appetite, and I have felt better this past spring than in years, and I am always telling somebody about Retonga." Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to Vitamin B-1 deficiency, constipation, insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, and loss of appetite. Thousands praise it. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Bissette's Drug Store. —Adv.

American Eagle
Washington, Oct. 26—(AP)—The American eagle has done an about face.
Now it looks to the right, as shown on a new presidential flag, seal and coat of arms. President Truman displayed all three for the first time at his news conference yesterday. The eagle's turn-about has it contemplating the olive branches of peace, clutched in its right talon. The fierce bird, long a national emblem, until now has been shown gazing at its left talon, holding arrows symbolic of war.

Football

Saturday afternoon's major football games will be broadcast as follows:
CBS 2:00—Army-Duke at New York.
MBS 2:00—Purdue-Northwestern at Evanston, Ill.
NBC 2:45—Minnesota-Ohio State at Minneapolis.
ABC 2:45—Alabama-Georgia at Birmingham.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
New York, Oct. 26—(AP)—Some 73,000 fans will jam Philadelphia's Franklin Field tomorrow for Pennsylvania's clash with Navy in hopes of viewing a twist in form similar to the ones which sent Ohio State and Georgia down to defeat a week ago.
Both the Quakers and Middie are undefeated and each holds a berth among the country's top Ten teams as determined by the weekly Associated Press poll. The only Penn casualty is Coach George Munzer, suffering from influenza. Navy's hospital roll is longer than a child's Christmas list but the Middie got this corner's very hesitant vote to triumph.
Other selections:
Ohio State-Minnesota: The pressure of their winning streak is off the Buckeyes and they may rebound and halt Minnesota's hope of securing the Big Ten crown. But the Gopher's all-around attack is too much for Minnesota.
Duke-Army: A year ago Duke led Army at the half, 7 to 6, and may repeat that experience this year but by the end of the game the Cadets definitely will be out in front. Army.
Georgia-Alabama: Charlie Trippi has had another week to work his talents into the Georgia setup. The Bulldogs will need more than that to stop the losses of hurling Harry Gilmer. Godfrey Steiner will start at halfback for Georgia while his brother, Rebel Steiner, plays end for Alabama. Alabama.
Purdue - Northwestern: Purdue's reaction to its triumph over Ohio State a week ago may make this close. Purdue.
Southern California-Washington: The Trojans haven't been beaten by a college club this year—and don't intend to ruin that record this week. Southern California.
Holy Cross-Colgate: Stan Koslowski, Holy Cross' great back, may not play because of a knee injury. His absence would make it a tight affair. Holy Cross.
Iowa-Notre Dame: This contest ends the Hawkeyes' record of never having lost a football game to Notre Dame. Notre Dame.
Cornell-Yale: Naval transfers and returnees have altered both clubs beyond recognition but Cornell still has the passing of Allan Dekdebrun. Cornell.
Oklahoma A & M - Texas Christian: Bob Fenimore, the nation's top ground gainer, speeds the difference. Oklahoma A & M.
Tulsa-Indiana: The Oklahomans aren't making the trap north just to look at the scenery. Indiana's porous pass defense to decide Tulsa. Arkansas-Mississippi: The Razorbacks got a lot of bad football out of their system last week while losing to Texas, 34 to 7. Arkansas.
West Virginia-Maryland: At least six of Maryland's regulars are hobbed by injuries. West Virginia.
Vanderbilt-Louisiana State: The

Bengals are clicking. LSU. Finishing the rest in a hurry: Friday: UCLA over Oregon; William & Mary over North Carolina State; Miami, Fla. over Miami, Ohio; Detroit over Drake.
And on Saturday:
Far West: Utah over Colorado A & M. California over Nevada, Washington State over Idaho.
Midwest: Michigan over Illinois, Michigan State over Marquette, Great Lakes over Western Michigan, Missouri over Nebraska, Kansas over Wichita, Oklahoma over Kansas State.
South: Georgia Tech over Auburn, Florida over Southwest Louisiana Institute, Southern Methodist over Tulane, Tennessee over Villanova, Richmond over Catawba, Virginia over VPI.
Southwest: Texas over Rice, Texas A & M over Baylor.
East: Princeton over Rutgers, Temple over Pittsburgh, Lafayette over Bucknell, Harvard over Coast Guard, Dartmouth over Syracuse, Columbia over Brown, Kings Point over Boston College.
Last week's record: 33 correct, 6 incorrect. Season's record: 161 correct, 37 incorrect, percentage .813.

Gratitude
Gervais, Ore., Oct. 26—(AP)—Father Martin Doherty, Catholic priest and author, gave a ride to a hitchhiking soldier bound for Washington State. Seeking to help the soldier further, hospitable Father Doherty invited him to spend the night at his home here before he resumed his journey.
Next morning the soldier was gone, so was Father Doherty's car. It turned up later, near the Washington town for which the soldier was heading.

Baseball Meeting To Organize Club
By CHESTER WALSH
Guy V. Smith, prominent tobaccoist and ardent supporter of organized baseball here, will preside over a meeting of fans at the City Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. He called the meeting to find out if the fans want baseball in Greenville and if the people here will support a club. Fans are invited to attend the meeting.
If the fans express themselves favorably tonight, the club will be organized, officers and a league director will be elected, and then delegated to attend the meeting of the Coastal Plain League in New Bern next Monday night at 7 o'clock. Ray Goodman of Williamston is president of the league.
Clubs comprising the league are expected to be New Bern, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Wilson, Goldsboro, Tarboro, and another town to be selected. Several big league clubs are after franchises in Fayetteville and Wilmington, and Billy Arthur wants a franchise for a club in Jacksonville. Williamston will not be in the league this year.

Permission Asked
Tokyo, Oct. 26—(AP)—The Japanese government asked permission of Allied headquarters today to import 4,500,000 tons of foodstuffs next year.

Pilots, Others To Soon Be Released
Washington, Oct. 26—(AP)—All AAF pilots, navigators and bombardiers who are in the United States, have 44 points and two years of service now are eligible for discharge.
The same is true of other AAF officers with less than 44 points but with two years or more on active service, if their services no longer are needed.
The exceptions, an Army Air Forces announcement yesterday said, are personnel in the Air Transport Command, the Army Airways Communications System and the Weather Service assigned to foreign duty.

Elevated
Washington, Oct. 26—(AP)—Dr. G. L. Overman of Goldsboro has been elevated to the presidency of the fifth district Dental Society. Dr. J. B. Duke of Washington was named president-elect and will take office next year.

Konoye Resigns
Tokyo, Oct. 26—(AP)—Prince and restoration of Tryon's Palace Pumimaro Konoye's reported plan at New Bern as a state historical attraction to resign his baronial title appeared today.
Well informed Japanese sources charge of plans for the purchase of the 1945 General Assembly verified Domei agency's report of and will make use of a state grant yesterday that the brooding Konoye of $150,000 to buy the property.
The commission was created by the Imperial Court, to yield all of his titles and prerogatives, and to start a new political career as a commoner. However, attempts to obtain direct confirmation were fruitless. Konoye and his associates could not be reached. Officials in the office of Marquis Koichi Kido, lord keeper of the privy seal, to whom Konoye was reported to have confided his plan, declined to talk.
