Steel Employees Plan Strike Vote

As Part Of Campaign To Get Increased Wages, Nation's Steel Workers Follow Procedure Of CIO Automotive Employees In Planning Strike Vote

By ASSOCIATED PRESS The nation's CIO steel workers, following the procedure of CIO automotive employees as part of their campaign to get increased wages, plan strike votes.

Headed by Phillip Murray, president of the CIO as well as head of the Steel Workers Union, officials today prepared the strike vote petitions, which they expected to deliver by Monday.

The strike ballots would involve more than 600,000 employees in 766 steel, aluminum and iron ore plants and were regarded as the union's answer to rejection by major steel companies of its demands for a $2 a day wage boost.

The proposed vote was announced as final tabulations in the second strike ballot of the automobile industry's "Big Three" showed favor in Chrysler Corporation plants favored a work stoppage in a similar poll employees of General Motors also voted in favor of a strike. The results were regarded by the CIO United Automobile workers leaders as a "mandate" to press demands for a 30 per cent wage hike for the industry's half million workers, workers at Ford Motor Company will ballot on the same issue on November 7.

As the number of workers idle in the country increased 16,000 in the last 24 hours to a total of 239,000 the Federal Conciliation Service in Washington said that in the week ended Oct. 24 the number of strikes settled exceeded the number of new ones which started. The agency concluded that "near normal" conditions may prevail by mid-November.

Murray announced the strike ballot plan after a meeting in Pittsburgh of the union's wage policy committee authorizing "whatever action deemed necessary" in efforts to secure the wage increase.

He asserted the wage demands were "necessary to sustain purchasing power and prevent another depression." Spokesmen for the U. S. Steel said the demands were rejected because of the existing ceiling prices for steel products, together with the government's wage stabilization program.

In the vote by 22,304 of more than 98,000 eligible Chrysler employees, 19,870 favored a strike, 2,359 opposed and 75 votes were voided. General Motors results showed 70,853 favoring a stoppage to 12,438 against. About 200,000 eligible employees did not vote.

Prospects were brighter today in the long strike of movie workers in Hollywood as producers and union leaders agreed over the strike settlement terms which were announced earlier this week in Cincinnati by the AFL executive committee.

Picketing ended at all studios and movie strike committee spokesmen were returning to their jobs with their contracts reinstated as of March 12 the date when studio painters walked out. Subsequently about 7,000 film employees were (Continued on Page Four)

Ambassador Harriman and Generalissimo Stalin Confer

By EDDY GILMORE Moscow, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Conversations between U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Generalissimo Stalin concerning a communication President Truman sent the Soviet leader have led to developments which may have an important bearing on future collaboration among the Allies, it was learned today.

Harriman was received by the Soviet leader at a vacation resort in the Black Sea area, and discussed with him at length mutual problems.

This was the second time since Truman took office that he has had Harriman go directly to the Soviet leader with matters affecting the two nations. On the other occasion, following the death of President Roosevelt, Harriman appeared personally at the Kremlin, at a time when Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov was away, attending the San Francisco conference.

Another point of importance connected with the U. S. ambassador's visit to Stalin at the vacation resort of Sochi was the confirmation he gave that the Generalissimo was not seriously ill, as had been reported in some sections of the foreign press. Stalin is ready to return to Moscow soon.

Truman's letter to Stalin, dated Oct. 14 and presented ten days later, was the basis for the two conversations the ambassador had with the Soviet leader. Harriman returned to Moscow late yesterday, extremely tired from the long trip.

Confirmation of the state of Stalin's health came about after this correspondent addressed a communication to Foreign Commissar Molotov. In a personal reply, Molotov revealed Harriman's visit.

"I received your letter of Oct. 16," said the foreign commissar's reply, "concerning your question about the state of health of J. V. Stalin. You can learn about this from Ambassador W. A. Harriman, who has been with J. V. Stalin and has had a conversation with him following authorization given him by President Truman."

Harriman found the Soviet leader rested, because of the 18 days the premier has spent away from (Continued on Page Two)

Goldsboro To Have Another Hospital

Boldsboro, Oct. 27.—(AP)—State Senator Thomas OBerry, chairman of a Senate committee appointed in 1943 to survey and report on the need for a hospital for feeble-minded negro children, said today a new 600-bed hospital would be erected near the site of the present hospital for negro insane here.

The new hospital will be arranged so as to allow additional place to accommodate another 400 children at a minimum of cost. Plans for the new unit are being drawn by A. J. Maxwell, Jr., Goldsboro architect.

ASKS SUPPORT VICTORY LOAN

Banker Urges Farmers To Invest In Bonds

The banks are urging farmers to invest all they can in the Victory Loan because that is the best way to assure the farmer's future and at the same time help his country pay off the costs of the war, said W. H. Woolard, president of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Co.

"As a banker," Mr. Woolard continued, "I know that the Series E Bond, which is now commonly called the Victory Bond, is the safest investment in the world today because it is backed by the full resources and good faith of the United States government. And it is the most profitable safe investment for in ten short years it will return $4 for every $3 invested."

The farmer who today takes some of his wartime earnings and invests them in these bonds will see his money earn a second profit when the bond matures.

"This type of far-sighted farmer will do credit to himself and to his community. He will be in a better position to earn more in the years to come."

"It is time to point out the advantages of the Series E Bond in the Victory Loan, too. For the G-Bond will pay 100 cents on the dollar and it brings you a Treasury interest check every six months at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent a year, for 12 years and then you get your full principal back."

"The G-Bond is particularly good for elderly farm couples who are about ready to retire and take life (Continued on Page Two)

Russian Policy Worries China

Chungking, Oct. 27.—(AP)—A feeling of distinct uneasiness prevailed in Chungking today about Russia's China policy, as indicated by Moscow's reported refusal to allow Chinese government troops to land at Dairen and Port Arthur.

This alleged refusal was considered by some here an open violation of Chinese sovereignty over Manchuria, specifically acknowledged by Russia in the recent Sino-Soviet pact.

Official Chinese quarters showed pronounced reticence in discussing Sino-Soviet relations, in obvious fear of incurring Moscow's displeasure, but strong undercurrents of resentment were not difficult to trace.

Chinese circles were perturbed about the alleged Russian transfer of much of Manchuria's movable wealth, which from testimony of reputable witnesses was accepted here as fact.

Perhaps the simplest examples of companies profiting most when wage workers have reasonable leisure are those making bowling alleys, billiard tables and the like. This should be especially true if the company has funds so as to be able to sell in installments as soon as the restrictions are off installment selling.

Please, however, do not ask me to name any such company. Go to your broker and ask him to tell you what, incidentally, such stocks are the best hedge against the unwarranted activities of labor leaders.

Opportunities For Veterans I hesitate to advise any returning veteran to enter business for himself at this time. By all means make every effort to buy out some small existing business rather than to start a new business. However, if a reader is really determined to enter business for himself he had far better stick to the "service" line of companies. They are more adapted to being run by their owners and—as a rule—are not dominated by labor leaders.

A company which installs bowling alleys and similar apparatus is usually prepared to enter the install-

Today In Congress

By Max Hall

Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Congress was on a Saturday holiday today. But its conferees were at work seeking a solution to tax relief differences.

And the Senate had a new committee to wrestle exclusively with the atom.

The principal conferee hitch was on tax relief for corporations. The Senate says repeal the excess profits tax as of the first of next year. The House says retain it until 1947, but reduce the rate in 1946 from 85.5 per cent to 60 per cent.

The Senate favors reduction in the graduated surtax for firms doing less than $60,000 business a year. The House favors cutting rate on corporations from 40 to 36 per cent.

The two chambers similarly are in disagreement over methods of cutting individual income taxes and repealing wartime excise taxes on such things as toilet articles, furs, liquor and light bulbs.

The bill the conferees are attempting to iron out would provide tax reductions in excess of $5,000,000 for the atom.

Senator McMahon, freshman Democrat from Connecticut, was named chairman of the upper chamber's new atomic committee. His appointment by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), president-pro tempore, was (Continued on Page Two)

Babson Discusses Leisure Stocks

Babson Park, Mass., Oct. 27.—When war plants were going full blast, I suggested to readers of this column that they buy the stocks of merchandising companies because people then had money to spend. Now, when these war plants are shutting down, I suggest the serious consideration of the stocks of leisure companies because people now have time to spend.

Leisure Stocks There are several examples of leisure stocks—namely, stocks of companies which have their peak business when people have the most spare time; that is working forty hours per week instead of fifty-four hours. Ordinarily, movie stocks would be good examples, but they have already gone up so much in price that they may not now be attractive. A true leisure stock is one which was obliged to curtail and cut its dividend during wartime.

Recreation Becoming an Industry A generation or so ago, sports were carried on in an informal way largely by colleges, Y. M. C. A.'s and clubs of various kinds. This was because people worked long hours and only the young, the old and the unemployed indulged in baseball, bowling, pool, etc. But today the situation is rapidly changing. I even forecast that football teams will be incorporated and stock sold to the public.

The commercialization of sports has both advantages and disadvantages. If it is controlled by men of good character and kept clean, it will work out for the good of all. Certainly, men and women, after finishing their day's work, would be better off by bowling than by drinking—and the two cannot successfully be combined. Another thing which should be remembered by all readers of this column: Although it is the personal affair of an individual and his employer what he or she does during his working hours, it is of paramount importance to the entire community what he or she does during the leisure hours.

Remember Filling Stations Yes, it is a sure bet that wage workers will have more leisure time during the next few years; they have had any year since 1939. May it not be wise to capitalize this coming change? Readers remember how I urged the buying of closed filling stations two years ago. Well, they are now selling for double and treble their wartime prices. Look forward—not backward!

Nation's Foreign Policy Proclaimed By President

Navy Day Celebrated Throughout Country As Leaders Urge Continuation Of World's Most Powerful Navy As Means To Preserve Peace

By ASSOCIATED PRESS Her ports crowded with warships and skies filled with triumphant navy planes, America today celebrated the exploits of the Pacific and Atlantic fleets and gave thanks for the victory they helped to win.

President Truman, reviewing an impressive display of seapower stretching seven miles up the Hudson river, led the nation in its observance of Navy Day.

All along America's coastlines, millions crowded aboard famous war vessels riding proudly in home ports after months and years of battle. Spectacular displays of air power were planned, with 1,200 airplanes in the New York celebration, alone.

At San Francisco, the battleships South Dakota, Alabama, Wisconsin and Indiana rode at anchor, with the carriers Yorktown and Bon Homme Richard and other fleet units. Two hundred navy planes and a fleet of blimps were to soar over that city during the day.

At Honolulu, the Pearl Harbor navy yard—scene of the Japanese sneak attack—was opened to civilian visitors for the first time since Dec. 7, 1941.

Los Angeles planned a parade of 15,000 and a huge spectacle at Memorial Coliseum depicting the signing of surrender terms by the Japanese.

Southern and gulf ports also had planned celebrations. Visiting warships were anchored at Baltimore, Miami, Jacksonville, Tampa and Pensacola in Florida; Mobile, Ala.; Savannah and Brunswick, Ga.; New Orleans and Charleston.

Many cruisers observed the day in their proud "namesake" ports.

Raleigh, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Vice-Admiral David Worth Bagley today called for a postwar navy "of such superiority in size and strength that no foreign power or combination of powers will ever again dare to attack this nation or its possessions."

Speaking at a Navy Day observance here, the 64-year-old native of Raleigh said, "already we have heard the first rumblings of a movement to scrap our armament in favor of treaties or to lay up our ships to save a few dollars."

Governor To Speak At Raleigh Meeting

"The Chamber of Commerce in the Post War Period" is the theme for the annual meeting of the North Carolina Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries, which will be held in Raleigh on October 28-29.

Hon. R. Gregg Cherry will be the guest speaker at the luncheon on the 29th.

Other addresses to be heard include "The Highway Program As We See It Today" by Chairman A. H. Graham of the North Carolina Highway Commission, "North Carolina's Industrial Future" by Hon. J. M. Broughton, "The Responsibility of the Chamber of Commerce to the State" by D. Hiden Ramsey of Asheville.

Additional speakers listed include Ben B. Lawshe and L. P. Dickie of the United States Chamber of Commerce and Col. Wiley M. Pickens, director of the North Carolina Veterans' Commission. Edmund Harding of Washington will be the principal speaker at the banquet on Monday night.

Willard T. Kyzer, executive secretary of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, a past president of the association and at present a director and a member of the committee on constitution and by-laws, will discuss "maintaining the interest of members." Brie T. Jackson, secretary at Gastonia and Harry Krumm, manager of the Winston-Salem Chamber, will discuss other phases of Chamber of Commerce work.

Roosevelt Day

Roosevelt Day will be observed here on Monday as the Victory Loan Drive, last of the great War Loan Drives of World War 2, opens.

Monday is dedicated to the memory of the late President, as well as all other warriors who gave their lives for their country in World War 2.

A new issue $200.00 E Bond, costing $150.00, is being offered for the first time on Monday. Many Pitt County citizens are expected to want one of the new Bonds with the late President's picture on it.

Dead Or Alive?

sets forth 12-point program based on military power to keep peace while planning to outlaw atomic bomb; ultimate freedom for all peoples

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—President Truman proclaimed to the world today a 12-point foreign policy based on the use of military power to preserve peace while planning to outlaw the atomic bomb.

"Loss of faith in the effectiveness of international organization," is the great threat to peace, he declared. "In an atomic age it would be nothing short of disastrous."

The United States regards possession of the atomic bomb as a sacred trust, which will not be violated, the President said. But he declared the highest hope of the American people is for a state of world cooperation in which "the atomic methods of destruction can be definitely and effectively outlawed forever."

He expressed willingness to exchange fundamental scientific information in talks with other nations which will begin soon, but reaffirmed:

"These discussions will not be concerned with the processes of manufacturing the atomic bomb or any other instrument of war."

The Chief Executive's first overall statement of foreign policy since he took office last April was made at a Navy Day rally in Central Park.

It came in the midst of intense diplomatic efforts to bring about a better relations with Russia and a few hours after word that Generalissimo Stalin had received an undisclosed message from Mr. Truman through Ambassador W. Averell Harriman.

Mr. Truman said differences which exist among the Allies "are not hopeless or irreconcilable."

With a possible view to conditions in the Balkans, however, he stated emphatically that the United States would "refuse to recognize any government imposed upon any nation by the force of any foreign power."

He set forth four purposes for which this nation "must remain powerfully armed: To enforce the peace on defeated enemies, to support the United Nations, to defend the Western Hemisphere and to defend the United States.

The atomic bomb makes the solution of international problems "more urgent than we could have dreamed six months ago," Mr. Truman said, but it "does not alter the basic foreign policy of the United States."

That policy he described as "one of 'friendly partnership with' all peaceful nations and of full support for the United Nations organization." He defined it in these 12 principles:

1. No territorial expansion, no plans for aggression, no objective "which need clash with the peaceful aims of any other nation."

2. Eventual return of sovereign rights and self-government to all peoples who have been deprived of them by force.

3. No territorial changes involving friendly peoples except "with their 'freely expressed wishes.'"

4. Self government for all peoples prepared for it "without interference from any foreign source." (Continued on page two)

BOARD CLAIMS VESTED RIGHT

Davidson County's Board Denies Authority Of Merit Council

Lexington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Davidson County's Welfare Board repudiated the authority of the State Merit Council here yesterday.

Denying the authority of the State Merit Council to review its actions in refusing to dismiss the county welfare superintendent, E. Clyde Hunt, the Davidson County board contended that as appointing authority, it has full and final vested rights in deciding whether or not the welfare superintendent should be dismissed.

It contended that the Merit System Council or Supervisor has no authority to go behind the action of the board, "which is the duly constituted and authorized fact finding agency."

The State Merit Council had previously decided that Hunt had been "negligent and unfit to perform the duties of his office." And in this connection, Dr. Frank T. Devyver, Merit System supervisor, had asked the Davidson County board to dismiss Hunt for alleged political activity.

On October 18, the State Merit Council adopted a resolution which gave the Davidson County board (Continued on Page Two)

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

By W. F. ARBOGAST (Substituting for James Marlow) Washington, Oct. 27.—(AP)—House Republicans are finding that it's one thing to talk about a legislative program and something else to put it down black on white.

The reason: People who bear a common party label don't necessarily have identical ideas.

A month or so ago the House Republican Steering Committee, which has the job of shaping policy, announced its intention to state a definite party position on matters in which the voting public is interested.

Behind the project, conceived by Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, the Republican floor leader, was a conviction that the party must have a program to get anywhere in the 1948 congressional elections.

Republicans are hopeful of winning a majority of House seats next year as a prelude to capturing the White House in 1948.

The program makers admit they have made little headway. But they still believe they can come up with a good plan, within a month or two.

They have discovered that there are a lot of rugged individuals on the Republican side of the House.

Some Republicans are surprisingly enthusiastic over some of the 21 points in President Truman's legislative program. They are for broad social reforms, they are for handling of the labor problem and for a lot of other things many of their colleagues aren't so hot about.

"Every time we try to get together informally on a program plank," one steering committee member said, "we get farther and farther apart."

"You just can't, for instance, draft a labor program that will make everybody on our side happy. But we've got to have a labor program. The problem is how to get it and get everybody behind it while at the same time making it mean something."

Martin is less pessimistic. "We'll get out a program, just like we said we would," he declared. "Of course, it's hard to work one out when you have so many different men with so many different ideas."

"Somebody's toes are likely to be stepped on, but that can't be helped. We'll get something on which most of us can agree. It will require some give and take." (Continued on page two)

The WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Writer We shall have a fair idea a year from now whether we are headed for peace or for another war—but let none doubt that the intervening months are filled with perils.

Blunt notice of the dangers was given yesterday in Leeds, Scotland, by Britain's distinguished former foreign minister, Anthony Eden. He declared that the terrible warning of the atomic bomb "has failed to produce any healthy consequences, and continued."

"The nations are joined closely together. Unhappily, the tendency is rather in the reverse direction. The world unquestionably is in very grave danger. We need cool, calm and understanding leadership."

Simultaneously another noted figure, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, told an Ohio teachers convention in Cleveland that if the big nations fall out, the security of all nations is in jeopardy, and he added:

"Peace is not being negotiated with Germany and Japan. They have been defeated, and await the kind of peace that the victors establish. Peace is being negotiated with Great Britain and with Russia. Unity can be maintained without recourse to appeasement. Appeasement does not contribute to peace, but adjustments in practical affairs mean compromise. The alternative to some compromise solution in Europe is two great blocs facing each other in suspicion, each madly arming with a third world war in the shadows."

Suspicion are dragon's teeth. If they're cultivated they will of a certainty produce a crop of fighting men, fully armed and eager for battle. This doesn't mean that we are denied our suspicions, but it does mean that we should treat them rationally.

Certainly there are plenty of grounds for uncomfortable thoughts which are more than suspicions. For example, we see Europe being divided up into spheres of influence. We see Russia reaching out to gain greater domination than Hitler ever held. Those aren't suspicions but facts.

Where a lot of people go wrong is in believing that there necessarily must be another war fought over the Soviet extension of influence. Acceptance of war as inevitable is (Continued on page two)

Strength FOR THE DAY By EARL L. DOUGLAS

RELIGION MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

Many years ago I knew a home in which because of intemperance and misunderstanding there was never anything but strife and suffering. This household was a scandal to the community in which it was situated. The drunken husband, a business man of considerable ability, and his bitter, rebellious wife kept the whole section of a town in turmoil. Suddenly the man lost his money and almost immediately after experienced a most complete and remarkable religious conversion. His whole nature was changed, and almost immediately, following this his wife had the same experience. Two people whose lives had been nothing but bitterness and strife were changed in a miraculous way into two people who lived at peace with each other and were thereafter known as people of the soundest moral character. They identified themselves actively with the work of the Church. Years have passed since that time and without the least variation they have shown themselves to be people whom their neighbors are proud to know and with whom everyone is glad to associate.

Religion still remains a great mystery, and always we must regard it as supernatural force. When people really open their hearts to its transforming power, it achieves the most amazing ends. Paul was right when he declared that when any man is in Christ he is a new creature.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK By JACK STINNETT

By HERMAN R. ALLEN (Jack Stinnett is ill)

Washington—Three of the veterans' fingers and half his hand had been blown off. They told him when he was discharged from Walter Reed Hospital that the other finger might have to be amputated and a mechanical hand fitted.

He got a job but couldn't hold it with his banded-up hand. He got another hand to quit—another, and had to quit that too. He was getting $23 a month disability pension, but had to wait while wheels turned at the Veterans Administration. His case was delayed at the Unemployment Compensation office.

Broke, hungry, homeless, he heard about Red Cross Home Service. Home Service fixed him up with meals and a room and a little cash until things started breaking his way.

Another man, badly disfigured by combat injuries, refused the pleas of his family to return home. The family got in touch with Home Service, which sent a case worker to look him up.

An interview disclosed that it was not the man's disfigurement that stopped him from going home. It was the fear that he wouldn't be able to find a job he could handle. He had been trained as an architect, but the depression had prevented him from working at it very much before he went into military service.

The Red Cross case worker took the unusual step of requesting a Washington architect to place the man in a branch office in his home town. Usually Home Service sends a man to see a veterans representative at the U. S. Employment Office.

Home Service was originally set up to help a service man handle problems that arose at home while he was away. A mother had to go to the hospital, and Home Service arranged for the care of her children. A wife was without money when her husband's allotment check was late, and Home Service loaned her enough to get by. A soldier was notified of a serious illness at home. He applied for a furlough, and his commanding officer asked Home Service to make the necessary check-up so that the furlough could be granted.

More and more, however, Home Service is swinging into the job of helping veterans make a smooth return to civilian life. It figures that if it takes a year to make a civilian into a soldier, it must take at least that long to make him into a civilian again.

The local Washington office of Home Service has been handling about 7,000 cases a month during the war. In July 748 of these involved veterans' problems. Now such cases are running about 1,000 a month.

One of Home Service's most touching problems is that of the young man who has never held a job or moved in the adult civilian world. Some of these young men have lived for four or even five years in an atmosphere of danger and excitement. Their lives have been governed in general by regulations and in particular by commands.

To enter a humdrum civilian existence, with a speeding auto perhaps the greatest danger, is not attractive to some. When that is coupled with the fact that for the first time it will be necessary to make the major decisions that mean livelihood, the gap is just a little more than some can face calmly.

Prior to his foreign policy address in Central Park President Truman commissioned the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt as a symbol of America's pledge to the United Nations to help "stop any international gangster."

In his first New York speech since he succeeded the man whose name is inscribed in bronze on the mighty new warship, the President paid warm tribute to the late President's foreign and domestic policies and stressed international cooperation. Mr. Truman said: "This ship is a symbol of our commitment to the United Nations organization to reach out anywhere in the world and to help the peace-loving nations of the world stop any international gangster."

A hundred hours after leaving New York this ship could be off the coast of Africa. In five days she could cross the western Pacific from Pearl Harbor to the Philippines. This vessel alone could hit more than 100 fighting planes over the States. The President asserted the United States will strive to bring that day closer when law rather than in itself a breeder of war. Remember that "as he thinketh in his heart, so is he."

The first thing we have to recognize is that, with the disappearance of both Germany and Italy as great powers, the extension of Russia's zone of influence is a logical corollary. It may be a corollary we dislike intensely, but it still is logical. Every great power has its zone of influence, if you stop and check up.

So we don't have to go to war over zones of influence as thus far constituted. That doesn't mean that we have to take any rough stuff lying down. As Bishop O'Rourke says, we don't have to use appeasement—"but adjustments in practical affairs mean compromise." And as Eden remarks, "we need cool, calm, and understanding leadership." There are more ways of dealing with over-ambition than by using a gun.

It is with no feeling of undue optimism that your columnist repeats his theme song: "Ware is not inevitable." However, we have grim months ahead—as witness British Foreign Secretary Bevin's statement in the House of Commons yesterday that hunger and privation in Europe may bring "a further prolific human loss more devastating than the gun or atomic bomb." That suffering is likely to add to the political difficulties. But we shall come through all right if we don't lose our heads.

"But the star of the Victory Loan for most of us is the series E-Bond—the same bond Americans have been buying in seven War Loans.

"You may wonder why a banker advises you to invest in Victory Loan Bonds instead of putting more money in his bank. Well, it's good business all around. A thrifty community makes more business for banks. And a financially-sound nation is good for us all—farmer, merchant, banker and wage-earner. Let's get behind that Victory Loan and pass that quota."

Phantoms Defeat Tarboro 33 To 0

Greenies Roll Up Big Score In Game That Began With Series Of Fumbles

By DAVE CLARK
After a scoreless first period in which "Old Man Fumble" prevailed, Coach BoFarley's Green Phantoms snapped back to score 14 points in the second period, then roll on to a smashing 33-0 victory over the Tarboro Tigers in Tarboro last night before a few hundred chilled fans.

It was Greenville's fifth win in eight starts and their second of the season over Tarboro, the first coming by a score of 32-0.

An that first quarter when it seemed as if both teams were trying to out-fumble each other, it looked as though Tarboro might give Greenville a rough night of it in spite of that first Greenville victory. But once the Greenies got down to business, Tarboro was hardly any serious threat.

This week's Phantom line play was not equal to the brilliant showing the forward wall made against Kingston last week, but they held the Tarboro backs to little gain last night and on the one serious Tarboro threat, they buckled down to throw the Tigers back from the goal line and take over the ball on downs.

Jimmy Futrell's line smashes and Billy Harrington's passes were once again highlights of the ball game. Big X Sideris was also very hard to stop through that line.

An outstanding thing about the Phantoms is that their kickoff is always very good. The man who boots that ball is center J. T. Williams who also kicks the extra points. Williams' kickoffs almost always go between 50 and 60 yards.

The Phantoms kicked off to start the game. When Tarboro couldn't gain, they kicked out to Morgan on about the fifty. Here began the fumbling which the fans were to see so much of during that first 12 minutes of play. The Phantoms fumbled and lost the ball. Tarboro fumbled and lost the ball. Finally after a series of such fumbles Futrell kicked down to about the twenty as the clock ran out on the first period.

Early in the second quarter, Jack Whichard, the fifth man in the Tiger backfield all night, recovered a Tarboro fumble on the 30 to set the stage for the first of five Greene touchdowns. In a few plays the ball was resting on about the Tiger five after Jimmy Futrell had run several plays straight through the line. On the next play, Bill Harrington kicked the pigskin over for six points. Williams converted making the score Greenville 7, Tarboro 0.

A few minutes later, Mac Batchelor, blocking back and leading pass receiver for Greenville, snared a pass on the forty five and raced for a touchdown without being touched. The kick was blocked but Julian White picked the ball up and ran it over for the extra point making it 14 to 0. In Greenville's favor.

The half ended without further scoring. Early in the third quarter, the Phantoms struck again. Standing in punt formation on the Tigers' 40 Jimmy Futrell passed to Billy Harrington on about the 25 who took it over for a touchdown. Williams kicked the point making the score 21-0.

Later in the same period Mac Batchelor caught his second touchdown pass on about the thirty yard stripe and raced over for six more points. The placement was blocked leaving the score at 27-0.

Greenville kicked off and after running a series of plays, Tarboro threw a long pass which was completed to an end who got to about the Greenville 30 before being brought down. The Tigers drove to about the 15, but the Greene line held and the threat fizzled.

The last Phantom score came when Jimmy Futrell made another of his beautiful runs to pay dirt. This dash was good for about 30 yards. The kick for the extra point was blocked making the final score: Greenville 33, Tarboro 0.

Substitutes seeing action for Greenville were: Lewis Lawrence, Bud Whitehurst, Jimmy Lee, Henry Turner, Cleveland Gilbert, Xen Sideris, Julius Rose, Tommy Eilers, Ralph Paul, Mahlon Tucker, Lewis Evans, Shelley Beard, Tommy Dierker, Herbert Corey, Billy White, and Dave Clark.

The starting lineup was: Ward and White at ends, Kittrell and Garret at tackles, Whichard and Clark at guards, Williams at center, Futrell in the fullback, Harrington in the tailback, Batchelor in the blocking back, and Morgan in the wingback.

Greenville To Have Club In Coastal Plain League

By CHESTER WALSH
Greenville will have a club in the Coastal Plain Baseball League next year. At a meeting of fans at the City Hall last night Guy V. Smith, loyal supporter of organized baseball, was elected president. Dave Moore, Jr., was elected secretary. These two officers will attend a league meeting in New Bern Monday night at 7 o'clock and make formal application for a franchise. Other clubs to be represented in New Bern are New Bern, Kingston, Tarboro, Goldsboro, Wilson, Rocky Mount and Greenville. Wilmington, Fayetteville and Jacksonville are seeking the franchise surrendered by Williamston.

President Smith appointed a committee to nominate 15 members of the board of directors. They are Herman Duncan, chairman, J. Hicks Corey, W. H. Woodruff, W. H. Smith and Dave Moore, Jr.

The Greenville club will hold another meeting the latter part of next week to hear a report from President Smith about the New Bern meeting.

Greenville will have to start from scratch to have a ball club next year. New equipment and uniforms will have to be bought and considerable work will have to be done on the diamond at Guy Smith Stadium. Club officials hope the city will erect a fence at the stadium and make other improvements and repairs.

A small but representative group of fans attended last night's meeting. It was evident that the fans here want organized baseball in Greenville and that the club will be supported.

off their jobs in the jurisdictional dispute.

One of the newest stoppages affected 5,000 employees of the General Electric Company's Philadelphia plant. They were made idle after 800 night shift workers walked out in a dispute over a new contract. Earlier about 1,500 day shift production workers had staged a "sitdown," but left the plant later.

A strike vote among employees of all plants of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company has been requested by the CIO-United Rubber Workers. I. H. Watson, president of Firestone's Los Angeles, Memphis and Akron plants has filed petitions with the NLRB in Washington for a company-wide strike ballot.

Four issues were involved, Watson said. A general wage increase to meet the change from the eight to six-hour day, seniority problems, determination of skilled workers.

No Immediate Plans
Tokyo, Oct. 27—(AP)—General MacArthur has "no immediate plans" for visiting the United States, his headquarters said today.

War Department officials in Washington said yesterday they assumed MacArthur would come home for a visit "in the near future." There was speculation that he might arrive at the Capital between Nov. 1 and 8th.

Discussions
Chungking, Oct. 27—(AP)—Discussions between the government and the Communists, designed to unify China and avert civil war, have both sides admitted today amounted to a deadlock.

The stalemate came after weeks of conference during which virtually no advance was made from the situation which obtained early this month when Communist leader Mao Tse-Tung departed for Yenan.

To those, he said, "who pin their hopes on treaties and conferences, I say: Good luck—the navy, like every peace-loving American organization, hopes you will succeed. Honolulu, Oct. 27—Fleet Admiral Nimitz urged the United States to retain its "birthright" of strong sea power in a Navy Day message to the nation today.

"Seapower is our birthright; let's appreciate it and keep it," the commander in chief of U. S. sea forces which destroyed Japan's fleet, said in an address prepared for delivery at a luncheon in his honor.

It was seapower that strangled Japan's industries and finally led to her abject surrender, he said, adding that the defeat of the enemy maritime nation provided America a "classic lesson."

Honolulu scheduled a dawn to midnight celebration of Navy Day, and for the first time since the December 7, 1941 attack by the Japanese, Pearl Harbor Navy Yard was opened to civilian visitors. The citizenry was welcomed aboard many warships which won fame in Pacific battles.
