Emperor Blamed For Nip War

Statement That Hirohito Partly to Blame For War May Prove To Be Biggest Social And Political Bombshell Yet Involving That Monarch

By RUSSELL BRINES Tokyo, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The first direct accusation that Emperor Hirohito was partly to blame for the war—Washington's announcement that his personal fortune will have to stand part of the reparations bill—is apt to become the biggest political and social bombshell yet involving the already harried monarch.

The economic value of the move is as yet indefinite, pending further investigation of what appears to be a land and bond-poor fortune. The imperial balance sheet, somewhat more than $106,000,000, is a mere drop in the reparations bucket at best. Only $22,410,658 are in liquid assets.

Japanese likely will have little to say now, but are almost certain generally to interpret the action as an indirect labeling of Hirohito as a war criminal. They heretofore have made little distinction between those openly blamed and those considered to have been indirectly responsible.

Edwin W. Pauley, American member of the Reparations Committee, voiced what for the Japanese was a revolutionary conception in asserting that there could be no distinction between the emperor and his government.

The Japanese have considered the government as an instrument of the emperor, but he personally has been held too high to be responsible for its mistakes.

It is doubtful if many of the Japanese, even those highly placed, ever considered the possibility that the emperor might be held to be responsible for the war, although reparations payments have been constantly on the minds of government officials.

The emperor's fortune has been hitherto considered so inviolate that the mere American demand for the imperial balance sheet brought the first silent resentment among the people at occupation methods.

The fortune, however, has turned out to be disappointingly small in proportion to the reportedly fabulous figures it was supposed to.

Attorney Suing For Extra Money

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A Benton, Ark. attorney who served in the Navy almost three years as a yeoman has filed suit in U. S. District Court here asking $6,500 as the difference between what he was paid by the Navy and the value he placed on his services in Hawaii.

The attorney said he was assigned to the real estate branch where he made more than 300 separate land title examinations, covering land valued at more than $5,000,000.

He seeks a total compensation of $10,000 for the time he spent in the real estate division deducting the $3,500 paid him by the Navy as a yeoman.

The WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

It is strange coincidence which brings simultaneous publication of the Eisenhower-Truman plan for the early establishment of an Allied civilian government for Germany and the general's official report for September that arrest among the Germans has approximated the point of organized resistance.

Press dispatches indicate no improvement in the latter since the period covered by the report.

Although the two situations have developed independently and were made public without cross-references, they would seem to be inextricably linked.

Offhand it appears that introduction of another governmental factor between the levels of high policy-making and the application of that policy, which obviously must remain a military job, could only further complicate an already muddled situation.

LEAF OUTLOOK IS FAVORABLE

Forecast Based On High Level Domestic Consumption and Exports

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Agriculture Department today described the 1946-47 tobacco outlook as favorable.

This forecast is based on the probable high level of domestic consumption of tobacco products, particularly cigarettes, and large exports.

Stocks of tobacco in the United Kingdom and other importing countries are so low that several years of above-average imports will be required to rebuild them to pre-war size, the department said in its publication, "The Tobacco Situation."

This is the only country in which large quantities of tobacco are available for export.

Dollar exchange may be a major problem in most countries during the next few years, but tobacco is such an important source of revenue to most foreign governments that arrangements likely will be made for its purchase.

About one-third of the total domestic tobacco production, including one-half of the flue-cured crop, is shipped abroad in normal times. Consequently, the level of exports in the next few years will be an important factor in prices paid growers, especially for flue-cured and dark tobacco.

"Although the price outlook for tobacco during 1946-47 is generally favorable to growers," the department said, "some declines below present price levels may be in prospect."

Durham Retirement Voted By Board

Raleigh, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Retirement of Baxter Durham, 67-year-old secretary of the State Teachers and Employees' Retirement System, was voted yesterday by its board of directors.

The board's action in retiring Durham was unanimous, according to State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson, chairman of the group. Durham had served as secretary of the retirement system since its organization in 1941. Earlier, he served 16 years as state auditor.

Paris, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Almost 350,000 American soldiers were sent home from the European theater during October, the month in which the big liners, the Aquitania and the Queen Elizabeth, were withdrawn from U. S. troop ferry service.

Ships headed toward France were loaded with Christmas packages. Army postal authorities said more than 3,000,000 parcels already have been received.

Observe Halloween In Fine Way Here

The young people of Greenville reflected great credit upon themselves last night by celebrating Halloween in a big way with parties and nocturnal visits at homes in costumes of witches and nearly all of the characters of Fairyland.

The weather was ideal, with clear skies and a very late moon and the youngsters made merry during the early hours of the night. They frolicked and played pranks and greeted passersby with happy salutations.

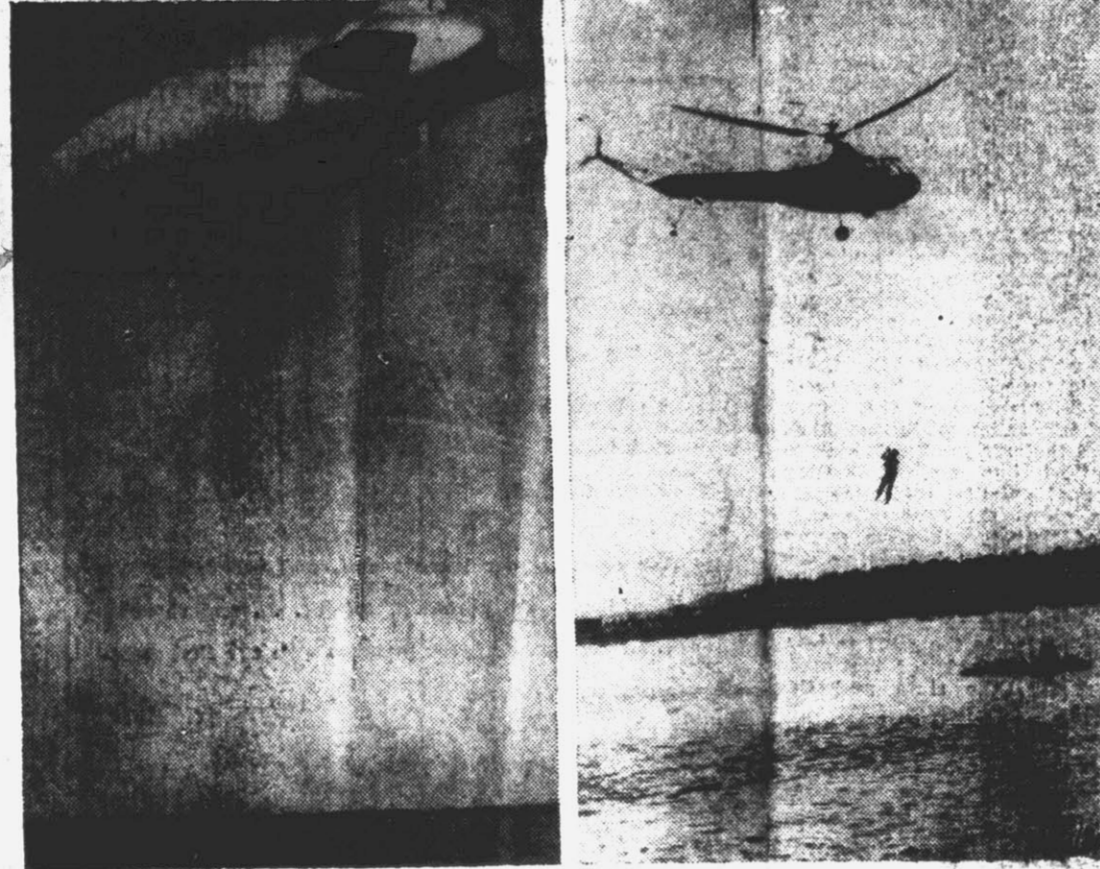

Incidentally, this morning Supt. of City Schools June H. Rose reported that Police Chief Tanner gave the youngsters 100 for perfect conduct and Fire Chief George Gardner said no false fire alarm was turned in. A fine record.

Coast Guard, Navy Demonstrate Life Saving

Here are two scenes from the spectacular demonstration of safeguarding the lives of seafaring men which was staged at Elizabeth City by the Coast Guard Air Base and the Navy's lighter-than-air station. Left: Five minutes after eight Coast Guardsmen had been dumped into the Pasquotank river, a Navy blimp is on the scene. The tiny speck dangling below the cabin is a Navy medical officer carrying a first aid kit to the men who have boarded a life raft. The officer came down on the raft, "treated" the exposure "victims," and sent the worst hurt aloft to be carried away by the blimp. PASTOR SAYS BUY BONDS

Rev. Richard E. Hardaway Reminds Of Seven Lean Years

Rev. R. E. Hardaway, pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church here, said that "an obligation of each of us to assume his rightful share in carrying out American ideals of mercy, peace and prosperity."

In his statement Mr. Hardaway said, "America has always set a world example in deeds of mercy, in the care of the sick, wounded, and those handicapped through no fault of their own. It follows," he said, "that Americans of this and all communities must assume their share of the cost of the best hospitalization and treatment we can provide for the wounded and disabled who have paid so dearly for peace."

Mr. Hardaway likened the Victory Loan to the inspired wisdom of Joseph in Egypt when he counseled saving in the seven good years for the seven lean years to come.

Mr. Hardaway sees the Victory Loan as an opportunity particularly for farmers to lay aside now for their future security. Mentioning that churches have invested their own funds in U. S. Saving Bonds, he called these Bonds the ideal way for the individual to save to insure not only his own future but a sound and prosperous country for our victorious fighting men to come back to; something they expect and have

Indonesian Soldiers Attack British Force

Extremists Apparently Out Of Control Of President Soekarno Of The "Indonesian Republic"

By RALPH MORTON Batavia, Java, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Extremist Indonesian forces, apparently out of control of President Soekarno of the "Indonesian Republic," were reported intensifying attacks on thin British forces in several sections of Central and Western Java tonight in defiance of an order of their president to cease fighting.

At Magelang three British fighter planes struck at extremists and supported Gurkha troops in recapturing most of the town after the Indonesians had opened up with mortars. A bombing line was reported to have been established at Magelang to prevent extremist forces from reaching the town.

Elsewhere the tenseness which gripped this island for weeks litted perceptibly following a meeting between Dutch and Nationalist leaders, the first attempt at reaching a mutual understanding.

President Soekarno, heading the Nationalists at the conference in Batavia last night, presented arguments for recognition of an Indonesian de facto government, and the Dutch pleaded for cooperation as serving the best interests of all concerned. The Dutch information service, announcing the meeting, said it was informal and "discussions were of an orientating nature."

Li Gen Su Philip Christison, Allied commander in the Netherlands East Indies, was host of the meeting and its chief architect. It appeared clear that Britain was anxious to show the world she could be scrupulously fair in arbitrating such differences, and wanted to solve the crisis in order to raise her prestige in the East.

In a broadcast appeal to the Indonesians last night, Soekarno told the Indonesians to lay down their arms and "solve all misunderstandings in close cooperation with the Allies."

"There is no reason for us to take up arms against the Allied forces," Soekarno said. "They come only to disarm and evacuate the Japanese and further to take care of internees and to maintain law and order in Allied occupation areas."

Just before the Congress gathered an Allied spokesman had described the military situation in Indonesia as "almost war." The fact that the talks could proceed in an atmosphere of such tenseness led observers to believe that a solution would be found, and that this was but the first of a series of such conferences.

Present were acting Governor General Hubertus Van Mook and Dr. Charles O. Van Der Plig, adviser to the Allied Command on Dutch Affairs, representing the Dutch; and Soekarno, his vice president, Mohamed Hatta; his foreign

Today In Congress

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Senate today began a scientific approach to the political problems of atomic energy.

And three important bills were before Congress for action or argument—on taxes, government streamlining, and foreign relief.

Aggressive, 42-year-old Brian McMahon, a former assistant U. S. attorney general, called the first meeting of the new atomic energy committee of the Senate.

Senator McMahon is chairman of the new 11-man group even though he has been in the Senate just ten months.

TAX BILL GOES TO PRESIDENT

Conference Report On Measure Approved By Senate Today

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The senate approved the $5,920,000,000 tax reduction bill today, sending it to the White House for President Truman's signature.

The house on Tuesday had accepted the final form of the measure as worked out by a senate-house conference.

Admittedly a "quickie" bill to bridge the gap between V-J day and enactment of comprehensive postwar tax legislation, it will—

Reduce everybody's income tax, lift all income tax liability from 12,000,000 persons and give veterans special tax preference, for total individual reductions of $2,644,000,000.

Repeat the excess profits tax on corporations, along with the declared value excess profits levy and the capital stock tax, and reduce the combined normal and surtax rates on business by from 2 to 4 percentage points, for a total corporate saving of $3,136,000,000.

End the "use tax" on cars and boats, reducing federal revenue by $140,000,000, and freeze the Social Security payroll tax throughout 1946 at the present rate of 1 per cent each on employers and employees.

The bill makes no change in the wartime excise taxes on such things as furs and cosmetics. The house had voted to set these back to their 1942 rates next July but the senate balked.

Individuals drawing salaries or wages will feel the benefits immediately after January 1. They'll have smaller tax withholdings from their pay envelopes.

Savings to individuals under the new income tax provisions are illustrated by such comparisons as these:

A married person with two dependents, salary $1,800 a year, tax under old law $39, none under new. Married man, no dependents, $7,000 income, $1,555 tax under old law, $1,292 under new. Single person, salary $460 old law, $380 new.

Persons with incomes less than $5,000 can read their tax liability directly off tables which will be prepared and sent out by the international revenue bureau.

Those who have to figure their tax will find the going more complicated. First, the 3 per cent normal tax is put on the same exempted way for national elections (Continued on page eight)

Promises Brazil Civil Liberties

Rio De Janeiro, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Brazilians were told today the civil liberties of all citizens would be guaranteed without political or religious discrimination as the government which supplanted the 15-year regime of Getulio Vargas paved the way for national elections on Dec. 2.

The cabinet of President Jose Linhares, emerging from its first meeting, announced adoption of a resolution that its first duty would be to prepare the nation for the election of a president.

It was believed likely that the new justice minister, T. Sampaio Doria, would recommend repeal of a Vargas decree which required state elections to be held concurrently with national balloting, a measure which permitted Vargas to place his appointed governors in control of state elections.

COMPROMISE NOW BREWING

President And House May Get Together On Service Bill

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A compromise was brewing today between President Truman's request for a continued federal control over the U. S. Employment Service and a House vote to turn it back to the States.

The issue came up before a Senate appropriations subcommittee whose chairman, Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), told reporters: "The whole question is one of time."

President Truman wants the government to keep the agency for a year. The House would give it to the States in 30 days.

"I doubt very much that the service could be turned back in 30 days," McKellar said.

Mr. Truman said in his Tuesday night address that millions of workers would want to look to "refill" (Continued on Page Eight)

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—President Truman's latest talk on wages and prices is—except for one very important change—hardly more than a restatement of the wage-price policy he laid down last August.

It was then—generally—and still is just this.

No wage increases, if they mean price increases without government permission. And the government is going to allow very few price increases.

He made some minor changes in the policy first stated in August. But they won't affect labor or industry generally. They'll apply in individual cases only, and probably few of them.

Travel Of Thousands In A Wide Section Of Country Impeded By Strike On Greyhound Line East Of Chicago Into New England And The South

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Travel of thousands of bus passengers in a wide section of the country was impeded today as service on Greyhound bus lines east of Chicago into New England and Southern States was halted by a strike of 4,000 AFL employees over a wage dispute.

The walkout of drivers, ticket agents and garage employees after unsuccessful efforts at conciliation, affected service on six Greyhound lines serving scores of cities. A bus line spokesman in New York City said the runs would be shut down as the company did not plan to hire substitute drivers.

The strikers left their jobs in New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, O., Washington, Boston and other cities at the midnight strike deadline shortly after a federal conciliator in Washington said a three-man parley had failed to effect a settlement. The AFL Amalgamated Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union was asking for a quarter-cent increase in the mileage rate for drivers—from three-fourths of a cent to a full cent.

The drivers want 5.75 cents a mile instead of the present rate of 5 cents for eastern driving and 4.75 in the Chicago and St. Louis areas.

Lines affected by the strike were the Central Greyhound, New England Greyhound, Pennsylvania Greyhound, Canadian Greyhound, Illinois Greyhound and Eastern Greyhound. The number of passengers carried daily was not immediately determined, but a company spokesman said that the September daily average for the Central and Pennsylvania Greyhound was between 40,000 and 50,000.

Across the country, continuing labor disputes kept idle about 255,000 workers, a drop of some 20,000 in the last 24 hours.

A strike vote involving 50,000 Western Union Telegraph Company employees outside New York City was asked yesterday by an AFL board representing unions after members said efforts to settle a wage dispute failed.

The union, asking a 25 per cent wage boost, said the company had refused any increase and termed as "grossly unfair" a War Labor Board order for a flat five cents an hour hike. The board said a nationwide strike "would tie up the reconversion program."

In New York a company spokesman said both the union and the company had agreed to accept the (Continued on Page Four)

Cut In Newsprint—The War Production Board says newspaper publishers may have to take a 15 per cent cut in newsprint orders for December delivery.

A WLB statement said orders for the fourth quarter already total approximately 28,000 tons more than allocations.

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The War Production Board says newspaper publishers may have to take a 15 per cent cut in newsprint orders for December delivery.

A WLB statement said orders for the fourth quarter already total approximately 28,000 tons more than allocations.

This proposal very closely before taking the President in his word. There are points to consider. Here are some of them:

OPA's power under the law to control prices ends next June 30, eight full months from now. OPA Boss Chester Bowles said price controls will have to be authorized beyond that time in order to prevent inflation prices.

Maybe congress will extend them when June 30 comes. But maybe by the time congress will think there's no further need for price controls and just let the OPA die.

Now to illustrate just what's involved in all this, take an example—say the auto industry—to show what can happen and how. Auto workers want a 30 per cent raise. Auto makers are not going to grant that without plenty of argument and bargaining. Suppose both groups finally settle for a 20 per cent wage increase.

It may take them two months—or the end of December—to reach that final settlement. Then if the auto makers find, at the end of six months, that the wage raise has deprived them of a fair profit, they can go to the government for a price increase on automobiles.

But that would be the end of June when they asked for a price increase and, if congress refuses to renew price control, all OPA price controls will die automatically on June 30. (Continued on page four)

JAYCEES HOLD ANNUAL MEET

"Ladies' Night" Banquet Last Night Brilliant Affair

By CHESTER WALSH The Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet at the Rotary building last night was a brilliant affair. It was ladies' night and feasting on turkey dinner, good fellowship, songs and dancing featured the meeting. Jaycees from neighboring cities and heads of local civic and other local organizations were special guests.

President Belle Lamm was toastmaster. A cocktail party preceded the banquet. Corsages were provided for the ladies. Out-of-town Jaycees were recognized. John Thomas and Walter Pittman led the Wilson delegation, Roy Bondy and Vernon Taylor, Rocky Mount, and John Miller, the Williamston group. Herman Borden's dance band of Williamston provided the music.

Vance T. Forbes of Wilson, the next state president of the Jaycees, in a brief review of the Junior Chamber's activities in the State pointed the way for the Jaycees to reach out into more influential spheres of activities, said some nice things about the Greenville club, recalled that the selective service draft made heavy inroads on the membership of the Jaycees and rejoiced that many of the Jaycees are now coming out of their uniforms and "returning to the fold" to take up the great work of improving communities, the state and the nation.

Dick Stokes III introduced returned servicemen. Next President of the Kiwanis Club Ed E. Rawl and John Proctor and Mrs. Proctor were special guests.

The entertainment feature of the social event was a program of dance numbers directed by Marie Smith Crute. They included tap dances by Joanne Bloom, Sara Kirkpatrick and Eleanor Clark; acrobatic dance by Ann Bowen; tap dance, by Edwina McMullan, and an adagio dance by diminutive and talented Mary Dunn Beatty and Tommy Smith (Marie's brother), the hit of the evening; tap dance by Kiddy Cosby, Janet Waters and Peggy Bowen. Miss Sara Jones was pianist for the dance numbers.

The Kiwanis Quartet, Bill Lee, Tige Gardner, James Ray Pittman and Aubrey Tilley, with Christine Smith at the piano, and Margaret James as vocal soloist, provided a delightful program. About 100 guests were present.

Watch Out for the Bronchial After-Effects of a Cold Too Important To Neglect

When nothing seems to do that irritating bothersome cough any good just go to any good drug store and get a bottle of good old Bronch-line Emulsion.

Take it as directed and notice how easily it takes hold—gives you relief and helps you get a good night's rest.

The president, Mrs. F. D. Duncan, presided over a brief business meeting after reading an impressive poem entitled "Peace" by Edw. Hearne. She turned the meeting over to Mrs. Sam Underwood who gave a most interesting talk on the "Status of Women in Russia."

In modern Russia women did not have to fight against men for their emancipation. The Czarist regime discriminated against them only a little more harshly than against the men of the population and revolutionary parties in Russia. The leaders and followers of these parties and women were the equals and comrades of men in revolutionary battles and would share equally in the fruits of the battles, whatever these might be.

These were among Mrs. Underwood's opening remarks. She pointed out that all professions were opened to all—equal pay for equal work. The real struggle was to bring public opinion up to the level of the new laws to liberate women from the tyranny of the old folk ways.

It is unquestionable, she said, that Russian women have been lifted well above the status they occupied 30 years ago. Their contribution to their country and to the world during this war was nothing short of phenomenal.

She quoted a well-known New York Times reporter who said "So-

The Curious Clue

Chapter 16
The General, Seth and Gardner began to search the old fort. Down a few feet from the path where they found Potter, they discovered an entrance to a tunnel which ran under one of the magazine chambers. Following along this dark passageway, they finally came to a small cell where the only light sifted through narrow slits high up on the mouldy walls. There was enough light in the cell for the men to see remnants of food on the muddy floor.

"That shows Potter had an accomplice," Gardner said, staring at the crusts of bread and scraps of meat. "He disappeared yesterday morning and some one brought him food after dark—last night." "Some hiding place," the General ejaculated. "But when in thunder did he get that dossier over here—and how'd he do it? That dossier certainly wasn't in the hotel yesterday."

"That's right," Seth agreed quickly. "I'll bet Potter brought it over to the fort Sunday. He was probably just returning from the fort when I ran across him coming up on the Beach at three o'clock that morning."

The General waved his flashlight over the slimy walls of the ancient passageway. "I have to hand it to Potter. If everything else failed, a good swimmer could try his luck in the Atlantic until he reached another other beach or a boat of some kind." "That all seems practical, but I think he had some one else in on the deal, that he couldn't do it alone."

"And I think they quarreled," Gardner supplemented cheerfully. "Hence the shot in the back. Who ever the guy was, he saved you a lot of grief, Peabody."

"By the time they were back on the path again, Cobo and the doctor were ready to leave. They were going back to the morgue with the body."

"I suppose Delgado will carry on as coroner," Gardner said as the men came out on the street again.

"He will," Cobo assented quickly. "He in Miami this morning. He can fly back today. This case not take long now."

"No?" Gardner's voice showed his surprise. "How do you figure that, Chief?"

"Man you saw in fort, not hard to find. Number one. Number two. Dolores Carabelle killed by Potter. She find him getting dossier from trunk. He choke her. Only think I not know when Potter was killed."

"You're a funny fellow, Cobo. All the hard things are easy for you, and the easy thing you make difficult. The doctor will have all that settled for you in an hour. Probably he knows now within thirty minutes, when this man was shot. That's routine for any medico."

"I want my dossier," Seth said suddenly. "Where'd you put it?"

"You come to morgue. Get it there," Cobo answered quickly. "Angers very stiff. We not open them."

"There you see. That answers your question, right off the bat, Cobo," the General exclaimed. He was standing by his car as Cobo went past him to signal the morgue wagon on standing further down the street.

"Ten hours, and you have advanced rigor mortis. A first year medical student could tell you when the man died, based on this one fact alone. You men coming with me?"

"No, thank you, General. Gardner and I are going to have some breakfast before we go down to the morgue," Seth smiled as he and the federal officer turned down White Street. His dossier was safe.

"I'll be getting out of Key West in a few hours now," he said, as the two men walked slowly back toward the hotel. "There's nothing to keep me here now, and I should have been in New York two days ago."

"I wouldn't rush things too fast if I were you," Gardner shook his head. "Cobo may be right about this case being cleared up, but I'm not at all sure of it myself."

"Why not? What's wrong with his outline of what happened?"

"Just this. Suppose for the sake of the argument we say that Potter did steal the dossier, but Dolores brought it to him—that he didn't take it from the trunk himself."

Seth whistled softly under his breath. "I never thought of that. Go on, what happens then?"

"Well, this may be cockeyed, but suppose Dolores hid the dossier under her bridal bouquet and took it downstairs to Potter—all of this having been arranged beforehand between them. Remember, Dolores was one of four people who knew where that trunk was."

Seth nodded. "That's right. Proceed. You interest me very, very much my friend."

"Okay, Dolores, as we said, gives the dossier to Potter, and promptly asks him for more money. Maybe she had been paid already for the job, but now that she has the dossier in her hand, she wants more—past him to signal the morgue wagon on standing further down the street.

Strength FOR THE DAY

THEORIES DEMAND RESPECT
The story has often been told how the great literary prophet of the nineteenth century, Thomas Carlyle, once jarred a group of English Tories out of their complacent thinking.

Certain of these men were disciples of liberalism and conservatism and one man very frankly declared that the British people could afford to laugh at theories because they were usually propounded by visionaries. Carlyle in a voice that stopped all conversation and snapped the company into rigid attention, called their attention to the time when the French nobility thought they could afford to laugh at theories. Then came Rousseau whose book, "The Social Contract" was laughed out of court by the French aristocrats. Carlyle and Carlyle, the shrewd of these very aristocrats went to find the second edition of Rousseau's book.

As we sit comfortably in our homes, we are entirely unconscious of the fact that the planet on which we live is revolving at the rate of a number of miles a second and being whirled at a tremendous rate through space. Likewise we often fail to appreciate the fact that movements are constantly being born round about us and that generally, intellectually, morally and economically the world is moving rapidly. We may not like certain theories of life and may try to cast them over our shoulders, but theories cannot be so treated. They must be faced, weighed, applied, and then rated according to their worth.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—All around town. Considering the wordage involved it is surprising there isn't more wit and humor on the floors of the House and Senate. Occasionally however, some one does come through. For example, Sen. Clyde M. Reed (R-Kan.) wound up a long speech on the shortage of physicians.

"I shall conclude in another moment, Mr. President. I know the Senator from Kentucky (Majority Leader Barkley) always becomes wretched when I make an extensive speech. I never be one worried when he makes one, otherwise I should be worried much of the time."

Barring copyright complications, President Truman's new campaign song is as much a certainty as anything can be. It's "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

If the four major contributions to the votes that Truman took (nobody here doubts for a second that he will be the nominee), the Republicans will have cast themselves to blame.

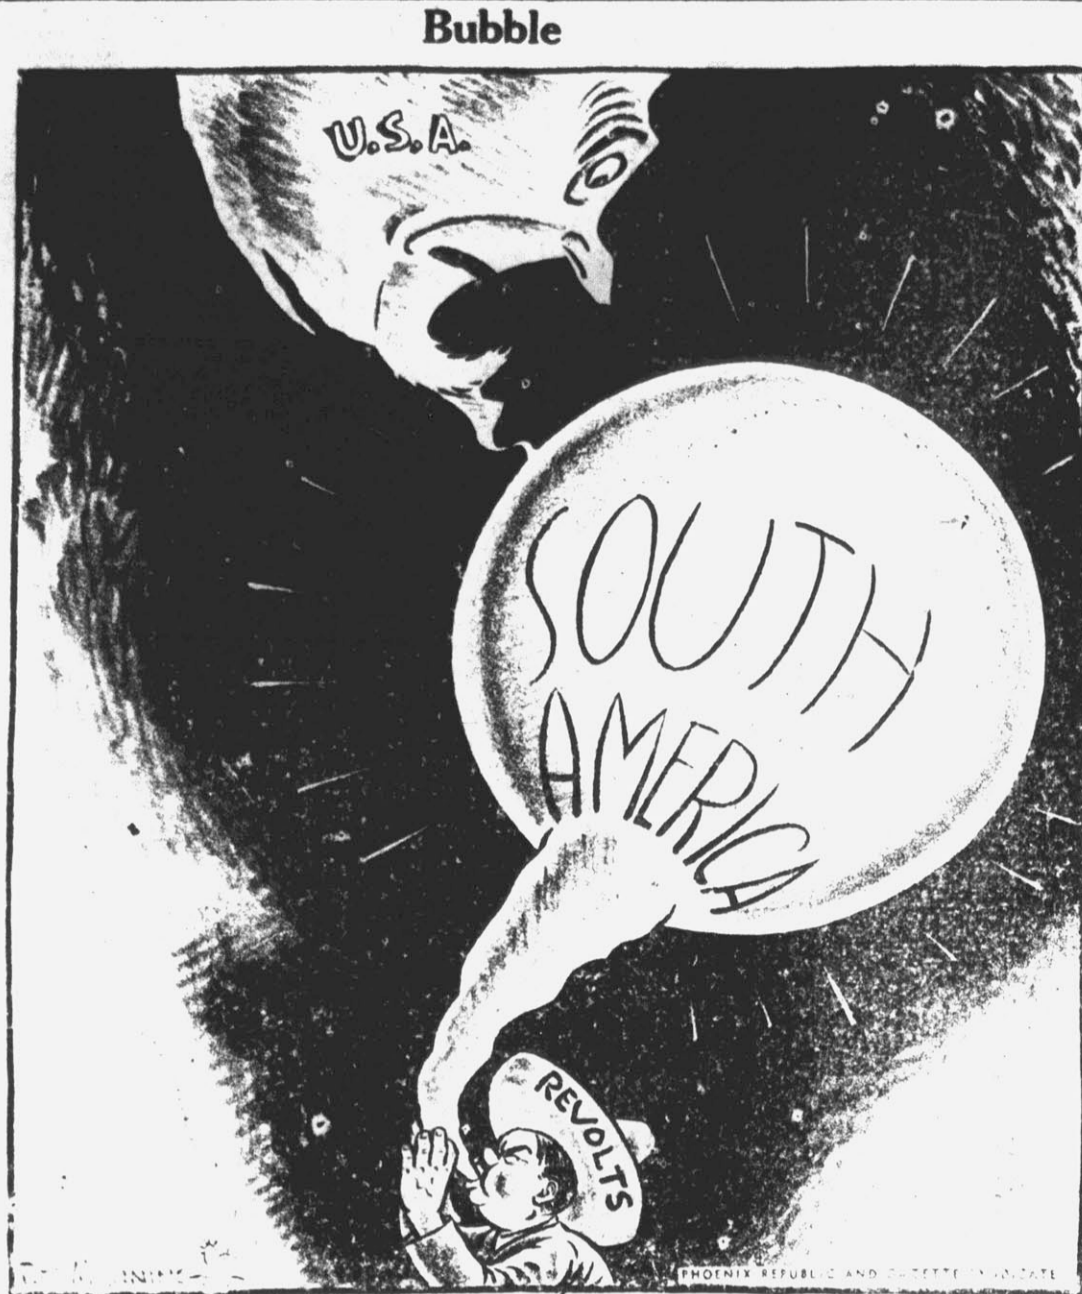

They brought the shameful gift to the attention of the Democrats when they started a rumor in one of their unbecomingly early meetings: "Don't Go Wild About Harry."

Bert Andrews, general chief of the Washington staff of the New York Herald Tribune, is especially credited with reviving the old Barkley Coast (Sen. Frankford's expression and spelling) it to the President. "Don't shoot the man at the piano boys, he's doing the best he can."

The remark to send off in all good humor, comes the news men and women left the only news and radio conference the President has held at which he didn't have all his answers ready to deliver in one-two punch style.

If you are willing to give our enough odds, say ten to one, you can pick up some bets around Washington that the next Republican nominee will be Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, the ex-governor of Massachusetts. He won his Senate seat in 1944 by more than 40,000 majority at the same time that President Roosevelt was sweeping the state at the head of the Democratic ticket.

You don't hear often from the tall, gangling Back Bay senator, but colleagues agree that he is piling up a remarkable record of being part-right on almost every issue that comes along. Incidentally, he already has a solid reputation for being one of the most sincerely friendly men on Capitol Hill.

The bet angle would hardly be worth mentioning except that it is the first and only offer I have heard on the positive side that anybody "will be the nominee." You can get all kinds of bets that almost anyone you name won't be nominated.

Senatorial trademarks unrecognizable. The old-fashioned morning coat, striped trousers and red cummerbund of North Carolina's Clyde Roper—the hair-do of Michigan's Vandenberg, who uses a few long, thin, scattered hairs to cover his bald spot—The red tie and red handkerchief which Mississippi's Bilbo waves before his opponents as he's conducting one of his filibusters.

So then the automakers want to have to ask government permission at all to raise prices. They can raise to suit themselves. But will they want to?

Competition between the automakers by that time when production and sales are in full swing—may be pretty keen. The individual automaker may be reluctant to raise prices then. It would give an advantage to his competitor if the latter don't raise prices.

But here's a side presented by one of the smartest government economists.

If price controls remain after June 30 then the President's plan is insurance to industry against a profit loss from raising wages, because it can expect to be allowed to increase prices.

Actually, this plan of the President might be a very quiet way of getting over the hump of the whole auto-industry wage problem in the next few months which are critical months for reconversion.

Industry widely accepted the

The laborer.

Specifically, Rep. Stephen Pace (D-Ga.) and other congressmen want to include the cost of farm labor in the complicated formula by which the government calculates the prices that farmers get for their products. The House has approved this change twice in recent years, but the Senate balked.

Emperor Blamed

If the emperor, actually, is required to foot much of the reparations bill, it appears likely that the crown jewels and what art objects he possesses will go on the block. The jewelry, art objects and stored gold and silver bullion have not yet been reported. They are not expected, however, to amount to any great sums. The effect of the announcement probably will be much greater in its political aspect than in the actual reparations produced.

Japanese and American authorities were hunting today for huge amounts of missing war material and funds. The Japanese War Ministry to curb public clamor for an accounting of tax payments, began an audit of the billions squandered by the army and navy on the war. It hoped to find, too, great quantities of military goods which had appeared between the surrender and the occupation.

American military police extended their search for some $500,000 worth of U. S. army rations, and nothing which apparently had been diverted into civilian channels through a big black market operation.

Director of the War Ministry's accounting bureau, Col. Takokatsu Endo, said that military spending in the war years 1937 to 1945 totaled 222,000,000,000 yen, about $1,500,000,000 at the present exchange rate but $10,000,000,000 at the present gold dollar rate.

Four American soldiers and several Italian and Japanese National Guards were arrested yesterday for questioning in the disappearance of the American army's rations and clothing.

Today would have been D-Day for Japan if the nation had chosen to fight to the end. November 1 was the date on which Americans could have signed a peace by the thousands in Southern Kwangsi. Instead many of them are engaged in routine occupation tasks.

Two new news agencies, Kwodo and Jit, began operation today, taking the place of dissolved Domei Kwodo is patterned along lines of the Associated Press and will distribute the Associated Press news story to every part of Japan.

With political activity increasing in Communist China, Japan's 36 new parties have come into existence.

The strongest appears to be Communist Party of Southern Manchuria, headed by Hsiao Sheng-shan. The government began its first serious since before the war, economic headquarters in a new directive told the Japanese to close bank accounts and other property of all members and former officials of the puppet Philippine government, including those of President Jose B. Laurel and his two sons, Pascual and Antonio.

General American detectives, unearched nearly two tons of secret Japanese military maps including maps of Alaska and a set of carefully scrutinized and way Gettysburg battle maps. Why the latter were held was not explained.

by a strike of 10,000 AFL and CIO machinists increased to about 45,000 today as labor and management resumed conferences aimed to settle the work stoppage. Operations in some 200 plants in the area were halted or curtailed and the closing of a plant producing paper cartons threatened milk deliveries. Milk, however, still was available in most San Francisco stores and supplies to hospitals were near normal.

President Truman's Tuesday night speech on wage-price policy advocating a reasonable boost in wages for workers resulted in new demands by two unions.

In Detroit, Walter P. Reuther, vice-president of the OIO United Automobile Workers, demanded that General Motors Corporation reconsider its "flat rejection" of the union's 30 per cent wage increase demand in view of Mr. Truman's address. The demands, which the union is asking for some half million automotive workers, were rejected by General Motors as "unreasonable."

The GM employes, as well as workers at Chrysler Corp. in strike votes have approved work stoppages. Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., said negotiations would begin Nov. 20 with the CIO-UAW over the union's wage demands. A strike ballot among Ford employes is scheduled Nov. 7.

In Pittsburgh, the CIO-United Electrical, radio and machine workers asked Westinghouse Electric Corp. to renew collective bargaining conferences in view of the president's wage-price policy. The union recently authorized a petition for a strike vote involving 106,000 Westinghouse workers in 25 cities after the company rejected a $2 a day wage demand.

A six-day strike of some 5,000 CIO employes at the General Electric Company's Philadelphia plant appeared ended as the employes voted to return to work. Union leaders said the employes agreed to accept the company's offer that negotiations over a wage dispute begin simultaneously with the return to work of the strikers.

In New York City, 170 employes at two hospitals, Beth-El and Beth Moses, were on strike again yesterday in a dispute over the alleged failure of the hospitals to obey the W.L.B. directives granting higher wages. Nurses were kept on their jobs.

Phantoms Hope For Sixth Win Of Season Tomorrow

By JIMMY FUTRELL

With the end of the Green Phantoms' football season just three games away, the Farleymen have buckled down to hard practice sessions for the tilt with the Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets Friday afternoon in Elizabeth City.

If the Phantoms can repeat the performance of several weeks back when they defeated the Jackets, it will make the locals' record stand at 6 wins and 3 losses.

The G-Men have gained momentum during the past several games and although their attack sputtered at times like an old man with asthma last week when they played the Tarboro Tiers. The Green Phantoms should be in peak form of the season. Tomorrow's game is the only afternoon affair on the G-Men's schedule and the local eleven is anxious to make up for that afternoon game with the Yellow Jackets last year when the Phantoms came home on the short end of a 7-6 score.

Football

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1 (AP)—Virginia Tech's Gobblers, whose record for the season gained something of a luster when they tipped over Maryland, find themselves again in the role of a "saint killer" when they go against North Carolina State Saturday at Raleigh, N.C. The tilt is a scheduled Southern Conference meeting and is one of two scheduled for the afternoon.

Should Tech be able to repeat the Terrapin performance at the expense of the Wolfpack it will put them in the enviable position of being the one Virginia team which has been able to take the measure of a club which for the past few seasons has proved "poison" to most Old Dominion colleges.

At Raleigh reports were that the Wolfpack was in excellent condition for the tussle. Big Bill Stanton, 195-pound back from Rowland, N.C., is expected to start as blocking back but otherwise the lineup will be the same as last week.

The other Southern Conference game scheduled pits William and Mary against Maryland, the contest being staged in the Old Liners' ball lot at College Park, Md.

The Terrapins, naturally, anticipate victory but have been warned by their coaches that they can expect a tough battle. The game will be the fourth Southern Conference game for the Indians.

Chicago, Nov. 1 (AP)—Indiana University, perched alone at the top of the Big Ten ladder, will keep its eyes focused on Ann Arbor and Columbus this weekend as three of four other contenders for the 1945 conference championship battle to stay in the race.

The Hoosiers entertain Cornell College of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, in a non-conference contest Saturday while Purdue—tied for second place (8-1)—with Ohio State—plays host to Pittsburgh. In a third non-conference battle Illinois clashes with Great Lakes at Champaign.

Fighting to repeat as Big Ten titlists, the defending champion Buckeyes, victors over Minnesota last week, take on the surprising Northwestern Wildcats, who upset Purdue, in one of the week's two big conference tilts. In the other standout, Minnesota and Michigan, both title contenders, clash at Ann Arbor in an elimination affair. One other conference battle is slated—Wisconsin at Iowa.

Around other Midwest camps: Notre Dame's chances of beating Navy suffered a blow when Vince Scott, second string left guard, suffered a wrenched back. Iowa's squad raced through a long offensive dummy scrimmage in preparation for the Wisconsin invasion. Coach Paul Brown of Great Lakes named a 43-man sailor squad which will leave tomorrow for Champaign and the Illinois contest. Wisconsin's Coach Harry Stuhldreher said that End Harold Haberman would not make the trip for the Iowa game. Haberman has a leg injury.

Illinois sought replacements for Guard Les Bingham and Tackle Lou Aese, both injured in the Michigan game. Fred Schimmelfennig of Capac, Mich., a Navy V-12 transfer from De Pauw, who has been regular halfback for the Marathons, reported to the Purdue coaches. Three of Coach Tom Stuidham's Marquette football players, all naval trainees, were at Great Lakes yesterday awaiting discharge. Stidham hopes the three—Halfbacks Paul Conoulos and Johnny Rudan and Tackle Bob Richardson—will be available for the Hilltoppers' homecoming game with Detroit Saturday.

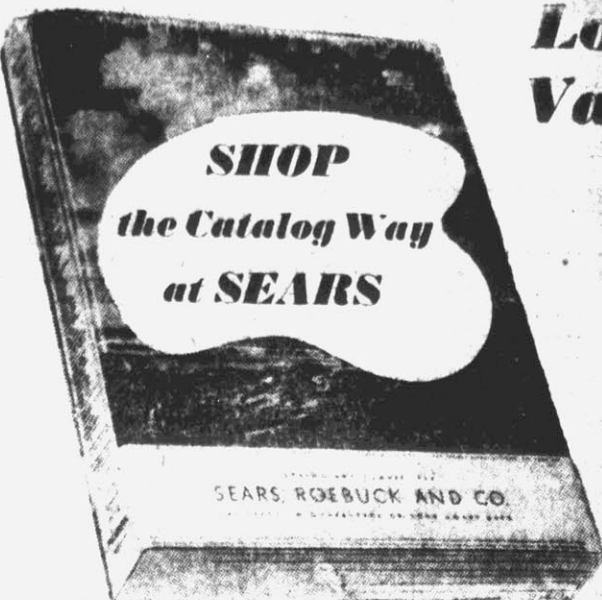

Investigating
Washington, Oct. 31 (AP)—Members of the joint Congressional committee investigating the Pearl Harbor attack will start for the scene by airplane Monday. They will complete plans for the trip tomorrow when they meet to receive a report from the committee counsel on his examination of records in the case.

Committee members include Representative Clark of North Carolina.

Judge Dies
Wilson, Oct. 31 (AP)—O. P. Dickinson, 70, judge of the Wilson County recorder's court, died in a hospital last night after an illness of several days.

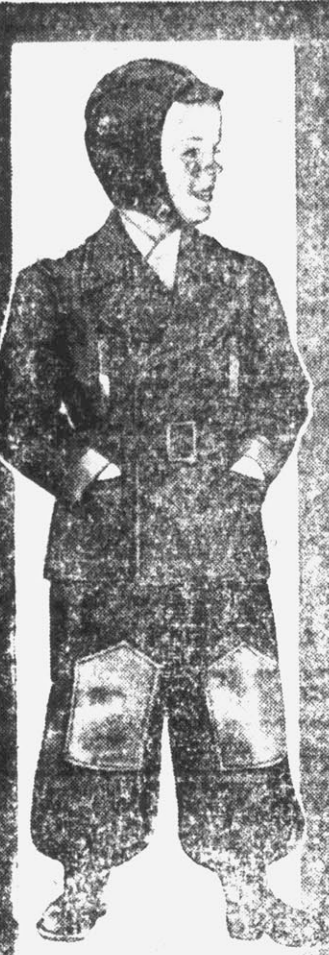

The funeral will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

In ancient Greece the theaters were regularly built in hillside hollows, thus avoiding the need for supporting framework for the tiers of

Simmer 10 to 15 minutes
1 1/2 cups tomatoes
2 tbs. chopped onion
1/4 cup diced celery
Put through a sieve.
Add 5 cups boiling water

What to Have For Dinner?

With this quick tomato-ice soup serve a thick slice of Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham (isn't it grand to welcome it back?), baked stuffed potatoes (a generous cube of Wilson's Clear Brook Butter or Certified Margarine adds to their deliciousness), broccoli with Hollandaise sauce and a fresh fruit salad. GREAT RIOTING IN PALESTINE

Jewish-Arab Political Difficulties Result In More Riots

Jerusalem, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Four persons were killed and at least 10 injured as Jewish-Arab political difficulties led to a new outbreak of disorders today during which systematic attacks were made on railway communications throughout Palestine.
British military headquarters announced that Palestine rail lines were in about 50 places.
A British military communique attributed the attacks to Jews. No blame was immediately attached to any specific group, but an exhaustive police and military investigation was under way all over Palestine.
Police captured five armed Jews following the holdup of a train between Jerusalem and Lydda.
Police launches in Haifa and Jaffa harbors blew up from mines at 2 a. m. One sank and two others were seriously damaged.
A mysterious explosion which rocked Jerusalem shortly before midnight was believed to have been the result of an attack upon the railroad.
British military sources said casualties included, one British soldier killed and another wounded; one Palestine policeman killed, and one wounded; two Palestine railway workers killed, and six others injured, one of them critically.
In what appeared to be the heaviest attack, three locomotives and one train were badly damaged at the Lydda railway station. The locomotive shed was set afire. The attackers struck at 3:45 a. m.

Prices this year and last reached peak levels, and under ceiling regulations, prices for poor grades of flue-cured, Maryland and some types of cigar tobacco have been almost as high as for the better grades of leaf. In the absence of ceilings, the price spread between high and low grades likely will be much wider than during the past two or three years.

Before the war the service was operated by the States with the aid of federal funds. When the emergency came, President Roosevelt brought it under federal control because labor needs of war industries necessitated large scale migrations of workers between the States.
The House attached the provision for quick return to the States to a bill withdrawing $52,000,000,000 in war appropriations.
Senate leaders obviously hoped to increase the 30 days, but there were indications that any attempt to run the period out to many months would bump into substantial opposition.

Enterprise Will Be Made Into Shrine

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The heroic aircraft carrier Enterprise, too old to fight any more, will become a national shrine, the Navy disclosed today.
President Truman has approved a proposal from Navy Secretary Forrestal to preserve the "fightingest ship of the fleet," affectionately known to her crew as the "Big E" and the "Gallopin' Ghost of the Oahu Coast."
Details concerning her preservation, including where she will be berthed, have not been completed.

American Tanks For The Allied Powers

Boston, Nov. 1.—Allied nations received more American tanks and trucks than the United States overseas forces, according to Col. H. B. Sheets, commander of the Boston ordnance district.
Sheets said that statistics showed that Russian, English and Chinese troops received 785,930 vehicles of all shapes and sizes compared with 654,085 shipped to American supply depots abroad.

He said that a breakdown showed that Russia received 459,481; United Kingdom 298,110 and China 28,348.

Soviet Troops Soon To Quit Manchuria

Chungking, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A semi-official Chinese dispatch from Tientsin today said that Soviet forces in Manchuria would start a large scale withdrawal tomorrow and it would be completed by Dec. 1.
Meanwhile Chinese Communists today expressed open dissatisfaction over the role played by United States forces in China and spurned the latest proposal of the Chinese Central government aimed at avoiding full scale civil war.
The No. 2 Communist leader, Gen. Chou En-Lai, said here in an interview there "is no necessity at all for United States transportation of Kuomintang (government) troops to areas which Communists have recovered from the Japanese."

Pardon Is Given To Robert Burns

Atlanta, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Georgia wiped away today a prison sentence which has hung over the head of the famous fugitive, Robert Elliott Burns, for 23 years and restored his civil rights. The Pardon Board explained to Burns it did not grant a full pardon in any case in which the prisoner admitted his guilt—and Burns admitted a $5 stickup in Atlanta in 1922.

Hitler Dead?

London, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Berlin today said a British Intelligence report declared it had been definitely established that Adolf Hitler is dead.
The dispatch said the report concluded that Hitler shot himself and that his mistress, Eva Braun, poisoned herself at 2:30 a. m. on April 30 in the Berlin Reichschancellery.
Salt Lake City, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Two bandits who kidnaped 63-year-old Jake Beckel and stole his car after stranding him in the mountains, put him on his honor not to call police.
The pair returned to Beckel his bowling ball and shoes and told him the car would be found in good shape, in Las Vegas, Nev., in a few days.
