Chinese Communists Make New Charge Of American Intervention As Navy Claims Marines Are Not In China For Any Purpose Connected With Civil Strife

By The Associated Press
Chungking, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Chinese Communists made a new charge today of American intervention even as the Navy Department in Washington was emphasizing the Marines are not in China for any purpose connected with the conflict between Reds and Nationalists.

A Communist spokesman alleged, without confirmation, that an American ultimatum was served last night on Red troops to withdraw 100 kilometers from either side of the Peiping-Mukden railroad. The spokesman said the Red commander at Shanhaikwan, coastal terminus of the Great Wall, turned it down—and nothing in the way of fighting has been reported since.

In Washington, the Navy Department statement noted that Marines under Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's operational control are stationed along the Peiping-Tientsin-Chinwangtao line of communication and at Tientsin.

The statement added the Marines were there "for the purpose, and the purpose only, of assisting the Chinese Nationalist government to obtain the surrender of Japanese forces there and to carry out the surrender terms in accordance with international agreement."

Chinwangtao, one of the points held by the Marines, is the port at which Chinese National troops have landed from U. S. transports and moved north to confront the Communists at Shanhaikwan.

From Chinwangtao, Associated Press Correspondent Richard Bergholz reported that the Marines are near enough to hear the skirmishing and to see wounded being brought in. He said the Marines have been with some reservation, reports from Washington that they are to be pulled out.

Vice Adm. Daniel Barbey told Bergholz there was sufficient shipping in North China to get the bulk of the more than 50,000 Marines in the area home by Christmas if that is to be American policy.

A check by Bergholz of the troubled area failed to disclose any outbreak of large scale civil war as yet. However, the China Central news agency said that bloody cease-fire battles are in progress at railroad points in Shansi Province.

The Peiping-Mukden railroad, mentioned in the Communist spokesman's new charge against the Americans is of vital artery for transportation of Chinese Nationalists to Manchuria.

The Reds have said they would oppose entry of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's troops into Manchuria. Recently the Nationalists sought to land at two ports in Manchuria from Admiral Barbey's ships but did not go ashore after reportedly finding that Russian forces had withdrawn from them and that Chinese Communists had taken (Continued on page three)

Legion Services At Church Sunday Night

The American Legion and the Women's Auxiliary will sponsor a service of thanksgiving for peace at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church Sunday night at 8 o'clock. Other churches of the city have cancelled their evening services and will join in this Armistice Day service. The public is invited.

Men and women who have served in various branches of the military service are to be guests of honor in the service. Special mention will be given to the Gold Star Mothers. The chaplain will deliver a short talk. A soloist will sing "The Reckoning" and "Taps" will be sounded.

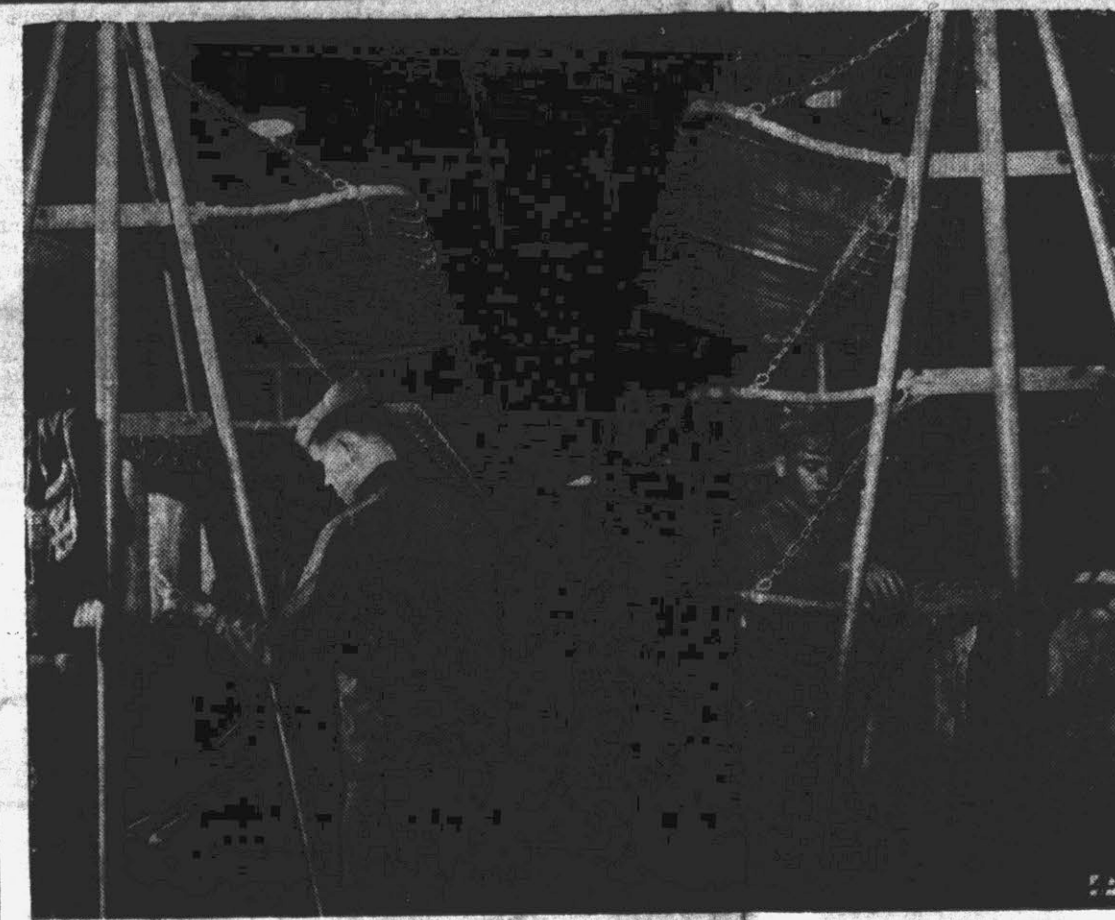

He believes in the old adage that too many cooks spoil the broth. He thinks that the three heads of state by themselves can achieve what couldn't be accomplished by a dozen assistants who have to keep referring questions back to headquarters, and can't bargain on their own responsibility.

The biggest Allied decisions of the war were made in conferences of the Big Three. Sometimes bargains were involved. This was done by the chiefs of state—with the advice, of course, of their military experts.

It might be that the Anglo-American Allies were about to undertake a big offensive. Stalin might say in effect: "Russia will guarantee to keep fifty divisions of Germans occupied on such-and-such a Soviet front for a month from the time you launch your drive." That sealed the pact.

The Big Three had their differences then. For instance Russia wanted the western Allies to invade France long before D-Day arrived for Normandy. But those differences were absorbed, so to speak, in the conferences of the chiefs.

Naturally the exigencies of war made speedy cooperation vital. Delays might spell disaster. Today this urgency may not be so apparent—but it's there just the same. In Europe and in Asia there are developing dangers every bit as bad as (Continued on Page Two)

British Indian Troops Engaging In Full Scale Warfare

Batavia, Java, Nov. 10.—(AP)—British Indian troops, engaging in full scale warfare to disarm resisting Indonesian Nationalists, opened an attack on Soerabaya today. British shells and bombs raked the naval base of 500,000 population.

Indonesians were evacuating their families from the city.

Indonesian spokesmen said British naval guns as well as land artillery opened fire at 6 a. m. in preparation for the attack by the full Fifth Indian Infantry division.

British planes, Mosquito bombers and Thunderbolt fighters strafed and bombed the postoffice and government buildings in Soerabaya and one Mosquito was forced down when damaged.

The Nationalists said large numbers of native youths assembled in Jogjakarta, 175 miles to the southwest, had decided to proceed to Soerabaya to reinforce their countrymen and were rallying to the cry "fight for freedom."

Foreign Minister Soebardjo of the unrecognized "Indonesian Republic" said the telephone manager at Soer (Continued on page three)

Powerful Forces Occupy Tay Ninh

Saigon, Indo-China, Nov. 9.—(Delayed)—(AP)—An overpowering French force equipped with lend-leased tanks of American manufacture yesterday occupied Tay Ninh, 58 miles northwest of Saigon, opening the first overland link with food-rich Cambodia.

Although the French were known to be utilizing U. S.-made equipment, French authorities declined to furnish details or estimate the amount of American arms used by the 9th and 11th French colonial regiments or elements of the veteran French 2nd Armored Division.

Bitter fighting raged late into the night. The French said they had seized a "large number of important documents," an indication that they may have discovered the long-sought headquarters of Viet Minh Annamese nationalist movement.

Today In Congress

By Max Hall

Washington, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The peacetime Congress was military-minded today. The situation in brief:

Merger—the secretary of the navy has written a letter to the secretary of war, protesting statements made by Lieut. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle before a Senate committee. Doolittle was testifying in favor of merging the war and navy departments.

Eisenhower—Senators expect to question Gen. Dwight Eisenhower on the merger proposal in a few days.

Universal Training—Congressmen said the House Military Committee is split half in two on the question of whether to continue hearings on universal military training, or break them off until 1946. An extremely close vote is expected Tuesday.

Pearl Harbor—A Republican member of the Pearl Harbor Investigating Committee, Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.), said he has asked the committee's lawyer to obtain the official diary of former Secretary of War Stimson.

Army Doctors—Senator Sheridan Downey (D-Calif.) has renewed a request to the army surgeon general for official figures on the number and location of doctors in the army. Senator Clyde Reed (R-Kans.) applauded this action in an interview and demanded that doctors be released faster.

Congress is awaiting the arrival not only of General Eisenhower but also of Prime Minister Clement Attlee. The Senate and House will hold a joint session Tuesday to hear a speech by the British leader.

Eisenhower, in addition to arguing for an army-navy merger, may testify on universal military training before the House Military Committee—if the hearings are continued.

The bitter struggle between the army and navy over creating a single department of national defense has reached the stage where military big shots are disputing one another on the question of "Who beat Japan?"

That's what caused the big blow-up yesterday.

Senator Lister Hill (D-Ala.) asked General Doolittle whether he would comment on recent statements Hill attributed to two navy admirals, one by Admiral Chester Nimitz crediting seapower with forcing the Japanese surrender, the other by Admiral Mark Mitscher saying carrier-based planes won the air war with Japan.

Doolittle said:

"Admiral Nimitz and Admiral Mitscher are great commanders, but this war was won by teamwork. No single agency alone was responsible."

"I do feel very strongly that it was not seapower that compelled Japan to sue for peace. And that it was not carrier strength that won (Continued on Page Two)

Babson Discusses Newspapers

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 9. People today are talking reconversion. In a short time, we will all be discussing distribution. Reconversion of a plant from war work to consumer work is a comparatively simple matter; but the sale and distribution of these consumer goods in a two-year period may be very difficult after the present backlog has been satisfied. Hence, we all should now begin to think of how we can help the sale and distribution of goods.

Armies Needed Today

During the past few years we have been drafting men for military purposes and paying large wages to others to make munitions, guns, and airplanes. Unless we have sufficient volunteers as salesmen, it may not be long before the country will be obliged to "draft" young men and young women for distribution purposes. After reconversion, it will be a simple matter for manufacturers to make goods of which there may soon be an excess. Selling goods, however, is another matter.

The sale of goods is a two-way street. It is dependent upon employment which, conversely, is dependent upon the sale of goods. One is the hatchet and the other is the handle; one is the lock and the other is the key. Hence, I am this week appealing to every young man who would like to be a salesman that immediately after his discharge from the service he train for the selling of goods. This will be as patriotic work as his work in the army, navy or air force.

Importance of Advertising

A salesman needs tools, however as much as a carpenter, a surgeon, or a surveyor. Someone must go ahead of him and blaze the trail and prepare the ground on which he should work. A salesman cannot any more be expected to succeed without ground being prepared for him than a farmer be expected to raise (Continued on page Two)

FINAL REPORT IN FUND DRIVE

County Reaches 92 Per Cent; Four Townships Over

Final results of the United War Fund campaign, combined in Greenville, Farmville, Bethel, and Ayden with the Community Chest budgets of those towns, show that four townships made the "Honor Roll" by attaining one hundred per cent or more of their quota. Greenville Township made a strong drive, in the closing days of the campaign, and went "over the top." Officials of the County Executive Committee of the United War Fund praised the great work of Walter L. Harrington, Greenville Township chairman. One of them said, in an interview this morning: "Greenville Township's achievement of its total quota, and a little more, is especially noteworthy for the reason that its quota represented more than half of the entire county quota. I am convinced that this result can be attributed to the cheerful and untiring work of Walter Harrington, the chairman of Greenville. He inspired enthusiasm on the part of a large number of loyal and faithful workers and when it seemed that the total amount of money could not be raised, he personally undertook to make a last-minute solicitation which proved to be his home town and Greenville should be proud of Walter Harrington."

Mr. James T. Little, president of the Greenville Community Chest, when asked for a statement concerning the campaign, said: "The Greenville Community Chest is highly appreciative of the untiring efforts of Mr. Walter L. Harrington in the recent War Fund campaign in which one hundred per cent of the quota was subscribed. The Community Chest, as part of the War Fund, thereby is able to continue its local objectives which are for the betterment of this community. In this accomplishment, the Community Chest is very grateful to Mr. Harrington and his many associates as well as to the citizens (Continued on Page Three)

Alumni Also Request Reinstatement Of Fired Teachers And Appointment Of New Presidential Committee

Members of the Greenville Chapter of East Carolina Teachers' College Alumni Association, in regular meeting last night, voted 20 to 12 for the immediate removal of Dr. Howard J. McGinnis as acting president of the college; for immediate action by the Board of Trustees to reinstate Dr. Herbert ReBarker, Dr. E. L. Henderson and Prof. M. L. Wright, dismissed members of the faculty; and for appointment by the board of a new committee for the purpose of procuring a permanent president for the college, the present committee being charged as being prejudiced in its views because of the loyalty of the majority of its members to Dr. L. R. Meadows, former head of the college.

The three resolutions follow: "To the Board of Trustees of East Carolina Teachers' College: "We, the members of the Greenville Chapter of the East Carolina Teachers' College Alumni Association do respectfully submit the following resolutions and request that it give them its immediate attention and consideration:

Resolution 1. Whereas, certain members of the East Carolina Teachers' College faculty—Dr. Herbert ReBarker, Dr. E. L. Henderson and Prof. M. L. Wright—have been summarily dismissed from the faculty without cause or justification, and

"Whereas, no fair hearing has been conducted to the present date; and

"Whereas, no proof has been established to substantiate the charges brought against them; and

"Whereas, such wholly unfounded charges have placed these faculty members in an unfavorable position in the public eye and such a position has caused them great mental anguish and undue financial loss, as well as professional injury; and

"Whereas, such action by the Board of Trustees has been strongly opposed by the majority of the students, members of the Alumni and citizens of Eastern North Carolina,

"Be it therefore, Resolved that the present board take immediate action to reinstate these discharged men for the welfare of the college in its future development."

Resolution 2. Whereas, the policies of the present administration have resulted in schism in the faculty, and

"Whereas, such undemocratic policies and arbitrary methods in handling students activities have brought on dissension among the students; and

Eisenhower Heads For United States

Washington, Nov. 10.—(AP)—General Eisenhower was headed for the United States today amid indications he will be asked for his views in the increasingly bitter controversy over consolidation of the armed forces.

Announcement from Eisenhower's Frankfurt headquarters that he will "appear before committees of congress" came only a few hours before the Secretary of the Navy protested to the Secretary of War utterances by Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle during testimony in support of the merger proposal.

Secretary Forrestal told Secretary Patterson in a letter "if we allow an honest difference over principle to degenerate into an exchange of personalities, we shall do irreparable harm to the end which we all seek in the name of national security: the comradeship of all branches of the armed services."

While Doolittle was before the Senate Military committee yesterday, Senator Hill (D-Ala.) remarked that Admiral Chester W. Nimitz had said sea power brought surrender of the Japanese, and Admiral Marc Mitscher had credited navy carrier-based airplanes with winning the Pacific air war.

City Gets Street-Sweeping Machine

After waiting several years for a new mechanical street sweeping machine for the Greenville Street Department, the equipment—Elgin Sweeper, made by the Elgin Manufacturing Co., Elgin, Ill., has arrived. Mayor Jack Boyd announced today. It cost $7,000.

Mayor Boyd said that a city ordinance forbidding parking of vehicles on any paved street between 1 a. m. and 5 a. m. will be strictly enforced from now on. The law imposes a fine on motorists who leave cars parked on any of the paved streets during the hours specified.

Employees Of Automotive Industry's "Big Three"—General Motors, Ford And Chrysler Demand Thirty Per Cent Wage Rate Increase

By The Associated Press
A strike weapon—to be used if necessary—has been forged by employees of the automotive industry's "big three"—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—in support of their demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase.

CIO United Auto Workers leaders have emphasized that despite the big majorities in strike votes favoring a work stoppage if necessary to gain the union's wage demands, every effort will be made to settle the dispute peaceably.

Ford workers were the last in the "big three" to record their sentiments in a government-conducted election. They sanctioned a strike by an 11-1 margin, compared with the 2 to 1 approval of a walkout given by General Motors employees and 6 to 1 by Chrysler unionists. Not all of the employees in the motor plants balloted.

The National Labor Relations Board announced that of 150,000 Ford Motor Co. employees the vote in favor of a strike was 42,335 to 3,951 against.

Wage negotiations between the CIO-UAW and General Motors adjourned yesterday in Detroit and will be resumed Nov. 15. Neither management nor union was optimistic as to the possible result.

"We cannot be optimistic with a strike hanging over our heads," said H. W. Anderson, GM's vice-president.

Walter P. Reuther, CIO-UAW vice-president, declared no progress had been made and "we're exactly where we were the day after we filed our first brief three months ago."

Their comments followed union rejection of a General Motors offer of an eight to 10 per cent "cost of living" increase.

Stockholders of Higgins Industries, Inc., backed up Andrew Higgins, Sr., in ordering out of court liquidation of the big New Orleans shipbuilding concern. President Higgins and Morris Gottesman, secretary-treasurer, were designated liquidators to carry out existing contracts if possible. Gottesman said completion of an estimated $1,000,000 worth of contracts would provide jobs for about 1,000 persons.

Future plans of Higgins Industries were in doubt. He shut down his three strike-bound plants No. 1 and the stockholders, approving the action, extended his liquidation order to the firm's subsidiaries as well. The firm had advertised a program for assembly-line production of peace-time pleasure boats, boasting a backlog of $40,000,000 worth of contracts.

The plants were closed as a result of 2,000 AFL workers were on strike in protest if Higgins' refusal to negotiate a new contract.

Young Scientists.
By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The majority of the 2,000 scientists who worked on the atomic bomb were under 35 years of age.

One of the scientists who worked on the project says 95 per cent of them were, although this estimate may be a bit high.

But there will be an increasing need for young men coming out of school to go into the field of nuclear physics. There's a scarcity now.

The bomb was developed by the men who knew nuclear physics. But that field itself is new.

It got its start in 1932. In that same year the first cyclotron—equipment used in splitting the atom—was built in this country.

Others were built later and more and bigger ones will be built now. The atomic bomb—and the revealed possibilities that lie in atomic energy—has made the nuclear physics field one of tremendous importance nationally and internationally.

Research in this will be pushed by the government, by universities and by private industry.

And government will be in competition with schools and industry for scientific talent.

The need for physics students was made clear by the fact that many scientists who worked on the bomb project are leaving, or soon will leave to return to teaching even though work on the project is continuing.

And industry will pay good money to lure nuclear physics scientists away from the schools. This means the government will be in sharp competition with both to get talent.

"We'll never be able to tell how much damage was done to scientific research by the wartime draft of science students into the armed forces."

One of the scientists who worked on the bomb—Dr. Robert Marshak, professor of physics at the University of Rochester—says:

"The present number of people schooled in nuclear physics is far too small to take care of the government, school and industry laboratories."

Dr. Marshak says that scientists who choose government work would want:

Good pay. Working locations not too far from civilization. As little secrecy as possible so they be the traditionally free exchange of information among scientists, whether they're working for the government or for schools or industry.

Atomic research and development is a long and thorny road. The problem of getting young scientists into the work is just one of the problems that the atom bomb has loosed.

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The London press reported yesterday that it was likely there would be another meeting of the big three—U. S., Britain and the Soviet Union—in Washington this week-end of President Truman, British Prime Minister Attlee and Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

There not only is no confirmation of this report, but a spokesman for Mr. Attlee in London said that "as far as we know there is nothing in that report at all." Still, even if the story has no foundation I think it is of great importance. It's important because it registers a general public desire—a belief—that a meeting of the Big Three would ease the numerous crises which are bedeviling Europe and Asia.

Mr. Attlee himself, speaking just before setting out for America, made a declaration which is the key to public sentiment in this matter. He said it was his view that people must look to the United Nations and their close unity of purpose, "especially that between Britain, the United States and Russia," as a foundation of peace.

That's what the public believes, too, and to the man-in-the-street these three paramount powers are personified by Messrs. Truman, Stalin and Attlee. The little man-in-the-street believes this trio of great executives possesses the magic to pull the world out of its tail spin.

He believes in the old adage that too many cooks spoil the broth. He thinks that the three heads of state by themselves can achieve what couldn't be accomplished by a dozen assistants who have to keep referring questions back to headquarters, and can't bargain on their own responsibility.

THEORY AND PRACTICE

Some people are long on theory and short on practice. It is much easier to talk about things than it is to do them. Just recently I heard of a man who has a great following in this country, as a lecturer on the subject of personal success. He had made a failure of everything he tried, until he conceived the idea of going about telling others how to do what he had failed to do himself.

Leschetzky, the Polish musician, was one of the greatest piano teachers of all times. Many of the great pianists of the last century went to him for instruction, including Paderewski. Yet this same Leschetzky failed as a concert pianist.

It may seem on first sight a fantastic notion that a man can teach others to do things he can not do himself. But this is not true. Some years ago I knew a swimming coach who was very successful in training winning teams. No one, however, could remember having seen him in a swimming suit, and there was widespread scepticism as to whether or not he could swim.

It is possible to teach others to do what we cannot do ourselves, but the most effective teaching is done by those who have come up through the hard school of experience. This is especially true in any teaching involving the principles of right and wrong. Don't try to instruct in this field unless you also practice.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STENNETT

(Second Of Two Articles)

Washington—In the campaign to capture control of the House of Representatives in 1946 which Republican congressional political leaders now are launching, there appears to be one stumbling block.

The GOP strategists can't make up their collective mind whether to concentrate their fire-power on President Truman and the general administration programs or to wage a door-to-door campaign on local issues in those districts and Congressmen-at-large states where 98 seats were won or lost by very narrow margins in 1944.

Some top-notch strategists, like House Minority Leader Joe Martin, feel that the long-run policy of knocking the administration out of the White House is more important than taking over control of the House in an off-presidential election year.

I have found that it is frequently a cause for debate among political strategists whether winning control of the House with the opposing party in the White House is an asset or liability. Too often, it gives the President opportunities to recommend popular legislation which the opponent-controlled House can only string along with or put its majority on the spot with if it votes it down.

Equally revered party strategists feel that such an opportunity to take over the House as presents itself this coming year shouldn't be overlooked for any long-range policies and that party funds and party pressure should be concentrated in those individual districts where Republicans are beaten by slim majorities or won by little more than a toe-hold last year, regardless of inconsistencies which would result.

Although the Republicans have taken several aggressive steps toward a unified constructive platform, they still are plagued with division in the ranks.

As a matter of fact, both parties are suffering from the same thing—a split between the liberals and conservatives. The Democrats are, if anything, more factually disoriented than the Republicans, but for 12 years enough of them have been able to find the magic key to the ballot boxes to keep the party in power.

Some of these have done it by beating Roosevelt and the administration all the way. Others did it by riding the Democratic donkey but smacking the President and his administration on even major is-

The air war. Our B-29 boys are resting uneasily in their graves as a result of those two comments.

Doolittle's statement aroused Navy Secretary Forrestal. In his letter to War Secretary Patterson, Forrestal urged that a disagreement over a principle will not be allowed to "degenerate into an exchange of personalities."

He said he questioned whether "death in any particular line of duty—and the resultant grief at home—should be appealed to in order to advance any individual point of view."

And here's a congressional development that is not military, but may start a small war at that:

A bill is being prepared that would set up regulations in connection with radio commentators and make it easier to file damage suits against radio stations. Ernest Adelman, lawyer for the House Committee on Un-American Activities, said he is writing the bill for the consideration of the committee.

He told a reporter the bill would require a radio station to identify its commentators clearly and announce whether they are giving news or opinions.

Rep. Ellis Patterson (D-Calif.) issued a statement attacking the proposal as "an unconstitutional attempt . . . to control the airways."

Unless they correct the situation, this country will be left with a radio advertising altogether as has taken place in Great Britain. Furthermore, in the case of radio, the advertiser is using the spoken, rather than the written word—and people forget quickly.

Your Community's Welfare
But more important than anything I have mentioned above is the service which your local newspaper renders to the upbuilding—morally, politically and socially—of your community. It can do many times the good of the preachers, school teachers and city fathers. It gives you more for your money than anything else you can buy. Back it up in every possible way by encouraging its editors and advertisers.

ED RAWL NEW HEAD KIWANIS

Eli Bloom Chosen Vice-President Of Club Last Night

By CHESTER WALSH
The Greenville Kiwanis Club at its weekly supper meeting last night unanimously adopted the Nominating Committee's report recommending the election of Ed E. Rawl as president for 1946 and Eli Bloom as vice-president.

Four new directors—Guy V. Smith, Judge J. W. H. Roberts, O. Dell C. Calhoun and David A. Evans were elected. The four hold-over directors are Dr. H. Glenn Haney, John D. Hice, William H. Taft and W. Arthur Tripp. The secretary-treasurer, David C. Moore, Jr., is appointed by the president with approval of the directors.

President-elect Rawl succeeds Dr. J. M. Barrett, whose administration during the year about to end has been outstandingly progressive. Dr. Barrett, as immediate past president, becomes a member of the Board of Directors. Vice-President-elect Bloom succeeds Rawl. The new officers and directors take office in December. During this year the Greenville club sponsored the organizing of the Farmville Kiwanis Club and, with the Goldsboro club, sponsored the organizing of the Kinston Kiwanis Club; the Greenville club also netted about $1,800 from the Kiwanis ministerial, under direction of Eli Bloom, for the underprivileged child fund. The membership has increased and the influence of the club has expanded considerably.

Marvin E. Blount, a former president of the club, and a charter member, presided over the election last night and congratulated the Kiwanians on their selection of new officers and directors. Carlos W. Murray, program chairman, provided a musical quiz, with prizes, that was a distinct hit. Ten Kiwanians participated, guessing the names of songs played by Mrs. Ray Tyson, singing the first few lines when they knew them. The soloists were Marvin E. Blount, Sen.

The Dance

One of the most successful and enjoyable social occasions of the year was given Friday night in Perkins Hall, it being a subscription dance given by the young men of Greenville. The hall was beautifully decorated with evergreens over which hung festoons of red and white, and in the center of the hall hung two large, many colored Japanese parasols draped with red, white and blue flags and lighted by Japanese lanterns.

Sixteen numbers were danced after which all participating marched to the Carolina Club rooms where a delightful supper was served.

After supper the dancers returned to the hall and the German was danced until 3:30 when the familiar and much beloved tune of "Dixie" and much beloved tune of "Home Sweet Home," announced the close of a very delightful occasion.

China Protesting ...

While Chinese Communists protested the role of the United States in Central Government military affairs, American ships continued today to carry Chinese government troops to the North China trouble zone, a U. S. Army spokesman said.

Three transports jammed with well-equipped troops of the Chinese Eighth Army sailed yesterday from the Kowloon docks, bound, a U. S. officer said, for Tientsin. Previously the Chinese 13th Army was transported from here to North China.

U. S. Navy personnel returning this week from Haiphong, Indochina, said two Chinese armies had been moved from there recently in a score of American ships, and that it was understood one army went to North China, the other to Formosa.

The Eighth Army force being shipped from Kowloon has been assembling here more than a week from South China's Canton sector, coming by train, truck, boat and afoot.

of Greenville who, by their contributions, have made this possible."

The final standings of the War Fund campaign show that Farmville, Greenville, Fountain and Belvoir Townships finished their campaign, in that order, to lead all the other townships of the county. Beaverdam Township, under the leadership of Mr. Paul J. Clark and Mr. Mack G. Smith is in fifth place with a percentage of 88 and Winterville Township, under the leadership of Mr. Vernon White and Mr. Vernon Cox, follows closely with 87 per cent. Total results for the county show that Pitt County has subscribed 92 per cent of the total county quota.

County Chairman Sam B. Underwood, Jr. today announced that Griffin H. Rouse, prominent businessman and farmer of Chicod Township, had volunteered to "see a few folks" in the Chicod School division in an effort to secure more contributions to the War Fund from that community. Mr. Underwood expressed himself as pleased with the generous and cooperative spirit manifested by Mr. Rouse and expressed confidence that the citizens of the Chicod School division would respond generously to the appeal of Mr. Rouse, so that this community could have a larger share in supporting Pitt County's total contribution to the many worthwhile agencies of the War Fund.

Greenville Gets Sweet Revenge For 7-0 Defeat By Class A Team Earlier In The Season

By DAVE CLARK
Greenville said, "Boosh to your Class A stuff," and quickly proceeded to romp over the Class A Goldsboro Earthquakes by the amazing score of 32-0 here last night before a host of surprised, wildly cheering spectators.

Coach Bo Farley's Green Phantoms did everything right as they gained sweet revenge for the 7-0 loss suffered at the hands of the Quakes in the opening game of the season. The upset victory brought their winning string to four straight, gave them seven wins in ten starts, and raised their scoring total to 203 points against 32 for the opposition.

The Earthquakes were in the ball game only in the first half when they threatened to give Greenville a tough game of it and almost scored. They were held off however by a beautiful goal line stand by the rugged Phantom forward wall. That forward wall once more played a "whale of a ball game" for themselves and succeeded in stopping the tricky T-formation attack of Goldsboro.

The Phantom passing attack functioned last night as it never has before with Billy Harrington tossing them all over the lot to a variety of receivers in "Spook" Morgan, Mac Batchelor, Jimmy Ward, and Jimmy Lee.

The Greenie running attack, sparked as usual by the consistently good Jimmy Futrell, gave the Quakes no end of trouble. Futrell's punts were again very good, averaging between thirty-five and forty yards per boot.

Greenville got off to an excellent start when a Goldsboro back fumbled J. T. Williams' beautiful kick-off and the Greenies recovered on the Earthquake 35. The Phantoms gained two first downs but were held for downs before they could reach pay dirt. However, a few plays later Lewis Lawrence blocked a Quake punt on about the twelve. Then, in three plays, Futrell lugged the pigskin across for the first score. The kick for the extra point was wide making the score 6-0 in favor of Greenville.

The remainder of the first and most of the second period was a scoreless, see-saw battle that featured numerous interceptions and a blocked punt by Jack Whitchard. However, the Quakes almost scored when they reached the three yard line, but were then held.

On the last play in the second quarter, the Phantoms scored again. Billy Harrington found Jimmy Ward in the clear and tossed him a beautiful pass from about the Quake 35. Ward stepped into the end zone to bring the score up to 12-0 in Greenville's favor. The kick was again wide.

In the third period, Greenville's favorite pass combination of Billy Harrington to Mac Batchelor clicked again. Harrington found Batchelor in the end zone and passed to him for the third touchdown. This time, the boot for the conversion was good, bringing the score to Greenville 19, Goldsboro 0.

"The rest of the third quarter passed without a score, but in the final stanza, the Greenies crossed the pay-off stripe twice more.

Mac Batchelor marked up his second six pointer early in the last quarter. The Phantoms scored again. Billy Harrington found Jimmy Ward in the clear and tossed him a beautiful pass from about the Quake 35. Ward stepped into the end zone to bring the score up to 12-0 in Greenville's favor. The kick was again wide.

frame when he got on the receiving end of another of Harrington's aerials. He took the pass on the Earthquake forty, broke out behind the Goldsboro secondary, and outraced them for a touchdown. The extra point was made good on a pass to Batchelor.

A little later, after another beautiful kick-off by Williams had set the Earthquakes back on their heels, Harrington intercepted a pass on the Goldsboro thirty five and scampered across the goal to raise Greenville's total for the night to 32 against 0 for Goldsboro. The Greenies failed to convert for the third time.

The stand-outs for Goldsboro were Frederick Bennett, and Rose. Substitutions for Greenville were: Jimmy Lee, Henry Turner, Billy White, L. L. Kittrell, Jimmy Sutton, Cleveland Gilbert, Julius Rose, Rodney Roberts, Ken Sideris, Mahlon Tucker, Bobby Saied, Fred Joseph, and Dave Clark.

The starting line-up for the Greenies was on the line, Jimmy Ward and Julian White at ends, Lewis Lawrence and Bud White, hurst at tackles, Jack Whitchard and Bobby Clark at guards, and J. T. Williams at center. In the backfield were Jimmy Futrell at full back, Mac Batchelor at blocking back, Billy Harrington at tailback, and Erl "Spooky" Morgan at wing back.

Midgets To Play Here On Monday

Greenville High's Baby Phantoms will play Tarboro here Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in what promises to be an interesting game for the spectators. This will be the first game of the season for these younger boys who have been working all season but due to their size have had no opportunity to get into the Junior games. Maximum weight for the players has been limited to 120 lbs.

Since Monday is being celebrated as Armistice Day, this game will offer plenty of thrills for those persons who have the day off. The starting team will be taken from the following squad members: Paul Conway, Bobby Flye, Rabe Edwards, Bobby Fleming, Graham Flanagan, the Bland twins, Tommy Lupton, Jay Mills, Sam Northrup, linemen: Johnny Waters, Speedy Sideris, Jimmy Cox, Joe Sawyer, Julian Vainwright, Billy Jordan and Bobby Williams, backs.

various islands. A nine-inning contest against a picked service team at Tokyo stadium will wind up the trip. The group also will stage baseball shows featuring comedy exhibitions and diamond chats.

Charlie Dessen, coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will manage the all-stars, which will include 16 players, two from each senior circuit club.

He emphatically declared at a press conference that U. S. forces and resources were "not being employed to assist the central government against dissident groups."
