Industry's Stand Before Conference To Be Final

President Moshier Says Time Has Come To Shove Things Along A Little; Plans To Lay On The Line Stand On Every Big Issue Immediately

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—Industry plans to play on the line, today or tomorrow, its stand on every big issue before President Truman's management-labor conference.

As the industrial peace parley entered its 10th day, the management President Ira Moshier of the National Association of Manufacturers said that the time has come to "shove things along a little."

Almost the entire 18-member industry delegation started work last night on a statement of business position on collective bargaining, observance of contracts, jurisdictional quarrels and other issues.

As they worked, however, one of the nation's most important wage delegation decided, in the words of disputes—the CIO demand for a $2 daily wage increase from U. S. Steel Corporation—came to a new impasse.

The corporation rejected Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach's second appeal that it enter into wage discussions, starting today in Washington, with the United Steel Workers of America.

U. S. Steel's president, Benjamin F. Phillips, telegraphed Schwelienbach last night that further discussions would be fruitless until OPA acts on long pending requests for steel price increases.

MARINES LAND TRAINED ARMY

Thousands Of American-Trained Chinese Troops On Transports

Tsingtao, Nov. 14—(AP)—Thousands of American-trained and equipped Chinese Nationalist troops are landing unopposed today from U. S. transports at this North China city, occupied Oct. 11 by American Marines who since have been cooped up by the presence of Chinese Communists nearby.

Whether the Marines will be pulled out of their lone foothold on Shantung Peninsula, reportedly dominated by the Reds, was not made known. The Leathernecks, of Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr.'s Sixth Division, have been limited to garrison duty since accepting surrender of more than 10,000 Japanese.

Some of those Japanese allowed to remain arms, stand guard over Tsingtao industries which include nine large cotton mills. Many Japanese civilians are keeping the factories open.

On the peninsula's top, the strategic ports of Chefoo and Weihaiwei are in Communist hands. American warships were anchored off the two ports for several weeks but no Americans or Nationalists were landed.

A landing was considered early last month at Chefoo but Vice Adm. Daniel E. Barbey reported no Japanese were in the area, hence there was no reason for the landing.

In our internal policies each will follow the course decided by the peoples' will. You will see us (Britain) embarking on projects of nationalization x x x we shall be working out a planned economy. You, it may be, will continue in your more individualistic methods. It is more important that we should understand each other and other nations whose institutions differ from our own. It is essential if we are to build up a peaceful world that we should have the widest toleration, recognizing that our aim is not uniformity but unity in diversity. It would be a dull world if we were all alike.

JAPANESE BEG AMERICAN AID

Desperately Hungry Japan Appeals For Allied Food And Fuel

Tokyo, Nov. 14—(AP)—Desperately hungry Japan appealed officially today for Allied food and fuel, promising to pay—in installments—by shipments of gold, diamonds, silk and other goods.

General MacArthur's headquarters reported that it was not ready to indicate what the Allied answer might be. Japanese Minister of Commerce Sankuro Ogasawara announced the formal application for the imports—mostly from America—to stave off threatening famine. He made it clear that Japan's alternatives are simple: Barter or die!

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Elcheberger in the meanwhile reported that occupation forces in Japan and Korea are near their peak and soon will decline from their present 460,000. He did not say, however, how soon the U. S. forces might reach the minimum 200,000 which MacArthur has indicated will, by next spring, be adequate.

While American reparations representatives deliberate over the price Japan must pay for her war of aggression, Japanese prepared to set up their own reparations commission to study the problem. Kyodo News Agency said.

Ogasawara, in announcing Japan's application for U. S. imports, acknowledged that Nippon's trade "is presently in a state of suspension," but added that he hoped the U. S. may again become Japan's best customer.

Japan asks to import 3 million tons of food, 1 million tons of salt, and smaller amounts of cotton, copper, coal, iron ore and non-ferrous metals.

Ogasawara said Japan could pay one-fifth of the bill by December 15, and the remaining four-fifths within the next year. The barter-system payment proposals included gold and other precious metals, diamonds, raw and fabricated silk, cotton goods, chemical products, medical supplies, machinery, cellulose.

Public Demonstrations Appear In Palestine

Scheduled Noon-To-Midnight Strike Called In Palestine Causes Outbreak

Jerusalem, Nov. 14—(AP)—Palestine was quiet early today but public demonstrations were reported in connection with a scheduled general noon-to-midnight strike called by the Jewish National Council in protest against New British proposals for the settlement of the Jewish problem.

There was widespread objection throughout Palestine to the statement of British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin that Britain and the United States jointly would attempt to solve the problem, and to his intimation that eventually Palestine would be placed under a trusteeship. Britain as present governs Palestine under a League of Nations mandate.

The Jewish elected assembly made up of representatives of all Palestine political parties, will meet November 19 in Jerusalem to discuss the British statement.

In connection with the general strike of Palestine Jews, it was announced late last night that the self-imposed curfew has been revoked, allowing the possibility of outdoor protest demonstrations.

The council (Vaad Leumi) ordered all Jews working on British government or military enterprises to leave their jobs, and indicated an effort would be made to halt all interurban traffic in the Jewish area of Palestine.

The Jewish press generally assailed the Bevin statement. Typical of the comment was that of the Palestine Post, which said it failed to deal squarely with President Truman's repeated proposals that 100,000 Jews should be admitted to Palestine immediately.

Bevin said yesterday that until the report of a joint committee of inquiry on Palestine has been received and acted upon, the present rate of Palestine Jewish immigration—5,000 persons a month—would be continued.

Arab newspapers also were critical. The Moslem Arab newspaper Al-Difah typified comment with the opinion that the statement was unfair to Arabs, and that Arabs would not consent to its stipulations.

Dr. Bernard Joseph, acting head of the Jewish agency, political department, said the Jewish people never would submit to the policy as expressed in the statement, and that the British had been so informed.

ARMY OFFICER SAYS NO AID

British Major Bluntly Accuses Japanese Officer Of Collusion

Batavia, Nov. 14—(AP)—British Maj. Gen. D. C. Hawthorn bluntly accused the commander of the Japanese 16th Army and his chief of staff today of having deliberately handed over arms to "unruly elements" in Java and bundled the pair off to Singapore to answer the charges as fighting continued between British and Nationalist troops at Soerabaja.

Hawthorn administer a verbal lashing to the two officers, Lt. Gen. Yuichiro Nagano and his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Moichiro Tammo.

He held a six weeks after the arrival of British troops. The Japanese generals surrendered their swords to Hawthorn, who is commander of the 23rd Indian Division.

Indonesian Nationalists at Soerabaja continued to put stubborn resistance to steadily advancing Indian troops even as the new Indonesian premier, Sutan Sjahrir, prepared to go there in an attempt to bring about a cessation of hostilities.

The Nationalists fought from pre-war, Dutch-built concrete pill boxes and raid shelters in the heart of the city against advancing Fifth Indian Division troops, last reported driving on government buildings still in native hands.

Two Indian soldiers were killed and six more wounded in Indonesian infiltrations in the Grand Hotel sector following a heavy, organized night attack on the east flank of the British line, which was beaten back when heavy concentrations of artillery were brought to bear.

In the harbor a Japanese 10,000-ton ship was burned out yesterday, and sabotage was suspected. Some 8,000 refugees moved into British-held areas seeking food and water. Soerabaja's water system has been rendered inoperative in the fighting.

At the surrender ceremony in Batavia, Nagano stood with bowed head as Hawthorn told him he (Continued on page four)

ERNIE PYLE MOVIE FRIDAY

Free Admission To Pitt Theatre With Victory Bonds

By CHESTER WALSH The motion picture, "Story of GI Joe," by Ernie Pyle, famous war correspondent who was killed during the battle of Okinawa last summer, will tell the story of the typical American serviceman in World War II at the Pitt Theatre Friday night at 8 o'clock. Pyle, most beloved of all war correspondents, lived with the boys on the battlefields, while in transport to war areas and on return trips home, and in hospitals on battlefronts and chanted requiems over boys who made the supreme sacrifice. To know the story of Americans who fought the war in Europe and the Pacific everyone should see Ernie Pyle's picture, "Story of GI Joe." Those who had relatives in service will appreciate it most; those who did not will be better Americans for having seen it.

There will be no admission charge to see this picture at the Pitt Theatre Friday night. No tickets will be sold. Manager T. Y. Walker booked the picture without cost to moviegoers. All one has to do to see it is to buy a Victory Bond. All bond selling agencies will give free tickets to purchasers of Victory Bonds. Free tickets may also be procured at the theater box office Friday night by buying a Victory Bond. "Story of GI Joe" is a movie that glorifies the plain American soldier. It has an entrancing love story in the background, yet only two women have roles in it. And remember: "Victory Bonds (Continued on page four)

The NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—The word "sovereignty" stands like a red light on the track leading toward full world agreement on controlling the atomic bomb. We've always been jealous of our national "sovereignty." So have other nations. The word means simply this: A free and independent nation will not let any other nation or group of nations tell it what to do or make decisions for it. If we pool our knowledge of atomic energy with other nations, would we be willing to let a majority vote of the other nations make decisions on the bomb? If we entered that kind of agreement where we'd abide by a majority vote—we'd be yielding some of our sovereignty. So far we have not been willing to abide by a majority vote on international affairs. Yet in our domestic affairs we run our country by a majority vote and hold up that method as the truly democratic way of life. The word sovereignty haunted the San Francisco Conference last spring that led to creation of the United Nations Organization (UNO). At San Francisco the big nations, including our own, were willing to yield some minor points but not the big ones. And the biggest point of all was UNO's most powerful agency. This is UNO's Security Council. It's supposed to prevent war by acting quickly against aggressors. The United States, Britain, Russia, France and China are permanent members of the council. But—if the council wants to act to prevent war, all of those Big Five nations must agree. If one of them votes "no" the council is powerless to act. It acts only by unanimous consent. One "no" vote would break up UNO. One big nation thus could veto the desires of all the others. By insisting on retaining that veto power—the protest of smaller nations at San Francisco—the Big Five really were hanging on to their national sovereignty. Each, by retaining veto power, was making sure a majority of others could not force it into action if it did not wish to take. Yet, if our delegates to the San Francisco Conference had not insisted on retaining our veto power, I doubt that our Senate ever would have let us join UNO. Russia also insisted on retaining its veto power. Even in the face of the atomic bomb, it is not likely the Senate (Continued on page four)

Allied Officials Involved In Atomic Bomb Talks Indicate Concern In Reaction To Proposal Atomic Force Control

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—Allied officials involved in the atomic bomb talks here indicated today they are largely concerned now about Russia's reaction to the forthcoming Anglo-American-Canadian proposal for controlling atomic force.

There is a strong feeling evident on the part of some that this is one of the climatic weeks of history. Decisions now being whipped into shape will influence vitally the future of Anglo-American relations with Russia. These relations are the core of United Nations plans for policing world peace.

Evidence recently available from British authorities is that President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada will seek particularly in their communique on plans for international atomic controls to reassure Russia. This may be achieved by offering to share scientific knowledge of atomic power fully with the Soviet Union and other countries.

Indications are that at the same time Russia will be invited to reassure the western Allies about her policies and intentions by agreeing to toss her scientific information on the contemplated pool and, possibly, by giving some evidence of her long-range territorial and political aims.

The question which has official insiders worried is, what happens if Russia doesn't want to accept the Anglo-American proposal? Would a negative reaction from Moscow, they ask, tend to split the world into two camps? Would it take all the wraps off an atomic armament race?

Because of the dangers foreseen by Allied diplomats in any real agreement among the Big Three over the handling of atomic power, there is some chance that the proposal (Continued on page four)

The WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Yesterday was a real Anglo-American Day, what with Prime Minister Attlee's address to Congress and the agreement between Washington and London to join hands in a committee of inquiry to deal with the problem of the Jewish national home in Palestine. Of course this doesn't necessarily pre-empt agreement either in the matter of Palestine, the atomic bomb or that big loan to England. Still, it's a heartening exhibition of international amity and willingness to cooperate. Attlee's job, I take it, was largely one of salesmanship. He wanted to convince America that there's no threat to our interests in England's new Socialist government with its nationalization program, and that a loan is justifiable. As to the loan, he will find two schools of thought in this country, but probably most people will agree with one striking statement which is calculated to provide a basis for world cooperation. It is this: "I look forward to an era of increasing cooperation and friendship between the U. S. A. and Greater Britain—not as an exclusive friendship but as a contribution to the world's welfare together with all peoples through the United Nations organization in the bonds of peace. Today In Congress

By Max Hall

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—Congress is going to stay on the job and finish President Truman's "must" legislation—even if it takes until Christmas.

That was the word from majority congressional leaders today after a meeting with Mr. Truman. Meanwhile, the lawmakers considered.

New automobile prices—OPA's plan to have dealers absorb part of all of the price increases granted manufacturers drew congressional fire.

The OPA contends that this is necessary if prices of new cars are to be kept at or near 1942 levels. Automobile dealers protest they are unable to absorb these costs.

Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) told the House Price Chief Chester Bowles is trying to create price control on a racketeering basis.

Library News

Days designated to commemorate certain efforts and events are popular in our times. Recently, Navy Day was elaborately celebrated, previous to that, we recognized Columbus Day, Sunday last was Armistice Day, and already we are anticipating the observance of Thanksgiving Day. All of these in the scope of something more than one calendar month. Yes, it is a great day for celebrating "days."

At this interval, we are paying tribute and recognition to substances of such significance that a whole week is set aside as a period to manifest and express our appreciation of them.

This is Book Week—a whole week is dedicated to the recommending of books to the people of our nation. To offer benefits with little conscious gratitude. What a blankness the absence of books would make in our lives! These "realms of gold," as Keats described his adventures in reading excite the intellect, play on the emotions, spur the imagination, and make possible an enriched living of the highest development. Books can largely determine the course of our lives and the choice of our actions. Through them the past is unfolded, the present understood, and the future largely foreseen.

Book week is always stimulating to us of Greenville. We feel so blessed in having our beautiful library building with its generous facilities for making books available to our people. The benefits are especially appreciated by those who remember the meager beginnings and fateful attitudes that attended the career of Greenville's library in days gone by.

Started as a worthy effort, originating with the town's first book club, "The End of the Century," it was assisted by other clubs as organized, and continued for years as a club project, until finally, the town, too, made contribution. The library was moved from place to place as rents advanced or fire destroyed them there were three times, until eventually, in cinder-strewn fashion, it found permanent refuge and expansion in the present magnificent building.

The greatest day for the Greenville library came when a former townswoman, Mrs. R. L. Carr, conceived the idea of suggesting the gift of the needed library building to her husband's uncle, Mr. Harper Sheppard, a native of Greenville and a successful manufacturer of Haver, Pa.

Knowing that the town provide a suitable lot plus adequate maintenance, Mr. Sheppard, donated the magnificent sum of $60,000 with which the present beautiful building was erected, and presented on October 17, 1930 as a memorial to his father, Mr. Wm. Henry Haywood Sheppard.

Greenville's appreciation of Mr. Sheppard's wonderful gift cannot be expressed too often, and especially should it be emphasized in Book Week.

It also seems fitting that during Book Week, some account of the functioning of the library be made. Since its beginning in 1904, the Greenville Library has had a slow but steady advancement, reaching its maximum usefulness in 1941, when along with increased city and county contributions, state funds were made available, and the Sheppard Memorial Library became headquarters of a county library system.

To attain this status the following requirements were demanded:

1. Employment of a trained librarian to head the county system.
2. Development of a rural library service.
3. Library appropriations from town and county units. These conditions have been amply met.

The operation of this library system is most ably carried on by Miss Inez Hester, a trained librarian with splendid qualifications. In the city library, she has Miss Bessie Brown and Mrs. Mamie Rumley as competent assistants.

Miss Hester has established a county library system composed of branch libraries including Geo. W.

Carver in Greenville, and units in Ayden, Bethel, Farmville, Fountain, and Winterville. Deposit stations are at Arthur, Falkland, Grifton, Grimesland, Pactolus, Simpson and Stokes.

Sheppard Memorial Library, as headquarters for the system, provides book collections for all deposit stations, and special collections to supplement the books owned by the branch libraries. Frequent exchanges between the units of the system enable the whole county to obtain a variety of reading matter at a greatly reduced cost.

It seems appropriate during Book Week to report something concerning the use and distribution of books in the county.

Statistics compiled for the fiscal year ending July, 1945, show:

Registrations — New borrowers during the year, 1,931; total registration to date, 5,906.

Book stock—books added during the year, 2,582; books discarded during the year, 876; total books on hand, 22,865; circulation during the year at Sheppard Memorial Library, 51,510; at branch libraries, 43,849; at deposit stations, 5,596; total book circulation for the year, 100,955.

These figures demonstrate the fact that the library system is doing splendid work.

The library makes a special effort to interest children in reading and in coming to the library. Story telling hours are held frequently. Reading clubs are organized during vacation periods. Special emphasis is made during Book Week to display and encourage the reading of children's books.

Special praise should be given the members of the Board of the Sheppard Memorial Library, all of whom have served faithfully and capably. It is with deep regret that the resignation of Mr. James Ficklen was accepted. He has given so liberally of his time and talents in promoting the interests of the library, having served as chairman of the board for many years. The board consists of Mr. Lewis Cooper, chairman; Mrs. B. B. Sugg, vice chairman; Mr. W. H. Woolard, treasurer; Mr. D. H. Conley, Mr. J. H. Rose, Mrs. J. H. Blount, Mrs. Herbert ReBarker, Miss Verona Lee Joyner, Mr. G. H. Pittman, and County Board representative, Mr. C. A. Bowen, and city representative, Mr. Sam Underwood, Jr.

Each library in the county system has a board of trustees which has authority over management of the library and disposition of funds.

The Pitt county library system belongs to the citizens of the county, and all are urged to take advantage of its resources.

German Lawyers

Nuernberg, Germany, Nov. 13—(AP)—The majority of German lawyers for top Nazi defendants in the war crimes trials of next week declared today they were baffled and hampered in preparation of their cases by the "strange" procedure of the international military tribunal.

Asked at a press conference, however, if they believed justice would be obtained for their clients, most of the attorneys said favorable experiences in Allied military courts had convinced them of this.

To The Landowners, Tenants And Business Men Of Pitt County:

Tobacco is the birthright and most valuable asset of Pitt County. The value of our farms, our homes, our volume of business is dependent upon the acreage and price of flue-cured tobacco. We are the largest tobacco county in the world, so our stake in a sound tobacco program is greater than any other county in the United States.

The Farm Bureau has promoted a program that has led the tobacco farmers out of bankruptcy. As we go into the post-war era we are going to have a hard fight to hold our program.

In our opinion we need Farm Bureau more now than ever before.

We have already taken out a substantial associate membership and we recommend to every business man, landlord, and tenant in our county to join the Pitt County Farm Bureau today.

Let's invest a few dollars in promoting the crop that supplies 75 per cent of the cash income of Pitt County.

Yours very truly,

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

PURPOSE BEHIND IT ALL Soldiers and sailors in their drills are often arranged in such way that their formation spells out a word. A recent picture of a returning carrier showed the crew so arranged on the deck that the name of the ship stood out with amazing clearness.

Men who have taken part in such formations say that they are conscious only of being in a huge organized crowd when they seem to be playing an inconsequential part. But viewed from a distance, and especially when viewed from above, the design and purpose of the formation stand out clearly.

Seldom do we understand the significance of life's events as we stand in the midst of them. In our every day lives we are usually unaware of the part that this circumstance or that is playing in the larger scheme of things.

But when we view the circumstances from a distance, we see them in their larger setting. When we look back on them we understand what they mean. We see them as part of a clear-cut design. In like manner we can be sure that when viewed from above, when observed from a vantage point to which a belief in God leads us, the events amid which we stand and which seem to have no rhyme or reason to them—and but little significance in them—are part of a great design which God has established to His glory and to our eternal welfare.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—The mushrooming of new veterans' organizations or the expansion of old ones to capture members among the veterans of World War II is hardly news these days.

But one new veterans' group can stand an introduction because it is certain to be in the thick of several fights that will determine the future defense policies of the United States. It is the newly organized Reserve Officers of the Naval Service.

RONS as its organizers refer to it, already has established headquarters here in the morning shadows of the White House at 1726 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Former president is Capt. George C. Piper. Until he returned recently to civilian life he was aide to former Under Secretary of the Navy Ralph Bard. One of the four vice presidents is Lt. Comdr. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Secretary is Lt. Comdr. Harry Bard, Jr., son of the Virginia senator and former executive committee and advisory council members are such names as Commodore James K. Nordman, naval aviator, President Truman; Capt. Gene M. Market, Hollywood western comic; Eugene Cassin and Col. James J. Keating of the Marine Corps.

Organizational work in all states is now under way, according to Executive Director Lt. Comdr. B. I. Dornelle. RONS' goal is to become spokesmen for the 300,000 reserve officers of the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines.

RONS officials here emphasize that the new group is entirely independent of the Navy Department but Capt. Piper insists with pride to a best wishes letter from Secretary of the Navy Forrestal himself a Naval Reserve officer from World War I.

The organizers and interim officials point out that their policies will be determined later by the membership itself, but they list some interesting basic objectives.

First to stimulate through a politically independent national organization a continuing interest in the naval services and provide a medium through which their recommendations may be made known.

Second, to consider and take positive action eventually on (1) the proposed merger of the armed services; (2) universal military service; (3) the organization and administration of a permanent reserve personnel; and (4) the encouragement of scientific research and development.

This is interesting because heretofore the Navy has done most of its public speaking through active or retired regular Navy officials or through established veterans groups which are of course numerically overwhelmingly Army organizations.

There appears to be a pretty good chance that RONS can build itself into something more than just another Washington lobby.

Kent a code clerk in the U. S. embassy at London, was convicted in 1940 of violating the British Official Secrets Act. He completed his sentence last month.

Brewster said he and another Republican member, Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan want to look at the files to see whether they contain any information bearing on the potential involvement of the UGMS in war before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941.

The other two Republican members of the Senate-House committee, Rep. Bertrand Gearhart of California and Rep. Frank Keefe of Wisconsin, paid a visit yesterday to FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover.

Gearhart told reporters they got important information, having to do with tapped telephone wires at the Japanese consular office in Honolulu shortly before the Pearl Harbor attack.

As for universal military training, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower testifies on the subject tomorrow before the House Military Committee. This committee voted 15-12 yesterday to continue its hearings. But some of those who failed in their effort to interrupt the hearings said they would make every effort to weaken the compulsory features of the bill being considered.

The Palestine resolution under consideration by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is sponsored by Senators Taft (R-Ohio), Wagner (D-N.Y.) and Walsh (D-Mass.). The resolution, if approved by the Senate and House would put Congress on record as favoring that the U. S. "use its good offices" to the end that Palestine be opened for free entry by Jews.

An argument about auto prices continued in the House Small Business Committee. Auto dealers have had their say, seeking higher profits, and Price Administrator Chester Bowles has given his position. Today the witnesses were to be several Congressmen who had statements to get off their chests.

of course, a matter which concerns the world as a whole. Mr. Bevin made one remark which may surprise some folk, and it was this: "We (Britain) never undertook to establish a Jewish state. We did undertake to establish a Jewish home and that we must fulfill."

It is true that the Balfour Declaration of 1917 promised a "national home" and specifically stated that it should be "clearly understood that nothing shall be done which may prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine." But with passing time the idea has grown in many minds that a Jewish "state" was contemplated—a point which may have to be ironed out in due course.

(Continued From Page One) He estimated it would take Japan five years to regain normal production. Imports of vital food and fuel could not be paid for, he emphasized, unless exports of Japanese goods are also allowed.

If the export plan is held up, we won't be able to pay, then, we can't import. People will starve and the foundation of our industry will be ruined."

Terrific wartime shipping losses complicate the problem, he confessed; "the country now has only two ships capable of traveling to the U. S. and Canada for grain."

No imports are permitted now except salt from Korea and a "small quantity" of crushed corn, Ogasawara said.

Proposed imports as follows: Grains: From Korea, Manchuria, Formosa, French Indo-China and Thailand—but mostly from the United States and Canada. Salt: From North China, Manchuria and Formosa. An almost entirely new cabinet of young university educated men took over the reins of the Indonesian Republic's government today, ending the fighting at Soerabaya and restoring order all over the country.

Sjahrir said in a formal statement that the new cabinet thinks the time is ripe for instituting several measures "aimed at democratizing the administrative structure of the country." The first such step was the formation of the cabinet itself, free of the taint of collaboration with the Japanese.

Sjahrir himself had refused to take any office under the Japanese, and Amir Sjahrifuddin, his chief colleague, now minister of internal security, was imprisoned, tortured and sentenced to death for underground anti-Fascist activities. The sentence was revoked only because of the Japanese surrender.

Industry's Stand . . .

He said the union was obstructing peaceful settlement through President Philip Murray's declaration in a meeting last month, that the union's demand was "not subject to dickering or compromise."

Fairless added that the government was blocking an agreement by OPA's tardiness in giving price relief when many steel products were selling at less than cost.

Murray, on the other hand, contends that "the steel industry is clearly engaged in a brazen attempt to bludgeon" the government into boosting steel prices.

The CIO chief, in a letter to Schwellenbach assailing the corporation's stand, estimated the industry would clear $500,000,000 profit in 1946, or "more than four times the peacetime level."

Fairless said the requested wage increase would cost the steel industry "at least $225,000,000 a year" and added this was more than all steel companies now are earning.

He explained the company's refusal to follow President Truman's suggestion that business grant wage increases and then apply, six months later, for price increases if necessary, with these words: "We would simply have to sell many steel products at a greater loss—we can't pay wage increases out of thin air."

President Eric Johnston of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce said the proposed statement of industry coordinated declaration by a major portion of industry on employer-employee relations Johnston and Mosher met reporters jointly last night in a recess from their efforts to put the statement together.

Grain Market Chicago, Nov. 14—(AP)—New regulations restricting rye trade, and trade reports that the Thomas party bill in the Senate Agricultural Committee appeared dead for the session, caused liquidation which pushed rye and wheat futures downward today.

Rye was down as much as 4 cents a bushel early and wheat a cent but there were advances from the low points. A rally in wheat was stimulated by buying attributed to cash interests.

Oats were strong and around 2 cents higher at times on buying stimulated by yesterday's sharp loss and by continued good shipping demand. About 190,000 bushels were reported sold by shippers overnight.

Freak Sweet Potato Attracts Attention A mammoth five-pound sweet potato in the Reflector office window may be a new variety of the juicy-tubers, for all we know. Jonas Dilda, 88, well known retired farmer of Fountain, said the vine "just came up and grew" from an old rotted potato lying on the ground. The plant was not sown, nor bedded, nor planted or set out. Like Topsy, "it just grew" and the vine produced only one potato—a whopper.

Several persons have suggested that the mammoth sweet potato be kept and that a slip from it be planted next spring with a hope that from it some new variety of potato, easier to cure and safer to ship, may come from it. Mrs. Robert McArthur of Bellarthur, who brought the potato in, said it is a cross between a sweet potato and a rutabaga.

Carver Library News Book Week is being observed at the Carver Library with a program each day. On Monday, Miss Esther M. Rich who is studying for her Ph.D. in the University of Michigan was our radio speaker. Subject, "Follow the Library." On Tuesday afternoon Miss I. A. Phillips, second grade teacher at the Fleming Street school had charge of the story hour from 3:30 to 4:30. Fifty-two children sat in the junior reading room and listened to these two stories which were told so beautifully and illustrated on a board, "A Little Pig Who Lost His Way," and "How Edward Made His Fortune."

After Miss Phillips had finished with stories the librarian expressed her thanks to Miss Phillips and the kids for coming out and encouraged each child to register, and get a book to read. But please be careful, this is my heart, she said. Ice cream and cake was served and the children enjoyed.

Do You Know HOW TO SHAVE? MANY MEN shave all their lives, yet never learn how! They simply smear a little lather or brushcream on their face, grab a razor, and shave. Result: scratch, scrape, pull—an irritated skin—an unsatisfactory shave—and much unflattering comment about blade, razor, soap or whatever!

AND NOW, the last requirement of a good shave—the blade you use. There are many satisfactory blades on the market, but one is quite unique and offers a great advantage over usual blades. This blade is hollow ground. Usual blades are ground like a jack-knife, like this. The hollow ground blade is ground like a barber's razor like this. Due to hollow grinding, this blade is not held rigid by the razor guard. The slight "play" at the flexible edge permits the blade to follow facial contours effortlessly without "bearing down." And it's "bearing down" that irritates tender skins and wears out delicate blade edges prematurely.

So men, prepare your face properly, use plenty of time and water, get yourself some of those hollow ground blades and—learn to make shaving a pleasanter, easier task.

NEW COACH FOR COLLEGE QUINT

Norman Earle Smith Training ECTC Cagers For Coming Season

Norman Earle Smith of Selma, N. C. has joined the staff at East Carolina Teachers College as basketball coach. Practice for inter-collegiate games to be played during the winter quarter has already begun. Smith, who was graduated from the college here in 1939, returned as coach and graduate student in history.

schools in LaGrange, Littleton, and Burlington, he trained successful teams. He was coach for the American Legion teams in Gastonia, and athletic and recreational director for the Marion, N. C. Manufacturing Company. As a high-school coach he has a commendable win-and-loss record. His teams won in basketball 119 games lost 27; in football won 40, lost 11; and in baseball won 73, lost 27. In Gastonia in 1944 his football team won eight straight games and then lost to Charlotte, thus being eliminated from the Western Class A conference.

By MARION ALEXANDER
Chapel Hill, Nov. 14—(AP)—With Wake Forest's "flu" epidemic beginning to offset Carolina's epidemic of injuries, the annual Deacon-Tar Heel feud here Saturday at 2 p. m. began to look more even today.

The husky Baptists, who have practically the same, seasoned, polished squad that beat Carolina here last year 7 to 0, plus the All-Southern Nick Sacrinty, will still be favored.

Sacrinty's brother, Bo, who the only Wake Forest starter laid up with the "flu" the early part of the week, but reports from the Baptist camp said that eight reserves were also in the hospital.

On the other hand, the beleaguered Tar Heels still had a dozen regulars and alternates on the injured list. The "cripples": Mitten and Wardle—probably out; Bevers, Berns and doubtful; and Cox, Rubish, Walker, Haris, Gorman, and Simmons—slowed up.

The big question this week is which will recover fastest, Carolina's cripples or Wake Forest's patients, but this only adds to the uncertainty, unpredictability, and interest in Saturday's headliner. The two teams' chances of recovery will have an important bearing on the final outcome of the Southern championship race as well as the State championship.

Carolina and Duke are the only two elvans unbeaten in State Conference play, and if the hard-luck Tar Heels could get by the hard-luck Deacons, it would set the stage for a grand championship finale at Duke November 24.

Wake Forest, of course, nosed out N. C. State in the last quarter 19 to 18, and the Deacons almost turned in the same trick on Duke, only to lose on two last-quarter pass interceptions 2 to 19.

One of the features of Saturday's big game here is expected to be the pitching duel between Wake Forest's All-Southern Captain Sacrinty and the ace of the Tar Heel mound corps, Tom Gorman.

Gorman was bruised up a bit last week, but the coaches have limited him to light work, and he should be back in shape for the Deacons. In his absence, Merl Norcross, who scored the last-minute win over William and Mary, and two other newcomers, Floyd Simmons and Bob Warren, have been alternating at tailback and looking good.

Simmons has gotten a few bumps in scrimmage, however, and so the race goes on between the fiery Tar Heels and the Demon Deacons for first claim on "hard-luck" honors for the year.

State Office
Raleigh, Nov. 14—(AP)—State office holders. Governor Cherry asserts, should withdraw from active service when they reach the age of 65 years, and start receiving benefits provided by the State.

His statement of policy yesterday followed a Monday verbal clash with Baxter Durham, 67-year-old ousted secretary of the Teachers' and State Employees' Retirement System.

TO END SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT

Phantoms Will Play Kinston Red Devils At Guy Smith Stadium Here

By T-BONE WILLIAMS
Coach Bo Farley's high stepping Green Phantoms will tangle with the Kinston Red Devils here Friday night, Nov. 16, in the last grid game of their 1945 season. The game starts at 8:00 under the lights of the Guy Smith Stadium.

The last tilt played between the Phantoms and the Red Devils was a one-sided affair with the Phantoms stopping them 13-0.

With a backfield combination built around "Spookie" Morgan, speedy wingback; Mack Batchelor, smart blocking back; Jimmy Futrell, hard plunging fullback, and "Slinging" Willie Harrington at tailback, the Phantoms are ready for anything the Kinston lads have to offer.

Farley will probably call on "X" Siders, Jimmy Lee, Fred Joseph, Dave Clark and others as subs.

Then, too, the G-Men have a line made up of such capable players

STATE—"ISLE OF FORGOTTEN SINS," John Carradine, Gale Sondergaard.

As Julian White and Jimmie Ward, two veteran pass-snagging ends with two years experience each; Bobby Clark and Jack Whichard, who have done a bang-up job at guard this season; Bud Whitehurst and Lewis Lawrence, two hefty tackles; and J. T. Williams with three years experience at center, J. T. has been backing up the forward wall of the Phantoms this year.

The Phantoms have been going through an extra heavy practice this week. They have been working on secret plays and defenses to use against the Red Devils.

There are no major injuries on either team so both will be there with the full speed. Two Phantom first string tackles who were absent in the first game will be starting Friday night. Also two Kinston guards who were out will be back for the game.

This being the last game for the Phantoms, it promises to be one of the best games of the season. A large crowd is expected.
