No Agreement In Labor Meetings

Management Spokesmen Complain Of What Is Termed Unrealistic Work Being Done In Committees; Hint At Filing Separate Reports For Consideration

Washington, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Management spokesmen, complaining of what they termed "unrealistic" work being done in committees of the Labor-Management Conference...

The development came as the "Big Six"—the heads of the two industry and four labor organizations represented—took action designed to prevent any of the committees from winding up in deadlocked disagreement.

The six set themselves up as a consultative body to which any floundering committee could bring its problems before arriving at an impasse.

In the background was this situation of the committee progress: Of the six spawdwork committees, only one has filed a progress report. All reports were called for on Friday.

Two other committees turned in reports, then pulled them back for further debate.

Still another committee, the one seeking remedies for jurisdictional disputes, called off all meetings for the rest of this week, hoping in the meantime to figure out some basis on which its labor and industry members could get together.

A spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers reported that industry delegates want changes in a proposed report of the committee on settlement of disputes arising under existing labor contracts.

Management delegates also criticized the one report so far filed with the Executive Committee. This report is concerned with procedures for arriving at a first contract between a company and a union.

Iranian Soldiers Halted At Kazvin Tehran, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Iranian troops dispatched to Azerbaijan province to quell separatist disturbances were halted at Kazvin today by Russian authorities and ordered to return to Tehran.

Four battalions of troops and machine guns had been moving slowly southward from Tehran, apparently with the tacit consent of the Russian army commander, to quell the outbreak in which seven already have been reported killed.

The WORLD TODAY An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst One of the outstanding characteristics of the Japanese and German war lords, as is being brought out in the Pearl Harbor investigation and through the discovery of secret Nazi records, is their cold-blooded duplicity.

There was said to be no honesty among them. We see that in the cautious trickery which Hitler, Goering and other Nazi leaders used in annexing little Austria, while they kept the rest of Europe quiet with double talk. We see it in the Jap treachery in striking at Pearl Harbor behind the shield of peace negotiations at Washington.

Every day emphasizes the necessity of removing these war-mongers from society. It is gratifying therefore, to see the Nuremberg trials of top Nazis opening today before the International War Crimes Tribunal. It's equally satisfactory (and forgive me if I'm wrong) to learn that Baron General Honjo reputed head of the militarists who steered the conquest of Manchuria, has committed hara-kiri rather than face trial as a war criminal along with numerous other militarists.

MANY STRIKES STOP WORKERS

Strike Action Affecting 300,000 Workers Now Possible

By ASSOCIATED PRESS The long and bitter wage dispute between the CIO United Automobile Workers and General Motors Corporation appeared headed for another showdown today. Strike action, which would affect some 300,000 of the Nation's automobile workers, was regarded as possible by one union spokesman.

The union's latest move in its drive to obtain a 30 per cent wage increase for auto workers was its proposal to submit the controversy to arbitration. General Motors had until 4 p. m., EST, today to reply to the union's offer.

The action came in Detroit from delegates to the General Motors Council of the CIO-AUW, representing more than 300,000 workers, and was termed by R. W. Thomas, CIO-AUW president as "not an ultimatum," but as "the last resort" to peaceful settlement.

One informed union spokesman said he believed rejection of the proposal by General Motors would prompt council delegates to recommend immediate strike action. Such authority is vested in the union's six-man strategy committee.

Walter P. Reuther, CIO-AUW vice-president, said "We want to avert a strike," and added that the union proposes to G-M that "we submit to immediate arbitration our controversy over 30 per cent increase in wage rates without price increases."

G-M President C. E. Wilson in Washington declined comment on the merits of the offer.

The other main trouble spot along the nation's labor front was in Chicago while across the country some 150 labor disputes kept idle about 275,000 workers.

The strike of 8,700 telephone operators crippled long distance service in Chicago and paralyzed service in manual switchboards in 115 communities in Illinois and in two Indiana counties. A union official in New York said long lines operators throughout the country have refused to handle long distance calls to and from Chicago.

Cotton Picking Raleigh, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The State of North Carolina this year tied with Arizona in paying the highest average price for cotton picking per hundred pounds in any of the nation's cotton producing states, the State Agriculture Department said today.

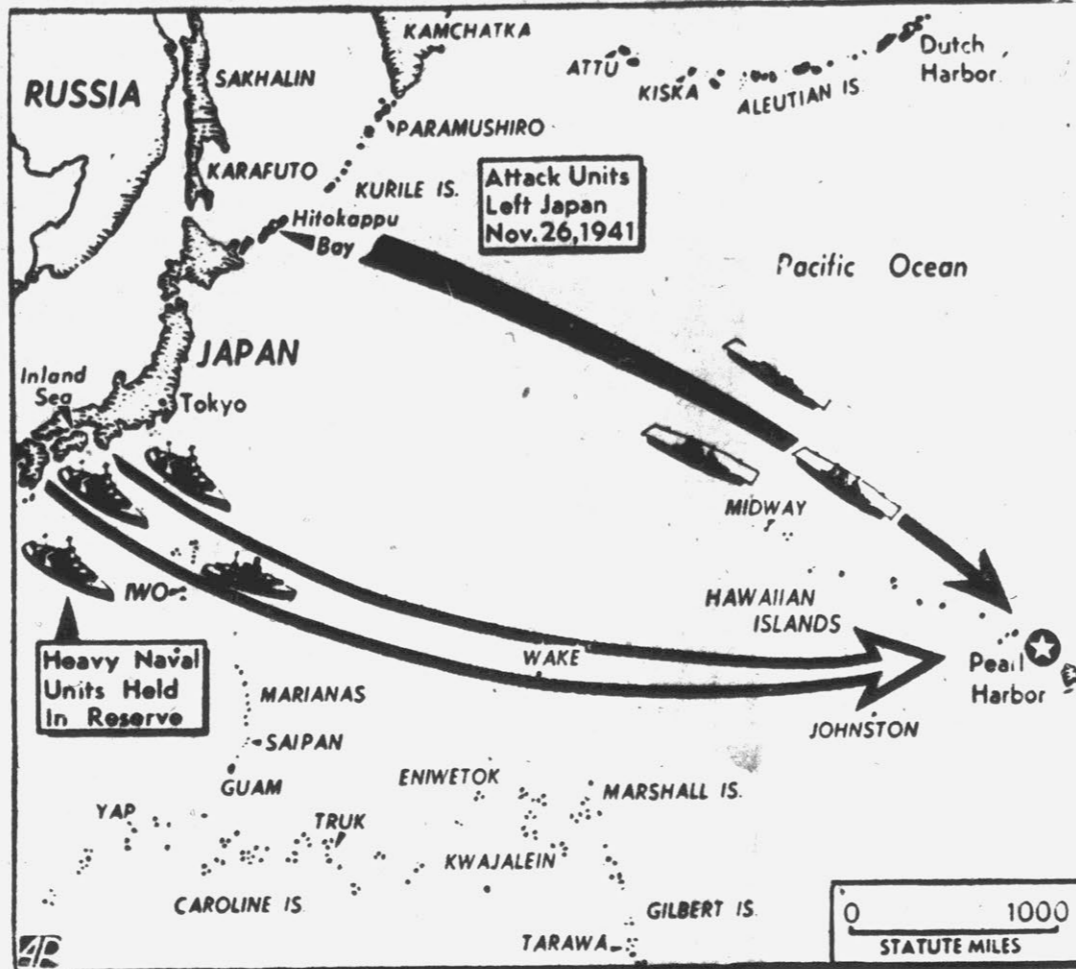

North Carolina farmers paid an average of $2.30 per hundred pounds for cotton picking during the 1945 season, the department said. Arizona, which grows comparatively little cotton, also maintained a $2.30 average. However, the department added, the Tar Heel farmers have paid as high as $3 per hundred pounds for picking this year.

the same category as Honjo. For instance, there seems no reason to doubt Envoy Kurosu's word when he says that he and Nomura were doing an honest job of negotiating in Washington when the Jap war lords knifed Pearl Harbor. Kurosu and Nomura say they didn't even know an attack was to be made. Let's give them the benefit of any doubt.

But the Jap militarists were born crooked. I ran into a startling illustration of that during the first World War. Perhaps I've mentioned this before among the hundreds of columns I write every year, and if I have you can skip it.

While I was stationed in London in 1916 I received word from New York that Wall Street was much disturbed over a phenomenon which they couldn't explain. It was a steady flow of gold to Japan, which was one of the Allies.

Jap Strategy At Pearl Harbor

The solid arrow represents the route taken by the Jap carrier force which launched the attack. The open arrow indicates the proposed route of heavy naval units which were ready to rush into battle if the first aerial attack had failed.

HITLER GANGS NOW IN COURT

American and British Prosecutors Read First Indictments

By LANIEL DE LUCE Nuremberg, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Twenty of Hitler's inner gang, as boldly garbed as a cast of beggars in an opera, heard American and British prosecutors read in 70 minutes this morning the first two counts of an indictment for which four Allied nations demand their lives as war criminals.

Rudolf Hess, an almost impish grin appearing on his sunken face, was lined up in the dock with the 20 Nazi defendants facing the international tribunal.

Hess' status as a defendant still was not clear. British and American alienists are reported to have said his amnesia rendered him incapable of defending himself.

From the paunchy prima donna of Nazism, Herman Goering himself, to the quiet, relatively obscure propaganda ministry's handyman Hans Fritzsche, the defendants listened with varying emotions as lurid deed after lurid deed of the Third Reich was reconstructed in English prose.

Lord Geoffrey Lawrence, British judge who is presiding, told the defendants Britain, the United States, the Soviet Union and France had been entrusted with the punishment of war criminals, adding: "This trial which is about to begin is unique in the history of jurisprudence and is important to people all over the world."

Sidney S. Alderman, assistant to Chief U. S. Prosecutor Justice Robert H. Jackson, opened the proceedings by reading a condensed version of the indictment. His voice trembled with nervousness.

The defendants stared glumly during the lengthy reading of the indictment. Hess, Ribbentrop, Keitel and Rosenberg listened without using the translators' earphones provided for each man on trial.

Goering, his fat countenance exhibiting bored composure, soon removed his headphones. Grand Admiral Erich Raeder and Walther Funk, former Reichbank president continued to use the American translating device.

Goering nodded non-committally when Prosecutor Alderman referred to his overriding control of the (Continued on page eight)

Yamashita Is Denied Trial Continuance Manila, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, defeated in his latest attempt to escape death as a war criminal, must begin his defense tomorrow.

Yamashita appeared composed and once smiled broadly today although his pleas for a "not guilty" verdict and for a delay in presentation of his defense both were denied by the U. S. military commission trying him.

Communitic Troops In Race With Nationals

Manchurian Capital Invaded By Communist Troops In Race With Rival Nationalist Soldiers

Chungking, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Chinese Communist troops were reported invading Manchuria's capital in force today in a race with rival nationalist soldiers, already 35 miles inside the vital industrial territory after a break through in the south.

The China Times declared that 4,000 Communist troops had entered the capital of Changchun, but failed to say whether Russian occupation forces still were in the city.

The Times also asserted without confirmation elsewhere that new conferences between China and Russia on the tense Manchurian situation would begin soon, either in Moscow or Chungking.

Unofficial reports in Chungking said the Russians had laid down 20 conditions which the Nationalists must meet before being allowed to fly troops into Manchuria making an overland drive necessary.

Chungking newspapers asserted this drive already was well under way, with Nationalist troops racing 23 miles almost unopposed beyond positions a dozen miles inside Manchuria to within 190 miles of the great industrial city of Mukden.

With these well equipped, American trained troops apparently on the loose after having broken through the Chinese Communist line along the Great Wall, the Communist press leveled new charges at the United States.

The United States is converting China into "an American colony," the Communist Daily News charged.

The activities of the American forces have enraged patriotic Chinese, the newspaper asserted. It compared it with the "imperialism" of the British in India, French in Indochina and the Dutch in the Netherlands East Indies.

Notice of the criticism was issued swiftly after the other Chungking papers had reported the overnight Nationalist advance along the Tientsin-Mukden Railroad.

President Gives Details Of His Health Program

TESTIMONY TO STOP RUMORS

Leader Barkley Says Richardson Testimony Should Stop Rumors

Washington, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley (KY) said today testimony of Adm. James O. Richardson should squelch any contentions that the late President Roosevelt was inviting war with Japan before Pearl Harbor.

Richardson, commander of the Pacific fleet at the time, told the Senate-House Pearl Harbor investigating committee yesterday about a White House luncheon conference he held with Mr. Roosevelt October 8, 1940. That was 14 months before the sneak Japanese attack.

The admiral, reading from a memorandum, said he asked Mr. Roosevelt if "we were going to enter the war."

The President replied, the witness said, "that if the Japanese attacked Thailand or the Kra Peninsula, or the Dutch East Indies, we would not enter the war, that even if they attacked the Philippines, he doubted whether we would enter the war, but that they could not always avoid making mistakes and that as the war continued and the area of operations expanded, sooner or later they would make a mistake and we would enter the war."

Barkley, who is chairman of the inquiry group, asked "that doesn't sound very much like Mr. Roosevelt was trying to get us into war, does it?"

Senator Brewster (R-Me) said his attention was caught by the phrase in which Richardson quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying that the Japanese "sooner or later x x x would make a mistake and we would enter the war."

The significant thing, Brewster told a reporter, was Richardson's statement that he had told Mr. Roosevelt that the Japanese would be more likely to feel that the United States meant business if a train of supply vessels were established and the fleet return from Hawaii to the west coast where it could be supplied with ammunition and stripped for war operations.

Richardson said Mr. Roosevelt told him the fleet was being kept based at Pearl Harbor "in order to exercise a restraining influence on the actions of Japan."

The admiral further quoted the then President: "Despite what you believe, I know that the presence of the fleet in the Hawaiian areas has had and is now having a restraining influence on the actions of Japan."

Richardson said he replied: (Continued on page eight)

THUNDERBOLTS BOMB HIGHWAY

First Aerial Offensive Against City In Present Strife

By RALPH MORTON Batavia, Java, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Six Thunderbolts today bombed the roadways into Semarang which had been blocked by the Indonesians. It was the first aerial offensive against the city in the current strife.

The Indonesians had barricaded themselves across three roads that formed the only contact between two Indian forces which were attempting to link up against stiff resistance.

After an overnight staff conference, the British dropped 10,000 leaflets on the town, warning the people to leave before the RAF hit. They were given 90 minutes notice.

The British officially expressed anxiety over the situation in Semarang. A crowd which threatened British headquarters sustained 50 casualties when it was dispersed by mortar fire yesterday, and total Indonesian casualties in the district (Continued on page eight)

Nipponese Baron Does Hara-Kiri

Tokyo, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Baron Gen. Shigeru Honjo, accused war criminal and reputed ringleader in the conquest of Manchuria, committed hara-kiri today less than 24 hours after he was ordered arrested.

The baron was lying on his right side in a pool of blood by his office at the former Japanese War College when Allied reporters and photographers arrived.

Blood still oozed from the body and the hilt of his ceremonial sword was thrust up from the sheet which partly covered the body. A small cup containing tea dregs was beside the body.

The old-line officer performed the Japanese hara-kiri ritual by slashing his stomach crosswise, then cutting his throat.

North Carolina For New Survey

Washington, Nov. 20.—(AP)—North Carolinians of Lebanese descent honored Dr. Charles Malik, Lebanese minister to the United States, last night at a Statler Hotel dinner.

Dr. Malik, who left his position as head of the philosophy department of American University in Beirut to become the first diplomatic representative in Washington of the year-old republic, called in a brief talk for increased cooperation between the United States and Lebanon "based on mutual respect."

Other speakers included Senator Howey (D-NC) and Rep. Barden (D-NC), Undersecretary of War, Kenneth C. Royall, a resident of Goldsboro; George V. Allen, deputy director of the State Department's division of Near Eastern Affairs and former North Carolinian, and Dr. George Kheirallah of New York, editor of the magazine, "Arab World."

Request For Broad Health And Medical Program Receives Assurance Of Early Congressional Attention; Association Approves And Disapproves

Washington, Nov. 20.—(AP)—President Truman's request for a broad health and medical program received assurances today of early congressional attention but deferred action. Its points also met with both approval and disapproval of the American Medical Association.

Rep. Priest (D-Tenn.), chairman of the House Interstate Health subcommittee promised hearings soon, but he declined to say just when they would start or how long they might last.

Senator Wagner (D-NY), who with Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.) introduced a bill to amend the President's recommendations, predicted Senate Labor Committee action within two months.

Otherwise, congressional reaction to the message read by a House clerk to about a score of members was indefinite. Most of the lawmakers told reporters they wanted to know more about it, particularly if it approached what some called "socialized medicine."

"It will receive careful scrutiny," said Rep. Knutson (Minn.), ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee. "While the President emphasized that it was not socialized medicine, we want to be convinced of that. There will be no hasty action."

Senator Tait (R-Ohio) commented that "it is in fact impossible to impose a federal tax-supported compulsory health insurance plan without socializing the medical profession."

His message, Mr. Truman said, "Socialized medicine means that all doctors work as employees of government. The American people want no such system. No such system is here proposed."

Asserting that "millions of our citizens do not now have a full measure of opportunity to achieve and enjoy good health" and lack "protection or security against the economic effects of sickness," the President added:

"The time has arrived for action (Continued on Page Four)

Discuss Plans For Rural Industries

Raleigh, Nov. 20.—(AP)—State officials and agriculture leaders of North Carolina plan to meet with Governor Cherry in Raleigh, Nov. 29-30, to discuss plans for rural industries.

The session will closely parallel a similar action taken in Georgia last summer, and the keynote address will be given by Dean Paul Chapman of the University of Georgia.

While the industries, as planned, will probably not be immense in size, leaders hope they will be numerous, and suited to the communities in which they will be located. They will be headed by local leadership.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

By JAMES MARLOW Washington, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Action on President Truman's proposal for a far-reaching health program—if there is action—probably will be very slow.

This is a slow Congress, and it is not always on the job. So far as Mr. Truman is concerned, Congress has pretty generally kicked his ideas around or ignored them. There are because of three deaths 432 members in the House now. A quorum—enough to make up a majority—is 217.

Last week there was a quorum on the House floor only once. It was there, then, only because the speaker rang the bell which compels the members to show up if they are anywhere around.

Capitol lawmakers say it is practically impossible to get a House quorum on Mondays or Fridays because so many congressmen, if their homes are within convenient distance, go home Thursday nights and return Monday nights.

When the President's health program, in the form of a message to Congress, was read in the House yesterday less than a score of members were present. A week ago the House Military Committee, dominated by Democrats because Democrats dominate the House, gave a sharp example of absenteeism.

There are 27 members on the committee. It met to start hearings on the compulsory military training bill. Present were 10 Re-

November 20, 1945. Every time we read of building and loan associations being started in other towns and the good they are doing, it makes us wish such a spirit would take hold of Greenville. If provision is not made for the long neglected insane of North Carolina, the fault cannot be laid to the governor but it is a shame to the state that these unfortunate have been neglected so long.

Psalm 91: 3, 2, 2. The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Immortal man was and is God's image or idea even the infinite expression of infinite Mind, and immortal man is co-existent and co-eternal with that Mind. He has been forever in the eternal Mind, God, but infinite Mind can never be in man, but is reflected by man. The spiritual man's consciousness and individuality are reflections of God. Immortal man is not and never was material, but always spiritual and eternal." Page 336.

Women in the Church. by Mary Fowler.

Purchase of the $350,000 Fort Raymond government hospital in Seward, Alaska, has been authorized by the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service, according to Mrs. Robert Stewart, of the Church's Bureau of Medical Work, under which the hospital will operate. The 175-bed hospital was offered to the Methodist Women's Society by Governor Ernest Gruening of the territory on condition that it be operated as a tuberculosis sanatorium. A church, the Jessie Parker of children, and Seward General Hospital are already under Methodist auspices in Seward.

Unmarried women may be ordained and appointed to parishes by the Methodist Church of Great Britain and Ireland as a result of recent action taken by the Church's general conference. Except in special cases, women ministers will be required to retire upon marrying. As ministers, the women will have equal training, status, salary, and retirement allowances with the men. This seems to settle, for the Methodists, a controversy that has raged for a quarter of a century in the British Isles.

Urging upon Congress (the necessity of legislation guaranteeing full employment) to women as well as to men—Mrs. J. Birdsall Calkins, of Washington, D. C., representing 3,000,000 women and girls in the Young Women's Christian Association, says: "Past experience has shown us that services of 'marginal workers' can be secured at sub-standard wages and under poor working conditions, that tend to depress wages in general and to lower the purchasing power of the nation. This country cannot afford to allow a condition to arise in which there are so many more workers than jobs that women and members of minority groups must continue to be regarded as marginal. All of these people are equally entitled to a job, and none of them should be barred because of sex, marital status, race, color or creed. Women, from scientists to electrical assemblers, worked hard and well during the war. This skill is a contribution needed in post-war America. Yet, on the West Coast and elsewhere even before the end of the war, Y.W.C.A. staff members reported that Negroes and women were the first to form lines in front of the United States Employment Office. They must have opportunities for steady work that will enable them to get seniority and job security."

Thaddeus E. Parker Dies In Richmond. Mr. Thad E. Parker, 74, died suddenly at the home of his son, Dr. F. E. Parker, in Richmond, Va. Funeral services will be conducted at the Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist Church near Belvoir by Rev. J. C. The Curious Clue deliberate motion of his fingers as he polished his spectacles. He was sitting in Cobo's office late that afternoon for what, to his surprise, Cobo had termed a "final interview." Gardner noticed the tired, worried expression around the little chief's eyes. Cobo had worked day and night since Potter's body had been found. Gardner knew that and he also knew that this evening Cobo meant to break the case.

BY RUFUS HEED

"You work with me today—to-night?" Cobo's voice was sombre. Gardner nodded. "But of course. I agree with you we must gather up the loose ends and work fast. If the killer makes a break to get away, this time we'd be ditched. Any one else coming in for a final report this afternoon?"

"Ramon. He knows so much about Dolores—we need that information." "I know."

Cobo rang for a stenographer who came in at once and sat beside him, a row of sharpened pencils neatly lined up on the table in front of her. Then when he had told Jesus no one was to interrupt them except Ramon, who was expected soon, he turned to Gardner and said in a low voice:

"Yesterday you said 'when you get the killer's time-table you break case.' Please make it now."

Gardner shoved his glasses up on his forehead, leaned back in his chair, and stared at the ceiling as he said slowly:

"Time is a big factor in this case. The thing which we must know is the time events actually happened—not the time some one wants you to believe they happened. For instance we were told that the principals and chorus for the pirates' dance went out on the veranda to start their dance at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Yesterday, in this office, Miss Van Tyne admitted that was an error—that the dance really started at 10 minutes past 10."

"Ten more minutes—plenty time to strangle Dolores?"

"Exactly. Well, to get back to your question—the time-table we must reconstruct accurately is this:

"What time did Miss Van Tyne and Ramon Delgado meet Dolores as she came from the runway when the fashion show was over? What time did Miss Van Tyne leave her room Saturday night and get back to the lobby? What time did Peacock leave the lobby for Miss Van Tyne's room? When was Potter killed? When did Mrs. Warner see Potter after he went to answer that telephone call?"

"You get the idea," Gardner leaned forward and faced Cobo. "In a strange way time affects every one involved in this case. Incidentally that time when Mrs. Warner saw Potter again is quite important. We know now that the telephone call was a phony. He went to meet Dolores as she came out the side door of the hotel with Peabody's dossier hidden under her bridal bouquet—"

"And she did ask for more money?" Cobo interrupted quickly. "I check on that. Potter said 'yes' took dossier to his room, by way of beach back of high garden hedge got money, went back to see Mrs. Warner. Away as short time as possible."

Gardner's eyes showed his keen interest in what Cobo was saying. "Then," he supplemented quickly, "he left her again to give money to Dolores and either killed her, or found her dead. What time was that?"

"Before pirate dance began. Exact time unknown." The soft scra-etch of the stenographer's pencil across her notebook was the only sound in the office as Cobo finished his brief statement.

"There's one other thing that stands out in this case," Gardner said abruptly as the silence in the office grew noticeable. "And that is the general absence of clues. But that is always true in a strangling case or, as it happened last night. The killer attempted to crack open Peabody's head with a blunt weapon he carried off with him. He didn't leave a single finger print behind him in the room."

"We have Miss Van Tyne's gun." "Yes. Heaven knows I wish she'd never bought it! But the most important clue to my way of thinking is a corpse, Potter's. It's a dead body that will trap this killer—"

A shout made both men look up. "Hi, fellows. Can the coroner of this city have a few words with the police department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation?" Ramon called out cheerily from the doorway. "You two look solemn enough to be at a wake. Quihay, Cobo, Como te va."

He came across the office and accompanied his breezy salutation with a resounding whack on Cobo's back which made the little chief flush with annoyance as he stared up at him.

"Why don't you step on it and do something in this case?" Ramon continued flippantly. "Any one can get away with murder down here. A week's passed, nearly, and you haven't done a thing. Seems to me you're damn slow."

Cobo jumped to his feet, his face an angry red. "We know what we do. This evening I arrest murderer." Ramon gave a start of surprise. "The hell you do!" he exclaimed. "That's more like it. If it's true, Not bad at all."

The dancer sat down on the end of the table and swung his legs carelessly back and forth as he considered Cobo's statement.

"If that's the case, chief, I guess I'll give you a hand."

"I called you for more facts about Dolores," Cobo returned stiffly. "You know her a long time?"

"Oh, I'm going to do more for you than that," Ramon paused a moment to give full force to his next pronouncement.

"You see, I know who killed Potter."

Hunting

Raleigh, Nov. 16—(AP)—Guns of North Carolina hunters will open on a front from the sea to the mountains the morning of Nov. 22, when the real hunting season opens on rabbit, quail turkey, and ruffed grouse—all of them huntmen's delight in the Old North State.

All hunters will be able to test their guns on opening day on rabbit, quail, and ruffed grouse, since the date falls on a Thursday, but next day, in most of the eastern counties and some of the western ones, quail may not be lawfully shot. "Lay Day" schedules, allowing shooting only on Tuesdays, and Saturdays are in effect in a number of counties.

Troops Landing

London, Nov. 16—(AP)—The Hill-versum radio, quoting the Dutch news agency Aneta, said today 3,000 British and Indian troops have landed on the island of Sumatra without resistance from the Indonesians.

The troops were brought ashore at Padang and Palembang, and the "few remaining Japanese gave no trouble and are being disarmed," the broadcast said. It reported a political split among Sumatra Indonesians, and said "It is hoped a second Java will be prevented."

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.

If the 18 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent urination, passing water with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 18 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

A CYNIC SEES HIS MISTAKE

The Book of Ecclesiastes is the biography of a disillusioned cynic. It is fitting that it should be included among the books of the Bible. Millions of people have experienced the sense of disillusionment Solomon did when, at the end of an indulgent life, he looked back upon the tangled skein of selfishness which constituted his career and assessed it vain and worthless.

Solomon is probably the only man in human history who had every-thing heart could desire. He had health, wealth, and position. His intellect was so outstanding that people came from the ends of the earth just to get a glimpse of him and to hear a few words fall from his lips. He had every opportunity to indulge himself sensual, and this he did in such a spectacular fashion that his name has been notorious through the ages. Among the great of the earth no one has ever been more widely acclaimed.

But he missed God. He left the Almighty out of his thoughts, his calculations, and his plans. He came to the end of a life in which he had had everything and cursed existence as a vain thing. As he left the stage, he called back to youth not to make the mistake he had. These are his words: "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them."

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—There's a story, or rather several stories, behind President Truman's new flag.

He broke out the new flag some days ago for the benefit of a press and radio conference. It wasn't much of a ceremony as White House ceremonies ordinarily go, but it will make more than a footnote in the history of our national flags.

As flag-followers no doubt know by now, the new flag is the presidential coat-of-arms in color, surrounded by a circle of 48 white stars, on a field of blue. What they may not know is that the new presidential flag, as well as the old one officially adopted 23 years ago by President Wilson, were in some measure due to the doodling of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Before 1916, both the Army and Navy had their own flags for the commander in chief. At that time, President Wilson commissioned two young men to work on designs for a presidential flag that would represent both the Army and Navy.

These two young men were Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt and Commander Byron McCandless. What they produced was a coat of arms (the stylized American eagle with wings spread, a striped shield over its body and clasping in its right claw an olive branch and in its left a cluster of arrows) with one white star in each corner of the flag.

This did well enough until the spring of 1945, when one of the original designers, President Roosevelt, got to thinking that the newly created five-star flag admirals and generals of the Army had five stars in their flags, while the commander in chief had only four. He called in Vice Admiral Wilson Brown (note how thoroughly the Navy has dominated the presidential flag picture) and ordered up a new flag.

Admiral Brown tossed the problem right over to McCandless, now a commodore in charge of the naval repair base at San Diego. The McCandless designs arrived at the White House after President Roosevelt's death, but President Truman was as interested as his predecessor.

Out of the discussions over designs came the suggestion from President Truman himself that the flag have 48 stars.

Out of the discussions also came an interesting change in the presidential coat and of arms. For heraldic custom, but as was pointed out by Chief of the heraldic section

Phantoms Make Fine Record On Gridiron This Season

Won Eight Out Of 11 Contests; Sixteen Members Of Squad To Graduate

By DAVE CLARK
The disappointing tie with Kinston Friday night "rang down the curtain" on another very successful season for Coach Bo Farley's Greenville High Phantoms.

Although they lost three games of an eleven game schedule, the teams to triumph over them were top notch ball clubs. Furthermore, the Phantoms gained sweet revenge over one of those teams, Goldsboro, by shellacking them in a second meeting 32-0 after they had lost to them 7-0 in the first game of the season. The other team to gain a decision over the Phantoms was the New Bern outfit, who did the trick twice by 18-12 and 7-6 scores.

The teams to fall before the Phantom power attack were LaGrange by a 27-0 score, Tarboro twice by scores of 22-0 and 32-0, Elizabeth City twice, both times by 24-0 verdicts, Goldsboro by a 32-0 upset, and Kinston once by a score of 13-0. Kinston tied with the Phantoms in their other engagement with a 13-13 count.

If comparisons as to the power of different teams can be made by scores, here is one: The Raleigh Caps, winners of this year's Eastern Class A title, beat Goldsboro by a 26-6 score, while the Phantoms romped over that same Goldsboro ball club a few weeks later by a score of 32-0. However, scores are not accurate comparisons as has been proven many times this season in college as well as high school games.

The contest Friday night closed the high school football careers of 16 Seniors, some of whom rank with the best athletes ever to wear the Green and White colors.

Among the seniors in the backfield are Jimmy Futrell, a triple threat full back, who runs, kicks and passes with skill seldom seen in a high school back. If not the best full back ever to play in GHS, Futrell certainly deserves to rank right at the top.

Futrell's able relief man, big Xen Sideris, is another hard running back and an able passer as well. Had Sideris not come along at the same time as Futrell, he most likely would have players plenty of good ball in the starting lineup.

Another threat among the senior ball carriers is Billy Harrington. Although not the power runner that Futrell is, Harrington is probably the best passer to toss for the Phantoms in a good many years.

Mac Batchelor, this year's high scorer with 87 points, is definitely another star who will be remembered 15 years to come as the best pass receiving blocking back to ever play for Greenville. Batchelor is also an excellent blocker.

Zari (Spooky) Morgan is the fourth man in this year's backfield and also a senior. He proved himself an able pass receiver and excellent broken field runner in this, his second year on the Phantom squad.

At the ends are two more capable seniors, Jimmy Ward and Julian White. Ward's height made him a great offensive threat in the pass-catching department, while White proved to be a standout on defensive.

Three veterans graduate from the tackle posts in Lewis Lawrence Will (Stump) Garrett and Jimmy Sutton. All these boys play a "wale of a ball game" at the tackle. Although Garrett is handicapped by his small size, he makes up for it with plenty of scrap.

Mr. Humber said that the task Jack Whichard, Booby Clark

Cleveland Gilbert and Roy, Batchelor graduate at the guards. Clark and Whichard are the starters. Whichard is another boy handicapped by lack of height, but opponents will testify that he is one of the trickiest and scrappiest guards ever to compete against them.

At center graduate J. T. Williams and Rodney Roberts. Williams is another of those boys who deserve to rank with the best of past Greenville centers. The defensive field general for Coach Farley this year, J. T. was always a standout on offense and defense. Roberts was always an able substitute for Williams and will be missed next season.

As a rule, over 50 per cent of the credit for a successful season should go to the coaches and this year is no exception. After the Phantoms had dropped two of their first three games Coach Farley, aided by Coach Snag Clark, who very ably led the Phantoms through last season and the first of this, took over the reins and piloted the Phantoms over their remaining eight games with but one other loss.

Hopes are high for a successful campaign next year, although the Greenville ranks will be sadly depleted by graduations. However, by lots of work, Greenville should be able to make a good showing in the grid wars. Boys on the green-uniformed squad returning next season are Henry Turner, Billy White, L. L. Kittrell, Junius Rose, Shelly Beard, Mahlon Tucker, Fred Joseph, Jimmy Lee, Lewis Evans and Dave Clark.

Humber Addresses University Women

Sponsored by the International Relations Committee of the American Association of University Women, Mr. Robert L. Humber spoke on the San Francisco Conference and World Order at the association's meeting in the Sheppard Memorial Library auditorium Monday evening.

After giving general impressions of the conference, including interesting sidelights of the outstanding delegates, Mr. Humber explained Russia's three votes, the veto power in the Security Council, and the reasons for establishing a new international organization and compared the United Nations Charter with the Covenant of the League of Nations.

Of the six councils established by the Charter, only the Council on Trusteeship is a real improvement over the agencies of the old League, he said. Whereas colonies were turned over to the big nations as mandates with no further supervision by the League, the Charter provides for supervision and expresses the objectives of the trusteeships to be government for the welfare of the colony and ultimate self-government.

The Security Council, which has been the main objective of all the efforts of the United Nations in the war and in the conferences, alone can act in regard to war and peace, explained Mr. Humber. Any real action by it can be prevented by any one of the eleven members through the veto, since the check upon the veto, in spite of the tendency deadlock it caused at the conference is ineffectual.

The creation of a new organization, he continued, was necessary for political reasons: the party quarrel in the United States would prevent our ever joining the League; and Russia, having been expelled by the League when she attacked Finland, had declared that she would never join it again.

Mr. Humber said that the task before the United States now is to institute order in the world. This can be done, he said, only through a world federation with a body to make international law, an executive to put it into effect, and a judiciary to punish criminals against world order.

Mr. Humber was presented by Dr. Lucile Tutter, who told of his work on the World Federation plan, of which he is the author.

Miss Emma Hooper, the president, presided at the meeting. In announcing committees, Miss Hooper expressed the association's appreciation of the work of Miss Lois Grigsby, who is retiring chairman of the Publicity Committee. During the sixteen years of the Greenville branch's history, Miss Grigsby has served ten years on the Publicity Committee, being chairman for six years of that time.

Miss Hooper also announced that the University of North Carolina has recently been added to the list of colleges and universities recognized by the AAUW. All local alumnae of the University are invited to join the Greenville branch.

Boy, You Give Me A LIFT!

Ladies like a lift!... So do little girls, little boys, jitterbugs, WACS, Marines, hitch-hikers... and any one hungry, thirsty or tired. When it comes to lifts, a "cold Doc" is Mr. Lift himself. The "quick-energy" races through your veins... the unique flavor teases and satisfies your taste buds... drink a frosty-cold Dr. Pepper—lady, you've got a LIFT!

How much can you pay?

What would you think if the clerk at your favorite store asked to see what you had in your wallet before he decided what to charge you for a shirt?—

Or if, just because you happened to have some money saved up, you were asked to pay more than other people for a haircut, a movie ticket, or even such important items as rent, food and clothing.

That's exactly the kind of reasoning UAW-CIO leaders are using in their wage demands on General Motors—

They point to funds we have saved up over the years to expand and improve our plants and provide more jobs and more production. They say, "Give us that in bigger wages."

General Motors does not go along with that kind of reasoning. People should not have to pay more just because they have a savings account—

For many years we have used our savings to expand capacity, create more jobs and provide greater values.

And we intend to keep on doing just that. We are, at present, embarked on a very important reconversion and postwar expansion program. Our objective, now as always—to produce more and better things for more people.

Grain Market

Chicago, Nov. 20—(AP)—Grain futures with the exception of oats showed strong upward the close of today's trading. May wheat was bid at the ceiling of $1.80 1/2 and deferred deliveries advanced sharply.
December and May rye deliveries established new highs for the season. The advance in rye was attributed largely to short covering and reached $1.95 for December and $1.86 1/2 for May before profit cashing caused a recession from the day's best prices.
Some of the buying in deferred wheat contracts was said to be by dealers who cannot cover in other cereals because of lack of offerings.
Indications that increased shipments of oats from the northwest were expected because of the imprecipitant in the boxcar situation restricted the advance in oats.
All deliveries of corn held at the (dialt. $1.18 1/2).
At the finish wheat was unchanged to 1 cent higher than yesterday's close, December $1.80 1/2. Corn was unchanged at ceiling $1.18 1/2. Oats were 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower, December 74 1/2-1. Rye was unchanged to 1/2 lower, December $1.91 1/2. Barley was unchanged to 1/2 higher, December $1.21 1/2.

AGRICULTURAL FOUNDATION

Chairman Woolard Reports Nearly $10,000 Subscribed

By CHESTER WALSH
W. H. Woolard, Pitt County chairman of the Agricultural Foundation, non-profit corporation organized to encourage and assist in developing a larger yielding and more profitable farm program in North Carolina, said today he is gratified over the generous response of Pitt Countians in taking out life memberships in the Foundation. Business firms and individuals are taking out life memberships — firms, $25; individuals, $10. Funds derived from this source are to be used in securing for State College the very best scientists for agricultural and livestock research work. And the Foundation also plans to supplement salaries of scientists at State College when other colleges offer them more salary than the State Legislature provides for them at State.

Mr. Woolard reported that the memberships taken out in Pitt County will exceed $10,000. Already 233 memberships have been sent in. All names will be published in the Agricultural Bulletin from time to time. Chairman Woolard suggested in taking out memberships contact before Friday any of the following township chairmen: Ayden, A. F. Rowe; Bethel, F. L. Blount; Black Jack, B. J. Edwards; Chicod, L. C. Venters; Falkland, G. H. Pittman; Farmville, G. W. Davis and L. E. Walston; Fountain, R. A. Fountain and J. M. Horton; Grifton, W. I. Bissett; Grimesland, Dr. C. H. Spiliger; Pictious, C. J. Satterthwaite; Greenville, W. Arthur Tripp; Stokes, W. F. Stokes; Winterville, D. Woodrow Worthington and Bell-air, Bruce Strickland. Individual memberships are $10, business firms, $25.

A report of the committees' work will be made in full Friday. But the work of arousing interest in the

MAY REUNION NEXT FRIDAY

Maj-Gen. Turnage To Deliver Principal Address At Farm-vill

Farmville, Nov. 20—The holiday spirit and ultimate purpose of Thanksgiving Day, the reunion of families for thanksgiving to God, will be extended in Farmville as usual this year, and Friday, November 23, will be included in the observance by descendants of the pioneer families of the Tysons and Mays, who will assemble from all over the State for their annual meeting which at the same time will do honor to Major-General Allen T. Turnage, second in command of the United States Marine Corps, and a native son, who will be the featured speaker of the day.

General Turnage, son of Mrs. W. J. Turnage and the late Mr. Turnage, who rendered signal service and attained distinction in World Wars I and II, ranks next in command to General Alexander A. Vandegrift, Marine Commandant, by recent appointment.

As this is the first reunion held since peace was declared, a large number of returned veterans are expected to attend and renew acquaintance and join in the day's fellowship and activities.

The reunion will be held in the spacious Chapter House of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which bears the name of an illustrious ancestor, Major Benjamin May, and is situated on lands originally held by the Major and given for this purpose by his descendants.

Presiding over the reunion program will be Mrs. W. H. Gillette, Jr., of Richmond, Va., the former Miss Nancy Tyson, daughter of Mrs. Annie Tyson Flanagan, and the late John Flanagan, and a granddaughter of the late Greg Tyson, founder of the Tyson Reunion organization 25 years ago, and widely known for his knowledge and keen interest in historical places and events and for his remarkable memory in this connection. Other officers are: Miss Ella May, of Winterville, 1st vice president; John T. Smith, of Wilson, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Edward May, secretary-treasurer.

Mayor J. W. Joyner will turn the keys of the town over to the reunion organization as the opening feature of the program, which will begin promptly at 10:15 o'clock Friday morning.

John B. Lewis will present General Turnage, who will doubtless bring news of current happenings throughout the world and timely echoes of progress of internal and foreign reconversion and rehabilitation.

The period of reminiscence, to be conducted by Walter G. Sheppard, of Snow Hill, and the report of Miss Tabitha M. DeVisconti, genealogical chairman, will be usual among the highlights of the program.

Rev. C. B. Mashburn, pastor of the Christian Church, and an adopted son of the family group, will offer the invocation and conduct the memorial service.

Special music featuring Mrs. James Coughlin of Morehead City, soprano, will add variety and charm to the program as planned.

During the business session, new officers will be elected.

A basket lunch will be served at noon in the banquet hall of the Chapter House.

GIVES FACTS ON JAPANESE

Major Malloy Rotary Speaker Last Night

By WYATT BROWN
"The fanaticism of the Japanese" together with some observations on the obligations of the victor of war was presented as an address last night to the Greenville Rotarians and guests by Major Edmund J. Malloy of Cherry Point, a native of Pennsylvania who spent much time in the South Pacific with the Marines during World War II having his actual experience with the Japanese as staff officer of the Marine "Flying Nightmares." Major Malloy was introduced by J. B. Kittrell.

At the outset Maj. Malloy pictured the paradox of the Japanese—the so courteous Japanese who is yet so ruthless. He indicated that that paradox was the keynote of the character of the Nippon. But the fanaticism of the Japanese, he stated, is the outgrowth of years of propagandizing them with the idea of the divinity of their emperor and loyalty to that divine ruler. Out of this loyalty grew the complete disregard for life in fighting for their Mikado.

"People who believe so extremely in loyalty as the Japanese did believe more in loyalty than they do in truth. They were propagandized with their divine mission to conquer the world. Their greatest tribute to their emperor was to die for him." The Japanese certainly had fighting ability—if nothing else. But this very loyalty they displayed on the battlefield was the source of their downfall—they could not accept the truth," he said and then went on how Jap officers would not report the truth of their losing actions or the need of reinforcements for it would involve losing face.

The Major next pictured the lack of mutual trust in the Jap makeup. This lack of trust was between themselves as well as with people of other nations. The tight rope of the demands of military requirements for truth of facts and yet to be loyal strained the Japs. The speaker quoted one officer's report, "The factory was slightly demolished by B-29's."

This loyalty extended to the civilian populace as exhibited on Saipan when Japanese fathers destroyed their whole families instead of permitting capture—it was not fear of torture. By death and record of wrong in a loyal subject life was erased.

Soldiers preferred death to falling back even when obviously holding on meant extinction. Giving up meant letting the emperor down.

Next he touched on the contrast of this fanatical loyalty to the emperor when at war and the seeming supreme attitude of the Japs under occupation of the United States Army—"the hand that held the dagger yesterday, holds a tea cup today" in Japan. This change is explained according to the Major in the oriental disregard of time—they consider one phase over with the loss of the war but their divine mission of conquering the world is still to be done. Their defeat is only temporary, it does not lower the emperor one notch—he is still divine.

In concluding Major Malloy spoke of the let-down in America from the war time pressure. He appealed that the United States not sit by a rock while this period of chaos is prevalent but to contribute to the world's welfare as is incumbent upon the victors.

"Peace cannot be built on the shifting sands of verbal agreement," he declared. He urged a strong military establishment. In the face of the pressure placed upon us by peace that we manifest "the heroism of peace" which requires considerable "moral guts." He warned against the subtle propaganda being spread to build up hate for Russia. The definite need as he sees it is an international policy publicized and known to all.

Rotarian Earl Smith of Marion and Rotarian Bill Johnson of Ayden were visitors last night. Dr. C. F. Irons was one guest of the club and Dr. Harold Johnson of Rochester New York was another. Hugh Winslow returned to his regular place in the Rotary Club last night, having recently been released from the armed forces. John Proctor, president of the club, presided.

Writes Article On Plant Physiology

Dr. Mary G. Caghey of the Science Department of East Carolina Teachers College is the author of an article appearing in the October, 1945, issue of "Plant Physiology," quarterly publication of the American Society of Plant Physiologists. The title of the article is "Water Relations of Pocosin or Bog Shrubs." It is a study of a bog in this section of the state, the location being near Vanceboro. Dr. Caghey, a specialist in botany, has for several years been a member of the college faculty here. She is a graduate of Geneva College, and has a master's degree from Columbia University and a doctor's degree from Duke University. She is a member of Sigma Xi, scientific society, and of the Society of Plant Physiology. Her home is in Chester, West Virginia.

Dr. Caghey is honored as a research scholar by the inclusion of her article in "Plant Physiology."

Special Delivery will also be delivered as usual.

Fish Goes Fishing

Port Isable, Tex., Nov. 20—(AP)—William Bledsoe, 74, is nursing four broken ribs, the result of an encounter with a six foot tarpon.

Bledsoe was sitting on his skiff fishing when something hit him so hard it knocked him out of the boat. When he climbed back in he found a 125 pound tarpon flopping around.

Coast Guardsmen who saw the incident and went to Bledsoe's assistance verified the fact the fish had not been hooked. It was believed it struck at the reflection in the water of the outboard motor.

"It's Like This, Pop"

Louisville, Nov. 20—(AP)—The Maxwell Field, Ala., separation base's chief counselor, a lieutenant, squirmed a little when a lieutenant colonel dropped down in a chair across the desk to receive parting reconversion advice.

Lt. Col. Howard M. Nelson of Louisville was being honorably discharged.

The Army counselor giving him "discharge" advice was Lt. Howard E. Nelson—his son.

"We'd like to put them in for all who want them"

BUT even if we had telephone instruments for all who want them, we could not connect a majority of them now. That's because there just aren't enough existing lines, cables, switchboards and other central office equipment. Though the war in the Pacific is ended it will still take time to reconvert and manufacture equipment, engineer central offices and build the new equipment into the existing system before service can be made available to all who want it. But we are working orders as fast as possible under existing conditions. We appreciate the patience of those who are waiting.

Exit Mr. Turkey

Thanksgiving evening usually means drop-in guests and a buffet dinner featuring left-over turkey. To make the last bite of turkey as taste-teasing as the first, use the remaining savory tidbits to prepare delicious turkey chow mein.

Turkey Chow Mein... makes good use of left-overs

- | | |
|--|--|
| Brown 1 cup sliced onion | with 1/2 cup cold water |
| 1/2 cup green pepper strips | Add 3 cups diced cooked CERTIFIED TURKEY |
| 3 tbsp. CLEAR BROOK BUTTER | 1 can bean sprouts |
| Add 3 cups turkey stock | 1 can mushrooms |
| 3 cups sliced celery and simmer, covered, until vegetables are tender. | Heat thoroughly. Serve on fried noodles. Garnish with strips of turkey and pimiento. Serves 6. |
| Thicken with 2 tbsp. cornstarch, mixed | |

Clip Recipe Here

Menu for Left-Overs

Turkey chow mein—the tasty answer to the left-over problem. Serve on crispy fried noodles with a tossed vegetable salad, rolls (reheated), cranberry relish, hot tea and a bowl of mixed fruits for dessert.

An Added Touch

If you fry your own noodles, do them a few days ahead of time. Boil 1 1/2 oz. pkg. of fine noodles five minutes; drain well. Heat 1 1/2 cups Advance Shortening in a large skillet, remove from stove, add half the noodles, return to heat and cook until browned, stirring often. Drain on absorbent paper. Repeat.

Salvage the Carcass

Now that there's nothing left of Mr. Turkey but his carcass, don't forget the soup! Keep soup refrigerated constantly and use within two days.

Wilson's Certified American Cheese, sprinkled over rolls before reheating perks them up.

Yours for good eating. George Rector.

De Gaulle Meets All Three Groups

Paris, Nov. 20—(AP)—Gen. De Gaulle today conferred with Communist, Socialist and Popular Republican leaders of the constituent assembly in his efforts to form a coalition government.

No declaration was immediately forthcoming whether progress had been made in reconciling Communist demands for a policy-making cabinet post and De Gaulle's avowed opposition.

Prior to the conference with De Gaulle, the Communist parliamentary group met and announced it remained firm in its request for one of three ministers—foreign affairs, war or interior.

The Communists made one concession in announcing acceptance of the Socialist amendment adopted by the assembly yesterday calling for tri-partite government. Communists abstained yesterday in voting on this point.

De Gaulle declined comment following his conference with the leaders.

North Carolinians Honor Lebanese

Raleigh, Nov. 20—(AP)—North Carolina has been selected as the first state in which a fact-finding survey to determine the needs of children during the postwar period will be made by the American Academy of Pediatrics. It was announced here today.

The North Carolina Pediatrics

society will support and cooperate in the survey, which may be used as a model for similar undertakings in other states in the next few years.

Dr. Joseph Lachman, who has been loaned to the North Carolina Society by the U. S. Public Health Service to act as executive secretary of the survey, said North Carolina was selected "because of the excellence of its pediatric groups and their interest in child health."

The survey will attempt to determine:

1. Health studies for children, including school health facilities, immunization, child guidance, public health nursing, and child health conferences.
 2. Distribution, qualification and activities of professional personnel.
 3. Hospital facilities, including out-patient clinics and laboratories, education, cooperation, and character of public health facilities, available clinics and mental hospitals, and facilities for caring for contagious and convalescent tuberculosis patients.
 4. Education of physicians with reference to children, including medical schools, to determine the quality and quantity for the training of child care.
- The survey contemplates the cooperation of all branches of the medical profession in making determinations as to the needs of Carolina children, Lachman said.

"Mr. President, I still do not believe it and I know that our fleet is disadvantageously disposed for preparing for or initiating war operations."

To this the admiral said Mr. Roosevelt replied:

"I can be convinced of the desirability of returning the battleships to the west coast if I can be given a good statement which will convince the American people and the Japanese government that in bringing the battleships to the west coast we are not stepping backwards."
