One Day Stoppage Twelve Meat Packing Plants Offered By Louis J. Clark Of CIO Packing House Workers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS A one-day work stoppage in 12 meat packing plants of Cudahy and Co. was called today by Louis J. Clark of the CIO United Packing-House Workers Union to enforce demands for wage increases.

In Jersey City, 400 employees left their jobs last night and a union spokesman said if the wage dispute was not settled, 11 big meat packing plants throughout the country would be struck within the week.

In Chicago, however, national union officials said they had no information about such plans.

In Kansas City, union members voted to "go out and stay out," rejecting suggestions from national officers that a strike be confined to a one-day demonstration.

Elsewhere developments along the nation's labor front centered in Detroit and in Washington. The country's labor disputes kept idle some 600,000 workers.

In Detroit, leaders of the CIO United Automobile Workers Union expressed opposition to President Truman's proposal to end the strike.

North Carolina Has Increasing Revenue

Raleigh, Dec. 4.—(AP)—North Carolina revenues, highway and general fund, totaled $37,825,687.70 in the first five months of the fiscal year beginning July 1, or an increase of 13.26 per cent over the same period of last year.

Greensboro, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Internal revenue collections in North Carolina last month totaled $74,660,807.50, or an increase of more than $16,500,000 over the same month last year, according to Charles H. Peterson, collector of Internal Revenue for the district of North Carolina.

REJECTIONS OF SUGGESTIONS

Russia Formally Rejects United States Iranian Proposal

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—American officials studied possible new moves in the Iranian impasse today with little evident hope of now bringing to an early end the Big Three differences over Red army activities there.

Russia's formal rejection of a U. S. proposal for withdrawal of all Allied troops from Iran left the country in a position of having supported strongly but in vain the Iranian Government's demand that Soviet forces stop interfering with the movement of Iranian troops.

And there were no ways immediately apparent by which the United States might impress more emphatically its views upon Moscow.

It was this problem which had State Department diplomats busy today.

The department disclosed Russia's rejection last night. Michael J. McDermott, department news officer, said American troops still are to be withdrawn by year's end. They are leaving now as rapidly as possible, he added.

The United States had told Russia and Britain that if their forces, which divided the country between them for strategic reasons during the war, would also get out now the danger of further incidents in Iran would be ended.

The British have not replied at all. The Russians are understood to have said that since they already have agreed with the British to withdraw by March 2 they see no reason for changing the agreement.

One specific issue still wide open is whether the government at Tehran should be permitted to send its (Continued on page four)

Gave The British Jap Code System

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The United States gave Great Britain the secret method of cracking the Japanese code 1 month before this country was plunged into war by the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, congressional investigators learned today.

Major Gen. Sherman Miles, Army chief of intelligence at that time, gave this testimony to the Senate-House committee investigating the raid on the naval base Dec. 7, 1941.

Miles told the committee, however, that he couldn't say offhand now whether the British, in turn, furnished the U. S. with any of the information they later obtained from decoding intercepted Japanese messages.

The committee also received a report that the late President Roosevelt on Nov. 26, 1941, advised the high commissioner of the Philippines, Francis Sayre, that the "next Japanese aggression might cause an outbreak of hostilities between the U. S. and Japan."

LEGISLATION IS APPROVED

House Committee Approves Bill for High Employment Level

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The House Expenditures Committee today approved legislation to declare a federal policy of maintaining "a high level of employment" in the nation.

The measure is a substitute for so-called "full employment" legislation requested by President Truman.

The term "full employment" was stricken entirely in the substitute and the words "high level of employment" were used instead.

The committee's action broke a two-months stalemate on the legislation, which was passed in early October by the Senate.

During that time Mr. Truman criticized the expenditures group for what he termed "damaging delay" in handling the bill.

Whether the revised version will be acceptable to the President remains to be seen. In each of his appeals for action he has asked for "full employment" legislation.

The substitute measure says it shall be the government's policy to create "in a manner consistent with the American system of free enterprise, the maximum opportunity for (Continued on Page Six)

Housing Shortage Grows Alarmingly

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—William Green, AFL president, said today at least 6,000,000 families of returning veterans will need adequate housing within a year and that a large-scale housing program "is America's order of the day."

Green, in testimony prepared for the Senate Banking Committee, urged passage of the Taft-Wagner-Ellender housing bill as "the cornerstone to our nation's postwar reconstruction."

The pending bill would consolidate all federal housing activities in a permanent national housing agency and establish, as national policy, government aid to private enterprise in home-building and aid in slum clearance.

Free Movie Day

Wednesday, December 5th, will be Free Movie Day for Victory Bond purchasers at the Pitt and State Theatres. This of course applies only to E bonds purchased Wednesday, and so dated by the issuing agency.

Bonds may be purchased any time during the day or that night in the lobby at the Pitt. Those who take advantage of this Free Movie Day offer, will pay only the normal federal admission tax, 6c at the State and 5c matinee and 7c night at the Pitt.

It is hoped that many people will choose Wednesday to buy that extra bond. Victory bonds make excellent Christmas presents—in fact it's the one gift you can give without worrying about the size or selection.

International Court Blast Nazi Leaders

Twenty Once Mighty Nazi Leaders On Trial For Their Lives Excoriate In Name Of England

By DANIEL DE LUCE Nuernberg, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The 20-ounce-mighty Nazi leaders on trial for their lives before an international tribunal were excoriated in the name of the British Commonwealth today as "murderers and robbers" personally and individually accountable for breaking the world's peace.

Opening the British case against Herman Goering, Rudolf Hess, Joachim Von Ribbentrop and their fellow members of the fallen clique, Sir Hartley Shawcross, attorney general of the United Kingdom, declared that the defendants had plunged Germany into "aggression, naked and unashamed" and plunged the world into an appalling costly war.

"These men were no mere willing tools," Shawcross said. "They are the men whose support had built Hitler up into the position of power he occupied. They are the men whose initiation and planning perhaps conceived and certainly made possible the acts of aggression made in Hitler's name."

The attorney general's 30,000-word address introduced the British citation of proof that the accused were guilty of crimes against the peace. The United States has concluded its presentation on the first of the three other counts in the indictment—that the Nazis engaged in a conspiracy to wage a war of aggression. Two remaining counts charging war crimes and crimes against humanity, are to be prosecuted jointly by Russia and France.

Shawcross first sought to show that the Hitler gang violated firmly established international law through aggression and preparation for aggression.

Then, step by step, from the long-concealed words of the Nazis themselves, he traced the German course of broken treaties, violated frontiers and ultimate carnage and misery. "Their last and sadism," he said, "their deliberate slaughter and the degradation of so many millions of their fellow creatures that the imagination reels incomprehensibly are but one side only of this matter."

"Perhaps their guilt as murderers and robbers is of less importance and of less effect to future generations of mankind than their crime of fraud—the fraud by which they placed themselves in a position to do their murder and their robbery."

Students Aid E Bond Sales

Ella F. Viola The students of Greenville High School are sponsoring a drive within the school to aid in the sale of E bonds during the remainder of the Victory Loan Drive. Every student who buys or sells a bond will receive a ticket to a special movie to be shown Saturday morning at the Pitt Theater.

The junior high and senior high boys or girls selling the most bonds will be awarded a pass to the theater. During an assembly Monday morning Mr. Dowd announced that the school will reward the room with the highest sales.

The students will not handle any money but will give blanks to the purchasers to be filled out stating that they will buy a bond from the post office, a bank, theater or any other place where bonds are on sale. The blank is to be given back to the student when the bond is purchased so he will be given credit for selling it. No bonds or stamps will be sold through the school.

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—President Truman got quick action today on his request for a new labor day.

The House Military Committee met to consider his proposal, less than 24 hours after he made it. But it was clear that some elements in Congress will seek a more drastic law than the President asked for.

Mr. Truman proposed that no major strike be allowed to occur until after an impartial board has studied the dispute and given the facts to the public.

CHINESE ARMY IN MANCHURIA

Bolstered By Airborne Supplies Nationalists Near Mukden

42—CHINESE ARMY—WALSH By RICHARD BERGHOLZ Chihnsien, Manchuria, Dec. 3.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Bolstered by airborne supplies, Chinese Nationalist armies in Manchuria today awaited a green light from Russia to begin a final march on Mukden.

Although his main forces are 130 miles from Manchuria's greatest city, the Nationalist commander, Lt. Gen. Tu Yuming, emphasized that no entry would be made into Mukden until the Russians complete occupation negotiations or until it is definitely established they have withdrawn and it is necessary to battle Chinese Communists for the city.

"Chinese Central News Agency reports in Chungking said Nationalist spearheads were within 30 miles of Mukden."

The general expressed elation over the arrival of 11 big Curtiss Commando transport planes bearing more than 20 tons of critical supplies. The planes were flown by Chinese crews.

Orders for the final march on Mukden will come from Chungking, Tu said. In a brief review of Nationalist negotiations with the Russians concerning the occupation of Manchuria by Central Government troops, he declared:

"We made an agreement with the Russians that Chinese National Army forces would land at Hulusto and Yingkou before November 10. November 10 passed without our being able to land. We agreed that by November 20 Mukden would be open to Central Government forces. That date also passed without fulfillment."

"On November 24 the Russian ambassador said in Chungking that Russia definitely was going to help the Nationalists in Manchuria. We are still waiting."

"I have sent a letter to the Russian commander in Mukden asking for details on the occupation of the city by our forces and its turnover by the Russians. They are still in (Continued on Page Four)

New Record Set On Transocean Flight

Paris, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Paris Sky Chief, instituting a new commercial route for Transoceanic and Western Airlines, landed at Orly field at 10:35 a. m. (4:35 a. m. EST) today after a flight of 14 hours and 47 minutes elapsed time from Washington, which included stops at Gander, Newfoundland, and Shannon Airport, Ireland.

The flight was the forerunner of regular TWA service to Europe and the Middle East. A company spokesman said regular flights to Paris probably would start by Dec. 20, with extensions to Cairo soon afterward.

The Sky Chief is scheduled to leave Paris Friday for the return trip.

The giant arliner took only six hours and 27 minutes from Newfoundland to Ireland, cutting 28 minutes off the record for commercial planes. Its flying time (to a Washington to Paris, 12 hours and 57 minutes, cut an hour and 21 minutes from the commercial record for the 3,870-mile trip.

The average speed was 316 miles an hour.

Secretary Forrestal Today Announces A New Plan Of Organizing For Naval Aviation Due To Increasingly Important Role Of Service

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—In recognition of the "increasingly dominant" role of aviation in the Navy Secretary Forrestal today announced a new plan of organization which will give qualified naval aviators three of the six top jobs under the chief of naval operations.

As further evidence of the evolution of air power within the Navy, he said, aviators will be given fleet commands.

Admiral John H. Towers, the Navy's No. 1 aviator and now commander of the Fifth Fleet eventually will relieve Admiral Raymond A. Spruance as commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, Forrestal disclosed.

He said Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher "in due course" will leave his present post of deputy chief of naval operations for air to become commander of the Eighth fleet, based in the Atlantic.

"Because these men pioneered aviation in the Navy," Forrestal said, "the Navy looks to them, as well as to all their fellow officers of all origins, to be equally and fully alert to the effect of new weapons on the further evolution of sea power."

The office of the chief of naval operations consists of six key positions under the chief vice chief of naval operations and five deputy chiefs.

Forrestal said he and Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, retiring chief, and Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz, successor to King, had agreed that three of these six positions would be occupied by flying men.

"Also, in general," he added, "the officer next in status to the key aviation officers mentioned will be a non-aviator whereas when a key officer is a non-aviator, the officer next in status will be an aviator."

Forrestal said the office of vice chief of naval operations, now held by Admiral Frederick C. Horno, will be assigned to Vice Admiral D. C. Ramsey, a naval aviator and now deputy commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

DIET MEMBERS NAMES LISTED

Twenty Jap Diet Members On MacArthur's Wanted List

Tokyo, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Diet, with 26 members named on General MacArthur's latest list of wanted war criminals suspects, was portrayed today by one member as feeling "as if an incendiary big shell had dropped on a neighbor's house."

Under such a cloud, the nation's gloomy financial situation was discussed only half-heartedly. The Diet heard yesterday that heavy tax increases are ahead.

Kyodo News Agency quoted Finance Minister Keizo Shibusawa as saying the government has decided to reimburse investors for the loss of Japanese assets estimated at approximately 110,000,000,000 yen (about $7,000,000,000) in Manchuria, China, Korea, Formosa and elsewhere.

Kyodo said MacArthur's Monday order for the arrest of 59 more suspects blew up "a war criminal storm" in the Diet. It likened the list to "throwing a dagger into the heart of the Diet, which is trying (Continued on Page Six) ing automobile workers to see its books.

Mr. Truman says, in his proposal to Congress, that he should appoint the fact finding body. Labor and management, apparently, should have nothing to do with selection of the board members.

This might arouse resentment if board members were chosen whom labor or management considered biased or unfriendly.

But under the special legislation of the railway labor act—which affects only railroads and airlines—when there's an insoluble dispute in those industries the President himself picks a board to settle the case.

Labor and management like to have a hand in selecting such board members to pass on their disputes. In some union-company contracts provision is made for an arbitration board. The union picks one, the company one, and then both agree on a third. But these are voluntary union-company arrangements. The government has nothing to do with them.

There is one very sore point— from labor's point of view—in Mr. Truman's proposal. It is this: There can be no strike under the law for at least 30 days while the fact-finding body is making its investigations, reports and recommendations.

Labor people say any law that prohibits a strike for any length of time—the longer, the worse—weakens the request of its strike-

The WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP World Traveler London, Dec. 4.—It is a staggering commentary on the gullibility of man that, while the British at Nuremberg are opening their war-crimes case against the 20 Nazi leaders, the English press should be blazoning reports of the discovery of a "legion of Christian reforms" who hold that Adolf Hitler was "a divine instrument sent by God to judge the world."

Such a development in Germany could be more easily understood. It is almost incredible, however, that a thing of this sort should happen in an England which only a short time ago barely escaped enslavement at the hands of Hitler, the anti-Christ.

This sensation had its beginning in the purchase of a granite bust of Hitler at an auction of former German embassy furnishings in London for about $2,000.

The purchaser was Capt. R. R. Gordon-Canning, one-time member of the British Union of Fascists and of the Anglo-German Society. "The Link" He was imprisoned for two years during the war under defense regulations. The bust is said to have been given a home at headquarters of the Cult in a stone mansion, with 16 acres of grounds, in the lovely Sussex countryside.

It was German belief in Hitler's messiahship that was partly responsible for his hypnotic hold on his people. During a visit to Germany in 1938, I followed him through the lately conferences with Chamberlain at Brest-Litovsk, Godesburg and Munich, saw his amazing leadership in Berlin and went into little Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland when he made his triumphal entry to annex this territory which he had forced from the helpless Prague government.

Worship of Hitler was strong in many sections, and I mean worship in the religious sense. Great numbers of the people, especially the young folk of the youth movement, looked on him as the messiah. I may be mentioned in this column before that some newspapers which formerly had couched their death-notices in language something like "Here died in the faith of his Lord Jesus Christ," etc., had adopted the shocking phrase, "Here died in the faith of Adolf Hitler." There were actual cases of country people prostrating themselves as the fuhrer passed.

There is some question whether Hitler at the outset regarded himself as a messiah, although he did believe that he was divinely ordained to carry out his program. However, he encouraged the belief in his own divinity, and his captains spread this revolting creed. Ultimately, he probably came to believe that he was indeed the messiah.

What's the moral of this attempt to spread the idea that the arch-criminal was divine? One doesn't have to go far to find it. There is grave danger in any re-

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR December 4, 1905

There is hope ahead for the shippers of Greenville who have felt the pressing need of adequate transportation facilities. In the face of the most selfish arrangements a railroad corporation could establish, business in Greenville and Greenville itself has grown admirably; now that our little city has attracted the attention of business concerns which will give us shipping facilities, which will enable us to maintain factories and wholesale enterprises profitably, it is a duty incumbent on the business men of Greenville to foster such investments even though it takes business from a gigantic and oppressive transportation company that provides for its own interest only. There is gratification in the thought that this town will not always be dependent upon one transportation company and think only of itself and utterly ignores the petitions for better facilities from the people who suffer by its selfishness.

Transfer Students Favor College Here

On the campus at East Carolina Teachers College this term are 55 transfer students who entered the Greenville school from twenty-four other schools throughout the South. The largest number came from the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina; others, from such schools as the University of North Carolina, the University of West Virginia, and Coker, Campbell Mars Hill, and Meredith colleges.

The "Techo Echo," student newspaper, in a recent poll of transfer students reported in the November 30 issue, found the chief reasons for the transfers' choosing East Carolina Teachers College to be that the school offers the advantage of a small college, stresses practical subjects and trains students for specific work. It is less expensive than many other colleges, and is located near the homes of many of the students.

TWO DAYS OFF AT CHRISTMAS

Yuletide Spirit Prevails Now; Early Shopping Begins

By CHESTER WALSH
Rambling in and out of stores in Greenville yesterday gave a reporter the impression that it is not necessary to urge the public to "shop early" for Christmas things this year. A scarcity of merchandise in the stores has wised up buyers to get busy now before shelves are empty. Shipments of merchandise suitable for Santa Claus or Christmas gifts is going to the retail stores in limited quantity and the "wanted things" are bought as soon as they are placed on sale. Stores are attractively decorated for Christmas and shopping is getting into full swing, with Christmas Day only three weeks off.

Only two suggestions as to what to give for Christmas this year are necessary: a philosophic individual said: "Give a Victory Bond for Christmas or a pound of bacon (if you can find the bacon)."

The retail stores will begin to remain open nights until 9 o'clock for Christmas shopping on Wednesday, December 19, until Christmas Eve, for the benefit of shoppers who can't do their buying during the day, the Merchants Association has announced.

Christmas Day (Tuesday) and the next day (Wednesday) will be observed as holidays. The stores will be open as usual on Christmas Eve. The arrival of Santa Claus here last Friday to open the Christmas shopping season started the Christmas spirit to circulating. The Red Cross is conducting a drive to secure simple Christmas gifts to be sent to wounded or ill servicemen at military hospitals in this area, with Mrs. K. B. Pace heading the committee.

The Salvation Army will shortly begin its picturesque drive on the downtown streets to provide Christmas cheer for deserving families and individuals.

The civic clubs—Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions in Greenville, Farmville and Ayden and the Ruritanians at Winterville are planning to make Christmas happy for worthy persons.

Churches and Sunday schools will carry out their usual Christmas activities.

It was pointed out today by a banker that Pitt County has this year enjoyed one of the most prosperous in its history. Farmers have prospered on their tobacco and other crops and business places have been selling merchandise as fast as they received it. There is prac-cially no unemployment here (except by choice) and salary and wage earners have prospered. Numerous business concerns here which have had a prosperous year are planning to give employees cash bonuses. A Christmas custom that went partly on the shelf after the war started.

In the midst of prosperity it is appropriate at the Christmas season that all look about them for opportunities to gladden someone's Christmas by essaying the role of Santa Claus.

This is the first Christmas since 1940 that this country has not been at war. Present indications are that Tuesday, December 25, 1945, will be the best Christmas the people of this section have ever experienced. Give a Victory Bond for Christmas.

Eye Clinics Being Held This County

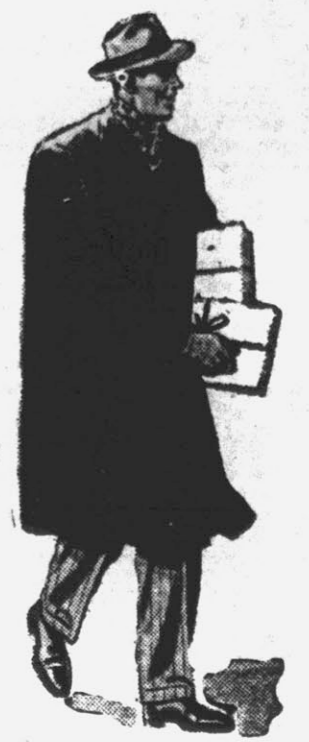

Forty-two children and eleven adults were examined at an eye clinic held in Greenville on November 30th under the auspices of the State Commission for the Blind, Pitt County Welfare Department, Pitt County Association for the Blind and the Ayden and Greenville Lions Clubs. The clinic was conducted by Dr. Alan Davidson of Duke Hospital.

During the past few weeks the Pitt County Association for the Blind has sponsored a county-wide school program for sight conservation. Two medical-social workers from the State Commission for the Blind have gone into the schools and have screened those children with vision 20-40 or less after preliminary screening had been done by the teachers in the various schools. According to the medical workers' report, four hundred and thirty-eight children were found with defective vision, said Frank M. Brown, president of the Pitt County Association for the Blind, today. Parents are being given the medical workers' report on their children's eyes. Those who are able to do so are paying for their children's examinations. Those unable to pay for the medical eye care are being assisted in arranging for examination and treatment.

HEROES ON THE ROAD TO VICTORY—

Lt. John Mitchell led a group of his men in a bold surprise dash across the Remagen Rhine bridge, unhooked wires set to explode within a few minutes and saved the bridge so that full armored forces marched across.

The courage and initiative of these men will help them to quickly fit back into civilian life. Our cooperation is a "Must."

Inciting Natives In Eastern Java

Batavia, Java, Dec. 4 — (AP) — Sunan Sjahrir, prime minister of the unrecognized Indonesian republic, announced today his government was attempting to control what he described as "extremist groups" in eastern Java, who he said were violently inciting the natives. He also said that he had sent two representatives to stormy Bandung, Java's summer capital, in another effort to deal with extremist groups. He repeated that the Indonesian republic would insist upon freedom and said he had noted signs that Netherlands government representatives might afford some recognition of Indonesian demands. A British official press statement said an Indonesian group in Bandung had locked 14 persons in a house and then fired the building, burning all 14 to death.

Legislation . . .

employment (including self employment), to attain and maintain a high level of employment (including self employment), production and purchasing power.

Under the bill, it would be the government's policy to plan and adopt a program of "sound public works consistent with a financially sound fiscal policy" to aid in maintaining employment.

The original administration-backed measure by Rep. Patman (D-Tex) would have "assured" all able-bodied Americans wanting jobs the opportunity to have them. This phrasing was rejected by the committee.

Under the substitute a three-member council of economic advisers would be set up under the President.

This council would make recommendations to the President regarding ways to maintain "high levels of employment" and the President in turn would make recommendations to Congress.

The President would be required to submit his recommendations within 60 days after the start of each regular congressional session, beginning in 1947.

Also created would be a joint congressional committee which would study the President's message and make recommendations to the House and Senate regarding legislation.

Committee members told newsmen approval of the bill was by a vote of "about 13 to 7."

to gloss over the situation by pulling out a war responsibility resolution.

The newspaper Yomiuri said editorially:

"Diet members in general appeared to have given a sigh of relief when they ascertained for themselves that names were not listed. The members could not conceal the unpleasantness in their minds, although they previously pretended to be indifferent regarding Diet members' responsibility for the war."

Matsutaro Thoriki, president of the newspaper Yomiuri, blamed his inclusion on the list to dissident employees he said had given false reports to MacArthur's headquarters.

Storiki asserted militarist dictation to newspapers, beginning 10 years ago, had brought Japan to her present circumstances. "If there had been freedom of the press there wouldn't have been any war," he said.

Employees of the newspaper have demanded that Storiki resign and accept war responsibility. Today the paper said "the present arrest demand certainly represents an advance for Japan's democratizing bloodless revolution. The present list includes among those to be arrested gendarmerie leaders who secretly wielded strong power for suppression of speech and leaders in press circles."

Adm. Sankichi Tawahashi, once commander in chief of the combined Japanese fleet, expressed no surprise at the order for his arrest and, the newspaper Asahi said, asserted: "I am one of the persons responsible for the war."
