Leaders Have No Hope For Plans

Congressional Leaders Abandon Hope Today Of Granting President Truman's Request For A Strike-Prevention Law Before Christmas

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Congressional leaders abandoned hope today of granting President Truman's request for a strike-prevention law before Christmas.

Their pessimism, voiced privately, grew out of yesterday's House action in refusing to consider a union-curbing bill which backers of the President's proposal had hoped to use as a club over the House Labor Committee.

The Labor Committee, with strong pro-union membership, has been considering Mr. Truman's 9-day-old request for legislation calling for fact-finding boards to handle major labor disputes and forbidding strikes while the boards were functioning.

The committee resumed hearings today with spokesmen for the American Federation of Labor and the National Manufacturers Association scheduled as witnesses. The Senate Labor Committee also began hearings on the measure with Secretary of Labor Schwelbensch called to testify first.

Organized labor is solidly opposed to the President's proposal, and labor's friends on the House Committee already have blocked a move to speed action there by refusing to agree to limit the number of witnesses.

The action of the House yesterday removes a blackjack which labor's foes have been holding over the Labor Committee's head in an effort to get it to act quickly. Rep. Marcantonio (Amn Lab-NY) told reporters.

Marcantonio and other opponents of Mr. Truman's proposal expressed confidence that they would be able to tie up the measure in the Labor Committee at least until after the Christmas recess scheduled to start the end of next week.

The legislative "blackjack" to which Marcantonio referred was a bill written by the House Military Committee to penalize unions striking in violation of contracts and to curb political activity by labor organizations. The measure also would repeal the strike vote provision of the Smith-Connally War Labor Disputes Act.

The House refused at a stormy session yesterday even to consider the Military Committee's bill, but its backers said they might renew the fight again next week if the Labor Committee fails to act.

The House action, by a roll-call vote of 200 to 182, was a distinct victory for foes of the President's proposal, since the Military Committee could have forced a quick vote on the White House program by offering it as an amendment to its own measure.

Little Girl Loses An Eye In Accident

Margaret Padgett, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Padgett, 191 Summit street, underwent an operation for removal of an eye at Pitt General Hospital this morning.

She and Tommy Jordan, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Jordan, 16 Summit street, were playing near their home Saturday morning when the little boy threw a stick that struck the girl in an eye, severely injuring it. Surgeons at the hospital made every effort to save the eye, but removal was necessary. The injury was entirely accidental.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The House has voted to consider the Hobbs bill today. The American Federation of Labor looks upon the bill as poison.

It was offered by Rep. Hobbs, Alabama Democrat, almost a year ago. Congress is just now getting around to it.

Briefly, the bill would make it a felony, punishable by 20 years in jail and a $10,000 fine, for anyone who:

"In any way or degree obstructs, delays, or affects commerce, in the movements of any article or commodity in commerce, by robbery or extortion."

ATL President William Green told Congressmen last week the bill is dangerous and definitely anti-labor. Under its language, said Green, a union leader could be found guilty of trying to extort money if he told a non-union worker that he would strike unless it got a pay raise.

The bill itself says the word "extortion" means:

by wrongful use of actual or threatened force, violence, or fear or under color of official right."

No definition of the word "fear" is given. It would be interesting to see what a federal court's interpretation of "fear" would be if this measure became law and a test were made of it.

Would a court rule that an employer—through fear of a threatened strike—had granted a union a pay raise and that therefore the union was guilty of extortion?

But the bill may never become law, even if it passes the House. The Senate still has to act on it. Right now the mood for curbing labor is stronger in the House than in the Senate.

A couple of years ago, during the 78th Congress, the House passed a similar bill offered by Hobbs. But it went over to the Senate which never acted on it. The measure died for want of action when the 78th Congress passed in 1934. That law was pushed through to prevent racketeering that affected interstate commerce.

CONDITION OF PATTON GRAVE

Official Bulletin Announces General's Condition Grave

Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 12—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., whose neck was broken in an automobile accident Sunday, spent a good night but his condition remains grave, an official bulletin said today.

An earlier announcement said the colorful U. S. general was fully conscious, rational and taking nourishment, and that he showed normally active tendon reflexes.

Nurses attending Patton described him as one of their best patients and said he was accepting his paralyzed condition like a true soldier. One of the nurses, Lt. Bertha Hohl of Grayle, Minn., said his sleeping was confused but he is rational when awake.

"He doesn't swear like I have heard he does," she said. "He tells me not to worry about him and go away, but I have to be there because he never wants to eat or drink. He says he will not unless he gets a shot of whiskey."

Doctors reported however, that there were no signs of improvement in the paralytic condition today.

The text of the noon bulletin: Temperature 100. Pulse 60-64. Respiration 16-22. "Spent a good night, slept well and is comfortable, taking nourishment. He has been cheered by the arrival of Mrs. Patton."

President Names Fact-Find Board

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—President Truman today stepped into the General Motors labor dispute with the appointment of a fact-finding board headed by Judge Walter P. Stacy.

Stacy, chairman of the recent Labor-Management Conference, will serve with Lloyd K. Garrison, chairman of the War Labor Board, and Milton Eisenhower, president of Kansas State College.

At the same time Mr. Truman said he soon would appoint a similar board for the steel industry. The CIO-United Steel Workers, rejecting his appeal to continue at work, has set January 14 for starting a general strike in the steel mills.

Under questioning at his news conference, Mr. Truman indicated that he did not take seriously some claims by organized labor that the fact-finding procedure might result in long delays on union pleas for increases.

He said it was specifically stated in his recent proposals to end strikes that the period of fact-finding itself would be limited to 20 days. Five days prior to the board's inquiry and five days after its conclusion, strikes would be prohibited under legislation the President has asked Congress to enact.

War Memorial

At a recent meeting of representatives of local civic organizations regarding a suitable living memorial for Pitt County's war veterans, it was decided to invite citizens to contribute ideas and suggestions for such a memorial.

In order to aid the movement The Reflector has opened its columns for the publication of these suggestions. All interested citizens are invited to write their suggestions in a concrete and constructive manner and limit their comments to about 300 words. Germany Is Able To Get On Living Base

Beaten Germany May Be Back On Its Own Economic Feet And Raise Living Standard Two Years Hence

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Beaten Germany, if this country has its way, will be back on its economic feet two years hence, able to pay its own way and to raise the living standards of its people.

This is the long-range objective of American policy toward the Reich as laid down by the State Department. It comprises a middle-ground between "hard" and "soft" peace proposals.

To carry it out, however, the United States and the other Allies will have to provide funds—perhaps hundreds of millions—to permit Germany to import her necessities over the next two years.

The State Department made public the U. S. policy by releasing the text of a statement prepared at the request of the War Department for guidance of American occupation authorities.

The statement, which also was sent to the governments of Russia, Britain and France, constituted the first detailed interpretation by any power of the general policy for Germany produced at the Potsdam Big Three meeting in August.

American officials said that the American plan was based on the assumption that Germany would retain its present boundaries, including the industrial Ruhr and Rhineland areas.

This assured opposition from France, which has insisted that those two zones be stripped from Germany.

In a supplementary statement on the policy declaration, Secretary of State Byrnes said three stages would be involved in Germany's return to "normal." In the first of these lasting until sometime next spring, Byrnes listed four Allied aims.

1. To prevent mass starvation in Germany—when necessary, by increased imports from the United States.

2. To increase "to the greatest possible extent" the exports of German coal to countries formerly overrun by Germany.

3. To complete the four-power reparations agreement by February 2, 1946 and start the machinery for carrying it out.

4. To establish German administrative agencies in finance, transport, communications, foreign trade and industry.

In the second period, lasting from the spring of 1946 to February 2, 1948, a gradual Germany recovery is envisaged.

As plants are removed for reparations, others will be earmarked for permanent retention by the Germans; German industry will revive.

In the third period, Byrnes said, Germans will assume control over their own economy subject to "residual limitations" imposed by the Allies; German industry will be stepped up to provide a living standard equivalent to that of the rest of Europe.

Today In Congress

By Max Hall

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Senate-House investigators heard today a Navy officer forecast and told Secretary of the Navy Knox that Tokyo's last pre-war message to its diplomats in Washington meant a sunrise attack on Pearl Harbor.

The information came from a previously secret portion of an Army inquiry board's report.

It showed that Maj. Gen. Myron C. Cramer sent a memorandum to Secretary of War Stimson on Nov. 25, 1944, saying that Capt. L. F. Sanford of the Navy Communications Security Division had told the board the officer was Capt. Alvin D. Kramer of Naval Intelligence.

Gen. Cramer, the Army judge advocate general, said Sanford testified Capt. Kramer "told him in 1943 that when he (Kramer) submitted S.I.S. 25850, the message to the Japanese reply at 1 p. m. to Secretary Knox, he sent a note along with it saying in effect that, 'This is a sunrise attack on Pearl Harbor today and possibly a midnight attack on Manila.'"

Gen. George C. Marshall, the former chief of staff, was recalled for his sixth day of testimony before the Pearl Harbor group.

Rep. Keefe (R-Wis.) said he planned to ask the general just where, in his opinion, most of the blame lay for the defeat inflicted by the Japanese on defenders of the Pacific fortress.

Elsewhere in the capital, Congressional leaders said prospects were increasingly dim that President Truman's strike prevention bill could be enacted before the Christmas recess.

Hearings were called by labor committees of both House and Senate on measures to carry out Mr. Truman's request for power to appoint fact-finding boards in labor disputes, with strikes barred for 30 days while they worked.

However, opponents were confident there would be no quick action. They pointed to the 200 to 182 vote yesterday by which the House declined to consider a House Military Committee bill which would have penalized unions striking in violation of contracts. They said this showed most Congress members wanted to go slow on labor legislation now.

A House-originated proposal to compromise the armed forces merger controversy by creating an independent air force received a cool reception from two influential senators.

Senator Hill (D-Ala.), the Democratic Whip, and Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) of the Military Committee, told newsmen they still think coordination of Army, Navy and Air Force is a national defense essential.

Russia Assumes Responsibility

Chungking, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Chinese Central Daily News reported from Peiping today that Russians have agreed to assume responsibility for clearing non-national troops in Manchuria. Most observers here considered such an eventuality most unlikely. Russians have, however, agreed to help Chinese Government forces move into key Manchurian cities.

Resident Controls Asked By President

President Truman Asks Price Control On Residential Property And Directs Reinstatement Of Building Material Priority

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—President Truman today asked that dwellings be placed under price control and directed reinstatement of the priority system on building materials.

His actions contemplated special preference to veterans in need of housing.

At the same time, Mr. Truman announced appointment of Wilson W. Wyatt, former mayor of Louisville, as special housing coordinator under the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

The President's action was taken in approving a recommendation by Reconversion Director John W. Snyder.

The program calls for ceiling prices "on old and new housing." Mr. Truman said the Office of Price Administration "is not placing local dollar and cents ceiling on the construction materials themselves and many services."

The three-point program calls for:

1. Speedy release of government owned surplus housing units and building materials for use in housing veterans and their families.

2. Regulation, now being prepared for release before the middle of the month, establishing priorities on building materials.

The President said this regulation would establish priorities for multiple dwelling housing units costing $10,000 or less per unit. He said this would mean "about 50 per cent of all building materials will be channeled into the type of housing with the balance available for commercial, industrial, higher-priced dwelling and for other construction, public or private. He said he was acting under the second War Power Act.

3. Ceiling prices on old and new housing, a field in which he said sharp prices had brought a threat menacing in our economy.

"We are using all the powers that have been granted the administration to combat it," he added.

The President, adopting Snyder's recommendations as those of the administration, quoted Snyder as saying that credit agencies of the government "are working out ways to curb unending practices."

The program would involve varying ceilings in different parts of the country depending upon local conditions.

The President endorsed legislation now before the House Banking and Currency Committee providing authority for ceiling prices on the sale of old and new housing. He said such authority is essential "if we are to avert further sky-rocketing of home prices."

Byrnes' plane roared away from Washington airport at 9:20 a. m.

General Dwight Eisenhower, army chief of staff, surprised the secretary by showing up unexpectedly to tell him goodbye.

"I just thought I'd come out to say goodbye to the secretary and wish him luck," Eisenhower said.

Byrnes told Eisenhower that he would remember him to Generalissimo Stalin.

The flight schedule calls for getting Byrnes to the Russian capital in time for his first meeting Saturday with Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Among these issues are atomic energy and an eventual European peace conference.

ANNUAL MEET HELD KINSTON

Eastern Carolina Council of Boy Scouts On March

By H. B. Mayo

Presentation of Silver Beaver awards to four Scouters of the East Carolina Council, Boy Scouts of America, were made Monday night by Frank P. Meadows, Scout Commissioner, at the annual meeting of the Council held at the Kinston Hotel in Kinston.

The awards, presented for outstanding service to boyhood, made to N. M. Schaum of Wilson, president of the Council, J. W. E. Jovner of Rocky Mount, newly elected chairman of the Rocky Mount District, C. D. Like of Roanoke Rapids, past chairman of the Halifax District and a member of the Executive Board, and to Dr. E. F. Melius of New Bern, vice-president of the Council.

W. A. Dobson, regional scout executive of Region Six, which consists of 36 Boy Scout councils in North and South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida, was the principal speaker.

He praised the council on their accomplishments during the past year and challenged them to extend their program to an even greater number of boys during the new year.

More than 200 Scouters and friends of Scouting met from all 20 counties of the council, including Washington, Tyrrell, Beaufort, Carteret, Hyde, Lenoir, Greene, Craven, Jones, Onslow, Pamlico, Edgecombe, Pitt, Martin, Halifax, Northampton, Hertford, Bertie, Nash, and Wilson. There are 15 districts of the Council.

Spokesman For CIO-United Steelworkers Of America Plans For Expected Strike Were Being Made At Meeting Of Executive Board Today

Pittsburgh, Dec. 12 (AP)—A spokesman for the CIO-United Steelworkers of America said detailed plans for the scheduled January 13 strike of 700,000 steel, aluminum and iron workers were being made at a meeting of the USW Executive Board today.

Strike captains were being appointed and other procedure of the union's proposed walkout in support of its $2 a day wage demand was being worked out, the spokesman said.

At a press conference Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the United Steelworkers, flatly denied assertions of the American Iron and Steel Institute that there would be no strike if the CIO abides by its pledged word, given only last spring.

Murray declared the strike in no way violates the contract which the Steelworkers signed with the steel companies "in either their legal or their moral aspects." He said a formal statement would be issued setting forth fully the union's position on this point.

The strike date was set yesterday by the USW's 175-man Wage Policy Committee, under the authorization of a 5 to 1 vote taken by some 650,000 steelworkers two weeks ago. The NLRB at Washington announced a total of 500,434 ballots were cast in the steelworkers' strike poll, with 411,401 for and 83,650 against.

Further balloting under National Labor Relations Board supervision, affecting about 50,000 more steelworkers, will be completed by December 21, the NLRB said.

Apparently only government intervention or the resumption of negotiations between the company and the union could avert the approaching strike.

Murray left the gate open for further talks with the company when he called the union's $2 a day wage demand "a negotiable proposition" and added:

"We are prepared to negotiate about it."

In its resolution calling the strike the union declared the industry is "embarked upon a campaign to renew the 'union wrecking plan' of the 1920s, which effectively destroyed the newly developed labor union organization of that era."

The resolution asserted many of the steel companies "have already threatened the union that if the steelworkers exercise their legal right and strike—the collective bargaining agreements will be canceled."

The union also condemned President Truman's proposed legislation for ending strikes as "viciously anti-labor and an attack upon our basic democratic liberties."

The American Iron and Steel Institute said a nationwide strike in the steel industry would involve more than 40 per cent of the nation's workers through its effect on related industries.

"Shutdown of the steel industry would be a disastrous blow to reconversion," said the institute statement, and added:

"A strike in the face of existing contracts would shatter any confidence in the validity of union agreements in the steel industry."

Steel company customers, trying to avoid insofar as possible the effects of a strike, if one should materialize, have been busy in preparing for it. Mill schedules have been heavy, in line with expected or unfilled orders for consumer goods.

Warren-Turnage
The marriage of Miss Katharine Turnage of Ayden and Burney S. Warren, Jr. of Greenville, N. C., was solemnized in the Methodist Church at Ayden at 4 p. m. Wednesday afternoon on December 5. The marriage, attended by a large number of friends and relatives, united two prominent North Carolina families. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Robert W. Bradshaw of Greenville, N. C.

Ferns were arranged as a chancel background for the large floor basket of white chrysanthemums and the tall standards of white candles. As the guests assembled, Mrs. Pauline Taylor, as organist, played in fuchsia tulle and wearing a corsage of Talsman roses, rendered a program of nuptial music. Miss Janice Turnage, sister of the bride, dressed in broad blue tulle and wearing a corsage of Better Times roses, sang in her sweet manner "The Rose and the Yew Tree" and "The End of the Line." The traditional wedding vows were used and "To a Wild Rose" was softly played during the ceremony.

James Herndon Warren attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were John Collins, Jr., Richard S. H. Travis Flanagan, Larry James, Jr. of Greenville, Fuller Dillard of Danville, Va., and Lloyd Turnage, Jr., brother of the bride of Ayden.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Jack Laid and Miss Alice Jean Johnson of Ayden, Miss Nancy Rose of Fremont, N. C., Miss Jean Harrington and Mrs. John Collins, Jr. of Greenville, and Miss Jodie Brown of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Lois Veasey, whom Miss Turnage chose as her Dame of Honor, preceded the bride to the altar. Master William H. Collier, Jr. of Hilton Village, Virginia, acted as ring bearer and carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

The Dame of Honor and the bridesmaids wore formal blue blue suede jersey with matching crowns and shoulder length veils. Their flowers were formal bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums, interspersed with Talsman roses.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. Lloyd E. Turnage, who gave her in marriage. She was indeed lovely in her wedding dress of exquisite mellowed ivory satin, trimmed in intricate design of seed pearls around the neck, tight fitted bodice with peplum edged with seed pearls and tight fitting sleeves that ended in points at the wrist. Her full skirt of satin fell in soft folds terminating into a graceful train. Her veil of illusion worn waist length and draped to a crown of satin and seed pearls was most becoming. Her wedding bouquet was a shower of orchids.

The bride's mother was becomingly attired in wine crepe with matching accessories and wore an orchid.

The groom's mother was handsomely dressed in black crepe trimmed in sequins with black accessories and an orchid.

Mrs. Warren is the beautiful and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Turnage of Ayden. She received her education in Ayden City Schools, Greensboro College and Tob-Coburns School of Fashion in New York. For the past year she has been assistant buyer of junior sports wear at Thalheimer's in Richmond. Her absolute sincerity has won for her a host of friends.

Mr. Warren is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Warren of Greenville, N. C. He is a graduate of Greenville High School and has recently received his B. S. degree from the University of North Carolina.

He is a member of the S. A. E. fraternity. He is a young man of sterling worth and splendid business ability.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren left for New York and other northern cities on their honeymoon. After December 15 they will be at home in Greenville, where Mr. Warren is in the drug business with his father. For travelling, Mrs. Warren chose an exquisite model of white wool with brown lizard accessories and wore an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Turnage entertained informally at their home the Warren-Turnage wedding party relatives and out-of-town guests immediately following the ceremony. The Turnage home was never lovelier than for this occasion. The entire lower floor had been tastefully decorated with roses, carnations, ferns and the soft glow from many candles made a picturesque setting for the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. Ormond welcomed the guests and introduced them to the receiving line. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Turnage in the drawing room were Mr. and Mrs. B. S. C. B. West left today for Wilmington.

The winds howl like the old year is dying.

Miss Sallie Cotten went to Raleigh Sunday.

The new passenger train inaugurated by the Atlantic Coast Line to run between Tarboro and Kinston made its initial trip today, reaching Greenville exactly on time. Quite a number of people were at the depot to meet it and much delight was expressed over the additional service for this road.

Entertains Contract Club

Grifton, Dec. 12—Mrs. Carey Garrison entertained members of her contract club on a recent evening at her home here. Decorations were of the approaching Christmas season motif. Following progressions high scores were held by Mrs. Ned McGlothin Jr., Mrs. Roy Jackson and Mrs. Jack Chapman. Other players were Mrs. Clay Burney, Mrs. Milton Hart, Mrs. Wiley Gaskins, Mrs. Edward Hart, Mrs. Walter Patrick and Miss Margaret Jackson. Mrs. Garrison served a sweet course.

"Little Women" in Real Life
Louisa M. Alcott's play "Little Women" will be presented at Grimesland High School December 14, at 7:30 p. m. It is to be presented by the eleventh grade.

This is the play you have been waiting to see. It is the story of Mr. and Mrs. March and their daughters, the "Little Women," Meg, Amy, Beth and Jo. Even though they may have their trials and troubles they prove to be a very happy family.

Just who will marry the boy next door? Who is the Lawrence boy's tutor? Is Aunt March as crabbed as she seems? Is the baby a boy or girl? What happens to the "Little Women?" All of these questions will be answered and many other things will be dramatized in a very interesting way.

A two and one-half hour play running over with excitement, romance, laughter and tragedy. The play "Little Women" has been a favorite for many years, so don't miss it! It is under the direction of Miss Omia Bliss Lewis and Miss Mildred Horne.

"Story of Christmas Seal"
"The Story of the Christmas Seal" is the title of the radio program which will be presented over WOTC on Thursday, December 13 at 5:15. This program is sponsored by the N. C. Congress of Parents and Teachers and will be presented by Mr. George W. Davis, president of the Farmville P. T. A., and his son Cedric.

The program is especially appropriate at this time when everyone is urged to buy and use T. B. Christmas seals.

If you want to learn the origin of the Christmas seal, listen to this father and son discussion Thursday at 5:15 p. m.

Santa and the White Bunny

BY LUCRECE HUDGINS

Chapter 8
David Talks With Santa

David was wild with excitement when he saw Santa Claus standing in the hill with the dwarfs.

"See!" cried Blue Boy. "You are a luck. Santa has only just dropped in for a visit to find what we wanted in our stockings on Christmas day."

"Come," said Jack Horner. "I will help you up the hill."

Together they climbed the bank. Behind them came Mother Goose and Old King Cole and Jack the Giant Killer and Little Miss Muffet and all the other folk. And as they climbed they sang the gayest songs!

"If only Mary were all right," thought David. "What a fine time she would have."

At last they reached the top where Santa was joking with the dwarfs. Oh, he looked so happy and so sure of himself that David's head suddenly lifted for, he thought, surely there is nothing Santa cannot do.

Who is the fair-haired boy? asked Santa as David found himself standing before him.

The boy swallowed hard but for a moment he was speechless. So Mother Goose got down from her goose and whispered in Santa's ear. Then Santa stopped smiling. He reached forward and took the boy's hand. "Tell me about it, David," he said kindly.

Then David told him how he had run away from home and with red cheeks, repeated the terrible things he had said about Santa himself. Then he told how he and Mary had eaten the gigmy's lunch and how the gigmy had turned Mary into a white bunny.

"And," he finished, "Unless the spell is broken by Christmas day, she will be turned into a white hippopotamus and remain a hippopotamus forevermore."

All the fairy folk shuddered and looked sorrowfully at the boy and his bunny.

"I hate hippopotamuses," said not do.

King Cole turned to Santa and said, "Can you break the spell?"

Santa just stood there thinking hard.

"Of course," he said finally, softly, as if talking to himself. "It is only two weeks till Christmas and I should be back in Santa Land working. Mrs. Claus will be worried too." And he thought some more.

You could fairly hear his brain ticking and David was ready to weep and all the folk were sad and silent. Then Santa said, "We will see what we can do."

Everyone cheered and David laughed with joy. He tucked the bunny under one arm and took Santa's hand. They went into the woods and there, large as a house and tied down to four trees was a mass of what seemed to be both cotton and whipped cream.

"W-what is it?" stammered David as Santa led him into the very midst of it.

"A cloud," said Santa smiling. "Sit down now while I untie the ropes and we'll sail away."

"Where are we going?" asked David who would have been quite frightened had not Santa been there.

"We are going to the gigmy castle," said Santa.

Then he set free the cloud and it rose from the woods while all the folk below waved and cheered and sang.

(Tomorrow: The Gigmy Castle.)

Simple Simon bluntly. (You can easily see why he was called 'simple'. "Oh, she is such a pretty thing," cried Bo Peep, patting the bunny's head.

Triple Wedding At Winterville

By CHESTER WALSH

The Rev. Walter Nobles, Free Will Baptist minister, officiated at a triple wedding in Winterville on December 6, when he united in matrimony three couples, all of the groom being first cousins, and one of the brides being a first cousin of the three grooms. This was the first triple wedding ceremony performed in the enterprising Pitt County town. The three couples spent their honeymoon at Elizabeth City. They are:

John G. Harris, Jr., and Miss Doris R. Mizelle. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Harris, Jr., of Winterville; the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mizelle of Winterville.

Pic. George W. Harris, Jr., and Miss Effie Lucille Rouse. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Harris of Winterville; the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rouse of Greenville.

Randolph Harris and Mrs. Almeta Vincent. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thad Harris of Winterville; the bride is the daughter of Mrs. Roxie Stocks and the late Mr. Stocks of Winterville. Her husband was killed in battle in Europe.

Bridge Shower

Grifton, Dec. 12 — Beautiful in every detail was the bridge shower given for Miss Margaret Jackson, bride-elect on Monday night at the community building, when Mrs. L. D. McCotter, Mrs. Walter Patrick and Mrs. Robert McCotter received.

The spacious room was festive with holly and candle bedecked windows, mantels and brilliantly lighted Christmas tree. Other appointments were of the bridal motif. Bridge and Chinese checkers were played at eleven tables with high scores being held by Mrs. T. J. Williams, Miss Margaret Jackson and Mrs. Heber Wade. The honoree was presented with a lovely corsage of red roses and silver and china in her chosen patterns. Under the Christmas tree she found many beautiful gifts from the guests assembled.

The hostesses served a dainty ice course with salted nuts.

The guests were Miss Jackson, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Wade, Mrs. W. H. Gower, Mrs. Maggie Jackson, Mrs. Carelton Wade, Mrs. J. T. Biggers, Mrs. Ned McGlohon Jr., Mrs. Clarence Hart, Mrs. Ben G. Phantoms Defeat Wilson Cyclones

Greenies Open Basketball Season With 20-16 Victory

By DAVE CLARK
After being behind 10-9 at half-time, Coach Bob Farley's Green Phantoms bounced back to take a 20-16 win from the Class A Wilson Cyclones in a nerve wracking, defensive basketball game played in the A. C. college gymnasium last night.

The Greenies were definitely not up to par as they got off to a very slow start and allowed the Cycles to lead them through most of the first half, although there was never a difference of more than three points in the two teams' scores until the last of the game.

J. T. Williams starred offensively for the Phantoms by dropping in four field goals and two free throws to score 10 points, exactly half of the Phantoms total. Billy Harrington got six tallies to his credit and Mac Batchelor marked up four more to complete the Greenies scoring.

Tunney Brooks was the big gun for the Cyclones with 14 of his team's 16 points.

The game started slow and it was a few minutes before any score was made. Wilson drew first blood with a free throw, but Greenville bounced back to tie it up and go ahead a moment later. The rest of the game through the third quarter was a saw with Wilson holding a slight advantage by getting over half the rebounds from the backboards.

In the final period Greenville partly found itself and forced ahead by 6 points. The Wilson boys made one basket before the game ended to cut the score to 20-16.

The game was a typical Wilson-Greenville fray, close and hotly contested to the end.

The starting lineup for Greenville was Billy Harrington and Mac Batchelor at guards, Jimmy Putrell and Ed Williams at forwards and J. T. Williams at center.

Julian White was the only Greenville substitute.

The next Greenville game is here with Wilmington tomorrow night. The Wilmington quint is said to be a tall team and the Greenies are expecting trouble.

People In Europe Dying Starvation

The shortage of food in Europe, which had already reduced the personal rationing to the bare level of existence, is becoming more complicated every hour. With the consent of England and the United States, Russia is moving millions of people out of the areas which she has lately acquired. Those who have any form of conveyance are fortunate in that they can decide upon a particular locality. Many of the others just drift, not knowing where they will go or where they will stay. Others are packed into box cars and carried into other sections and distributed along the line without any consideration as to how they will find food or shelter. The population of every town is already overtaxed to the limit for shelter, due to the destruction of homes from the bombings. The influx of strangers has set up a new problem as to where these people are to stay, and where they will get food to prevent their dying from starvation. This is one of the phases of the need for food that the present drive under way in the city hopes to relieve. Every effort is being made to get every citizen to make some contribution and to rush this food as quickly as possible to the distrib-

ing centers. Foods for children are needed badly. Suggestions are: evaporated milk, condensed milk, powdered milk, milk formula, chocolate milk powders, cocoa, strained and chopped fruits and vegetables; also all types of canned foods for adults. Leave your contribution at any of these stores: P & T Cash Grocery, Independent Market, Honeycutt's Market, Five Point's Food Market, Charles Rumley's Grocery, W. E. Warren Grocery Co., A & S Grocery, Pender's, A & P on Evans, Garri's Grocery Co., J. P. Cayton & Son, Nicholls' Market, and A & P on Dickinson.

"Bat" would fly to its quarry, even if it were a specific ship in a convoy. Why We Buy Bonds. We buy Victory Bonds to replace and treat the arms and legs of the men and women who won the war for us. We want to speed the recovery of these arms and legs so that the men and women can get back to their jobs. Buy bonds to bring them back. They have done their share, now let's do ours. Strikes Back At Plan Criticism

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Urgent General Thomas Parran struck back at medical profession criticism of President Truman's proposal for compulsory health insurance.

If an effective plan is to be worked out, Parran said in a prepared address, the medical profession "should begin to explore the problem collectively and come forward with solutions, not rejections."

The surgeon general, a physician himself, discussed the President's proposed national health program before the U. S. Conference of Mayors. Compulsory health insurance is one of the program's five points. Parran observed that physicians had taken the lead in planning for nation-wide construction of hospitals and asserted they "must do likewise" in planning for services under the insurance plan.

Many Killed On Streets And Roads

Raleigh, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Seventy-seven persons were killed and 348 injured on North Carolina streets and highways during October, compared with 61 killed and 332 injured in October, 1944, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles T. Boddie Ward said today.

These figures show an increase of over 26 per cent in fatalities, he said, compared with the national increase of 53 per cent.

Fatal accidents by types were: Motor vehicle with motor vehicle, 27; motor vehicle ran off roadway, 22; motor vehicle and pedestrians, 16; motor vehicle and train, 3; motor vehicle overturned on roadway, 3; other non-collision, 3; motor vehicle with fixed object, 2; motor vehicle and bicycle, 1.

During the first 10 months of 1945, 5,714 accidents have been reported with 564 persons killed and 3,312 injured, Ward said. During the same period last year, 4,876 accidents were reported with 512 persons killed and 2,780 injured.

Commenting on the report, Commissioner Ward said: "So long as motorists continue to drive carelessly and recklessly with a total disregard to the safety of themselves and others—the tragic toll of human life will continue to be extracted."

Missile Called Bat Used Against Japs

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The Navy disclosed today that it used a deadly self-guided missile called "the Bat" against Japanese ships and land targets during the late stages of the Pacific war.

"The Bat," launched from a mother aircraft, steered itself to the target by means of radar. If the target dodged, "the Bat" changed course right along with it.

Rear Adm. George F. Hussey, Jr., chief of the Navy Bureau of Ordnance, said it was the first fully automatic guided missile ever used successfully in combat.

Already, he added, developments have made it obsolete. It is 12 feet long, has a 10 foot wing span and carries a heavy explosive charge. It travels at airplane speed and its range is great enough so that the mother craft can launch it while comfortably out of an aircraft gunnery range.

Naval Privateer patrol bombers were equipped to carry one "Bat" under each wing.

Hussey said the plane crew would identify the target visually, head the missile in the right direction and push a release button. "The

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.
