Truman's First "Fireside Chat"

Will Deal With Labor Situation And Review President's Legislative Program; Speech Is Intended To Stimulate Interest To The People

Washington, Jan. 3.—(AP)—President Truman's report to the nation by radio tonight will deal with the "whole labor situation," the White House said today. The President had practically finished the half hour talk, to start at 10 p. m. (EST) when he began receiving his first callers this morning. He saw no visitors yesterday after returning from a four-day river cruise. The speech has been described by party leaders as an overall report on the President's legislative proposals and an effort by the Chief Executive to stimulate interest by direct appeal to the people in the hope that this will be reflected in Congress, where his program has bogged down.

Asked at his news conference today whether the speech would emphasize current labor-management strife, press Secretary Charles G. Ross replied that the whole labor situation would be covered. He was asked if a speech of this type is normally cleared through the Democratic National Committee headquarters for suggestions. He replied: "This is the only speech of this type that he has delivered, and I should say no. There is no set procedure on any speech."

It was Mr. Truman's first resort to the "fireside chat" technique of his predecessor to attempt to focus public attention. One of his most recent proposals was a recommendation to place the force of law behind fact finding boards to permit them to weigh disputes affecting important nationwide industries. Both strikes and lockouts would be barred while the fact finding procedures were in operation.

Mr. Truman's championship of this and other legislation tonight may well figure prominently in the next summer's congressional campaigns. Some of the 30-minute speech will lay the frame work for Democratic election campaigns, especially in industrial states. With the CIO United Auto Workers out at General Motors plants the CIO United Steel Workers set to strike January 14 and other industrial strife looming large, attention was focused on the labor aspects of the address. Mr. Truman has said, however, that it will cover his over-all legislative program and the state of the Union.

Citrus Prices To Go Under New Ceilings

Washington, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Oranges, grapefruit and lemons go back under price ceilings tomorrow and OPA plans to take plenty of time before authorizing any future control suspensions.

A high official of the agency, asking that his name not be used, said that "because citrus prices rose like they did, we are going to be exceedingly careful about removing any more ceilings." The order restoring citrus ceilings, announced last night, was issued after a month of argument by OPA that the action should be taken few days by the Agriculture department, and contentions up to the last moment that it should not be.

ANTI-AMERICAN TREATY URGED

U. S. Proposes Concerted Military Action Against Aggressors

Washington, Jan. 3.—(AP)—All Latin American governments except Argentina today pondered a United States-proposed treaty that would provide for concerted military action to thwart or put down aggression anywhere in this hemisphere.

The document, made public by Latin American diplomats, will be considered at the forthcoming Rio De Janeiro conference scheduled for early spring. Diplomatic authorities consider this country's suggestion as a running mate to the recent Uruguayan proposal calling for collective action in this hemisphere against any nation which disregards its international obligations or denies human rights to its own people.

The United States treaty, these authorities say, would take care of the purely military side of aggression, while the Uruguayan proposal would deal with the political phases of conditions leading to war. The Uruguayan plan, however, has received a frigid Latin reception although the country pledged its unequivocal support.

The suggested military treaty is designed to continue in force the Act of Chapultepec, adopted at the Mexico City Inter-American conference last March. While calling for the peaceful settlement of disputes, the proposal provides for immediate assistance by the Americas in cases of armed attack either from within or without the hemisphere.

As soon as possible thereafter consultations would be held, to examine measures that may have already been taken in agreeing upon collective measures. A two-thirds vote would be necessary for agreement. The proposal, defining armed attack as "invasion of territory by the armed forces of any state," carefully avoids use of the word aggression which remains undefined under the United Nations charter. The treaty would, however, leave the UNO Security Council free to step in at any time under terms (Continued on Page Six)

Police Hunting Clue To Headless Corpse

San Bernardino, Calif., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Through brush covered canyons below fashionable Lake Arrowhead, scores of officers searched today for the head of a woman whose decapitated body, nude and handless, defied identification a day after its discovery.

It had been mutilated and stippled, coroner R. E. Williams reported, in what was undoubtedly an attempt to prevent identification. Death, he added, was caused by gunshot wounds, one in the left side, the other beneath the left arm, inflicted at close range by a .38 caliber pistol.

An examination disclosed, the coroner said, that the woman was about 30, probably brunette, with well cared for smooth skin. He estimated that she had been dead only about eight hours when found, and suggested that from the nature of the decapitation, was may have been done by someone with surgical knowledge.

STATE INCOME IS INCREASED

Commissioner Announces Revenue Increase Over Last Year

Raleigh, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Revenues flowing from all sources into the general and highway funds of North Carolina reached a total of $49,945,630.86 for the last six months of 1945. (The first half of the fiscal year), an increase of $6,694,997.01 or 15.47 per cent over the $43,250,633.85 collected during the comparable period of 1944. It was announced today by Revenue Commissioner Edwin Gill.

Directly reflecting the increased use of motor vehicles, following the lifting of restrictions on the consumption of gasoline, the largest gain was recorded in the highway fund, which showed an increase of $4,038,014.80, or 25.98 per cent. Boosted by gasoline road tax collections of $14,921,497.76, as compared with $12,526,800.91 the previous year, the highway fund soared to $19,578,133.52.

Meanwhile, in the general fund, the income and sales taxes showed the greatest increases as collections totaled $30,367,487.34, a jump of $2,556,982.21 or 9.58 per cent over the $27,710,515.13 during the last half of 1944.

Sales tax collections for this period were $12,183,898.35, as compared with $10,668,168.03. The income tax brought in $5,463,668.65, compared with $4,560,724.69.

Another big increase was recorded in the beverage tax, which went up from $2,552,700.25 to $3,317,453.37. The other major decline was in the insurance tax, which dropped from $1,182,999.98 to $28,198.17, and revenue officials explained this was accounted for by a change in the time for paying the tax.

During this period, the Department of Motor Vehicles collected $4,656,635.77 from the sale of auto licenses, driver's licenses, title fees and bus and franchise licenses. (Continued on Page Six)

MacArthur Reports On His Occupation Policy

Says Policy Is "To Use, Not Support, The Existing Government," Criticizes Present Korean Division

Washington, Jan. 3.—(AP)—General MacArthur contends that his policy of using the Japanese Government to execute his orders is paying off. The supreme commander makes the point in his first report on Japanese occupation, covering the initial two months after the landing last August 30. The report was released here by the War Department.

MacArthur said bluntly it is his policy "to use, not support, the existing government in Japan, and to permit and favor changes in the form of government initiated by the Japanese people or government in the direction of modifying its feudal and authoritarian tendencies." (On New Year's Day Emperor Hirohito issued a rescript renouncing the myth of his divinity.)

"The ties between us and our people have always stood upon mutual trust and affection," the rescript said. "They do not depend upon mere legends and myths. They are not predicated on the false conception that the emperor is a divine and that the Japanese people are superior to other races and fated to rule the world."

Military control has been imposed upon the government structure, but there has been minimum interference with the existing administration, the general wrote. He added:

"Not only has this policy attained the desired ends, but it has avoided the use of hundreds of thousands of personnel which would have been required had the basic structure of the Japanese government been reconstructed and replaced." MacArthur's report held out no high hope for an immediate trend to democracy in Japan because the people "have had no experience with it in any way" and the gov-

Traitor Dies On British Gallows

London, Jan. 3.—(AP)—William Joyce, notorious "Lord Haw Haw" of the German air waves, died a traitor's death this morning on the gallows of Wandsworth Prison. The 40-year-old American-born Joyce, who sold his voice to Adolf Hitler as a radio propagandist at the outset of the war, was executed shortly after 9 a. m. on high treason charges of which he was convicted by a British court last Sept. 19.

Only a small group of prison officials saw Joyce plunge through the trap. Under English law no spectators may witness an execution. Execution of the death sentence was announced in two typewritten sheets which were posted outside the prison gates shortly after the hanging. Prison officials said Joyce walked to the gallows from his death cell, his arms pinioned behind him with the broad black strap used in countless executions. The trap was sprung by I. Pierpoint, nephew of the famed hangman who executed John Amery, son of former cabinet minister.

Joyce's death under leaden skies in the stone-walled prison courtyard ended a fantastic career which led him from Fascist street fights in England to an infamous place as Hitler's Number One English language broadcaster. Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels paid Joyce $60 a week for his radio work, which consisted of four daily broadcasts.

Joyce, who came to England from America at the age of 15, became a follower of Sir Oswald Mosley while a student at London University and was a member of his British Fascist group until 1933, when the two parted amid rumors of a quarrel. Later Joyce organized a "National Socialist League" in Britain, which he headed until he departed for Germany in August, 1939.

Stark said he offered to have the navy transmit the message, but Marshall thought it would get through quickly by army facilities. The navy radio was much stronger than the army's.

"I did not parallel it," the admiral testified, "and that is the thought that I have had often since—if I had paralleled it, it might have gone through."

Rep. Clark (D-NC) asked Stark what he would have done if he had been in command of the fleet and had received the "war warning" message that went to Adm. Husband E. Kimmel on November 27, 1941. Kimmel, the committee was told, took no extra precautions and did not establish long range reconnaissance.

Four Big Industries Are Threatened By Stoppages

Gestapo Aide Tells Of Massacre Orders

Special Troops Were Assigned Duties Of Liquidating All Jews

By JAMES F. KING Nuernberg, Germany, Jan. 3.—(AP)—A former aide of Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler told the International Military tribunal today that special SS commandos were attached to the German army on the eastern front with orders to kill every Jew and Soviet political commissar in occupied Russian regions.

Major General Police Otto Ohlendorf, testifying in the trial of 24 Nazi leaders, declared that the 12th command of the German army had full knowledge of the commando order.

The 38-year-old witness, who had been in the SS since his teens, said his own Einsatzgruppe, operating with the German 11th army in the Ukraine, alone had liquidated 90,000 persons in the first year of the war with Russia.

Ohlendorf, who admitted giving orders himself for mass executions, testified that he conferred frequently with army commanders on the execution of Himmler's orders.

He said the victims included men, women and children and explained how they were wiped out en masse after being lined up on the pretext that they would be released.

Standing erect, Ohlendorf spoke through the microphone without hesitation, frequently turning his eyes toward the defendants sitting in the prisoners' box on the opposite side of the room.

Reichsmarschall Hermann Goerring sucked in his lips and shook his head slightly. Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl and Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel gave the witness stony looks, but showed no emotion.

Ohlendorf hedged when pressed for a direct statement as to whether the army commandos condoned the plan to liquidate Jews and Soviet political commissars, but declared without qualification:

"Since the liquidations took place in operations regions, the Einsatzgruppen would not have been able to function in the sense I described without army support."

Ohlendorf also testified to the vital position which Hilking Ernest Kaltenbrunner, former chief of the security police, held in the Nazi terror control over occupied Europe. Kaltenbrunner, one of the defendants, is recovering from a cranial hemorrhage and is being tried in (Continued on page four)

Discover Mother Abandoned Baby

By CHESTER WALSH Police Chief Jim Tanner yesterday said he and Washington police had located the mother of the week-old baby abandoned and found in a car in a parking lot in the business section of Greenville last Saturday afternoon. The infant was turned over to Pitt County Welfare Officer K. T. Futrelle, who placed it in the local hospital.

Greenville and Washington police and the Beaufort County sheriff's office located the mother, but asked that her name be withheld because she is a married woman, and her husband is serving a term in State Prison for abandoning her and non-support of their other child.

The mother, daughter of a prosperous farming couple in Beaufort County, frantic because she had another for her husband to support when he gets out of prison, left a Washington hospital with the week-old baby last Saturday in a taxicab, came to Greenville, placed the infant in a parked car, and left some of the baby's clothing in the taxicab.

"If there's to be any prosecution in the case, it will have to come from the welfare department," Chief Tanner said.

The mother's parents now have the baby.

Crowded Market Rockford, Ill., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Gene Archer, 69, reached into his pocket for his automobile keys and pulled out a billfold containing $411 which he didn't want. He also didn't know how the purse got into his pocket.

He gave the cash to police who decided the owner might have been standing next to Archer in the market and put his billfold into Archer's pocket instead of his own. They later learned the identity of the owner.

Million And A Half Workers Involved In Strikes Looming Across The Nation; Dates for Stoppages Set in Steel, Electrical And Telephone Industries

(By The Associated Press) A strike affecting 17,400 Western Electric Company employes in New York City and New Jersey began today, bringing a threat of a shutdown in national telephone service.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the Independent National Federation of Telephone Workers, said members of 48 unions in the federation had been asked to authorize a national sympathy strike. He said a work stoppage by the union's claimed membership of 260,000 paying members would affect some 450,000 Bell System employes.

The Western Electric strike and threat of a sympathy walkout were the latest of several fast-breaking developments on the labor front the last few days which threatened to boost the number of idle to more than a million and a half in the next few weeks.

The Western Electric strike got under way about the time the White House announced that President Truman would discuss the "whole labor situation" in a report to the nation tonight. The president's recommendations for dealing with labor disputes have been bogged down in Congress.

The Western Electric strike affected 21 plants in New York City and northern New Jersey. Henry Mayer, counsel for the Western Electric Employes Association, one of six unions operating in plants of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company subsidiary, said employes in the company's plants in the west coast, Hawthorne, Ill., Baltimore and Haverhill, Mass., were not affected. They are represented by the other five unions, he said, but added he would seek to get the support.

The Western Electric Employes Association is seeking a 30 per cent wage rate boost. The company said it would grant 15 per cent.

Wages were the chief issue in each of the disputes between unions and the steel, packing, electrical and telephone industries.

Strikes in two of the industries, steel and packing, already have been set by union leaders—for Jan. 14 by some 700,000 steel workers, and for Jan. 16 in 147 of the country's most packing plants employing 200,000 (Continued on page six)

Filipino Army Opens Campaign

Manila, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Defense Secretary Alfredo Montellano today said 10,000 sub-machineguns today have been issued to 19,000 Filipino army military police for operations against lawless elements particularly in Central Luzon.

"We are going to restore law and order at any cost," said Montellano. Besides the sub-machineguns, the military police have airplanes, modern signal equipment and 24 field hospitals for the cleanup operations.

There have been persistent rumors from Central Luzon that heavily armed organized gangs are dominating local governments. Some are reported to be former guerrillas and others are active in an agrarian movement against Luzon landlords. Officials said they acquired large quantities of arms during the war.

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP World Traveler Paris, Jan. 3.—This is being written in one of the very few Paris hotel rooms with any heat at all, although winter has fastened an icy grip on the French capital with its millions of inhabitants.

Across the street the French tricolor and the Stars and Stripes are tugging at their standards side by side—a grand sight but an uncomfortable reminder that the wind which is whipping them about is penetrating every nook and cranny of this great city with a subfreezing temperature. That means wholesale suffering, especially among the poor devils whom we euphemistically call the under-privileged.

It means hardship and death not only in Paris but far beyond. For we are sitting here on the edge of a continent that is largely without coal or any other fuel. Europe is struggling with the most dangerous winter it has experienced in modern times.

Offices, hotels and homes in Paris and other cities are only partially heated at best, and many have no heat at all. If you have an apartment, for instance, you are lucky to be able to have a fireplace or stove

Washington, Jan. 3.—(AP)—General MacArthur built a fire in the past few days. The fire's out now. No casualties. MacArthur's still just as much boss in Tokyo as ever.

This doesn't mean he's complete boss. He never was. He could make his own decisions on military affairs in Japan. The State Department told him what to do on political things.

This is the story behind the fire. The Big Three foreign ministers—Byrnes, Bevin and Molotov—met in Moscow. Among other things, they agreed on alleged handling of Japan.

After the meeting a State Department information man was asked if MacArthur had been fully informed of events at Moscow while they were happening. He said "Yes." He was wrong.

Hollywood Stars Visitors In City

By CHESTER WALSH
Interviewing two Hollywood stars in Greenville was a thrilling New Year's Day pastime for this reporter. They were two famous dogs, Grey Shadow, who starred in the movie, "The Invisible Man," with Jon Hall, and "Rio Rita," and Flame, Grey Shadow's half-brother, who starred in a canine part at six weeks old in the movie, "My Pet Wolf."

The dogs are wonderful, possess human intelligence and they love to act before an audience or the camera. They are owned and trained by Frank Barnes, formerly of Raleigh, but for the past 20 years located in Los Angeles, near the M-G-M studios. Mr. Barnes is a son of Mrs. Winnie T. Barnes of Raleigh, and a brother of Mrs. Julian J. White of Greenville. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and the famous canine actors spent the Christmas holidays here with Mr. and Mrs. White. They left for California Wednesday.

Grey Shadow is grandson of Strongheart, another dog famous in motion picture. Grey Shadow stole one of the scenes in "Rio Rita" from Lew Costello, and the famous comedian said he was the smartest dog in the world—"smarter than I am." Costello chirped, Grey Shadow is the only dog in Hollywood with a bank account and makes his own deposits. He owns a lot of War Bonds. A Pathe News reel showed him buying a bond in a California bank, and the picture followed it through with snaps of Grey Shadow carrying the bond to the lawn of his home, digging up his strong-box, opening it and placing the War Bond in it and then covering it up.

Frank Barnes' dogs are internationally known. They have performed in scores of pictures with some celebrated stars. He put his pets through their paces on Julian White's lawn for a reporter. When Barnes said to Grey Shadow, "I don't like that man's looks," the dog (in time to the reporter), the dog made for him and the reporter calmly melted on a very cold day. The dog obeys every spoken command of their owner with human intelligence. They also work by signs. They love the work and enjoy applause. They have been seen in a number of movies shown here and will be seen again. Mr. Barnes and Mrs. Barnes, incidentally, both work their dogs, and have become famous for their achievements.

Grey-Smith Wedding
Southern Pines, January 3—In a candle-light service at the Church of Wide Fellowship, Southern Pines, Friday, December 28, Helen Grey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Grey, became the bride of William Grey Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Smith of Greenville, N. C.

Cathedral tapers against a background of magnolia leaves and tall vases of white snapdragons and gladioli formed the setting for the marriage vows which were spoken in a double ring ceremony at five-fifteen in the afternoon. The Rev. Tucker G. Humphries, pastor of the church, officiated.

Preceding the ceremony favorite selections of the bride were sung by Mrs. Page Choate accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Charles Grey, grandmother of the bride. The traditional wedding marches were used. The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with full skirt ending in a graceful train. A finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a net cap bordered with white net rose buds. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and orchids. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls.

Miss Helen Wicker of Ann Arbor, Mich., attending her as maid of honor wore a gown of blue-green satin with cap sleeves, and carried a bouquet of tallman roses.

Gilford Wilson of Tarboro served the groom as best man. Ushers were Thomas Grey, brother of the bride, T. F. Cayton of Greenville, Stanley Austin and John Prizer of Southern Pines.

Following the wedding a reception and cake cutting were held at the home of the bride's parents on Morganton Road. Out of town guests in attendance were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Smith, and his sisters, Miss Jeanne and Miss Lorraine Smith of Greenville.

After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home in Wake Forest where both will continue their college studies.

"River Road," by Frances Parkinson Keyes. A dramatic and romantic story of the bayou country of Louisiana. It centers around Belle Heloise, the great sugar plantation owned by the d'Alvey family for generations—and of how with the changing world of the twenties and the thirties, alien elements crept into the closed circle of plantation life.

"Effective Personal Letters for Business and Social Occasions," by William H. Butterfield. A collection of specimen letters for ready reference in writing personal business letters.

"Battlers of the World Missionary Crusade," by Sherwood Ely. A collection of biographies of the lives and missionary careers of a few typical men and women. Many denominations represented.

"Atomic Energy in the Coming Era," by David Dietz. A trained science editor and journalist tells the dramatic story of the atomic bomb. "Modern Man is Obsolete," by Norman Cousins. An eloquent essay on atomic energy and its implications written by the editor of the Saturday Review of Literature. Stresses the necessity for its constructive control and use. The plea is for a world government as the alternative to annihilation, since the organization at San Francisco has been outmoded by the atomic bomb.

"Ho, the Fair Wind," by L. A. R. Wylie. Martha's Vineyard in the period just following the Civil War forms the setting of this story. Train Wreck Due To Break In Rail Blaney, S. C., Jan. 3—(AP)—Seaboard Air Line Railway trains were running on schedule today over tracks which yesterday were twisted and mangled after the derailment of the East Coast Silver Meteor.

Railroad officials in Columbia reported all trains as running on schedule with the south-bound Palmdale Limited due out of Columbia 3:05 p. m. yesterday the only train rerouted through Charleston.

Cause of the wreck, which brought death to two passengers and injured scores of others, was a broken rail. General Manager S. C. O'Connell of the line, said. Wroton said cause of the rail break was undetermined. Spectators at the scene surmised, however, that a split rail caused the derailment which sent six cars of the Meteor plunging down a steep

Yes sir, there is talk of both a brick manufacturing plant and a building and loan association in Greenville. They are coming.

not entitled to be treated as a lieutenant general. Although not discharged dishonorably in the western sense of the term, the stooped and aged Homma's complete disgrace at home because of his military failure in the Philippines in 1942, White explained. Homma, with overpowering numbers, required too long to conquer Bataan and Corregidor to please Tokyo and thus delayed Japan's southward advance.

Homma's appearance in court in a white suit instead of in a uniform presumably is because of this reported disgrace.

Homma stared at his hands while prosecution and defense attorneys argued whether a U. S. military commission has authority to try him in a land where civil courts exist.

Attorneys for both sides said informally they anxiously are awaiting the U. S. Supreme Court's action on the appeal of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, recently convicted of condoning uncounted horrors by his troops and sentenced to be hanged. The Yamashita trial, first war crimes hearing in the Pacific, set many precedents. Attorneys will have to gauge their actions by the Supreme Court's rulings.

White said the prosecution is prepared to link Homma much more closely with his troops' crimes than was the case in the Yamashita trial. He pointed out that Homma's headquarters were less than a quarter of a mile from the road on which, for 20 successive days, the pitiful Bataan prisoners were marched. He also said the prosecution has proof that Homma's headquarters ordered the execution of

The Fourth Mrs. Baker

By Ernestine Adams

Chapter 7
(Sunday 8:10 a. m. to 9:58 a. m.)
"Wake up! Wake up!"
The words went on and on, echoing through Julia's head. She opened her eyes, then closed them again. Her head was a whirl of buzzing pain.
"Julia! Wake up! The police are here again. The guard was knocked out last night. You have to wake up."
It was Virginia's voice and her usual cool tones were anxious.
Slowly, fortuitously, memory brought the events of the night before into Julia's aching head. She was in her own bed again and that was queer. She had gone down in the foyer and that was the last thing she knew.
"My head hurts."
"At least you can talk and that's some relief," Virginia said. "I'll get you some aspirin."
She went into the bathroom and Julia saw she had put on a sport skirt and sweater of hers and that they were both too small. Where had Virginia been last night when she had tried to find her?
She didn't have a chance to ask her. Gertrude, the maid who did the cleaning and lived out, knocked briefly and entered.
"There's the police here that wants to see madam right away," she announced, gasping a little.
Julia sat up, and her throbbing head seemed too heavy to hold erect. When Virginia came with the aspirin and a glass of water, she took two tablets and drank the water, then sank back down.

PLUTO'S SECRETS REVEALED—Bulldozers carry away heavy pipelines which conveyed petrol to Pluto, submarine line from Dungeness, England, to France, which is being dismantled. Pluto supplied Allied forces during the invasion of Normandy. The secret of the line was so well kept that only now are people living in Dungeness learning of its presence.

SNOW ON NUERNBERG—The city of Nuernberg, Germany, on which the eyes of the world are turned for news of the trial of Nazi war criminals, is clothed in a mantle of snow.

"I'm sorry. My head hurts so I can't get up."
She thought the two women looked at her curiously. They both went out of the room but Virginia was back soon.
"Who is your doctor, Julia? If you don't have a doctor the police will say you're faking. If you'll recall you didn't look dazed with grief last night."
"Doctor Wandell?" She spoke the name without thinking and memory of the man sitting beside Jerry with quiet solicitude gave her a peace that calmed the jagged questions piercing her sore head. She closed her eyes.
Seconds went by—this time like punctured balloons, flat and small. She dozed and dreamed. She awakened and lay unthinking. At last she was aroused by the entrance of Dr. Wandell. He sat beside her and took her pulse.
"Something happened." It was a statement.
"Yes. Some one struck me on the head last night when I went into the foyer. But I woke up in bed. Isn't that odd? Her voice had only a mild curiosity. The terror of the early morning seemed vague.
He bent over her, his long fingers exploring her head. She winced when he touched the right side close to the back. He sat in the chair again and held her hand.
"I think you'll be all right, my dear, and I'm not sure it is a good thing to tell the police. Virginia has told them that both of you slept in here and that she could have known if you had left the room. No one was here last night but you two and Moore and the detective who was left to watch the place has a bad concussion this morning. I wasn't told whether the police know why the guard was knocked out or not but Moore thinks the drawing room was searched. If you say you were in the foyer then neither you nor Virginia has an alibi. Evidently Virginia didn't hear you leave."
"She wasn't here."
His hand closed more tightly over hers.
"It's hard to know. I've seen the law do stupid things yet I've known of some brilliant detection. I think if we could play for time it would help."
"I'll tell them I slept hard all night," Julia told him with a weak smile.
"I believe that's best. Then they won't waste time trying to involve you. As it is you're the logical person to suspect and they'd neglect every other possibility."
"But surely I'd have no reason for knocking out the detective, she protested.
His eyes grew soft.
"Oh, you poor innocent child! Don't you know they suspect you of murdering Robey?"
Incredulity and fright struggled for a hold with her. It was preposterous that any one should think that she would kill Robey. At the same time she knew the doctor was right.
"But I wasn't near him when it happened."
His thin lips pressed grimly together.
"You don't think I was?"
"No. I want to help you, too, and I have to protect some one else. You will be in less danger if you say nothing—tell nothing that is at all possible to keep."
She started to sit up when a sharp knock sounded on the door.
Doctor Wandell opened the door. It was Inspector Venable looking very young and very stern. His dark grey suit with a double-breasted coat that hung negligently from bulky shoulders contrasted sharply with the doctor's sartorial perfection.
"It is imperative that I see Mrs. Baker at once."
"For a few minutes. She's in a highly nervous state."
"It won't take me long," the Inspector said grimly. "Now if you will leave."
"Leave? Oh, no. I have to watch her condition."
"Doctor Wandell, for a person who has been practicing only two years, you overdo the specialist role," said Venable.
"All right. You win this time, Inspector. But use your head. I can help you."
"You've helped too much already."
The doctor smiled slightly, gave Julia a meaning glance and left. This time, Julia thought, the Inspector had made an enemy.

Negro Man Struck By Passing Auto

John Roberts, about 60, Negro, 1118 Greene Street, suffered a broken leg and cuts and bruises when he crossed the Bethel highway near Respass' place Tuesday and walked into the path of an oncoming car driven by Willie Williams, Negro, of New Bern, a State Highway patrolman said. Roberts was taken to Pitt General Hospital.

Authorities investigating the accident said it was unavoidable and that no warrant will be issued.

Wounded Negro Will Recover, Police Say

Willie Tucker, 30-year-old Negro, who was shot in a shoulder by Policeman Johnny Mobley when he was caught in a freight car about a week ago attempting to carry away some sugar, is improving satisfactorily at Pitt General Hospital, the police department stated today.

The officer was hidden in the freight car when Tucker opened the door late at night. He shot Tucker when he resisted arrest and attempted to run. Tucker has a police record.

A Hearty Breakfast Starts Day Right

Starting the day with a hearty leisurely breakfast is the only way to start the day right. An extra five or ten minutes spent at the table is much more valuable to health than the same time spent in bed. This is especially true on work days when the body really needs to have "fuel" if it is to work at its best. Why not give it a try?

Blueberry Pancakes and Sizzling Mor

Cut 1 can MOR into 8 or 12 slices. Melt 1 tbs. ADVANCE SHORTENING, add MOR and brown on both sides. Meanwhile prepare pancake batter from your favorite recipe.

Take Your Choice
Whether you like thick fluffy pancakes or prefer them thin like New England flannel cakes, you may have your choice. The only difference is in the amount of liquid used. Here is an excellent recipe:

Pancake Batter
2 cups flour 2 Clear Brook Eggs
1 tsp. salt 2 to 2 1/2 cups milk
2 tsp. baking powder 1/2 cup Clear Brook Butter or Certified Margarine
2 tbs. sugar
Sift flour, salt, baking powder and sugar together. Beat egg yolks and add milk and melted Certified Margarine or Clear Brook Butter. Stir into the dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and bake on a hot griddle until light golden brown on both sides. Turn only once.

Keep It Handy
The flavor of Mor is especially good with pancakes. And what a treat they make for a nutritious as well as delicious breakfast! For Mor contains the same high quality proteins and B vitamins as the sweet tender pork shoulder meat from which Mor is made. So keep several cans of Mor on hand for everyday meals and emergencies.

Blueberries lift pancakes into the company class. They're grand for Sunday.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

SEVERITY IS PART OF LOVE
No one could ever have accused the philosopher Huxley of being sentimental about religion. He said more things that damaged men's faith than almost anyone of his generation. Yet Huxley declared on one occasion that he had no use for a nambly-pamby idea of God. He said he preferred the hard doctrines of the old theologians because "they recognized the reality of things."

Some people do not believe in God as a father—they believe in God as a grandfather. Their idea of God is that He is a sentimental old person who will eventually provide eternal bliss for every living soul. It seems inconceivable to such wishful thinkers that the Most High could ever be severe with anyone.

But the Bible points out that the love of God requires severity as well as tenderness. There is a time in the life of every earthly father when he must be severe, and there is a time in the life of the Heavenly Father when in His dealings with His children He must be severe also. Men should not go through life with a feeling that they can float God with impunity. To flout God means to flout goodness, and to flout goodness means to help evil to triumph.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — Notes from your peacetime capital.

Even blasé Washington has been impressed by the mostly quiet but occasionally explosive way Gen. Omar Bradley is cutting away the jungle of Veterans Administration red tape.

Gen. Paul R. Hawley's threat to resign as Gen. Bradley's chief medical adviser unless Congress laid off its efforts to force the VA to take over Army and Navy hospitals was one of the explosions. I've heard Gen. Bradley hold forth on the VA hospital problem and it's simply that neither he nor his key medical men want to take on the geographical and structural white elephants which the armed forces built or converted (frequently under congressional pressure) during the war.

Not generally publicized, however, is the fact that Gen. Bradley is doing one of the most thorough jobs of housecleaning that any government department has undergone in years. Through a military system of unannounced flying inspections of regional offices and hospitals, he's catching much inefficiency and cause for complaint at the source.

Strictly a minor item, but typical of the way the general is going about things in his order that from now on VA hospitals will be called hospitals and not "facilities" as they have been for years. As near as the ordinarily and outwardly placid general comes to snorting is when he's expressing indignation over governmental gobbledygook in reports and memos. Oldtimers in VA with a sense of humor and appreciation of what is taking place admit that eliminating that alone is a major operation.

It's a pretty general conclusion here that unless Congress or the White House interferes, Gen. Bradley will have performed a number of these major operations on VA before he writes "objective taken" to his latest order from the Commander-in-Chief and turns the Veterans Administration back to the bureaucrats.

The way Hollywood glamor boys ducked publicity in the armed forces is a man-bites-dog yarn. Most of them discovered early their only chance for "normal" GI service was to keep out of the headlines.

The way the Army and Navy big-wigs here cooperated on this was a rare thing in Washington. About the only guy they threw to us wolves was Clark Gable and nobody was more embarrassed over his interview assignments than Clark.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. is another long before he earned his medals.

very fact that the black market does have food and other necessities means that the regular markets are stripped. People of moderate means and the underprivileged have to suffer for even if they have ration coupons they can't buy their share because the black market brigands have cornered supplies.

A first class dinner in a black-market restaurant will cost you about $40. In a "medium" price restaurant, black market category, which gets only part of its supplies from the profiteers, you can eat moderately for about five dollars without drinks.

If you eat in the 100 franc category of restaurant your food will cost you about 9,000 francs a month—and low salaried folk like stenographers and many teachers get 3500 to 4000 francs a month salary.

Nuernberg, Germany, Jan. 3—(AP)—The high-handed manner in which the Nazi government rebuffed Vatican attempts to halt atrocities against the Catholic church in Poland was pictured today in documents made available by American officials here.

The documents — official communications between the Vatican and the Nazi foreign office—showed that the Holy See got a rude brush-off when it tried to bring these atrocities to the attention of Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

The foreign office flatly refused to deliver the Vatican's letter to Von Ribbentrop. When the Vatican protested to the foreign minister against this "unfriendly act" he made an insulting reply. Obviously angered by the Vatican's refusal to recognize German sovereignty in territories won by force, Von Ribbentrop said:

"Letters dealing with impossible situations are a waste of time, and since (by implication) Rome contested German sovereignty in occupied lands, it could hardly expect the Reich to acknowledge papal authority regarding religious matters in the same territories."

New General Takes Ft. Bragg Command

Fort Bragg, Jan. 3—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Anthony G. McAuliffe today assumed the duties of commanding general of Fort Bragg succeeding Brig. Gen. T. L. Fitch, who becomes chief of ROTC affairs in first army headquarters here.

McAuliffe, who previously commanded the airborne center here, was in command of the 101st Airborne Division at Bastogne in the Battle of the Bulge in December 1944.

It was McAuliffe who gave the now famous reply of "Nuts!" to the German commander who had surrounded the 101st Division in Bastogne.

He was one of the first general officers to land in the Normandy invasion in June, 1944, jumping with airborne forces almost simultaneously with Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who then commanded

COLUMBI, S. C., Jn. 3—(AP)—

Duke's basketball team meets the University of South Carolina here tonight.

The Blue Devils have a perfect college competition record this season with victories over Davidson and Virginia. The Gamecocks lost their first conference start to North Carolina.

Jerry Gerard, Duke coach, will meet his team in Columbia. He served as an official in the Gator Bowl game at Jacksonville, Fla. Buz Berger has been coaching the squad in his absence.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 3—(AP)—Billy

Conn was en route to Hot Springs, Ark., today for a training grind he hoped would pare 10 pounds off his weight and get his legs in trim for his heavyweight title bout with Joe Louis next June.

Conn, disagreeing with those who believe Louis will not be able to get in shape, said "Joe will be ready, don't worry about that. He's got some weight around his stomach, but he'll take that off when he begins hard training. We'll both be in good shape."

New York, Jan. 3—(AP)—Wyoming, hailed by many as one of the best college basketball teams in the country, invades Madison Square Garden tonight to clash with Long Island University in the second half of a double header. Westminister of Pennsylvania meets St. Francis of Brooklyn in the opener which is expected to be witnessed by a crowd of some 18,000.

Wyoming, one of the few remaining undefeated fives will be gunning for its eighth straight. Heading the high flying Cowboys will be Kenny Sailors, captain of the 1942-43 national champions, six-foot-seven inch Milo Komenich and Jim Weir, another 1943 regular. Westminister, with lettermen back from last year's squad, will be out to better its 500 record. To date, the Titans have won three and lost the same number.

Long Island, beaten 51-49 by Bowling Green last week, will try to upset the Cowboys for its sixth win in nine games while St. Francis has won four of five.

Chicago, Jan. 3—(AP)—Big Paul Derringer, who pitched for three National League baseball clubs in his 15 years in the majors, was today looking for a new job, preferably in the big leagues.

The 30-year old right hander, released by the Chicago Cubs yesterday, said he had applied for a pitching job with all major league clubs.

Derringer's major league record was 213 wins and 212 defeats, including 16 and 11 with the Cubs in 1945, his best season in three with Chicago. His big league career began with St. Louis in 1933. He was traded to Cincinnati in 1933 and remained with the Reds until 1943 when he was sold to the Cubs.

a day wage increase; the packing house workers have asked for a 25 cents an hour wage hike. The starting time of a country-wide strike by 200,000 electrical workers employed in plants of the General Electric Co., General Motors Corp., and Westinghouse Electric Co. probably will be decided by officials of the CIO United Electrical Workers at a meeting in New York Saturday. In strike votes, the workers favored a work stoppage unless the companies granted a $2 a day wage boost.

JET PLANE LEAVES CARRIER—A British Vampire jet plane, piloted by Lt. Comdr. E. M. Brown, is poised in midair as it takes off from the flight deck of His Majesty's Ship Ocean. A series of landing and take-off tests of purely jet-propelled aircraft were held aboard the vessel as a part of the study of the new-type fighters. This is a British official photo.

National Federation of Telephone Workers, parent of the Independent W. E. Employes Association, said he had asked the federation's 48 union members to authorize a national strike if deemed necessary to support the association's demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase.

The strike, which would affect the country's four major packers, Swift, Cudahy, Armour and Wilson, would not involve the AFL-Amalgamated meat cutters and butchers workmen of North America, which claims a membership of about 70,000.

But the CIO union claimed 200,000 members representing 95 per cent of the country's meat slaughtering workers. Other thousands in related businesses would be affected if a strike halted movement of meat from packing plants.

Lewis J. Clark, union president, said "Meat won't move, and neither will by-products." Hospitals and similar institutions, however, would be supplied, Clark said. He added the union would accept a wage boost of 17 1/2 cents an hour and negotiate the balance of its demands later.

During the final month of the year, general fund collections totaled $6,039,530.34 and the highway fund was enriched by $6,080,410.82 together, this amounted to $12,119,941.16 and represented an increase of $2,263.28 over the $9,856,677.88 collected in December, 1944.

Gill pointed out that these figures represent gross income and do not take into account any refunds that have been made on taxes.

Baby With Two Heads Still Living

(Birmingham, England, Jan. 3—(AP)—A premature girl child born with two heads clung to second day of life today, neither gaining nor losing strength.

The mother, 21-year-old wife of a repatriated American soldier, pondered names for what she still believed to be twin daughters.

Nurses at the maternity ward of Selly Oak hospital said they understood the young mother's parents had notified the father about the child but they said they did "not know what they had told him."

change at all" in the child's condition overnight. Doctors said the child had only a slight chance to live any considerable length of time.

The mother was recovering normally after bearing her first child, which weighed five pounds and 12 ounces.

"The doctor in charge said the strange birth was caused by imperfect division of a single ovum. Such accidents occasionally result in the birth of Siamese twins.

"The child born on Tuesday cannot be described as a Siamese twin," he said, "it has two heads and two necks joined at a point on the shoulder. It has a single trunk."

"It obviously has two sets of lungs, because you can see the two heads breathing independently and they have a different pulse rate."

CHINESE REDS WELCOME PLAN

Official Reply to Kai-Shek Approves of Marshall As Mediator

Yenan, Jan. 3—(AP)—Chinese Communists replied officially today to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's New Year's peace plan, welcoming Gen. George C. Marshall as mediator and asserting "We will discuss favorably every suggestion dealing with immediate cessation of civil war in China and establishment of unity and democracy."

A central committee spokesman announced the reply, and said the Communists welcomed the Generalissimo's suggestion Gen. Marshall, President Truman's envoy at Chungking, participate in peace talks.

The reply was followed by another official statement which said that the potentially explosive military situation in the northern province of Jehol had taken a "very serious turn" with the capture of the important rail towns of Fusin and Chaoyang by Chungking forces.

A Communist spokesman asserted these towns had been liberated from the Japanese by Communist units and national attacks on them were "wholly unjustified."

He demanded that "the Kuomintang immediately stop this offensive and evacuate their forces from Jehol province," adding that "it is apparent the Kuomintang military authorities have no intention of stopping the civil war."

The attacks were termed "particularly outrageous" since they occurred while Chiang Kai-Shek was
