Truman Fact-Finding Panel Takes U. S. Steel Wage Dispute Today In Effort To Head Off CIO Steelworkers Strike Scheduled For Jan. 14th.

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—President Truman's fact finding panel for the steel wage dispute took up its crucial assignment today—trying to head off a vast strike set for January 14.

Although only U. S. Steel Corporation is involved in the hearing, the CIO-Steelworkers Union has called for a walkout of its 700,000 members in steel mills, aluminum plants and iron ore processing units across the nation.

Union leaders say any pattern set for U. S. Steel, the biggest in the business, would apply to the whole industry. They ask $2 a day higher wages.

As the three-man panel prepared to work out procedure, pick a staff and schedule sessions there was no advance announcement from either the union or the company whether they would cooperate fully.

The corporation previously had rejected proposals of Secretary of Labor Schweitzer to get together with the union under auspices of the Conciliation Service or with an arbitrator.

The fact finding board is headed by Nathan P. Feinsinger, University of Wisconsin law professor and former public member of the War Labor Board. Other members are Associate Justice James M. Douglas of the Missouri Supreme Court and Associate Justice Roger I. McDonough of the Utah Supreme Court.

In the meantime the General Motors fact finding panel was completing its report for the President on the strike of 175,000 CIO-Auto workers, which began November 21 in support of demands for a 30 per cent wage increase. The findings probably will be made public Monday.

Conciliation Director Edgar L. Warren planned conferences in Chicago next week on wage disputes affecting the Big Four meat packers—Swift, Armour, Cudahy and Wilson.

The CIO-Packinghouse workers were first to schedule a strike for January 16. Yesterday the rival AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers said they would join in the walkout if the companies failed to make a new wage offer before January 11.

The AFL union, noting that Swift had countered the CIO demand for a 25-cent hourly increase with an offer of 7 1/2 cents, sent an urgent plea to President Truman to call an industry conference.

Top wage price advisers to President Truman discussed the packinghouse controversy yesterday. Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said at Raleigh, N. C., that he was recommending price increases to offset any wage concessions by the packers.

JAPANESE CABINET REORGANIZING IS EXPECTED

Cabinet Weathers First Shock Of MacArthur Order; Emergency Session Planned

Tokyo, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Premier Kijuro Shidehara's storm tossed cabinet, weathering the first shock of General MacArthur's political purge, today postponed until Sunday a scheduled emergency session to discuss ways of compliance.

The cabinet's chief secretary indicated that the government might attempt to remain in power by reorganization rather than resigning en masse. Tokyo newspapers speculated that the new Allied directives would leave untouched only the premier himself and foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida.

The secretary, Daizaburo Tsugita, who may himself be out of a job as the result of the drastic order, said that drafting of emergency imperial ordinances to carry out the directives had delayed the session scheduled today.

Shidehara, still confined to his home by a cold, was not expected to attend tomorrow's meeting, and the question of ministerial resignations was not officially on the schedule. Tsugita reported. Unofficial discussion of the problem appeared inevitable, however.

Discussing the prospective purge with Japanese newsmen, Tsugita gave the impression, they reported, that the cabinet would try to carry on after removal of several ministers.

The newspaper Yomiuri named Tsugita as a former leader of the imperial rule assistance association, one of the organizations whose members are denied, by the new Allied decrees, any public office.

The Tokyo press, hailing the orders as heralding a new day for Japan, said they would hit such men as Baron Kantaro Suzuki, who was premier when Japan surrendered, and Prince Higashi-Junji, the first premier under the occupation.

Fear Of Blindness Starts Suicide Pact

Reading, Pa., Jan. 5.—(AP)—A 35-year-old woman, more afraid of blindness than death, planned suicide and then—by agreement—permitted her husband and two unmarried sisters, to take their lives with her in a gas-filled apartment, Berks County Coroner George J. Stark said today.

Mrs. Margaret Yienst, in a suicide note the coroner said she wrote, blamed "approaching blindness" for the act.

The other three—Edwin Yienst, 38, and his wife's two sisters, Elizabeth Greth, 34, and Melva, 33—had all been in ill health, Dr. Stark said.

There is no doubt the four victims, whose bodies were discovered yesterday, ended their lives by agreement, he asserted.

GIRL MISLED BY THRILLERS

Mystery Story Ideas Misfire For Young Texan Girl

Denton, Tex., Jan. 5.—(AP)—A 14-year-old girl, four feet 11 inches tall, who found out that ideas borrowed from mystery stories sometimes misfire, faces a charge of juvenile delinquency here today, Deputy Sheriff Sam Gentry, has revealed.

This is her story, according to Gentry.

Deciding to leave her farm home in Palo Pinto County last Wednesday, the girl took along a pistol and a knife. At Gordon, Tex. she purchased perfume, a diary and a couple of murder mystery books.

She traveled by train to Fort Worth and several other cities. By Thursday she reached Denton, where she halted the cab of E. L. Howard, 24-year-old war veteran who weighs 190 pounds.

She told Howard to drive her north of town. On a country road she told him she wanted to get out. She opened her suitcase, where she said she kept her money, and flashed the pistol and knife. Pointing both at Howard, she ordered him to drive her out of Texas.

Howard headed for Oklahoma. "I didn't like the pistol pointed at me," he said.

Through Gainesville, Sherman and Denison they drove. At a small town south of Madill, Okla., the girl decided she wanted some candy, and sent Howard into a store to buy some.

Taking advantage of the situation, Howard explained his predicament to the storekeeper, who promised to tip off the police, he didn't try to make a break for it.

"Didn't want to get shot in the back," Howard explained. Police, tipped by the storekeeper, stopped the taxi at the edge of Madill Thursday night. Yesterday Denton County Sheriff W. K. Baldrige and Sheriff Roy Moore brought her here.

Gentry said that the girl got the idea from one of the murder mystery books she bought.

The diary today, he said, contained only one line: "Places I have been since I ran away."

Pearl Harbor Probers Call For New Evidence

Movements Of Ships And Their Disposition Prior To The Assault Is Called For By Committee

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The Pearl Harbor Committee called for photographs of the navy's ship location board today to pinpoint movements of the Pacific fleet in the days just before the Japanese attack in Hawaii.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) wanted to know about disposition of the ships during the week prior to the assault.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, former chief of naval operations and the committee's witness yesterday when the question came up, agreed to supply facsimiles of the board.

At the same time the committee sought to reconcile a previously secret report by the late Secretary Frank Knox with conflicting earlier evidence.

2. Considered a statement by a naval intelligence officer that he predicted the form and time of the Pearl Harbor attack.

The report by Knox, then secretary of the navy, was made to President Roosevelt after a quick investigation of the disaster. The committee received it yesterday.

Among other things Knox said the navy flew a ten-bomber reconnaissance patrol southward at dawn of December 7, 1941, while the Japanese force was approaching from exactly the opposite direction.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) told a reporter he believes Knox was in error, since all previous evidence indicated no long range scouting of any kind was under way at the time.

In addition, Lucas declared, Knox must have been "mixed up" when he reported Washington sent a warning message at midnight December 6 which the Hawaiian commanders did not receive until after the attack began. The senator said the message in question probably

FOUR INJURED IN PICKETING

Police Alert Against Renewal of Picket-Line Battles

Kearny, N. J., Jan. 5.—(AP)—Police were on the alert today against any renewal of picket line strife at the strikebound Western Electric plant as attempts at arranging a "peaceful" picketing policy failed.

Four persons were injured and several others were arrested yesterday as a result of picket-line battles.

As the strike of 17,200 members of the Western Electric Employees Association (Ind) moved into its third day at 21 Western Electric Company plants in New Jersey and New York City, there were no indications of an immediate settlement of the dispute over the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.

A conference called last night by Mayor Eric F. Fizeaux of Kearny to effect a "peaceful" picketing arrangement at the large plant here, where 12,000 are employed, broke up without any agreement being reached.

Company officials argued that all non-union employees had the right to unhindered entrance to the plant, while Frank J. Fitzsimmons, president of the WEEA, accused the company of "fomenting" yesterday's disturbance as a test case. He said that no one would be permitted to enter the plant without approval from union headquarters.

He promised to give an answer today to a navy request for permission for navy personnel and civilians working on cancellations and other government business to pass through the picket lines.

The latest unsuccessful settlement effort was made yesterday afternoon by U. S. Conciliation Service Commissioner Jacob R. Mandelbaum, who obtained from Frank J. Hamel, industrial relations director, a letter to union officials asking for another meeting. A union spokesman said the WEEA was willing to meet with the company again if the company would top its previous offer of a 15 per cent pay boost. If not, he said, there would be no

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—President Truman was pictured by a Republican Senate leader today as a man who has turned from belief in free enterprise to "left wing" economic ways.

Senator Taft of Ohio declared "half the Democrats and most of the Republicans" in Capitol Hill disagree with Mr. Truman because "he has chosen to follow the CIO-PAC course on every economic measure except the last fact-finding labor proposal."

SLOW-DOWN IN DEMOBILIZING ARMED FORCES

"Insufficient Replacements" Is Declared Reason For Slowing Demobilization

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The Army slapped the brakes on demobilization today with a declaration that replacements would be insufficient to maintain necessary forces abroad at the present rate.

By full use of available shipping, all of about 1,553,000 overseas troops who are or will become eligible could be returned to the United States in three months, a War Department official said at a news conference.

Instead, the Army plans to spread the returns over six months. This slower rate combined with replacements will reduce total overseas strength to a planned minimum of 797,000 by July 1. Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins told reporters yesterday.

He declared, however, that no man should be held in a foreign theater more than three months after he becomes eligible for discharge.

"Our overseas forces would be dangerously understrength in occupying hostile countries if all eligible men were to be returned before sufficient replacements arrived," the War Department information chief said.

He estimated 400,000 men had been recruited for the regular army since the war's end, but remarked there was no guarantee enlistment would continue at that rate.

Selective Service, he added, has furnished an average of only 37,000 men a month since VJ Day. The Army expected 50,000 a month. Discharges already total nearly 5,000,000, Collins said, and the next six months will bring another 3,000,000. On July 1 the War Department plans to have an army of

Pullman Cars Sold To 42-Rail Combine

Philadelphia, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The nation's sleeping car business will soon belong—lock, stock and barrel—to a combine of 43 American railroads.

In its final decree, a special three-judge Federal Expediting Court yesterday approved sale of the 7,500 Pullman, Inc.-owned sleeping cars to the railroads.

The decision climaxed more than five years of legal maneuvers, started on July 12, 1940 when Pullman, Inc., was decreed a monopoly in violation of the anti-trust laws. The firm decided to continue manufacturing sleeping cars and rid itself of the operating end.

Approval of the sale to the carriers for $75,000,000, however, may not be the end of the Pullman case as decreed by the court.

One or all of the three other bidders—Otis & Co., Cleveland banking firm; Standard Steel Spring Co., of Coraopolis, Pa., and Gloré, Forgan & Co., Chicago banking house—may appeal the decision to the U. S. Supreme Court.

An Analysis Of The News

Paris, Jan. 5.—California Hotel stands at the cross-roads of American trade with Europe—a friendly, home-like little hotel through which pass the Marco Polos who seek to buy or sell and accordingly follow the routes to various parts of a continent which is so changed by war that exploration is an adventure into the unknown.

The California nestles comfortably in the Rue De Berril, just off the Champs Elysees, not far from the Etoile. Its unpretentiousness quite belies its present importance, for it affords temporary shelter and food not only to business folk but to diplomats, writers, artists.

It's about the only hotel in all Paris where warmth and food can be had these days by persons of moderate means.

Chinese Leaders Reach Agreement

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Chinese Communists and government leaders tonight reached an agreement on procedure for ending hostilities and restoring communications in strife-split China, an official announcement said.

Individual representatives of the two factions have been appointed to confer on steps to carry out the cease-fire procedure.

Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. envoy, had conferred in swift succession earlier today with leaders of both delegations.

From Shanghai, Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of U. S. military forces in China, meanwhile announced that American ships would begin moving 26,000 Chinese government troops into Manchuria within 10 days.

Airborne movement of other forces was scheduled to begin today.

Babson Discusses New Ideas

Babson Park, Mass., Jan. 5.—At the close of each year I like to go through the various interesting inventions of the preceding year. They always give me inspiration and make me certain that there are opportunities enough for those who will use their heads and legs. I will not discuss atomic bombs or radar or electronics or plastics or other things which have been discussed in the papers and magazines. Rather, I take the apparently insignificant things in the belief that they, in the aggregate, may do much more for individual readers of my column.

Suggestions For G. I. Men

One of the simplest, and yet may be revolutionary, is the development of confections, cakes and other food products by the use of starch sponge. To jump to the other side of the spectrum, we find the use of fog to put out fires. May I continue without comment: Nonbreakable incandescent lamp bulbs—ice boxes with revolving interiors—electric switches which work with a delayed action of three minutes—windows made of glass strips like venetian blinds—new "smoke screens" to protect orchards and groves against frosts and insects—paint mixed with D. D. T. to kill flies and mosquitoes—

A year ago I mentioned the new art of recording music, messages, etc., on magnetized wire; well this is now on the market. A new one that hasn't yet been marketed is truly hole-punch stockings made out of ramie instead of cotton or rayon—a machine for projecting reading matter on the ceiling so you can read actually lying down—new methods of home heating where the heat radiates through the plaster, eliminating registers, radiators, etc.—a new "packaged kitchen" whereby the refrigerator, stove, incinerator and dish washer will be a part of the same machine—a new flooring

The NATION TODAY

Washington, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Do the American people know how Congress works? President Truman didn't take a chance that they all did.

In his talk to the nation Thursday night he listed numerous pieces of legislation (bills) which have been bottlenecked in Congress.

Again and again he said this House committee or that Senate committee was sitting on the bill he wanted passed.

As his half-hour talk wore on, it began to look as though Mr. Truman was taking it for granted that 140,000,000 Americans knew in detail how Congress worked.

Texas Death Toll Rises to Twenty; Scores Are Homeless And Many Communities Without Power; Rescue Teams Continue Search For Additional Victims

Palestine, Tex., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The toll of East Texas tornadoes rose to 20 dead, 137 injured and one missing today as rescue teams toiled through mud and heavy rains in search of additional victims.

Twisters left trails of wreckage last night in at least four East Texas counties. Scores were homeless and many communities were without power. One was isolated from outside communication.

In the lashing rains that accompanied and followed the twisters, damage was impossible to estimate. Fourteen persons were dead here, 32 injured and one missing. Eastward, Athanocoches, four were dead here and at least 85 hurt. Police there said the toll of injured probably would reach 100 and that the condition of several was critical. Near Lufkin, south of Nacodoches, two were killed and 20 injured.

George W. Hawkes, Nacodoches newspaperman, said there were reports that a tornado had caused casualties at Appleby, Tex., 10 miles northeast of Nacodoches but all of the communication lines with that community were down.

Northwestward, in Hunt county, a score of business and residential buildings were destroyed at Penland near Greenville.

The tornado cut a 100-yard swath across 18 miles of Anderson county, passing three miles south and east of this city. State police aided local authorities and the Palestine unit of the Texas State Guard in relief work. The dead and injured were still being brought in at an early hour today. The injured were in three local hospitals and two-thirds of them were reported seriously hurt. Homes, filling stations and small stores suffered heavily. Southview, a suburb of Palestine, was hard hit.

Telephone and power lines were down outside this city. Trees were uprooted. Cars were blown from highways in this area and some of their occupants were injured.

Two white women and two Negro women and a Negro boy were killed in their homes at Nacodoches. A tornado struck along the western city limits, collapsing at least 40 or 50 small homes in a Negro section alone. The sub-station of the Texas Power and Light Company was hit and the city was without power.

The injured were taken to an already crowded City Memorial Hospital and to an emergency hospital set up in the Nacodoches fire station. Fifty per cent of those hurt were reported as Negroes. State Guard members and citizens volunteered for at the wreckage of demolished houses, seeking victims. Fire trucks and private trucks gathered the injured to hospitals, while ambulances, on mats, were used in corridors at the City Hospital. Less than an hour and a half, three inches of rain fell.

The Palestine area was struck at 8:30 p. m. Sixty miles to the south east, in Clawson community, seven or eight miles northeast of London, a tornado lashed down at 9 p. m. Yesterday afternoon a tornado hit Palestine, a suburb of London. (Continued on page three)

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

PRAYER HELPS THE PRAYER-ER
If for no other reason, man should pray because of the effect that prayer produces upon the one who prays. This benefit comes to one whether the particular petition he makes is granted or not. Prayer produces a twofold effect—a positive effect on the Great Power who can grant prayer and a reflex effect on the pray-er himself.

Too seldom do we read the story of the Transfiguration and note the effect that Jesus' prayer produced upon him. This prayer was not made in connection with the performing of any miracle. We are not told that Jesus was earnestly petitioning God to give him some particular thing. But we are told that as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed. The disciples were amazed and almost terrified as they looked upon the transcendent loveliness that had come into the Master's face as the result of prayer.

While this, of course, is the greatest example we have of the effect of prayer upon the one who prays, it occurs nevertheless in a similar fashion in the lives of thousands of people today entirely apart from the effect that their prayers may have upon God. There comes so often in prayer an uplifting sense of gladness, a clear penetration into the meaning of certain bewildering situations, an all-pervading peace, a mighty experience of new power, a will to do all that life needs to have done. These are secondary effects of prayer—but they are important.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
For Jack Stinnett
Washington—Many people like to carry around a lot more money than they need. That tendency, combined with a substantial increase in income for millions of Americans during the war, is one reason why the volume of U. S. currency in circulation has soared to all-time peaks.

On Nov. 30 there was a total of $29,184,530,000 of currency in circulation, an average of about $201 for every person in the United States. That was more than three times the $8,732,000,000 in circulation five years ago and five times the $5,698,000,000 figure of 25 years ago.

As a result of the war production boom, several million families who had been on subsistence levels or even below, received adequate income for the first time in their lives. They naturally increased their money holdings.

Another reason for the increase in currency, of course, is that the level of business activity has been so much higher than before. It has been necessary all along the line to have more currency to carry on business transactions. Still another reason is that banking has not always been convenient for many people either because of odd working hours or because of lack of nearby banking facilities. Bank market operators and attempts at income tax evasion also have increased the amount of money in circulation.

At the same time that people were carrying around more money in their pockets checking and savings accounts increased tremendously. Checking accounts owned by non-bank investors amounted to $1 billion dollars at the end of 1939. By June, 1945, they had risen to 72 billion dollars. Investment in commercial bank savings accounts increased from $15 billion in December, 1939, to $27 billion in June, 1945. All of the increase having taken place since the latter part of 1942. However, the biggest amount of liquid assets held by investors is in federal securities such as the various defense war and victory bonds. The total volume of these securities outstanding increased from 47 billion dollars at the end of 1939 to 257 billion dollars last June 30. Individual owners owned 59 billion dollars of that amount.

The most colossal monetary figure of all is the $33 billion dollars spent during the five-year period—July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1945. Of this eight-tenths of a trillion dollars, federal government spending accounted for 23 billion dollars. Some $290 billion of this was directly for national defense and for war.

Tax receipts brought in to the federal government 133 billion dollars, leaving a deficit of 199 billion dollars. The government's share of total spending in this war reached a peak of almost 50 percent in the fiscal year 1945 when the government accounted for 100 billion dollars out of 211 billion dollars total spending.

In the fiscal year 1919—peak year of federal spending in World War I—total expenditures in this country amounted to about 75 billion dollars, of which the federal government accounted for a little under 19 billion dollars.

Housing Goal Is Set By President

Washington, Jan. 4—(AP)—Setting an emergency goal of 5,000,000 new homes, President Truman served notice that the government will provide them if private enterprise cannot.

The chief executive gave a flying start to the career of his emergency housing expediter, Wilson W. Wyatt, Jr., with a promise broadcast to the nation last night that Wyatt has at his disposal "every agency of the government."

Emphasizing that 5,000,000 additional homes are "urgently needed," the President noted that the biggest pre-war years construction produced fewer than 4 million dwellings.

"It is clear therefore," he added, "that this is an emergency problem which calls for an emergency method of solution. We must utilize the same imagination, the same determination that back in 1941 enabled us to raise our sights to overcome the Nazi and Japanese military might."

"Private building organizations have estimated that the construction industry cannot provide more than 50,000 new homes this year, 750,000 in 1947, and 1,000,000 in 1948."

Mr. Truman said his 5,000,000 figure did not include replacement of millions of sub-standard dwellings in cities and on farms which ultimately will have to be replaced.

The Fourth Mrs. Baker

By Ernestine Adams

Chapter 9
(Sunday 10:30 a. m. to 11:04 a. m.)

Julia was silent but her mind raced to new objectives. She felt sure that Robey had seen killed but she hadn't pushed that thought to the point of speculating on the identity of the person who had done it. It was true that Robey would never have suspected a woman. He had been the spoiled darling of women everywhere. In this case, however, there were only the three Mrs. Bakers to choose from. Virginia had been with the "Pied Piper."

"Another man was almost killed last night," Venable interrupted her thoughts. "I know. They told me." "Did you hear anything?" "No."

"Mrs. Baker, maybe I haven't made you realize the seriousness of the situation. I don't think there is any doubt your husband was killed. There's a murderer loose and he'll kill again if he needs to. You have two vital reasons for helping to solve the case—first, your life may be in danger, and second, all circumstantial evidence so far points to you."

Julia was glad she was lying down. Strength had fled from her. "You will find the right person, won't you?" she asked gravely. "I'll try if you'll help." "You don't think I did it?" "A policeman doesn't think until he has all the facts."

"But I've told you all I know." And at that moment she had actually forgotten the things she hadn't told him. He stood up. "You rest, Mrs. Baker, and I'll see you later."

Julia wondered as she followed his back to the door if he were capable of drawing the truth from the multitude of deceptions around him. There was an air of competence in his step and she had a growing faith in his ability. He has nice eyes, she thought, and wondered doubtfully if her confidence were based on his looks.

As soon as he was out of the room Virginia came in. "I'm going home and get some clothes. I feel like a comedian at a funeral. Oh, I'm sorry! By the way, Frank is what they call making arrangements."

Julia's eyes widened in distress. "I'd forgotten about those things having to be done." "You'd better show more emotion," Virginia said critically. "They are trying to get some one out for suspicion, and you are definitely going your best to fit."

"You can't think—"

"No." The tall girl went to the dressing table and began taking stoppers out of the perfume bottles and waving them in front of her nose. "Do you know why?" Because you have too many blasted motives. That's what has always held me back on Uncle Dick. I have so many legitimate reasons for pushing off that old devil that they'd arrest me if I wasn't on the same corner at the time of the murder."

"What are mine?" "You hated Robey—I'm not utterly dumb, you know. Of course you weren't alone there, but you are the one who might reasonably expect dough for the job. No one knows where you came from but you apparently were decent and now you're no doubt well off. Frank once told me Robey had lots of insurance. And he had the divorce habit so you couldn't count on being his widow if you waited till he died."

America football hero of 1945, Miss Shotwell sat near Blanchard, enjoyed chatting with him and she came away with the great football hero's autograph on her program. She was spending the Christmas holidays with relatives in Sumter and Columbia, S. C., when the invitations to the "homecoming exercises" were received. Blanchard was in his West Point uniform. When he stood he towered above the others. He has a charming personality, was exceptionally friendly in his contacts and not a bit spoiled by the great honors accorded him, she said.

The modest Doc Blanchard heard his exploits on the Army team recounted in glowing terms by speaker after speaker, including Governor Ransome J. Williams. He was also presented a silver gift. The banquet was attended by more than 350 guests, including Blanchard's mother, Mrs. Mary Fatum Blanchard; his sister, 18-year-old Mary Elizabeth Blanchard, a student at Winthrop College; The Bishopville Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis and Pilot service clubs sponsored the testimonial, Miss Shotwell said. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Shotwell of Greenville.

Privacy
Denver, Jan. 5—(AP)—Mrs. Virginia and Lionhard Boskovich, operators of a coal yard, built a seven-foot fence around their property thereby blocking one of Denver's busiest streets.

The city protested but found it was without power to do anything about it. "They're right," said City Engineer Lyle Webber. The street was never dedicated and the land is theirs."

Solution
Fairmont, Minn., Jan. 5—(AP)—There's a housing shortage here, too, and it's possible some war veterans' families will wind up on the poor farm.

The Martin County commissioners are considering a proposal to convert the farm house into apartments for veterans, since the structure no longer is needed to house the indigent.

Servicemen Thank Local Red Cross

The camp and hospital committee of the Pitt County Red Cross has received several letters of appreciation from boys hospitalized at Camp Le Jeune for the filled stockings sent them at Christmas time. Three hundred were allotted Pitt county to be filled with the generous response of the various clubs and individuals. This was easily taken care of. The Garden Club graciously offered to "fill" the stockings at their December meeting. When they had finished their afternoons work each was proud that she had had a part in such a worthwhile project. A Santa Claus was stuck on each stocking and the top tied with a big red bow. Many members brought swags and wreaths of evergreens which were sent down to decorate the ward.

Several hundred favors carrying out the season's motif were made by members of the Junior Red Cross and placed on the trays and tables Christmas day.

The committee wishes to thank the following for their financial support in making the above possible: The Lions Club, The Rotary Club, Woman's Club, Literature Department of Woman's Club, Athenium, Round Table, Clio, San Souci, End of Century, Chatham, Inter Se, Fidelity Class of Memorial Baptist Church, and several individuals, also the Red Cross of Ayden and Bethel, Mrs. C. L. McBryer for purchasing the articles for the stockings and the Greenville Garden Club for packing.

Sports

Hot Springs, Ark., Jan. 5—(AP)—The next heavyweight boxing champion of the world will be Billy Conn, believes Billy Conn, and he's banking on "them thar" hills of Arkansas to help him reach his goal.

The Pittsburgh battler, whose faulty strategy probably cost him the title almost five years ago, went into training here today for his June bout with Champion Joe Louis, which Conn says probably will be staged at New York's Yankee Stadium.

Arriving here yesterday with Trainer Fred Pierr and Milton Jaffee, a close companion, Conn declared he was "very confident" he would wallop the Brown Bomber this time.

"I definitely expect to win the fight," he said.

Conn, who recently ended a three-year hitch in the Army, is primarily concerned with his weight. Now scaling 193 pounds, he hopes to lose 13 pounds.

Otherwise, the 23-year-old boxer is in excellent condition and appears ready to go now.

San Francisco—Jackie Wilson, 147, Cleveland, decisioned Jackie Ryan, 152 1-2, San Francisco, (10).

Los Angeles, Jan. 5—(AP)—Slammin' Sammy Snead is a mighty tough customer on the Riviera course.

The long-driving Virginian, winner of last year's Los Angeles open golf tourney, over this same course, served sizzling notice he's the man to beat again by posting a 34-34-68 in yesterday's first round of the 1946 tournament. Sammy was belting 'em a mile down the middle throughout the 7,000-yard course.

But pressing Snead as the nation's leading golfer swung into the second 18 of the 72-hole tournament were Jimmy Demaret, Houston, Tex., and Jim Ferrier, Chicago, each with 69; and Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., with 70. Demaret and Ghezzi, like Snead, are after their second Los Angeles

Fenimore's Drive Helps Aggies To Victory

Fenimore (55), Oklahoma Aggies back, drives over right tackle to St. Mary's nine-yard line for a seven-yard gain in the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans. Cordeiro stopped him. The play was called and the Aggies were penalized 15 yards for illegal use of hands. Wedemeyer is at extreme right. The Aggies won 33 to 13. (AP Wirephoto).

open title. Demaret won in 1939, Ghezzi in 1935.

Bunched at 71—even par—were Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., still very much in the running for one of the few golf prizes he hasn't won: Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y.; Ed Furgol, Detroit; Harry Bassler, Los Angeles; and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Little Rock, Ark.

Maryland's Old Liners, invading North Carolina for three basketball games, came to grief last night (Fri) in their first invasion contest, bowing to Duke's Blue Devils 59-25.

Freshman Buck Cheek of Durham, playing before a home town crowd of 2,000 fans, led the Dukes to their triumph, scoring 16 points.

Tonight, the Maryland quintet plays N. C. State at Raleigh, in one of the night's two Southern Conference battles in the state. The Old Liners end their three-game series Monday night, when they meet North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

In tonight's other conference game, Duke will play Davidson at Winston-Salem. The Blue Devils trimmed the Wildcats, 50-23 three weeks ago.

Other games tonight will pit North Carolina's crack White Phantoms against the Fort Bragg Airborne Center team; Wake Forest will entertain the Norfolk naval training station; High Point will play Erlanger at Lexington; Catawba will be host to the McCrary Eagles of Asheboro; and Greensboro Ord will pay a repeat visit to the Camp Lejeune Marines.

The Marines dropped the Ord team last night, 66-51. In another service game, at Fort Benning, Ga., a visiting Cherry Point, N. C., Marine outfit won a 58-52 victory over the Benningites.

Elon, one of the state's smaller colleges, lost to Randolph-Macon, 449-30, last night at Ashland, Va.

Proposal For Atomic Control Submitted

London, Jan. 5—(AP)—A resolution proposing the creation of an atomic control commission was filed with the United Nations Organization just before midnight, the deadline for submitting resolutions for the general assembly session opening Jan. 10.

The resolution, embodying the agreement drawn up on the subject at the recent Moscow conference, was submitted by the British delegation on behalf of the United States, Britain, Soviet Russia, China and Canada.

An UNCO spokesman said the delay in filing resulted from a wireless communication failure between London and Moscow.

He said the formal consent of the Soviet government had not been received up to midnight, but that the joint-filing was accepted on the assumption that such consent would be forthcoming from Moscow.
