KIMMEL TELLS BOARD ABOUT THREAT NOTES

Protests His Crucifixion Before The Public; Testimony Given By Admiral Wins Spectator Applause

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel told a Senate-House committee today that he received letters threatening him with death when he returned to this country after the Pearl Harbor disaster.

He gave the committee a copy of a letter he wrote to Adm. Harold R. Stark on February 22, 1942, protesting that "in all justice the (navy) department should do nothing further to inflame the public more against me." Stark was chief of naval operations.

Kimmel wrote that he had just received notification from Secretary of the Navy Knox that he would be retired March 1, 1942, "without condonation of any offense or prejudice to future disciplinary action."

"I stand ready at any time to accept the consequences of my acts. I do not wish to embarrass the government in the conduct of the war. I do feel, however, that my crucifixion before the public has about reached the limit. I am in daily receipt of letters from irresponsible people over the country taking me to task and even threatening to kill me. I am not particularly concerned except as it shows the effect on the public of articles published about me."

Kimmel brought out the letter during questioning by Seth Richardson, committee counsel, about circumstances of his retirement from the navy.

Richardson told reporters he intends to ask the former Pacific Fleet commander about every important point Kimmel made in four and one half hours of testimony that ended yesterday afternoon with a burst of applause from the spectators.

Explosions Rock Big Oil Refinery

Pindley, O., Jan. 16.—(AP)—A fire raged out of control at the Midwest Refineries, Inc. plant today after an explosion caused the death of two employes and ignited fuel tanks.

Four tanks of asphalt first blew up, and the spreading flames later exploded three other petroleum tanks.

All of this city's fire fighting equipment was being used in a desperate battle to keep the fire from reaching other tanks containing more than 50,000 gallons of high-octane gasoline.

Meanwhile, the main plant and numerous other of some 50 tanks were being threatened.

The plant is on the southwestern edge of the city. Two other employes were injured critically. In addition to the wind hazard, firemen expressed fear that the flames would spread from tank to tank through underground conduits.

The WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

(Editor's Note: When DeWitt Mackenzie and his wife began their present world tour they promised to report to their own children, who remain in school in the United States, on the children of other nations and how they have been affected by war. This is such a report from Madrid.)

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP World Traveler

Madrid, Jan. 16.—Dear Carol and Major:

This is to report another of the strange and often heart stirring things we are encountering on our world tour. In the suburbs of this beautiful old city, with its boulevards and grand palaces, hundreds of families are living in direst poverty in caves dug into the many hills of compact sand. Their fate is indeed sad.

Now before going further we should warn you that these cave dwellers don't represent general conditions in Madrid, nor yet in Spain. They are folk who are the victim of the tragedy which follows on the trail of wars and plays its evil tricks on the helpless ones who can't escape.

These chairs were imbedded in the second floor ceiling in a three-story downtown building in Buffalo, N. Y., by an explosion which wrecked the building, January 12. Two persons were cut by flying glass in the building, which was owned and occupied by Unterecker's, Inc., a candy firm. (AP Wire photo).

Demobilization And Draft Complication

Speed Of Discharges Depends On Replacements Secured By Draft; Congress May Let Selective Service Die May 15

By ASSOCIATED PRESS Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The uncertain life of the present draft law posed a new complication today in the already difficult task of finding demobilization replacements for the army.

Influential members of the House Military Committee disclosed that they are ready to let selective service die on May 15—the day the existing law is to expire unless Congress again extends it.

The army has been relying largely upon the draft for recruits to replace the clamoring long-service GI's overseas, but in recent months, it has been falling short of meeting the average monthly induction requirements of 50,000 men.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told demobilization conscious lawmakers yesterday the War Department has ordered that by June 30 all men with two years of service or 40 points must be out of the army or on their way out.

Abrupt termination of the draft law on May 15 would eliminate the major source of replacements for those in later release categories, leaving them dependent on the success of the regular army's enlistment program.

The reason members of the House Military Committee are ready to let the draft law die is that they hope thereby to salvage the bogged-down universal training legislation requested by President Truman.

Meanwhile three senators tackled the task of finding some way to speed the return to civilian life of some 2,000,000 fed-up servicemen who have been chorusing "we want to go home."

RECORD GAIN BY GUARANTY

Resources Of Local Banking Institution Over $37,000,000

The Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, established in 1901, with 45 years of continuous and successful service to eastern North Carolina, held its 45th annual meeting in Sheppard Memorial Library at 2:30 yesterday afternoon.

Prior to the meeting the bank entertained 30 or more officers, directors, branch cashiers and their board members at a luncheon at Proctor Hotel. Good fellowship was enjoyed by all.

Welcome was extended to J. Howard Mays, trust officer, after a leave of five years in the armed services. Mr. Mays has recently returned from the Philippines and he made interesting remarks with reference to his experiences there. R. Harold Staton, cashier of the Dickinson Avenue branch, who has just returned from Tokyo, after 31 months in the Pacific, was welcomed and made interesting observations on Tokyo and other Japanese cities.

In his report President Woolard made the following outstanding remarks: That the bank had increased its assets during the year from $31,000,000 to $37,000,000; investment in government securities had increased by $7,300,000; loans had increased by $2,300,000.

Mr. Woolard said that the bank had been aggressive in seeking good term loans, agricultural loans, collateral and straight-name loans.

He commended the branch cashiers and board of managers for the splendid work, growth and progress they had made in their respective communities.

The president reminded the stockholders that the bank owned no bonds in default as to principal or interest, and that the average maturity of the $16,000,000 in government securities owned was less than three years.

Mr. Woolard also reminded the stockholders that the capital structure of the bank was being increased from $300,000 to $500,000 and the surplus from $350,000 to $500,000, leaving undivided profits of approximately $135,000. He stated that this would be the only bank in North Carolina, east of Durham, with a common capital stock as much as $500,000. Under the new capitalization, the preferred stock is being retired.

The report of J. H. Waldrop, vice-president and cashier, showed total assets as of December 31. (Continued on page six)

IRANIAN WOES EXPECTED TO BECOME UNO'S

Test Case Involving Iran's Charges Against Russia Over-shadows All Other Problems

By JACK SMITH London, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Delegates to the United Nations General Assembly today viewed new developments in Iran as a definite indication that the Iranian Government might provide the peace agency with its first real test by tossing into its lap the explosive Azerbaijan problem.

Premier Ibrahim Hakimi told the Iranian Parliament yesterday that: 1. Direct talks with Russia over the autonomy revolt in Soviet-occupied Azerbaijan province had failed.

2. Great Britain and Russia, who till have troops in Iran, were hesitating evacuation by the scheduled deadline of March 2 and were interfering in the affairs of Iran.

3. He had instructed Iran's delegation in London to approach the Security Council with his country's problems.

His statement caused a stir of excitement among the delegates, who yesterday heard Iran's chief delegate, Seyed Hassan Taqizadeh, call to the attention of the assembly the disturbing situation in Iran.

Taqizadeh told the delegates the Iranians had refrained rather reluctantly from asking the assembly to intervene at the moment because they hoped that negotiations with Russia or an agreement among the three major powers would bring a solution.

He left the way open, however, for asking intervention at a later date.

"If this problem comes before you," he told the assembly, "it would undoubtedly constitute a test case of the most explicit kind for the organization to manifest its fair spirit in dealing with it and protecting the vital rights of its members."

Highway Patrol Says Road Conditions Bad

Raleigh, Jan. 16.—The State Highway Patrol advised motorists late today to travel only in extreme emergencies and then to move at very low speeds.

Major H. J. Hatcher, commanding, said radio reports from his men indicated the blanket of ice and snow was general over the State, with the worst traveling conditions in the west. He added, however, that highway and street travel is precarious in the east. Reports from Wendell, near here, said that roads there were almost impassable.

Major Datcher said road conditions were among the worst of the winter, with little prospect for immediate relief.

TODAY IN CONGRESS

A Review Of Your Government In Action

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Congress heard today about death threats to read Admiral Husband E. Kimmel after Pearl Harbor and about army anxiety to release soldiers as fast as jobs assigned it will allow.

It got a broad hint, too, that selective service, which supplies some of the replacements for GI's overseas, will end in four months. The hint came from the House Military Committee.

The same committee agreed today to call what Chairman May (A-Ky) wanted a reasonable time before insisting on House action on its bill to penalize unions striking in violation of contracts with management.

Kimmel, Pacific fleet commander when Japan struck Hawaii on December 7, 1941, handed a Senate-House investigating committee a letter he wrote to Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, after being relieved and returned to the United States. It said he was ready to accept any consequences of his acts.

Acting Secretary of War Kenneth C. Royall told a special Senate subcommittee investigating demobilization the army is anxious to get the boys out as quickly as we can, consistent with performance of our duties.

The committee requested, and Royall agreed to supply, a list of army surplus property strewn all around the world. That was after the acting secretary testified that the need for guarding the property was slowing demobilization and that billions of dollars worth might have to be abandoned.

The House Military Committee decided to look into demobilization on its own and to question Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower next Tuesday.

The draft law is due to expire on May 15, and influential members of the House Military Committee told a reporter they are quite willing to let it die.

COURT HEARS NAZIS' DREAM

A Reich Of 250 Million People Planned By Hitler

By NOLAN NORGAARD Nurnberg, Germany, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The International Military Tribunal heard today that Hitler dreamed of creating a nation of 250,000,000 German speaking people within 100 years and ordered 500,000 young female domestics to be brought from the Ukraine as a step toward that goal.

The court, trying 22 top Nazis as war criminals, received this evidence in the record of a secret meeting of Fritz Sauckel with officials of the ministry for occupied eastern territories and the Nazi labor front September 4, 1942.

Sauckel, who was in charge of foreign labor, was in the prisoners' box as the report was read in prosecution of Martin Borman, Hitler's aide who is being tried in absentia although many believed he died in the battle of Berlin.

The record showed that Hitler wanted the imported women to be from 15 to 35 years old and of appearances suitable for their assimilation by the Germans.

To further the scheme, Hitler ordered a suspension of a decree forbidding the illegal bringing of female housekeepers into the Reich by members of the armed forces.

McNarney Orders No More Demonstrations

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney announced today that no more mass demonstrations by Americans are to be permitted in the European theater without the express authority of military commanders.

"The mass meetings of soldiers permitted without interference because of confusion and apparent misunderstanding in the minds of many men regarding the problems of redeployment have served their purpose," the theater commander in chief said in instructions issued.

RUSSIANS OPEN TRIAL

Moscow, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Eighteen Germans, including three generals were accused of exterminating 2,200,000 civilians and war prisoners in Russia in a war criminal trial which began yesterday at Minsk.

The first day's evidence also charged the defendants with shipping 38,000 persons into Germany and with enormous destruction and plunder.

Largest Single Walkout Opens

Dinner Tables Of 139,000,000 Americans Facing Meat Shortage Because Of Wage Dispute Involving 268,000 Men; In Other Strikes, Negotiators Report "Getting Closer Together"

By ASSOCIATED PRESS A nationwide strike started today by the meat packing industry but leaders of the 268,000 union workers involved agreed to confer in Washington tomorrow with Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach in government efforts to halt the walkout.

Schwellenbach coupled his invitation to a conference with an 100th hour plea for postponement of the walkout last night.

However, leaders of the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher workmen said the request came too late to call of the strike but he agreed to attend the conference.

Similar acceptance came today from leaders of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers.

The strike was called one minute after midnight in plants across the nation to support union demands for a pay increase.

At 11 a. m. (CST) today, the CIO said the strike was in full force, with all its 193,000 members out of 140 plants across the nation. Some 75,000 AFL Meat Workers are involved, 45,000 scheduled to quit work today and 30,000 others later. Another 60,000 AFL members in the retail trade were not involved.

Amour and Company estimated 35,000 of its workers were out by mid-morning; Cudahy, 10,000; Wilson and Company, 9,400 and Swift and Company, 15,000 to 16,000.

A survey across the nation showed meat supplies on hand were sufficient to last from about one to seven days.

George Dressler, secretary of the National Retail Meat Dealers Association, said in Chicago that if the strike continued for a week or 10 days it would make the former black markets of the war period look like a Sunday school picnic.

The strike's effect on the country's meat markets was not indicated immediately. Industry spokesmen, however, said civilian stocks of meat now in storage, if the sole source of supply, would be exhausted in about a week. They said the closing of the country's biggest packers—Cudahy, Armour, Swift and Wilson—is expected to have an immediate and serious effect on the flow of meat to civilians.

Many small packers are not affected by the strike. But if farmers shipped enough stock to keep them working at capacity, industry spokesmen estimated civilians will get about 50 per cent less meat if the strike is not called off.

No disorders were reported early as the picket lines were established. In Chicago's huge yards on the city's Southwest Side, the world's largest live stock market, some 35,000 workers were affected by the walkout. Between 18,000 and 20,000 were employed in plants in nine Iowa cities; 7,000 at Omaha; 9,000 in St. Louis and about 10,000 in Minnesota plants.

The work stoppage in the meat industry was the second huge strike in two days, and came less than 24 hours after a walkout by some 200,000 CIO electrical workers in 70 plants of General Electric, Westinghouse and General Motors Electrical Division.

Mass picketing, reported in 69 communities, for the most part was greater than in any strike called nationally in recent years.

As the strike continued in 16 states, Westinghouse advised the union, the third largest CIO affiliate in the country, that it was terminating its wage contract on its normal expiration date, next March 31.

The union struck in support of demands for a $2 a day wage increase and the walkout, affecting 199,000 at General Electric plants, 75,000 at Westinghouse and 25,000 General Motors employes, also made idle tens of thousands of white collar workers not affiliated with the union.

In Washington CIO President Philip Murray and Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Corporation, met in an attempt to halt a strike of 800,000 steelworkers now scheduled for next Monday.

After their meeting Saturday to discuss the wage dispute the steel strike was postponed one week. Meanwhile about 30,000 steel workers were idle because of disputes involving local issues, but steel production, which was curtailed as last Monday's strike deadline neared, continued to climb.

The CIO United Auto Workers in wage negotiations with the Ford Motor Co., held out for a 19 1/2-cent an-hour wage increase as recommended.

Dressler said he was going to Washington today in an attempt to discuss the situation with government officials. He declared that current meat supplies would last but two or three days on a nationwide basis, but that some small packers who have signed up with the union or are operating would be able to keep some meat coming to market.

Dressler declared the situation throughout the nation would be very severe within a week or 10 days.

Some parts of the nation, just back to normal meat diet recently following wartime shortages, today faced a severe meat famine by or before the end of this week.

Estimates in some other centers ranged up to a week or ten days supply of fresh meat, with some areas reporting that tinned meats might last considerably longer than that.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—War time tax laws may help some big business to weather current strikes. The company losses operating income and the strikers their pay envelopes during a work stoppage.

But a company which made abnormal profits during the war can get a tax refund to ease its losses while plants are idle—even though competitors may be covering the market. Over the long range, such losses to competitors could far exceed any aid from tax refunds.

There's no such tax law to help the unions or the strikers. They have to dig into their savings to get through.

There are two laws giving business such a break: One involves the normal corporation tax of 40 per cent, the other the 85-1-2 per cent excess profits tax. Some firms might benefit from both.

Take the normal tax first. A firm losing money on its operation in a particular year can get a tax refund on profits for two preceding years.

"It still further help is necessary, a firm can get a tax refund—which means not paying a tax—on profits for as much as two years following the bad year."

"The Jones Corporation in 1943 made a profit of $1,000,000, the same in 1944, but lost $500,000 in 1945."

It got back and reopens its tax return for 1943, because the 40 per cent tax, it paid a tax of $400,000 on its $1,000,000 profit.

It subtracts the 1945 loss of $500,000 from the 1943 profit and that leaves it a 1943 profit of only $500,000.

So it's taxed only on that $500,000 for 1943 and gets a refund of $200,000 of the tax paid on the other $500,000 in 1943.

Now take the excess profits tax of 85-1-2 per cent. To prevent profiteering during the war, Congress passed a law which said:

The years 1936-39, inclusive, were normal years for business profits. If during the war years a firm made no more than it averaged in 1936-39, then it paid only the regular, 40 per cent normal corporation income tax.

But all profits over a firm's average profit for 1936-39 were taxed at the 85-1-2 per cent excess profits rate.

This big tax chewed up profits, although business firms say they need to set aside some profits all the time to save up for years when there are losses. So Congress tried to help business out this way:

The Jones Corporation in 1936-39 averaged a yearly profit of $1,000,000. In 1943 and again in 1944 it made $3,000,000. So it paid 40 per cent normal tax on the first million each year and 85-1-2 per cent on the additional two million each year. (Continued on page four)

Bride-Elect Honored
Misses Alice Graves and Annie Sue Humacker joint hostesses at eleven tables of bride at their home in Winterville on January 11, honoring Miss Blair Cox, bride-elect. The bride's place was marked with a lovely corsage of white carnations and fern.

Throughout the house were beautiful decorations consisting of white candles and greenery. A most clever bridal arrangement using a doll dressed in the bridal attire caused much comment during the evening. The miniature bride stood on an improvised altar flanked with white candles, ivy and small white flowers.

After the tallies were passed and the guests were seated food drinks and nuts were served. After several tasteful plates consisting of congealed fruit salad on lettuce, pickles, a bundle of crackers tied with green ribbon, a pimento cheese sandwich in the shape of a heart, stuffed dates, nuts and hot punch were served. On each plate was a small white lighted candle.

High score was given Mrs. John R. Carroll, second high was presented to Mrs. A. D. McLawhorn, and Mrs. C. D. Ward, from Greenville, was given the floating prize.

"Romeo and Juliet"
The National Classic Theatre production of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" last night in the Wright auditorium of East Carolina Teachers College brought to the campus the largest audience to attend a college entertainment since before the beginning of the war. Approximately 1,400 people from Greenville and surrounding towns were present for the raps.

From New Bern came 75 theatre-goers; and from Washington, Kingston, Rocky Mount, Ayden, Bethel, Stanionsburg, Chocowinity, and Roanoke Rapids, others came to Greenville for the performance. Only a few seats in the balcony and on the last two rows downstairs in the auditorium were left unoccupied. Several groups of high school students from Greenville, and other towns were present. Over 700 college students attended.

In commenting on the performance, Miss Marguerite Austin, chairman of the college entertainment committee, said that she and other members of her committee were pleased by the interest shown throughout this section of the state.

The National Classic Theatre production of "Romeo and Juliet," directed by Clare Tree Major, was a competent performance and pleased the audience. The scenery, by Irving Morrow, a stationary set with central arch and two portals, was well designed and permitted various changes to fit the action of the play. Costumes by Marian DePew were colorful and attractive. Special lighting increased the effectiveness of the production.

Olga Balish as Juliet, Stewart Long as Romeo, Charles Gilbert as Mercutio, and Justine Johnston as the Nurse won applause for the acting. Frederick Ritter as Friar Laurence spoke with a foreign accent, which detracted from his otherwise satisfactory performance of the role. The action was swift as befitted the play, the lines of which were considerably though skilfully cut.

Next offering of the entertainment committee will be a recital on Friday, March 1, by Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, duo-pianists of the Navy, who have delighted hundreds of audiences of service men and of radio fans by their interpretations of classic music.

Mt. Pleasant News

Under the capable leadership of superintendent, O. J. Stencil, Mount Pleasant Sunday school has grown noticeably in the past few years. However, we wish to see further progress and hope to add new members to the roll.

Our other officers are: assistant superintendent, G. W. Stell; secretary, Mrs. Pete Brown; treasurer, Mrs. C. B. Spain.

The young people's classes are held in the community building and are taught by three very able teachers, Miss Edna Earle Fleming, Mrs. Wilbur Small and Mrs. J. O. Teel. The adult class is taught by O. J. Stencil.

Sunday school begins promptly at 10 a. m. and ends at 11 a. m. All members are urged to be present and on time. Visitors are always welcome.
Mount Pleasant community building, which is located near the church, was built several years ago, through the efforts of the members of the Ladies' Aid Society. In it are held classes, parties, plays and many other entertainments of the community. The society meets every second Monday and has carried through several worthwhile projects. Mrs. F. A. McGlohon is the president and Mrs. Dock Smith, the secretary and treasurer.

The Ladies' Aid Society held its regular meeting, Monday afternoon in the community building. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Nannie Evans conducted a quiz on the Bible. A social hour followed. Mrs. J. D. Harrington and Mrs. Carl Scott, the hostesses, served refreshments. There were twenty-one members present and several visitors.

Miss Jean Rook Weds Coleman King

Bethel.—Miss Jean Rook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rook of Bethel, became the bride of Coleman King, son of Mrs. J. C. King and the late Mr. King of Roxboro, in a candlelight ceremony performed Wednesday, January 2, at the Bethel Methodist Church by the Rev. W. M. Howard, Jr. Wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Harold Stator, organist, and Miss Mary Wells Bunting, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with a yoke of illusion outlined with duchess lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of lace and she carried a prayer book showered with white lilacs and sweet peas and centered with an orchid.

Miss Margaret Brown Martin was maid of honor, and Mrs. Joseph M. Butterworth, matron of honor. They wore dresses of blue net and lace. They carried nosegays of mixed pastel flowers tied with pink ribbon. Bridesmaids were Miss Shirley King, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Earl Proctor Andrews. They wore pink dresses identical to those of the maid and matron of honor. Their nosegays were of mixed pastel flowers tied with blue ribbon.

The bridegroom's best man was R. D. Bumpass of Roxboro, and the ushers were Gene Thompson, Thomas Hatchett, Robert Michaels of Roxboro and John Lloyd Watson of Norfolk, Va. Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. Benjamin Thrift of Raleigh, Misses Betty Smith, Sallie Jo Gurganus and Frances Tucker Andrews of Bethel.

The mother of the bride wore blue crepe and a corsage of pink roses. Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Rook entertained at an informal reception at their home. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white lilacs and stock. Mr. and Mrs. Rook received the guests. The receiving line was composed of the couple and members of the wedding party. Mrs. W. M. Howard directed guests to the dining room where Miss Camille Stator and Mrs. Walter C. Whitehurst served at either end of the table. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Stator.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. King left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. For traveling, the bride wore a brown wool suit with matching accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. King is a graduate of Greensboro College and is a teacher in the Allensville High School. Mr. King was educated at the Roxboro schools and is manager of Long's Haberdashery.

The couple will make their home in Roxboro. The bride was complimented at a number of prenuptial parties. On Friday evening Mrs. F. L. Blount and Mrs. J. B. Bunting entertained at a reception at the home of Mrs. Blount. Mrs. Blount presented the honoree crystal and Mrs. Bunting silver.

On Saturday morning, Mrs. J. L. Gurganus and Miss Sallie Jo Gurganus entertained at a coca-cola party at their home. They presented the bride chins in her pattern. Mrs. W. J. Smith and Miss Betty Smith entertained at a bridge luncheon on Friday honoring Miss Rook and Misses Frances Hillis of Cuthbert, Ga., and Ruby Harris of Warrenton, classmates of Miss Smith. The bride was presented a gift of china.

Mrs. Robert Joseph Whitehurst and Mrs. Walter Clayton Whitehurst entertained at a coffee hour on Tuesday. Mrs. L. J. Whitehurst poured coffee. The hostesses presented the bride china.

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. F. L. Andrews and Mrs. T. R. Andrews entertained the wedding party at a dinner. The hostesses presented the bride silver in her chosen pattern. Following the rehearsal Mrs. J. M. Butterworth and Mrs. K. E. Manning entertained at a cake cutting. The table was covered with a Madeira cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Tall white candles burned on either end of the table.

Mrs. J. A. Stator, Mrs. Harold Stator and Miss Camille Stator entertained at a luncheon on the day of the wedding for the bridal party and out of town guests.

Phantoms Head League Standing

By DAVE CLARK

After another poorly played first half the Green Phantoms came back after the intermission to rack up a 30-17 victory over Roanoke Rapids in that city last night. The Junior Phantoms dropped a 13-12 heart-breaker to the larger Roanoke Rapids Juniors in the preliminary.

The win was the Phantoms' fourth in a row and third in the conference and placed the Greenies on top of the heap in the league standing.

The Phantoms once again had trouble finding the basket and missed enough easy shots in the first half to have run the final score into the fifties or sixties. In fact the Phantoms scored only 7 points during the entire first half while the Yellow Jackets were tossing in 10 markers.

However, in the second half the Phantoms went to work and ran the score to 22-10 before the Jackets were able to score. They still were less in many shots, but they controlled the backboards and were able to keep control of the ball much of the time.

Billy Harrington's passing, ball-handling, and shooting were superb throughout the game as he kept the Greenies going many times when the attack bogged. He also tossed in nine points to lead the Greenville scoring. Harrington was followed by Jimmy Futrell and Mac Batchelor with 7 markers apiece.

Warren, center, was high man for Roanoke with 8 points.

George Minshev scored 4 markers to lead the Greenville Juniors.

The starting five for Greenville was Billy Harrington and Mac Batchelor at guards, Jimmy Futrell and Ed Williams at forwards, and J. T. Williams at center.

Substitutes who saw action were Julian White, Billy White, Henry Turner, Jack Whitehead, and Dave Clark.

North Carolina's White Phantoms today rested in a challenging position only a game and a half back of Duke's unbeaten Southern Conference pace setters following their 38-30 triumph at Davidson last night.

The Tar Heels have won five circuit games in six starts as against Duke's 7-0 record.

Before going down to its sixth loss in seven conference games Davidson enjoyed the distinction of a 9-8 lead after seven and a half minutes of play. Then the Phantoms poured through 21 points against two for the Wildcats to close the half with a 29-11 bulge. Twenty-nine more points in the final half turned the game into a rout.

Each of the 11 North Carolinians to see service had a hand in the scoring, Jim Jordan's 17 points and 11 by John Dillon setting the pace. No. 3 scorer with six points was Horace (Bones) McKinney, ex-N. C. State and GI star from Durham, making his debut with the Tar Heels. Starting at forward late in the first half, he was shifted to center for the last period, Bob Paxton moving to guard. This combination showed promise of developing into a strong one with more practice as a unit.

Wake Forest handed William and Mary its first Southern Conference loss, scoring a 36-34 victory at Williamsburg. The count was 30-30 with four minutes to go, hoops by Walters, Williams and Hinerman clinching the game for the Deacs.

Duke avenged an early season loss by trimming the Norfolk Naval Training Station, 31-22, at Durham. Ed Koffenberger, Devil center, led the scorers with seven points. A sizzling preliminary saw the North Carolina Jayvees, 38-38, in overtime.

North State Conference games saw Guilford College trip Lenoir Rhyne, 38-24, in a contest marked by 37 personal fouls and High Point outscore Appalachian, 57-47, after a 24-24 first half.

Elizabeth, N. J.—Allie Stolz, 138 3-4, Newark, N. J., outpointed Victor Flores, 190, Mexico City, (8). Salem, Mass.—Lew Jenkins, 139 1-2, Sweetwater, Texas, knocked out Jerry Zullig, 140, Chelsea, Mass., (2).

New York—Lenny (Boom Boom) Mancini, 149, Youngstown, O., outpointed Torpedo Reed, 143, Los Angeles, (8).

Eppes Cagers Meet Pantego Team Jan. 17

The boys' and girls' basketball quintets of Eppes Negro High School will entertain the Beaufort County Training School cagers of Pantego in a twin bill here Thursday night, January 17.

The local teams defeated the Chance High School lads and lassies in two thrupp packed games in the local gymnasium on January 8. Both games ended with a score of 32-21. The Parmale girls' team suffered their first defeat in five years.

When the boys' aggregation ties up with Pantego Thursday night they will be seeking their second victory of the week, having defeated the Harnett County Training School of Dunn, here on Tuesday night, 37-14.

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The National Football League's Club Owners reached for the aspirin bottle and went to the mat with their schedule-making headache again today in the hope of firing one final shot at the young All-America conference.

They've already moved their own championship Cleveland Rams to Los Angeles to buck the All-America in one of the key pro gridiron cities. They have switched their commissioner from mild Elmer Layden to rough and ready Bert Bell for their all-out war with the new rival loop. And yesterday they and three other associated leagues also warned all contract jumping players that the punishment for bolting to the All-America would be banishment from pro ball for five years.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

HIGH COST OF RIGHT LIVING

It has never been easy to live a good life in any age, and it is not easy to do so today. St. Paul, great preacher of righteousness, declared at the end of his distinguished ministry that it was still necessary for him to buffet his body and keep it under subjection. We are told of our Lord that after His temptation in the wilderness, the tempter departed from him—for a season. Some of His greatest temptations appear to have come as He stood in the shadow of the cross.

We are dealing here with one of life's permanent patterns. Some people pretend to believe that life is a great adventure. Others hold that it is the right of everyone to be happy, and such being the case, sorrow and trouble are to be regarded as contrary to God's will for the world. But even the slightest penetration into the meaning of life enables us to see that life is a struggle. We have to fight every minute to escape the toils of evil and watch every minute lest we become victims of its snares.

Tennyson wrote:
"—arise and fly
The reeling fawn, the sensual feast;
Move upward, working out the best."

And let the ape and tiger die—
People who hold a Pollyanna philosophy of life are not realists. Life's benefits are purchased at real cost, and the thing which costs most is goodness.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

(First of Four Articles)
Washington—"Let me make it very clear that when I speak of bills not getting any action, it is not the Congress as a whole which is responsible, it is the committees which hold up action on bills, often a bare majority of a committee—a handful of men—can prevent a vote by the whole Congress on these measures of majority policy."

With those words in his "year of decision" speech, President Truman raked his former colleagues over the coals as only a Chief Executive who had served in Congress could.

Coming as it did shortly after the report of Sen. Robert LaFollette's joint committee on the reorganization of Congress, the President's blast highlighted the fact that the committee system is sadly in need of overhauling.

There are 33 standing committees in the Senate; 48 in the House. In addition, there are 15 special committees, concerned with everything from sheep to the skylight of the House chamber.

For several years Sen. LaFollette and Rep. A. S. "Mike" Monroney, co-author of the Reorganization Bill, have been trying to streamline the committee system.

"No person familiar with the situation today," said LaFollette when he introduced his resolution to reduce the number of committees to 12 in each chamber, "can deny that there is a pressing need for committee reorganization."

Nobody argued with the senator on the floor nor has anyone publicly taken sides against Sen. Monroney, but their resolutions have suffered the same fate as President Truman's domestic program—bogged down in committees.

In each two-year session of Congress, there are approximately 20,000 bills introduced. Congress could not consider anything like that number. Nor could even the more active committees give due deliberation to all the bills assigned to them if it weren't for two factors:

(1) Several thousands of the bills weren't introduced with any idea that they would be passed (these are for-the-record use so members can go back to their constituents with the argument "I did everything I could").

(2) Hundreds of the bills are obviously amendable or at least so favored by the majority that the minority doesn't bother to object.

In neither of these categories falls any of the controversial legislation, which includes all of President Truman's proposals on which he hasn't had a vote from "the whole Congress." The President knows whereof he speaks. As a senator he served on six standing committees: Appropriations, Enrolled Bills, Interstate Commerce, Military Affairs, Printing, and Public Buildings and Grounds. He also was chairman of that "Truman Committee," officially titled the Committee to Investigate the National Defense Program. He served, too, on the special committee to investigate the Civil Service system.

(Tomorrow: How a Committee Functions)

But in 1945 it made only $500,000. This was subject to the usual 40 per cent normal tax, since it was a profit. But was not an excess profit. So there was no excess profits tax on it.

But there was a difference of $500,000 between the firm's $500,000 profit in 1945 and pre-war average of $1,000,000 in 1936-39.

So the firm went back to 1943, when it had a $3,000,000 profit, and reopened its excess profits tax return for that year.

In that year, 1943, the firm paid a 40 per cent normal tax on the first $1,000,000 profit (because that was the average profit it made in 1936-39) and 85 1/2 per cent excess profits tax on the other $2,000,000 which was that much above its 1936-39 average.

To the $1,000,000 which was taxed 40 per cent in 1943, the firm adds the difference—$500,000—between what it made in 1945 ($500,000) and the $1,000,000 it averaged in 1936-39.

This gives it a total of $1,500,000 to be taxed at 4 per cent and a balance of only $1,500,000 (instead of $2,000,000) to be taxed at 85 1/2 per cent for 1943.

Thus its excess profits tax for 1943 is made smaller. The firm gets a refund on the difference between the excess profits tax it actually paid in 1943 and what it now figures the tax for 1943 should be.

The law allowing this kind of refiguring of excess profits taxes to make up for losses expires at the end of 1946.

During 1946 strike bound firms can take advantage of it to dip back into 1944 and 1945 to make up a part of its losses.

The excess profits tax itself—the 85 1/2 per cent tax—applied only during the war years. Firms don't have to pay that tax in 1946.

The World Today . . .

They just looked at you with expressionless, unseeing eyes. I guess they were too ill to take notice.

Not a few of these people exist by begging and I'm afraid some of them steal. The children are particularly active in helping maintain the families. Curiously enough, a lot of these children earn pennies by acting as high school dealers. Everywhere we went the children and their mothers gathered around and looked us over with wide eyes, for we were strange foreigners. Mummy distributed hundreds of coins among them, and it was interesting to see that they never did crowd or snatch. They just waited until their turn came and then smiled out of their hungry little faces and said: "God will pay it back to you."

Today In Congress . . .

31st Anniversary of International Friday January 25

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Greenville will observe the 31st anniversary of Kiwanis International during the week of January 20 to 26 with a program based on the service organization's 1946 administration theme, "Build for Peace—Unity—Opportunity."

Ed E. Rawl, president of the Greenville club, said today that plans for the anniversary meeting, to be held Friday night January 25, at 6:30, had been virtually completed.

Mayor Jack Boyd has proclaimed the period as "Kiwanis International Week."

An outstanding feature of the anniversary celebration will be the reading of a message from Hamilton Holt, of Macon, Ga., prominent Southern industrialist and president of Kiwanis International. Founded in Detroit immediately previous to the beginning of World War I, Kiwanis International now embraces 153,000 business and professional leaders in more than 2,300 communities throughout the United States and Canada.

Its contributions toward the conduct of World War II were considered outstanding by the government, especially in the fields of war bond sales, scrap collections, blood donations, and aid to servicemen and women. A number of citations were awarded the organization by various departments of government.

Kiwanis International already has thrown its weight behind the industrial reconversion program and is preparing to launch a broad forum program for the purpose of developing public discussion on vital national issues.

The Greenville Kiwanis Club has 72 members. Last year was one of the best in the club's history. The slogan of the club this year is "Community service by every member."

Joseph S. Moye, trust officer, reported a substantial increase in the assets of the trust department, which are not reflected in the bank totals, during the year 1945. He said the trust department is now handling in excess of 100 active trust accounts.

Reports were also made by J. W. Overton, auditor, and each of the branch cashiers.

The stockholders' unanimously re-elected to the board of directors, are as follows: A. W. Angle, J. H. Blount, J. S. Ficklen, E. Graham Flanagan, W. E. Hooker, James T. Little, George H. Harrison, A. M. Moseley, R. L. Smith, J. A. Stator, J. H. Waldrop, J. J. White, Ralph H. Hodges and W. H. Woolard.

Court Hears

De was accused, moreover, of sending 431,500 Dutch to slave labor in Germany.

There was no indication, however, of a break in the deadlock with General Motors, whose 175,000 workers have been on strike since November 21 over the union's demand for a 30 per cent pay boost.
