Atom Control Is Topic For Study

General Assembly Shelves Greek, Iranian and Indonesian Issues, Proposes Establishment Of A Commission To Operate Under Security Council.

London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The United Nations Organization, temporarily shelving the critical Iranian, Greek and Indonesian issues, today tackled the problem of setting up machinery to safeguard the world against the atomic bomb.

The specific proposal before the general assembly as it met at 3 p. m. 10:00 a. m. eastern standard time was the establishment of a commission to study atom control problems and make recommendations to the World Security Council.

There was no indication that the plan—sponsored by the United States, Great Britain, Soviet Russia and Canada—would get any serious opposition. The proposal received its first test Monday before the assembly's political and security committee, which approved it by a vote of 46 to 0.

The Security Council planned to meet to seek an agreement on a nominee for general secretary of the U. N. C. but officials said the agenda did not call for consideration of the Iranian and Russian cases.

UNO officials, meanwhile, discounted talk that these controversial issues might create a crisis in the new peace organization. Assembly President Paul-Henri Spaak declared there was "no ground for pessimism."

The British government, a qualified British source said, had "nothing to fear or be ashamed of and certainly nothing to conceal" in its policies in Greece and Indonesia.

British Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons yesterday that the British aspired only to "an amicable settlement" between the Dutch and Indonesians.

Informed observers expressed belief that Britain's case for keeping troops in Greece and Indonesia had been considerably strengthened by statements of support yesterday from the Greek premier and the premier of the unrecognized Indonesian government.

Premier Themistokles Sophoulis said in Athens that "British military forces are in Greece with the full consent of the Greek government and are in earnest collaboration with it in maintaining order."

The Indonesian leader, Sutan Sjahrir, said the Indonesians wanted British troops to remain in Java. (Continued on Page Six)

ATL BATTLE IN FIFTH DAY OF SPEECHES

No End Foreseen To Planned Campaign Of Filibustering

By FRANCIS J. KELLY Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The wordy war against FEPC entered its fifth day today, with filibustering southern senators in fine voice and high tittle.

It was impossible to gauge when or whether a break would come in their well organized campaign to talk to death the legislation which would set up a permanent fair employment practice commission.

Senator Clyde R. Hoey, silvery-haired North Carolina Democrat who habitually adorns the lapel of his frock coat with a red carnation, got the nod to take up where senators Russell (D-Ga.) and Tydings (D-Md.) left off at 6 p. m. last night.

The battling orator has not been announced beyond Hoey, but Senator Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) volunteered that he is being held in reserve.

Ellender recalled with satisfaction an 11-day speech he made back in 1938 during a filibuster on the anti-lynching bill, which eventually was defeated.

Against the bill from cover to cover, Russell contended it was a misnomer to call the measure "a bill to prohibit discrimination in employment," as it is labeled in the title.

He suggested it be renamed, among other things, a bill "to invite alien immigrants and assure them of employment to the detriment of the right of native-born Americans to work."

"If Adolf Hitler could come over here," he declared, "he could hand an employer up before this FEPC kangaroo court and get a job as a paper-hanger and keep some American soldier from getting the job."

Cotton Industry To Plan Research

Memphis, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Expansion of the Federal Government's research program to help cotton weather the competition from synthetic products has been urged by two committees of the National Cotton Council meeting here in its eighth annual session.

"The cotton industry has not kept up with the times in the field of research," Walter Randolph of Montgomery, Ala., chairman of the cotton utilization research committee, declared.

Comparing cotton's research program with that of the chemical industries manufacturing synthetic yarns, Randolph said the chemical industry had been spending two per cent of its gross income on research, whereas the cotton industry had had the benefit of only one-seventh of one per cent.

WILL ENFORCE PRICE CEILING

OPA To Bear Down On Dealers Who Exceed Ceilings

By CHESTER WALSH Wholesale and retailers and those who sell service and have an idea that the OPA's price control is all over, better think the matter over and avoid citation for charging more for merchandise or service than law allows. An impression prevails that because the fighting has stopped that OPA price control also stopped.

In Washington Congress is now seriously considering extending price control beyond next July, in order to avoid the disaster of such price inflation as occurred shortly after World War I.

The retail grocer who sells a 12-cent package of cornflakes for 13 cents is violating the price ceiling law, and he may be cited to appear at the district office of Price Control and be fined for the violation and required to pay treble the price of the article sold above the ceiling. Failure to obey the citation will lead to that dealer being cited to Federal Court, and that a serious predicament, a State OPA official said today.

Incidentally, J. B. Kittrell, head of the local Office of Price Administration, has called a meeting at the City Hall Friday night at 7:45 of all merchants selling groceries, furniture, wearing apparel, durable goods, automobiles and service establishments. Everybody's invited.

Mr. Kittrell today issued the following statement: "The Office of Price Administration is charged with the responsibility of maintaining correct ceiling prices. If this job cannot be done locally, with the assistance and cooperation of our merchants, investigation at the District Office representatives and prosecution of all violators under the criminal code will necessarily follow.

"It has been the policy of local OPA officials throughout the rat- (Continued on Page Six)

Legislative Body Hears Program For Modernizing Nation's Law-Making Machinery.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Congress heard from its own ranks today how it should streamline itself, and the program includes pay raises, pensions and extra assistants.

From a parliamentary viewpoint, one of the key recommendations is that Congress break the tight control which the house rules committee now can exercise over pending legislation.

The program for modernizing the nation's top law-making machinery was reported by a Senate-House Subcommittee which has been making an extensive study of Congressional reorganization.

- 1. Gives members of Congress a $5,000 raise, increasing their salaries to $15,000 effective the next Congress, and place them under the federal pension system.
2. Allow Congressmen more time for important business by permitting each to hire an $8,000-a-year assistant to handle non-legislative matters.
3. Limit sessions to provide an annual recess from the close of the fiscal year, June 30, until September 10 or October 1.
4. Experiment with a weekly schedule providing three full days (Continued on page six)

GERMAN FLEET IS BROKEN UP

Big Three Divide Nazi Navy Equally Between Selves

London, Jan. 2.—Remnants of the German fleet, once a powerful factor in world affairs, have been divided among the victorious Big Three—Britain, Russia and the U. S. A.

Operable surface units of the Nazi navy, amounting to 1,759 vessels, together with 30 submarines, are being split up on a share and share alike basis, a tri-power communiqué said last night.

The action leaves Germany without the vestige of a combat fleet. A British source said the German merchant fleet also would be divided up later, although fishing vessels will not be taken.

Involved in the split-up were two cruisers, 30 destroyers and torpedo boats, 48 torpedo ships and 1,679 other units, including mine sweepers and harbor patrol boats. All of Germany's battleships were sunk during the war and the British disclosed last night that 100 surrendered German U-boats were scuttled last November.

Each nation, in addition to 10 submarines will receive: (Continued on Page Six)

CIO DEMANDS FEDERAL TAX LAW REVISION

Murray Charges Law Assures Industry's Profits

Pittsburgh, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Revision of federal corporation tax laws was demanded today by the CIO-United Steelworkers as union and management each sought to marshal public opinion on their side of the three-day-old strike.

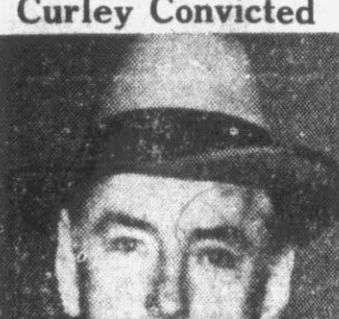

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the USW, charged in a letter to treasury Secretary Vinson that "revising legislation" would give the stalled steel industry "guaranteed profits that are 29 per cent above the level of prewar earnings" even if it should "loaf the rest of the year—remain absolutely idle."

U. S. Steel President B. F. Fairless scheduled a nationwide radio address (ABC, 10 p. m. Eastern Standard time) tonight to present industry's side of the grim dispute. And in a statement he set forth his reasons why President Truman's compromise proposal for a wage increase of 18 1/2 cents an hour, accepted by the union, was rejected by management.

U. S. Steel's offer of a 15-cent boost, Fairless said, "met 75 per cent of the union's proposal." To go higher, he added, would endanger "the thousands of fabricators and processors of steel whose very existence would be in jeopardy should we grant the union's demand for such a large and unwarranted increase."

Later a group of fabricating firms, at a press conference here, spoke out for separation of their wage negotiations from those of producing firms, asserting their plants were struck "despite the fact they had no real opportunity to bargain collectively with the unions." The USW declined comment on this.

As the strike went into its third day, with 750,000 idle at nearly 1,300 plants in 29 states an Associated Press survey disclosed some $8,500 (Continued on Page Six)

Dept. of Agriculture Will Take Over Operation Of Strike-bound Plants Saturday; AFL Workers Will Return To Jobs For Government.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The White House announced today the department of agriculture will seize and operate strikebound meat packing plants on Saturday.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the agriculture department will have the aid of the war department "if necessary" and that the agriculture department will conduct the operations.

Ross declined to answer questions concerning his terse announcement, made to a hurriedly called news conference.

Ross made the following oral statement: "The government will seize the closed meat packing plants on Saturday, January 26.

"The necessary orders for the seizure are now being prepared by the secretary of labor.

"The seizure will be made by the department of agriculture with the aid of the war department if necessary. The plants will be operated by the department of agriculture.

"That's the whole of it at this time."

A few minutes earlier a government official, who declined to be quoted directly, had indicated the seizure would be made Saturday, to allow further time to persuade striking CIO workers to return to their jobs under government operation. Labor department officials have said that striking AFL workers had agreed to return if the government took over.

It remained uncertain, however, whether federal seizure of the meat packing plants would restore speedily the normal flow of beef, lamb and pork products to the nation's tables.

Although the government marked time in efforts to settle the steel strike, which has 750,000 workers idle in 30 states, there were a few rays of hope plus continued activity in various other labor-management disputes.

Among the developments were: Steel—seizure of strikebound steel plants was reported by those close to the White House to be "hardly in the stage of serious discussion" at this time.

Electrical manufacturing—Mediation was to be resumed tomorrow in New York under leaders of 200,000 striking CIO United Electrical workers and executives of General Electric and Westinghouse Corporations.

Shipbuilding—The working committee of the Shipbuilding Stabilization Conference scheduled new meetings today to act on a government sponsored proposal to increase shipyard wages 15 per cent. The proposal was advanced yesterday.

REPATRIATION VESSEL SINKS

American Freighter Rescue 99% Of Survivors

Shanghai, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The dramatic rescue of nearly 4,300 Japanese from their sinking repatriation ship, the Enoshima Maru, was told today when the American ship Brevard arrived jammed with 96 per cent of the survivors.

The ship sank rapidly after striking a mine 60 miles off the mouth of the Yangtze yesterday.

In only 25 minutes, all the Japanese except about 20 killed in the explosion or in subsequent mishaps were transferred from the 6,000-ton vessel to the Brevard. It appeared likely that the rescue would set a record for speed in handling such a mass of people.

The Brevard's skipper, Dr. John L. Elliott of San Diego, Calif., said the rescue was accomplished with hardly a hitch through cooperation of the Japanese, whom he described as frightened but orderly.

The Enoshima Maru, carrying 4,296 Japanese men, women and children, sank within an hour and a half.

Two lines were thrown aboard and the Japanese began swarming over the sides as the ships nestled together. Two or three persons dropped into the sea, including a woman who had just handed her baby to an American sailor. She died under the Brevard's propeller. (Continued on Page Six)

Marshall Gets Post Advisor To Board

Chungking, Jan. 23.—(AP)—General Marshall, President Truman's special envoy, has accepted the post of adviser to the military committee of three handling reorganization of the Chinese army, minister of information K. C. Wu announced today.

Wu also said he thought censorship in recovered areas would be lifted "very soon" and that Chinese administration has been established in the Manchurian towns of Changchun, Mukden, Harbin, Chinghsien and Szeppingka.

The minister said however there still are no government forces in either Dairen or Port Arthur.

As approved by the labor group, the bill gives fact-finding boards legal status, but does not provide them with power to subpoena witnesses or records, as requested by President Truman. Also the measure does not ban strikes during the 30-day period of deliberation by the boards, as asked by the President.

"Smith said if his move in the rules group succeeds he probably will try to put the subpoena power and the 'cooling off' period provisions back into the measure, and in addition will include sections which would:

- 1. Make unions and companies equally responsible for observing contracts.
2. Protect both workers and the companies from violence, threats and intimidation.
3. Prohibit sympathy strikes, boycotts and jurisdictional strikes.
4. Ban organization into unions of supervisory and managerial employees.

Republican leaders, generally, said they would not go so far as Smith proposed but would fight for an enlargement of the labor committee bill.

Other capitol doings: The House Republican leadership called its policy-making steering committee into the first session of the year to map the party's legislative strategy. President Truman's program, as outlined in the state of the Union message, was due for critical scrutiny in the closed session.

Pearl Harbor probes were worried again about the length of the inquiry which now has a February 15 deadline set by Congress. They planned a huddle on ways to limit the investigation's scope, once they have received the full testimony of Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, 1941 army commander in Hawaii.

TODAY IN CONGRESS

A Review Of Your Government In Action

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A strong drive took shape in the House today to rewrite into broad new strike control legislation the watered down version of President Truman's fact-finding bill.

Leaders of a group composed largely of Republicans and Southern Democrats told newsmen they will try to attach several amendments to the measure approved yesterday by the House Labor Committee.

Just how broad these proposals will be has not yet been agreed upon, and much of the decision may be fought out on the House floor. The battle probably will begin next week after the Rules Committee acts on the fact-finding bill.

Regardless of the details, the coalition leaders claimed—and their opponents acknowledged—wide-spread backing for some type of stringent legislation aimed at curbing industrial strife.

Foes of such action told reporters privately their chief hope lies in possible settlement of some of the major disputes before a vote is taken.

"We are just making a last ditch stand, otherwise," one of them said. "The House is raring to go. Most members believe they have to push through something to end the bitter strikes."

The first test will come before the Rules Committee, probably Friday. Those wanting broad legislation, including two key committee members, Reps. Howard Smith (D-Va.) and Cox (D-Ga.), announced that they will try to have the Rules Committee approve procedure which would allow wide open amendments of the bill on the House floor.

Rep. Hook (D-Mich.) and those opposed to immediate enactment of anti-strike legislation told reporters they will try for a ruling that would allow only amendments dealing with fact-finding.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A group of congressmen, the House Labor Committee, has cut the heart out of President Truman's plan for setting up fact-finding boards to settle labor disputes.

Maybe the full House or Senate will put the heart back in. Maybe not.

But if the heart's out, why do anything? This is an explanation. Under his extraordinary war time powers, President Truman has set up such boards in the present labor crisis. The boards are supposed to learn the truth.

But they have no authority under law to examine a company's records and books. And there's no law saying a union can't strike while the board is working.

So President Truman asked Congress to pass a law, which would be a permanent law in war time or in peace time, to give him or any President this power in a labor dispute:

- 1. To set up a fact-finding board.
2. To give the board authority to examine a company's books.
3. To forbid a strike for 30 days while the board was working.

Business opposed the part which gave a board power to examine a company's books. And labor rebelled against the provision which would forbid a strike for 30 days while the board was working. Before a bill can become a law—the President's proposal was introduced in Congress as a bill—the full

House and Senate must debate and vote on it.

But before a bill gets up to the House or Senate for debate or action, it must go through a committee. This bill was sent to the House Labor Committee. The committee had bottled up the bill for weeks.

A bill generally collapses and dies right there when a committee votes against letting the full Congress vote on it. The committee can also change a bill any way it wishes. It changed it in this case.

It approved, for full House action, a bill which would permit the President to set up fact-finding boards. But—

- 1. The board would not have power to examine a company's books.
2. It would not forbid labor unions to strike while the board worked.

So that leaves for the full House only a bill giving the President authority to set up fact-finding boards. Some congressmen have already called such a bill useless.

Then why would Congress go through the motions of voting on it or passing it into law? Here is why:

First of all, a board must be paid. The government can't ask men to serve on the board for nothing. So, the bill as it stands would regularize for Mr. Truman or any future President the means of setting up fact-finding boards. Once a bill providing for fact-finding (Continued on page six)

Medal Of Honor Award Chaplain

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The 40-year-old Navy Chaplain who played a heroic role aboard the blazing Aircraft Carrier Franklin receives the nation's highest award for valor today from President Truman.

He is Comdr. Joseph T. O'Callahan of Cambridge, Mass., and Holy Cross College, the first Jesuit priest to enlist in the naval-service in this war and believed to be the first chaplain in history to get the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Father O'Callahan, now assigned to the new Aircraft Carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, had been aboard the USS Franklin just 17 days when she was set ablaze and endangered by aerial bomb hits within 60 miles of the Japanese coast last March 19.

Although wounded himself, he manned a fire-hose, organized fire-fighting and rescue parties, wet down burning ammunition magazines to prevent additional explosions, carried wounded men topside on his shoulders, administered last rites to the dying, consoled the wounded and inspired the un-wounded.

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP World Traveler

Madrid, Jan. 23.—It is an astonishing thing that the loves and the hates and irreverence and escapades of a man who died more than 100 years ago still should provide choice morsels for active gossip.

Madrid, and yet that is exactly what is happening in the case of the immortal Spanish painter, Francisco Goya.

In fact, there never has been a time since Goya first achieved notice as an artist when this extraordinary personality—alive or dead—hasn't been in the limelight. And if you want proof of present interest just join in cafe conversations or go to the Prado Museum which houses so many of his works and see the crowd that flocks to study his art, especially the scandalous paintings and etchings which he did with tongue in cheek while his victims tore their hair.

The latest incident to set gossip humming afresh has been the exhumation of the body of the 14th Duchess of Alba, the famous Spanish Court beauty who died mysteriously in 1802. This exhumation was ordered by the present duke to determine two moot questions—whether the duchess died of poison and whether she was the model used by Goya for his painting, "A Madrid Nude," which hangs in the Prado.

The duchess and the artist were great friends and some historians say there was a romance between them. Be that as it may, many experts claim that despite a striking likeness to the woman in the picture she was taller than the model employed by Goya.

Doctors still are examining the beautiful duchess' remains and are expected to make known their findings almost any day. Meantime, "A Madrid Nude" is surrounded by admiring crowds. They speculate over fascinating stories that Goya, having heard that the duchess' husband had learned about the portrait, painted overnight another picture of the duchess fully clothed and showed this when the trade duke arrived to demand an explanation. Whether there be any substance in this ancient story, the fact remains that hanging opposite the nude in the Goya room of the Prado is an exact duplicate—except that the lady is clothed. It is only in comparative recent years that these two pictures were put on public display. This mystery of the duchess and the naughty picture is a fitting companion to another Goya volcano in a Madrid suburb. This is the scene painted by the artist in the cupola of the Little Chapel of San Antonio de la Florida in 1798 at the request of King Charles IV, on whose property the church stood. The painting has a religious note and contains about 100 life size figures of men, women and children. Long after the work was done and accepted, art experts rumored the world-by declaring that many of the figures were portraits of what a (Continued on Page Six)

West Greenville P. T. A. On Wednesday afternoon, January 16, the West Greenville P. T. A. met at the school with Mrs. Amos Evans, president, presiding.

The meeting was opened with members singing. "It's a Good Time to Get Together." The devotional was given by Miss Fullilove.

Guests of the afternoon were recognized. They were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smiley, Miss Leonard and Mrs. Ward.

A report was given by Miss Fullilove on the work being done to the lunch room.

Mrs. Evans, president, urged each member to look around for clothes not in use and donate them to the victory clothing drive.

Reading of the Parent-Teacher Bulletin was stressed by the president. From it much information about P. T. A. work can be learned.

Miss Purvis' fifth grade won the attendance prize.

The president thanked the primary teachers for the splendid Christmas program they gave at the December meeting. The program was a little playlet, "Why the Chimes Rang." Miss Fullilove's first grade, Miss Hadley's second grade, Mrs. Womble's first and second grades, and Mrs. Gardner's third grade presented the program. Each child did his part well and each teacher won much credit for the program, which both mothers and fathers enjoyed.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the group was divided in halves. The song "When You Meet a Donkey" was sung in rounds. My, we had some ugly donkeys.

Mrs. Evans introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Mr. W. W. Smiley, E. C. T. C. librarian, who talked on "Library An Open Door."

The meeting was closed with the poem "Reading Mothers," by the president.—Reported.

In Memory of Mrs. F. H. Gregory On the afternoon of Dec. 27, 1945, Mrs. F. H. Gregory was called from her earthly labors to be forever with the Lord in the house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

Lucy Lewis Gregory was born and reared at Milton, N. C. She spent most of her married life in New York City. Several years ago she came to Greenville to make her home with her two sisters, Misses Kate and Mary Lewis. Soon after coming to Greenville she united with the First Presbyterian Church and was one of its most faithful and devoted members.

Mrs. Gregory possessed that fundamental grace of appreciation which enabled her to see the best in others and to find words of praise that stimulated them to higher thoughts and nobler deeds. She was loved and admired by all who knew her. The guiding star of her life was her love for God and her services to Him and, in those about her. In her death there is left a memory that will be cherished, not only by her family, but by the members of the Woman's Auxiliary, the church and the community.

In remembrance of her years of service and fellowship we recommend that this appreciation of her life be recorded in the minutes of the local Woman's Auxiliary and that a copy be sent to her family and one to the Daily Reflector.

End of the Century Club On Tuesday afternoon the End of the Century Club met with Mrs. J. T. Little. The guests were welcomed by the hostess into a charming atmosphere of warmth and cheer in bold contrast to the inclement weather outside. The president, Mrs. J. P. Arthur, presided over a short business session after which the meeting was turned over to Dr. A. D. Frank, who gave a most interesting discussion of "International Commerce and Security." All international wars have been 30 per cent in the making from foreign trade or matters pertaining to international trade, he said. Our present condition of foreign trade is a serious matter for all countries. The United Nations Organization is trying to adjust these differences but it is a difficult problem. International trade is definitely connected with international security and all nations must participate if we would stay out of war again. The club always enjoys hearing Dr. Frank and feel indebted to him for a most enlightening and timely talk. After a lively discussion among those present concerning Dr. Frank's subject, books were distributed and a delicious dessert course with coffee was served. The meeting was delighted to have Miss Mary Harding and Dr. Frank as guests as well as such a large number of its members present.—Reported.

The club study of the Pacific, "that whole of an ocean" was continued by Mrs. W. A. Browne in an excellent paper on "The China Coast." Mrs. Browne emphasized the importance of this China coast area in world affairs. She quoted William H. Seward, secretary of state under Lincoln as follows: "The Pacific Ocean, its shores, its islands and the vast regions beyond will become the chief theater of events in the world's great tomorrow." She reminded her hearers that today this prophecy is coming true. The center of the world's civilization and activities which during ancient times was in the Mediterranean Sea and which from the 16th to the 19th century lay in the Atlantic Ocean is said by some authorities to be moving westward to the open spaces of the Great Pacific. On December 7, 1941 the world discovered the Pacific Ocean.

CONCERNING BOOKS The Sheppard Memorial Library announces the addition of the following books:

"Country Flavor," by Haydn Pearson. A collection of essays on subjects typical of rural life: mail order time, settin' hens, seed catalogs, etc. The author's fondness for rural life is apparent.

"Especially Spaniels," by Gladys Taber. Information of the selection and training of dogs, with particular emphasis on spaniels.

"With Love, Jane," by Alma Lutz. A collection of letters from American service women overseas to family and friends. Represent a varied style and spirit, but all reflect the reaction to the inconveniences of camp existence as well as to the hazardous joy of adventure.

"The Building of the Burma Road," by Tan Pei-ying. Written by the director of the Yunnan-Burma Highway Administration from 1938-1942, this book is the story of that heroic feat and one of the glories of the triumphant Chinese resistance.

Customs of the people and country and numerous anecdotes add to its readability.

"My Wayward Parent," by Elisabeth Cobb. An affectionate and informal biography of the late Irvin S. Cobb written by his daughter.

"The Challenge of Red China," by Guenther Stein. The author, with a group of other foreign correspondents, spent several months in Communist-controlled China in 1944. This book, a result of the visit, is a report of what he saw and heard during that time. It is of importance for the insight it gives concerning one of the most important problems of the peace.

"Labor and Tomorrow's World," by Garfield B. Oxman. The author, who is Methodist bishop of New York and president of the Federal Council of Churches, here reviews various aspects of the labor question and the labor movements both in this country and abroad.

"United Nations Primer," by Sigrid Arne. An impartial discussion of the various international conferences and meetings which took place during the war years. Includes texts of the important documents. Written for the average "man-of-the-street" it nevertheless shows a remarkable grasp of the subject.

"January Thaw," by Bellamy Partridge. Written by the author of "Country Lawyer" this is the story of a New York couple who purchased a run down Connecticut house even though there was a flaw in the title which gave the former owner the right of occupancy during his lifetime. With the house "done-over" and the house-warming on the schedule, the former owners, a cantankerous old couple appeared—and claimed their home.

"Sixty Million Jobs," by Henry Wallace. Presenting the goal by 1950 of two hundred billion dollars national production—or sixty million jobs—the author shows how employment would be distributed among various groups, and how the income and expenditure budget for the nation would be broken down. In addition is a passionate statement of his basic social, political and personal philosophy.

Mrs. Ada M. Moore Died In Wilson Mrs. Ada Mayo Moore, 59, died at Woodard Herring Hospital, in Wilson, this morning at 5:40 o'clock after three months' illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Presbyterian Church in Falkland at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon by the Rev. C. A. Lawrence, assisted by the Rev. J. C. Solomon, Presbyterian ministers of Falkland. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Moore was born and reared and spent all of her life in the Falkland community. She was a member of the Falkland Presbyterian Church. She was married to J. B. Pittman of Falkland, and after his death in 1923, she was married to P. G. Mayo of Falkland. After his death she was married to L. A. Moore of near Falkland in 1944, who survives her.

Surviving are the following stepchildren: G. H. Pittman of Falkland, Dr. Earl Pittman of Oak City, Mrs. Irma Pierce and Mrs. Ethel Thornton of Farmville, Mrs. Mark Stokes and Mrs. Florence Abrams of Macesfield; Amos L. and Lindsay Adolph Moore of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Greenville, and Mrs. Ida Watson of Falkland; 11 step-grandchildren, and one step-great-grandchild.

Active pallbearers will be W. J. Moore, Joe Duke, Lyman Brown, Ernest Wooten, W. W. Wooten and Carson Jones, all of Falkland.

End of the Century Club The End of the Century Club met at the home of Mrs. James Little Tuesday afternoon.

Discussion of the library was taken up. Mrs. Bowen was elected and plans formulated to enlarge the present number of books.

The literary programme for the evening was "Switzerland." The papers were: "The Monks of St. Bernard and Their Dogs," by Mrs. E. B. Ficklen; "Alpine Passes," by Mrs. F. C. Harding; 11 step-grandchildren, and one step-great-grandchild.

Active pallbearers will be W. J. Moore, Joe Duke, Lyman Brown, Ernest Wooten, W. W. Wooten and Carson Jones, all of Falkland.

After the conclusion of the programme the guests and members partook of a delightful chafing dish lunch.

Directors named at last night's meeting were Ivan Bissette, Griffith; Albert Holmes, Farmville; Vance Bunting, Bethel; Charlie Gray, Robersonville; Joe Whitaker, Ayden, and W. J. Bundy, James W. Brewer and L. M. Buchanan, of Greenville.

The club officers, J. W. Glover, president; B. B. Sugg, vice-president, and Godfrey B. Oakley, secretary-treasurer, will be ex-officio members of the board.

President Glover announced a long list of appointments to regular committees. It was announced that at the February meeting the club would be guests of an oyster roast here with Sudan Temple of New Bern as host.

The club went on record as endorsing W. J. Bundy as one of the

The Fourth Mrs. Baker

By Ernestine Adams

Chapter 14
 (Friday 7 p. m. to 9:05 p. m.)
 his bold statement Frank to go farther.
 "I be better off not knowing ven I get sufficient evidence it in the hands of the police."
 stood between them facing the ice, two fingers resting on his head as if in silent meditation.
 es he really know or has he just fact a role he can't resist, wondered Julia and was inclined toward the latter theory. How could any one get to the real, the actual feelings of these people when so much was imagination?

Dinner was more dull than anything else. Frank kept up his attitude of being a man of mystery and Virginia seemed suddenly too tired to combat it. Julia was so deep in conjecture that she made little effort toward conversation.
 "How long has Hank been with Robey?" she asked, breaking into one of the small silences that caught up with them in spite of an endeavor to keep the conversation going.
 "A long time," Frank told her.
 "Ever since Robey has had a dresser at the theatre. Really, though, my dear, you're on the wrong track here. Hank looked after himself and Robey's death is a blow to him.
 Since Robey has been in the big money, Hank has made plenty of himself one way or another. If Hank had been the one who died—that would have been a different story."

"Well, he couldn't have killed Robey—he wasn't here," Julia said, and turned to Moore who was retreating to the kitchen. "Unless—Moore, did you do that trick of snapping off the latch when Doctor Venable sent you out last night?"
 He hesitated a moment.
 "I don't remember, madam."

She realized that he hadn't had time to make up his mind which answer would be better for him. She might never know for sure but there was a possibility that an outsider could have entered. The fourth Mrs.
 Baker might have arrived at that time!

The doorbell chimed and Moore went through to answer it. Through the top of the fireplace she caught a glimpse of Doctor Wandell as he followed the servant into the salon and went on toward the windows.

"Is Doctor Wandell, madam," Moore informed her.
 "Yes, you can serve coffee in the salon, Moore." The word reminded her that now she didn't have to call the big formal room a salon. Robey wasn't here to correct her frowningly. But the tiny feeling of release rose only to strike against the low roof of fear. She could never be free until the mystery surrounding Robey's death was solved.

Frank's greeting to the doctor was perfunctory. Virginia's casual. Did Frank think Wandell was the mur-derer? His attitude supported the thought.

"How is Alma?" asked Julia.
 "Better I think but she is still very ill."

"It's none of my business but why did you let her come here?" Virginia lighted a cigarette, threw back her head to evade the smoke, and stretched her long body in a lounge chair near the black cocktail table.
 The doctor, on the L-shaped couch opposite her, did not answer at once.

Frank said at last:
 "You shouldn't have inquired into professional secrets, dear Ginnie."

"She wanted to come and I don't believe it would have hurt her if it hadn't been for the shock of Robey's death. In fact I thought it would be a nice test of her progress."

"You've known her a long time?"
 "Yes, Miss Jarvis. I've known her since she was fourteen."

"Oh, you knew Robey then, too?"
 "Yes, after he met Alma."
 Julia felt the strained atmosphere. She felt sure Virginia knew already what the doctor's tense answers would be. The girl put a cool suspicion into her tone and the doctor's voice was faintly contemptuous.

Frank was still standing and he left them and went to the piano.
 Soft, longing melody came to them.
 The statue half concealed his head except when he bent over the keys to one side or the other.

Burning Air Liner Carries Sixteen To Death

This wreckage of an Eastern Air Lines transport plane burns at Cheshire, Conn., after it burst into flames in mid-air and crashed, killing at least 166 persons aboard. The dead consisted of three crew members and 13 passengers, with the possibility that still another person was aboard. This picture was made shortly after the crash by John L. Knight, algebra instructor at Cheshire Academy. (AP Wirephoto).

A Reminder To The Public

As you probably know, the government of the United States provides assistance to persons in distress under certain conditions. For example, the U. S. Navy operates an "Air-Sea Rescue Service" consisting of specially trained rescue teams which employ aircraft, helicopters, and fast boats, chiefly operated by the U. S. Coast Guard.
 The Army Air Forces operate an Emergency Rescue Service which employs rescue aircraft and other facilities. The Navy "Air-Sea Rescue Service" and the Army Air Forces Emergency Rescue Service act jointly in rescue work whenever necessary or desirable, and each service maintains close liaison with the other.

 By special arrangement, both the navy's rescue service, and the Army's Emergency Service can be notified of distress through your local law enforcement agencies. Under this mutual agreement, these rescue services have divided certain areas for their provinces of action.
 Persons witnessing or having any knowledge of aircraft accidents, aircraft in difficulty, vessels in distress, marooned persons or persons in danger of drowning, are being encouraged to call local police. The police headquarters will, in their turn, quickly summon assistance of the government services.

time comes.

Gotta Bow to You!

... admits SUPERMAN

He's "outta this world"—the way he accelerates, and wings his way through "the funnies." But listen—seriously—you've now got him downright in the mood to admit that your car's got something, too... winging its way on the exhilarating power of today's great new anti-knock gasoline...

It's new-day Conoco N-tane!

This is new-day gasoline that brings you the essence of all our experience in making high-octane air fuels. And because we had a flying start... because we had our long-standing record of pre-war excellence... you are right to expect all the more from new-day Conoco N-tane.

It votes liberal on mileage... that's Conoco N-tane!

It's your battery's Winter helper... that's Conoco N-tane!

And... AND!... the pride you take in Conoco N-tane's pick-up—in its prowess on the hills—isn't marred by all sorts of ping-ping-ping. No fooling you on anti-knock... so just give an ear to whispering Conoco N-tane. Try it today; it's habit-forming.

Winning Basketball Plays

By Clair Bee—Long Island University Coach

AP Newsfeatures
This play pulls out the defense. The shooting guard fakes to the right and throws the ball from the center of the court to his left forward who in turn throws to the center waiting in the corner. The latter passes to the right forward who has crossed under the basket. If all players follow the ball, and take the places of the moving men, the action forces the defensive players to switch too. If the shot is missed, there's a wild scramble for the ball.

After enjoying a lull in the basketball wars since Saturday, most of the state's major cage greats will take to the hardwood again tonight to continue the race for conference honors.

Duke's Blue Devils, victors in the last 11 games and only college possessor of North Carolina's prized scap, will meet South Carolina's Gamecocks at Durham. The Gamecocks won their first conference battle last night by downing Citadel 66-29.

The flashy White Phantoms of North Carolina, with 14 wins and two losses on their books, clash with N. C. State's Red Terrors on the Phantoms' home court. The Terrors have three wins against six losses.

Two winning mountain teams will meet at Boone tonight. W.C.T.C. with only one defeat in six starts, will play Appalachian, which has only one defeat in five starts.

In the only two cage games played last night, Hanes Hosery was pushed by a spunky Elon quint but went ahead to win in the second half 68-40, and Greensboro ORD drubbed ECTC 56-34.

Los Angeles—Jimmy Bivins, 187, Cleveland, knocked out Johnny Haynes, 216, Los Angeles, (2)

New York, Jan. 23—(AP)—Former New York Mayor James J. Walker, first non-boxer to be awarded the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque, will be presented with the trophy tonight at the annual dinner of the New York Boxing Writers Association.

Walker, father of the state's boxing law, was voted the trophy for his outstanding contributions to the sport through the years and for being boxing's greatest ambassador in 1945.

Fight Manager James J. Johnston will receive the writers' award for meritorious service.

Philadelphia, Jan. 23—(AP)—Byron Nelson, golf's greatest money winner, was the most outstanding player in 1945, in the opinion of the Philadelphia Sporting Writers Association.

The group, in a poll, said Nelson scored 80 points, six more than Felix (Doc) Blanchard, army's all-America fullback. Hank Greenberg, outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, was third with halfback Steve Van Buren of the Philadelphia Eagles professional football team, fourth.

Marty Marion, shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals, was last year's winner.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 23—(AP)—Charlie Justice, highly-touted Asheville high school football player with an outstanding record as a back with the Bainbridge naval station team, will not attend Duke University.

ECTC Pirates Lose To Greensboro ORD

Greensboro ORD, one of the nation's best basketball teams, carried a 56 to 34 win over the ECTC Pirates last night in the Wright building on the campus. The Pirates played a good game and led for a great portion of the first half. The sharp-shooting Hawks overcame the lead, however, and were never headed again.

Spencer Taylor, and Shannon led the ORD Hawks. For the E. C. T. C. Pirates, Jesse Parker with 14 points and James Parker with 11 were top scorers. Others scoring for the local team were Cox 5, C. B. Moye 2, and Jones 2.

Chicod's Girl Cage Team Defeats Stokes

The undefeated Chicod girls' basketball team defeated Stokes, 32-23, at the Chicod High School gymnasium Friday night. Cox was high scorer for the winners and James featured for the losers.

Chicod girls hold victories over Winterville, 27-26, Farmville, 38-28, Arthur, 29-15, and Bethel, 28-18, and Stokes.

Pirates Play Wilson Team Tomorrow Nite

East Carolina Teachers College will renew its rivalry in basketball with the Atlantic Christian Bulldogs of Wilson on Thursday night in Greenville. The Pirates will seek to regain possession of the famed Bo-Hunk trophy, the prize of the team which comes out of the game as winner. The ACC Bulldogs have held the trophy during the war years, when both teams were idle.

The two teams are strong and have proven themselves by winning most of their basketball games this season.

A preliminary game will be played between ECTC's Junior Varsity and the Stokes High School.

On Friday night the ECTC Pirates will play Elon College in the Wright Building.

Eppes Cagers Win Big Doubleheader

By HENRY WOOTEN
Eppes High teams (boys and girls) registered a couple of victories over Washington High in basketball games played here. The Eppes High girls turned in a 50-3 win and the boys stopped Washington boys 46-22.

The girls team took a fast lead and maintained it throughout the contest. Although the visitors fought back, the half-time score was 32-1. Forbes' 20 points and Cherry's 20 points topped the winners. Coach Grimes states that he is satisfied with the spirit and fight that his girls' team possesses.

Coach Murrill's boys had been well drilled during the week against the man-for-man defense the Washington club used, and the team looked good last night. It was so good un-

Pitt Negro Schools Have Interesting Meeting
The Pitt County Negro teachers held their regular county-wide meeting at the Sycamore Hill Baptist Church in Greenville Saturday January 19. The meeting was well planned and attended and the general interest was admirable.

The Negro teachers are awake and active. Spirit is at a high ebb and teachers, pupils and patrons are throwing themselves into the task of doing a better job. Signs of progress in sanitation and beautification as well as in a more efficient type of class room work, are in clear evidence.

The following schools were placed on the school honor roll for the fourth month and were featured in the meetin as one of the high lights: Harris School, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McGlone, teachers; Sweet Hope School, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hill, teachers; Ellis School, Miss Verda Mae McMurren, teacher, and Lang School, Mrs. Ellen Blount Gorham, teacher. Simpson School reported progress but was left for the honor roll until the project is finished.

Superintendent D. H. Conley, who is ever alert and keenly following the general progress of public education, was present and spoke very forcefully on "The Acceptance of Responsibility," the success and happiness that comes with the knowledge of having lived up to one's responsibility and the disgrace and sorrow that must inevitably follow the failure.

Mr. John R. Larkins of the State Board of Public Welfare met his appointment and spoke very interestingly on "The Welfare Program as it Relates to Children and the Public" and expressed themselves as having been highly benefited.

H. B. Suge, coordinator Pitt County Negro schools.
