GEN. MOTORS & UAW UNION MEET TODAY

Detroit, Jan. 31.—(AP)—General Motors and the United Automobile Workers planned today to resume their "across-the-table" negotiations in the 72-day strike with the aid of "missionary work" by an independent mediator James F. DeLoach.

GM and union representatives prepared for their second get-together renewing negotiations in the longest deadlock in automotive history. They faced both wage and maintenance-of-membership issues which were threshed out last night in statements from both sides.

The statements, which climaxed the first "across-the-table" meeting since the middle of December, left the two issues drawn along these lines:

Wages
GM said it had "nothing further" to offer in addition to its 13 1-2 cent hourly rise until "provisions of a new contract are worked out that gives assurance of uninterrupted production, efficient work effort by each employe and other provisions which we believe will contribute to better relations."

UAW charged the company with "bad faith" in renewing its 13 1-2 cent offer (12 per cent) considering a 19 1-2 cent raise (17 1-2 per cent) recommended by President Truman's fact-finding board and "in the face of greater increases agreed to by other major auto companies."

Air-Liner Feared Lost In Wyoming

Denver, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Hope for the lives of 21 persons aboard a missing United Air Lines transport virtually was abandoned today after an aerial search disclosed what was believed to be the wreckage of the plane high on the snow-covered Elk Mountain, 65 miles northwest of Laramie, Wyo.

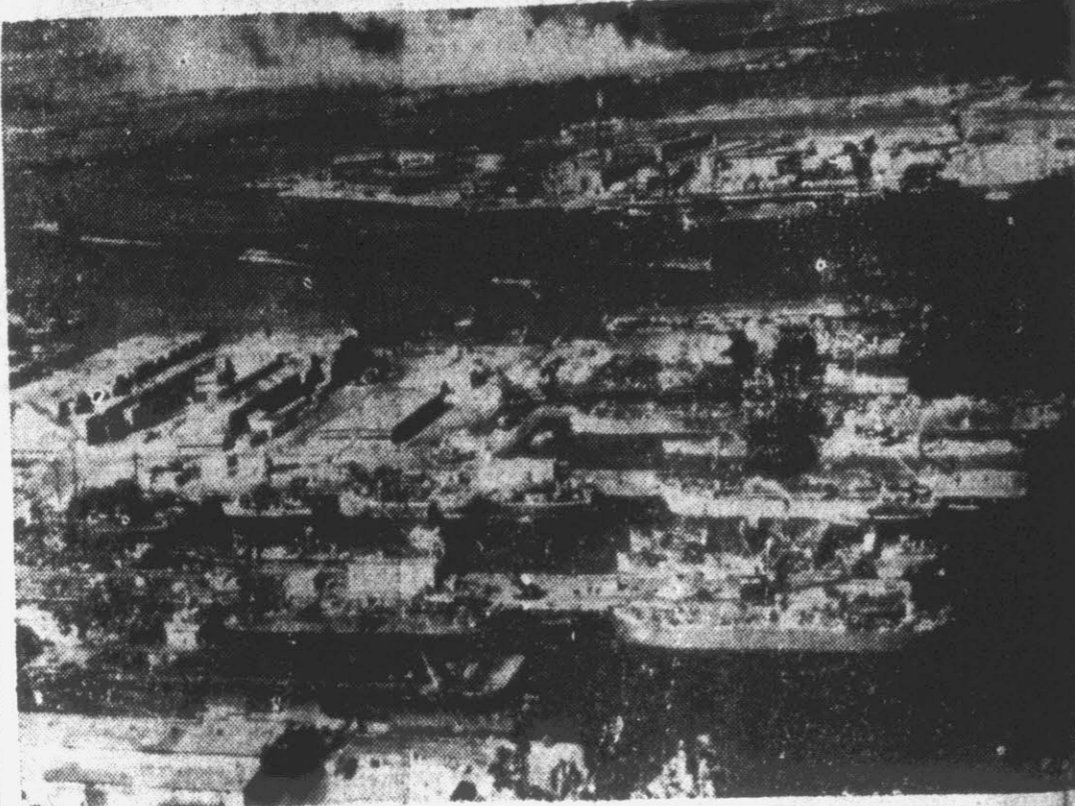

Capt. Frank Crismon, assistant supervisor of flight operations here, led the aerial search which began at daylight when the plane was reported to have crashed here in a flight from Seattle to New York.

About mid-morning he said he sighted a long wide rash in the deep snow near the top of Elk Mountain which towers 11,125 feet in the eastern fringe of the Rockies. He said broken clouds and a stiff wind made close approach to the peak impossible.

Crismon did not report any signs of fire or a definite sighting of the smashed plane but said he was convinced that what he saw marked the crash of the transport. UAL officials here speculated that the body of the plane might be buried in the deep snow.

Crismon returned to Cheyenne, about 100 miles east of Elk Mountain, to organize a ground search party but it was expected to be many hours before they could reach the remote Medicine Bow Range area.

Pearl Harbor—4 Years After Jap Attack

Aircraft carriers, LSTs, and other craft are drawn up to the busy docks of Pearl Harbor in this aerial view of the Pacific naval base in Hawaii, taken four years after the Jap sneak attack. Meanwhile, the injury by the Congressional Pearl Harbor Investigating Committee goes on in Washington. Former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. British Commonwealth Troops To Be In Japan

Forces Drawn From New Zealand, Australia, India, United Kingdom Will Go Into Corps Under MacArthur

Washington, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Plans for British Commonwealth troops to take part in the occupation of Japan were made public today. The terms were set forth in an agreement between the United States and Australia, acting on behalf of the Commonwealth.

Under the agreement, Australia, New Zealand, and India will contribute a force to be located initially in the Hiroshima prefecture, including the cities of Kure and Kureyama, to handle demilitarization tasks.

The first contingent—naval port parties to open up Kure—is expected to arrive tomorrow.

The force will include base troops from each of the contributing countries.

In a statement accompanying today's announcement, MacArthur said the presence of the Commonwealth forces "will materially broaden the base along international lines of a burden which up to this time has of necessity, been carried to a large extent unilaterally by the United States."

Saying the agreement "cannot fail to be of overall beneficial effect," the supreme commander said it will "enable a diminution in our own strength and will, thereby bring welcome relief to many individuals."

The force will include base troops from each of the contributing countries.

London, Jan. 31.—(AP)—The War Office announced tonight that Field Marshal Sir Bernard I. Montgomery will become chief of the imperial general staff June 6.

The colorful hero of El Alamein and other battles in the second World War will succeed Field Marshal Lord Alanbrooke in this highest British army post. Lord Alan was chief of staff for four and a half years.

DRAFT LAW IS SLOWED TODAY

Army's Replacement Program Is Affected

Washington, Jan. 31.—(AP)—The House Military Committee today spiked administration hopes of early action on a continued draft law and universal military training.

It decided to concentrate instead on a new national defense act. And Chairman May (D-Ky.) pointed out that all other army proposals necessarily will hinge on the new act's contents.

A special nine-man subcommittee was assigned to work out recommendations for the postwar defense act which will blueprint the overall peacetime structure of the army.

The army meanwhile moved to step up the flow of replacements for long-service GIs overseas. The training period for future replacements was ordered cut to eight weeks. Previously 13 to 17 weeks training was required.

The War Department has been claiming that it is hard put to provide sufficient replacements to keep pace with the present rate of demobilization.

Apops of the new defense act, Chairman May told reporters the special subcommittee will make recommendation for legislation after questioning army heads and others interested.

The subcommittee is expected to determine first how large the regular peacetime army should be. Once that is decided it may un-

FEBRUARY 9TH SET FOR UNO AD JOURNMENT

After Closing, All UNO Establishments Move To U. S.

London, Jan. 31.—(AP)—United Nations Leaders were reported in agreement today on February 9 as the virtually certain date for adjournment of the London meeting of the General Assembly.

Immediately after that date all UNO establishments, including the staff and the Security Council, will be moved to the United States. The exact site has not yet been selected, although it will be in the vicinity of Boston or New York.

London, Jan. 31.—(AP)—United Nations delegates privately expressed hope today that the Security Council's compromise decision on the Russian-Iranian dispute may point the way to an amicable settlement of the Green and Indonesian cases which come before the peace agency tomorrow.

Whether the latter two cases can be settled without UNO intervention, however, depends largely upon the Russians, who filed complaints with the Council charging the British were endangering the peace by military actions in Indonesia and Greece.

The Russians, if they press the cases, will find themselves in the unique position of asking the UNO to act in the absence of complaints from the countries involved.

Greek delegates, planning to be on hand when the questions come up, were ready to argue that British troops are necessary in Greece to maintain order. The Netherlands, as a member of the 11-nation council, is known to favor the maintenance of British troops in Java, and even the unrecognized Indonesian Government has expressed the view that British troops should remain there until all Japanese troops have been disarmed and removed.

Soviet delegates have given no intimation of their position since the complaints were filed. Moscow radio, however, accused Britain today of exerting "political pressure in Greece."

The Council voted yesterday to permit the Soviet Union and Iran to resume direct negotiations on the discussions.

Russia had demanded that the dispute be removed from the Council's agenda, while the U. S. and Britain objected. A phrase saying the case would remain on the agenda was stricken from the Council's resolution, but a clause providing for progress reports was inserted in its stead.

The resolution then was carried unanimously, climaxing a heated four-hour debate.

Navy Air Chief At Pearl Takes Stand

Admiral In Frequent Verbal Clashes On Subject Of Air Patrols In Testimony Given Before Probe Board

Washington, Jan. 31.—(AP)—The 1911 naval air commander in Hawaii testified today that he did not learn of a war warning sent from Washington November 27, 1941, until days after the Japanese attack on December 7, 1941.

Vice Admiral P. N. L. Bellinger told the Senate-House Committee investigating the disaster that during October, November and December of 1941 his only information concerning U. S. relations with Japan and the imminence of war "came from the Honolulu newspapers."

Questions by Seth Richardson, committee counsel, brought frequent verbal clashes between him and the witness.

Richardson asked whether Bellinger ever requested army planes to supplement a long-range patrol. Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, 1941 Hawaiian army commander, testified previously navy had not requested planes and this was one of the reasons he believed there was no necessity for an all-out alert after the November 27 warning.

"All you had to do was ask for those army planes to get them, wasn't it?" Richardson demanded.

"I never found it that way," Bellinger replied.

New Impending Stoppages Because Of Steel Shortage Face Allied Industries; Ford Demands Removal Of Price Controls; Congress Prepares Strong Legislation

New and impending work stoppages, most of them because of the nationwide steel strike, slowed production in various allied industries today as hopes dimmed for an immediate settlement of the General Motors walkout.

In Detroit, Henry Ford, president of Ford Motor Company, demanded that the federal government lift price controls and he warned that unless his company could get steel promptly "we will have to shut down completely some time this week."

Ford, in a telegram to Reconstruction Director John W. Snyder, estimated it would cost $400,000 a day to maintain idle assembly lines and that at "current OPA price ceilings, we are losing $300 on every car we make." He said operations have been curtailed because of lack of parts and materials and that some suppliers have stopped making parts "because they lost money at their ceiling prices."

Pittsburgh, Jan. 31.—(AP)—The United Steelworkers in brief: 11-day-old strike of 750,000 CIO-Pinch—Another 10,000 workers laid off in allied industries due to steel shortage, making 54,000 to date; Ford Motor Company to furlough 10,000 more tomorrow.

Dispute—Chairman Irving S. Olds of U. S. Steel says government must allow steel price increase "greatly in excess of $6.25 a ton" if industry is to pay the 18 1/2 cents hourly wage increase recommended by President Truman and accepted by the union.

Contracts—Fifty steel fabricating concerns offering nearly 19,000 USW members have signed new agreements with the union and resumed operations; most of the contracts grant 18 1/2 cent pay raises.

Washington, Jan. 31.—(AP)—The House cleared the way today for consideration of broad legislation to curb industrial strife.

On a roll call vote, the members decided to begin debate at once on the bill by Rep. Case (R-SD) to control strikes. The vote was 258 to 114.

The measure is a substitute for fact-finding legislation asked by President Truman. It is backed by a powerful coalition of Republicans.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Here is something to remember for your own sake. If it applies to you, or for the benefit of some friend or member of your family.

The information comes from the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the tax collector's office. March 15, the tax year for settling up on 1945 income taxes, is approaching.

Under the tax law (Section 251) people who work in any of the U. S. possessions don't have to pay U. S. taxes on the money they earned while working in those possessions. This applies not only to army and navy people but to newspapermen, Red Cross workers or anyone else who works in those possessions. They are:

The Philippines, Panama Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, Fribiloff Islands in the Bering Sea, these three islands in the Caribbean Sea—Navassa, Serranilla, Swan—and all of these islands in the Pacific: Wake, Midway, Peale, Wilkes, Sand, American Samoa, Manua, Tutuila, Swains, Baker, Howland, Jarvis, Johnston and Kingman Reef.

Montgomery Next Chief Of Staff

London, Jan. 31.—(AP)—The War Office announced tonight that Field Marshal Sir Bernard I. Montgomery will become chief of the imperial general staff June 6.

The colorful hero of El Alamein and other battles in the second World War will succeed Field Marshal Lord Alanbrooke in this highest British army post. Lord Alan was chief of staff for four and a half years.

King George VI recently made Sir Bernard a viscount, but he has not yet assumed the title.

Students And Young People Plan Rally

ECTC students, and the young people of Greenville, including the student body of the High School will stage a "Youth for Christ" rally Saturday night, Feb. 2, 8 p. m., at the High School auditorium.

Marine Bob Suttie, a former college debater and producer of a religious radio program in Hollywood prior to his entry into the service will preside, and will speak on the subject, "The Dennis Lilly who before entering the Marine Corps studied opera for two years in New York, and as soloist.

Marines, sailors, college and high school students will tell what the Bible means to them in their daily life.

This service, which has been approved by the Ministerial Association of the city, is patterned after the hundreds of "Youth for Christ" meetings which are attracting overflow crowd in every part of the country.

No Decision

The Board of Trustees of East Carolina Teachers College came to no decision here today in regard to the choice of a permanent president for the college.

Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, chairman of the board, stated at the close of the meeting at three o'clock this afternoon that the matter of selecting a president was taken up and a number of those under consideration were discussed. No names were made public.

Next regular meeting of the board is scheduled for March 14. No announcement was made, however, as to whether a president would be chosen at that time.

TODAY IN CONGRESS

A Review Of Your Government In Action

Washington, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Forty Congressmen called for an end to the General Motors and steel strikes today as the House approached a test vote on strike-control legislation.

The 40 House members—38 Democrats, a Republican and an American Laborite—got up a round robin letter. They urged the General Motors and U. S. Steel Corporations to accept government-proposed wage compromises.

The committee is considering President Truman's fact-finding method for dealing with strikes.

The President said in a report to Congress today that most lend-lease accounts would be settled by July 1. Up to last Oct. 1, he said, lend-lease aid totaled $46,040,000,000 and aid from other nations to the United States reached $6,250,000,000.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky finally managed to introduce in the Senate a measure to authorize a $3,500,000 loan Mr. Truman has recommended for Britain, Senator Lanser (R-ND), bitter opponent on the loan, blocked the introduction yesterday. A House member asked the White House for information on possible loans to other nations.

In Congressional committee: Edwin W. Pauley, west coast oil man and former secretary-treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, talked about his nomination to be Undersecretary of the Navy. He told the Senate Naval Committee, which is looking into the appointment, he thought the government and the public interest would benefit rather than suffer from his knowledge of the oil business.

The Senate Atomic Committee heard Secretary of Commerce Wallace say civilians should handle domestic control of atomic power "to avoid any possibility of military dictatorship."

Vice Adm. P. N. Bellinger, 1941 naval air commander in Hawaii said he got his only information on Japanese-American relations and the imminence of war in the months before Pearl Harbor from Honolulu newspapers.

The President's fact-finding legislation went on the well-known spot in the House.

Singapore, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, en route to Batavia to represent Britain at negotiations between the Netherlands Government and the unrecognized Indonesian Republic, said today he believed Indonesia might become a United Nations trusteeship "when the present difficulties are settled."

Sir Archibald, who will become British ambassador to the United States in May, voiced his belief at a press conference in response to questions on the Indonesian situation.

He made it clear that his statement was merely a personal observation and not a recommendation, declaring that the question of committing Indonesian territory to trusteeship was one for the Dutch Government to decide and not an affair of the British Government until the matter had reached the United Nations Organization.

Murray Confers With Vinson On Tax Laws

Washington, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Philip Murray, president of the CIO-steelworkers union, conferred for 40 minutes with Treasury Secretary Vinson today on present tax laws as they apply to steel industry income, but refused to disclose details of the conference.

The CIO-steelworkers' chief told reporters he had discussed his contention that tax law provisions for rebates from excess profit taxes by the corporations an advantage in strike situations like that now in progress in the steel industry.

A U. S. Steel official last week said Murray misstated the facts. Murray would not comment further.

There was no comment from Vinson.

ACCOUNTS TO BE SETTLED

Lend-Lease Aid Accounts To Be Wound Up By July

Washington, Jan. 31.—(AP)—President Truman told Congress today that settlement of all lend-lease transactions is expected by July 1.

He made this estimate in reporting that lend-lease aid totaling $46,040,000,000 was supplied by the U. S. from March 11, 1941, to October 1, 1945.

Negotiations for settlement of accounts, he said, have begun with many countries. A settlement already has been made with Great Britain.

Here is the totals by countries: British Empire, $30,269,210,000; Russia, $10,801,131,000; France, $1,406,600,000; China, $631,505,000; American republics, $421,447,000; Netherlands, $162,157,000; Greece, $75,416,000; Belgium, $52,443,000; Norway $34,640,000; Turkey, $28,063,000; Yugoslavia, $25,885,000; other countries $43,284,000.

Aid not charged to foreign governments, such as amounts credited to production facilities in the United States, amounted to $2,088,243,000, bringing the overall total to $46,040,054,000.

The report itemized reverse lend-lease through July 1 last as follows: United Kingdom, $4,241,139,000; Australia, $835,004,000; New Zealand, $204,566,000; India, $639,443,000; Union of South Africa, $885,000; France (to Feb. 1, 1945), $300,000.

Carolina Girl Held On Federal Charges

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 31.—(AP)—Prosecution authorities have been given further investigation of the case of Isabelle McLeod Brinkley (Malaska Steiner), charged with violation of the Servicemen's Dependents Allowance Act of 1942.

A brief hearing was held yesterday in federal district court for the 26-year old North Carolina brunette whom the government charges accepted dependency payments totaling $1,640 from Stud Sgt. Brinkley, USA, while she was wed to Corporal Malaska USMC. The marriages came to light while she was wed to Lieutenant Steiner, USNR. An earlier marriage to Mack Thomas in September 1935, at Lillington, N. C., near Mr. Brinkley's home at Fuquay Spring was annulled to make a later one legal, according to Mrs. Brinkley.

Airline Makes Bid For CAB Approval

Philadelphia, Jan. 31.—(AP)—All American Aviation Inc. is making a serious bid for a major portion of airplane business in 10 states.

Spokesmen for the airline seek Civil Aeronautics Board approval to put 291 cities and towns on the air plan in a postwar expansion move that would "blanket" Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, Ohio and Kentucky.

Harry R. Stringer, vice president in charge of traffic for the seven-year-old concern, said All American wants to establish passenger routes that would cover a total of 2,600 miles.

Stringer asserted the company intends to become one of the "big airlines" in the U. S.

Women IN THE CHURCH

by Mary Fowler

In Austin, Texas, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the University Methodist Church has protested to motion picture producers and to local exhibitors of pictures against the flood of drinking scenes in American homes now depicted upon the silver screen. They say: "We are aware of the psychological effect upon our young people, even those who have had unimpeachable moral training in home and church, of constantly witnessing as accepted social usage, casual drinking scenes in homes. We believe that these home scenes would be more typical of the cultured American home if drinking were entirely omitted. We urge the portrayal of drinking and drunkenness only when authenticity of scene, such as a tavern, or when cause and effect or the accuracy of character development or deterioration demand them."

recent months to a large group of delinquent mothers sentenced to between two and six months for child neglect. Miss Duncan has held classes for the group twice a week in housekeeping, cooking, menu planning, leisure-time activities for children. She held "graduation exercises" for 22 recently "I have taken personal history of all of these women," says Miss Duncan, "even back into their childhood and have found that most of them either grew up in ungodly homes, were unwanted children in broken homes, or married at the ages of 15 or 16, an escape from almost unbearable conditions. Most of them have husbands overseas."

Former Pitt County Resident Died Wed.

T. J. Beach, 68, died Wednesday night at 10 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Murray Alexander, near Portsmouth, Va., after being critically ill several days. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mr. Beach lived in Pitt County until a few years ago when he went to Portsmouth to live with his daughter.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Katie Martin Beach of Portsmouth; four sons, Thomas Julian Beach, Jr., now a patient at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C., John William Beach of Baltimore, Md., Russell Beach of Washington and Alton Beach of Portsmouth; four daughters, Mrs. P. L. Boush, Mrs. Frank Guy and Miss Irma Lee Beach of Norfolk and Mrs. Murray Alexander of Portsmouth; six grandchildren, and two brothers, D. C. Beach of Greenville and K. C. Beach of Rocky Mount.

A New Republic

Belgrade, Jan. 31—(AP)—The constituent assembly last night approved unanimously the draft of a new constitution which would establish Yugoslavia as a republic.

Both houses will convene this afternoon to promulgate the constitution, under which the assembly will assume legislative powers.

The Landlady

Venice, Calif., Jan. 31—(AP)—A landlady whose tenants charged she played the radio from 5 a. m. to 10 p. m. trying to force them to move must pay a $25 fine.

A municipal court judge fined Mrs. Blanche C. Bunche $100 yesterday, with an alternative of 20 days in jail, but $75 of the fine and the entire sentence were suspended for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira C. Cartwright, the tenants, complained that the radio blared from before dawn until after dark in Mrs. Bunche's half of their duplex apartment.

Coming Events

Cast Shadows

By CHESTER WALSH

Today—January 31—the hunting season on all wildlife except possum and raccoon ended, District Game and Fish Protector J. O. Teel said.

Tomorrow's the first of February, the day on which State Highway patrolmen begin to cite to court motorists who have not procured and attached their 1946 state license tags.

Incidentally, Greenville police will check with the patrol on local motorists who have not procured city license tags.

The next day—Saturday—is Groundhog Day, the day on which the groundhog leaves his winter hibernation quarters to observe the weather at noon. If the sun is shining at midday and the rodent sees his shadow, he goes back into hibernation and, according to legend, there will be forty days of bad weather. If it's cloudy and the marmot does not see his shadow, old-timers believe there will be good weather and an early spring. Some people believe this, but three years ago Jack Netherland's aged pet groundhog left its box and rambled playfully around the yard in the sunshine, saw his shadow and paid no attention. Good weather followed.

Thursday, February 14, is St. Valentine's Day.

Wednesday, March 6, is Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent. Easter Sunday (the end of Lent) comes this year on April 21, later than usual.

Clinic For Cripples Will Be Held Friday

Dr. Hugh A. Thompson of Raleigh, orthopedic specialist, will conduct a free clinic for cripples—white and colored—at the County Health offices, Third and Greene streets, Friday, from 12:30 until 4 o'clock. Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, health officer, announced.

The clinic serves Pitt, Pamlico, Beaufort, Carteret and Tyrrell counties. It is desired but not required that patients take with them a letter from a physician or county welfare officer.

Jap Census

Tokyo, Jan. 31—(AP)—General MacArthur today ordered the Japanese government to complete a census of Japan during April.

The Japan Bureau of Statistics was told to insure that the basic tabulations would be made available to general headquarters not later than 30 days after completion of the census.

Bissette's Closed One Day For Repairs

Bissette's Drug Store, 427 Evans street, will be closed tomorrow—Friday only—to make necessary repairs to the building. Manager Charles B. Bissette said the store will reopen Saturday morning.

Chilean Labor Heads Call Off Big Strike

Santiago, Chile, Jan. 31—(AP)—Chilean labor cancelled a nationwide protest strike today after the government promised to lift a state of siege proclaimed Monday night as the result of a clash in which several labor union members were killed.

The work stoppage, which began yesterday morning with 800,000 workers participating, was called off on orders of the Chilean Workers Federation when the Chilean cabinet issued a statement asserting that the need for the state of siege would no longer exist if the strike were ended.

KITTY CORNERED

Chicago, Jan. 31—(AP)—From its lofty perch in a tree top a stray cat yowled its misery for two days, prompting residents of North Hoyne Avenue to urge the Anti-Cruelty Society to rescue the feline.

Herbert Carnes rigged ladders and ropes to rescue the cat. But the animal kept backing away, lost its footing, then pung by two paws for a minute and finally plunged about 65 feet to an alley.

It hit a fence corner, leaving part of its fur there, bounced off a car fender before making a four-point landing. Then it kept right on running.

Polish Security Police Suspected

Washington, Jan. 31—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said today that the Polish security police appeared to be implicated in a number of recent "murders" of prominent Polish politicians.

Byrnes made this assertion in a statement which disclosed that he had told the Polish government it was expected to take necessary steps "to assure the freedom and security which are essential" to holding free elections.

A state department spokesman who issued the statement at a news conference, said it was designed to answer questions submitted by reporters "regarding the allegations that a reign of political murders is taking place in Poland."

British Foreign Secretary Bevin likewise said in the house of commons January 23, that the security police appeared to be implicated in the slayings.

PAY BOOST IS ANNOUNCED TO MILL WORKERS

Textile Industries in North And South Carolina Hike Wages

By The Associated Press
With a 65-cent minimum hourly wage the result in most instances, thousands of North and South Carolina mill workers this week received the good news of pay hikes. Latest to fall in line yesterday was the huge Burlington Mills, which operates more than 50 plants in North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Canada, Cuba and other parts of the world. The concern's Greensboro office revealed that beginning Feb. 4 employees would receive their second raise in a year bringing their new wages to a point 25 per cent above those of 12 months ago.

In addition to Greensboro, other North Carolina communities affected are Burlington, Randleman, Casspice, Belmont, Graham, Central Falls, Asheboro, High Point and Reidsville. These were other increases announced yesterday.

China Grove, N. C. Cotton Mills; Brown, Roberta and White-Parks Mills, both at Concord, all giving 30-cent hourly boosts, 65-cent minimums effective Feb. 1.

Hugh Gray Hosiery, Concord Knitting Company, both in Concord, six and a half to 10 per cent raises, 65-cent minimum, Feb. 1.

Rockingham Mills, 10 to 15 per cent raises, Feb. 4.

High Point Seamless Hosiery workers (about 10,000) seven and one half per cent raise.

Earlier in the week the Cannon Mills of Concord announced a 65-cent scale for its 18,000 employees in Kannapolis, China Grove, Salisbury and Rockwell beginning Feb. 1.

The Kerr Bleaching and Finishing Works at Concord has settled on a 10 per cent raise to start Feb. 4 for its 500 workers.

An unannounced hike begins the same day for workers in the three Republic Cotton Mills plants at Great Falls, S. C.

U.S.E.S. Comment On Job Openings

Atlanta, Jan. 31—(AP)—Regional Director Harvey Enloe, Jr., of the U. S. Employment Service, reported today there were 182,800 applications for jobs on file in six southern states.

Paradoxically, he added, there were 20,000 job openings in the same states.

A local survey showed the greatest number of available jobs was in the unskilled classifications: I, E, common laborers.

The next largest number waiting for qualified men were in these categories in order: service occupations, clerical and sales work, crafts, technical and professional jobs.

For women the jobs available ranked in this order: service occupations, professional and technical work.

Asked whether skilled workers were migrating to other sections where jobs in their fields were more readily available, Enloe said "It is too soon yet to draw any definite conclusions, but there is a slight tendency in that direction."

Expansion Is Due In Pulp Business

Atlanta, Jan. 31—(AP)—A 100 per cent expansion of the South's pulp and paper industry to a billion-dollar business was predicted today at the annual meeting of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association.

Warren T. White of Norfolk, Va., special assistant to the receivers of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, made the prediction and called attention to the potentialities of the wood cellulose industry in the South.

"Anything made of wood cellulose can be made from Southern timber, and that includes rayon, artificial wood, plastics and chemicals," he said.

PARALYZED PONIES

Parsons, Kas., Jan. 30—(AP)—Horsepower on the hoof delayed horsepower on the rail for four hours when five runaway animals got stuck in the cross-ties of a railroad bridge near here.

The frightened animals were finally freed by a wrecker after the freight train crew had given it up for a bad job.

BRAZILIAN HOLIDAY

Rio De Janeiro, Jan. 30—(AP)—Provisional President Jose Linhares issued an order today extending through Friday a national bank holiday originally decreed last Thursday, when bank workers throughout Brazil went on strike. The strike now is in its sixth day and attempts at settlement of demands for salary increases have reached an impasse.

SPEED ATTEMPT

Los Angeles, Jan. 30—(AP)—Lockheed's jet fighter, the P-80, will go after a world speed record at Murco Dry Lake, Calif., in March, company officials disclosed today.

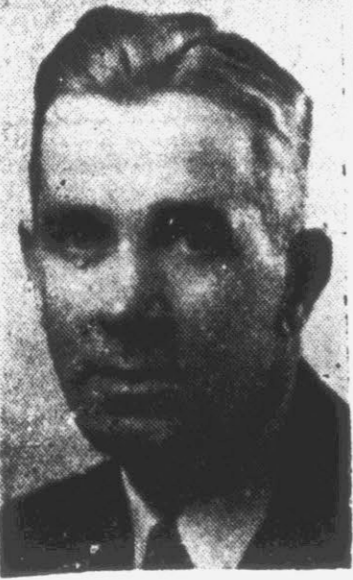

The present record, 606 miles per hour, was established Nov. 7, 1945, by the Gloster Britannia, a British jet plane.

Bob Rankin Goes To Lumberton Market

By CHESTER WALSH
Robert C. (Bob) Rankin, sales supervisor of the Greenville Tobacco Market and secretary of the Tobacco Board of Trade since 1939, will leave tomorrow for Lumberton to fill a similar position there. His work in Greenville has been outstanding, tobaccoists said. While in Greenville Rankin organized the Forty Year Club, composed of farmers of scores of counties who had been regularly selling their tobacco in Greenville for the past 40 years. The Tobacco Board of Trade extended special recognition to the members. Rankin has been a factor in promoting the remarkable growth of the Greenville market especially during the war. The Forty Year Club did much to develop good-will for the Greenville tobacco market.

During the war Rankin was manager of the Greenville Storage Co., which handled tobacco under the Lend-Lease agency for England. Rankin was supervisor of the Lumberton market and executive secretary of the Lumberton Chamber of Commerce before coming to Greenville. He went to Lumberton from Reidsville, his home town where he had served as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and as sales supervisor of the Reidsville tobacco market. While there Rankin won the Oliver Memorial Award for outstanding work that year of any citizen in promoting the welfare of Reidsville and Rockingham County. The call to go back to the Lumberton market is testimony of the value tobaccoists there place on his services and the esteem in which he is held there.

Rankin's successor in Greenville has not been named by the Tobacco Board of Trade. The position is an important one and requires the services of an especially efficient man. He and Mrs. Rankin will go to Lumberton tomorrow to make their home. He tendered his resignation here last fall, effective January 1.

Strength FOR THE DAY
 By EARL L. DOUGLAS

EVILS OF DIVISION
 At the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in Jerusalem, the different branches of the Christian Church are so at odds with each other that the sacred domain has to be divided off into districts, and members of one religious group are not allowed, without special permission to go into areas presided over by other groups. To such heights has this animosity arisen that the key of the church is deposited in the hands of a neutral person—a Mohammedan.

What a commentary on the Christian spirit of the parties involved. On the spot believed to mark the place where our Lord arose from the dead, Christians fight with each other so bitterly that a non-Christian has to be called in to keep the parties within their proper bounds.

Our Lord prayed that His disciples throughout the world would be one. The divisions among Christians today cause the non-Christian world to scoff. They point in derision at the people who claim to be followers of one Lord and yet cannot get along peacefully among themselves.

The religion of this problem is not more protest or a mere volubility of one's faith, but the determination of Christians of all varieties to live with one another in a spirit which makes the life of the Master glorious. Division and bitterness among the followers of Christ constitute scandal.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK
 By JACK STENNETT

Washington — Your Capital in Peacetime:
 In spite of all preceding pros and cons, when Gen. Eisenhower finished his lone explanation of the Army demobilization program to more than 200 members of Congress recently, and then asked for questions, not a one was asked.

Although the General came with scores of pages of prepared statements, he threw them aside after only a few minutes and ad libbed the rest of the way. Probably not since George Washington has any military leader been more effective on a speaker's platform.

It's time somebody started passing the accolades along to CPA Administrator Chester Bowles. He has stuck in a job that was too hot for all of his predecessors, including Leon Henderson who isn't chased easily even from a doehouse. Nobody would have chased Bowles with derision if he had joined the exodus of business big-leaguers as soon as the war was over. Instead he has stayed on through the period when criticism of OPA has reached the zenith and authority of the organization has been steadily waning.

It wouldn't be fair to mention his name, but one of the nation's top lawmakers had this to say when mentioned the telephone and telegraph strikes: "Goodness, what a relief. If the postoffice employees would just walk out now for a couple of weeks, maybe I could catch my breath."

Washington has had as many housing laughs as any of the cities, but none struck the vital funny than the fact that the National Housing Administration is house-hunting.

NHA has had quarters in a private building on E. St. N. W. The owners sold. The new owners told NHA they could get out and the sooner the better.

Post-war note: The State Department passport division is expanding rapidly. It has been given a No. 1 priority on clerks, typists, etc. but is pretty slim about the prospect of getting enough new workers to meet the increasing demand for passports and visas.

The talk is going around and round here that Interior Secretary Clegg soon will leave the cabinet to let other outspoken little man, Torelli LaGuardia, as a radio commentator. The gossipers also are positive, but not quite as much so. That Henry Wallace will leave the Department of Commerce soon to take the stump for the liberals in the 1946 Congressional elections. All you can get out of either of them is "Ikes" offer to bet a dollar that he can come closer to naming his resignation date than any of the new men.

UNRRA Announces Morgan's Return

Washington, Jan. 30.—(AP)—UNRRA completely reversed itself today on the once-projected ouster of H. Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan as UNRRA chief in Germany for remarks he made about the movement of Jews from Poland into the U. S. occupation zone.

Instead, the British officer was formally reinstated in his post after a public recognition of confidence by Herbert Lehman, director general of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Lehman's action contrasted sharply with the position taken by the UNRRA on January 4 when public announcement was made that it felt obliged to call for his resignation because of his assertions that a secret Jewish organization was promoting a mass exodus of Polish Jews from their homeland.

His remarks brought a storm of protests from Jewish organizations and individuals, and he was accused of anti-Semitism.

However, Lehman announced yesterday that Morgan was to be reinstated and voiced his confidence in the general's ability and religious impartiality.

Simultaneously with Lehman's announcement, it was disclosed at Earl Tzell, Germany, that a U. S. third Army report on the flow of Polish Jews into the U. S. occupation zone assets that Zionist groups in Poland are organizing and carrying such movements.

Our Farm Folks

Pitt County Home Demonstration Club women have pledged their support to the North Carolina Federation of Garden Clubs for this Dozwood Week. The 600 members will plant at least one dogwood in their yards or along the roadside on their farm. At the request of many club women and women of Greenville we are giving below "Hints on Planting Dogwood" by J. S. Holmes, assistant forester.

Dozwood is a rather difficult tree to transplant, therefore in order, as far as possible, to reduce unnecessary loss, the Division of Forestry and Parks of the department has drawn up the following guide to planters.

Site. Select the site for each tree before they are received so as to avoid delay in planting.

Highway planting on the right-of-way must be restricted to those places where there is little likelihood of early improvement. A permit should be secured from the State Highway and Public Works Commission for such planting. For roadside planting on private land, the trees should be well beyond the outer edge of the right-of-way so that any widening or straightening of the road will not injure the trees.

For home beautification the best sites are along the borders of woods where the trees will have partial shade and where the blooming tree can show up to greatest advantage with a background of larger trees. Dogwood planted in the open will need extra care to succeed. Receive the trees. Do not be discouraged if the trees are smaller than you expected. Small trees are much more likely to live than larger ones and they grow faster when the site suits them. They also adapt themselves to the site much more readily. On receipt of the trees, open them up as soon as possible, but do not let the roots remain exposed to the air more than a few minutes. Wrap them in a wet cloth or place them in buckets of water. If the trees cannot be planted immediately, feel them in moist soil well compacted around the roots.

Before planting out of broken, skinned or otherwise injured roots with a sharp knife. Trim with sharp knife or pruning shears, every side branch half way back or more, but don't cut back the leader. Heavy pruning will help balance the reduced root system and also encourage height growth.

Planting should be done when the soil is fairly dry and friable so that it will sift down among the network of roots.

Dig the hole large enough to receive the roots spread out horizontally, and deep enough, 10 or 12 inches, so that 4 to 6 inches of top soil, preferably taken from the woods, is in the hole 3 to 6 inches deep in which the roots can be well spread out. This is as deep as this shallow rooted species could be planted. Now take early, dry top soil without trash, sift it down among the roots. Fill the hole so that the ground is level with a packed down by the foot. Be sure your tree is no deeper or no shallower in the ground than it formerly grew. This is quite important.

Much, in order to give the tree the conditions natural to it, partly rotted forest leaves should be placed around it and if in the open, some small brush might be used to shield the leaves from blowing away.

Water. Do not water the tree until the planting is finished. Wet soil cannot be firmed as it should be. Half a bucket per tree should be enough until the buds begin to swell when, if the weather is dry, each tree might have water every week or two until soaking rains fall. Water might again be used during the first summer if prolonged drought occurs.

Subsequent treatment. The mulch of forest leaves might well be renewed each winter in order to retain desirable moisture conditions and a slight acidity in the soil. A slightly acid compost might also be applied sparingly each spring.

Each winter the lowest branches should be pruned off close to the main stem until in the course of a few years you have a straight tree.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights, or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for 70 years. Doan's give kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's.

PHANTOMS WIN OVER BETHEL

Locals Play Conference Tilt Against Tarboro Here Tonight

The Green Phantom reserves scored an easy 40-32 victory over the Bethel High basketball five in a game played in the GHS gym last night. The Phantom Junior team scored a 17-10 triumph over the Bethel Juniors in a preliminary bout.

Bethel jumped to an early lead by scoring two baskets before the Greens could score. However, the Greens soon tied the score at 10 all and went ahead 12-10 a moment later. They were never threatened again throughout the entire contest.

Henry Turner, Julian White, and Dave Clark shared high scoring honors for the Greens with 11 points apiece. Jack Whichard swished four of five free tosses to take the runner-up spot.

Whitley was high man for Bethel with 9 markers. Worsley got 8 to follow Whitley in the scoring department.

Howard Proctor and Sam Northrup led the Juniors with 4 points apiece. Joe Allgood tossed in 3 for second high honors.

The starters for Greenville last night were the regular Phantom second string composed of Billy White and Jack Whichard at guards, Henry Turner and Julian White at forwards, and Dave Clark at center.

Greenville's Phantoms are expected to pass another milestone in the race for North-Eastern Conference honors tonight when they battle with the Tarboro High Serpents on the local floors, tonight at 8:00. Entire proceeds go to the March of Dimes.

The Farley-men have won all of their conference games (over Wilmington, Roanoke Rapids, Kinston and Tarboro); but the manner in which they have done so has not been up to their potential ability.

In the Serpents, the Phantoms face an opponent whom they have met and defeated by a 39-21 margin; but according to reports, the Tarboro team has improved greatly since that time.

Coach Farley will present the best Greenville High has to offer tonight, in order to keep the Phantoms' conference record intact.

Probable line-up for Greenville will be: Billy Harrington and Mac Hatcher, guards; Ed Williams and Jimmy Futrel, forwards; Jimmy Williams, center.

Pirates Leave Today Three-Game Tour

The Pirates of East Carolina Teachers College will continue to meet North State competition when they leave today for three games away from home.

The Pirates pay a return visit to Union College this evening. Then they move over to Guilford College where they tangle Friday night with the Quakers for the first time this season. Saturday night will see the Pirates' final contest against the High Point Panthers in the college gym in that city.

The Pirates will return to Greenville on Sunday.

Furman and Davidson are down in the lower bracket of the Southern Conference basketball chase, but their lowly status hasn't prevented them from playing two scorching battles in as many nights on the Davidson court.

Furman prevailed for the second straight time, pulling out with a 49-46 edge last night for as the second time the South Carolina club came from behind in the last half to win. The night before the count was 48-36 so evenly were the teams matched that at no point in either game, did Furman enjoy a lead of more than four points.

Last night's scoring heroes were Ernie Chambers and Effie Evington, each with 14 points for Furman, and Davidson's George Peters with 13.

Furman wins the year's play, three games to one.

The state's only other game saw the class Wright Field, Ohio, Hawks claw N. C. State, 65-43, at Raleigh. Bruce Hale, former Santa Clara performer, was the big gun with 10 baskets for the winners who were in front, 33-12, at the half. Howard Turner's 12 points paced State.

John Mahnken, six-eight Wright Field center, gained 14 points but lost four teeth for his pains in a scrimmage with a State player under the hoop.

Charlotte, Jan. 31—(AP)—Charlotte and Wilmington baseball fans today were looking to next Wednesday's Tri-State League meeting here to clear up the status of both cities in regard to berths in the new circuit.

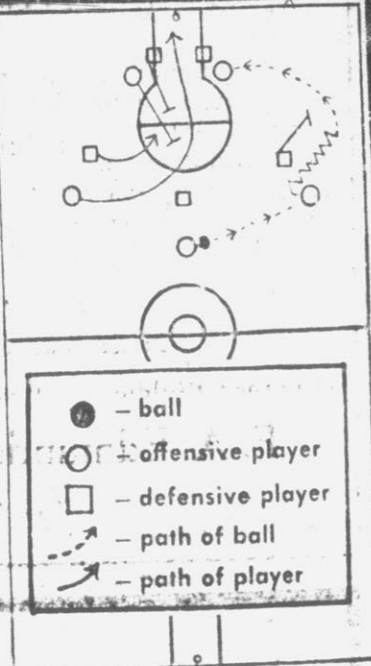

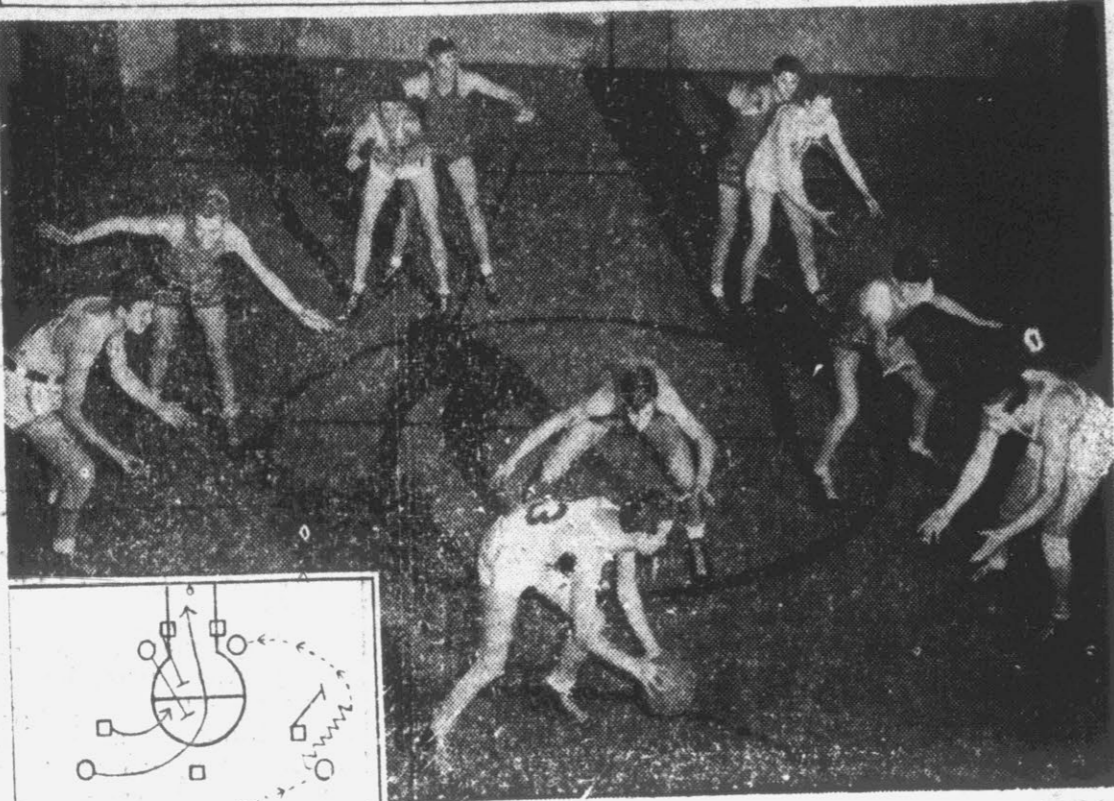

Tri-State President C. M. Lewellyn of Concord, announced last night that Wilmington could have a place in the league "if proper assurance is given by midnight Friday."

Charlotte, placed on the 1946 suspended list by the Piedmont League, which yesterday decided to go ahead as an All-Virginia circuit this year, also took heart from Lewellyn's announcement that the Hornets would be in the Tri-State by the time the Wednesday meeting rolled around.

This basketball play sets up three men in shooting position. The play-maker (in white uniform) fakes a pass to teammate on left, shovels ball to guard on right who pivots and dribbles into end zone. A quick pass to player under basket follows. He shoots. Guard, who drew fake, comes in fast for rebound. Center moves out to foul line for any high bounce off backboard. Original passer, who is set-shot artist, stays put in center of floor for his specialty.

House Group OK's Atomic Secrecy

Washington, Jan. 30—(AP)—The House Naval Committee today approved a legal ban against disclosure to foreign governments of technical data obtained in the planned Pacific Ocean atom bomb tests. The proviso written by the Navy Department and approved intact by the committee, however, includes a clause giving the Secretaries of War and Navy some leeway in disclosing data to foreign governments.

The secrecy requirement was included in a bill authorizing the Navy to use approximately 100 American and captured enemy warships in the Pacific tests beginning next May, but requiring "consent" of the congressional naval committees to be obtained for the selected vessels.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, in charge of the forthcoming tests, told the committee he expected a directive from the joint chiefs of staff imposing strict security regulations.

On the Senate side a witness suggested that the Senate Atomic Energy Committee call in some psychiatrists for advice on what he called the matter of national sovereignty. The committee is considering drafting atomic energy control legislation.

Japs Still Fighting In North China Area

Peiping, Jan. 29—(Delayed AP)—A battalion of some 1,100 Japanese troops was reported to have today been "cutting its way through" Chinese Communist forces in an effort to reach Tsinan to surrender to government troops.

Members of a truce team returned from the area said they were told that the Japanese commander had promised to surrender to Gen. Li Tsung-jen, government commander-in-chief in North China, at Tsinan, and agreed to turn over their arms to Communist forces.

Use New Cooking Methods for Choice Meat

Now that meat of better quality is more abundant, perhaps it might not be amiss to brush up on the newest methods of cooking choice meat. We'll start with the favorite of men, a thick, juicy porterhouse steak... and follow through with other cuts in later bulletins.

Broiled Porterhouse Steak... browned to perfection

Order a steak at least one inch thick of U. S. Choice or Good quality. Turn oven regulator to "broil" and preheat for 5 minutes. Place meat on rack about 2 inches below heat, leaving broiler door slightly ajar. When top side is browned, season with salt and pepper, turn and broil the other side. Season. If meat has not cooked the allotted time (see time chart at right), reduce heat to 350°F. and continue cooking for specified time. Serve at once on a heated platter.

No Broiler?
Then pan-broil your steak for equal deliciousness. Heat a heavy skillet sizzling hot. Rub with a piece of suet (cut from the steak) and brown both sides of the steak quickly. Reduce heat and finish cooking slowly, turning steak only once. Do not pierce lean meat with a fork... use tongs or turn meat by placing fork tines in the fat. Pour fat off as it accumulates.

Contrary to a common idea, cooking choice meat does not make it more tender. The meat is tender when you start to cook it. Heat changes the flavor, makes it less juicy and actually makes the meat less tender if too high a temperature is used or if overcooked.

Pride in Quality
Wilson & Co. take pride in bringing you meats of the highest quality. All products bearing the Wilson label must live up to the ideal. Thos. E. Wilson wrote over 25 years ago:

Our Ideal
"To make well and to trade fairly... To profit not alone in dollars but in the good will of those with whom we deal... To correct our errors... To improve our opportunities and to rear from the daily work a structure which shall be known for all that is best in business."
Thos. E. Wilson

Yours for quality,
George Rector

Five minutes before deadline filing time, Carroll F. Jones, another Republican aspirant, dashed in, waving his petition.
Clerk M. B. Voebaker decided the issue by flipping a coin. Jones won.

Chapter 15

(Sunday 9:05 p. m. to Monday 9:50 a. m.)

A cold chill crept over Julia. She thought of the tall girl's answer when she had asked her where she was the night before. And some one had carried Julia back to her bed. Virginia could have done that. Steinway had said he was with her when Robey was killed but both of them might have lied.

"If a woman is guilty she will not doubt confess," Wandell went on imperturbably. "Inspector Venable has climbed on the confessions of guilty women."

Frank's music died out and he moved toward them and sat on the corner seat near Julia.

"I remember him," he said. "He's the young psychology expert who went in for crime and topped off his successes with the Carson confession."

She remembered then why his face was familiar. She had seen his picture in the paper in connection with the Carson trial. Mrs. Carson was charged with her husband's murder and everything appeared to be in her favor. The newspapers had hinted at the slight evidence on which the district attorney was basing his case. Then suddenly the woman had confessed to the attractive Inspector.

"He has a perfect record so far. Let's hope he solves this one," said Wandell gravely.

"He has a wife with him," Frank looked from Virginia to Julia. "You girls had better be careful. You'll be making up things to tell him."

Julia's cheeks flushed with anger. So that was why he had been so kind to her. He was hunting for a confession to hang like a scalp from his belt. How she hated him for his deceptive courtesy!

Doctor Wandell rose to leave and Julia went with him to the door. Moore was sipping drink when she came back.

"He's pretty smooth your doctor," said Frank.

"What did he do with Alma?" asked Virginia.

"I gathered from the Commission that she is in a mental institution. She has been there before and the police can't question her. Don't suppose they could use it anyway. She went to pieces when Robey left her. The last nice conversation for you, Julia."

Frank's in Robey's widow, Frank, and just remember I want to help find his murderer. I didn't love him but it wasn't fair that he should lose his life when he loved it so."

"We haven't talked over what to do," Virginia said stifling a yawn.

God, it's only ten and I'm sleepy. I'm staying with Julia. With cops keeping themselves knocked out the place isn't safe."

Frank protested and Julia couldn't tell whether it was to get Virginia away from the house or whether he didn't want to see her although his attitude toward her was as devoted as a true collaborator's could be.

Virginia, however, had made up her mind and it wasn't easily changed.

"Oh, Uncle Dick can boss me and he's in Buenos Aires, thank God!"

She went into Robey's room.

"I can't sleep with anyone," she exclaimed, and I'm not afraid of ghosts. That's why I moved in here last night."

She had had shortly at Julia's explanation. It was a mixture of relief and conviction that she had shown any suspicion of the girl who had been kind in spite of her brusqueness.

Before he went to bed, Julia stuck a finger in the tall perfume bottle and the paper rolled within. She did not take it out. It was enough to know it was still there. She would never tell the Inspector about it now she reflected, or he would twist it into another piece of evidence against her. How foolish she had been to trust him at all!

Morning brought new suspicions and finally fresh horror.

Moore awakened her early with the first news. The house had been searched the night before. Julia put on a quilted house coat and slippers and went into the salon. The identified room looked like a drunken outcast. The sight gave an impact of fury and violence. She had a weird fleeting picture of Robey coming back to search for what he had hidden. Fear welled and overthrew. She closed her eyes against the scene.

"Shall I clean up quickly before the cops come?" Moore asked with a hint of eagerness.

She hesitated. That would be the easiest way. But she didn't trust

Moore. It would be better to face the police now.

"No. Ask the man in the corridor to come here."

Moore's flabby face became bland and he went outside. She wanted to go back to see if her perfume bottle with its damning bit of evidence was safe but she forced herself to wait.

The detective's mouth dropped open when he saw the room. He recovered quickly and went past them and out the back, returning with another guard.

"Nobody is to leave this house," said the first man. The other one went to the phone in the foyer.

"Yes, sir. Thank you, sir," Moore answered with affected satire.

Julia went to her bed room and walked straight to the dressing table. The paper was still there. She thought of destroying it but couldn't bring herself to do it. It seemed to be important to some one.

Virginia and Moore were standing before the Inspector when she entered the salon again.

"At least we can limit the number who could have made this search," he said and Julia wondered how she could ever have thought his mouth betrayed a sense of humor. "Only you three were in the apartment last night and no one came in."

Chapter 16

(Monday 9:50 a. m. to 11:35 a. m.)

Inspector Venable wasn't friendly that morning and, illogically, his attitude increased. Julia's distrust of him. She and Virginia were sent to her bedroom. Fingerprint men and photographers were soon at work in the salon while Moore had a stiff session in the library with the Inspector that is, she suspected, it was Virginia was sent for next and Julia was left alone.

She walked the floor nervously. Fear ran through her veins, alive and rampant. She held the paper that some one, dangerous and ruthless, had sought last night. She tried to find the reason for any one wanting that piece of a marriage certificate so desperately.

Virginia came back with her long straight brows pulled together over indignant green eyes.

"If Uncle Dick were here he'd have that brute fired even if he is the white-haired boy of the department." Suddenly she smiled, but the Commissioner told him to lay off me and that's why he did it. He's a stubborn ass.

"Is he sure no one entered the place?"

"So he says."

"Then it had to be Moore."

"I think I convinced him of that. I said we'd both slept in your bed again."

"Oh, Charlie, he'll know better."

"I made the bed. Nothing like an alibi. I always say, You'd better see Papa now because he said to send you."

Julia went through Robey's suite. The bed was made but Moore would know because he had awakened her. There was a policeman at the outside door and he motioned her to go into the library.

A young man with horn-rimmed glasses and a long nose was seated behind the large blonde walnut desk whose lines always reminded her of an airplane with its wings of double shelves. A big detective she had seen before covered a small straight chair in the opposite corner. Inspector Venable stood with his back to the fireplace, his hands behind him. The sight of him shaded her nervousness with excitement.

"Did you hear anything last night, Mrs. Baker?"

"No. Won't you sit down, Inspector?" Julia sank into a lounge chair upholstered in deep blue leather.

"It's odd in a way but I've had little sleep lately and I was exhausted."

"What was the object of that search, Mrs. Baker?" His voice was cold as if he controlled an icy anger. He had ignored her invitation and remained standing.

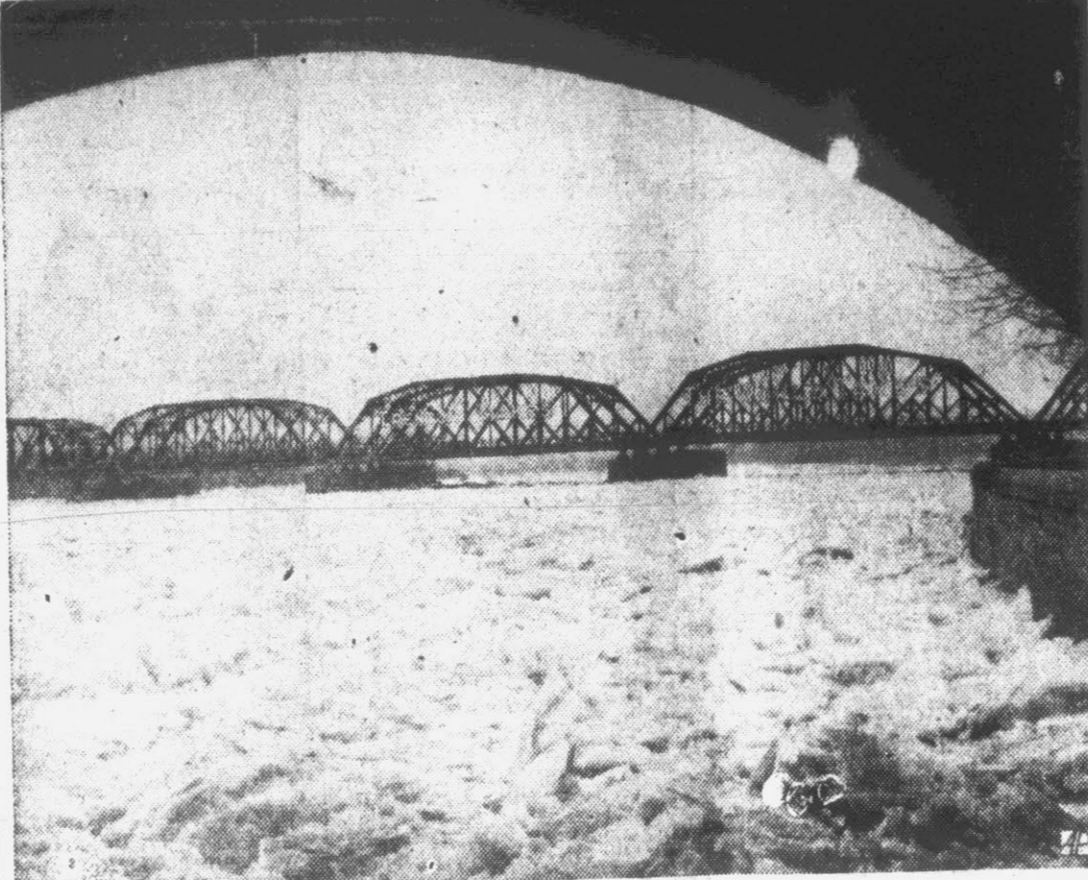

"If we knew that we'd know so many things, wouldn't we?" she countered.

"That doesn't answer my question."

"I don't know." It was true. She wasn't sure it was the scrap of paper she had. She couldn't see where it would make any difference with Robey gone. Unless there was no will—she hadn't thought about a will.

"What have you thought of now?" demanded the Inspector.

She hunted frantically for a plausible answer which would explain the puzzled expression he had noticed.

"I'm trying to figure out how anyone could have entered the apartment," she said desperately.

"No one entered this apartment after your guests left last night. Wandell left at 9:41, Harmon at 10:24 and the cook went at 8:33."

Moore and I left yesterday without the guard knowing it," she retorted.

"One of you is very clever." His voice's bitterness made her feel safer. She buried the unbidden notion that he was a young and earnest crusader fighting for justice.

He had her go over everything that had been said the night before. She gave him only the parts of their conversation that didn't matter. It was on the tip of her tongue to reveal the comments made about him but she refrained because of this.

jected Mrs. Carson. Inspector, I think it's rather crude.

His eyes blazed instantly. She stood up as if to face a blow. For a moment neither moved. They might have been holding clashed swords, each blade thwarted by the other. It was the Inspector who loosened the unbearable tension. The light of battle went out of his eyes but his voice was hard when he spoke.

"You may go, Mrs. Baker. At least you cannot object to my admonition to be careful."

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE
North Carolina
Pitt County

The undersigned having this day qualified as Executor of the estate of Lula Joyner Forbes before the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, notice is hereby given to all persons indebted to said estate to make immediate payment to the undersigned Executor at Greenville, N. C. and all persons holding claims against said estate are hereby required to file their claims itemized and duly verified with the said Executor within twelve months from the date hereof or this notice will be pleaded in bar of recovery of said claims.

This 12th day of January, 1946.

F. C. HARDING, Executor of Estate of Lula Joyner Forbes, Jan. 15-1946-6WKS.

ten (10) days after and if awarded to the bidder and that the required bond will be executed.

A performance bond will be required of the successful bidder in an amount equal to one hundred (100) per cent of the contract price, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the contract and upon the payment in full to all persons supplying labor and furnishing materials, equipment and/or apparatus, for and in connection with the furnishing of equipment for and/or construction of the project.

General Contractors are notified that "An Act to Regulate the Practice of General Contracting," ratified by the General Assembly of North Carolina on March 10, 1925, and as subsequently amended, will be observed in receiving and awarding general contracts.

Bids will be considered only from those who can certify that they have manufactured similar equipment to that specified and for such period of time as the Engineer and the Commission may deem proper for proof of merit, experience and ability to manufacture and install the equipment specified and/or construct the work involved.

The Greenville Utilities Commission reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive informally, and further to award the contract conditioned upon funds being made available for the work involved. The right is also reserved to hold any or all proposals for a period of not exceeding sixty (60) days from the date of opening thereof.

Plans, specifications and contract documents are open to public inspection at the office of the Superintendent of the Greenville Utilities Commission in Greenville, N. C., and copies may be obtained upon application to the Engineer accompanied by a certified check deposit in the amount of Twenty (20) dollars, made payable to the Greenville Utilities Commission of the City of Greenville, N. C. This deposit will be refunded only to those making bona fide direct bids to the Commission and further conditioned upon the return of the plans and/or specifications, in acceptable condition, to the Engineer on or before the date set for receiving bids. To those acquiring plans and/or specifications and who find, upon examining same, that they will not or can not offer a bid to the Greenville Utilities Commission, fifty per cent of the deposit will be refunded, provided the plans and/or specifications are returned to the Engineer, in acceptable condition on or before the date set for receiving bids. No excerpts from the plans and/or specifications will be available.
