CONFERENCE PLANNED IN NEW DISPUTE

Telephone Workers Have Strike Vote As Powerful Lever In Wage Demands

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 20.—(AP)—The nation's telephone workers today looked toward an early resumption of bargaining conferences after arming their leaders with the power to order an industry-wide strike if their wage and hour demands are not met.

The National Federation of Telephone Workers, representing one-quarter million telephone employees, yesterday empowered its executive board to call a walkout whenever it considers proper.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the federation, announced: "However, we will continue bargaining with the company and all efforts will be made to settle the dispute."

Meanwhile, in Washington, Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach declared he had been assured by Mr. Beirne that federal conciliation would be tried before a strike is ordered.

The NFW represents local and long-distance operators, maintenance men and manufacturing and research employes of the vast American telephone and telegraph system.

Union demands are for a $10 a week wage increase, a 65-cent hourly minimum and a return to the 40-hour week. Beirne inferred, however, that the minimum wage demand might be reconsidered in the light of recent settlements in the automobile and steel industries.

Offers by the A. T. & T. to increase wages of all operators $6 a week and other employes from $3 to $6 have been reported.

A union spokesman said the current wage scale for operators in smaller towns is $18 to $20 weekly as a starting wage with a maximum of $26 to $28. He said operators in large towns start at $24 to $26 with a maximum of $38.

The resolution to call a strike was adopted by a vote of 121,997 to 30, 761 and directed all affiliates to respect a "picket line" in the event a work stoppage is ordered. Seven unions, representing 26,913 members, failed to vote.

Motorcade Heads For Washington

Pittsburgh, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Hampered by snow ranging up to a foot in depth, the 148-car Chicago-to-Washington taxicab caravan was scattered all along the Pennsylvania Turnpike today, with a few members already heading through Maryland for the nation's capital.

State police along the route said the weary travelers—350 former service men and their wives riding in their own taxis—looked for homes wherever they could find them, at Somerset, Bedford and other towns.

Others parked their cars on side streets and slept a few chilly hours before resuming the trek. And some simply kept driving all night, making stops only at wayside points for hamburgers and coffee.

The motorcade is composed of veterans protesting a Chicago ordinance limiting the number of taxis to 3,000. They want to drive their cream-and-white taxis in Chicago.

The former servicemen hope to get relief through federal action.

The drivers ran into snow and sleet when they crossed the West Virginia panhandle from Ohio into Pennsylvania yesterday. The main body arrived in Pittsburgh around noon and left in a snowstorm in the evening, splashing through two inches of slush.

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP World Traveler

Essen, Germany, Feb. 20.—(AP)—It has to be seen to be believed but this great industrial and coal mining city, which was blown to smithereens by American and British bombing during the last year of the war still breathes and moves and has a being.

Even more remarkable is the fact that this home of the colossal Krupp armament works was by no means the sole city to cling to a thread of life in the mammoth earthquake which swept the manufacturing centers of the Ruhr.

Essen's ghostly survival is typical of her sister cities. During years of globe trotting your correspondent has encountered few world wonders that have come up to the expectations inspired by advance notices, but among those which have completely fulfilled their promise must be included the bombing of the Ruhr.

Essen is an awesome example, for virtually every building in this city—which sprawled over many square miles and contained a peak population of nearly three quarters of a million—is in ruins. The destruction is so nearly complete that experts estimate it will require 30

Price Control Hearing To Consider Truman's Plan For 2,700,000 New Houses; Henry Ford States Bowles Did Not Give "All The Facts"

Washington, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The question of putting $1,600,000,000 in federal funds behind President Truman's program for 2,700,000 new houses came up for a vote today in the House Banking Committee.

The committee agreed to interrupt its questioning of Chester Bowles on continuation of price controls and turned its attention to the legislation intended to provide an unprecedented number of new homes for war veterans in the next two years.

It must decide whether to write into the bill a provision for a $1,000,000,000 increase in the Federal Housing Administration's authorization to insure housing mortgages, and also whether the government, as Mr. Truman recommends, should provide $600,000,000 for subsidy payments to bring out larger production of scarce building materials.

Meanwhile, Chairman Spence (D-Ky) telegraphed Henry Ford (D-Mich) inviting him to appear personally before the committee to give his side of the Ford Motor Company's argument for OPA on automobile price ceilings.

Young Ford came dramatically into the price control picture yesterday when Bowles, newly appointed Economic Stabilizer, told the Bank-

NEW BOUNDARY CLASH AHEAD

Italian-Yugoslav Boundary Dispute May End In Fighting

London, Feb. 20.—(AP)—A British-American argument with Russia has delayed departure of a four-member commission to investigate on the spot the Italian-Yugoslav boundary dispute in Venezia Giulia. It was said authoritatively today.

The Russians want the commission's investigation restricted to Trieste and the Italian side of the boundary. The British and Americans believe the commission should be allowed to go farther east, into the area claimed by Yugoslavia.

The foreign ministers of the five principal powers agreed last fall that the boundary should follow ethnographic lines, but determination of this line is yet to be made.

Rising Tide Of Jobless Is Ahead

Washington, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The Labor Department launched an attempt today to beat back a rising tide of unemployment it expects to leave 6,000,000 jobless by June 30.

The United States Employment Service will attack the problem by asking employers to list all job vacancies with USES.

Latest census bureau figures place present unemployment at about 3,000,000.

USES Director Robert C. Goodwin estimated yesterday that of 8,000,000 discharged members of the armed services 6,000,000 looked for work and 3,300,000 registered with USES.

He added many others were expected to register, because 4,000,000 more veterans will be back in the United States before the end of June.

Job openings already listed with USES, Goodwin said, are not adequate to meet this flood of applicants.

Landlord Fined For OPA Rent Violation

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Isadore Alford, 54, was fined $7,500, placed on five-year probation and directed to purchase $25,000 worth of government bonds by U. S. District Judge Elmer Davies after he pleaded guilty to charges of violating the emergency price control act.

Alford was accused of charging two tenants 25 cents more a week than the OPA-fixed price. One tenant was charged $3.25, the indictment said, when the price had been fixed at $3. Another was charged $3.75 and the price had been set at $3.50.

Judge Davies yesterday directed that the bonds should be purchased during the five-year probation period and that Alford could not dispose of any of them pending termination of the period.

PISTOL DUEL IN SECT FRAY

Hilltop Temple Of "Kingdom Inc." Site Of Fatal Shooting

Durham, Me., Feb. 20.—(AP)—A double slaying etched another chapter today in the colorful history of Shiloh, the hilltop "temple" here of a religious sect, "The Kingdom, Inc."

Sheriff Louis E. Gendron said a pistol duel between Irene Laprise, about 30, of Brunswick, and Dr. Charles Reeder, 39-year-old Durham osteopath, ended yesterday with both men dead and Carl Webster, 32, and Mrs. Kneeland Godfrey, 71, slightly wounded.

State Police Sgt. John P. Crosby said the shooting occurred more than two hours after Laprise visited the religious community as a would-be purchaser of the property and then presented the caretaker with a letter demanding "a sum of money."

For two hours after he presented the letter, the investigators related, Laprise held Webster, Mrs. Godfrey, and two other sect members at gunpoint in a room of the temple until

Byrnes Says Atomic Secret Is Still Ours

"Know How" Of Bomb Production Is Still Our Exclusive Secret; "Guard It Well," Echoes Capitol Hill

Washington, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes' assurance that the know-how of atomic bomb production remains an exclusive United States secret brought a renewed Capitol Hill cry today of "guard it well."

In the wake of Canadian disclosures of a spy ring in Canada, a foreign spy ring, the congressional reaction to Byrnes' statement was a mixture of relief and admonition to "make sure it can't happen here."

Typical of that reaction were the comments to a reporter: Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House Military Committee: "I only hope that he is correct. We should preserve the secrecy of the atom bomb until positively assured of an effective United Nations agreement not to utilize it for war."

Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Naval Committee: "I am glad we still keep it."

Privately, a number of lawmakers still expressed a desire for a more complete picture of the Canadian investigation and its possible ramifications here and for more details on the situation which Byrnes acknowledged he knew about as long ago as last November.

In answer to direct questions at his news conference yesterday, the secretary of state declined to say:

Job Seniority For Returning Servicemen Faces Test In Courts

Washington, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Courts are divided on the extent of a veteran's right to his old job—the so-called "seniority issue"—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service chief, reported today.

Two courts have upheld the right of the veteran to absolute rein statement and continuance in the job for one year so long as such jobs are available," Hershey said in a statement given out at an American Legion National Employment Committee conference.

Spy Report

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The Canadian government is expected to release its first official report tomorrow on an espionage plot which Prime Minister Mackenzie King declared had resulted in the disclosure of highly secret information to a foreign mission in Ottawa, since authoritatively identified as the Soviet embassy.

Canadians eagerly await new disclosures concerning the case, in which several strategically placed government officials were reported involved. Sources close to the government, however, said that the foreign mission to which King referred last Friday probably would not be officially identified until the investigation is completed—perhaps a week or two hence.

Whether the spy ring in Canada is directed by the Russian government.

Whether any scientific secrets leading up to the development of the atomic bomb had leaked out of this country—only God and God alone would know, he said.

What his position is on the opinion expressed by Joseph E. Davies, former U. S. ambassador to Russia, that the Soviet Union has every moral right to seek atomic bomb secrets through military espionage so long as she is barred from such information by her former fighting allies.

For most of these answers, Byrnes referred his questioners to the FBI, which had nothing to say.

But he did say flatly, on top of the statement that the U. S. retains sole knowledge of the atom bomb know-how, that he had no knowledge about:

"Any investigation or activity of a spy ring in the United States similar to that reported in Canada. Any Americans involved in the Canadian spy ring.

A columnist's report that a foreign agent had been permitted to slip out of this country with a suitcase full of atomic bomb secrets.

This story explains who can and who can't.

If you can't, you must use form 1040, as a short form or long form, return, depending upon your individual case.

Form W-2—the receipt given a worker by his boss—shows how much tax regularly was withheld from his wages or salary in 1945.

You can use it:

Secretary Schwellenbach Tells Industry To Push For Labor Settlements And To Depend On OPA For Adjustments; Price Increases "Are Going To Be Handled Fast"

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH Washington, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The Labor Department opened a drive today to "push for settlement" of all current strikes and get the reconversion program back into high gear.

Secretary Schwellenbach told industry generally his advice was to "sign up and trust to OPA."

"At the same time a high OPA official promised employers that price increase applications to offset wage boosts under the new stabilization policy "are going to be handled fast."

This pledge fitted in with Schwellenbach's assertion that the success of the new wage-price policy would hinge on prompt government action.

Schwellenbach added at a news conference yesterday that he had assurances from the federal agencies involved that speedy consideration will be given to all requests for price relief.

The OPA official, who withheld his name, expressed belief that blanket approval of all pay increases legally made prior to Feb. 14—the effective date of the stabilization formula—will not bog OPA under a flood of price relief appeals. This automatic approval of pay grants was ordered by the Wage, Stabilization Board yesterday in a move to clear its decks for new applications.

The OPA official said many of the approximately 600 wage cases approved by the board in this action would not require price increases.

"Many of those increases were granted by companies in industries which still are making 1939-40 profits or better," the official declared.

"They know they are not entitled to higher prices under the new policy and they are not going to ask for them."

OPA already has cost information available for a number of industries, the official said, adding that this would lighten the load in the case of many qualified price applications.

For completed pricing of various consumer products which were off the market during the war. These include automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines and radios.

If and when these industries apply for higher prices to offset new wage increases, OPA expects to be (Continued on Page Four)

Gardner was governor of North Carolina from 1929 to 1933 and Senator George (D-Ga) told reporters he was glad to see a man of that caliber appointed to this important place.

Gardner now is chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

Ladies of the Round Table

The Ladies of the Round Table had a most delightful meeting Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Howard McCrimm who had as a special guest Mrs. Brewster.

After the routine business which included some special announcements and committee reports, Mrs. C. E. Oakley gave a very interesting talk on John James Audubon. Mrs. Oakley emphasized some of the unique experiences in the life of this great artist and lover of birds, which were not so familiar to the listeners as the man himself. She told how his first love from childhood was nature even at the expense of other very important opportunities and businesses. Even after his marriage to Lucy Blackwell and the birth of his two sons and the death of his two daughters he often felt the call to travel over America and study new birds. As a result of his extensive travel, study and painting, he was able to acquire a fortune by publishing his life size paintings of 435 birds. This came at old age and at the time of his death he and his family were living in a beautiful home on the Hudson river in New York.

Following Mrs. Oakley's talk Mrs. W. A. Browne gave a very informative analysis of the news of the day.

The close of the meeting Mrs. McCrimm assisted by Mrs. T. R. Browning and Mrs. R. R. Taylor served a delicious dessert plate with hot coffee and assorted nuts.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

February 21, 1906

The farmers of Pitt County should bear in mind that they are not alone in the matter of organization. The spirit is abroad all over the state and throughout the south. The farmers feed the world and they should at least have the right to fix the prices of their products.

There was a light fall of snow in the early hours of Sunday.

Miss Janie Brown entertained very delightfully Saturday night at her home on Dickinson Avenue, euchre being played. After the game a two course luncheon was served.

Wesley Foundation News

In a quaint, homey, many-windowed, rambling brown house near Concord, Massachusetts, there lived about seventy-five years ago a family well known to all readers of "Little Women." The four girls who, under the names of Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy, became like sisters to all the young girls of America; because they worked, played, studied, and grew to young womanhood in a typical American way.

The father was a noble-hearted man and a very earnest philosopher and teacher, but too impractical to earn a comfortable living for his family. So the burden fell on Mrs. Alcott, the capable, sweet-natured, and unselfish "Marmee" of the "little women" until Louisa Alcott (the Jo in the story) through her teaching and writing lifted the burden from her mother's shoulders.

The Wesley Foundation Players are presenting this colorful classic because the story is one of a typical, lovable, American family. It is a story which is dear to the hearts of the American people. "Little Women" is filled with tenderness, love, and devotion. It brings out so clearly the bonds of love and understanding which should bind all families together.

It is the plan of the Drama Group in the Wesley Foundation to give two major productions of this type each year, one in the fall, and one in the spring. The receipts from these productions will enable them to give several one-act plays and pageants at appropriate seasons in the church calendar. It will also enable them to buy new scenery, costumes, and lighting equipment which they need badly. This will make it possible for the Drama Group to lend equipment to the Methodist Church and other churches for productions in religious programs.

One of the main reasons for a Drama Group in the Wesley Foundation is for the development of the individual student. It gives a person a sense of responsibility plus confidence in himself. Miss Mamie Chandler, the director of the Methodist students emphasizes interdependence and unity between groups of people. By learning to work together in small groups members can learn to cooperate with other people throughout the world. In presenting a play a person learns to work with other people and therefore betters himself for living in a world which is slowly being drawn closer together.

Today we need to look at life anew and revise our sense of values. We need to give instead of receive and to work with people instead of against them. Only through such groups as the one which has been established by the Methodist Church can young people ever hope to learn the cooperative way of life which is so essential today.

Yes, there were thirty-six ladies on the first lap of the journey, and there were only thirty-five men and boys. Poor men! It looks now as if they are really going to have to give the ladies a big feast, and it is already decided that Mr. Ole Kittrell will superintend the cooking of it. Mr. Leon Tyson will have charge of the dish washing brigade and little Billy Kittrell will make fires. Now, ladies, we have gotten a little start on the men and we really do want to make them give us a big supper on or about April 25th. Mrs. B. L. Tyson is driver of the ladies car and F. L. Allen is driver of the men's car. Milton May is score-keeper and the cross country trip will last nine more Sundays. If you are not a member of any other Sunday school, the folks at Red Oak invite you to be present next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Fall Guy

BY JOE BARRY

Chapter 4
"Mr. Henry?" A great weariness came over Rush as he recognized the voice of the elder Germaine.
"Yes."
"I want to see you immediately."
"Okay," Rush said. "I'll be there right away."
His watch said eight o'clock as the cab turned into the driveway of the Germaine estate. He paid the driver and walked up to the door. It opened immediately at his ring and an ancient butler conducted him directly to the study.
The elder Germaine had aged measurably in the few hours since Rush had seen him last. He sat behind his desk with only his hands, nervously drumming the desk top in the pool of light thrown by the shaded lamp. In the shadows Rush could see the discouraged slope of his shoulders. Germaine straightened as Rush came in.
"You have read the papers?"
Rush nodded.
"Then you know about my son."
"I saw his body. It happened in the alley beside my office building," Germaine sat up straighter. "Then—?"
Rush held up his hand. "You tell me why you have called me here and then I'll tell you everything I know."
"It should be obvious why I have called you here. I have confidence in the police, but I know that there are things a private investigator can do that the regular authorities cannot. I want to leave no stone unturned. I want the murderer of my son brought to justice. I will pay any price you may set on your services if you will do that."

"You're already paying me enough to take care of everything, Mr. Germaine."
"Good enough, but listen to this. I'll double my bonus suggestion of this afternoon. For every day under ten that it takes the complete job I'll pay you two thousand dollars."
"That's very generous."
"Generous, hell!" Germaine's voice trembled. "I don't think you know what it means to me to have the last of my name done to death in a dirty alley." Germaine visibly struggled for self-possession. "Now, what do you know?"
"I can best tell you by asking questions."
"I'll answer anything I can."
"Right. First, what was your son afraid of?"
Germaine looked at him curiously, then seemed to decide to play it Rush's way. "He had gotten himself into something of a financial mess. He became embroiled with some girl, disgust was heavy in his voice, "and to keep the knowledge from me he manipulated funds at the office. With the money he got that way he paid off the girl. I knew of the falsification almost at once but I decided to give him more rope to see if he could pull himself out of it. But, I don't see—"
"Just a minute, Mr. Germaine. One more question. Had he ever said anything to you about a windfall, he expected to acquire in the near future?"
Germaine was plainly surprised. "No, no, of course not."
"And did he seem more upset than usual lately?"
Germaine thought a moment. "He returned two weeks ago from a trip to San Francisco. He had visited some soldier friend of his who was wounded in India and sent there for hospitalization. There was some kind of accident at the hospital, an explosion or something, and his friend was killed. He has been extremely nervous since his return but I attributed it to a combination of shock and worry about his shortage at the office."

"I see."
"Those are very strange questions, Mr. Henry. Isn't it about time you explained?"
Rush reached a decision. "Yes, Mr. Germaine, it is." He paused. "Your son came to me to ask for protection this afternoon and I refused him. He was killed fifteen minutes later in the alley outside my building."
"What!" Germaine gripped the arms of his chair, starting forward. Rush held up his hand to calm him. "There's a little more than that, Mr. Germaine. He told me a weird story. He said his life was in danger because of some valuable item he had recently acquired. He refused to tell me more and refused to give me his name. I had already accepted a commission from you and in sheer fairness to you I couldn't accept him as a client."
The irony of the thing struck Germaine. He sat back in his chair, white and shaken. "Then, in a way, I am responsible for the death of my son."
"There was nothing Rush could say to that, so he kept silent."
The door behind him burst open and a girl ran into the room. Rush recognized her as Leslie Germaine. She went to her father and put her arms around him.
"I just heard, Daddy. It's too horrible. Who did it? And why?"
"We don't know, Leslie." He patted her shoulder. His voice became grim. "But we'll find out."
"But Daddy—"
He pushed her away from him. "Leslie, I want you to meet Mr. Henry. He is a detective who will work on the case for us."
"A detective?" Leslie's eyes became big and round and she walked slowly around the desk to look at Rush, her eyes measuring him up and down. "A detective. I must have a long talk with you sometime. There are so many questions I'd love to ask you."
When she was gone Germaine turned back to Rush. "I want you to spare no expense. Just bring in the murderer of my son."
"I'll do everything I can, Mr. Germaine."
"One more thing, Mr. Henry. While your present task is of utmost importance, let us not, in doing our duty to the dead, forget the first duty is to the living."
Rush's eyes swung to the door through which Leslie Germaine had left a moment before.
"I'll keep that in mind, Mr. Germaine."

local scout troops and cub packs. The value of ponchos distributed to local scouts was in excess of $800.00 and local citizens have been high in their praise of the generosity of Mr. Grove and his company. At the monthly meeting of the Boy Scouts on Monday night a resolution was unanimously adopted thanking the National Carbon Company for their gift and Mr. Grove for his interest in the youth of Greenville.
On Tuesday scouts and cubs representing local troops and packs visited the local plant and thanked Mr. Grove personally for the gift to scouts and cubs of Greenville. The scout representatives told him of their appreciation and of the many uses to which they were already putting the ponchos. In reply Mr. Grove thanked the scouts for their expressions of appreciation and stated that he was very happy to have had a part in securing the ponchos for Greenville scouts and cubs. He assured the scouts of his continued support of the scouting program and invited them to visit him again at the local plant. Greenville scout troops were represented by Billy Crawford of Troop 30, Mac Crawford of Troop 33, and Bobby Williams of Troop 36. The Cub Pack was represented by Fred Haar, Jr., of Den 1, Bobby Taylor of Den 2, and Tom Smoot, Jr., of Den 3. Scout and Cub representatives also visited the office of W. T. Kyzer, secretary of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, and thanked Mr. Kyzer for his assistance in arranging with the National Carbon

Co. for the presentation of the ponchos to local troops. Mr. Kyzer was largely responsible for interesting the company in the local Scout program.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE TROUBLE IN OUR HEARTS

What is the matter with America today? Everyone is asking this question. Why, in an era of plenty, in a country where food is plentiful, are people experiencing scarcity? Why, with so much work to be done, is so little being done? Why are we paying so little attention to liberty now, when we were willing to pour out the last drop of blood and the last dollar of treasure to keep it intact a few months ago? Why are we so unwilling to take advantage of opportunities, when opportunities such as our country has not known in generations stand before us?

There is no one answer to any of these questions. But there is one answer which must be included in every list of adequate answers which each question requires. The answer is this: The trouble with America today is that the character of its people has been damaged. The war is partly responsible for this. We cannot kill people in wholesale lots without having our moral standard in other regards slip down a few notches.

Our greatest national sin is selfishness. Now that the war is over, the nation which should be marshaled for progress has broken up into brawling groups. With the promised land lying open and beckoning us to its sunny opportunities, we have fallen to quarreling with one another over the matter of how the promised land is to be divided. Something desperate is wrong. We must look for it in the hearts of the people. But first of all, we must look for it in our own hearts.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

Washington — From all reports coming into the adjutant general's office at the War Department here, the greatest appeal factors in the Army's new voluntary enlistment program are: (1) a free higher education when you get out; (2) trades and technical training while in service or—(3) both.

This is particularly interesting, since colleges and universities all over the country are reporting the first wave of an avalanche of discharges taking advantage of the educational provisions of the GI Bill of Rights. With demobilization at its peak and voluntary enlistments in the armed services (the benefits accrue to all branches, of course) holding at an amazing level, the educators are faced with seven of the fattest years in history.

Congress, eager to avoid extension of the draft and hoping to dodge the even greater political hazard of voting on universal military training, passed the Voluntary Recruitment act which became law Oct. 6, 1945.

What Congress did was to extend the GI Bill of Rights, with certain additional inclusions to all persons who enlisted or reenlisted in the armed forces within a year.

This, of course, extended to all fresh recruits the now generous provisions for a free education—or at least one so nearly free that furnace-stokers and table-waiters working their way through college five to 20 years ago would have considered it a sleigh ride to a doctor's, lawyer's or merchant's degree.

Apparently there's many a 17 or 18-year-old looking up to the same way today. Recruiting officers are reporting thousands of cases where youngsters without ready funds have been advised by high school and freshman college counselors to take a year-and-a-half to three years in the armed services and finish their educations for free later on.

The details of the educational provisions of the amended GI Bill of Rights are too complicated to go into here, but for periods based upon length of service, the government pays tuition up to $500 per school year in any accredited college or university, plus $65 a month, if single; $90, if married. At the end of top three-year enlistments, a man may have 48 months of schooling under these terms.

The Ol' Bull Moose Is On The Loose

For three years from Oct. 6, 1946—and even longer, because the educational benefits don't need to be taken immediately—young men and women will be entering or reentering colleges at the expense of Uncle Sam.

The World Today

are living among the ruins, many in the cellars. A lot of folk are salvaging bricks and building themselves little huts against the walls of partly demolished houses. Some lucky people have discovered buildings with a few rooms more or less intact and are making their homes in these. Probably the cold and rains come in, but it is cave man shelter.

And the purpose of all this? It's partly because Essen was the home of most of these folk. Not so long ago they had houses and apartments and business establishments there. Moreover, one of Germany's great problems is to find housing for displaced peoples. Then, too, the coal mines in the Essen area are operating and many miners are among those who live in the ruins. Other activities are getting under way and naturally there are many German civilians engaged in civic duties.

Scattered about the city are tiny shops which sell rationed food. Speaking of food raises the question of where the big population gets its sustenance. The British administration sees to it that every man, woman and child in this zone of operations gets daily rations. That is true not only in Essen but in other places.

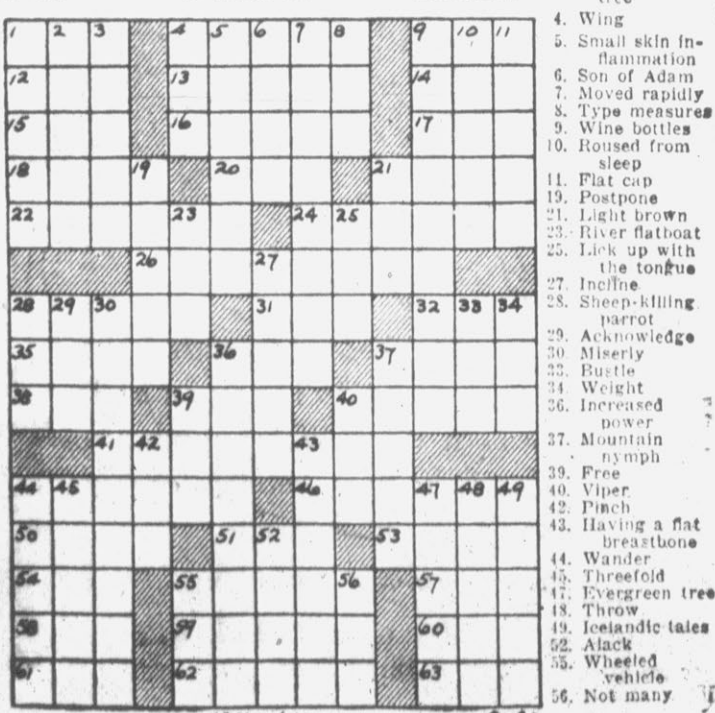

What is going on in Essen is being duplicated in most other places in the Ruhr. Folks are clinging to their ruins and seem bent on making a go of it.

The moral to this story is that the German people are possessed of an immense amount of energy and persistence. Hitler harnessed these qualities for evil purposes. The Allies must harness them for good.

come from dividends or interest was more than $100.
In this case you could use form W-2. Your wife could use the 1040 short form since your total income was under $5,000.

Suppose the combined salaries of yourself and wife—each subject to regular withholding in 1945—was $5,000 or over but individually less than $5,000.
You couldn't file jointly on form W-2. You could file separately on form W-2. Or you could file jointly on the 1040 long form. You could not file jointly on the 1040 short form which is for total income less than $5,000.

In the nine community property states—Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Washington—husbands and wives cannot file separately on form W-2. They can file separately on form 1040.

There's a place on form W-2 for listing your exemptions but not for listing allowable deductions, like charitable contributions, interest on mortgages, medical and dental expenses, dues.

That's because everyone using the form W-2 automatically is given a 10 per cent deduction for such items.

This 10 per cent deduction is figured right into the tax table which the internal revenue collector uses in finding your tax when you file on form W-2.

If your deductions are more than 10 per cent, don't use form W-2. You'll lose money. Use the 1040 long form.

There you'll have to itemize your deductions, and figure out your own tax. But you can claim whatever your deductions are.
You can't use the 1040 short form and claim deductions of more than 10 per cent. People using the 1040 short form—like the people using form W-2—get an automatic 10 per cent allowance for deductions.

This deduction, just as in the case of form W-2, is figured right into the tax in the table on the back of form 1040.

Rifle Range
Feb. 18, 1946

Last night, while at the home of the Hadley family, we tuned in to the birthday broadcast of the Greenville U. S. O.

While I listened to the program, a flash of memories came to my mind, and it felt swell to be in town for the occasion.

As a former N. C. O. of the First Marine Division, I came to your hospitable community for the President's Ball at E. C. T. C. in January, 1942.

I spent many a pleasant weekend with my buddies and then went overseas. Some didn't return, but those of us who have, always did and will remember the "second home" your fine community became to us. Thus on this occasion I write in this trend of thought.

When my letter from Guadalcanal reached the Hadley family, it was published in your local paper.

Since the opening of Camp Lejeune, I have returned three times, and now as an officer perform my present duties at the rifle range.

I wish to express through your paper, the sentiments of myself and many others, for having been so grand to us.

Thus on the birthday of the grand U. S. O. organization, I wish to say on behalf of all the Marines, "Thanks for being so swell to us, and a well done to all!"

Sincerely,
Matthew Jaklewicz

OPA Charges Farmville Man With Ceiling Violations

Raleigh, Feb. 20—Jack Freedman, doing business as "97" Store, of Farmville, has been arrested on OPA charges that he required customers to buy flour in order to secure lard and meat and also sold these items at prices above the ceiling prices set by the Office of Price Administration.

Papers were served on Freedman by the office of the United States marshal after a warrant was issued by U. S. Commissioner Henry A. Bland of Raleigh.

Theodore S. Johnson, state OPA director, said today that Freedman was called before his local Price Control Panel in April, 1945, and charged with requiring persons to buy other items in order to get black pepper. He was warned to stop the practice at that time.

The current charges, Johnson said, grew out of an extensive OPA investigation which showed that Freedman sold on one occasion lard and flour for $36.50 when the ceiling price was $26.40, that is, for a tub of lard and barrel of flour.

Signed statements from a large number of persons, Johnson said, claim that Freedman required many persons to "buy a barrel of flour in order to get lard and meat."

Johnson declared that the case is one of many OPA had and is now engaged in investigating. "It is illegal for a merchant to require anyone to buy something else in order to buy any other item," Johnson said, "and OPA is turning over to the courts all such cases."

OPA said that Freedman was brought before Mrs. Grace Viverette, U. S. commissioner at Wilson, and posted a $300 bond for his appearance before the next term of U. S. district court at Washington, N. C. to answer the charges.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 20—(AP)—Stock prices crumpled further today in a renewal of liquidation that brought losses of one to seven points to an extended list of steels, rails, motors and rubbers.

Factors in the market's third successive drop were seen by brokers in continued wage dispute deadlines and threats of further walkouts; prospects for extension of government controls and further taking of long-term profits.

Transfers approximating 2,200,000 shares made it one of the most active days in the past two months.

British Admiral Regrets Incident

Bombay, Feb. 6—(AP)—U. S. Consul General Howard Donovan announced today receipt of a note from Rear Adm. A. R. Rattray, Royal Indian naval commander in Bombay, expressing sincere regret over the burning of an American flag during a demonstration by Indian naval seamen yesterday.

Donovan said Rattray advised him he was having a new flag made to replace the one which the demonstrators hauled down from its place over the U. S. information office.

Uniformed members of the Indian navy paraded through the street in Bombay again today in demonstrations which an Indian leader said were intended as a protest against alleged discrimination in the naval service.

One group of 30 or more marched through the principal thoroughfares chanting in union: "Down the Union Jack; up, up the tricolor—the flag of the All-India Congress (Nationalist) Party."

Highway Accident Fatal For Five

Oxford, Feb. 20—(AP)—A former Chowan county man, his wife and two children were killed outright, and a third teen-age boy died later in a local hospital when their car crashed in to a parked truck on a highway 10 miles south of here early this morning.

The dead are: Percy R. McCleny, 42, who is a native of RFD 1, Edenton; Mrs. McCleny; an infant son, age two and one-half; Percy Jr., age 16, and Elizabeth McCleny, age 16. The last named were twins. The fifth victim's name could yet be ascertained.

The McCleny family were residents of Chuckatuck, Va., and reported to leave their other sons aged 7, 10 and 11.

The driver of the truck was identified as Earl M. Williams of High Point. A patrolman quoted the driver as saying his truck broke down approximately 10 miles south of Oxford on highway No. 15. Williams told the investigating officer he had put out flares and was in the truck when the passenger car crashed into the rear of the trailer about 3 a. m. today.

PHANTOMS WIN OVER JACKETS

Conference Leaders Roll Up 80-25 Victory Over Elizabeth City

The Green Phantoms put on another of their high scoring exhibitions last night, this time for Elizabeth City fans, and succeeded in romping easily over the Yellow Jackets of that city by an 80-25 score in a cage contest played there. It was the Phantoms' eleventh Northeastern Conference win in as many starts and thirteenth victory of the season.

The Greenies probably made a better percentage of their shots than at any other time this season and during the first quarter it seemed almost impossible for them to miss one. By the end of that first period they had piled up a 28-5 lead and seemed well on the way to another 100-19 victory.

However, in the second period, the Greenies cooled off somewhat and were able to toss in only 15 points to bring the score to 43-9 by half-time.

In the third quarter, the Greenies racked 22 more tallies, but as is the case many times in a high scoring contest, they grew lax on defense and allowed the Jackets 12 points. The end of this period found the score at 65-21 in Greenville's favor.

The last period was again rather slow, comparatively speaking and the Phantoms got only 15 points to the Jackets 4. The scoring in this quarter was identical to that in the second quarter.

Jimmy Futrell and J. T. Williams scored 20 points apiece to lead the Phantom scoring attack. Williams got 12 of his 20 in the third quarter. Ed Williams tossed in 10 points to follow Williams and Futrell.

Ward was high man for the Jackets with 10 markers.

The starting line-up for the Phantoms was Billy Harrington and Mac Batchelor at guards, Jimmy Futrell and Ed Williams at forwards, and J. T. Williams at center.

Substitutes who saw action were Henry Turner, Jack Whitchard, Julian White, Cletas Jackson, and Dave Clark.

Pirates Lose To ACC Team, 57-41

Five buses carrying approximately 300 students from East Carolina Teachers College traveled to Wilson last night to attend the basketball game between the ECTC Pirates and the Atlantic Christian College team and to see ACC win again the Bohunk Trophy by a score of 57 to 41.

Since the Wilson boys defeated the Pirates here early in the season, much interest has been shown in the contest among students at the college.

Several years ago at a game between the Pirates and ACC, some was offered to the winning team a small, cheap water bucket, which has become known as the Bohunk Trophy and has been the coveted prize of victory for several seasons.

During the war years, when the two teams did not meet, Atlantic Christian College held the trophy.

Eppes Split Twin Bill Monday Nite

By HENRY WOOTEN

Eppes High traveled to Rocky Mount Monday night and divided a doubleheader with them. Eppes girls won the first game by the score of 16-15 and the Eppes boys lost by the score of 32-30.

The Eppes girls trailed all during the first half and came back with plenty fight in the third quarter to tie the score 12 all. The score remained tied throughout the contest. At the close of the game the score was tied and Armstrong of Rocky Mount fouled M. Forbes of Eppes who made the basket from the free throw line.

Coach Grimes' guards played another great game. Starting line-up for the girls was M. Forbes, E. Cherry, forwards, M. Nichols, center, Mary Harris, Moly Harris, and Julia Calhoun, guards.

Coach Murrill's boys started slow but ended very fast. The Booker T. boys did not run away with Eppes as they had been during all the season. The contest was a very close affair. Holland was high scorer for the winners with 16 points and Davis with 14 points led the losers. Taylor, Taft, and

By The Associated Press (Richmond, Va.)—Furman's Purple Paladins were almost among the teams which have qualified for a berth in the forthcoming Southern Conference cage tournament at Raleigh today (Wednesday) after trimming Clemson last night, 49-39.

The victory gave Furman a season's record in conference play of six victories and three defeats. Ordinarily, that would be sufficient to clinch a spot in the post-season classic, but the Purple Paladins played four games with Davidson, and under conference rules, only two games count toward tourney qualifying with any one quintet.

Bob Stewart, who scored 16 points for the Furman five, led the scoring for the night. Furman led at half, 18-10.

South Carolina's hopes for a tourney bid received a severe jolt last night when the Gamecocks were thrashed by Wake Forest, 54-44. The defeat left South Carolina with a 4-7 conference record, and it closed the Gamecocks' regular season.

Third-place Virginia Tech continued its winning methods by handily winning Washington and Lee a terrific battle, 69-23, to sew up the Virginia State championship for the Gobblers. The triumph, which saw 15 out of 16 players on the Gobblers' squad make points, also clinched third place, behind North Carolina and Duke, in the Southern Conference standing.

In the only other game involving conference teams, Davidson trampled Appalachian, 52-39.

The outcome of the William and Mary-Maryland contest at Williamsburg, Va., tonight will no doubt decide whether the Indians get a crack at the Raleigh tournament, which opens February 28.

North Carolina, taking a rest against conference competition until the league gathering, will keep its shooting eye in practice by journeying over to Catawba, and Richmond invades Randolph-Macon.

In North Carolina, the White Phantoms, with only two more games to go before they move into next week's Southern Conference basketball tournament at Raleigh, will strive to sharpen their shooting eyes against Catawba at Salisbury tonight.

The North State conference leaders dropped a 65-32 decision to the Tar Heels two months ago in their series opener.

Elon is at Guilford in a North State contest, a milk fund benefit, in the other game on the night's slate.

Lenoir-Rhyne won its first North State start in 13 with a 53-46 overtime victory over Western Carolina Teachers at Hickory. Staffords 20 points provided the spark. It was 44-all at the end of regulation time.

Davidson, playing at home, whopped Appalachian, 52-39, on the strength of a 28-10 first half lead. White hero with 16.

Atlantic Christian, trailing, 26-25, at the half, got going in the last period to wallop East Carolina Teachers, 59-41, at Wilson. Howard Chaplin's 21 points leading the way.

In a start-to-finish thriller, Newberry shaded Wofford, 40-39, at Newberry.

Chicago, Feb. 20—(AP)—Bob Feller says he isn't going to end his baseball career when his arm gives out as a pitcher for the Cleveland Indians.

The former Iowa farm boy, who jumped from the amateurs into the majors to set records at the age of 17, already has stepped into the promotional end of the game and hopes to have the old Western League reorganized for operation in 1947.

"All we need out in Denver now is a suitable ball park," the Cleveland fireball righthander said last night. "We want to put a Class A ball team in Denver, and I can't see why we can't do it. I'm backing the team, and I have friends helping me. We have the organization."

Forbes were in forward position. Forbes made 12 points during the game and was the most outstanding player of the night. Bobo Wilks and Slim Parrish starred at guard position for Eppes. They pulled quite a few sure shots from the basket during the game.

On Thursday night Eppes will play host to Williamston in another conference game. This game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Washington, Feb. 20—(AP)—President Truman today signed an employment bill and described it as a weapon which can be used in attacks upon mass unemployment and ruinous depression.

The measure, a compromise for so-called full employment legislation, sets forth a government policy of promoting maximum employment, production and purchasing power.

Mr. Truman said the legislation is not all I had hoped for. It is, he added in a statement, not the end of the road, but rather the beginning.

Legion Holds Its Monthly Meeting

Pitt County Post No. 39 of the American Legion held its regular monthly meeting last night in the armory, with about 125 men present. The veterans of World War II were present in goodly numbers and they are showing great interest in the work of the Legion, and they are making fine members and workers.

Supper was prepared and served by Sgt. Huxson and his KPs., after which business transacted. The matter of new posts in this county was discussed at much length, and the state commander is making efforts to procure the chartering of new posts in the state.

The chairman of the Membership Committee reported that the post now had a membership of 615, or a 100 per cent increase over 1945.

The County Veterans Service Officer, Arthur B. Corey, reported that from the dates of February 1 to February 19, inclusive, 73 servicemen, veterans or members of their families had called at his office, and he had filed claims for compensation, adjustment of pay, life insurance, schooling, training and various other benefits accruing to veterans and their dependants.

Pistol Duel . . .

Dr. Reeder, warned of "trouble" at Shiloh, came to their aid.

Reeder ordered Laprise to get out. Then the men started shooting with automatic pistols. Gendron said. Laprise fell with two slugs in the abdomen; Reeder's heart was pierced.

Two shots gave Webster and Mrs. Godfrey minor leg wounds. Caretaker Philip Holland and set member Bernard Anderson escaped injury.

Holland is a son-in-law of Frank W. Sanford, who built Shiloh—on orders of a "divine voice," he said—at the turn of the century as a communal dwelling for members of his "holy ghosts and US society" which later became "The Kingdom, Inc."

At one time nearly 1,000 lived in the form of a hollow square and surmounted by a once-gilded "prayer tower," and in various outbuildings.

Emperor Sees . . .

In the recently-activated repair-barracks, returned Japanese sailors came to attention on their sleeping mats, bowed and then stood erect.

"From where did you come?" he asked one.

"From the Pacific Islands." "Do you have enough to eat?" "Yes."

Hirohito moved down the bare wooden hall. Another sailor turned to the one who had spoken to the emperor and said angrily: "Why did you tell him the truth—that we had only sweet potatoes?"

Most of the patients were too weak to crawl from between bed covers to pay homage. Hirohito looked on the dull-eyed faces, all stretched tight by hunger or sapped by malaria, he said nothing. To those who knelt on the beds and bowed, he spoke at intervals.

Birettas Given Cardinals Today

Vatican City, Feb. 20—(AP)—Pope Pius XII today imposed birettas upon 29 of the 32 new cardinals he created this week. The birettas were the first symbol of the dignity of the office of the new princes of the church.

First to have placed upon his head the four-cornered red silk biretta was the dean of the new cardinals, Gregory Cardinal Agagianian, patriarch of Cilicia in Armenia.

He was followed by 83-year-old John Cardinal Glennon of St. Louis, second in order of precedence among the new princes created at Monday's secret consistory.

The sixth to receive his biretta was Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit, eighth was Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago, and 14th was Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York.
