PITTSBURGH POWER STRIKE IS POSTPONED

Threatened Blackout Of Industrial Area Is Averted At Last Minute

Pittsburgh, Feb. 26—(AP)—A power strike which threatened a blackout in an 817 square mile area of industrial Pittsburgh and its environs was averted last night less than a half hour before it was to have gone into effect.

A one-week postponement—until 10:01 A. M., Tuesday March 5—was announced by President George L. Mueller of the Independent Union of Duquesne Light Company employees.

The union with a membership of 3,600, will decide at a meeting on March 1, whether its wage dispute with the company is to be finally settled by arbitration or a strike.

The union is demanding a 21 cents an hour increase for common labor and 25 cents for other employees.

The strike, second one to be called in a fortnight—was to have started at 12:01 A. M. today. The first one called February 12, lasted 19 hours before it was suspended by the union "in the interest of the public."

The latest postponement, coming after eight days of conferences and negotiations between management and union representatives and a three-man mediation board headed by Mayor David L. Lawrence, followed a conference of the union's 51-man executive committee which made the decision.

Mueller's dramatic announcement came even as transit service had come to a virtual halt. Downtown public buildings and stores were ready to close to conserve electrical current. A thousand policemen had been assigned to 12-hour shifts. The wartime civilian defense committee had been alerted for any contingencies.

Troops Stand Guard Over Ballot Boxes

Buenos Aires, Feb. 26—(AP)—Troops continued to stand guard over ballot boxes today as counting boards headed by federal judges made a preliminary count of ballots prior to an actual tabulation of votes cast in Sunday's general election.

The count in the capital was one-quarter completed after the first day of tallying, with a check made on ballots from five of 20 districts. The result of the election is not expected to be known for about a month, barring a veritable landslide. Supporters of both candidates for president—Col. Juan D. Peron laborite, and Jose Tamborini, backed by the Democratic union—claimed victory.

The preliminary count is merely a comparison of the number of sealed envelopes with the number of registered voters.

Meanwhile, Peron issued a statement indicating that he had no intention of abandoning politics or dissolving his party "whatever may be the result" of the election.

TODAY IN CONGRESS

A Review Of Your Government In Action

Washington, Feb. 26—(AP)—The House squabbled about housing today.

It started debating an emergency housing bill and: Rep. Smith (R-Ohio) said it was a "communist" plan allowing bureaucrats to "seize the home building industry."

Rep. Patman (D-Tex.), its author, said it would help build homes for veterans instead of "amusement places and honky-tonks."

Other topics in Congress: Strike control—Wally Hopkins, counsel for the United Mine Workers, told the Senate Labor Committee the case bill violates in spirit the constitutional amendment barring slavery.

Pauley—Edwin W. Pauley, California oil man, said he would want to take under "advisement" the idea of asking that his nomination to be Navy undersecretary be withdrawn if the Senate Naval Committee cleared him of any charges against his character. The idea was that of Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.).

Pauley had just demanded that Senator Tobey (R-NH) apologize publicly for what Pauley termed an "unjustifiable smear." He said the Senator had declared Pauley was "aiding a potential enemy" when he allowed his company to sell oil that

TROOPS USED IN DISORDERS

State Police And Guardsmen Exchange Fire With Rioters

Columbia, Tenn., Feb. 26—(AP)—One hundred state highwaymen, backed up by 400 State Guardsmen, moved swiftly into the Negro populated district of Columbia at dawn today after a night of riotous disorders and by noon more than three score arrests had been made.

At least ten persons were wounded in the disturbances which developed from the shooting of four Columbia policemen fired upon early last night in the section known as "Mink Slide" where the disorders centered.

The shooting followed an altercation yesterday afternoon in which Sheriff J. J. Underwood said William Fleming, 28-year-old radio repairman, was pushed through a plate glass window of his shop by a Negro woman and her son.

Lynn Bemas, state safety commissioner, said that among the 65 persons under arrest were a number who were believed to have been the ring leaders. Twelve of the suspects were seized in a raid by highway patrolmen upon the home of a Negro undertaker.

These twelve, Bemas said, were charged with attempted murder. He added that in their possession were four shotguns, two 22 rifles, and a revolver. The official said also that four open bottles of whiskey were found in the place.

Two hours after the patrolmen moved into Mink Slide occasional shots still were heard in that district.

Mayor Eldridge Denham said the situation still is grave and that he was considering a request for a declaration of martial law.

When the patrolmen made their daybreak move into Mink Slide they found about 50 Negroes. Although State Guardsmen had already thrown a cordon around the district a number of the residents were believed by Sheriff Underwood to have fled through the lines during the night. Fifteen others had been picked up during the night.

Bomas said that occupants of the funeral home offered no resistance but that shots were fired from a dance hall across the street as the officers approached. This fire was (Continued on Page Four)

BYRNES ASKS FOR UNITY AMONG POWERS

"Unity Of Action and Of Purpose," Says Byrnes, Can Avoid Future Wars

Washington, Feb. 26—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said today the Allies must maintain "the same unity of action and of purpose that won the war" if they are to "root out the seeds of possible future wars."

He spoke to representatives of 11 nations gathered at the old Japanese embassy to organize the Far Eastern Commission.

Byrnes described the agreement establishing the policy-making group as "one of the major accomplishments" of the December conference of Big Three foreign ministers in Moscow. The organization replaces the Far Eastern Advisory Commission.

The convening of the commission, he said, was "a source of genuine gratification" to him.

"Even though the task of crushing the Japanese end of the Axis fell largely upon the United States, this government always desired that the control of Japan should become an Allied responsibility," he said in a prepared address.

"Peace in the Pacific is an essential cornerstone to a stable world structure. The guidance of Japan to a position of peaceful association with other nations is therefore a task of major responsibility."

"That responsibility now belongs to you of the Far Eastern Commission."

Byrnes said he wanted to commend to the commission "the progress thus far made" in Japan. He said the directives issued and the administration established by General Douglas MacArthur represented "sound and significant contributions to the transformation."

He added, however, that the Allies "should not for a moment lose sight of the important job that lies ahead."

"The weapons of war can be destroyed with relative ease, but the social habits, the economic order, the governmental structure which we party to forging those weapons are not so easy to change."

"The old structure of power and rule in Japan cannot be eliminated in a matter of weeks or even of months."

REDS MERGE ARMED FORCES

Unification Of Army, Navy And Air Force Announced

Moscow, Feb. 26—(AP)—The Russian army, navy and air force were unified today in a single commissariat—the armed forces of the U.S.S.R.—under the command of Generalissimo Stalin.

The three Soviet fighting forces were consolidated by a decree of The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, which designated Stalin "People's Commissar of the armed forces and supreme Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces."

"Under the leadership of Generalissimo Stalin, the armed forces of the U.S.S.R. will henceforth X X X improve and develop to the dread of the enemies of Soviet power for the welfare of our people and the cause of peace in the entire world," the government newspaper Izvestia said in a three-column front-page editorial.

"The Soviet people where doing and will be doing everything in order that the Red Army does not stay behind any army of any country whatever with regard to different kinds of armament, and from all members of our armed forces we require that they ceaselessly perfect their military and political aims." Tragedy Suspected In Bridge Collapse

Charleston, S. C., Feb. 26—(AP)—Divers and Coast Guard vessels today pressed the search in the vicinity of the Cooper river bridge for an automobile thought to have taken five persons to their deaths when a section of the bridge collapsed Sunday.

Five Navy divers were at work today exploring the bottom of the river while three Coast Guard vessels operated drags in the surrounding area.

Principals in the suspected tragedy, while not definitely determined, were thought to be Mrs. Robert Lawson of New Britain, Conn., her son, Elmer, of Charleston, his wife and two children, a daughter aged two and a son aged seven.

The party of five was reported missing, the Charleston Evening Post said today, following the collapse of a 100-yard section of the bridge when it was rammed by a cargo ship.

CIO And AFL Join In Fight Against Policy

Pay Increase Controls In President Truman's Wage-Price Program Is Hit By Unions' Strong Opposition

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Feb. 26—(AP)—Labor threw a stumbling block in the path of President Truman's new wage-price policy today by solidly opposing its pay increase controls.

CIO President Philip Murray, declaring that any return to wartime wage restraints would be "catastrophic," added his protest to that of AFL President William Green, who earlier termed the program "unacceptable and unworkable."

The next move in "labor's fight against the re-instituted controls is expected to take place within the Wage Stabilization Board itself, the agency assigned by Mr. Truman to set on pay raises granted under the new formula.

The two AFL and CIO members of the board joined hands yesterday in opposing a policy declaration favored by the two industry and two public members. They gave no hint, however, as to what future course they would pursue, but CIO officials did not rule out the possibility they might eventually withdraw from the board.

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, several Senators agreed that the administration's entire policy on prices, wages and anti-inflation controls will be aired on the Senate floor.

This showdown was precipitated by the Senate Appropriation Committee's action in voting 11 to 9 to have emergency deficiency funds for OPA and the Civilian Production Administration—key agencies in enforcing and administering of the reconversion policy.

Senator Chavez (D-NM) predicted that the funds, already approved by the House, would be restored by the full Senate, but Senator Wherry of Nebraska, Republican Whip, told a reporter he expects a number of Democrats to go along with the campaign to slash the appropriations.

While supporting continued price controls, Murray threw his weight behind that of Green in opposing restrictions in wage increases in a letter to Chester Bowles.

Murray said the letter to the New Stabilization chief was approved at an all-day meeting of his CIO policy committee yesterday. It urged that the Wage Stabilization Board, by means of a resolution, remove the requirement in the new wage-price policy for board approval of projected pay boosts.

Declaring that any reintroduction of wartime wage controls would be "catastrophic," the CIO leader added:

"To do so would mean not only to abandon a fundamental premise of federal labor policy of encouraging collective bargaining to the widest extent possible but also to invite destructive delays and inevitable confusion and strikes."

"The CIO is unwilling to commit itself to an executive order based upon the view that wage increases obtained through collective bargaining are inflationary. The CIO is unwilling to commit itself to a recurrence of wartime delays in the processing of wage increases and in the policing of meaningless distinctions."

"We urge you, therefore, promptly to remove all handicaps to the functioning of collective bargaining by removing the necessity for subjecting wage settlements between employers and labor organizations to approval of the Wage Stabilization Board."

AFL WORKERS TAKE HOLIDAY

Union In Sympathy Move For Houston's Striking Employees

Houston, Tex., Feb. 26—(AP)—Thousands of American Federation of Labor Workers here took a holiday today and demonstrated in behalf of striking city employees in their fight for higher wages.

They marched upon the City Hall in a demonstration called for by leaders of various union crafts to impress upon the City Council that it should accede to the demands of some 700 city employees.

The Houston Chronicle estimated the early arrivals at the City Hall at 3,500 and growing steadily.

Houston's entire police force was on duty.

The Texas State Guard was alerted, guardsmen reporting at dawn in uniform to armories.

Transportation was snarled as 700 taxi drivers joined the protest, marshaling arriving on the morning trains either walked or tried to get aboard already crowded buses.

Loading and unloading of ships in the navigation district also was halted as AFL workers did not report for work. At the Longreach docks 1,200 longshoremen failed to report.

A seven-day accumulation of uncollected garbage cluttered streets.

Refusal of the City Council to negotiate with a joint union committee yesterday led D. W. Maxwell, secretary of the Houston Building Trades Council, to ask all of Houston's estimated 40,000 AFL workers to "take a holiday."

Churchmen Warn People Of Future

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 26—(AP)—Churchmen from 32 nations warned yesterday that atomic energy might destroy civilization and said they were praying "that the United Nations will... save future generations from the scourge of war."

A statement issued by the provisional committee of the world council of churches at the conclusion of a week's conference, said that "the time is short," and "unless man's whole outlook is changed, our civilization will perish."

The statement urged the allies not to seek vengeance against their former enemies "by depriving them of the necessities of life or by mass expulsion of their populations."

The churchmen said they appealed "especially to the governments of the five great powers to rise to their responsibilities to the world."

The committee represents 87 Protestant church bodies and three Russian Orthodox groups.

Chinese Protesting Russian Occupation

Chungking, Feb. 26—(AP)—Thousands of Chinese students among them contingents of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, marched through Chungking today in a fresh "quint Manchuria" demonstration against Russia.

Similar demonstrations were reported from several other Chinese cities—latest in several days of such parades. At Chengtu, all students joined in a one-day protest strike.

The People's Daily meantime reported "severe fighting" between Government and Communist troops at Chungking, about 60 miles northwest of Mukden, and at Faku, about 50 miles north of Mukden.

The Chinese ambassador to Moscow, P. S. Foo, arrived in Chungking unheralded Sunday to report on his Manchuria discussions with Soviet authorities.

Tension Mounts Against Franco

MAIL RECORDS MAY BE USED AS EVIDENCE

Postal Lists May Be Ordered As Evidence; Davenport In Contradictory Statements

The State completed its cross-examination of Roger Davenport in Pitt County Superior Court today, after Solicitor Dave M. Clark had caught the former New Bern loans broker in a number of contradictions in relation to testimony Davenport had previously given.

Davenport has been on the stand three days, all but three hours of which were under cross-examination. During the three days Clark has attempted to show that Davenport conspired to defraud people of their money under false pretense as to the solvency of his business.

The defense began its re-direct examination of the loans broker shortly before the noon recess. Judge J. Paul Frizzelle is presiding over the special court term, which now is in its fourth week.

Under questioning by Clark, Davenport admitted he told a referee's hearing at New Bern in May 1945, that he "didn't remember" how long he had been in the loans business. In testimony given here Davenport made the flat statement that he had operated a loans business only since 1943.

Davenport's previous testimony that he never received or cashed four $100 postal money orders from a Mrs. A. V. Sutton of Portsmouth, Va., was contradicted by R. R. Eagles, postmaster at New Bern.

Eagles said that under law, Davenport himself endorsed the money orders for cashing, and that his name was required on either the front or back of the money orders before they could be cashed or deposited.

Eagles, following postal regulations, refused to answer Clark's questions until told to do so by Judge Frizzelle. Later, Eagles said he would produce under court order his records of registered mail sent through the New Bern postoffice by the Davenport firm, if such a court order was obtained from Judge Frizzelle. However, he said the court order would have to be approved by the postmaster general.

Through the registered mail records, Clark hopes to show that J. Faison Thompson, Davenport's attorney, received regular funds through the mails, either as salary or as interest on money he had deposited with the Davenport "Big Apple" loans business. Davenport already has denied that Thompson received any money from him other than the $750 he testified was paid Thompson as a retainer for legal services.

Still bringing out the Thompson matter, Davenport denied under questioning of Clark that he (Davenport) was present at a conference in Goldsboro on March 3, 1944, when an $800 check was brought up in the course of conversation. The (Continued on Page Four)

French Government Orders Frontier with Spain To Be Closed March 1st; Franco Courts Convict 37 On Political Charges; British Foreign Office Denies Comment

Paris, Feb. 26—(AP)—The French Government today ordered the frontier with Franco Spain closed, effective at midnight, March 1, declaring the present situation in Spain constitutes a "danger for international security."

The French cabinet's action was taken after a lengthy explanation of the situation by Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. The tension between the two countries has been growing for a week.

Last Friday the consultative assembly overwhelmingly voted a protest over the execution of 10 Spanish Republicans by the Spanish Government. Madrid dispatches last night said 37 persons were convicted by a court martial at Alcalá de Henares on charges of attempting to reorganize the socialist party in Spain and three of them were given 12-year prison terms.

The communique issued after today's cabinet meeting said the ministers had "decided to again inform the governments of the United States and Great Britain that the present situation in Spain constitutes a danger for international security."

Early in December France asked the United States and Britain to confer with her on the possibility of breaking off relations with Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime.

Bidault conferred on the matter with both British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, while heading the French delegation to the first United Nations assembly in London.

Results of these conversations have not yet been announced, and French discontent over the continuance in power of the Franco Government has been increasing.

Protest meetings and demonstrations have taken place throughout France and her North African colonies since the announcement of the execution of the Spanish Republicans headed by Cristino Garcia who fought in the French Resistance Forces against the Germans. (Continued on Page Four)

Terrorists Attack British Airports

Jerusalem, Feb. 26—(AP)—A British communique said today that Jewish terrorists armed with high explosives destroyed 20 British planes and damaged two in attacks on three RAF airfields last night. The communique said the targets of the raiders, who provided covering automatic weapons fire for men who placed explosives beneath the planes, were Petah Tikva, Quastina and Lydda airfields.

There were no reported casualties. The British imposed a curfew at Petah Tikva and Rehovot, a Jewish community near Lydda, to facilitate police and military searches of both towns.

Troops cordoned off the Jewish coastal plan settlement of Gushat Hashlosha in an effort to trap some of the airfield attackers. Residents of the community were reported unwilling to let soldiers carry out a search.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

(Editor's Note: This is the eighth of 12 stories explaining who has to do what about his taxes.)

Washington, Feb. 26—(AP)—Late in 1945 Congress made changes in the tax law for the benefit of war veterans and people still in the armed services. Here's how it stands:

First—if you're an enlisted man or woman:

Your military pay from Jan. 1, 1941, through 1945 is tax exempt. Don't report it.

If you paid tax on military pay for any of those years, you get a refund. Ask the collector of internal revenue for it on form 843.

If, in any of those years, you received civilian income of $500 or more, you have to file a return on it, just as a civilian does.

So much for the enlisted people. Now—if you're a commissioned officer, including a commissioned warrant officer:

The first $1,500 of your military pay from Jan. 1, 1941, through 1945 is tax free. Don't report it.

Actually, you don't have to file a return on your military pay unless it was $2,000 or more because:

The first $1,500 is tax exempt, as noted. Then you get the usual $500 exemption on the next $500 in military pay before being required to file. (A civilian doesn't have to file a return on income unless he makes $500 or more.)

The following kinds of government pay to servicemen, veterans or their families is tax exempt and doesn't have to be reported:

Rent and subsistence pay; federal mustering out pay and bonuses paid to discharged veterans by states; government contributions to family allowances; pensions; disability compensation; disability retirement pay for service-connected disability; benefits and living allowances given war veterans for education and training or vocational rehabilitation.

If you must file, check further on the various items which servicemen can deduct or do not need to mention. There's no room here to list them all.

A serviceman's wife should remember this:

If her husband, because his service pay is too small, is not filing a 1945 return but she, because she has civilian income of $500 or more, she can claim him as an exemption.

Which means: she chops $500 off her income before it is taxed simply by writing down the name of her soldier husband as an exemption on her income tax return.

Remember this, too: All tax debts are wiped out for a (Continued on Page Four)

Club Meets To Honor A Fellow Rotarian

By WYATT BROWN

"After Alfred Schultz had served his own generation, he fell asleep," paraphrased the Rev. Robert W. Bradshaw as he, Dr. N. Thomas Barnett, John G. Fleming and Fordice Harding memorialized their fellow Rotarian, Dr. Alfred Schultz, at the Rotary Club's weekly supper meeting last night. The entire meeting was given over to these brief memorial addresses.

First Bob Bradshaw spoke, and then he called upon Tom Ennett to speak of Alfred's life in relation to medical activities. Dr. Ennett first gave a sketch of his life from his graduation at the University of Pennsylvania in dentistry, his practice in Greenville and his service in World War I. After the war Dr. Schultz was with the State Board of Health, where he made a creditable record. Professionally, Alfred Schultz was one of the best read men I ever knew, Dr. Ennett said.

Rotarian John G. Fleming, head of Boy Scout work in this section, spoke of his association with Dr. Schultz in Boy Scout work, and paid him high tribute.

Rotarian Harding described Dr. Schultz as a man of deep feeling and appreciation of the value of his friends, and said "I thought as highly of Dr. Schultz as any man I know."

Concluding the memorials Rev. Bradshaw brought out the friendliness of Alfred which telescoped the period between meeting and status of friend to minutes. "Dr. Schultz would want to say to each of us, 'Boys, you do not know how long you will be together. Be just as precious as you can. His going can make our bonds of friendship a little nearer and dearer.'"

Visiting Rotarians last night were Wilbur Ormond of Ayden and Sam Winchester of Trenton. A. B. Stallworth, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee, had charge of the program. President John Proctor presided.

Rotarians were among the honorary pallbearers at Dr. Schultz' funeral this morning.

The Fall Guy

BY JOE BARRY

Rush left them standing open-mouthed, staring after him through the empty doorway. It was, he considered, a not unprofitable morning.

Chapter 9

Seated in Barney's Rush reviewed the events of the morning. He did a quick mental run of Jago's story of the compressed air rifle. It didn't fit somehow. On a sudden resolve he stood up and walked to the back of the bar to the wall phone. He slipped a nickel slug in the slot and dialed a number.

"Hello, is Jimmy there?" He waited a moment. "Hello, Jimmy. I have a question for you. Is it possible to construct a gun using compressed air instead of powder to propel the bullet?" He listened for several minutes, inserting a question now and then.

"Thanks, Jimmy. You've cleared up something for me." Rush went back to his booth and sat down again. Either his hunch was right and Jago's story was another false trail, or Jago's inventor had overcome difficulties that had baffled other inventors for years. Rush had the authority of the fire-arms expert of the Chicago police for that, and Jimmy had lived fire-arms for thirty years. He shook his head and facts around again and let them fall.

Obviously something very valuable was floating around Chicago. Something easily marketable for a large sum, otherwise Paul Germaine, who lacked the proper underworld connections, couldn't have been sure of disposing of it. Rush seemed to be the only person in the whole affair who didn't know what the shooting was for. A bulky figure slumped into the seat opposite him.

"Hello, Merwin," Rush said. Dejection hung on every feature of Merwin's battered face. "I ain't found him, Rush. The guy's left town or I woulda found him."

"No, I don't think he's left town, Merwin. He's still around, because that he's looking for is still here. He just isn't showing anywhere."

"Well, if he's here I'll find him," Merwin started to struggle to his feet.

"Sit still, Merwin. I've got another job for you. One you'll like better. Concentrate on these pictures."

"Oh, yeah, the dame. She's a nice looking, ain't she?"

"Yes, Now, Merwin, I want you to take those pictures and make the rounds of all the joints. All the places the trouble boys hang out. Take those pictures and find if any of the boys have seen her."

Merwin thought that through. You mean you want me to make all them joints asking if this babe has been there?"

"That's right. Now here is a hundred bucks. It's to buy information and nothing else."

"The minute you get anything, call in to the office and run me down. I want to know anything you can find out. You might start at Markio's. I know the girl's been there. Tell them I sent you and see if they can give you a lead."

"Okay, Rush. I'll do this one right. I won't blow this one."

"That's good, Merwin. I'll be seeing you."

Merwin left then, humming off-key to himself.

Rush remembered his apartment, then. There was a very slight chance that Hope had left a note, that she might even still be there.

The elevator deposited him on his floor and he walked to his door. Taking his key from his pocket he reached for the door knob. Then he returned the key to his pocket. The door was slightly ajar.

Quietly he stepped inside, his back to the wall at the hinge side of the door. Reaching out with his right hand he gave the door a light shove with the tips of his fingers and waited. Nothing happened. Easing forward on the balls of his feet he edged toward the door jamb and peeked around the corner into his living room. The utter confusion that greeted his startled eyes made him throw caution to the winds. He stormed into the apartment fighting mad. There was no one in sight to be mad at. Slowly he regained his even keel and surveyed the damage.

Someone had done a thorough if messy job of searching the apartment. He stuck his head into the bedroom. It was worse there. The bed was a mass of feathers and stuffing from the mattress. A more complete job of destruction could not be imagined. He went back into the living room and sat down on a plain wooden chair, the only usable piece of furniture in the room.

He picked up a picture and looked at it moodily. It offered a clue, a negative one, but a clue. Whoever had wrecked his rooms had not been searching for the thousand dollar bill, else they would have knocked behind the picture itself. The object of the search had been something bulkier than a thousand-dollar bill. And, he added, bulkier than the plans for an air rifle.

His reverie was interrupted by the beginnings of a groan from the bed room. He was on his feet in an instant and in the bed room. His eyes could find no sign of life. Then the groan came again. His ears traced it to the far side of the room beyond the bed. He dived around the bed and found a mound of covers draped over a prostrate figure. Quickly he drew back the tangled sheets to uncover the body lying there. He was not too surprised to find that it was Hope. Then he reached down and put his arms under her shoulders and lifted her onto the bed. From the bath room he brought a damp cloth and leaned over to press it to her forehead.

Then black night descended in a shower of stars and Rush went definitely to sleep suffering from a blow at the base of the skull.

Social Security

The benefits you and your family will get when you retire and the benefits your family will get if you die depend on your social security account. So it is of No. 1 importance that your account be absolutely right.

The Social Security Board does its end of the job with nearly 100 per cent accuracy. You can rely on that. But there are more than 70,000,000 accounts, and sometimes errors do occur. They occur because every once in a while an employer does not have a social security number or a name just as it appears on the worker's card. Therefore it is advisable to check on your account.

It is especially advisable to do so if you have worked for short periods for a number of different employers, or for a firm that was in business only a short time, or for an employer who did not copy down your social security account number, or did not deduct the 1 percent social security tax from your pay.

If you think an error has been made, write to the Social Security Board, Baltimore, Maryland, and request a statement of your account. You can get an addressed post card form at the nearest Social Security Board office. If an error has been made, that office will help you get it corrected. Once every four years you should check on your account.

Students To Elect '46-'47 Officers

Students of East Carolina Teachers College will go to the polls on Wednesday, February 27, to choose their officers for 1946-1947. A slate of candidates for about 60 offices has been prepared and a half holiday has been requested by the student body so that elections may be properly conducted. Those elected will assume office during the spring quarter, which begins on March 26.

Even candidates are unopposed. Among these, Garlan Bailey of Thomasville will become new president of the Student Cooperative Association. Bailey, formerly a lieutenant with the Army Air Corps, entered college here in the fall quarter and has taken an active part in student affairs. Vivien Sitterson of Plymouth will serve as treasurer of the SCGA.

College Aids World Student Fund Drive

A final total of $482.21 was chalked up as the contribution from East Carolina Teachers College to the World Student Service Fund when the campaign was rounded out this week by the YWCA. Of the total $260.21 was contributed by students and $148 by the members of the faculty and staff.

The campaign, launched during the fall by the YWCA under the leadership of Dorothy Marie Bennett of Edward and Mildred Wellons of Selma, co-chairman of the world fellowship committee of the organization, brought in $356.90 before Christmas, and this amount was forwarded then to Fund headquarters by Margaret Carol Banks, of Trenton treasurer of the college YWCA.

"Play Night," which was scheduled for a November date, to raise additional money for the fund, was postponed to the winter quarter because of a threatened influenza epidemic. Later the event was canceled because of a crowded winter schedule.

This is the fourth year East Carolina Teachers College has participated in the drive to aid fellow students and teachers in the war-devastated parts of the world. The amount this year is the largest ever raised for the purpose on the campus. The contribution last year was $250.

Phantoms' Reserves Beat Bethel Varsity

The Green Phantom Reserves won over the Bethel varsity by a 33-24 score in Bethel last night in a poorly played contest. The Phantom Juniors lost a thriller to a larger Bethel Jaycee team by a 35-33 score in the preliminary contest.

The Phantoms jumped to an early lead as the contest opened, but they soon allowed the Bethel boys to overtake them and by the end of the half the score was tied at 10-10.

In the second half, however, the Reserves finally showed their superiority by gaining a fairly comfortable lead and holding at least part of that lead throughout the last half. The final score was, again, 33-24.

High scorer for the Reserves was Jack Whichard with 9 points. Julian White got 8, and Henry Turner and Dave Clark got 7 apiece.

The Junior team played a good game against the larger Bethel boys, but edged out in their uphill fight by two points 35-33.

High scorers for the Juniors were Joe Allgood with 11 points. Howard Proctor with 8, George Minshew with 6, and Jimmy Cox with 5.

Cox played an excellent floor and passing game for the Juniors. Starters for the reserves were the regular Phantom second string composed of Julian White and Billy White at guards, Jack Whichard and Henry Turner at forwards, and Dave Clark at center.

Subs who saw action were Spooky Morgan and Cletas Jackson.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WHO'S TO BLAME?
We complain a great deal about the evil days in which we live. And yet are the days evil?

Why slander we the times?

What crimes

Have days and years, that we

Thus charge them with iniquity?

If we would rightly scan,

It's not the times are bad, but man.

The sun still shines, the seasons change. Flower and field still bloom, as through the centuries Times are made great or bad by the people who live in them.The world at the present time seems to be reeling as a man does after he has received a heavy blow.The blow we have received, of course, is the most destructive war in history. It is not to be expected that the human race would forthwith set itself to the solution of its problems with an alert mind and an eager heart. Here in this country, we are trying to get back to a normal basis of production and to play the role of an important importance in world events which has recently been assigned us.Of course we are dazed and bewildered. But it makes the situation no better to assail the times in which we live. What we need to do is to ask ourselves whether every agency in our national life for the deepening of men's characters is being given the proper support and encouragement, and whether we are doing everything we should to see to it that we are good citizens in a freedom-loving land.

By JACK STINNETT

By CLARKE BEACH

(For Jack Stinnett)

Washington—The once diminutive Marine Corps is the subject of some large and far reaching plans these days.The corps itself has announced that it proposes to establish a force of reserves that will be larger than the entire unit at its peak strength during the war. And within the same week bills were introduced in Congress to raise the total of the men on active duty to 700,000 and use the Marine Corps exclusively for work as occupation forces in Europe and Asia and as the United States' contribution to the police forces of the United Nations.For a military unit which comprised only 28,000 regulars and 22,785 reserves in 1940, the prospect seems to be a bit startling.The two programs, according to their sponsors, have no relation to each other. In their plan for a large reserve, Marine Corps officers say their idea is only to avoid the mistake made after the first World War. Then, for lack of appropriations, the Marine Corps reserve disappeared, until in 1925 it consisted of only 679 personnel.Now is the time, they say, when the veterans of many a historic Pacific battle still are deeply interested in their corps, to enroll them as reserves, keep about 28,000 of them trained and ready for immediate service and have about 540,000 attached to the organization in a less active reserve status—boosting the corps and ready when needed to provide what service they can.Such a body of men would exceed the total strength of the corps at its wartime peak, which amounted to 485,233 men and women. When the program is carried out depends on what appropriations are provided.The other program is outlined in identical bills jointly introduced by Sen. McMahon (D-Conn.) and Rep.
Kopplemann (D-Conn.), and now awaiting action in the naval affairs committees of the two houses of Congress.The force of 700,000 would be raised on a voluntary basis, the bill being a pay increase for overseas duty—50 per cent for enlisted men and 20 percent for officers.
The Marines sent abroad would replace Army personnel, permitting
rapid demobilization of GIs.A spokesman for McMahon says that the Marine Corps and Navy

the House-approved labor legislation sponsored by Rep. Case (R-SD)
but there were definite indications the committee was adverse to some of the bill's provisions.Acting Chairman Ellender (D-La.) said "There is no chance" that his group would go along with the House on those portions of the measure which call for federal injunctions against labor violence, or allow damage suits for breach of labor-management contracts.Resumption of hearings on the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be undersecretary of Navy found a new move afoot to get the name of the California oilman withdrawn.Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who has proposed Pauley quit the contest before it reaches the Senate floor, buttressed colleagues in search of volunteers for a White House visit to petition President Truman to withdraw Pauley's name.However, both Mr. Truman and Pauley stood as pat as ever in their decision to see the fight through to a finish.In the field of foreign affairs, concern about possible difficulties over some German reparations was voiced by Senator Kilgore (D-W.Va.).
He reentered specifically to the danger of a United Nations rift over those German assets in neutral countries which may be seized as reparations.DOUBLE DUCKINGS
Philadelphia, Feb. 26—(AP)—Mrs.
Allen J. Carey's brindle bulldog
Check really got her in cold water.
Check lost his footing while scampering along a Delaware River pier
and fell in so the 31-year-old Mrs.
Carey doffed her coat in 32-degree weather and plunged to the rescue.Her husband grabbed a rope and launched the dripping pair to safety.Russian brides used to wear seven gold wire rings, joined with a single diamond, to indicate their love was good for a seven-day week.

Mail Records . . .

State alleges the check was for freight and drayage expenses, but actually was paid to Thompson as salary and for "parties."Davenport also admitted today that he kept $500 posted with a New Bern mail carrier regularly so that the mail carrier could cash interest checks he delivered through the mails to depositor who lived on his mail route.The same was the case of a mail carrier in Kingston, and of a truck driver who sold bottled drinks on a route out of New Bern.Most of the early morning session was taken up with identification by Davenport of hundreds of checks and memoranda submitted by the State. Davenport identified those written in his own handwriting.The checks allegedly were given by Davenport as security for deposits made with him, while the memoranda were classed as a further record of deposits and in some cases, according to the State, the only record made of deposits.Thus far the State has produced checks purporting to show that Davenport took in deposits totaling more than half a trillion dollars.
While a State's witness already has testified that the firm took in more than $1,000,000 and loaned out less than $100,000.The State has placed 191 items in exhibit, and since yesterday morning, when Davenport's records first were brought in the court for use as evidence, the State has identified approximately 1,500 checks and memoranda written in Davenport's own handwriting.Indications were that the trial might end late this week or early next week.WHO MOVES FIRST?
Hobbs, N. Mex., Feb. 25—(AP)—
The J. W. Bowles have a housing problem all of their own—skunks.
Have taken up residence with them.
So far the Bowles have (1) bought a dog, which only made the skunks angry; (2) piped exhaust fumes from a truck under the house with smoked wallpaper the only result.
At last reports, they (the Bowles) were open to suggestions.The lens of the human eye is more rounded in front than behind.

Reich were not partners in crime.
The signs are that Goering and at least some of the other defendants are coupling the fight for their own lives with this whitewashing of the nation at the expense, if necessary, of Hitler and others who are dead.However, there is no disposition to hang the blame on Hitler unless all other defense fails. The German lawyers have been building up their case on the allegation that Hitler was forced to go to war to defend the Reich against aggression which they assert was being planned by England on the west and Russia in the east. In short, the German defense is trying to work the old wheez of pinning the war guilt on other nations. That's the highlight of the Nuremberg trial.The French General Confederation of Labor yesterday directed its adherents to refuse to handle
the shipment of any freight to Spain,
and the world federation of trade unions called on its member federations to take similar action.France has had no normal diplomatic relations with Madrid since the collapse of the Vichy regime
with the defeat of the Germans.
Since then France has been represented in Spain by a diplomatic agent, while Spain has had a similar agent, Miguel Mateu, with the personal rank of ambassador in Paris. Mateu has been in Spain since several weeks before Christmas, however.London, Feb. 26—(AP)—The British Foreign Office declined comment today on the French action closing the Spanish border. An informed source said, however, that the action was not in line with British policy toward the Franco regime.Tension Mounts . . .

tling Engineers, both affiliated with the Houston Building Trades Council and with the AFL, struck last Wednesday.Striking workers include garbage collectors water works maintenance men, electricians, plumbing and building inspectors, carpenters,
park and health department workers, street and bridge department employees, common laborers and others.The City Council has refused to negotiate with the strikers until they returned to work. A council ultimatum that they return to work by 9 a. m. yesterday went unheeded.Late yesterday the council modified its earlier stand somewhat by opening the door to reinstatement of some of the workers.Reds Merge . . .
who had been Defense Commissar since July 19, 1941, also is Premier and Secretary-General of the Central Committee of the Communist party. The Navy Commissariat was abolished in the new organization and the Defense Commissariat was transformed into the new United Commissariat.Izvestia said the action of the Supreme Soviet was of "enormous significance."Other than centralization, the merger means that the Red navy no longer will operate under a separate commissariat. Admiral of the fleet
Nikolai G. Kuznetsov has been Navy Commissar since 1939.During the war, Stalin had command of the army and airforce but the navy remained under Kuznet-sov's direction, although it was subject to orders of the Defense Committee, of which Stalin was head.A GENERAL'S HORSES
San Francisco, Feb. 26—(AP)—A couple of Army cavalrymen cornered General Joseph W. Stilwell at the USO here and got to talking about horses."Say, general," one asked, "did you have any horses over in the China-Burma-India theater?""Yes," replied the general with a sly smile, "and mighty tasty they were."The number of motor vehicles miles driven in 1941 was about equal to 1,797 round trips to the sun plus 276 round trips to the moon.

Troops Used . . .

The patrolmen deployed swiftly
through the section after the units of the State Guard had maintained an all-night guard about the area known as Mink Slide.Half an hour after the patrolmen moved in the shooting had died down and it appeared that the situation was in hand.While the highwaymen were preparing to go into Mink Slide Col.
Victor Howard Wilson, commander of the State Guard's second infantry regiment ordered dispersal of 25 white civilians who were standing around with shotguns. They left quietly.As the dawn zero hour approached through the blacked out section.
There was a lapse of four minutes and more shooting was heard, some of the reports sounding like those of automatic rifles.Brig. J. N. Dickinson, commander of the State Guard second brigade, was in personal command of the guardsmen, numbering some 400 and who arrived in Columbia
during the night.

Social Security May Be Expanded

Washington, Feb. 25—(AP)—
A big segment of the nation's Social Security machinery came under congressional scrutiny today for a possible overhaul job.The House Ways and Means Committee opened hearings on the old age and survivors insurance phase of the program designed as a bulwark against poverty.The first witness, Arthur J. Altmeier, chairman of the Social Security board, was expected to recommend broadening of retirement benefits and extension of their coverage to an additional 20,000,000 workers.A recent board report stressed the need of an expanded program
due to what it termed marked economic changes since the Social Security plan was launched a decade ago.The board also called for more liberal unemployment compensation benefits and inauguration of medical care and disability insurance plans.But the Ways and Means Committee, after a staff analysis, decided to take up only the old age and survivors insurance phase first.
It sidetracked for the time being President Truman's request for an increase in jobless payments up to $25 a week for 26 weeks and any immediate decision on a medical care program.APT PUPIL

Official Criticizes Occupation Policies

Washington, Feb. 25—(AP)—A former military government official contended today that an attempt is being made to freeze Russia out of a search for German assets in such countries as Spain and Argentina.
The contention was voiced to the Senate War Mobilization Subcommittee by Russell A. Nixon, former acting director of the division of investigation of cartels and external assets, office of military government in Germany.
Nixon told the Senators in testimony made public today:
"I charge elements in both the U. S. British and French Foreign Offices with consciously maneuvering to prevent all four (occupying) powers from being involved in the search for external assets in the neutral countries because that would lay bare the Fascist or reactionary regimes in countries such as Spain, Portugal, Switzerland, Sweden, and Argentina and would reveal all the elements of collaboration of certain interests in the Allied countries with these regimes.

"Such genuine quadripartite action would completely upset the apparent for plans of compromise regarding Germany's external assets in the interest of trade and commercial advantages and in the interest of avoiding the creation of 'too radical' regimes in the future."
The witness had further criticisms of the way German affairs are being administered. He declared:
1. The war industry potential of I. G. Farben giant German chemical trust, has not been eliminated as it was ordered to be.
2. No decartelization law has yet been promulgated.
3. The denazification program is incomplete.
Nixon told the senators that our drive to divest Germany of its external wealth has bogged down and is profoundly jeopardized.
"The U. S. State Department together with the British and French foreign offices," he asserted "have maneuvered to split the quadripartite

New York, Feb. 26—(AP)—A nervous stock market rallied and retreated at intervals with volume relatively heavy on the downside and lighter during comeback periods.

The ticker tape was late twice shortly after the opening and around midday, as large buy-sell orders jammed the machinery. Losses running to around 6 points at the worst were reduced or converted into modest plus signs in the final hour but declines near the close were well in the majority.

"Lead, kindly light, Amid the encircling gloom"

THE days and nights are long and dreary in the jungle. Mud, bugs, sweat, loneliness—that's about all there is to life out there for our troops.
But it's not quite all. For through the darkness a light still shines—the kindly light of the Red Cross hat. Providing music, games, recreation for our weary, homesick men. They need those things so desperately. And they have them, thanks to you. For you have kept your Red Cross at their side.
But as long as one American is still on foreign soil, your Red Cross must stay at his side.
If he has a problem, the Red Cross is there to help him in every possible way.
The Red Cross two-way communications system is at his beck and call, to put him in personal touch with you in case of emergency. He is as near to you as your nearest Red Cross Chapter.
If he is sick or injured, the Red Cross worker will help him overcome anxieties by writing his letters for him and settling personal problems.
Yes, he still needs your Red Cross. And the Red Cross needs you! It depends on you for its existence. The only income of the Red Cross is what you give.
And here at home, hurricanes, floods, fire, disaster never surrender. The Red Cross must be ready with aid for the victims—food, clothing, life-saving drugs. Only you can make it possible.
Won't you give to the Red Cross—today?

YOUR Red Cross MUST CARRY ON . . . GIVE!

FARMVILLE'S CLUB ACTIVE

Kiwanians Observe First Anniversary; An Active Group

By CHESTER WALSH

The Farmville Kiwanis Club, organized a year ago, under the sponsorship of the Greenville club, with its first anniversary being observed last night at a most successful year.

The Farmville Kiwanians have "clicked like a million"—built up community service by individual and group effort. Visiting Kiwanians at the meeting last night agreed to this, particularly the Rev.ack Rountree of Kinston, veteran Kiwanian and rector of a number of Episcopal churches in this section, who paid tribute in a personal way to the fine community service the club is rendering.

It was a great meeting. Not a vacant seat in the banquet hall. The "good neighbor" spirit prevailed. President Charley Hotchkiss presided. Frank Allen had charge of the program. There were music, songs, feasting and good fellowship. The members of the club are those people who "get out and do things for the community," one man said. The Farmville club ranks high in the Carolina Kiwanis District.

President Ed Rawl of the Greenville Kiwanis Club was master of ceremonies. When he presented Hal Moore of Greenville, former band leader, the Farmville Kiwanians heard some of the music South-erners like to hear. The talented pianist dedicated a group number to Mrs. Elspeth Oyner, pianist and "sweetheart" of the Farmville Club, who is ill in a hospital. Moore made a bit hit.

El Bloom, vice-president of the Greenville club, and impresario of the Kiwanis minstrel, was there last night, and he made a lasting hit with some jokes that pleased the Episcopal minister as well as the Kiwanians. The applause was prolonged. Bloom was invited to attend again. Incidentally, Rawl and Bloom, who had provided programs and attended many different Kiwanis club meetings, said "Farmville cannot be topped by any club in the district."

It was stated that the Farmville club, organized a year ago this month, with 34 members, has maintained its membership, and is now about to receive into the fold several new members. That's a record for any new organization, President Rawl said. A newspaperman, Chester Walsh, when called on for a speech, said, "Incidentally, I'm glad to be here," and then quit. President Hotchkiss said that was the best speech of his career.

The Farmville club is taking an active part in community affairs in the "tobacco market city." The club is interested in work among young people, particularly Boy Scouts, and is doing effective work among the underprivileged. The membership is thoroughly representative—every phase of the community life being represented. The club meets at the high school Monday nights at 7 o'clock.

Charley Hotchkiss is president. W. A. Allen, vice-president; Seth Barrow is secretary, and A. W. Bobbitt is treasurer. Directors are T. L. Albritton, F. K. Allen, R. D. Harris, C. H. Joyner, B. F. Lewis, S. T. Lewis, H. D. May and Z. M. Whitehurst.

Threat Ends

New York, Feb. 26—(AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer said today the threat of a city-wide transit strike had been called off.

The mayor made the announcement after a conference at City Hall with CIO President Philip Murray.

He said the CIO Transport Workers Union, headed by City Councilman Michael J. Quill, had withdrawn its demand for designation as sole collective bargaining agent for transit workers.

More Interest In Athletics At ECTC

In an effort to promote better athletics programs on the campus, the student body of East Carolina Teachers College voted at a recent mass meeting to earmark for the Athletic Fund one dollar of the six-dollar student activities fee paid by each quarter by the college student. The doubling of the number of men students on the campus this year has resulted in an increased interest and participation in athletics, and the additional funds were voted to meet necessary expenses.

A similar measure was passed by the student body in 1939. During the war, however, when the college took no part in intercollegiate athletics, the money went to other organizations. The increased funds will be used by the athletic associations for both men and women.

Governor Cherry Boosts Pageant

Raleigh, Feb. 26—(AP)—Governor Cherry told members of the Roanoke Island Historical Association meeting here today that in "The Lost Colony" pageant North Carolina has a unique enterprise—one coupled with spiritual value and material value.

"With the revival of Paul Green's drama, which was put away in moth balls during the war," Cherry said, "North Carolinians will again have the opportunity of seeing an important chapter of its history portrayed with all the sharpness and insight that drama and lights and music are capable of giving."

And in addition to the native sons and daughters, he said, millions of visitors will come to Manteo to see the poignant presentation of early North Carolina and American history.

Cherry urged the association to finish its job of getting funds in hand to put the drama over to the full extent of its possibilities, "so that North Carolinians may have full advantage of this historical rendering of the tragic fate of our first colonists."

The project has state support, and the legislature has made a token appropriation. "Paul Green in writing 'The Lost Colony' made a substantial contribution to the cultural life of the state," he added. "It is up to us to further that contribution of culture and to claim such material value as also lies easily at hand."

Somewhere, A Man Is Walking With Death

London, Feb. 25—(AP)—Scotland Yard appealed throughout England today by newspaper and radio for a young airman to tell him that any undue exertion might cause his death.

The flier was found dazed at the foot of an elevator shaft two days ago. He was taken to a hospital, but left before X-rays were developed. He gave no name. The films disclosed a broken spine.

WITHHOLDING OF CLOTHING IS CHARGED

Retailers' Spokesman Says Firms Are Awaiting OPA Price Changes

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, Feb. 26—(AP)—A spokesman for retail clothing merchants contended today that manufacturers are holding at least 700,000 men's suits from the market pending OPA price adjustments. Louis Rothschild, executive director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers, told a reporter "This is a conservative estimate."

"Unquestionably there is withholding in considerable volume—enough to relieve the present acute shortage of suits," Rothschild said. He added that manufacturers will continue to hold suits from the market until OPA announces a scheduled revision of price regulations covering men's and boys' tailored clothing.

OPA officials expressed surprise at this. They recalled that a recent announcement by the agency had said the regulation would be changed to "correct inequities," but that there would be no general price increase.

One official who asked to remain anonymous said that if the report of withholding is true, "the only explanation is that some manufacturers believe the revised regulation may benefit them individually."

The new price order, slated for announcement in about two weeks, will increase manufacturer's mark-ups over cost in some cases and reduce them in others. The purpose is to provide more uniform pricing. Asked about Civilian Production Administration regulations prohibiting excessive inventories, Rothschild said:

"Well, CPA has been waving the big stick but it doesn't seem to be doing much good."

CPA officials on the other hand said that a series of investigations by the agency had disclosed very little hoarding of clothing.

A spokesman for the agency, stating that another investigation is about to begin, said that if Rothschild has any evidence of hoarding, CPA Chief John D. Small would like to have it immediately.

State To Feature 'GI' Bill Picture

A motion picture of much interest to ex-servicemen, sponsored by Post No. 39, American Legion will be shown at the State Theater Wednesday and Thursday, through the courtesy of the theater management.

The picture shows many of the educational benefits obtainable through the GI Bill of Rights, John W. Glover, adjutant of the local American Legion post, said. The Legion recommends this feature picture and all service and ex-service personnel to see it.

Road Program To Go Before Commission

Raleigh, Feb. 26—(AP)—A secondary road program calling for improvement of 30,000 miles of country roads within the next ten years will be placed before the State Highway and Public Works Commission when it meets here Wednesday, Highway Chairman A. H. Graham has announced.

"We realize," Graham said, "that with the present critical shortage of equipment and materials, we will not be able to jump right into this program and finish 3,000 miles of country roads every year. But we do hope to reach an average of that number of miles over the full 10-year period."

Graham said many members of the highway commission have expressed approval of the program and Governor Cherry has given it his endorsement.

Pauley May Ask For Withdrawal

Washington, Feb. 26—(AP)—Edwin W. Pauley said today he may take under advisement a suggestion that he request withdrawal of his nomination for undersecretary of the navy.

The proposal was made, in the form of a question, by Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.) as the Senate Naval Committee resumed hearings on the California oil man's nomination to the navy post.

Some Democratic congressmen, as well as Republicans, have criticized Pauley's selection.

Interrupting Pauley's testimony, Saltonstall asked whether he would consider as a patriotic American asking withdrawal of his name if the committee finds there is no base for charges against his character.

Both Saltonstall and Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) told Pauley he need not answer if he did not wish to do so.

"I would want to take that under advisement," Pauley replied. "I might say that suggestion is not unique. I have seen it in almost every newspaper that I have seen but I am still here."

As he left the stand, a reporter asked Pauley how long he would need to consider this proposal. He only shrugged his shoulders.

Pauley had just demanded a public apology from Senator Tobey (R-NH), chief opponent of his nomination, for what Pauley termed an "unjustifiable smear" regarding power sales of his company's oil to Japan.

Court Rules No Tax On Stolen Money

Washington, Feb. 25—(AP)—The Supreme Court today dealt this good news to a bookkeeper who embezzled $13,000 and lost it in Reno gambling. He doesn't have to pay $2,978 income tax on that $13,000.

The bookkeeper already has served a prison term. He was sentenced in a Nevada state court to 14 years, but was paroled after 18 months.

The federal government then insisted that the bookkeeper—Laird Wilcox, employed by the Nevada Transfer and Warehouse Company—should report the $13,000 as income and pay tax on it.

Grover Cleveland rejected an appeal in 1893 to have Hawaiian annexed by the United States.
