DIFFERENCES AMONG UNIONS IS APPEARING

Political Issues And Dues Take Front In Coming Convention

Atlantic City, N. J., March 22—(AP)—Union politics and dues commanded the attention today of the CIO United Auto Workers Union on the eve of its 10th convention.

On one hand was the potential battle between R. J. Thomas and Walter P. Reuther for the union presidency—with Thomas, incumbent since 1938 bluntly inviting Reuther, UAW vice-president, to enter the contest.

At the same time a proposal to double the membership dues, from $1 a month to $2, formally was placed before the auto union by its veteran secretary-treasurer, George F. Addes.

Addes, asserting in his annual report that "drastic action cannot be put off any longer," said the union's "ordinary income" had not been sufficient to meet expenditures since July of 1943. He had previously proposed a dues boost to $1.50.

Thomas, acknowledging a report that Reuther had decided to seek his job, welcomed the General Motors strike leader to make a try. Reuther has yet to commit himself publicly on accepting nomination in next week's convention elections.

"I say, 'Come on in, the water's fine,'" Reuther wants to run," Thomas said, repeating his frequent expression that the UAW-CIO was a "democratic union" with offices open to all.

In telling newsmen he hoped Reuther would enter an election battle, Thomas said: "This factionalism has to end some time."

Disagreements over policy have been reported in the union's high command, and Reuther supporters. In proposing him for president, accused Thomas of playing Reuther against Addes for his own gain.

Addes said in his report that the union's liquid assets at the end of last month were a little more than $1,000,000 and would be "well below" that figure by the end of this month.

He said this was due partly because of "heavy operating deficits" of the last nine months. He added that if it were not for yearly assessments "we would have set up the bottom of the barrel months ago."

Addes did not detail the recent operating deficits but it was assumed the General Motors strike was (Continued on Page Six)

U. S. Army Still Occupies Iceland

Washington, March 22—(AP)—Henry Wallace thinks U. S. troops should be withdrawn from Iceland.

The Secretary of Commerce said in an interview yesterday the move would help the international situation "since the only interpretation the Russians could place on the continued occupancy of bases in Iceland by American troops would be that it was aimed at them."

Wallace was asked to comment on the continued uses of Iceland bases in view of the reported Russian decision to withdraw from the Baltic island of Bornholm.

Moscow, March 22—(AP)—The Soviet press displayed prominently today a Tass dispatch from London saying the Iceland Socialist Youth organization had circulated a leaflet demanding immediate evacuation of American troops from Iceland in accordance with the United States-Iceland treaty.

The position isn't the same now as it was after the last war, when Mr. Hoover made himself famous as Europe's provisions. Then the world had prepared for the first global conflict and the contingency could be met. Washington, March 22—(AP)—Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said today those who cry "Communism" at the sound of a kind word for Russia are blocking the most direct road toward an enduring peace.

Food Problem Under Government's Care

Restaurants Get Helping Hand To Reduce Unnecessary Waste; Black Market In Meat To Result In Reduced Subsidies

Washington, March 22—(AP)—The nation's restaurant and hotels can serve less bread and salad dressing than usual without trimming prices—if customers raise no objections.

OPA authorized this today to help put into effect recommendations of the President's famine emergency committee that Americans cut down on these products so that more wheat and edible oils can be sent abroad.

Meanwhile, the government tried to solve a domestic food problem. The Office of Economic Stabilization, in an attempt to check what one official termed "a pretty serious black market in meat," ordered subsidy payments automatically reduced or in some cases forfeited when packers pay above-ceiling prices for cattle.

OPA said eating places, including railroad dining cars, can reduce portions of wheat and oil products so long as they display a notice that this is being done, and provided they offer "to supply the normal portion to any customer who specifically requests it."

The restaurant order was the second issued by OPA in line with the famine committee's recommendations. Last week the agency authorized a reduction up to 10 per cent in the weight of bread loaves and bakery products, without a corresponding price cut.

The move against meat black markets was prompted, an OPA official said, "by the difficulties many packers have been encountering in trying to buy cattle at legal prices."

He said the new subsidy withholding program could not wipe out black markets, but it will help "restoration of some wartime slaughtering controls will be ordered, the official added, if this is necessary to check illegal sales."

Heretofore a slaughterer's entire subsidy could be withdrawn if the courts found a firm in violation of ceiling regulations. Under the new program, the subsidy will be cut automatically—the amount depends (Continued on page six)

WESTINGHOUSE PLANT STILL STRIKEBOUND

State Troopers Mobilized To Protect Workers Trying To Pass Pickets

By The Associated Press Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania today ordered state police into Pittsburgh to protect supervisory workers seeking to pass CIO picket lines around the strikebound Westinghouse Electric Corporation plant.

The mobilization of state troopers came after yesterday's brief flare-up at the company's East Pittsburgh plant when milling, jostling pickets halted at least three supervisors from going to work. Sheriff's deputies broke up the fist-fighting melee.

As the state police moved in, the 36,000 striking production workers, among the 75,000 CIO Electrical Workers participating in a nationwide strike against the company, were summoned by union leaders to a mass meeting on the steps of Pittsburgh's city hall. They were to vote on a company wage proposal, said by a Westinghouse spokesman to amount to a 18 1-2 cents hourly pay boost. Union leaders, however, said the hike amounted to about 9.7 cents an hour.

Governor Martin said he ordered the state police into Pittsburgh upon request for aid from Sheriff Walter C. Monaghan of Allegheny County. An anti-mass picketing injunction against the striking union had been issued by Common Pleas Judge Walter P. Smart and he instructed the sheriff to let workers enter the plant without hindrance.

"The orders and decrees of our courts must be respected," Governor Martin said.

The company said about 700 supervisory employees had been instructed to report yesterday, but no one was reported to have passed the picket lines.

The 75,000 CIO Electrical Workers have been on strike since last Jan. 13. Numerous wage conferences have failed to settle the dispute.

Postponement Of Probe Would Inevitably Result In Increased Harm To The Interests Of Iran, Says Iranian Ambassador; Britain To Back America's Move

New York, March 22—(AP)—Iran, which has protested to the United Nations the presence of Russian troops on its oil-rich territory, formally aligned itself with the United States today in opposing a Soviet request that the meeting of the 11-nation Security Council be delayed 16 days.

Such postponement—which would set back the opening meeting from next Monday to April 10—would "inevitably result in increased harm to the interests of Iran," Hussein Ala, Iranian ambassador, said in a letter to Trygve Lie, UNO secretary general.

The Iranian letter came several hours after President Truman had declared that the scheduled meeting of the powerful Security Council would not be postponed and that the United States delegation would press for action on the Iranian case.

But Andrei A. Gromyko, Russian ambassador, replying to the President's statement, said the Security Council action now on the Iranian dispute would merely complicate it. Russia had requested postponement of the meeting on the grounds that it needed more time to prepare its side of the case.

Unanimous agreement by the members of the Security Council is needed to postpone the meeting, and opposition to the delay already has been voiced by representatives of China, Australia, and Great Britain. Iran is not a member of the Security Council.

Hussein Ala's letter, released here last night by UNO officials, said the Iranian government hoped that consideration of its case against the Soviet Union "will not be delayed."

The conference in London "decision was postponed upon the merits of the earlier dispute pending negotiation between the parties," the letter said and added:

"These negotiations have failed. Meanwhile, March 2, the date fixed by the tripartite treaty, has passed and the Soviet troops have not been withdrawn. The obligation of the Soviet government to withdraw its forces from Iran is not a proper subject for negotiation under the charter of the United Nations or the constitution of Iran.

"The delays thus far permitted have intensified the critical conditions in my country caused by the failure of the Soviet Union to withdraw these troops. The state of affairs is very grave and further delays would inevitably result in increased harm to the interests of Iran.

"I shall be greatly obliged if you will have the kindness to communicate these views immediately to the members of the Security Council."

Price Increases Will Follow Boost In Wages

Fact Is Recognized By OPA Administrator; Says Wage-Price Policy Will Have Little Effect On Cost Of Food

New York, March 22—(AP)—Paul A. Porter, OPA Administrator, said today there would be "some price increases as the result of approved wage boosts but predicted that the new wage-price policy would have little or no effect upon rents or on the average of food prices."

In a speech prepared for a luncheon of the union for democratic action, Porter declared that "as far as the basic economics of our problem is concerned, we can continue to hold the average of prices to a slight increase during the coming year," and added:

"The new wage-price policy will add somewhat to the rate of creeping price increases. Let's not duck this reality. Approved wage increases will lead to price increase which would not have occurred under the original wage-price policy. In the majority of American industries, however, prospective earnings are so well above pre-war levels that reasonable wage increases can be negotiated without raising prices."

"It is clear that the new wage-price policy will have little effect on the cost of food."

The WORLD TODAY AP World Traveler

Paris, March 22—Former President Herbert Hoover is launching his investigation of the European food shortage without any delusions as to the gravity of the position or of the dangers which develop when men's minds are overwrought by hunger.

His recognition of the great urgency of the situation was quite apparent in a private conversation which I had with him on the eve of his departure for Rome, where he will continue his study. It is thirst for information impelled him to rob me of my prerogatives as a reporter and he proceeded to ply me with questions about the position in central Europe, which Mrs. Mack and I have just toured.

It was easy to see that he was working from the encyclopedic knowledge which he acquired while food relief administrator for Europe at the end of the last war. I saw a great deal of him at that time as an Associated Press correspondent.

His present problem makes the dilemma of old mother Hubbard look like the plenty of a Sunday School picnic. It is estimated that there are some 500,000,000 people hungry in various parts of the world and the experts tell us there's only enough food for three-quarters of them. We don't have to draw diagrams. It means that a lot of people are going to die of hunger before world production can catch up with the shortage.

Goering's Praise Of Hitler Rapped

Nuernberg, March 22—(AP)—Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief U. S. prosecutor, intervened angrily today to choke off Hermann Goering's praise of Adolf Hitler with a warning to the international military tribunal that the war crimes trial was liable to drag on into August.

A bitter scene developed as Gen. R. A. Rudenko, chief Soviet prosecutor, concluded his interrogation demanding to know if Goering would admit he "was the second man in the murder of millions of innocent people."

"No," shouted Goering, "because I didn't know about them or cause them. Millions of Germans did not know about them either."

Almost snarling, Goering explained that he collaborated in all the Hitlerite policies because:

"I had to set an example of allegiance for the simple soldier. That sort of allegiance to a supreme leader occurs elsewhere and I don't think I need be any clearer as to what I mean."

Goering obviously was vexed when Gen. Rudenko developed testimony rebutting the alibi that Polish officers against German citizens of Bromberg, Poland, prompted the invasion of Poland, by showing that the "bloody Sunday" clashes occurred in the town three days after Poland was attacked.

"I made a mistake about the date," Goering conceded.

MCB WATCHES PETIOT TRIAL

Doctor Maintains Horrors Were Used Against Collaborators

Paris, March 22—(AP)—Squads of police using wooden barriers held off a huge mob from the Rue Le Sueur today as the court trying Dr. Marcel Petiot on 27 murder counts visited his forbidding, dilapidated mansion in the fashionable Bois de Boulogne area.

Magistrates, jurors and witnesses left the palace of justice in a long convoy of motor cars to continue testimony on the scene after hearing a police official describe the human remains he had found in the doctor's home two years ago.

Petiot bases his defense on claims that he was a source of collaborators.

The magistrates, dressed in red robes, were followed by the handcuffed Petiot, attorneys and court attendants. They arrived at the shabby house in a dazzling rain.

They examined the small triangle room where the prosecution claimed, the doctor watched the death agonies of his victims. Petiot denied this, saying the room was an unfinished X-ray chamber.

The court also inspected the garage which had a deep pit in it. A police reporter stated that the pit had been discovered full of quinine and human remains.

TODAY IN CONGRESS A Review Of Your Government In Action

CONGRESS TODAY wish Washington, March 22—(AP)—A Senate committee said today that with the most favorable selling period already past the surplus disposal problem abroad is still a confused muddle.

In the latest section of a continuing report on war surpluses, the special committee investigating the national defense program said it:

1. The basic problems facing the U. S. in the disposal of surplus war assets abroad remain unsolved.

2. Army and navy vacillation and lack of decision cause delays and the military was slow both in taking stock of supplies and declaring its surplus.

3. "Only slight attention" was given to the return to this country of civilian type surpluses sorely needed for reconversion. This was termed a primary responsibility of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. The State Department has failed to create favorable conditions for the sale of our surpluses located in foreign countries or to resist effectively the imposition of onerous restrictions imposed by foreign governments.

Netherlands Secure $200 Million Loan

He said the $200,000,000 would meet the most urgent needs of the Netherlands for American dollar credit until the new international bank starts operating.

Chapter 19

The sun shone brightly over Rush's shoulder as he sat at his desk. He had eaten breakfast an hour before his usual time. He felt that this would be a busy day—that things were due to happen. As a matter of fact, he intended to spend the day seeing that they happened. He knew that the only way to get all the facts was to light fires under the individuals concerned. The facts would boil to the surface eventually.

On the agenda he had listed in his mind were several important fires. To light them he needed fuel. He stabbed the button of the inter-office communicator. Gertrude answered.

"Has Merwin been around?" he asked.

"He phoned that he'd be in Barney's if you needed him."

"Okay, I'll be there for a while. I'll call you if anything comes up."

Rush found Merwin engrossed in a Racing Form with a fishbowl of beer at his elbow. Rush slid into the booth opposite him.

"Merwin, I put you on a job yesterday, remember?"

"Oh, yeah, that—"

"Well, have you got anything?"

Merwin knit his brow in obvious concentration. "After I left Mark's I hit a lot of spots. Most of them didn't seem to have no idea what I was talking about. A couple of joints remembered she was in, but she didn't make no play. There was one place where I got a quick freeze when I mentioned her."

"Big Mick's?" Rush asked.

Merwin looked up in surprise. "Yeah, how'd you know, Rush?"

COMPROMISE IS EXPECTED

Mine Owners Try To Avert Threatened Strike In April

Washington, March 22 — (AP) — Bituminous coal operators moved today to compromise some of John L. Lewis' most controversial demands in time to avert a miners' strike April 1.

Chief among these was the United Mine Workers' request for a health and welfare fund to provide care for injured miners and families of those killed.

A "proposition" on this proposal by the operators during today's negotiations was regarded as a distinct possibility. That is what Lewis has been maneuvering for. He did not suggest anything definite himself in requesting the fund.

Lewis was reported by those close to the operators' negotiators to have given the producers a "better understanding" of all nine of his demands still without getting specific and leaving it to the operators to make offers.

The operators, intent on presenting a solid front on some of the key issues which Lewis has advanced in the national soft coal wage contract negotiations, held sessions which went late last night and into the early morning hours today. A proposed compromise on one UMW demand was reported discussed.

One representative of the operators said negotiations, as a result of last night's developments, has passed the stage of generalities for the first time and entered the specific stage as to issues.

County Insurance Exchange Meets

The regular meeting of the Pitt County Insurance Exchange met Thursday at supper in the private dining room of the Proctor hotel. Phil Goodson, chairman of the board of directors, presided.

The main topic discussed was automobile financing known as "Bank Agents Auto Plan" which is being used on a national scale throughout the nation. A motion picture being shown showing how this plan is being handled by the local banks and insurance agents. This plan will keep all financing of cars at home and will allow the local dealer, banker and insurance agent to handle the entire transaction, giving the purchaser of cars his choice with any banker and insurance agent. The plan will be made known through advertising in the Reflector within a few days.

The visiting guests attending meeting were:

S. G. Otstot, executive, North Carolina Association of Insurance Agents, Inc., Raleigh; W. R. Redding, assistant cashier, National Bank of Wilson; J. J. Lane, president, Wilson County Insurance Exchange; Wilson; C. E. Crissey, special agent, Glens Falls Insurance Co., Richmond, Va.; W. H. Woolard, president, Guaranty Banking and Trust Co., Greenville and A. F. Fox, cashier, National Bank of Ayden.

Before adjourning a special meeting was planned for Thursday evening, April 8th when final arrangements will be perfected to put the plan in operation.

Meat Black Market Is Called A "Myth"

Des Moines, March 22 — (AP) — Iowa OPA Director Walter D. Kline declared today the black market in meat which packers have been talking about is a "myth."

"What the packers are complaining of is that they are in danger of losing their government subsidies," Kline said in an interview. "They should say so and not make a survey of nutrition needs in the schools."

Teachers Study Student's Health

The teachers of the Greenville city schools met in general session last night at Third Street School lunch room. Dinner was served and two phases of the health of the school children were discussed, namely, conservation of eyesight and correction of eyesight deficiencies and nutrition. Miss Alice Strawn of the High School faculty discussed nutrition and gave the results of some studies she had made among school children. This was followed by a general discussion and statements by several of the teachers as to what they are doing in the Greenville schools to combat malnutrition.

Heavy Losses In Pittsburgh Fire

Pittsburgh, March 22 — (AP) — Fire swept with explosive fury through a three block area in downtown Pittsburgh early today, destroying a dozen food and supply buildings and doing damage estimated at between $500,000 and $700,000.

Fourteen firemen were hurt by falling debris and toppling walls and 40 freight carsloads of butter, lard, sugar, paint, coal and other products were burned.

The fire was described by firemen as the worst the city has experienced in 30 years.

The fire leaped from building to building in the three block area from First to Fourth Avenue, in the lower tip of the Golden Triangle.

A system of inter-locking trestles on the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway, two and three story supply buildings and one-story distributing houses were fire swept.

Fire Chief William Davis estimated the damage at $500,000 but some business men whose property was lost said losses would approach $700,000.

Children Among Victims Of War

Children whose fathers died for America need more than a compensation check from the government. Mrs. L. W. Cherry, child welfare chairman of Pitt County Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, declared today in an appeal to all eligible women to join the Auxiliary and give their support to the Auxiliary's work for the children of the dead and disabled veterans.

The Auxiliary is now expanding its ranks to meet the increased demands for its service work resulting from World War II. Women newly eligible through the second World War are being especially invited to come into the Auxiliary at this time. Their help is urgently needed in the child welfare program, as well as in other activities, Mrs. Cherry said.

"Among the innocent victims of the war," she stated, "we must count the American children who have been deprived of a father's care and support. We cannot have the government write them a check and forget them. They need more than the meager compensation they receive. They need interest and help extended to them on a personal level by a powerful organization devoted to their welfare. This the Auxiliary has been able to do for the unfortunate children of World War I and will continue to do for those of World War II, with the help of the women of World War II families."

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

TO HAVE AND TO USE

Fritz Kreisler once offered a wealthy man quite a large sum of money for a very valuable violin which this wealthy man owned. The man persistently refused to part with the violin, saying there was no price that would tempt him to do so. Kreisler then asked permission to play it. He played as only Kreisler can play. Into the dead and silent instrument he poured the power and passion of his genius. The wealthy owner of the instrument listened in silence to the end. When Kreisler very tenderly returned the violin to its case, the wealthy man lifted it up and put it into the arms of the great virtuoso. "It belongs not to the man who bought it, but to the man who can use it."

All things belong to the men who can use them. There is no doubt of a great deal of inequitable distribution of goods and benefits in this world. There are sections of the world where multitudes of people never know what it means to get a square meal. But it is true also that in this country of ours, things in the hands of people who can use them. This may sound like social heresy to many who want to break up the status quo and begin things anew on some other basis, but it is always well to remember that the disposition of the universe is constantly to put into practice the great principle that to him that hath it shall be given, but from him that hath not, shall be taken away even that which he hath.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—When Gen. Eisenhower took his demobilization explanation before Congress recently it was the Army's new point discharge plans that made the headlines. From a spot news standpoint that was as it should have been. But farther down in the general address was something more pertinent to the present future.

It was that paragraph which included the words, "Our duties at home and overseas—the occupation mission delegated to us by higher authority and the protection and disposal of millions of tons of government property, representing billions of dollars of American taxpayers' money."

He didn't emphasize that many of these millions of tons are munitions or other implements of war. But according to old-line army men here, it is these millions of tons of war supplies which are the biggest headache of the army. State Department and White House have. To abandon them or even leave them lightly guarded would be to encourage revolution in Europe and the Pacific, and even more importantly, sow the seeds of future war.

Until these supplies can be taken home or, under specific orders from Congress, be destroyed, they constitute a menace that is for the moment, more serious than atomic bombs. Walking guard duty on on these huge supply dumps is a dull, monotonous task. Nobody can be blamed for not liking it, but if it isn't done and done effectively the United Nations Organization delegates might as well pack their bags and get for home.

A number of Capitol Hill observers believe the Office of Price Administration drove the final nail in its coffin when it announced what cotton price ceilings on the new crop would be if and when necessary.

Cotton state congressmen and senators immediately aired their verbal protests in spite of the fact that OPA's "lift" announcement wasn't anything like an order. OPA at this time can't issue orders or regulations extending beyond June 30, which is the date of its legal demise unless Congress votes an extension. At that time the 1946 cotton crop still will be a long way from the haling stage.

The point is that OPA by its announcement has further alienated the southern Democrats who form such a powerful block when they join the Republicans against any administration sponsored legislation.

The Veterans Administration won its battle with Civil Service over control of VA's hiring of physicians and the salaries to be paid them.

The importance of this victory hasn't been even lightly underscored. It means that VA can pay salaries commensurate with the abilities of the physicians it employs and that it can employ the best.

What hasn't been publicized at all is that Civil Service has been successful so far in retaining control over scientists. These laboratory geniuses, whose private industry fights to reward with top salaries, still have to work for the government practically for the love of it.

The Nation . . .

(Continued from Page One) portant price increases thus far—steel, meat, clothing. And of these the steel increase will take longer to show up in higher retail prices for consumer goods.

There have been other increases and there will be more—quite a number. That's to be expected under the more liberal price policy. But whether it's just a bulge or a breakthrough, probably nobody will know for sure until the smoke has cleared away and the figures are in some months from now.

The World Today . . .

(Continued from Page One) Folk in the hard-hit areas are reaching willy-nilly for new political nostrums in the hope that they will bring relief.

This we have political chaos in various of the liberated countries, and in the conquered states the labors of the occupation authorities are being rendered increasingly difficult because of public bitterness over short rations.

Orlando, Fla., March 22—(AP)—The "B" squad of the Washington Senators is so cocky over successes six wins, two losses, one tie in the grapefruit league, it has challenged the first team. A game for the camp championship probably will be played Monday.

Greensboro, March 22—(AP)—One hundred and seven of goldom's outstanding par punishers teed off here today for the seventh Greater Greensboro Open, a $7,500 event over the par 80 Sedgefield Country Club course measuring 6,720 yards.

Currently displaying his finest form of the year, the Hot Springs, Va., dynamiter's last effort was a 24-under par 264 victory in the Jacksonville, Fla. Open for his first triumph of the year.

With Byron Nelson, leading money winner of the last two years, Ben Hogan, currently money leader, and Sam Byrd, also well up in the game's dollar department, resting until the April 4-7 Augusta, Ga., Masters' three former Greensboro winners were on the sidelines.

Sparked by John "Hook" Dillon, who flipped in 15 points, the White Phantoms pulled away to an early 20-10 lead and dominated the game throughout, staying off a late NYU bid when the Violets got within five points at 35-31.

North Carolina thus won the right to meet Ohio State, Big Ten champions, for the Eastern crown on Saturday night. The Buckeyes, who lost to NYU in last year's Eastern final, defeated Harvard, 46 to 38, in the other semi-final clash.

Clearwater, Fla., March 22—(AP)—Dismissing his own Cleveland Indians with a very few words, mainly concerning their lack of punch at the plates, Manager Lou Boudreau predicts that New York, Detroit and Boston will put on a merry scrap for the American League title.

"We won't be in it this year," he said. "We'll have good pitching, but you've got to have hitting to go with it. The three top clubs have both, and that includes the Yanks."

In Bobby Feller, Allie Reynolds, Steve Gromek and Charley Embree, the Indians possess a four-man pitching staff probably second to none in the game, and in Boudreau himself they still have a fine shortstop who hits over 300 but after that they taper off rapidly.

Winter in a swap that sent Jeff Heath to Washington, is the team's new leftfielder. He hit 294 for the Senators last year. The two other outfield jobs will be divided up among such light hitters as Felix Mackiewicz, Jim Seery and Clarence "Soup" Campbell, with a youngster named Gene Woodling being given a good chance to break in at center.

Les Fleming, who packs the heaviest bat on the club, has sewed up his duties and it looks now as though Lambert Meyer, who played second base last season, will retain that post against the bid of Ray Mack, who was a regular there for several years before he entered the service. Meyer hit 292 last season, a somewhat better figure than Mack usually managed.

Ken Keltner, one of the better third-basemen and recently out of the service, will be back at the hot corner when he signs his contract. Meanwhile Don Ross, who played the bag last year is being given a contest by a freshman named Bob Lemon, who last played with Baltimore in '42.

Sherman Lollar, a six footer who eluded 364 for Baltimore last year and was named the most valuable player of the International League, is figured to take over the burden of catching from Frank Hayes, a fine workman but a weak hitter.

Lollar poled 34 homers last year and has been hailed as the greatest prospect sent up by Baltimore in a decade.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 22—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio has hit ten homers for the New York Yankees so far during the training season. His latest came yesterday against Detroit, a 380-footer over the left field fence at Lakeland. Charley

NEW UNIFORMS FOR THE ARMY

Officers And Privates To Have Identical Uniforms

Washington, March 22—(AP)—Officers' uniforms are on their way out of the army.

By June 30, 1948, the highest colonels and the lowest privates will be vested in identical fashion, except for insignia.

The War Department's order decreeing this comes at a time when criticism is still being heard from ex-servicemen about the so-called "officer caste system" and its privileges.

The first Capitol Hill comment was all for the change. Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the House military committee told reporters "it looks like the army is beginning to recognize the demand for military practices. This should encourage larger volunteer enlistments."

An ex-GI, Rep. Melvin Price (D-Ill.) said: "It sounds good to me. I think it will help enlistments and will do away with some of the bad feeling that exists between officers and men."

There has been no hint yet that the navy contemplates a similar move. That service is experimenting with modernizing the traditional seaman's uniform, with its bell-bottom trousers. And changes in officers' uniforms also are being studied. However, no final decisions have been reached in either case.

The War Department's decision was not considered radical by old army men who pointed out that, except for insignia, there was no difference in uniforms worn by officers and enlisted men in World War I. They also cited the war between the states (Civil War) and noted that Gen. U. S. Grant seemed to prefer a private's fatigue blouse much of the time.

During the recent war and at the present time, enlisted men are issued an olive drab uniform, with an extra set of slacks of a lighter, mustard color. Officers' regulation uniforms are of a forest green but may be worn with light grey, or "pink" slacks.

Under the new order, issued last night, all personnel will wear battle jackets and trousers of the same olive drab shade now used in enlisted men's clothing. For summer and tropical wear, the duty uniform for all ranks will continue to be the familiar khaki, with the addition of a battle jacket in tropical worsted material.

The new regulations were accompanied with a promise of the eventual return of bits dress uniforms to the army for special occasions, but the announcement said that the clothing shortage might prevent their restoration by mid-1948.

Ball said in a Senate speech yesterday that the American Communist party is "beating the drums" against an atomic control bill amendment which he described as "a minimum safeguard to national security" but which Pepper had criticized in his foreign policy address on Tuesday.

"I suspected that would be the first form of attack," Pepper said today. "You can be anti-Russian and be a good American but if you have a kind word to say for Russia you are called a Communist."

Asserting that his proposals "came from my own heart," Pepper added that he considers it "neither fair nor good judgment" to proceed on the premise that no agreement can be reached with Russia.

"Only by a reconciliation of opinion between the United States, Great Britain and Russia can we obtain lasting peace," he said.

A pleasant feature of the meeting was the attendance of R. L. Price of the Roanoke (Va.) Junior Chamber of Commerce. He entertained the Jaycees with an interesting description of the Roanoke Jaycees life-saving club, which was so favorably mentioned in a recent edition of the Readers Digest.

Four new members were welcomed: William J. Davenport, Jr., C. B. Rowlette, Jr., William Taylor, and Ray Masten.

Mob Watches...

(Continued From Page One) Pineau, chief of the homicide squad, said yesterday they could find no evidence to support Petiot's assertion that he belonged to a resistance group which executed traitors to France. The State has accused the 55-year-old physician of murdering persons who gave him money to help them escape from Nazi occupied France.

When the prosecution asserted that Petiot had refused to answer any questions about their disappearance in July, 1942, after they allegedly asked Petiot to smuggle them to the unoccupied zone of France—the defendant roared:

"It is untrue, like most of what you say. It has been said I have left 362 questions unanswered. These questions have never been asked. I do not know if it is the habit of the justice to use such manners."

Price Increases...

(Continued from Page One) price policy will have no effect on the level of rents. It should have little effect on the average of food prices. And it will have little or no effect upon a variety of miscellaneous living costs.

Porter declared that "we are six months nearer the time when all-out civilian production will make most price controls unnecessary."

Regarding the new wage-price policy, the OPA head declared it would affect the prices of apparel and textiles and added that "unless brought to a halt by firm government action speculative increases in raw cotton may force another revision of textile prices."

He said there was "no question but that (wage-price policy) will increase some prices among consumers metal durable goods."

"Where these price increases are necessary, they will be made promptly—not only to speed production by removing business hardships, but also to minimize withholding of goods while prices are being adjusted," he said.

"Finally, there will be prompt price adjustments wherever necessary to eliminate hardship and to speed all-out production."

"We have held prices reasonably well since V-J Day. We can hold them in check during the coming year."

The subject of Dr. Miller's address next Sunday morning will be, "A Good Man."

This radio broadcast can be heard over radio station WPTF.

On the other hand, the United States has demobilized so rapidly that our navy, army and air force are declared by our own military leaders to be relatively impotent.

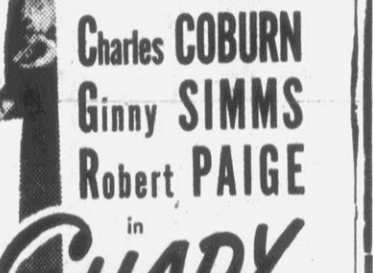

What Senator Pepper proposes is that we strip ourselves of the only real military power we possess, the atomic bomb, and then confer with Russia about future security and peace.

The Minnesota senator quoted from an Aug. 2, 1940, speech in the Congressional Record in which Pepper had attacked a Communist party anti-draft pamphlet, calling it "a sinister influence from Moscow x x reaching into our own land."
