REPORTS SHOW SITUATION IN IRAN OBSCURE

Early Reports Of Widespread Fighting Called Unlikely By Spokesman

London, May 20.—(AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation today said that an Iranian government spokesman described as "unlikely reports of fighting between government and Azerbaijan forces in northwest Persia."

The London broadcast, which did not give the source of its information, added that the Iranian spokesman said the government forces "have strict orders not to start any fighting."

"It may be possible," the broadcast quoted him as saying, "that some over-zealous frontier units have fired a few shots at Azerbaijan forces who were provoking them."

The Tehran radio today made no mention of the reported fighting. Radio reports earlier from Tabriz, Azerbaijan capital, indicated that civil strife had broken out.

The Tabriz radio, as quoted by BBC and Reuters, said that Iranian central government troops had attacked Azerbaijan. Reuters quoted the broadcast as saying the attack came from Kurdistan in the region near the southwestern end of Lake Urmia. "This lake lies about 50 miles west of Tabriz, between Kurdistan and Azerbaijan."

Marital law was proclaimed in Tabriz, BBC quoted the broadcast as saying, and a "Mr. Padvam" was appointed military governor of the city.

Reuters said the broadcast announced an 11 p. m. curfew and proclaimed the death penalty for violators.

According to BBC, the Tabriz announcer said: "Azerbaijan supporters have received orders to defend themselves. We shall defend freedom and democracy."

"After the clearing of the political horizon, Iran wants to secure it again with the blood of Azerbaijan youth."

"Shame to the treacherous hands which are dragging us into fratricide and bloody battles."

"We shall defend freedom to the last breath and the last Azerbaijan."

There was no report of Russian participation or direct assistance to Azerbaijan.

The reported outbreaks came on the eve of the deadline fixed by the United Nations Security Council for a report by the Iranian central government on whether Russian troops had been evacuated from Iran.

British And U. S. Planes In Test

Wiesbaden, Germany, May 20.—(AP)—American and British heavy bombers are striking at the 500,000 submarine pens near Bremen with "earth shock" bombs in the largest experimental air bombardment launched in Europe since the end of the war, it was officially disclosed today.

Four-engine B-29's, which never flew in combat over Germany, together with B-17 Flying Fortresses and British Lancasters, are shuttling between Bremen and the RAF central bomber establishment at Marham, England, for the continuing tests.

A statement by U. S. Air Forces headquarters here said the purpose was to determine "the full possibilities of destroying massive targets by earth-shock." British-developed bombs ranging up to 22,000 pounds and American 4,500-pound "rocket-assisted" armor-piercing bombs are used.

The statement did not mention whether Soviet observers had been invited, but none has witnessed the tests.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Critical days are ahead on the labor front even though this country already has been thrown into repeated crises by strikes and threats of strikes.

Because labor has done the striking, labor has been given much of the blame for the bad situations which occurred.

Yet we all are too close to the events, and the facts still are too obscured, for us to say positively in each case where labor was at fault, where management was at fault, or where the government may have erred.

The simple truth is this: We have made great industrial advances but still haven't found a way of having industrial peace. We have not worked out a method for that.

Actually, we have practically no machinery at all for keeping industrial peace if a union wishes to kick up its heels or management wants to get tough and declines to meet labor half way.

Critical Weeks Are Ahead For Hunger-Ridden Peoples

Remaining Weeks Before 1946 Grain Harvest Will Be Trying Period Says President; Hoover Advocates United Nations Food Administration Board

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—President Truman informed the International Food Conference today that the remaining weeks before the 1946 grain harvest will be especially critical in famine areas.

He said the United States and other countries in a position to help "must continue and heighten their efforts."

Mr. Truman's statement was made in a welcoming talk read by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson before an opening meeting of the food and agriculture organization of the United Nations, called to map a broad fight on long-term famine conditions.

"In meeting at this critical period," the President's message said, "you have heavy responsibilities and great opportunities."

Herbert Hoover, addressing the session, urged the creation by September 1 of a broad international food administration to spur production and guide distribution of supplies. He declared there is now need for drastic reorganization of the world fight on famine.

Mr. Truman's message said: "What this conference accomplishes or fails to accomplish will make its mark not only in the areas where people are hungry as the aftermath of war, but in all parts of the earth and for a long time to come."

Arabs And Jews Are Asked To Give Views

Jerusalem, May 20.—(AP)—The governments of Britain and the United States asked Arabs and Jews of Palestine today to express their views formally on the British-American inquiry commission's report which recommended the immediate admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine.

The consultation with Arabs and Jews was preliminary to a decision on whether to implement the report.

The American consulate said the State Department cabled instructions to ask the Jewish agency and the Arab high committee to give their views by June 20.

Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, British high commissioner for Palestine, called upon the two organizations this morning to present their formal views by the same date.

At the moment Congress is all too curbing labor. The strikes of the past year have put it in that mood. Yet it may, through haste, pass legislation which it will regret later.

Here's the score: 1. The 42-day cost strike was stopped for a two-week truce. The truce ends this week, unless John L. Lewis renews it.

But Lewis and the coal miners seem no nearer a settlement now than before the strike. So—will the miners strike again?

2. The railroad strike truce ends Thursday at 4 p. m. There may be a settlement of this dispute. With the help of President Truman, by giving the engineers and trainmen enough of a raise to satisfy them.

But if there's no settlement, will the strike go on as scheduled, even though the government has seized the railroads?

3. There's likely to be a shipping tie-up on both coasts by CIO unions in mid-June.

Auto Prices Due For New Increase To Offset Higher Production Cost

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Prices of new cars, already boosted because of higher wages, are going up again—this time an average of four to five percent to offset costlier steel and parts.

Disclosing this today, a high OPA official told a reporter privately that the hike probably will go into effect within 10 days.

He said OPA hopes this will be the last of the auto price increases required under the administration's liberalized wage-price policy.

Under it, retail prices for most cars were boosted from $1 to $60 in March and April to compensate for wage increases granted in the industry.

Figuring an average of five percent, the new increase will add $60 to the price of a $1,200 car. However, the hike for autos in this price range may be less than the average.

In any case, the entire increase will be passed on to the public. OPA has said dealers' profit margins will not be trimmed any more.

One of the principal factors behind the new increase is the average boost of $5 a ton for steel which the government allowed last February when the industry increased wages 18 1/2 cents hourly to settle the steel strike. The auto industry also is paying higher prices for other materials.

The other main reason for the imminent auto price increase is the higher cost of parts to car makers. Price ceilings on most new auto parts were removed several months ago. OPA has stated it expected some increase and that it would have had to authorize higher prices if ceilings had been maintained.

Even when the increases based on design changes are disregarded for the moment, retail price ceilings originally established by the President's order on wage-price policy.

The union complaint charged that recent price increases will add $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year to the cost of cars to consumers.

This is in addition, the protest said, to the $500,000,000 added to consumer cost earlier this year as a result of price boosts.

Reuther charged that present or future profits are disregarded in all OPA rulings which automatically raise prices for any increase in a manufacturer's wages or cost of materials.

President Truman took a brief respite from the nation's labor problems today in his first visit with the home folks since Christmas.

At a press conference he brushed aside questions about the labor situation, and labeled his homecoming simply "a friendly visit."

The President devoted most of his time to his 93-year-old mother, Mrs. Martha Truman, to other members of his immediate family, and to old cronies of his Jackson County political days.

Later today, he will receive a long-deferred degree from tiny William Jewell College at nearby Liberty, Mo. In a short ceremony at which Truman told newsmen his speech would be extemporaneous and brief. It is scheduled for about 1 p. m. (EST).

"Grass Root Crusader" Has Place In Capitol

By LUCY CHERRY CRISP (Editor's Note: Miss Crisp is a well known feature writer and columnist whose writings appear in newspapers and magazines throughout North Carolina.)

Recently there came into my hands a scrap of paper setting forth what seems to me a very strange idea. It was a reprint of an editorial from the Daily Advance (Elizabeth City) in which the editor discussed the candidacy of Robert Lee Humber for a place in Congress as a representative from the First District.

Implying his approval of the fact that Mr. Humber has campaigned actively in furtherance of an excellent idea (a World Federation) this editor goes on to declare that Mr. Humber's concern is with world problems, matters which are "by constitutional provision, the concern and responsibility of the U. S. Senate. A congressman's business is to represent his people in Washington, as a sort of ambassador." And thus, the Advance editor goes on to conclude, "By his own confession, Dr. Humber would be out of place in the House of Representatives."

A very strange idea indeed, that a man's active concern over bringing about lasting peace in the world should disqualify him to sit in the Congress as a representative of the people of Eastern North Carolina, should make him out of place there!

I think the Advance editor is wrong. It may be that "by constitutional provision" world problems are the concern and responsibility of the U. S. Senate. And there may have been a day (though I doubt it) when we could safely in childish ignorance and blind trust simply dismiss all such concern and responsibility with the statement "Leave that to the Senate." But that day is not now, when world problems hourly reach down into our most personal problems here in Carolina, and everywhere, changing our days and our destinies for good or for ill.

To realize this, we have only to recall that a few weeks after World War II began in Europe, long before America's entrance, tobacco markets in Eastern Carolina were forced to close. The Imperial Tobacco Company had withdrawn its buyers. We had no outlet then that would affairs were our own personal affairs, nor that they had something to do with our daily bread, our personal economic welfare or disaster. We have no doubt of it now. When we think reasonably of all we know that inevitably we

Colleges Can Care for Less Than Half Of Future Enrollees

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Capitol Hill ecked a sympathetic ear today to Reconstruction Director John W. Snyder's report that colleges can handle fewer than half the 2,000,000 Americans who want to enroll this fall.

But the lawmakers generally took the attitude that the problem is one for the state, not Washington, to solve.

Snyder suggested that President Truman name a national commission of higher education to study the matter and make a report on (Continued on Page Six)

CIO-UAW Protest Car Price Boost

Detroit, May 20.—(AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers today filed a formal protest with the OPA against increased automobile prices.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO president, asked OPA administrator Paul Porter to designate a board of review to hear union claims that increased auto prices are not made necessary by recent wage increases.

Reuther charged that present or future profits are disregarded in all OPA rulings which automatically raise prices for any increase in a manufacturer's wages or cost of materials.

AMENDMENTS OFFERED FOR OPA MEASURE

Senate Banking Committee Hears More Than 30 Proposed Changes In Control

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—More than 30 amendments to the OPA extension bill, many of them providing for gradual lifting of price controls, were proposed today to the Senate Banking Committee.

The committee made no decisions at its closed door session, but Chairman Warner (D-N.Y.) said he was hopeful of a vote on the decontrol proposals tomorrow.

Majority Leader Barkley (R-Vt.) offered one of the decontrol amendments "purely as a basis for discussion," he told reporters. It provides for ending price controls and subsidies as soon as possible, and in no event later than June 30, 1947, at which time OPA would be abolished.

With heavy Republican backing, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) offered an amendment providing that after Sept. 1, no maximum price should be established for any product below the price which the manufacturer received during a base period, Oct. 1-15, 1941, plus the average increase in unit costs throughout the industry since then.

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) proposed removal of price controls on agricultural products within 30 days, unless the Secretary of Agriculture certifies that specific items are in short supply.

Truman To Meet Double Crisis In Single Week; Presidential Advisers Continue Work Hoping Return To Negotiations; Government Expected To Take Over Coal Mines

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Top presidential advisers continued separate conferences with leaders of railroad brotherhoods and carriers today with the hope of "bringing them together very soon" in direct negotiations.

In making this announcement, however, Evell Ayers, assistant press secretary for President Truman, said he did not think joint conferences, designed to reach a settlement prior to Thursday's strike deadline, could be resumed today.

Reconversion Director John W. Snyder and John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser, are conferring with the disputants individually.

The Engineer and Trainmen Brotherhoods are seeking wage and working rule changes which the carriers so far have declined to accept.

Snyder, Steelman and Secretary of Labor Schweitzer are meeting today on the soft coal dispute, Ayers said in reply to questions, talking about settlement.

"As far as I know they are not Principals on both sides have said privately they look for the government to take over the mines by the middle of the week."

The truce under which most of 400,000 striking United Mine Workers are again digging coal expires next weekend, while the nationwide strike of railroad trainmen and engineers has been postponed only until 4 p. m. Local Standard Time on Thursday.

There was no indication from Ayers that the railroad or the brotherhoods had agreed to any compromise so far.

"Mr. Snyder and Mr. Steelman are conferring along the lines of yesterday," he said, "with a view to resuming negotiations. They have hopes of bringing them together very soon."

Mr. Truman, who first cancelled but then reinstated his weekend flight to Missouri, planned to hurry back to the capital today after receiving an honorary degree from William Jewell College, The Chief Executive flew to Kansas City yesterday afternoon.

Tax Bureau's Error Stuns Navy Seaman

Dunkirk, N. Y., May 20.—(AP)—A federal income tax refund for more than a half-million dollars has come to an 18-year-old Navy seaman who had expected a refund of about $23, the boy's father said today.

Thomas G. Richir said a check for $555,555.55 came in the mail Saturday.

His son, Thomas, now stationed at the San Diego Naval Base, was employed for a short time last year by the New York Telephone Co. in Olean.

Richir said he wanted to keep the check and frame it.

In New York a spokesman for the Internal Revenue Bureau said there would be no comment from the New York office until a representative of the department had made further investigation.

Such a check likely would be due to a mechanical error, he said, adding that the Albany office of the bureau would be asked to get in touch with Richir immediately.

Gromyko Planning Another Boycott

New York, May 20.—(AP)—Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko indicated today that he would boycott Wednesday's session of the United Nations Security Council which has been called to take up again the controversial Iranian question.

Gromyko, who already has walked out on one meeting of council and boycotted another, said in response to a question as to whether he would attend:

"I made myself clear on this some time ago."

He apparently was referring to his statement of April 28 that he would not take part in any further council discussions of the Iranian question.

This development came as the council approached another deadline in the Iranian case, still without any assurances from either Russia or Iran that all Soviet troops had been withdrawn from Iranian soil.

a rather wider interpretation on those already given. The new epoch upon which our old world is entering, provides no parking space for imperialism, or for any other combination of different races which are held together by anything else than ties of blood, friendship and mutual interest.

England, having recognized this trend a quarter of a century ago, when she inaugurated the British Commonwealth of nations in which the sovereignty of the dominions was acknowledged, is now further tiding up her house. It is a great contribution to world peace.

So far as Egypt is concerned, while she isn't a part of the British empire, she has been under what amounted to a protectorate. An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACENZIE

The British Socialist government's empire-rocking decision to quit India and Egypt was impelled mainly by two factors, we are told by John A. Parris, an Associated Press correspondent in London, and these are:

1. Britain's great need for trade and the consequent necessity of maintaining good relations with potential markets.

2. Because of the development of the atomic bomb, imperial defense no longer requires the presence of huge armies in places like Egypt and India. On the contrary, maintenance of troops in such countries isn't worth the risk of creating political warfare. Members of the British government say England is determined to eliminate from her policy anything which might cause hostility and mistrust on the part of other nations.

To these reasons I think we must add another one. Let us say, place

Beautiful School Play
Griffon, May 20—One of the most outstanding programs to be given in this section was witnessed by the largest crowd ever assembled at the Griffon school May 16, when Mrs. Guy Taylor and Mrs. Vance Abbott's first-graders presented, "Alice in Mother Goose Land." It was a musical play based on "Alice in Wonderland Adventures in Mother Goose Land." The stage was a spectacle of beauty and color, because every child was elaborately dressed for his part. No one could have believed before that Griffon afforded such an array of beauty and talent as was shown in this group of children. The stage represented Mother Goose's flower garden with a fence garlanded with a rose vine in the background.

Alice, pretty little Henrietta Taylor, followed her nose and found herself in Mother Goose Land quite by accident, but learns many profitable lessons from the Mother Goose characters in addition to their original songs and beautiful dances. After the play the entire cast sang the "Fading of the Painted Doll" and all the characters in this composition came to life again in the little play, Jeannette Reed.

Mrs. Milton Hart contributed much to the success of the play by playing the piano.

In December
One executive meeting.
We have three departments; Essay, Radio, Flower.

Mission and relief.
One box of clothing was sent to the United Church Service Center, New Windsor, Md. This was conservatively valued at $100. Flowers and cards have sent to the sick.

Through the radio department we have given programs amounting to three and three-fourths hours in 15-minute periods. These are still in progress. Some of these were given by the pastors of the city, some by W. C. T. U. members and some by pupils in the elementary and high schools.

Essays were written by pupils from the 7th grades of the city schools. We gave five dollars for the best, two dollars and fifty cents for second best, and one dollar for the third best. These three and others deserving honorable mention were given over the radio.

While we do not have a publicity director, our meetings have been announced over the radio, in local newspaper, in church bulletins and in missionary circles, Sunday schools and by telephone. About 65 inches of newspaper space has been given for this work.

Through the generosity of one of our members we have the Union

Signal in all the school libraries, including the Negro school and city and college libraries.

We keep in touch with Mrs. A. E. Taft, president of the Sojourner Truth, and thus we try to be a help to each other.

We have cut out liquor advertisements from local newspaper and sent them to the editor with our protests to these "ads." Along with these were sent appropriate verses of scripture.

We have petitioned the National, American and Columbia broadcasting networks not to advertise wine and beer over the air. Also petitioned Senators Bailey and Hoey urging them to use their influence to secure the passage of the "Johnson Bill" which prohibits advertising of wine and beer over radio. These petitions were signed by 43 members.

Plans are in the making for organizing a Y. T. C. and an L. T. L. Two dollars has been paid to Mrs. Leon Roebuck, district president, for promotion work.

We are united in this purpose to "step on, surmount the rocky steep, climb boldly o'er the tortuous arch," knowing assuredly "the falls who feebly creeps, he wins who dares a hero's march." It is also our purpose to be true to our slogan, "We will not quit until the liquor traffic quits.

Respectfully submitted,
Mrs. W. T. C. Briggs, President
Mrs. C. W. Brown, Secretary

Mrs. Rollins Honored

IN DESPERATION

HERBERT C. BONNER

IN PERSON

Attacks His Opponent

FOR CONGRESS

OVER RADIO STATION WRRF

GREENVILLE AND WASHINGTON HOOKUP — TIME 6:45 P.M. SATURDAY, MAY 18th

Bonner Lied And He Knew He Lied

When he inferred that his opponent Robert Lee Humber was backed by John L. Lewis. He even stooped so low as to attack Humber's good and popular wife and children. Any sane person well knows that DESPERATION only could drive a candidate to such low methods of campaigning. ROBERT LEE HUMBER would prefer defeat rather than resort to such low tactics. Humber is a Gentleman, a Christian and a Scholar. We believe John G. Bragaw of Washington was sincere in his talk over the radio in Washington WRRF when he spoke in behalf of Bonner, knowing this fine gentleman as we do. We doubt seriously if he still has the high regard for Candidate Bonner. Can the voters of the First District consciously vote for a man of Bonner type? We doubt it.

BONNER HAS BROUGHT SHAME AND DISGRACE to the high office his constituents gave him. He has proven his utter unfitness for any office to represent 250,000 honest North Carolina citizens.

BONNER YOU CHARGE HUMBER with John L. Lewis backing, which is a lie and you know it. We ask and challenge you to TRUTHFULLY PUBLISH THE LIST OF EACH and EVERY SUPPORTER YOU HAVE RECEIVED A DOLLAR OR MORE FROM FOR YOUR CAMPAIGN. Your record shows nothing to worry Lewis. Why would he not support you?

Defeated Senator J. Con Lanier is so well known to the voters that he loses votes for Bonner and gains for Humber every time he speaks. Do it again Con real soon. You can't fool our good farmers — They know you.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

One of our national squash champions went to World War II and came back without his right arm. When his friends heard of this calamity, they were stunned. How could this young man ever recover from such a handicap?

He wrote a letter to his disconsolate friends and relatives telling them to cheer up. There were lots of things worse even for a squash champion than the loss of the right arm. As soon as he returned to this country, he took up the game of squash again, only now he played with his left hand. Rumor has it that it will not be long until he will regain the rating which it seemed, on the day of his accident, he had lost forever.

A great cartoonist in this country became so afflicted with arthritis that he could no longer draw with his right hand. Millions of us who regard him as "lops" in his line chuckle every day over the cartoons which he now draws with his left hand.

There are many things in life which correspond to the right hand. They appear to be so precious that their loss would be almost equivalent to the loss of life itself. Some people who lose their right hands are always crippled—just as some people who lose their money, or who fall in romance, or who set their hearts on something which they never get. Those who are wise learn to use the left hand—the second best. There is plenty of power and skill there awaiting our cultivation and mastery.

For The Thinking Voter

The duties of a Congressman, from any district, entail a host of responsibilities. In addition to a full and complete knowledge of the affairs and needs of the district which he is representing, he must have an exhaustive comprehension of the international scene. Today we are no longer isolated from the other peoples of the world. Every law that is passed by Congress affects in one way or another the well-being of other nations. We would do well to take this into consideration when we select our representative to Congress. Not everyone is equipped to fill this most important position.

The voters of the First Congressional District of North Carolina have the greatest opportunity in their lifetimes to take the lead in placing statesmanship in Congress above the brass gods of "politics." Essentially that is the issue before us today. Observers in other states and in Washington are manifesting their interest in the possible outcome of the May 25 primary.

Robert Lee Humber is known and respected by scores of American statesmen, and by many of those from abroad. His opinions, his ability to articulate them and his driving leadership have impressed all who have heard him speak. Such a man would not play second fiddle in the debates of vital measures placed before the House—his voice, the voice of the people of the First Congressional District of North Carolina, would be heard, and would sway the opinions of his colleagues in Congress.

An opportunity of securing for ourselves such an outstanding spokesman in Congress may not come again for many years. We owe it to ourselves, and to our state, that the most capable men be chosen to represent our people. In Mr. Humber we see a statesman who can raise the prestige of North Carolina to the stature which is her due.

It has been many years since our state has produced a Congressman whose forcefulness and ability marked him as a leader on the floor of the House. There has been no one chosen from among our own people to engage in the debates of policy, or to formulate one that would reflect credit to his constituents.

We are reflecting no great credit upon ourselves if we are content to leave the active part of government to the representatives of other states. In the appearance of Robert Lee Humber on the political horizon, we again have hope that the inertia of our state will be broken, and our people of the Tar Heel State will come into their own.

Democratic Primary Will Draw Big Vote

The Democratic Primary will be held next Saturday, May 25.

The polls will open at 6:30 a. m. and close at 6:30 p. m.

Persons not properly registered will not be permitted to vote. The books were open several weeks. The registration books were closed May 11.

Last Saturday, May 18, was challenge day.

Observers here today said they believe Saturday's primary will bring out the largest vote in years.

State Highway Patrolmen Cpl. John Laws and R. H. Chadwick late Saturday night arrested Rudolph E. Manning, Jr., 21, and James E. ment that her sovereignty was recognized. Bitterness against England has been growing in Egypt for the past generation until it has reached a pitch of intensity that a British withdrawal was the only thing which could prevent a rupture of the peace.

As regards Britain's offer to give India complete independence and withdraw from the country, it is only fair to say that this last an idea born overnight in an emergency. England made an offer of dominion status in 1942 when the mission under Sir Stafford Cripps was sent out there. That failed, and the Indian campaign of civil disobedience which followed resulted in Highway patrolmen said Harrell's car was stolen about 11 o'clock Saturday night, and that shortly afterwards they apprehended the two youths while driving the car on the Pacolux road. The car was not damaged.

Humber Will Speak Black Jack Store

The distinguished and scholarly Pitt County lawyer will discuss some of northeastern North Carolina's problems and suggest remedies for solving them. He is an eloquent speaker, always interesting, always convincing, and one of the best informed men in the state on North Carolina's problems. The public is invited to hear Mr. Humber at Black Jack Wednesday night.

"J. N." as he is known here, is a graduate of the Greenville High School and the University of North Carolina. In the local high school he made straight "As" and at the University of North Carolina made the highest grades in his class. Local 113th Club In Meeting At Armory

The Greenville 113th Club met Friday night, May 17, at the Armory for their monthly fellowship meeting. After a dinner prepared by Amor Hudson, Secretary J. B. Tyndall called the meeting to order.

E. J. Walrop, chairman of the Constitution and By-Laws committee, presented a constitution and certain by-laws which were approved and adopted. The committee's motion to hold future meetings twice a year instead of once a month was seconded and passed. Meeting dates were arranged to suit the convenience of club members.

Jimmy Davenport was called upon to explain the lack of entertainment which he was supposed to have engaged. Jimmy explained his quartette had pulled out at the last minute and that he himself felt unqualified to entertain. Secretary Tyndall announced that all members will receive notice of the September meeting in due time, and should make a special effort to be present.

A BETTER MOUSETRAP

Albuquerque, N. M., May 20—(AP)—Passersby gathered in a knot on a down town corner to gaze from a respectful distance—at a three-foot bull snake sunning itself on the running board of a parked car.

Willie Salas broke up the show before anyone learned how the reptile got there. He pocketed the snake and strolled away, remarking: "I've got mice in my cellar."

better and making the fullest use of the products of farms and fisheries is "a step toward winning and securing the peace."

The conference named Secretary Anderson its permanent chairman.

Hoover said the food administration he suggested should take over the food and agriculture activities of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration and the British-Canadian-American combined food board, as well as all other world agencies connected with food and agriculture.

Hoover said the food administration, which he suggested be named the United Nations Food Administration, be directed by a single food administrator and a small advisory committee. He said that it should be the administration's purpose to return to normal commerce the food, fertilizer and farm supply business of the world with all speed possible.

Moreover, he said, "the world must quit charity as a basis of widespread food distribution. I cannot too strongly emphasize that charitable distribution is hugely wasteful and inefficient."

Hoover said that after September 1 nations should finance their own food purchases by other means than charity.

Each player who participates will have to turn in his qualifying score to the "pro" not later than Monday May 27. He will be placed in the proper flight.

Winner of each flight will be awarded a trophy, and the runner-up in each flight WILL BE SUITABLY REWARDED.

Grain Market

Chicago, May 20—(AP)—May rye soared 10 cents in the last 15 minutes of trading today, jumping from a low of $2.22 1/2 to a high of $2.32 1/2. At the high the contract was up the daily limit of 5 cents from the preceding session's close.

Favorable weather for crops brought some selling into corn and oats early, but part of the early downturn was regained. New corn contracts finished 1-1/4 lower, January $1.45 1/2, new oats 1/4 lower to 95 higher, August 83 1/2-3/4, old oats unchanged to 1 cent lower, September 80, and wheat was unchanged at ceilings, August $1.98 1/2. May rye finished at $2.32 1/2, up 5 cents.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 20—(AP)—Associated stocks crawled toward recovery today but many leaders failed to exhibit enthusiasm and dealings were among the slowest of the year.

Accounts were reinstated here and there on the idea that postponement of the railway strike might mean that Washington, one way or another, would find means to keep the trains rolling. The coal crisis still was a puzzle for Wall Street, however, and numerous customers stood aside to await developments.

The ticker tape loafed from the start and transfers dwindled to around 800,000 shares.

New York Cotton

New York, May 20—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 25 cents a bale higher to 15 lower.

Noon prices were 25 to 85 cents a bale higher. July 27.29, Oct. 27.55, and Dec. 27.65.

Futures closed $1.15 to $1.45 a bale higher.

Sports

The Greenies moved up a notch in Coastal Plain League Standings yesterday when they boomed out a 14-15 victory over the Tars of Tarboro.

At the end of the fourth frame the score was 11-2 against the local club. The fifth inning was the decisive factor in the contest, when the Greenville sluggers went into action and racked up twelve runs and held their rivals scoreless. The Greenies' big bugs were silent in the sixth inning, but rapped out a barrage of hits in the seventh to score four more runs. It was sufficient.

The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was called at the end of the second inning because of the Sunday curfew law. The teams were tied 1-1 at the time.

CITIES MUST PLAN FUTURE

Noted City Planning Engineer Speaks To Group Here

By CHESTER WALSH
Russell D. Bailey of Sandston, Va., designer and engineer with the United States Bureau of Public Works, spoke to a group of city planning and development, who is not changes in making plans for York and Lancaster, Pa. spent a day in Greenville last week, looking over the city and conferring with local residents. He was a guest of the Kiwanis Club Friday night and afterwards spoke before the City Planning Committee and representatives of other organizations. He outlined the steps planning engineers develop in making plans for a city's future development.

Mr. Bailey used maps of York, Pa. and showed land use in that city in discussing city planning, he emphasized major and minor streets in order to take care of traffic and not destroy residential sections. The city planning engineers stressed setting aside land for parks and playgrounds. Mr. Bailey talked informally, answered questions in an impressive way, and pointed out that the time has come when the growth and development of cities and towns must be by blueprint and wise planning in order to keep abreast of other communities. City planning must be done long in advance of the time for actual work. Planning should be along lines to properly divert and direct heavy and through traffic; planning must be far in advance for adequate public utilities, and zoning the city for fire and zoning for residential sections to maintain a uniform standard and quality of homes are necessary steps.

"We are facing in this country an unusually rapid growth of cities and towns, and sentiment is on the increase for growth and development to be planned in advance," he said.

COURT GRANTS NEW HEARING

Delerium Tremens Victim Blames Railroad For Accident

Washington, May 20—(AP)—A newlywed who said he fell from a train window while suffering "delirium tremens" won a supreme court order today granting him a new trial in his suit for $200,000 damages.

The suit, filed against the Southern Pacific railroad by Gilbert E. Thiel, contended the line's employees had been told in advance of his condition and should have guarded him. A jury denied him damages.

Justice Murphy delivered the court's 5-2 opinion which said the trial court should have granted Thiel's motion to dismiss the jury panel. Justice Frankfurter wrote a dissent in which Justice Reed joined. Thiel declared in his appeal that at the time of the fall he was "in a highly depressed mental state" over his week-old marriage in Reno.

Further, his appeal stated, he was not in his normal mind because of "excessive and continued drinking." In trial of the suit in U. S. district court in San Francisco, Thiel testified he had "delirium tremens and hallucinations" as he started on an all-night train ride from Reno to San Francisco.

His appeal related that he "became greatly frightened (on the train) when in the dim light he believed he saw a man leering at him and believed he saw a knife stuck into a passenger lying on a seat and believing he was about to be attacked, he suddenly opened the train window and proceeded to get out." In the fall both of Thiel's feet were cut off at the ankles. Infection developed, requiring amputation of both legs. He also lost use of one arm.

Those days have now come, and Robert Humber, already nationally known as a man who waited not for an election to office to set to work, but set out alone, before the war's end, to do what he could to make certain that war should never lay its bloody hands upon our lives again, now comes to his home people in the First District, offering to stand up and speak for us in the Congress of the United States, making known to Washington whatever of our daily small needs and problems should be made known there, but making clear, also, our deeper desire and concern to be a part of a nation determined to fulfill its destiny of true greatness and leadership in a confused era of the world's existence. This is now the fundamental desire and concern of all thoughtful Americans worthy of the name; we, the people, know that. But Congress, of late, seems to have forgotten it. We need men there who will insistently and fearlessly remind Washington of our real concerns.

This is now the fundamental desire and concern of all thoughtful Americans worthy of the name; we, the people, know that. But Congress, of late, seems to have forgotten it. We need men there who will insistently and fearlessly remind Washington of our real concerns.

Those days have now come, and Robert Humber, already nationally known as a man who waited not for an election to office to set to work, but set out alone, before the war's end, to do what he could to make certain that war should never lay its bloody hands upon our lives again, now comes to his home people in the First District, offering to stand up and speak for us in the Congress of the United States, making known to Washington whatever of our daily small needs and problems should be made known there, but making clear, also, our deeper desire and concern to be a part of a nation determined to fulfill its destiny of true greatness and leadership in a confused era of the world's existence. Judge Marvin Wilson of Chowan County Recorder's Court introduced the speaker. The rally was held on the historic lawn fronting the Chowan County court house, and was made possible through the efforts of the local Humber for Congress Committee. Over 2,000 country ham sandwiches and over 300 bottles of soft drinks were served to the large audience which included citizens from Gates, Perquimans and Washington counties. Arrangements for the successful management of the affair were handled by E. W. Spire, Chowan County clerk of court, and Herbert Leary, former solicitor of the First Judicial district and former state senator, and Judge Marvin Wilson.

His Indianapolis home became his fortress "chamber" Tarkington began work on his novel. He would devote 18 or more hours a day to his writing, turning out each page in longhand on yellow manuscript paper.

These efforts finally cost Tarkington his eyesight. In 1930 he became blind after being troubled with failing sight for years. An operation partially restored his vision, but his stories were dictated thereafter.

Tarkington was best known for his novels, but he ventured into the field of play writing on occasions. His "Monsieur Beaucaire" was staged in 1901 and he followed it with a string of hits.

Funeral services will be conducted privately Tuesday at Tarkington's Indianapolis home. Dr. Russell Gallaway, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will officiate and burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Greenie Shortstop Has Bright Future

By CHESTER WALSH

Ray Carlson of Chicago, shortstop for Manager Virgil Payne's Greenville Greenies, is doing as good a job on this ball club as he did in the armed forces at Okinawa. He fields his position like a veteran, winds that old bat to the tune of about 300, and covers lots of territory. He throws the ball over to first base with a zip that nalls the runners, and he's always cheerful. This is Carlson's third year in organized baseball. He played short for Lima in the Ohio State League, and short and the outfield for the Superior (Wis.) club in the Northern League when Virgil Payne was manager there. Jack Shean, Chicago scout, who discovered Carlson's baseball talent, said he has a promising future.

Carlson is 21, weighs 170 pounds, is single and a likable chap. He throws and bats right-handed. He is popular with the fans and players here. He was in the army three years, and returned to civilian life last March. He was slightly wounded at Okinawa.
