Despite Robert Lee Humber's denial of the allegations by his opponent that Humber's campaign is being financed by John L. Lewis and the CIO Political Action Committee, the Bonner forces are still yelling long and loud in repeating the accusation in the hope of fooling somebody to vote for their candidate. Yesterday Mr. Humber clearly defined his stand on the question of labor unions and strikes and we believe that his statement on this matter should convince every thinking person that the effort to connect Mr. Humber with the CIO is just (Continued in editorial column)

The Commencement exercises of the Greenville High School will get under way Sunday evening, May 26, and will be concluded with the graduating exercises Thursday evening, May 30. The annual sermon of the graduates will be preached Sunday evening in the High School auditorium by Dr. R. S. Boyd, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Greenville.

Junior High graduates will be received into Senior High School Wednesday morning, May 29, at 9:30 in the high school auditorium, and will be featured by an address by Rev. A. Hartwell Campbell, Pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church in Greenville.

The Senior High graduating exercises will take place at 8:00 on Thursday evening in the Wright auditorium of the East Carolina Teachers College and diplomas will be awarded to 65 graduates. Father Is Dazed By Quadruplets Reidsville, May 24—(AP)—Quadruplets girls born to James Newton Fultz, 55-year-old Negro farmer, and his 37-year-old wife, Annie Mae Fultz, early yesterday morning were reported "doing fine" today at Perry Memorial Hospital.

The mother, who has been a deaf mute since suffering an attack of meningitis when she was four years old, was also "doing fine." She could only smile and shake her head negatively when a nurse conveyed to her by signs and lip motions that somebody "wanted one of her babies."

The father, better known as "Pete" than by his real name, recovered from the shock of the news yesterday enough to shake his head at the hospital and murmur, "Most babies I ever heard of."

A check into medical records revealed that this was Reidsville's first quadruple birth and that up to 1940 there were only 48 living quadruplets, 40 of which were white.

Dr. Fred R. Klenner, Reidsville physician who delivered the babies at almost clock-like intervals of five minutes each, said that if the quads reach the age of 10 days they probably will have a normal life expectancy.

Dismal Swamp Canal To Get Nine-Foot Depth

After five years of neglect during war tie, the Dismal Swamp Canal is about to get a controlling depth of nine feet in its channel. It connects Hampton Roads, Va., with the inland waters of North Carolina. Boats of the Pasquotank River Yacht club move through the canal past the village of South Mills near Elizabeth City. In the distance are the modernized South locks, completed in 1941. At the left is the George Washington highway connecting Elizabeth City and Norfolk. The canal was designed and surveyed by George Washington in 1765, and is said to be the oldest man-made waterway in America. (AP Photo)

Germ Spray Revealed As Fearful Secret Weapon Developed By U.S.

Washington, May 24—(AP)—A germ spray reportedly capable of wiping out large cities and entire crops at a single blow is this country's newest secret weapon "far more deadly than the atomic bomb."

This disclosure leaked out of Congress today after the first bare hint was dropped on the floor of the House yesterday.

Sketchy details of the frightening germ weapons were provided by members of the House Appropriations Committee who learned of their development behind guarded doors.

These members, specifying that their names not be used, told a reporter full details were given the committee during hearings on the Navy's $4,639,718,000 appropriation bill which the House passed yesterday and sent to the Senate.

There are several of the germ weapons, one member said adding that they have been developed to the point where they could be used when ever necessary. Also, he said the United States is the sole possessor of the secrets involved.

"They have developed a weapon that can wipe out all form of life in a large city," this member de-

Chinese Communist Makes Statement on Manchurian Crisis

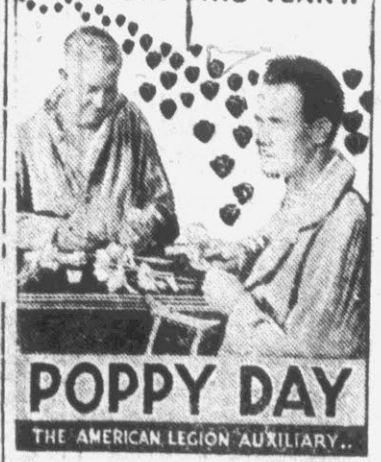

By JOHN RODERICK
Nanking, May 24—(AP)—A high Kuomintang official said today the government's capture of Changchun opened the way for resumption of peace negotiations but a Communist spokesman countered "that complicates the situation."

"Now we can begin to talk with the Communists," regarding peace in Manchuria, said the Kuomintang (National Party) official, who demanded anonymity.

Tung P. Wu, a Nanking Communist leader, said the party's peace negotiator, Gen. Chou En-Lai, had delivered to General Marshall Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung's acceptance "in principle" of the minority Democratic League's three-point truce proposal, but added significantly:

A Review Of Your Government In Action

Washington, May 24—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va) said after a White House call today that President Truman is considering an appeal to a joint session of Congress for additional authority to prevent further nationwide strikes.

Byrd said he had strongly urged Mr. Truman to go before Congress if he needs additional power or any legislation to punish those who have been guilty of any infraction of the laws and to prevent strikes.

The President, Byrd told White House reporters, said he is giving the matter full consideration.

"My judgment is that if the railroad strike is not settled today the President should come before Congress tomorrow, Byrd added.

"The country is strongly behind him in any move he may make to settle this crisis and now is the time for action."

Byrd called at the White House to witness the signing of a federal day raise bill and took the occasion to appeal to Mr. Truman.

Byrd was asked when the President should go up and replied "The sooner the better."

"If the strike is not settled today, he should come up tomorrow or even tonight."

A feverish Senate moved in to the whole field of labor legislation today after voting in the early morning hours to ban employer con-

Army Ready

Washington, May 24—(AP)—Troops are being moved to "strategic locations" in anticipation of a request for protection of the railways, a War Department spokesman said today.

Some 500 have been ordered from Camp Atterbury, Ind., to Fort Custer, Mich., in one such move, it was disclosed.

The spokesman termed the movements as "precautionary." By mid-afternoon no request had been received from the Office of Defense Transportation for War Department assistance, the spokesman told reporters.

MOSCOW RADIO SAYS ARMY IS OUT OF IRAN

Announcement Of Withdrawal Has Doubtful Effect On Security Council

New York, May 24—(AP)—Russia's announcement that Soviet troops completed their evacuation of Iran May 9 brought no clear indication today what effect, if any, the statement would have on the United Nations Security Council.

The brief announcement of the evacuation by the Moscow radio last night left up in the air the reiterated charge by Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala that Russia still was interfering in the affairs of Iran.

The Security Council—now in recess subject to the call of the chairman—still has the Iranian case on its agenda as a result of a decision taken Wednesday. Under that decision the Iranian matter may be called up at any time by a council (Continued on page eight)

Church is accredited with 89 actual combat missions.

Wayne County Man Executed In Chamber

Raleigh, May 24—(AP)—Gurney Herring, 26-year-old Wayne county Negro went to the state's gas chamber at Central Prison today still maintaining his innocence in the rape of a Negro school teacher.

Herring entered the lethal chamber at 10 a. m. and was pronounced dead eight and one-half minutes later. Governor Cherry earlier this week declined to intervene in the case Herring was convicted last November 30 of forcing Clarinette Brock, a former Negro school teacher of Mount Olive, from her home and raping her.

Early Settlement Hopes For Rail Strike Fading

Propaganda Dangers In Railroad Strike

Potential Effects Abroad Of Crisis, Exploited In Soviet Embassy Propaganda; Stress USSR Employment Advantages

Washington, May 24—(AP)—To the detriment of American prestige, the railroad strike will be felt around the world if it is prolonged many days.

Capital diplomats, already speculating over its potential effects, foresee abroad the threat of accelerated starvation, more political unrest and the probability of a new propaganda play by Russia.

The propaganda stage, in their opinion, already is set to exploit the crisis.

Only last week the Soviet embassy bulletin issued here carried an article dwelling on the subject. This asserted that while millions of workers in capitalistic nations were fearful for their jobs, Soviet workers were assured of steady employment. In the economics as well as the political field the effect of the strike abroad will be determined by its duration. Two probabilities are stressed here if the rail tie-up goes on long enough:

1. Reduction of food shipments to famine areas. Millions in Europe and Asia are now on a hand to mouth basis. The failure of the United States to make good on promised grain shipments already is forcing starvation diets abroad.
2. The effect of accelerated famine probably would be to produce more food riots, greater political instability and the conditions of unrest which American foreign policy has aimed at eliminating. And the greater the unrest, the more difficult becomes the job of U. S. armies of occupation in Germany, Italy, Austria, Japan and Korea.

White House Conference Opens With Pessimism Rife; Eisenhower Called Back From Vacation; President May Appeal To Congress For Strike Control Powers

Washington, May 24—(AP)—A presidential mediator termed prospects for settling the rail walkout "dark" today just before a top-flight White House conference on strikes started around Mr. Truman's desk.

Further, as the grip of the rail strike grew ever tighter, General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower was ordered to Washington.

President Truman's call for cabinet members and ranking labor advisors to go over "the whole strike situation" was timed for 3 p. m. (EST).

Eisenhower was told to cut short a vacation in Savannah, Ga., to attend an emergency conference also, presumably one to follow the White House gathering.

John R. Steelman, Mr. Truman's right hand man in the rail walkout sent reporters this message:

"The situation looks dark." The statement was brought out by Cmdr Joseph L. Miller, Steelman's assistant, as he left a meeting with the chiefs of the trainmen and engineers brotherhoods to confer again at 2 p. m. (EST) with representatives of the carriers.

With the country tied up by a nationwide railway walkout, President Truman today called a 3 p. m. (EST) meeting at the White House of top cabinet and labor advisers to canvass "the whole strike situation."

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, who made the announcement, described the meeting's purpose when asked whether it concerned the coal or rail crisis.

Presidential mediators worked feverishly today to bring the carriers and striking workers into an agreement for ending the paralyzing rail strike.

A growing urgency, fed by accumulating reports of impending food shortages and vast unemployment, was reflected also in two White House developments:

1. Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan told reporters after a 90-minute cabinet meeting: "We discussed strikes, nothing but strikes and we did so emphatically and intensely."

2. Senator Byrd (D-Va) said after a call on President Truman that the chief executive is considering an appeal to Congress for additional authority to prevent further nationwide strikes.

John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser, talked with leaders of the striking trainmen and engineers and then met representatives of the carriers as negotiations were formally resumed in a downtown hotel after a fruitless session at the White House yesterday.

Congress reacted still further. While the Senate debated labor disputes legislation, the House Labor Committee ordered an investigation of industrial unrest.

The Maine Corps meanwhile announced plans "to mean to active duty any reserve officers whose services may be required during the crisis." Marine veterans were told they might volunteer.

The army stayed quietly on a standby basis.

Cities anxiously inventoried food supplies, industries started to close down and multi-million dollar losses threatened in unshipped perishables. An embargo on all but first (Continued on page eight)

Winterville Officials Say Press Misinformed On Incident

Winterville officials today issued statements with reference to the story appearing in Wednesday's Reflector in which A. C. Jackson was noted as saying that the windshield of his truck had been broken in Winterville, because the windshield bore a "Humber for Congress" sticker. In relating the matter to the newspaper Jackson stated that he was offering $25 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who committed the act.

The following letter from Mayor W. L. Hunsucker of Winterville, was received by The Reflector today:

"With reference to the petty act of vandalism in the town of Winterville Tuesday afternoon that appeared in the Reflector, I wish to state that Mr. A. C. Jackson did not report the breaking of his windshield by a vandal or any other (Continued on Page 5)

Election Party Saturday Night

On Saturday night The Reflector will hold its usual election party and everybody is invited to be on hand in front of our office to get the returns from Saturday's Democratic Primary as they are received from the various precincts over our district.

For the benefit of those who cannot attend the party or who prefer to hold election parties in their homes or clubs, we have procured the facilities of Greenville Radio Station WGTC and will remain on the air until complete returns are in or until enough returns have been received to determine the nominees.

The polls will close at 6:30 p. m. and first reports from the smaller precincts should begin to come in shortly after seven o'clock. While returns will be posted in front of our office just as soon as they are received, our first broadcast will begin at eight o'clock.

For the convenience of registrars and election officials in the various precincts in making their reports to us our telephone numbers for Saturday night will be 3356 and 4209. Because of the great interest in the Congressional race the election officials are urged to have this short ticket counted first and make report to us on same without waiting for the returns on the county ticket which will take much longer to count.

The WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

There probably will be no great surprise in the world's chancelleries over the denial from the White House of the Paris newspaper report that President Truman might meet Premier Stalin in Vienna in June to sign a treaty of friendship and non-aggression.

After all such a pact couldn't add much to the bonds which already bind the two nations through their membership in the United Nations. And a two-power treaty of that nature at this critical juncture might create misgivings in the minds of other nations.

However, there still are a good many statesmen on both sides of the Atlantic who would like to see another meeting of the chiefs of state of the Big Three—President Truman, Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee. The purpose of such a parley would be to try to iron out the differences which are splitting the trio open like a wedge being driven into a log. Those differences affect the peace and well-being of every nation, big and little, in North and South America and in the eastern hemisphere.

One recalls, of course, that President Truman on March 21 stated to a press conference that he wasn't seeking another meeting of the Big Three to deal with the differences between Russia and the other United Nations. The U. N. organization, he said, is supposed to take over things formally discussed by the Big Three. This was after a three power conference had been suggested by Senator Pepper of Florida in the Senate.

Still, things have gone from bad to worse since Mr. Truman's announcement the first day of spring until the position between Russia and the two major western allies is serious. It's mighty serious. And anyway the President didn't bar consideration of another meeting of the Big Three.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, May 24—(AP)—The railroad strike has made the Railway Labor Act look like a pretty sick—if not dead—pigeon.

For 20 years enacted in 1926 and now again—that act has worked and been considered a model for settling disputes and preventing strikes.

It worked because the people who wanted it to work—the unions and the railroads—made it work.

The unions and railroads asked Congress to pass the act in 1926. It was done. From then until now there has been no strike.

Now, under pressure of the times, the model act has failed to accomplish its purpose. Two unions, engineers and trainmen, have struck, after observing the laws' requirements.

It was such a model and seemed so successful that only a few months ago President Truman asked Congress to do this:

Pass a law—patterned after the Railway Labor Act—to settle disputes and slow down strikes in the rest of industry.

Critics have accused President Truman and President Roosevelt before him of helping wreck the act by going to its rescue when it failed.

But the act is basically weak. It has no teeth, no penalties. It can't stop strikes. It can only delay them. It can't even do that if the unions wish to ignore the intentions of the act and strike anyway.

The act has one advantage: It has elaborate machinery for getting the unions and railroad companies together. If they wish to get together, and in that way perhaps make it easier to reach a settlement.

To work at all, though, the law depends upon the voluntary cooperation of the unions and the railroads. If they don't cooperate bang goes the law.

DEACON GOURLEY THANKS RETONGA IN OWN CASE

Distress From Nervous Indigestion Soon Relieved And He Can Eat Heartily Again, Says Well-Known Church Man. Sluggish Elimination Relieved; Sleeps Restfully

"I suffered so much distress from nervous indigestion that I was going down-hill steadily, but thanks to Retonga I now eat heartily, I sleep soundly, and I get up feeling fine and ready for a hard day's work," gratefully states Mr. J. S. Gourley, respected farmer of Route 5, Greensboro, N. C., and a deacon in the Baptist Church for twenty-four years.

"I didn't have any appetite at all and I suffered almost constantly," stated Mr. Gourley. "I felt too restless to get the proper amount of sound sleep. Constipation was so stubborn that I had to take strong laxatives which left me feeling weakened for several days. My sense of well-being left me; I felt that I was going down rapidly and I did not know which way to turn for relief.

"Retonga brought me relief promptly. I relish my meals, rest well every night and arise ready for a hearty breakfast and a good day's work. Constipation is relieved. There is no comparison in the way I feel. Retonga is grand medicine."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at Bissette's Drug Store.—Adv.

How About It?

The Greenville baseball club may lose one of its best players if Vern Blackwell, heavy-hitting and fast-fielding center-fielder for the Greensies does not find a place in which to live. Blackwell and his wife have a son, Jerry, little over two years old. Their efforts to find a small furnished apartment have failed. Their baby is losing weight from lack of proper diet which cannot be found in cafes, he said. If the Blackwells do not get an apartment right away they cannot stay here, he said today.

Thus, how about helping to find a furnished apartment for one of the team's best ballplayers and keep him here?

A Statement From
Frank M. Kilpatrick Of Ayden

To The Voters of Pitt County

I hereby announce my program if nominated and elected to serve you in the House of Representatives for North Carolina.

Read This Carefully

- 1 If nominated and elected my first and utmost interest will be for the people in Pitt County.
- 2 Being a farmer myself and having devoted most of my time to farm interest, it is only natural that I am deeply interested in the welfare of the farmer. I have served as chairman on the Triple A program for my section of the county when it was in its infancy. I am for the farmer 100%.
- 3 In these days of national strife, our communities are affected considerably. It is my sincere desire to use my best efforts to cooperate with our local and state governments to improve conditions that immediately affect us.
- 4 I am a strong advocate for EDUCATION and my previous records on various boards will prove this. My policy will be to support educational projects that will benefit our children and compensate our teachers adequately. I am also for a good health program.
- 5 I am heartily in favor of protecting our wild life and the funds derived from the revenue of our hunting and fishing licenses from this county together with a supplement to be spent back in this county for protection and promoting wild life.
- 6 I am a believer in good roads, and have served on Pitt County Highway Advisory Board before the State took over the roads. I shall push the "Farm to Market" idea with all my energy. These roads are essential.
- 7 I wish to state emphatically that I am for any good legislation that might come up that will be practical and beneficial to our County and State in general.

It is with deep regret that I have been unable to see each and every one of you personally. I know you will understand my position and forgive me of any neglect, I assure you it was not done intentionally.

It is my hope and desire that you will go to the polls Saturday, May 25th and cast your vote for me.

It has been 22 years since we have had a Representative in this section.

Sincerely Yours,

Frank M. Kilpatrick

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE ANSWER OF GOOD CHEER

Some of the most searching questions people ever ask have to do with the nature of death. What is death? What happens to personalities after the physical functions cease and the thing which we call life becomes extinct?

As long back as human history begins, men have been speculating on the possibility of life after death.
In fact there seems to be an underlying conviction running down through the centuries that death does not end all. Can we believe that a conviction so widely held is without foundation? Bismarck once said, "This life is too sad, too incomplete, to satisfy our highest aspirations and desires. It is meant to be a struggle to enable us. Can the struggle be in vain? I think not." This statement is typical of thousands of others which wise and distinguished men have made through the ages.

What philosophy speculates upon and affirms with some qualifications, religion unequivocally declares to be true. Both in Judaism and Christianity the doctrine of the immortality of the soul stands central. "If a man die shall he live again?" The answer which comes out of the Book is Yes.

In the dark season of sorrow which follows war, people need the support and comfort of such a belief. They may cling to it with conviction. The doctrine is both spiritually and intellectually sound.

Humber's Stand . . .

another, unfounded, statement by those who wish to keep the First District in bondage to the political machine.

Mr. Humber's statement
on the subject follows:

"In our national picture one paramount issue faces us at the given moment: the status of labor unions in the life of our nation."

"Should organized labor be permitted to make contracts with management and violate them without incurring liabilities? My answer is certainly 'NO.' When labor unions make contracts, they should be required to fulfill their obligations under these contracts or pay damages for the breach of good faith. Otherwise our whole economic structure will collapse."

Let me illustrate: Suppose in the automotive industry labor agrees now by contract with management to work until July 1, 1947, for a certain number of hours per day, for so much per hour, under agreed upon conditions respecting sanitation and safety devices.
These conditions are complied with by management and the contract is signed, mutually satisfactory to both parties. Management then proceeds to make contracts with distributors for cars throughout the nation, who, in turn, contract to make delivery of cars by certain dates to individuals. A farmer is assured by the distributor that he can have a truck by a certain date
to convey his produce to market.
He plants his crop and engages his labor on such an understanding.

In the spring of 1947, labor arbitrarily strikes, violating its contract, made in good faith by both parties, obliging management to advise its distributors that no cars will be available and the distributor in turn informs the farmer that he will not get his truck. That means that labor by arbitrarily striking and violating its contract can paralyze the whole economic life of our nation. To this I am categorically opposed and will do my utmost to prevent.

A sound principle of government is this: wherever there is power there must be enforceable responsibility. Labor unions, now legally recognized, possess power;
in the interest of public security and sound government they must accept responsibility. Irresponsible power in the community is a menace to society. Fifty years ago capital exploited labor and forced labor in self-defense to organize.
Every true American today is a friend of labor, approves of labor unions to defend labor's rights, appreciates and admires the magnificient achievements of labor during the recent war, but just as capital forced labor to organize 50 years ago to protect labor's rights, the irrational leaders of labor, such as John L. Lewis, are forcing the public to protect its interests by adequate and responsible legislation. I STAND FORTHRIGHT FOR THE ENACTMENT OF SUCH LEGIS-LATION. Strikes are an economic liability and through fact-finding boards, functioning under government control can and should be prevented.

THE RIGHT OF FRANCHISE

How much do we honor our privilege of franchise? Why do we vote for a candidate? Because his father and our grandfather were friends?
Because he is a distant cousin? Because he is already in office? Because we liked his predecessor? Because we liked and do like his secretary? Because our employer requests us to vote thus or else? Because a friend offers a drink or cigar? Because we're invited to a barbecue dinner? Because a certain amount of money is offered?
Or do we, or should we vote for the candidate whom we personally have decided will be better fill the office?

If our government is a true democracy—of, for, and by the people—
we should consider our rights far more seriously than to allow our vote to be "bought" at any price
or for such a low consideration.
The operator of one store in a small village of our county was heard to say this: "I wish this man would put out some money
here. I know the other side has done so." The hearer replied that "this man" was not seeking his office upon the foundation of "putting out money."

Several well-to-do business men and farmers in one section of the county are quoted as saying: "We've been stuck in the mud too many years to want to lose a paved road on the eve of its construction." We didn't know that any congressman was financing road construction for engineering same. Hasn't Governor Cherry backed such projects all the way through? Fellow citizens we do not have to sign the ballot—vote for whom you sincerely feel deserves the place. If any man after the elections takes any definite steps against any district or township in particular because that township voted as it did then this person in the minds of truly democratic people must not be worthy of his place.

"When a man has been in foreign countries for so many years we don't know but that he is too sympathetic with foreigners in their ideas." This quotation has also been heard as a reason for not supporting a man from our own county.
Perhaps a person of such experience
and knowledge of foreign countries in our higher government circles is a necessity that has previously been lacking in order for certain grave negotiations to be more effective internationally.

one should vote for a candidate be-

Kiwanis Dixieland Minstrel!

Last night as I was leaving the Austin building, East Carolina Teachers College, at the conclusion of Ed Bloom's Kiwanis Dixieland Minstrel a well known Greenville business man touched me on the shoulder and asked, "What do you think of W. Ed?" and I replied:
"Why go to New York when you can see a Broadway production in Greenville? It was one of the best shows I have ever seen. Not the slightest tinking of 'local talent' to it. It ran from start to finish, without a hitch, perfect timing. Every performer possessed professional artistry. It contained comedy, ballads and scenic numbers to appeal to every taste. The scenery was beautifully executed, the orchestra splendid, the lighting effects perfect. I am glad it has become an annual entertainment institution. It gives those of us who live in Green-vile something to look forward to each year, like kids look forward to Christmas." — Edw. W. Hearne.

BAR BUSINESS

Chicago, May 24 — (AP)— Mrs.
Evelyn Degel, 24, a tavern owner,
was granted a divorce by Circuit Judge Elmer J. Schnackenberg, after complaining that her husband,
Florida, 27, wouldn't stop drinking.
She told the court that her hus-

And she also said by an out of court settlement, her husband got

Many young men are looking into the wide variety of opportunities offered by a career in the Marine Corps, and never in the long history of this world famous organization have opportunities for training and education been better.
There are a lot of young men, too,
who would like to join the Marine Corps for the training, comradeship, travel and immediate pay that it offers but who plan to return to civilian life after a number of years. Right now is a particularly good time for this large group to look into what the Corps offers,
especially to young men of 17 and 18.
The new plan of short term enlistments

has a lot to offer right now, when conditions in civil life are unsettled.
These short term enlistments offer you two things right away. First, they offer
the immediate advantages of good pay,
good food, healthy and interesting living, and a chance to learn a useful and profitable trade. Second, they offer you a chance to settle in your own mind whether or not you want to make the Marine Corps a permanent career, as many young men do. You do not need to interrupt your education, for the Marine Corps Institute offers you the chance to complete your High School courses and to qualify for College credits while serving the United States.

Clubs Starting Drive For Cloth

The General Federation of Women's Clubs of the United States are building a "marathon mound" of cloth for 30,000 needy children of Greece, in response to a call from Mrs. J. A. Feil Dickinson, General Federation president.

North Carolina clubwomen are asked to bring their contributions to the state convention in Greensboro on May 29th. All Greenville clubwomen and friends who would like to give new cloth have been asked to bring their material to Mrs. Vance Perkins or Mrs. W. H. Woodard by May 28th. Materials and desired measurements are as follows: from one to five yards of cloth, 30 inch dress material, 35 inch flannel, 35 inch unbleached muslin or 54 inch woolen material.

The purpose of giving cloth rather than clothing in this particular drive was explained as a means of shipping all new material in a form in which it could be compactly handled, and especially to give occupation to the Greek women in the making of clothes. These women for the most part deprived of their homes, possessions, and therefore, chief occupations, during the five years of war and devastation would be raised to a healthier emotional level by the work of sewing with their own hands, cloth from American women for the ragged children of Greece.

Sales Training Program Success

The sales training program sponsored by the Greenville Merchants Association and the local city schools will come to a close tonight. The program which has been conducted for the past month is a part of the State Distributive Education Service.

Approximately 160 have attended the classes, representing 15 local stores and firms. The various training groups were composed of managers, assistant managers, buyers, department heads and salespeople. Two courses were offered, one on an executive level for people in a supervisory capacity, which dealt primarily with personnel relations and supervisory problems; the other on a sales level designed for those in a sales capacity. Both series have been very favorably received.

W. G. Slattery of the State Distributive Education Service was instructor for the institute. The series will end with the awarding of the certificates to those satisfactorily completing the courses by J. H. Rose, city superintendent of schools, at an informal group meeting on Friday evening, May 24, at the Third Street School at 8 o'clock.

Mary Blane Justus, Mary Bookmaster and Dorothy Maynard, students at East Carolina Teachers College, will render a musical program in connection with the meeting. T. Carl Brown, state supervisor of Distributive Education, of Raleigh, will be in attendance.

person, to the police department of the Town of Winterville.

"After seeing the incident in the paper and investigation has been made, I find the following facts:

"1. The truck was not on Main street but was parked on Academy street in front of the home of Mrs. Willie Beddard.

"2. Mrs. A. C. Jackson attended the Home Demonstration Club meeting at the home of Mrs. Beddard and the truck was parked in front of her home. If the windshield was broken, it is my opinion it was broken by children playing ball in the street; however, I am not sure it was broken because Mr. Jackson did not report it to the police as he should have done; he being quite familiar with law enforcement.

"3. The people of Winterville would not stoop so low as to vent their anger or try to damage any one or their property for any political candidate. I would appreciate Mr. Jackson's cooperation.

"L. B. Hill, member of the Winterville Board of Aldermen today stated that yesterday he and Chief of Police Jim Buck visited Mr. Jackson to investigate the matter. They said they found one crack in

Mr. Jackson's windshield and that Mr. Jackson stated that when he reported the matter to the newspaper he did not mean to convey the idea that the windshield was broken out.

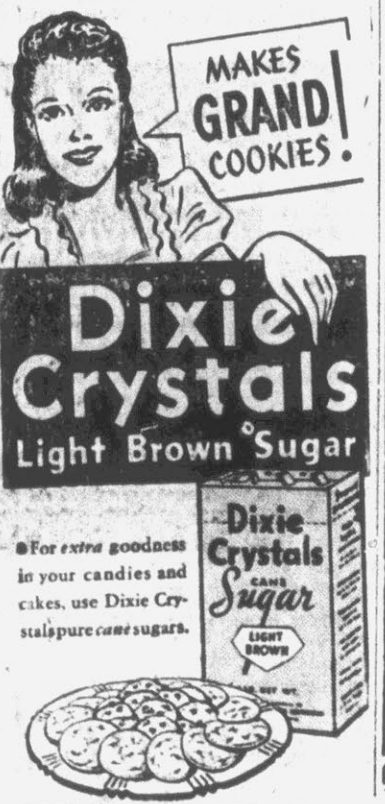

Mr. Hill said that had Mr. Jackson felt that vandalism was involved he should have taken the matter up directly and immediately with the Winterville police department, where it would have been given prompt official attention.

"It's just politics, and we don't play politics that way," Mr. Hill declared.

Grasping For Straws

(The Following Editorial Appeared in Today's Issue of the Washington Daily News.)

Early this week a political advertisement, sponsored by friends of Robert Lee Humber, appeared in the Washington, Daily News. Another appeared Thursday, sponsored by the same people. Tuesday's advertisement called Herbert Bonner a liar and in the next paragraph said that Humber was a Christian Gentleman who was above mud slinging. The Thursday advertisement would leave the impression that Bonner voted for $2.00 a pound butter, $1.50 a pound roast beef, sugar at 50 cents a pound; shoes at $45.00 a pair, etc., by voting for the destruction of the O. P. A.

Judge for yourself in the light of the following facts, who is slinging the mud:

The Congressional Record will show that Herbert Bonner voted for OPA and for its retention. During the passage of the bill, 46 restrictions were proposed on OPA. Bonner voted for six. These six and one other were approved by the House of Representatives by a substantial majority. The only North Carolina Congressman who opposed all these restrictions was Representative Folger. Both North Carolina Senators are on record in favor of Bonner's stand. The overwhelming majority of Southern Congressmen are in accord with his position.

What are the amendments to OPA that Herbert Bonner supported? First he voted against any ceiling on farm products that did not take into account the farmer's cost of production. Does Mr. Humber dare say that this vote was wrong? Second, Mr. Bonner voted for an amendment based on the recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture that would put a fair price on meat to take it off the Black Market. Would Mr. Humber not have voted this way? Third, Mr. Bonner voted for a restriction that would have forbidden OPA to put a ceiling on manufactured products less than the cost of production. If Mr. Humber is against this, why did he not explain his position to the thousands of people in this district who are interested in ground saw mills and similar enterprises? Also, why did he not tell it to the thousands of men here who have been trying to buy a white shirt for the last year? The other three amendments were designed to improve OPA administration. Does Mr. Humber think the OPA is perfect? If so, why does he not tell the voters of his position.

If Mr. Humber really believes that the OPA needs no restriction or modification then he is in good company. Some of his fellow travelers are the CIO's Political Action Committee, The United Mine Workers and the Socialist and Communist Parties, all of whom not only don't want to amend the OPA at all but want to fasten it on us forever.

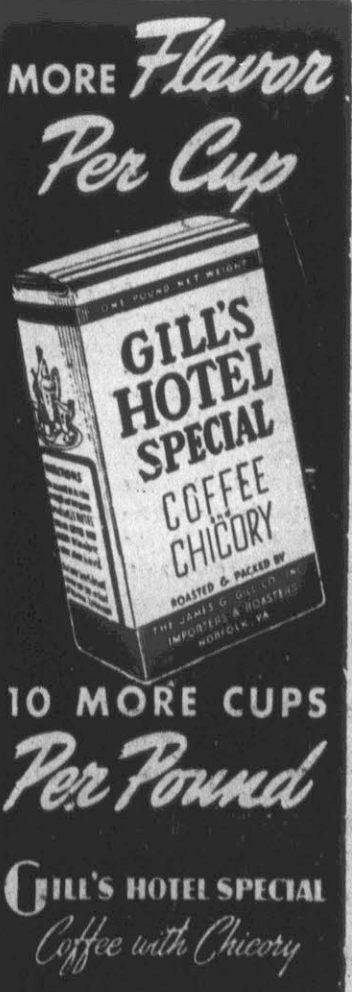

It is not too late for the candidate to tell the people of the First District of his stand on the vital issues of the day, the OPA, legislation for control of strikes, incorporation of Unions and many other matters of importance. He has spent his speaking time so far on World Organization and generalities, while his paid political advertisements have in the same paragraph called him a Christian Gentleman and his opponent a liar.

To this type of campaign the 1st District will answer with a rousing vote of confidence in Herbert C. Bonner.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 24—(AP)—Buying of carrier stocks helped rally most sections of the market today after an early light sell-off blamed mainly on bearishness over the railway strike.

The feeling that a break was at hand in the transportation and coal crisis inspired reinstatement of commitments in many cases. Belief that a quick rate boost would be granted the railroads to offset rising wages and other costs also brought bids for this group. Dividends, with scattered exceptions, still were pleasingly marketable. Numerous customers, however, stood aside to await labor news.

Transfers were in the neighborhood of 1,200,000 shares for the full proceedings.

Baseball

Goldsboro, May 23—Manager Bill Herring got his third win of the season here tonight as the Goldsboro Bugs turned in a 3-1 win over Greenville. Herring has lost one.

Two runs in the first inning gave the locals the margin of victory. With two out, Schroeder walked. He took third when Kukulka singled, and scored when Catcher Narmon dropped the relay. Kukulka went to third on the throw in and the error. Hallow was hit by a pitched ball, and then Kukulka stole home and Hallow stole second.

By the Associated Press
Baseball followers were envisioning today another down-to-the-wire neck and neck pennant race between the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals, such as the two top National League contenders staged in the hectic 1941 and '42 seasons.

For the third consecutive day.

To go forward and prosper or to remain in bondage and take your orders from a political machine. Tomorrow, Saturday, May 25th, you will go to the polls and cast your vote which will determine your future for a long time. We hope you will join the MAJORITY of our voters and nominate your candidate for Congress, ROBERT LEE HUMBER, because he alone, if nominated and elected, can give you the opportunity to forge ahead and share in the better things of life you are entitled to.

You have tried a Congressman from another County and the same County for 48 consecutive years and what have you gained? NOTHING. The reason why is simple, they have bigger fish to cater to, they must look out first for their machine, and hand out to you on each election year a stomach full of barbecue and a drink of liquor and then go off and brag about how they won the Pitt County vote by "buying off" thousands of our citizens. WAKE UP MR. PITT COUNTIAN! STICK TO YOUR HOME CANDIDATE, who will help you to prosper and live like a human being.

Heavy Voting . . .

Chatham accusing Folger of being too zealous a new dealer and with Folger replying that Chatham in the past has supported Republican candidates and policies.

Political observers seem to agree that the margin between Chatham and Folger will be close, and it is distinctly possible that Harris will get enough votes to make a second primary necessary.

When the campaign in the Sixth got underway, there were some who predicted that Durham would be renominated in the first primary by an overwhelming margin. However, political observers say that Rives has picked up strength lately, particularly in his home town of Greensboro and that Scarborough would roll up a substantial farmer and labor vote. The developments may make a second primary necessary in the Sixth.

In the First District Herbert C. Boner of Washington is opposed by Robert Lee Humber, Greenville attorney; the Second District race is between Rep. John H. Kerr of Warrenton and Archie Gay of Jackson; W. S. Britt of Lumberton is running against Rep. J. Bayard Clark of Fayetteville in the Seventh; W. E. Horner of Sanford, Giles Newton of Gibson and C. B. Deane of Rockingham are running in the Eighth; Hamilton C. Jones and Manley R. Dunaway, both of Charlotte, are seeking the nomination in the 10th, and Rep. Zebulun

Weaver of Weaverville and Monroe M. Redden of Hendersonville are the candidates in the 12th District.

Early Settlement . . .

Class and all mail went into effect in many places and a mandatory nation-wide brownout was weighed as a fuel-saving measure.

To meet the worst transportation crisis in the country's history, the government mobilized all available airplanes, trucks and boats to move such top priority essentials as food, medicines and other vital supplies.

The length of the emergency was unpredictable. Some cautious hope centered on the renewal of settlement discussions today between the carriers and the leaders of the 250,000 striking engineers and trainmen, but the last word was "No progress."

Germ Spray . . .

clared. "It is a germ proposition and is sprayed from airplanes that can fly high enough while doing it to be reasonably safe from ground fire. It is quick and certain death."

While not familiar with minute details, he said the germs are highly contagious and presumably could be spread by bombs.

"You would not have to drop a germ on every person in a city," he asserted. "One operation would be sufficient, for the effects would spread rapidly."

Another development, this committee member related, would make it possible for planes to fly over the Dakotas, for example, and destroy the entire wheat crop with a single operation, even the seeds in the ground.

The Nation . . .

Here's how the law is supposed to work and how it failed:

When a union and a railroad can not settle a dispute between themselves, they can, if they wish, go to the government's railway mediation board. Although they don't have to go to this board, they always have. This board makes no decisions. It just tries to get both sides to reach a settlement.

If this fails, the mediation board asks both sides to submit their case to a specially-appointed arbitration board. Again they don't have to. But, if they do, they agree to accept the board's decision.

When either side refuses arbitration, the President jumps in and appoints a special fact-finding board. This board reports to him what it considers a fair solution.

Neither side has to accept the fact-finders' report but, once the board is appointed, a strike is delayed 60 days. Unions don't have to delay the strike but they always have done so.

If the unions are dissatisfied with the fact-finders' solution, they just go ahead with their strike when the 60-day delay is up. And that's as far as the machinery of the Railway Labor Act goes.

(The unions striking now, the engineers and trainmen, refused arbitration, delayed their strike 60 days when the fact-finders were appointed, disliked the fact-finders' report, and called their strike.)

But in spite of all the machinery, the Railway Labor Act broke down in 1943 and again now.

In 1943, when the fact-finders' report left the unions—their wage demands unsatisfied—ready to strike in the midst of war, President Roosevelt went over the heads of his own fact-finders and gave the unions a raise they accepted.

Now in the present case President Truman went over the heads of his fact-finders and made the unions turn down the President too.

Critics of Mr. Truman and Mr. Roosevelt, for stepping into the picture, argue this way:

The Railway Labor Act machinery has been established. If the unions didn't think they'd get a better break from the Presidents than from the fact-finders, they would have accepted the fact-finders' report and stayed on the job.

But there's another side to that: By refusing to accept the fact-finders' report and calling a strike, the unions showed the basic weakness of the law which, after all, can't compel them to accept.

Several months ago Mr. Truman asked Congress to pass this kind of law:

When there was a dispute between union and management, the government would set up a fact-finding board.

For 30 days, while the board worked, the union couldn't strike. At the same time the board could examine the company's books.

The Movies Today

Put—"THE HOODLUM SAINT," Wm. Powell, Esther Williams.

State—"UNDER ARIZONA SKIES," Johnny Mack Brown.

Businessmen objected to this because they don't want fact-finders rooting through their books. Unions objected because they want no restriction on their freedom to strike. Mr. Truman's proposal was buried in Congress.

member.

The Moscow broadcast was not addressed specifically to the council. However, since Soviet custom is to use the radio for important announcements and let the matter rest there, it was considered probable the broadcast would constitute the only word Russia would have on the evacuation.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko has consistently boycotted all Iranian matters in the council since the council refused a month ago to drop the entire matter on Gromyko's claim that an agreement had been reached between Iran and Russia.

The council had requested a report by May 6 on whether the Red army withdrawal had been completed. The Moscow broadcast last night constituted the first word from Russia on the subject since the council's deadline was passed.

The May 9 date mentioned in the broadcast, as record by both the Associated Press and the official Soviet monitor in London, was three days after the deadline.

Mail Embargo . . .

ation of 16 ounces is placed on first class (letter) mail and air mail.

Local mail and mail normally carried by interurban electric railways and other non-railroad carriers is excepted.

The vast bulk of the 10,750 tons of non-local mail which are moved daily will be halted while the order is in effect. Non-local letter mail and air mail have an average daily weight of only 779 tons.

"The Postoffice Department recognizes fully the serious consequences of the limitation," Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan declared in a statement. "We've taken this action in conformity with the direction of the Office of Defense Transportation, which by authority of the President is coordinating the nation's transportation."

"The drastic curtailment of service makes possible the movement of a minimum volume of priority items. We shall use such rail facilities as continue to be available, and planes, motor vehicles, interurban electric lines and power boats."

"Field officials of the postal service are authorized to contract without bidding for transportation of the mails where necessary and available."

"This imperils legally the liberty of individual members of the union. Until further clarification, there will be no meeting of the National Policy Committee, Lewis."

Secretary of Interior Krug, federal boss of the government-seized mines, met coal operators early in the morning, presumably to present the contract terms the government proposed to John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

Krug left before the conference ended in order to attend a Cabinet meeting at the White House. The mine owners continued their discussion with Krug's deputy, Vice Admiral Ben Morrell.

In the operators group were Charles O'Neill, head of the Appalachian operators; E. R. Burke, leader of Southern operators; Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the bitu-
