GOV. CHERRY MAKES SPEECH IN OKLAHOMA

Addresses National Convention Of Governors On Future Of Farmers

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 28.—(AP)—In a speech before the national governors' conference, Governor E. Gregg Cherry of North Carolina asserted today that the nation's farmers "could not be blamed in joining hands and using the weapons of current pressure groups" if strife between capital and labor result in worsening the economic position of the farmer.

The governor said that the American farmer liked to think of himself as the base of a triangle that includes capital and labor as its sides, and "they believe that the 'good earth' is the basis of all real wealth in this country."

Statistics back them up in their belief, that when the farmers are prosperous, there are no lay-offs in the factories or mines x x x that if a national economy of $140,000,000,000 is desired then the base of the triangle should not be less than $30,000,000,000.

"They look with alarm" at the current battle for position going on between labor and management, and fear that sooner or later these two sides of the economic triangle will join hands to lessen the income at the base of the triangle," he asserted.

The governor concluded his address with these predictions:

- 1. That for many years to come the United States will be called upon to furnish considerable food to the famine countries of the world.
2. That we will make greater progress in winning converts to Democracy with bread than with the sword, and at much less expense.
3. That the farmers of America will develop a greater yield per acre at the least cost of production, for all crops, that has even been known in the history of the nation.
4. That research will restore king cotton to his throne by 1950.
5. That the per capita consumption of farm products in 1948 will be the greatest in the history of the nation.
6. That if strikes and slow-downs continue in the urban areas, large industrial plants will appear in well-selected rural centers, resulting in a better-balanced economy for all.
7. If organized labor is allowed to continue its present tactics, resulting in spiraling prices and stagflation in the country, or if industry is able to push down the farm prices below parity, the farmers of the nation x x x will unite in electing a Congress that will restore confidence in the government.
8. However, if all goes well, and agriculture, industry and labor cooperate with mutual understanding, we can look upon 1946 as the year which opened the postwar era to the greatest period of progress and prosperity yet experienced by this wonderful people.

Spain Defends Right To Atomic Research

Madrid, May 28.—(AP)—The Spanish Foreign Ministry said today that Spain had a "perfect right" to investigate atomic energy and "cannot recognize the competence of the United Nations in matters affecting Spain."

The ministry distributed a 700-word statement described as a "report of statements made this morning by a foreign ministry spokesman."

The statement said the Spanish position was made clear in notes drafted to foreign missions here May 22. It continued: "Although the Spanish government, like all other countries, has a perfect right to provide itself with adequate means for national defense, including investigations of atomic energy, diplomatic missions accredited in Madrid have proof of the falsity of statements that such investigations are being made."

Administration-Labor Lines Appear Breaking

GOP Leaders Grasp At Chance To Strengthen Lines; Wallace And Pepper Hinted New Labor Standard-Bearers

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—The big unions, boiling with political wrath for President Truman, dropped some oblique hints today that they might switch to another standard bearer, with Henry A. Wallace and Claude Pepper heading the list of acceptables.

Capitol Hill politicians agreed the Secretary of Commerce and Senator Pepper (D-Ma.) are the likeliest beneficiaries in any such shift of allegiance, but they wanted more concrete evidence that one might be in the making.

The general opinion appeared to be that it is too early to tell whether the administration's handling of the strike emergency has ended the 13-year-old labor-Democratic coalition.

However, the way Republicans appeared to be seizing on the situation provided Democrats food for thought.

Lawmakers noted that both former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) were among the first to join with the unions in urging Congress to go slow in empowering the President to draft workers striking against the government. Stassen, a possible contender for GOP presidential nomination in 1948, labeled the proposal "totalitarian."

While political speculation mounted, three of the nation's most powerful labor organizations kept up a heavy drumfire of criticism on the program Mr. Truman proposed Saturday for coping with strikes in vital industries during the reconstruction period.

CIO President Philip Murray was among the latest to blast at Mr. Truman's proposals. "In a moment of wild hysteria an attempt is being made to stampede through Congress legislation which has as its sole aim the destruction of the labor movement of this nation."

He lashed out not only at Mr. Truman's emergency strike-control program but also at the Senate version of the House-approved Case bill.

Murray's broadside was considered as rough treatment as the CIO chief ever gave any administration-sponsored proposal, but AFL President William Green was equally vehement, denouncing the bill as advocating "slave labor under Fascism."

As the two big unions hit out at Mr. Truman's proposals, the CIO United Auto Workers wired Murray urging he take "immediate steps" for "joint action by all organized labor" to defeat the program.

New Weapons To Be Cloaked In Secrecy

Lawmakers To Push Army Funds For Further Research; Emphatically Turn Down Suggestion Public Be Informed

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—House appropriations committee members shouted an emphatic "No" today to suggestions that the public be told more about major new secret weapons.

Referring particularly to the reported development of biological or germ warfare and "atomic poison gas" weapons, these members disclosed privately at the same time that they are considering boosting army funds for further scientific research.

The suggestion that the public be given more information about the new weapons came from W. A. Higginbotham, chairman of the Federation of Atomic Scientists, in a speech here last night.

Higginbotham asserted there are "at least two major secret weapons in existence x x x potentially as dangerous to mankind" as the atomic bomb and that scientists believe "the public has a right" to know more about them.

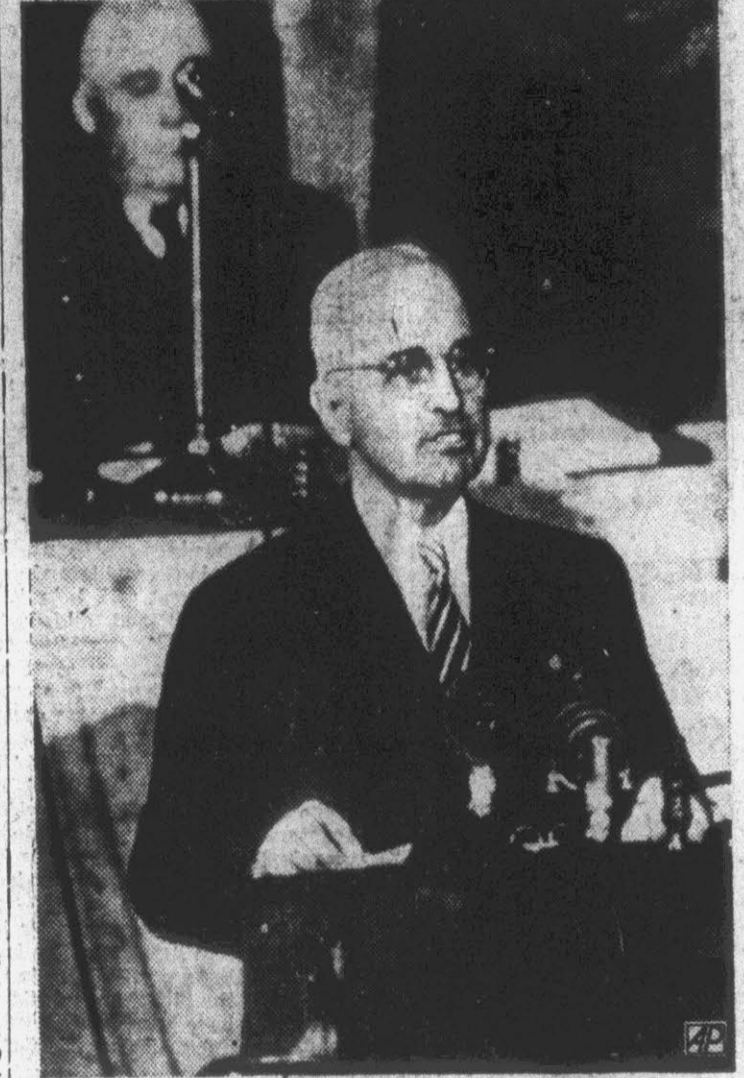

"If it were simply a matter of letting the American people know about this, it would be an easy thing," one appropriations committee member said. "But you can't make these secrets public to the American people without letting the whole world know about them."

"It is up to us to safeguard America," another member said. "The more powerful a secret weapon is, the more closely the secret should be guarded. You can not tell just the American people without telling the whole world."

While neither member would discuss the biological and atomic poison gas weapons mentioned by Higginbotham, both said they did not doubt their existence.

The committee is considering the War Department budget for 1947. On the basis of disclosures already made, members said, the department will be given most of the $400,000,000 it has requested for scientific research, mainly in the field of atomic energy. The budget (Continued on Page Four)

Truman Asks Right To Draft Strikers

President Truman, speaking before a joint session of Congress, asks authority to draft into the armed forces all workers on strike against the government. He also asked criminal penalties for employers and union leaders who ignore presidential back-to-work orders. Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) is behind him. (AP Wirephoto).

BALLOT BOXES ARE TAKEN UP

"Irregularities" Are Charged In Three Surry Precincts

Dobson, N. C., May 28.—(AP)—A cross fire of charges concerning alleged irregularities in Surry's primary vote in the Fifth Congressional contest this morning resulted in the impounding of ballot boxes from three precincts—Dobson, Elkin and Bryan.

This action was taken by the Surry County Board of Elections, meeting to make an official canvass of the returns, after protests had been filed by J. Milton Cooper Elkin, representing Thurmond Chatham, high man in the district congressional contest, and by John H. Folger, Mount Airy, incumbent who personally appeared before the board.

The unofficial returns from Surry County gave Folger a majority for the county.

Mr. Cooper, appearing for Mr. Chatham, protested the returns from the Dobson precinct, while Mr. Folger demanded official investigation of the vote in Elkin and Bryan precincts.

These were followed by protests from two legislative candidates concerning the county ballots in these three precincts, and the county ballot boxes from these places were ordered impounded also. H. C. Dobson challenged the returns from Dobson precinct and George Snow challenged returns from Elkin and Bryan.

In view of the lengthy check to be made of the impounded boxes Arthur P. Pulp, Pilot Mountain announced that the board would be reconvened at 10 a. m. Wednesday to make the official canvass for the county.

Winston-Salem, May 8.—(AP)—Thurmond Chatham today appeared to have lost 68 votes and John H. Folger appeared to have gained 23 votes in Forsyth county as the Board of Elections started its canvass. (Continued on Page Six)

War-Time Progress In Psychiatric Fields By Army, Said Broken Down

Chicago, May 28.—(AP)—Neuro-psychiatric disorders have hospitalized approximately 650,000 World War II soldiers up to the first of this year—some of them more than once—but many will return to duty the American Psychiatric Association was told today.

Brig. Gen. William C. Menninger, the Army's Chief of Psychiatry, related this in a paper prepared for delivery before the association's 102nd meeting.

He said also that 500,000 men were discharged from the army for "personality disturbances" of all types; and that approximately 1,875,000 men were rejected for military service for the same reasons.

Without giving specific figures, he said that the army's wartime psychiatric program was well advanced, 60 percent of combat psychiatric casualties were returned to duty within a few days after treatment in forward areas.

Hospitals further back salvaged an additional 30 percent for non-combat duty in war areas, he said, adding that between 15 and 25 percent of the most resistant cases sent back to this country were later re-

HEMISPHERIC UNITY GAINS NEW SUPPORT

Nimitz And Eisenhower Add Voices to Plea For Military Cooperation

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower urged Congress today to authorize transfer of arms and war goods to other nations of the Western Hemisphere.

Nimitz said that should there be another war, the transfer legislation would permit organization of the western republics as one hemispheric force.

The operating heads of the navy and army testified before the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House on a bill providing for a broad program of military cooperation with other American countries.

It would authorize the President to make agreements with other American states to provide:

- 1. For the transfer to such countries of arms, ammunition and implements of war;
2. For the maintenance, repair and rehabilitation of military or naval equipment in possession of such countries;
3. For the instruction and training of military or naval personnel of such countries.

Nimitz emphasized that no attempt would be made to accomplish any overall increase in armaments strength of the Western Hemisphere.

He also said the U. S. plans no greater relative strength for any American nation than it has had previously.

Nimitz added: "We propose to assist the other American countries to give each of them a small balanced navy sufficient to protect its own waters."

"We also plan to train their men so that in the event of a future war the United States will be relieved of sole responsibility (Continued on Page Six)

Deputy Administration Leader Predicts Settlement "Within Next 48 Hours"; Union Attorneys Called In To Work On Legal Points Of Discussed Proposals; Mines Idle, Coal Supplies Shrink Toward Danger Point

CARTER GLASS

DEATH TAKES AGED SENATOR

Oldest Member Of Senate Leaves Long Record Of Public Service

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, long-time member of Congress and chairman of the Federal Reserve system, died today of congestive heart failure.

The oldest member of the Senate, he was 88 last Jan. 4.

Death came in his apartment at the Mayflower Hotel, where he lived with his second wife, Mary.

Glass had been ill that he was unable to appear in the Senate since June, 1942. Because of this a Virginia Republican sought unsuccessfully last year to have his seat (Continued on Page Six)

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—Senator Hill (D-Ala.), deputy administration leader, today predicted an end of the coal strike within the next 48 hours.

Hill told a reporter he had talked with "parties on both sides" and that he understood all "are in agreement on principles for settlement."

"I feel confident," Hill said, "that unless something very unforeseen occurs, the coal strike will be settled and announcement of the settlement made within the next 48 hours."

Hill made his statement shortly after a conference between John L. Lewis and Secretary of Interior Clegg looking toward a strike settlement was postponed for more than three hours because neither side "was ready for the next move in the negotiations."

The meeting between Krug and Lewis was moved from 11 a. m. (EST) to 2:15 p. m.

All signs pointed to an early agreement as the two ended a conference last night.

Encouraging evidence was the fact that union attorneys were called in to work on the legal points of proposals under discussion—something that rarely happens unless the rough draft of a contract has been blocked out.

However, the mines still stood idle despite the government's appeal for the men to return to work, and the nation's coal supply shrank hourly toward the danger point.

Meanwhile, speculation was rife over possible contract terms. Reports on wages ranged upward from 141-2 cents an hour more.

However, government labor and economic advisers are quick to say privately they think any increase of more than 181-2 cents an hour would collide with the wage-price policy.

They also doubt that Lewis would take any less—since his one-time friend but now arch-rival, Philip Murray, gained that much for the striking CIO-Steelworkers and the CIO-Auto Workers.

Other contract provisions reported under consideration yesterday, although not necessarily to be em- (Continued on Page Six)

HIROSHIMA TO BE RE-BUILT

Scientifically Planned City Dedicated To World Amity

Hiroshima, May 28.—(AP)—Grass and houses are sprouting again in this atom-bombed town which has begun a five-year plan for the construction of a city dedicated to international amity.

Spurred by the advice of a young American—Lt. John D. Montgomery of Kalamazoo, Mich.—Hiroshima municipal and prefectural authorities already have drawn up plans for a 70,000,000 yen ($466,667) new city. It would be one of the most scientifically planned in the Orient.

The new Hiroshima will cluster around the skeletal dome of the former Museum of Industrial Art. The skeleton building, almost in the exact center of the first atomic blast, will be preserved as a ghostly monument to the explosion.

Hiroshima today is a teeming community, neater and more alert looking through the ruins has given and better fed than Tokyo. Grass (Continued on Page Four)

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—Smaller loaves of bread become a must Saturday.

Beginning that day bakers must turn out bread and rolls weighing 10 per cent less under a reinforced government drive to aid famine areas abroad and to spread short supplies at home.

The Agriculture Department issued its order as the International Food Conference urged the whole world to turn to darker bread than Americans now are eating and to stretch wheat flour by gluing it with other grain products and potato flour.

The conference, concluding a week's study of world food problems, asked specifically last night that all countries adopt a wheat extraction rate of at least 85 per cent. Under the conservation order inaugurated in this country last March, the rate was increased from the normal 72 per cent to 80 per cent. Some European countries require as high as 90 per cent extraction. This results in much darker flour.

The cut in the weight of bread and rolls will not involve any price changes. In March the government gave bakers permission to trim the sizes of their bread and rolls by 10 per cent without reducing their ceiling prices. But few bakers did this because they waited to see what their competitors planned to do.

President's Bill Entangled In Long Debates; Prospect Of Coal Settlement Puts New Brake On Legislation

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—Senator Murray (D-Mont.) proposed today that labor, offer President Truman a six-month strike truce in return for a veto of the Case bill and withdrawal of strike-draft legislation.

During the truce Congress could study the whole field of worker-management relations, said Murray, who is chairman of the Senate Labor Committee. He added to a reporter that several Senators friendly to unions had discussed this proposal.

The Montana Senator's suggestion came before the Senate before its second day of debate on House-passed legislation authorizing the government to take over struck facilities, providing jail terms for leaders who decline to call off walk-outs and making recalcitrant worker subject to induction into the (Continued on Page Six)

Petrillo Calls Strike By Radio Musicians

Chicago, May 28.—(AP)—James C. Petrillo called a strike of musicians at a Chicago radio station today and said he was expecting prosecution under the Lea bill.

Petrillo, president of the AFL-American Federation of Musicians as well as the Chicago Federation of Musicians, said he had called three studio librarians at radio station WAAP off their jobs because the station had refused to employ three additional librarians.

The Lea bill, adopted by Congress in April and termed by some legislators the "anti-Petrillo bill," provides for up to one year's imprisonment and $1,000 fine for any union which compels or attempts to compel broadcasters to hire more employees than they want.

The NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—A tremendous thing—an upheaval in this country's handling of labor—has been occurring here in Washington.

The roof has been caving in on labor but there's a chance it may not fall all the way down. Although Congress is in an angry mood no new law has come out yet.

At the moment most noise is being made over the President's proposal to ban strikes in vital industries—even if it means drafting strikers. But the thing which most significantly shows the mood of Congress is the Case bill.

Keep your eyes on that bill. But because all of this is such a big thing, and so jumbled, here's a step-by-step account.

Furious over the steel and auto strikes, the House months ago passed the Case bill which would impose more restrictions on labor than

Rate Increase On June 1

Because of greater production costs we find it necessary to increase subscription prices of The Reflector effective June 1. There have been several increases in the cost of paper since our subscription rates were raised to their present level several years ago. The last such increase was $7 per ton on paper and indications now are that another increase may be put into effect by July 1. In addition to the cost of paper there have been increases in labor costs and a 12 per cent increase in the OPA ceiling on all printing equipment and some supplies since January 1. Our new subscription rates effective June 1 will be: One Week 20¢ (by carrier only). Three Months $2.00. Six Months $3.75. One Year $7.00. Renewal: at the old rates will be accepted until June 1 at which time all subscriptions not paid in advance will be discontinued.

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Nothing could emphasize more forcefully the stalemate between Russia and the Western allies than Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's blunt charge that a British-American "bloc" waged an offensive against his country at the recent conference of Big Four Foreign Ministers of America, Russia, Britain and France in Paris.

Well, it makes all the difference on which side of the fence one is standing. That's the way things look from Mr. Molotov's position. Washington and London, viewing things from the other side, see an offensive all right, but to them it appears to be coming from Moscow.

Molotov's statement seems to be at least in part, an answer to U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes' announcement of policy made a week ago in Washington. That announcement, which signalled a stiffening of American foreign policy, made this point. "We (the United States) must not try to impose our will or ours, but we must make sure that others do not get the impression that they can impose their will on us." The Soviet foreign minister, having charged America and Britain with trying to impose their will on Russia, has this to say. "Certainly no self-respecting allied state will allow the will of another state to be imposed upon it. The Soviet Union is just one of such states, while it has sufficiently demonstrated its desire for coordinated actions with other countries, both in the time of war (for the sake of an allied victory) and after the war (for the sake of lasting peace and the security of nations)." Director of College News Bureau

James Whitfield of Greenville, senior student at East Carolina Teachers College, has been appointed director of the college news bureau for the summer quarter. He will begin work on June 4.

After spending four years in the army, partly in the Canal Zone and partly as a liaison representative with the Army War College in Washington, D. C., Whitfield returned to the college during the 1945-46 term to continue his education.

Before entering the army Whitfield had considerable experience in newspaper work. At one time he was news editor of the Greenville News-Leader and a correspondent in Greenville for the Raleigh News and Observer, the United Press, and papers in Norfolk, Va. He has also been publicity director for a number of community enterprises in Greenville, such as the Pitt County Chapter of the Red Cross, the Greenville Federal Art Gallery, and Christmas seal sales.

At the college he has been editor of the Teco Echo, college newspaper, and associate editor of Pieces 'O' Eight, college magazine, and has handled sports publicity at various times.

Miss Jenkins Honored at Duke

Miss Mammie E. Jenkins of the English Department of East Carolina Teachers College spent Friday and Saturday, May 24 and 25, in Durham, where she was an honor guest at commencement exercises held at Duke University.

The finals this year at Duke celebrated the 50th anniversary of the school as a coeducational institution. A member of the class of 1896 at Trinity College, now Duke University, Miss Jenkins was one of the first four women to receive degrees there on an equal footing with men.

Three of these alumnae of Duke were present at commencement exercises, all of them college professors. They are Miss Jenkins; Miss Annie Pegram of Greensboro College; and Miss Ida Carr, professor of home economics at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. With other members of their class they were honor guests at a breakfast on Saturday morning and attended many events of the graduation exercises.

Miss Jenkins, a member of the faculty at the college for the past thirty-six years, came to Greenville as one of the original faculty of the institution. She has many friends in Greenville and will be delighted to know of the honor shown her by her alma mater.

Initiated Into Phi Beta Kappa

Sixteen Juniors in the University of North Carolina were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity at ceremonies and a banquet held in Carolina Inn at Chapel Hill. Undergraduate membership is limited to students attaining an academic average of 92.5 in all their courses. Among the Juniors initiated was Warren Myers Picklen of Greenville.

Ninth Grade Pupils Graduate Tomorrow

The first part of Greenville High School's closing exercises to be held at 9:20 a. m. Wednesday May 29 in the high school auditorium will feature the ninth grade commencement program.

The exercises will consist of: Processional—high school orchestra; hymn—"Fairest Lord Jesus," invocation by Rev. A. Hartwell Campbell, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church; orchestral rendition of the "Andante" from the Surprise Symphony; a roll call of graduates by O. E. Dowd, GHS Principal; acceptance of graduates by J. H. Rose, Supt. Greenville city schools. The Junior High Chorus will then sing "Lord of Hosts." "Heavens are Telling," followed by an address by the Rev. Campbell. Announcements will be made, and then the singing of the National Anthem.

Parents and friends of the school have been invited to attend the graduation of the ninth grade pupils who are moving on to the Senior High School.

BUS LINE IS CITY ASSET

Passenger Schedules Great Convenience To Public

By CHESTER WALSH

The Hill Bus Line, recently granted a franchise by the City of Greenville, is now operating on regular schedules over stated routes, with modern and comfortable equipment, adequate insurance and courteous drivers. The buses have all necessary safety devices. They are roomy and the seats are comfortable.

F. P. Hill, who operates bus lines in South Norfolk, Va., and Ahsokie, N. C., said he is glad he came to Greenville. "The people are fine, the businessmen are progressive, and this college town is going to grow rapidly," he said this morning.

"We are arranging our schedules to provide the most convenience and safety for the public. We appreciate suggestions for improving the service. Patronage of our buses here has been gratifying. We want to stay in Greenville and grow with the city and will help it to grow," Hill said, and added: "If the people patronize our buses and make it profitable for us, we will continue to give Greenville as good passenger bus transportation as may be found anywhere."

Mayor Jack Boyd said today. "We are delighted to have the Hill Bus Line in Greenville. It is providing convenient schedules and rendering a valuable service to our people. We hope to see the passenger business grow and prosper."

H. I. Mulder is manager for the line in Greenville. His office is at the Atlantic Service Station, in the rear of the telephone building. Schedules have been printed in the Reflector and are being distributed as handbills.

Social Security

When an insured worker dies leaving no one immediately eligible for monthly benefits, a lump-sum death benefit is payable. If a widow or widower survives, the lump-sum payment is made to her or to him. If no widow or widower is living, the payment is made to the worker's children. If no widow, widower or child is living, the lump-sum payment is made to the parent or parents.

When there are no near relatives (of the classes listed above) payments may be made to the person or persons who have paid the funeral expenses.

An insured worker's widow, under 65, who has no minor children in her care will receive a lump-sum; and then when she reaches age 65, she will also get monthly payments. The dependent parent who is under 65 at the time of his son's or daughter's death will receive the lump-sum—if eligible for benefits—and then upon reaching 65 will also get monthly payments.

Like all other types of payments, the amount of the lump sum depends upon the amount of the worker's earnings and the length of time he has worked. Most of these lump-sum payments range between $85 and $350.

Social Security benefits are not paid automatically. A claim must first be filed at a field office of the Social Security Board. In order to receive payment, the claim for a lump-sum benefit must be filed within two years after the worker's death.

When an insured worker dies leaving no one immediately eligible for monthly benefits, a lump-sum death benefit is payable. If a widow or widower survives, the lump-sum payment is made to her or to him. If no widow or widower is living, the payment is made to the worker's children. If no widow, widower or child is living, the lump-sum payment is made to the parent or parents.

the men, mingled with the dark habits of the women, a gay kaleidoscope of color against the white stables.
 The thrill of the morning caught Whitney as one of the stable boys mounted her on the rangy looking roan Spuds he had set aside for her. The horses were dancing with eagerness for their run over the fields. The Count came riding up to Whitney. His big bay mare came quietly up beside her nervous, excited horse.
 "Hi, Handsome!" he called out, touching his cap with the handle of his riding crop. "Never saw you looking better. That horse of yours looks as if he's going to be all tired out before he gets started. Where's Gréy Goose?"
 "Wrenched a tendon yesterday."

AGA KAHN AT HOSPITAL—As part of his diamond jubilee celebration, the Aga Khan (in pith helmet) paid a visit to Parsee general hospital, Bombay. Seated behind him are his French wife, her highness the Begum, and his son, Prince Sadruddin, 13.

This critter's all right—just rarin' to go.

She quieted the horse and was just turning him toward the gate at the end of the paddock when Paul came up to her, holding his horse with a long, loose rein.

"Great hunting weather, Whitney. Oh, hello, Count. How are you?" "Fine—and you?" "Never better."

"Welcome home." Gravelly the two men shook hands. "I see you're riding with my girl this morning," Paul smiled at the older man. "Take good care of her. I think that roan hasn't too much sense—or maybe it's experience he needs."

"Experience always helps in the long run," the Count replied quickly, looking over at Whitney, who was watching the two men with a half smile on her face. "Takes off the rough edges. Whitney and I have ridden a lot together during the past two months. She's an excellent horse-woman."

Whitney flushed with pleasure. Paul was standing with his hand on her horse's neck. He was watching the Count with appraising eyes. "She certainly is," he agreed quickly. "I've ridden with her for the past ten years. I should know. Listen, dear," he turned abruptly to the girl and lowered his voice so that she had to bend down to hear what he was saying.

"I can't stay for the Hunt or for breakfast afterwards. I just rode over to see you start. But I want to see you before dinner this evening. I'll be over about seven-thirty. Where will I find you?"

The Count had already planned to have a cocktail with her in the library before the dinner guests arrived! For a moment she hesitated. Paul, eagerly planning his evening with her, hurried on, not noticing. "I'll meet you at the terrace end of the living room—darling—very important."

More horses came up and Paul slipped away before she could answer him. Well, that was the way it would be this evening. But the next minute Whitney had forgotten everything in the thrill of getting started. A few minutes later the entire field was trotting down the country lane that led from Random Folly to the fields beyond.

When she took the first fence she was aware of the Count's horse, handled superbly, rising with her over the low stone parapet. The next instant they were racing across the field. Suddenly Whitney felt that her horse was getting out of hand. He was a fairly good jumper but now he was racing too hard. She would have to bring him down after the next fence.

"He's running, isn't he?" The Count cantered beside her after they cleared the hedge together. "I don't like it. Maybe we'd better not take the next jump—he's getting too excited."

"I can hold him. Thank heaven he has a good mouth!" Whitney shouted back at him. But the Count was watching the roan. He did not like the wild look in his eyes.

Suddenly, just before they reached the water jump, a piece of paper blew across the field in front of Whitney's horse. He shied and then started running—hard. Whitney knew instantly she could not hold him. She struggled to work him down with the bridle but her strength was no match for the runaway horse. It was at that moment her stirrup strap broke.

She swayed dangerously, regained her balance and clung desperately to her bridle. They were running over a hard packed field and Whitney knew it would be suicidal to slide from his back now at the speed the horse was traveling. The next instant she heard the big bay thundering beside her.

"Don't be afraid," the Count shouted at her. "I'll get you." His horse closed in on the roan and the next minute she heard the Count's voice:

"Let the bridle go." Whitney swayed back as the reins fell away and a strong arm swung her expertly over to the back of the big bay. For frantic seconds she clung to his neck and mane, then he slowed down and stopped suddenly. The Count jumped to the ground and very gently put up his arms and lifted her from the horse. In the distance they could see the roan galloping after the field.

His arms held her tightly. "Darling, darling," he said in a low voice: "Are you all right—you're not hurt?" Before she could answer he kissed her and for a few seconds Whitney clung to him, shaken and weak from shock of her rescue, but unharmed. When at last she drew away, she looked up at the Count with a trembling little smile.

"You saved my life, Gregory," she gaped. "I—I don't know yet how you did it."

He laughed aloud in his great relief that she was not hurt. Bending his head as the horse carefully picked her way through the stubble he murmured in Whitney's ear:

"I love you, Baby. Make no mistake—I, Gregory Barberini, am the man you are to marry. Always will I hold you—like this—in my arms—for always."

Technicality Gives Opportunity To Wed

Frankfurt, Germany, May 27—(AP)—The Army newspaper Stars and Stripes reported today the marriages of two former United States soldiers to German girls who, by a technicality, circumvented the Army's prohibition of American-German weddings.

Charles Quatt, 30, Paterson, N. J., and Philip Haeze, 24, Pittsburgh, married their German girls during the interval in which they were getting out of the Army and taking War Department jobs in Germany and when neither was in the employ of the United States, the newspaper said.

UN Council Bar Scored In Speech

Boston, May 27—(AP)—Denouncing what he termed excessive "guzzling of liquor" by United Nations members, Dr. Danier L. Marsh, president of Boston University, said yesterday "no wonder that so many of the international conferences turn out to be lost weekends!"

In a prepared baccalaureat address, the educator declared that "a thoughtful person cannot help being distressed at the reports of drunkenness attending diplomatic and international gatherings."

News dispatches disclosed that members of the United Nations, when sitting in London, protested because they were not allowed to have a private bar in the Methodist church where the meeting was being held, Dr. Marsh said.

"One of the first things that had to be done for the United Nations Council on the campus of Hunter College was to set up a private bar for the members."

New York, May 27—(AP)—One of the bartenders at United Nations headquarters at Hunter College said today that business was so bad in the delegates' bar that the concessionaires had considered last, he decided to settle the matter, so far as he was concerned by placing in the temple both a pagan and a Christian altar facing each other.

Strength FOR THE DAY
 BY EARL L. DOUGLAS

TWO ALTARS

This gives us a good picture of many a person today. In their hearts are two altars, one a Christian altar and the other a pagan.
 The Christian altar stands for the theories a man holds; the pagan altar stands for the kind of life he actually lives every day. The Christian altar represents his aspirations; the pagan altar represents his acts and practices. That ancient king of East Anglia probably worshipped before each altar every time he entered the temple.
 We do not know a great deal about Raedwald and therefore do not know a great deal about the outcome of this spiritual enterprise.
 But we assume—with some assurance that it was not highly successful.

Such procedure is never successful. The human heart is not big enough for two altars. Life often resolves itself into an imperative either-or. Joshua stated the matter succinctly to his Hebrew colleagues centuries ago when he said, "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve.
 But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

Washington — Brass hats at the War Department are wearing Grand Canyon furrows in their brows these days.

The uncertainties and vagaries on extension of the draft are just starters. The delays and dubious future of universal military training are just the beginning.

What's going to happen to the War Department appropriations in a Congress that is toying around with the idea of knocking $2,000-000,000 or about one-third out of the Navy budget?

Skeletonizing our armed forces to unburden the taxpayers in peacetime is one thing. Throwing the bones away so there's no skeleton left to haunt the Nazis and Fascists still in the world is another matter.
 At least that's the way the brass hats feel about it, including such toppers as Commander-in-Chief Truman (as made clear in his Chicago speech) and General Eisenhower (as enlarged upon in his testimony on draft extension).

There would be no point in listing even all the Army's aches and pains here, but I would like to mention one that is illustrative of a few of the problems.

There is in the country an organized reserve corps of more than 500,000 men. These are veterans of World War II who are willing to maintain their rank or rating or improve them by study, occasional training periods and making themselves subject to immediate call if trouble breaks out again.

About 225,000 of them are officers, about 300,000 enlisted men. This suits the Army fine. Training an Army really becomes a problem when you have to stop to train officers and non-coms.

The Army would like to keep these reserves on their toes physically and mentally. The best way to do that is "refresher" summer courses.

On paper, the Army has some rather vague plans of how this should be done. Most of the refreshers are those very valuable technicians and experts in one field or another. Some of the "training camps" would be for officers only.
 Others for officers and a handful of enlisted men. The third group would include full units that would be called up en masse.

Where, when, and how the men are to be induced to turn out are questions that nobody can answer
 now. The first two question marks

REC-MANNING

might be resolved if Congress would provide for this program.
 The third is a tougher one. Few of the reserves have been out of the Army as long as a year. Many of them saw combat action.

They want no part of more military training this summer or any time in the near future. The Army realizes that many would drop out if any effort were made to force them back now.

That's just one of the many problems under the brass hats these days.

Right after Mr. Truman spoke Saturday the House passed the emergency anti-strike bill, not so the Senate. It balked at rushing the emergency bill. Instead it went to work Saturday night and whip-pered through its own version of the Case bill, the very thing which seemed so unlikely when the House passed that bill months ago.

Since the Senate and House versions of the Case bill differ, both must agree on some final form before sending it to the President for his signature.

It can't become law, however, if he vetoes it—and he probably will—unless both houses then pass it over his veto by a two-thirds vote.

It remains to be seen whether friends of the bill can gather that many votes, in case of a veto. But meanwhile organized labor is bitter against its becoming law.

This much is true of the Case
 bill:

It was heaved together on the floor of the House. Amendments were tacked on right and left. And it was patched together on the floor of the Senate.

Labor says that bill would cause more industrial strife, if it became law, than it could ever hope to cure.

For the first 13 years—during the Democratic administrations which started in 1933—labor has obtained more freedom and benefits than

No wonder the Big Four Foreign Ministers' conference struck tough sledding when such grim suspicions were flitting like bats through the camp of the various delegations.
 And we have seen these same suspicions hampering the work of the Security Council of the United Nations.

Since all else has failed, why not try the idea which many observers have advocated. Why can't the chiefs of state of Russia, Britain and America get together and see if they aren't able to clear the atmosphere. If the suspicions are baseless, then the Big Three chiefs ought to succeed. If some of the major suspicions are true, then the sooner we find it out, the better.

Disarmament Inquiry In Germany Held Up

Berlin, May 28.—(AP)—An American press relations officer announced today that the allied control authority's coordinating committee had failed to agree on a U. S. proposal for a four-power investigation of German disarmament and had taken the question off its agenda.

This means, he said, that there will be no commission as proposed to investigate the progress of German disarmament in each of the four zones.

It was not immediately known which power had blocked the inquiry which was recommended by the American member of the coordinating committee, Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, upon instructions from Secretary of State Byrnes.

Heavy Damage Laid To Floods

Williamsport, Pa., May 28.—(AP)—Raging flood waters of the Susquehanna river swept through the north-central portion of Pennsylvania and southern New York today damaging millions of dollars worth of property and causing at least six reported deaths.

The state flood emergency committee at Harrisburg said two persons were reported killed and six others missing in the Tioga-Lycolling counties area hit by a cloud-burst yesterday.

The dead whose identity was not established immediately, were reported killed near Richards, a small hamlet near Wellsboro, seat of Tioga county, where torrential rains changed streams flowing south to the Susquehanna into raging torrents.

Four other persons had been reported dead previously, two at Mill Hill, one at Garland and one at Harrisburg, all in Pennsylvania.

Filipino President Takes Office Today

Manila, May 28.—(AP)—Ringed by submachineguns against a reported assassination plot, Manuel A. Roxas today became president of the Philippines Commonwealth.

The guns of his guards were silent; no untoward incident marred the outdoor inaugural, staged on a sun-warmed rostrum from which the 54-year-old soldier-politician pledged:

A quick end to lawlessness now prevalent in some few provinces; speedy remedies for the economic ills of the needy, the jobless, and farm tenants; and close relations with the United States for the new republic, to be born July 4.

French Deny Siamese Reports Of Invasion

Paris, May 28.—(AP)—The French Press Agency distributed a Saigon dispatch today which said that the reports of Siamese territory of French troops in Siamese territory were "in the domain of highest fantasy."

The denial was in a communique from headquarters of the expeditionary corps. The statement said it was not clear why this false news had been distributed.

The Siamese government reported officially yesterday that the French had conducted three raids in three days across the Mekong river from French Indochina near Michal, 325 miles northeast of Bangkok.

French government sources said the Mekong River area was territory ceded to Siam by the Vichy French government under Marshal Petain. France now is demanding return of the area.

Hunger Strikers Are Fed Through Tube

Sandstone, Minn., May 28.—(AP)—Five inmates of the Sandstone Federal Prison, serving terms on charges of draft law violation and on a hunger strike, were given forced feeding yesterday and today.

On recommendation of the prison physician, tubes were inserted in their mouths yesterday, 16th day of the fast, and liquid nourishment was administered.

A prison spokesman said the inmates objected but did not resist. He added that similar feedings would be given as often as the physician deemed necessary.

Warden George Humphrey said the men refused paroles and went on strike in an attempt to obtain public sympathy and full presidential pardons.

Americans Belittle Molotov Accusation

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—American officials today belittled foreign minister Molotov's contention that a British-American bloc waged an offensive against the Soviet Union at Paris.

Secretary of State Byrnes maintained silence for the moment, but others declared privately that the United States delegation to the for-

AFL Policy Board In Dixie Drive Chosen

Atlanta, May 28.—(AP)—A 40-man policy board and a seven-man executive committee were appointed today to direct the AFL's southern organizing drive.

The appointments by AFL President William F. Green were announced by George L. Googe, southern representative, who will head both groups.

The policy board will supervise "all activities x x x to combat the attempts of the CIO to organize southern workers on a political basis," Googe declared.

Members of the board include officials of every state federation in the South "as well as native Southerners who have reached prominent places in southern labor circles," he added.

Grain Market

Chicago, May 28—(AP)—Trading in grain futures today was confined almost entirely to the oats pit. Some changes in wheat contracts were noted at selling prices.

At the close, wheat, corn, rye and barley held at ceiling prices. New contract oats were 1/2 to 3/4 lower than yesterday's close, August 84 1/2. Old contract oats were unchanged to 1/2 lower, July 83.

New York Cotton

New York, May 28—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 5 cents a bale higher to 10 lower.

Noon prices were 65 cents a bale higher to 10 lower: July 27.80, Oct. 28.09 and Dec. 28.24. Futures closed $1.25 to $1.55 a bale higher.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, May 28—(AP)—Hopes for a quick coal peace brought further buying in today's stock market and the overall average was lifted to another 15-year peak on one of the largest volumes of the past three months.

Steel, motors, rubbers, selected industrials and utilities pushed ahead after considerable early irregularity due to profit taking and gains at the best ran to 3 or more points. Even the rails, indifferent most of the time, came to the fore in the final hour. Top marks were retained in most cases near the close.

Transfers were in the neighborhood of 2,000,000 shares.

Northern Korea To Be Inspected
Seoul, May 28—(AP)—Edwin W. Pauley, U. S. Reparations Commissioner, and his party will leave Seoul on a special train tomorrow night for an inspection trip of Russian-occupied northern Korea.

They will inspect former Japanese industries, resources and equipment. With Pauley will be nine principals of his reparations commission, clerks, service personnel and guards.

They will be the first U. S. civilians to enter northern Korea since 1938. The Russians have permitted only a few U. S. army officers in their occupation zone and the Japanese barred visitors before that.

Pauley told a press conference the length of his stay was indefinite. He said Col. Gen. I. Christakov, Russian commander of northern Korea, sent word that he was arranging to furnish the party with supplemental guards, billeting facilities and competent guides. He suggested the mission's program would be coordinated at a conference with Christakov at Heijo, capital of the Russian-occupied sector.

Milk Mixture For Stomach Ulcers
A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used.

Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonsful in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Try a bottle, if must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Bissette's and drug stores everywhere.

Tournament

The Greenville Country Club's annual championship golf tournament got away to a good start last week. Sixteen golfers qualified for the championship flight with lowest scores. There are four other flights. Prizes will be given to the champions of each flight, as well as to runners-up and consolation winner. The finals will begin June 23.

W. L. Allen is the defending champion. Reynolds' May was the medalist with a 74, followed by Simon Meye, Jr., with a 75. Other golfers expected to make a bid for the championship flight are Dr. M. B. Massey, Roger Taylor, Tom Smoot, Jr., and Dr. J. M. Barrett.

The tournament this year will be bigger and better and different, Reynolds May said.

Fayetteville, May 27—Greenville scored two runs in the 12th inning tonight to take a 4-2 victory over Fayetteville.

In the third extra frame, Ballam walked and was advanced on Mayer's sacrifice. M. Blackwell doubled to score Ballam. Carlson walked and M. Blackwell scored when Smith singled.

Smith hit a home run for Greenville in the eighth and the locals scored a run in the ninth to tie the score at 2-2.

Baltimore, May 27—(AP)—With each boxer suffering a bone fracture and finishing the bout with one good hand, Charley Millan, of Baltimore, won a unanimous decision over Cleo Shans, of Los Angeles, here tonight in the 10-round lightweight headliner.

In one of the most unusual fights on record here, Shans fractured a bone in his right arm in the fourth round and was forced to continue from that point with his left only. Then Millan splintered a bone in his right hand in the sixth.

After the bout ended, Dr. S. A. Tummello, boxing commission physician, gave both battlers first aid and arranged for x-rays to be made of the injuries in the morning.

Like Stranahan, Evans drew a first-round bye. Then his second-round opponent, Lt. Col. R. A. Sangster, failed to arrive from India in time to play yesterday, putting Evans into the third round on a default.

Competing in his fourth British amateur tourney, Evans went up against Richard P. Ridgeway to first time.

Birkdale, England, May 28—(AP)—Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, joined the gallery today as play in the British amateur golf tournament moved into the third round, while Charles Evans, Jr., of Chicago, only other American in the meet, unlimbered his clubs for the first time.

Final College Exams Starting Wednesday

Final examinations for the spring quarter at East Carolina Teachers College will begin on Wednesday and continue through Thursday, May 30. Freshman, sophomore and junior students are not required to remain at the college for commencement exercises, and many will return to their homes on Thursday and Friday. Seniors will spend Friday practicing and preparing for the graduation exercises, which will be held on Sunday and Monday, June 2 and 3.

cluded in the final government-union agreement included:

1. A health and welfare fund of from 25 to 30 million dollars to be used by a five-cent contribution by the operators on each ton of coal and to be administered jointly by the union and the industry.
2. Sole union administration of funds now contributed by miners for such items as hospitalization, medicine and surgery and burial.
3. Change-over to a 40-hour work week, with five-hour instead of 8-hour days. The amount to be paid for the eighth hour underground—presumably spent in traveling and lunch—might be hiked to take the miner's daily wage above the $10 he now receives. The basic rate is $1 an hour at present, with partial-to-partial allowance and 15-minute lunch period.

4. The Federal Bureau of Mines would set up minimum safety standards to become uniform through industry practice.

5. Lewis' complaints about sanitation in company towns to be met by management pledges to conform with standards of the U. S. Public Health Service.

6. The present $75 vacation allowance would be upped to $100.

7. Solution of the foremen's problem by following the National Labor Relations Board decision on the type of supervisory workers eligible for union membership.

Foes Of Labor ...

ARMY.

As the possibility of a coal settlement threatened to cut further ground from under the draft section of the bill there were these other developments:

1. Republicans aimed a half dozen amendments at the President's measure, chief of which would wipe out the draft section entirely.
2. Democratic leaders apparently stalled efforts to force the revised Case bill before the House, with the intent of laying the emergency measure before Mr. Truman first.
3. Labor leaders fired hot blasts at both measures, with CIO President Philip Murray asserting that the sole aim of the two bills is "the destruction of the labor movement of this nation."

4. A coalition of Senate Republicans and Democrats tightened their lines in an effort to emasculate the bill.

Murray's suggestion for a strike truce evoked no immediate response from labor leaders, who, like Murray, would get rid of both bills.

The committee chairman said he thought most major disputes now had been settled, with the exception of the threatened maritime strike, adding that if everybody would cool off for six months while Congress investigates the situation some "reasonable" legislation might be evolved.

But the republicans who supported the revised Case bill which the Senate passed last week, had no good word for any such delay.

They joined Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), however, in battling the President's bill in a snarling debate that ran far into the night. And they seemed likely too, to support a threatened move by Pepper to send the measure back to the Interstate Commerce Committee for full-dress hearings. A settlement in the coal dispute might put added impetus behind this move.

Pepper said after he quit at 11:14 o'clock last night that Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) is prepared to carry on the fight against the bill today. The administration squeaked by with a 19 vote margin in the first test it faced.

Property Rights Ruled By Court

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—The Supreme Court extended property rights to low altitude airspace today with a precedent-making decision for the age of flight.

The high tribunal's ruling had two main points:

1. That a landowner has title to as much of the air-space above his property as its use and enjoyment requires.
2. Hence repeated invasion of such air-space by low-flying aircraft is akin to trespassing, and subject to legal redress.

The court reached its conclusion by a 5 to 2 decision yesterday after looking into the protests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee Causby, whose farm is near the Greensboro-High Point airport. The couple claimed their chickens were so badly scared by army bombers from the airfield that they flew to fences and broke their necks.

The Smith report said there were about 30 of these fission atoms. Since then the German who made the atomic discovery that led to the bomb, has reported identifying 100 of the reported radioactive or poison atoms.

fragments of split atoms which are temporarily radioactive, giving off rays like radium, and some that radium does not emit. The gas also includes some other atoms rendered temporarily radioactive.

Hearing Set For Mrs. Malcolmson

San Diego, Calif., May 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Lucy Malcolmson, 35, was free today under $10,000 bail in grand theft charges brought by Lt. Col. Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, the Marine hero who loved her, she said in January but accused her of crime in May.

Last week Boyington top-ranking fighter pilot before his capture by the Japanese, filed the complaint charging Mrs. Malcolmson with the theft of more than $9,000, which was entrusted to her. Boyington said, for the care of his three children.

Sheriff's deputies began a search for Mrs. Malcolmson. Yesterday she appeared here with Attorney Richard Cantillon of Los Angeles, who was booked at the county jail and was released on surety bond approved by Municipal Judge A. P. Molina. Her preliminary hearing was set for June 26.

"I am innocent and I will prove it at the proper time," she said.

Unions Disregard Announced Truce

Rochester, N. Y., May 28.—(AP)—Disregarding a settlement reached on higher levels, organized labor in Rochester today held a mass picketing demonstration that halted public transportation, extensive plants and other industries. Anthony A. Capone, president of the Rochester Central Trades and Labor Council, said 25,000 employees had been idled by the mass picketing five hours after it began at 5 a. m. (EDT) in defiance of a settlement of a dispute with the city over unionization of public works department employees.

Shortly after 2 a. m. (EDT) today it was announced simultaneously by the State Federation of Labor at Albany and City Manager Louis B. Cartwright at Rochester that the dispute had been settled through the help of Gov. Tom Dewey.

vass of the election vote today. Chatham gained 4 votes in Person county, the official tabulation showed today.

Result was a net loss of 87 votes for Chatham to cut his lead over Folger to 63 votes—provided the figures in Forsyth prove to be the official vote.

Results of the official canvass in Surry where irregularities were being charged, Stokes, Rockingham, Caswell and Granville counties had not been received early this afternoon.

for defense of the Western Hemisphere.

"If we don't supply this equipment these countries will go elsewhere to get it. . . . Missions would come in from other nations to show them how to use the equipment and this would tend to withdraw them from our camp."

Eisenhower made similar comments. He also said:

"I should like to impress on this committee there is no intention on the part of the War Department to start or support an armament race among the other American countries."

Death Takes ...

declared vacant and a special election called to name a successor. Virginia courts threw the suit out and the Supreme Court declined to review the case.

After winning election nine terms as a member of the House, Glass resigned in 1918 to become President Wilson's Secretary of the Treasury.

He left the cabinet in 1920 to accept appointment as Senator and was re-elected five times, most recently to a term expiring in 1949.

President Roosevelt offered to make him Secretary of the Treasury again in 1933, but Glass declined. It was generally known that his reason was failure of the president-elect to give what the Virginia would regard as satisfactory assurance of a "sound-money" policy on the part of the forthcoming New Deal administration.

Glass received much of the credit for creation of the Federal Reserve System because of his part in drafting the Federal Reserve law when he was chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency in 1933.

He was bitterly displeased when Roosevelt abandoned the gold standard. He also broke with the administration over the NRA, crop reduction, spending and the 1937 Supreme Court reorganization plan.

Nevertheless Roosevelt, who fondly called him "an unreconstructed rebel," remained his personal friend. Mrs. Aurelia Glass died in 1937. The Senator married Mrs. Mary Scott Meade of Amherst, Va., a widow many years his junior, in 1940.

His son Powell, newspaper executive of Lynchburg, Va., died last July.
