

Byrnes Proposes New U. S. Policy

Limitation Of Among Nations Of World To Be Aim Of America; Officials Look To Moscow For Reaction To Byrnes' Denial Of Molotov's Charges Against Him

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes told Congress today that the United States is going to work for "limitation of arms" among the nations of the world.

Byrnes enunciated this policy in testimony before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

He said details have not been worked out, but the government is going to work for limitation of arms.

"We desire to see the world free from the fears and burdens which unnecessarily large armed forces would impose on the peoples of the world," Byrnes declared.

He made the statement, without further elaboration, after urging Congressional approval of legislation providing for a broad program of "military cooperation" with other American nations.

As he went before the committee, American officials looked to Moscow for Russian reaction to Byrnes' denial yesterday of Foreign Minister Molotov's charges against him and the United States growing out of the Foreign Ministers' conference in Paris.

Byrnes' denial raised the question of what will be its effect on Russian-American relations, already strained, and on chances for early peace in Europe.

The "military cooperation" program which Byrnes endorsed before the House committee was contained in a bill proposed to Congress May 6 by President Truman. It would permit transfer of arms to the other American republics.

It also would authorize the United States to help train military and naval personnel in those countries and help repair their equipment.

Byrnes declared that the program would not stimulate an arms race.

He said that the other republics merely would be given adequate war goods to allow them to defend themselves in event of attack.

The idea also is, Byrnes said, to make their equipment standard with ours, so the nations of the Western Hemisphere can work together in event of a future war.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz urged support of the legislation in testimony before the committee yesterday.

Molotov had contended Monday that, at the recent Paris meeting of foreign ministers, a British-American bloc waged an "offensive against the Soviet Union."

Byrnes, at a 40-minute news conference, refrained from accusing Russia directly of acting in bad faith.

Military Police In Philippine Battle

Manila, May 29.—(AP)—A 12-hour battle involving 2,000 guerrillas and military police was reported today as President Roxas discussed at his first cabinet meeting "pressing situations on which we intend to have immediate action."

Military police reported the Hukbala had battled USAFFE guerrillas and Filipino MPs yesterday on the Pangasinan river, about 70 miles north of Manila.

Two policemen were slain, several were wounded, six USAFFE men are missing and an undetermined number of Hukbala were killed.

The NATION TODAY
By James Marlow

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Setting the coal strike runs deeper than just a conversation between John L. Lewis and J. A. Krug, Secretary of the Interior.

That's because the government has been mixed up in the coal dispute from the beginning, first indirectly and now directly. Here's an explanation.

When Lewis started to argue with the mine owners almost three months ago, he demanded a pay raise and a health and welfare fund for his miners, the fund to be contributed by the owners.

Even if the owners had been willing to grant him everything he asked and then wanted to raise the price of their coal to make up for what they had given Lewis, they couldn't do it.

The reason: The government has a wage-price policy. Unless the government approves, an employer can't raise wages if it means he has to raise the price of his goods or make up for the pay raise.

If the owners had been willing to

Senator Radcliffe Makes Promise In Commenting On Maritime Threats

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—Senator Radcliffe (D-Md.) told reporters after a White House visit today that the threatened maritime strike will not prevent operation of the nation's merchant shipping.

Radcliffe, chairman of a Senate Merchant Marine subcommittee, was asked who would run the ships if a strike goes into effect June 15, as scheduled.

"The ships are going to run—you can bet on that," Radcliffe said.

Asked if the government would take them over, he said:

"Somebody's going to run them."

Radcliffe went to the White House with Senator Overton (D-La.), acting chairman of the Full Commerce Committee on Merchant Marine.

They talked with President Truman, they said, of Merchant Marine problems generally and discussed the appointment of a successor on the Maritime Commission to Capt. Edward McCauley, who resigned as a member of the commission May 21.

The Senators said they discussed two or three men and said they might have a more specific recommendation after further conferences (Continued on Page Six)

Fourteen Convicted
Dachau Sadists Die

Landsberg, Germany, May 29.—(AP)—Fourteen Germans, convicted of sadistically slaying thousands in the infamous concentration camp at Dachau, paid for their crimes yesterday at the end of a rope.

Fourteen more were scheduled to go to the gallows today, thus completing the largest mass execution ever conducted by the United States Army, but the fate of one of them, Martin Gottfried Weiss, Dachau commandant for 18 months, appeared in doubt as the hour for execution neared.

Officials of the war crimes branch at Wiesbaden were reported meeting in an effort to determine whether a statement by a former Dachau inmate constituted grounds for a reprieve.

Paul Grossman, a cook in a U. S. field hospital at Bad Weissee and formerly an inmate of Dachau, said Weiss did all he could for prisoners while he was in command of the camp.

Over a harrowing three-hour period yesterday one Nazi dropped through the trap of the twin black gallows every 15 minutes. Each walked up the 13 steps alone and undressed.

Dr. Klaus Karl Schilling, 74-year-old physician who had gained wide renown in pre-Nazi days, shuffled to the gallows trembling (Continued on Page Six)

Runoff Primary For
Winterville Constable; County Votes
Canvassed

Although there will be no second county-wide primaries as an aftermath of last Saturday's Democratic voting, the people of Winterville township will have the opportunity to vote the second time for their choice for township constable.

J. Henry Harrell, county elections chairman, stated today that he had been advised by L. P. Hardee, runner-up in the three-way race for constable with 236 votes, that he would be in before the time expires and officially call for a second race.

Others in the race were A. L. Corey with 278 votes and W. J. McLawhorn with 132.

There seemed little likelihood today that the other two possible runoff races, State Senate and County Commissioner in the fourth district would be called.

J. Ficklin Arthur is entitled to call Arthur B. Corey for a runoff in the Senate race and Godfrey S. Porter can call Marvin W. Smith for commissioner.

Rate Increase
On June 1

Because of greater production costs we find it necessary to increase subscription prices of The Reflector effective June 1.

There have been several increases in the cost of paper since our subscription rates were raised to their present level several years ago.

The last such increase was $7 per ton on paper and indications now are that another increase may be put into effect by July 1.

In addition to the cost of paper there have been increases in labor costs and a 12 per cent increase in the OPA ceiling on all printing equipment and some supplies since January 1.

Our new subscription rates effective June 1 will be:

One Week 20¢ (by carrier only).

Three Months $2.00.

Six Months $3.75.

One Year $7.00.

Renewal at the old rates will be accepted until June 1 at which time all subscriptions not paid in advance will be discontinued.

New Coal Strike

New York, May 29.—(AP)—The AFL United Mine Workers today notified anthracite operators that they would not agree to an extension of the present contract, which ends midnight tomorrow, and that a "work stoppage" of 75,000 hard coal miners would be called.

The action was announced by Thomas Kennedy, UMW secretary-treasurer, at a news conference following the negotiating session between the two groups.

Kennedy added that maintenance workers would be permitted to remain on the job with the understanding that any wage increases agreed upon later would be applied to them on a retroactive basis.

The operators agreed to this, Kennedy said.

CHINESE ARMY FORGES AHEAD

Kai-Shek Said Leading Campaign; Communists Pushed Back

Nanking, May 29.—(AP)—Gen. Chou En-Lai, China's No. 2 Communist, today asserted that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek personally had taken over direction of the government's Manchurian campaign.

He asserted the situation in civil war-ravaged Manchuria had taken a "critical turn."

The tonight Communist made his statement to the Associated Press a few hours after the Government's Central News agency reported that National troops had captured the important city of Kien (Yunkai) from Communists.

Government sources in Mukden said seven regiments of Communist troops were routed at Yunkai and retreated towards Yenchi, near the Korean border. Government reports from the north said vanguards of National troops were within 30 miles of Harbin.

In Peiping, the independent newspaper, Shih Chieh Jih Pao, reported that Government troops captured Liliouvan, a railroad junction northwest of Szepeikang.

It said the troops then rushed northward along the Szepeikang-Tsitsihar rail line to Wolunshun.

Chou's assertion was the first jarring note to disturb the hopeful atmosphere that pervaded China the past few days. The Communist leader in his party's negotiator in peace discussions with Government officials and General Marshall, U. S. envoy.

Even as he spoke, members of the Third Party Democratic League were arranging to resume peace talks with the Kuomintang (Chinese Government party) they were handicapped, however, by the continued absence at this critical stage of the Generalissimo, who remained in Mukden.

Communist leaders say that without Chiang present, any discussions would have little validity.

TODAY IN CONGRESS
A Review Of Your Government In Action

Washington May 29.—(AP)—President Truman's strike-draft plan faces almost certain defeat in the Senate if the coal dispute is settled quickly, an Associated Press poll showed today.

Of 63 Senators willing to state their position, 45 said they are opposed to that section of the House-passed emergency bill which would empower the President to induct into the Army those who strike in government-owned industries. Eighteen Senators announced their support of the proposal.

The Senate begins its second day of debate on the measure today. At the same time, the House Rules Committee was expected to clear the way for early action by that body on the Senate's version of the so-called case labor disputes bill.

The 45 Senators lined up against the draft section of the emergency measure passed by a dramatic 306 to 13 House vote last Saturday include 20 Democrats, 24 Republicans and a Progressive. They represent a bloc only three short of a 48 majority, now that there is one vacancy in the Senate.

Moreover, there seemed little doubt that if the coal dispute is settled and the industrial sector quiets even temporarily, the margin for defeat of the draft provision would be supplied from among 14 Democrats and 11 Republicans who decline to commit themselves publicly right now.

In fact, five of these told reporters that if the proposal ever comes to a vote they will oppose it, while

Villages And Farms Engulfed By Flood

Nine Drowned, Four Missing, As Rivers And Creeks Boil Over Banks After Rains In New York And Pennsylvania

By the Associated Press
On a wild rampage of death and destruction, rivers and creeks boiled out of their banks today to inundate valuable farming and industrial areas in Pennsylvania and New York.

At least nine persons drowned, four others were missing as muddy flood waters, fed by four days of almost continuous rains, spilled unrelentingly into homes and business establishments.

Estimates of damage exceeded $3,000,000; thousands were homeless.

The swirling waters of the Susquehanna river raced virtually out of control, striking hardest at Williamsport. Eyewitnesses said this central Pennsylvania community of 43,000 lay helpless today in the most crippling flood since 1936.

The raging river crested at 31 feet five inches at Williamsport late last night, 8.5 feet above flood level. Eighty percent of the city's industries are flood-bound; 60 percent of the residential areas are awash in several feet of water.

Emira, N. Y., looked out from the Chemung, a Susquehanna tributary—right in the face. One third of the community, its 50,000 residents battling the raging currents at every turn, was under more than five feet of water. All roads but one closed. The flood in New York centered here.

Hundreds of volunteers, in heavy trucks and rowboats equipped with radios, helped throughout the flooded areas.

The Susquehanna crashed through a sandbag-reinforced 23-foot dike at Athens, Pa., at 2 a. m. (EDT) today. One quarter of the 4,000 residents were evacuated to higher ground as torrents of rushing water—as high as nine feet—reached first-floor windows of homes. The entire business section of the town was inundated.

All agencies in the three-state area Pennsylvania, New York—and even in nearby Maryland—were alerted for disaster work. Volunteers readied for action as authorities warned the flood crest in danger areas would not be reached until late today—perhaps later.

In some sections, weathermen forecasted more rain.

As waters in upstate New York and Pennsylvania continued to rise communities further south on the Susquehanna and its tributaries prepared for floods. In Sunbury and Harrisburg in Pennsylvania water already had crept into the streets.

Pennsylvania State Secretary of Forests and Waters James A. Kell, Chairman of the State Emergency Flood and Disaster Committee, warned "this is a major flood and necessary precautions should be taken in every instance."

American Red Cross workers used army amphibious trucks—"ducks"—to reach stricken areas.

Hospitals near flood areas provided facilities for the homeless.

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania's state capitol, dug in for trouble as the rising Susquehanna raced down from the upper hills and valleys. The water was several feet above the 17-foot flood stage and still rising, the Federal-State Flood Forecasting Service reported.

Non-Member Appeals To World Peace
Keeping Agency;
Former Enemy Nation
Charges France
With Aggression

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH
New York, May 29.—(AP)—The United Nations organization was confronted with a new problem today in the form of a Siamese complaint charging French troops in Indo-China with "unjustified aggression."

It was the first time that a non-member of the United Nations had appealed to the world peace keeping agency, and the complaint thus presented the organization with a question on procedure. The issue was given an odd twist by the fact that Siam is a former enemy nation as well as a non-member, while France is not only a member but was an ally in the war against the axis.

Siam's complaint, made public late last night, was received in the form of a cablegram addressed to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie by Prince Panyomyong, President of the Siamese Council of Ministers.

Lie did not comment on the complaint or the possible procedure but the Secretary-General has the authority to call the Security Council's attention to any situation which appears to merit action to preserve peace.

Dispatches from London yesterday quoted a British Foreign Office spokesman as saying that Britain would support any Siamese move to bring before the Security Council her current border dispute with Indo-China.

The Siamese complaint accused French troops of crossing the Mekong river on May 25 and 26 and "forcibly seizing Siamese territory" (Continued on Page Six)

DEMOCRATS IN S. CAROLINA STRESS RULES

Say "Preferential Primary" Does Not Come Under State or Federal Law

Columbia, S. C., May 29.—(AP)—The Democratic Party of South Carolina served notice today upon all would-be voters in its primaries that it was "a private voluntary association of individuals mutually acceptable to each other," and not subject to court decisions as to its membership.

A special rules committee of the executive committee, meeting yesterday, drew up a formal statement, asserting that the party was governed "solely by the rules of our voluntary association."

"The preferential primaries conducted by our association," it added, "are not governed by any state law, and consequently the several decisions to vote in primaries in other states do not govern the Democratic primaries in South Carolina."

All state laws pertaining to the primaries were wiped from the statute books of South Carolina at a special session of the legislature two years ago, called after the U. S. Supreme Court had ruled that Negroes were entitled to vote in Texas as primaries.

Party rules limit membership to white Democrats over 18 years old. The committee report said its statement was drafted because of the announced intention of some unqualified persons to offer themselves for enrollment for the primaries, which is to be held August 13.

Two organizations, the Progressive (Negro) Democratic Party, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have advised their members to seek enrollment.

Columbia, S. C., May 29.—(AP)—State Democratic Chairman Tom B. Pearce was notified by letter today that the South Carolina Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People would seek enrollment on party books.

"Please advise all of those serving as enrollment clerks," said NAACP President James W. Hinton said in a letter to Pearce, "that (Continued on Page Six)

More Babies Ill
At Debarkation

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Fourteen more GI babies, suffering from a mild form of diarrhea, were rushed to the hospital from Santa Paula to Fort Hamilton Army Hospital today.

Lt. Sheldon Kaften of the port surgeon's office, issued the diagnosis of diarrhea and said the infants were taken to Fort Hamilton as a precautionary action. The Santa Paula arrived this morning.

Forty-six additional babies from various ships were under various treatments yesterday at the army hospital. Six babies died during the past week; one died at Fulton, N. Y., one at Paris, Ill., and a ninth at Pittsburgh.

A tenth infant death, apparently from suffocation, was reported by radiogram from the transport John Ericsson, due here tomorrow.

Six adults aboard the Santa Paula were reported ill in addition to the babies.

Case Bill Passed

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—The House today passed and sent to President Truman the Senate's version of the Case strike-control bill.

As rewritten by the Senate, the measure contains a prohibition against employer contributions to union-administration welfare funds, and provides for a 60-day pre-strike cooling off period.

Amid veiled hints that its action would bring a veto, the House rammed the legislation through by a roll-call vote after two hours of debate.

The WORLD TODAY
An Analysis Of The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(Substitute for Devitt MacKenzie)

In 1940 France and England were caught flatfooted by the German occupation of positions in Belgium and Holland from which the Nazis launched a death blow at the French army and drove the British to Dunkerque.

Had there been cooperation between the lowlands and their natural allies in construction of defense before the war; even if the British and French had moved into Dutch and Belgian defenses at the last moment, the story might have been different.

But the Dutch, even knowing five days in advance of the German invasion plan, preferred to go down with a clean slate regarding neutrality rather than call for help.

The United States is moving now to insure that, should peace efforts fail, she still not find a similar situation on her flanks.

The smaller American countries would be prepared, under proposals now being put forward, not only to put up good defenses in their own right, but to contribute to a great pool of hemispherical strength.

Simultaneously with plans for an inter-American mutual defense treaty, Congress is being asked to approve the transfer of U. S. army and navy equipment to other American countries.

General Eisenhower and Admiral Nimitz have outlined a careful program, designed neither to create imbalance between the countries nor an overall increase in hemisphere militarization. It is an idea to "spread the work" of hemisphere defense, and also a sharing of responsibility commensurate with the dignity to which nations are entitled regardless of size.

In understanding at this stage to promise "no greater relative strength" for any nation involved than it has had previously, Nimitz must be assuming an early settlement of differences between the United States and Argentina in spite of Washington statements (Continued on page four)

Special Recruiting Unit To Visit Here

It has just been announced by Lt. Frank J. Albate of the Greenville, N. C. new City Hall building that a mobile recruiting unit is being constructed at Pope Field, N. C. to be used in a tour of the Southern States in order to acquaint the citizens with the workings of air-borne units of the army. Consisting of displays of Troop Carrier equipment, the mobile unit will make it possible for a team of trained personnel to carry to surrounding states a graphic picture of what the Air Corps offers to young men in the way of education and learning a trade.

The nose and fuselage of a CG-15 glider will be mounted on a 25-foot mobile trailer. A 75-hp. engine will be loaded inside the glider. Another mobile display will be a technical machine exhibit comprising a modern side machine shop complete in every detail.

A 23-foot van is being fitted with a display of equipment currently used in radio communication, radar detection and electronic navigation. The latter is scheduled to include "Loran" gear, a radio long range navigation device which proved so trustworthy to pilots on patrol from tiny island bases in the Pacific—covering great stretches of ocean with no visible landmarks to guide them, that many of them predict "Loran" gear is the answer to all future trans-oceanic airplane navigation.

A complete instrument panel from a C-47 will be displayed along with a novel arrangement of aircraft instrument check equipment. An advance party will precede the mobile unit to complete all arrangements incidental to the tour.

Cool Weather In Wake Hailstorms

By CHESTER WALSH
History frequently repeats itself, as was shown by an item in the "Forty Years Ago" column in the Reflector yesterday which stated that at the same time in May, 1906, "fries were comfortable." Forty years later fires were comfortable.

The highest temperature recorded in Greenville today (Wednesday) was 86 degrees; the lowest 56, according to Mrs. C. E. Maiden, airways observer here for the Weather Bureau of the Department of Commerce, Raleigh.

The highest temperature recorded here Monday was 87 degrees; lowest, 65. On Tuesday the highest was 83 degrees; lowest, 60.

Hail did considerable damage yesterday over several areas of Pitt county. Insurance men today reported damage to crops in the Ayden, Black Jack and other communities.

One report was that a farmer in the Black Jack community had an insurance adjustment at 11 a. m. yesterday on his crop, damaged by hail several days ago, and later in the afternoon hail caused additional damage to his crop.

Army Will Continue Transfer Of Brides

Washington, May 29—(AP)—Despite fatal shipboard illnesses among some babies, the army transportation corps said today there will be no interruption in the transfer of war brides and their babies from England to this country.

The schedule already set up will be adhered to, officers said. They pointed out that so far there has been no outbreak of infections on ships coming from Southampton, England. The illnesses occurred on ships sailing from Le Havre.

It is considered possible that the S. S. Vance, on which the malady first appeared and which is now docked in New York, may be withdrawn from transport service pending further medical investigation.

Six Meredith College Seniors qualified for their degrees at an early spring graduation and 91 will be graduated next month. The six spring graduates are Anne McLeod of Lexington, Carolyn Kynon Worrell and Mary Bryan Fleming, both of Raleigh, Peggy Majette of Grimesland, Augusta Lee Elmore of Morganton, and Eva Fitzgerald of Pinehurst. Three of the girls have gone into positions in this State: Miss McLeod to the Charlotte Public Library; Miss Majette to the teaching staff of the Goldsboro schools; and Miss Elmore to Roanoke Rapids to join the faculty of Rosemary school.

Miss Majette has taken her training in primary education with minors in health and physical education. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Majette of Grimesland, N. C.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
May 29, 1906

The public school at Grimesland closed Tuesday night with a splendid concert. An immense crowd was present and every feature of the exercises was greatly enjoyed. The enrollment for the year was about 60 and the excellence of the concert showed the thoroughness of the work done. Grimesland is a prosperous town and making fine advance both educationally and commercially.

Farmers are still setting out tobacco, look out for late crops. All members of the Baptist Church are earnestly requested to be at the church tonight, that final arrangements may be made for welcoming the pastor, J. E. Ayscue, and his bride who will return on Friday evening.

Information For Poultry Raisers
By S. C. Winchester, County Agent
All poultry flocks of the county should be culled rigidly immediately, if this has not already been done, for two good reasons. First, the secret of egg profits is maintaining high production. Borders in your flock pull down your production percentage and eat up the profits. Second, with the dwindling feed supply and with the OPA increased prices of grains and protein feeds, prices of mixed feeds will rise. This will necessitate that you take every precaution to save feed and prevent waste. Use large feeders and don't fill more than two-thirds full. Vast quantities of feed are being wasted because of the use of small chick feeders for layers, and the practice of over filling the feeders. Sell or eat the males if you are no longer producing hatching eggs. Infertile eggs keep much better in hot weather and the rooster eats lots of feed. Make war on rats as they eat or waste a lot of feed. Make full use of range and grazing crops. If no grazing has been provided, sow corn and soybeans now. Fight diseases. Dig a disposal pit for dead birds. This is an excellent way to prevent the spread of diseases. Plans can be secured from your County Agent.

IMPORT LABOR FOR HARVEST

Nearly 100 Bahamian Workers Allotted To Pitt County

By CHESTER WALSH
Bahamian laborers for work on farms in Pitt County, so thorough satisfactory last year, will be back again this year. County Farm Agent Sam C. Winchester announced today.

Ninety-six Bahamians, some of them women, have been allotted to this county. Farmers who need additional labor to harvest the tobacco crop should make application to the farm agent's office before June 5.

The Bahamians, now harvesting crops in Florida, are expected to come here about the middle of June in order to be ready when the tobacco begins to ripen. Farmers hiring them will have to use them on some other farm work for a short time.

A labor committee has been appointed to review applications on June 4. If farmers do not contract for the Bahamians to work they will be diverted to Georgia to harvest the peach crop. Last year some farmers used the imported laborers to de-tassel hybridized corn and do other work until tobacco was ready for cropping. Some used the Bahamians on the peanut crops.

Whenever there are women in the contingent they are wives of men in the party. The Bahamians are steady workers, intelligent, and clean in their living habits and easy to manage. As a rule, the men crop tobacco and the women work at the barns.

The farm agent plans to allot the workers in such manner that there will be some women in each group to cook for the men. The Bahamians speak fluent English.

April Death Toll Above Last Year

Chicago, May 29—(AP)—The nation's traffic deaths in April totaled 2,650, or 47 per cent more than in the same month last year, the National Safety Council reported today.

"Unless present careless driving and walking habits are stopped," the Council said, the death toll for the year will be at least 28,000.

The total of 10,770 fatalities for the first four months of 1946 was an increase of 45 per cent over the same months of 1945 and only one per cent less than the four-month period of 1941, a year which set an all-time high with 40,000 deaths the report added.

Of the 39 states reporting for April, only three reported decreases the summary showed. For the four month period, Maryland alone had fewer traffic deaths than in the same period of 1945. The decrease there was one per cent.

The leading cities for the four months in various population groups with their death rates (number of traffic deaths for each 10,000 registered vehicles) included:

50,000-100,000 population: New Britain, Conn., and Durham, N. C., with perfect scores.

ed all its officers—F. S. Royster of Henderson, N. C., President; W. Wesley Singletary of Lake City, vice-president; Guy E. Barnes of Rocky Mount, N. C., secretary and treasurer; and J. C. Eagles, Jr., of Wilson, N. C., chairman of the board of governors. J. M. Broughton, former governor of North Carolina, was retained as general counsel.

Deaf Man Cured By Shock Of Accident

Seattle, May 29—(AP)—Claude Berger, a deaf-mute for 62 of his 65 years, could talk today and could hear the sound of his own voice—and to a man who had "prayed and prayed and prayed for this" it was nothing short of a "miracle." Berger took a tumble yesterday while at work in the Army Service Forces depot. He said later he "just let out a yell of fright and when a supervisor ran over to ask if he was all right, Berger said "I feel fine."

Capt. Rosario Sacco, surgeon at the Army Forces depot, said there was no doubt about Berger's former muteness. He suggested a child-hood shock probably caused the defect disagreeing with Berger's report that scarlet fever had robbed him of speech and hearing. The shock of the fall, the surgeon said, undoubtedly caused the restoration.

Chapter 7

Whitney always remembered the day of the Hunt Breakfast. It was a day, but fun definitely balanced with a growing concern which became real anxiety as the early fall twilight found her back at Random Folly with the Count. Except for the brief greeting he had given them before the hunt started that morning, she had not seen or heard from Paul. She began to think her handling of this situation was not as expert as she had confidently thought at first it would be.

As they entered the great hall of Random Folly the lights were just being lit. William, the old colored butler, was shuffling along on his way to the drawing room as they came in.

"Even, Miss Whitney—Even Sir. You all had good hunting?"

"Yes, William. It's been a good day."

At the door of the room she turned to the Count who was directly behind her and smiled.

"A cocktail?"

He grinned down at her. "Swell. Then after I tell you how lovely you are, I'll disappear. You really need a rest before dinner. I'll say you had a tough morning."

"I wonder what would have happened if you hadn't been there?" she answered in a low voice. "William," she turned abruptly as the old man waited near the fireplace. "Bring us a couple of cocktails—you know, a quickie."

"Yes, Miss Whitney. I know. Be right along."

As the disappeared into the hall again, the Count put his arm around Whitney's shoulders. "Something is bothering you, dear. You never spoke once on the ride over here from the club house. Is anything the matter?"

"No. Oh, no," Whitney moved quickly away and restlessly strolled around the room. The Count watched her with dark brooding eyes.

The Count walked over from the far side of the long room and stood beside her.

"I am going back to Europe within four weeks," the Count continued in a low voice. "It is when I return that I would want to marry you. If I am fortunate I remain in this country. My own land is tried and broken. An unhappy place since the war has ended."

He waited but as Whitney still remained silent he added quickly, "I serve my country like a soldier. I go where I am sent, always that must be. But with you with me, any country would be a happy one for me."

Another life. As she listened, familiar things she had always known blurred into a fascinating glimpse of an older, more sophisticated existence. Never had she dreamed of anything like this—a world career! The soft drawl of William at her elbow suddenly brought her back to realities with a start.

"Here is yo' quickies, Miss Whitney. And Miss Polly says you are to come to her room before dinner. She says she sure to come."

"Thank you, William. Tell her I'll be up in a few minutes."

But an enchantment had been broken. Whitney put down her glass and, humming a little tune under her breath, put a record on the machine.

The Count's black eyes glared with an amused smile.

Whitney laughed, as she stepped around and they danced slowly through the shadowy room. For a long time neither of them spoke. Another record fell into place, but the tempo of their dancing did not change.

"I looked the wide world over before I found you, Whitney. The count's voice was low, tense with emotion. The music made his words indistinct to the man who was standing quietly in the darkened doorway watching them. He waited until the music stopped, then said abruptly.

"Sorry to break up this charming scene."

Whitney whirled in surprise as Paul strode across the room, his face flushed an angry red. She could see his square jaw straightened into a hard, fighting line.

"Hi, Paul!" she called out. He waved his hand at her but he was looking at the Count.

"Oh, hello." The Count's voice was casual, disinterested. "We were trying out a new record before dinner."

"So I see. Don't stop on my account."

Paul jerked out the words as if that was the only way he could trust himself to speak at all.

Whitney hurriedly turned off the instrument and then came back and stood between the two men, anxiously watching them both. After all, a good friend and her fiancé didn't have to get dramatic over a little harmless dancing while she was waiting for Paul to appear. However, something warned her this was no time for lengthy explanations. She turned quickly to the Count.

"Gregory, I do have a date with Paul. We made it this morning."

By her surprise he seemed relieved. There was a close, veiled look on Whitney's face flushed as she turned and walked over to a big chair near the fireplace. "There is nothing sinister about my seeing and liking Gregory," she continued hastily. "The only catch seems to be that you don't like him. That's all right, too, only I repeat—you can't make charges like this against him and then refuse to explain them. That isn't fair."

"Maybe it's fairer than you think it is. It might be better for you to take my word for a few things in this connection than wait for an overt act."

"Whatever that might mean." Her voice was cool and uncompromising. "Well, I am not going to stand around and wait for proof of statements you make and then won't back up yourself. I like Gregory Barberini. You see I'm trying to be as honest with you as I am with myself, Paul. I don't know all the answers."

"And I don't either, darling." Paul agreed eagerly. "Let's stop quarreling about the Count. All I know is I adore you and I want to marry you just as soon as I can round up your Uncle John and get a marriage license. That's all that really matters to me."

"But still I don't see why you say Gregory is no good. What has he done?" Whitney persisted. "You must have some reason for a flat statement like that." Paul caught the anxiety in her voice and he didn't like it.

"Little sister, let's skip it. I'm sorry I said anything about him if it upsets you as much as it seems to. Now, let's forget about it," he smiled suddenly with the wide sunny smile which always reminded her of a small boy. Paul's smile was one of the most intriguing things about him. It was always very disarming.

He thrust his hand into his coat pocket and the next instant was holding a small brown box out toward her.

"Your ring, darling."

Paul took the ring out of the box and reached for her hand. Whitney hesitated a moment, then slowly shook her head and drew her hand away.

An odd silence descended over the shadowed drawing room.

"But—but," Whitney. Paul protested, bewildered and suddenly confused. "It belongs to you, dear."

"It's beautiful, Paul," she smiled faintly back at him. "It's a gorgeous stone, but I can't wear it now."

"Why not?" His voice was demanding, harsh with disappointment and growing dismay. "It's your ring. You are going to marry me and this is the symbol and the covenant of that fact."

He made a move as if he would take her hand and this time she def-

British Studying Cotton Industry

London, May 28—(AP)—Through re-equipment of the British cotton industry under a government-subsidized system of private ownership is recommended by a 13-member board of trade investigating committee.

The committee's chairman, Sir George Schuster, warned in a letter attached to the report that "the industry is today producing barely more than enough to satisfy the full home demand."

Unless there is a revolutionary improvement in man-hour production, he said, the industry may produce "no exportable surplus at all."

Six members dissented from six of the committee's 34 recommendations. All agreed, however, that adoption of the report by the government should not be "a preliminary step toward nationalization."

The report was closely linked to an earlier recommendation by another group of investigators that wages and working conditions of cotton mills employees should be sharply improved.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

USE THE FAITH YOU HAVE

When Horace Bushnell, later a famous theologian, was a tutor at Yale College, he was a skeptic, and his moral influence on the students was said to be harmful.

One night as Bushnell sat thinking about the situation, he decided to do something about it. He asked himself first of all what he really did believe. He found that he believed two things, namely that God is God and that right is right. The thought occurred to him, "What is the use of trying to get further knowledge, so long as I do not cheerfully yield myself to do that which has already been revealed to me?" The upshot of it was that he decided to pray about the matter, using the little faith he possessed.

His prayer ran something like this: "O God, I believe there is an ineradicable, eternal distinction between right and the wrong, and I hereby give myself up to do the right and to refrain from doing the wrong. And I believe that thou dost exist. If thou canst hear my cry and will reveal thyself unto me, I pledge myself that I will do thy will."

What happened was that when Bushnell began to live up to the little faith he had, he soon found that this faith was greatly increased and broadened. He did not try to believe what he could not believe. He acted on the little belief he had and a full measure of divine knowledge was finally accorded him.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—Getting food to starving populations is frequently a bigger headache for UNRRA than finding the food, hence one of the major railroad moving projects in history.

It consisted of moving the rolling stock of a fair sized railroad—20 engines and 3,500 cars—from Iran to China, a sea-distance alone of 7,000 miles, in fewer months than it takes minutes to tell it. The first preparations started last November. A. H. "Alex" Mitchell, shops superintendent for the Lehigh Valley railroad, and rail expert for FEA, who did it, is back, secure in the knowledge that his gigantic charges have been hauling relief supplies since March over the rails that run out of Shanghai, Kowloon and north China ports.

Any one who has ridden the trains in the last year or so, or taken a squirt at any of the lines' repair shops right here at home, knows what the rolling stock situation has been. When UNRRA officials started screaming for engines and cars for the railroads in China, they were just wasting breath. Then somebody remembered that almost equally fabulous road that was built by the Army to run from Khorramshahr, Iran, up into the mountains to connect with the Russian supply lines.

This backdoor supply entry to the Russian armies was one of the big factors in their victories in the east. The road had been abandoned with the collapse of Germany. Its rolling stock lay rusting on the sidings at Khorramshahr—earmarked "surplus" by the Army. Somebody else thought of Alex Mitchell. UNRRA bought the 20 big oil-burning engines and the 3,500 cars. Mitchell was assigned the job of getting them all to China.

What a job it was to get ships, rig cranes, and swing the giants aboard to pack them in holds and on deck so they would ride out any storm!

Labor had to be imported to get the job done. The Iranians didn't like that. Mitchell found that only a handful of guards, armed with four carbines, had been left by the Army to guard this stockpile. Don't blame the Army. It's troubles with the demand to "get the boys home" should be well known by now. Patrols, armed with clubs, had to be organized to stop the thievery.

By the last of February, the whole stock was stowed. When it reached China, it was ready for almost immediate service.

Applause From The Gallery

Before UNRRA's rehabilitation job in China is cleaned up, 250 locomotives will be delivered to China, and enough cars for them to haul but there probably will never be another shipping problem like this. It was called "Operation Big." It certainly was UNRRA officials here say if there's ever an "Operation Bigger," the man for their money is Alex Mitchell from the Lehigh Valley.

The World Today

some time ago that no mutual defense treaty could be signed with the group which presently controls that country. For Argentina must be helped along with the others to keep that promise.

This is encouraging, as is the thought that Uncle Sam is on such terms with his neighbors that he can hand them guns without fear that they may one day be turned against him.

The frankness with which the program is being approached is another encouraging factor. A lot of blow-about how the United States wants to help her weaker (but oh, so estimable) neighbors would get just the reaction it would deserve. Nimitz puts the deal on the proper plane when he says that, in addition to relieving the U. S. of sole responsibility for hemisphere defense:

"If we don't supply this equipment these countries will go elsewhere to get it. x x x Missions would come in from other nations to show them how to use the equipment and this would tend to withdraw them from our camp."

That's a fair statement of a program designed to give the negotiators something real to talk about at the pending inter-American conference.

The Nation . . .

and will have to make up the difference out of your own pocket. It seemed pretty plain from the beginning that Lewis would not get a wage increase greater than 18 1/2 cents an hour and there was a reason for this.

Other big industrial unions, like the CIO Auto and Steelworkers, were limited to 18 1/2 cents an hour. A greater raise to Lewis would create bitter resentment in the CIO.

But the government—in figuring a coal price increase—would have to think also of whatever the mine owners gave Lewis for his health and welfare fund.

But the talks between Lewis and the owners got nowhere. The miners struck. President Truman finally told Secretary of the Interior Krug to take over the mines for the government and try to settle with Lewis.

As in the case of other mine seizures, the government didn't go into the mines to run them. It simply asked the mine owners to keep on operating their mines.

All they had to do was stick up an American flag and notice saying the government had seized the property.

If the owners don't approve a settlement reached by Krug and Lewis, then this happens:

The government continues to hold the mines. The owners will have to pay out whatever pay increases and health-and-welfare fund money the government says Lewis should get.

This money comes out of the mine owners' earnings. If they still refuse to agree with Lewis on the government's terms, the government will have to run the mines indefinitely.

(If the owners lose money through all this, they'll have to file a claim against the government for damages.)

If the owners agree to the government's settlement, they'll be allowed some increases in coal prices to make up in whole or part for the increased money they give Lewis' miners.

SHIP SENT TO REMOVE NAZIS

U. S. Challenges Spanish Offer to Export German Citizens

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—The United States is challenging Spain to make good on its promised export of Nazis to Germany by sending a ship to Bilbao to remove the Germans from the country.

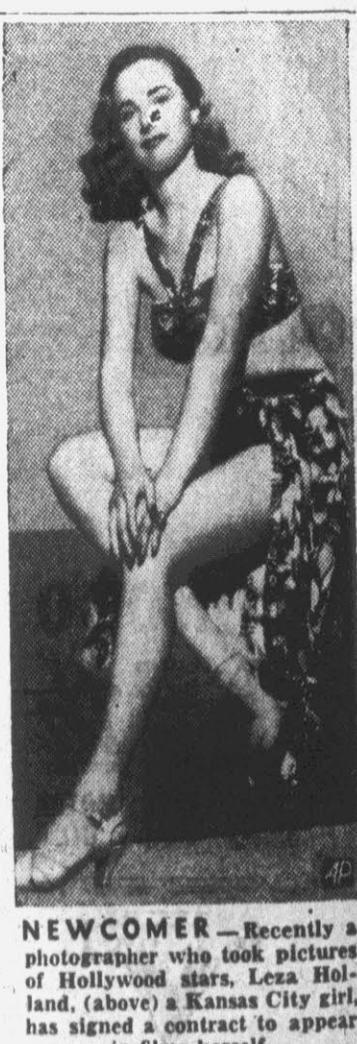

The State Department announced this assignment of the ship, the Marine Perch, today. It has a capacity of 947 passengers. Information in Washington is that so far the Spaniards have arranged for only 100 or 200 passengers for the ship.

Michael J. McDermott, State Department information officer, said the Spaniards had claimed in the past they could not expel the Nazis because of transportation and that sending the ship obviously is intended to remove that argument. The Marine Perch will put in at Bilbao June 6.

State Department officials indicate that American experts on former German property will soon be sent to Spain to help embassy officials there negotiate for control of at least $55,000,000 of German state property such as embassy and consular establishments and, semi-government property such as mines and transportation concerns owned by a German state corporation.

In announcing the assignment of the ship to transport Germans from Spain to Germany, the State Department said that there remain in the country 2,205 Nazi individuals whose repatriation the United States government wishes to effect as soon as possible.

The department said that the embassy at Madrid had "made available to the Spanish government" information on the ship's June 6 arrival time so that the United States is in effect "giving that government one month advance notice in which to concentrate an adequate number of Germans for removal."

Chatham Counsel Charges Subterfuge In Absence Of Supporters

Dobson, N. C., May 29.—(AP)—Counsel for Thurmond Chatham charged today that "through a subterfuge" the congressional candidate's representatives were "denied the right" of being present yesterday afternoon when the Surry elections board tabulated votes in Saturday's Democratic congressional primary in the Fifth District.

Changes in Surry returns, still unofficial, gave Rep. John H. Folger a net gain of 73 votes over the tabulation Saturday night and placed him ahead of Chatham by 13 votes in the district. The totals were announced after yesterday's board meeting.

Roy Deal, Winston-Salem attorney appearing for Chatham, told the board that Chatham's representatives were under the impression that all activity of the board fairly by the army, had been completed for the day when it ended its meeting yesterday before the court martial.

Witnesses Refuse To Speak In Army Trial

Bad Nauheim, Germany, May 29.—(AP)—A mass refusal of prosecution witnesses to testify forced a two-day adjournment today in the trial of Lt. Granville Cubage of Oklahoma City on a charge of mistreating prisoners in Lichfield, England. Thirteen successive witnesses called to the stand by the prosecution refused to answer any question, even when threatened with military punishment. They complained they were being treated unfairly by the army.

Three men opened the strike when they refused to testify in the court martial.

TENTH INNING SCORES COST LOCALS GAME

Tied In Eighth, Bear's Batters Knock Out Winning Runs In Tenth

By BERT MOYE
Manager Abe White's single, Lowry's sacrifice, Moore's walk, Doak's sacrifice and Shetler's double down first base line to bring home White and Moore in the tenth frame gave the New Bern Bears a 5-3 win over the Greenville Greenies in a heart-breaker last night.

The Greenville Greenies trailed throughout the game until the eighth frame, when they knotted the count at three-all. The Bears started off scoring in the first frame when they scored without a single hit. Lowry and Moore walked. Doak sacrificed, and Lowry then scored on Shetler's fly to left field. Another run was scored by the Bears in the third frame when Shetler and George walked, with Shetler scoring on a hit by Urban. Another tally was scored in the seventh frame when Shetler was hit by pitched ball, sacrificed to second by George and scored on Silbernagel's single.

Greenville started off their scoring in the fourth frame when Earl Smith singled, went to second on Milt Narron's infield out and was brought home on Charlie Putrell's timely single. Another tally was scored in the sixth frame when Earl Smith singled, was sacrificed to second by Milt Narron, and then Charlie Putrell singled to bring him home, his second run batted in of the game.

The Greenies knotted the count at three all in the eighth frame when Ray Carlson beat out an infield bunt to reach first, was sacrificed to second by Verne Blackwell and then scored on Milt Narron's timely single.

Johnny Foell started on the mound for the Greenies pitching the first seven innings. During his stay on the mound he walked a total of 13 Bears, struck out four and allowed the Bears their three runs.

He was relieved by Joe Alamo in the seventh who allowed two hits in two frames, being relieved in the 10th by Rex Benton who allowed two hits and two runs. Foell was touched for five hits, Alamo two hits and Benton two hits.

Manager Abe White went the entire route for the Bears and was touched for 11 hits, which he kept well scattered with the exception of the three innings the Greenies scored.

During the game, New Bern had a total of 15 men stranded on bases, while Greenville had eight. New Bern made four sacrifices during the game, Greenville made two.

Greenville executed a beautiful double play in the sixth frame to ward off a score when Doak hit to right field and Merle Blackwell made the relay home to catch Manager Abe White at home plate.

The Greenville Greenies go to New Bern tonight to meet the Bears in a return game. Then on Thursday afternoon they go to Tarboro to play an afternoon game as the feature of a double-header for Memorial Day, with the two teams coming here to play Thursday night at 7:45 in the Guy Smith stadium. On Friday night the Greenies play Bill Herring's, Goldsboro Bucs at Guy Smith stadium.

Sports

Washington's five-star pitching staff, with its accent on dishing knucklers and darting butterfly pitches, looms as the latest stumbling block in Boston's pennant path.

Only seven games off the pace and a scant half-game out of the runner-up spot, Ossie Bluege's Nationals have "flattered" into the flag chase on a sizzling two-week record of 11 wins in their last 14 starts.

Despite the recent batting surge of Mickey Vernon and Jeff Heath, the mound record of 10 complete games in the 13-game string is the most important success factor.

Johnny Niggeling and Dutch Leonard each have accounted for three decisions in the recent hot streak. Niggeling going all the way three successive times, Roger Wolf, Mickey Haefner and Walt Masterson of the starting contingent each have one verdict and Sid Hudson and Rae Scarborough triumphed on relief.

Leonard's latest success was a neat 2-1 effort against New York last night.

Larry MacPhail outdid himself with the finest lighting plant in baseball floodlights but the Yankees still couldn't see Leonard's flitting "dipsy doodles."

Topcoat weather cut the opening attendance to 48,895 paid, still the largest after-dark crowd of the season.

Detroit also closed in on the leaders, picking up a half-game on the Red Sox, who were rained out of their tilt with Philadelphia. Freddy Hutchinson, labeled the $75,000 lemon in pre-war days, accounted for his second victory, 6-1.

The Chicago White Sox ripped off their fourth straight triumph for their new skipper, Ted Lyons, slugging three St. Louis Browns hurlers for 15 hits and a 9-2 romp. Brooklyn's National League lead was sliced to two games on a combination of St. Louis' 12-2 slaughter of Chicago and New York's 5-2 night game edge over the Dodgers. Dick Sisler finally hit his home-run stride and pounded a round tripper with the bases loaded in an eight-run Cardinal fifth frame. Johnny Beasley, who started for the Birds was belted out.

Pittsburgh put on a big inning, scoring four in the seventh, to overcome Cincinnati, 4-3. Rookie Edson Bahr received credit for his second triumph.

Grain Market

Chicago, May 29—(AP)—Selling inspired primarily by favorable crop news caused new oats futures to drop around a cent today and dislodged the March corn contract from its ceiling price. Most of the activity was provided by local traders. Cash purchases of grain for future delivery included 35,000 bushels of new crop oats.

At the close new oats contracts were 3-1/4 lower, August 83 1/2, and old contracts were unchanged to 1/2 lower, September 80 1/2. March corn finished down 1/4 at $1.46 1/2. Bid prices on new barley were down a cent. All other grains were unchanged.

New York Cotton

New York, May 29—(AP)—Cotton futures opened 20 to 60 cents a bale higher.

Noon prices were 20 to 50 cents a bale higher, July 28.05, Oct. 28.36 and Dec. 28.52.

Futures closed 10 to 40 cents a bale lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 29—(AP)—Scattered stocks hit new bull market highs today while many leaders were cut down by more insistent profit taking.

Belief in Wall Street that settlement of the coal strike would be announced momentarily brought considerable selling on the idea that good news may have been discounted by the recent climb to 15-year average peaks. The list, on the whole, had not suffered a loss in seven consecutive sessions. Accounts also were trimmed for protection over the holiday. Buoying factors still were seen in earnings, dividends and splitup gossip. A few favorites, including Studebaker and Chrysler turned strong at the last. Dealers, fast in the morning, slowed later but transfers for the full proceedings were in the vicinity of 2,000,000 shares.

To The Voters Of Pitt County

I take this means of expressing to you my sincere thanks for your support in Saturday's Primary. For the confidence expressed in me, I shall strive earnestly to fulfill my duty to all the people of Pitt County.

Ruel W. Tyson
Sheriff Of Pitt County

TO MY FRIENDS OF THE FIRST CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

It is with profound gratitude and a stirring sense of personal appreciation that I address this message to you. Earnestly and unselfishly you have worked for a great cause. Valiantly you held the torch high, generously pouring out your energies and performing duty even in silent places where no one looked on. You have felt the tug of those ties which draw men and women together under the impulse of high resolve. From this experience were born friendships that will last.

We have stirred the people, but not everybody understood what was involved in this race. After the smoke of the battle has cleared and quiet reflection comes, many will understand better the far-reaching significance of the things for which we were fighting. These measures cannot be defeated. They are fundamental to the life of our country and draw their vitality from the needs of the people. They are sure of final triumph.

The voters have spoken. We cheerfully accept their verdict. With good-will to all and resentment to none, we stand united in the ranks of our great Party, and dedicate ourselves anew to the urgent tasks ahead.

With my heart-felt thanks and deep appreciation to you all.

Sincerely,
Robert Lee Humber

Engineer's Union Head Joins Attack On Pres.

Charges Truman with 'Double Cross' in Negotiations; Claims President Failed To Fulfill Promise To Union Leaders

Cleveland, May 29.—(AP)—Alvan Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, today joined the president of the Trainmen's Brotherhood in charging President Truman with "double crossing" the railroad workers during the recent strike.

A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, made accusation last night and asserted that in an address in New York today he would "spill all over the country" proof of his charges.

Johnston, who had maintained strict silence since the strike ended last Saturday, declared that the President failed to fulfill a promise made to the two union leaders.

"Shortly before we agreed to the five-day truce, we received a telephone call from John Steelman, the President's labor adviser who informed us that he was speaking for and in the presence of the President," Johnston said.

Johnston declared that "in accepting the President's assurance that we would receive a better settlement of our working rules disputes, we received further assurance that the carriers had agreed to the additional concessions."

The engineers had, however, declined to go along with Whitney's announced plan to consolidate his brotherhood with the AFL or CIO and send union funds in an effort to defeat Truman.

He declared he hadn't even thought about setting up a political fund and said Whitney's consolidation plans were entirely his own.

Before leaving for New York last night, Johnston said he planned the unification move in a defense against anti-labor proponents.

N. C. ACCEPTS HIGHWAY BIDS

Farm-To-Market Road Projects For State Are Gaining Ground

Raleigh, May 29.—(AP)—Contracts calling for the paving of more than 200 miles of farm-to-market roads at a cost of $1,929,217.21 were awarded to low bidders today by the State Highway and Public Works Commission.

The projects, all of which were included in the May 23 "letting" represent the largest total of county road mileage placed on the paving list by the commission in its post-war program.

Four small projects in Buncombe and Haywood counties, calling for bituminous or sand asphalt paving at a cost of $1,266,478 were held over for later action. This project unit was the only one of 28 included in the May 23 letting which was not officially awarded today.

Commission Chairman A. H. Graham told the commissioners that the state has let contracts for $16,000,000 worth of paving and structures since June, 1944, when restrictions were lifted on materials. This compares with a total of $6,000,000 officially awarded by the South Carolina commission.

In discussing progress made on the state's proposed $100,000,000 post-war betterment program, Graham said:

"We haven't got as much for our money as we would have in 1940, the last normal year of highway operations. But as compared with the national economical picture, the cost of our highway work hasn't been too much out of line."

In other action the commission added 52 miles of county roads to the state system, and abandoned 11 miles. The addition of 144.82 miles had been requested.

There is no British-American "bloc" against Russia.

Generalissimo Stalin agreed at Moscow last December to support the American plan for a Big Four treaty to keep Germany disarmed for 25 years.

Molotov at Paris May 16 acknowledged that Stalin had agreed to the treaty idea. (Molotov denied this Monday.)

Russia backed out of a plan to which Molotov had agreed earlier for a thorough investigation, in all four German occupation zones, of the disarmament of the German army and the dismantling of war plants.

Instead of saying flatly that Molotov was mistaken about Stalin and the 25-year treaty, Byrnes said only that he was satisfied Molotov was misquoted or that there had been a misunderstanding. Molotov's charges were contained in a full-page statement published in Pravda, official Soviet newspaper.

Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach called in shipowners and CIO Maritime Union chiefs for a conference aimed at finding some way to prevent a possible shipping tieup.

Joseph Curran, president of the CIO National Maritime union, told a reporter on his arrival from New York that he expected the ship

"If they don't," Curran said, "it will be a difficult situation. And I mean it."

Six other unions have joined Curran's NMU in demanding a 30-percent wage increase, an eight-hour day, overtime adjustments and retroactive pay. The seven unions claim about 200,000 members on 3,100 ships, more than two thirds of them owned by the government.

The other unions are the Marine Cooks and Stewards Association of the Pacific; Pacific Coast Marine Firemen, Oilers, Waterenders and Wipers Association; National Marine Engineers Beneficial Association; Inland Boatmen's Union of the Pacific; International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, headed by Harry Bridges; and the American Communications Association. Spouse Faces Prison Term

Changes Plea To Manslaughter In Shooting Of Rival

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Capt. Archie B. Miller, 26-year-old signal corps officer, pleaded guilty to first degree manslaughter today in the fatal shooting of Capt. Eugene Dale, 27, Enid, Okla., last December 28.

Miller, whose home is at Bellevue, Tex., faces a maximum prison sentence of 20 years.

Dale, a survivor of the Bataan death march and two and a half years' Japanese imprisonment, was shot in the apartment of Miller's estranged wife, Mrs. Fay Hancock Miller, an ex-model from Jonesboro, N. C.

She told police she fell in love with Dale while her husband was overseas.

Originally indicted for first degree murder, Miller was permitted to withdraw his plea of innocence to that charge and enter the guilty plea to the manslaughter charge.

Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet described the slaying as one committed under great emotional strain.

He said Miller had returned from two and a half years' service overseas "only to find that his wife belonged to another."

Miller will be sentenced June 19. Miller's defense attorney, James D. C. Murray, told the court:

"I feel that no jury would convict Miller of any degree of any crime but my lips are sealed for he has forbidden me to cross-examine his wife and bring out any of her past life if she took the witness stand."

"If there ever was a 100 per cent man he is standing before the bar now. We have had many conferences but he is so honorable that he wouldn't have any part in cross-examining his wife."

Judge John A. Mullen ordered a full probation report.

Engineer's Union Head Joins Attack On Pres.

Charges Truman with 'Double Cross' in Negotiations; Claims President Failed To Fulfill Promise To Union Leaders

Cleveland, May 29.—(AP)—Alvan Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, today joined the president of the Trainmen's Brotherhood in charging President Truman with "double crossing" the railroad workers during the recent strike.

A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, made accusation last night and asserted that in an address in New York today he would "spill all over the country" proof of his charges.

Johnston, who had maintained strict silence since the strike ended last Saturday, declared that the President failed to fulfill a promise made to the two union leaders.

"Shortly before we agreed to the five-day truce, we received a telephone call from John Steelman, the President's labor adviser who informed us that he was speaking for and in the presence of the President," Johnston said.
