Louisville, Ky., June 8—(A)—Delbert (Shorty) Sprouse, 18, wearing a two-day growth of beard, and Mrs. Mattie Lyons Large, 79, were married by County Judge J. F. Wellman in the Lawrence County Court House this morning.

tion Delayed

Washington, June 8—(AP)—The House kept millions of ex-GI's on tenterhooks today by postponing final action on the furlough pay bill until next week.

The lawmakers hastened to assure veterans, however, that this did not reflect on the bill's chances for passage. On the contrary, they expect it to whip through perhaps unanimously when a vote comes next Tuesday.

No voices were raised against the measure in several hours of one-sided debate yesterday, but it developed that only half of the members were present, so the legislation was put over until next week.

The bill provides for cash payments to enlisted personnel for furlough time they did not receive while in service. It is estimated that some 15,000,000 past and present service personnel will be benefited, with the average payment about $250 per man.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, June 8—(AP)—We were away behind the Germans before the war in jet planes and guided missiles. The war's over. How are we doing now about research in those fields? Not so well, says the Senate committee investigating the national defense program.

The Nazis sent jet planes, with disturbing success, against our bombers and spitfires over England with V-2's, the guided missiles. We never got a jet plane into the war and didn't start to build guided missiles till we had a chance to study some of those captured from the Germans.

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE We appear to be close to one of the historic moments of our day—an agreement by India's Moslems and Hindus to bury their age-old strife and sit down together for the first time to figure out ways and means of implementing the British government's offer of independence for that great sub-continent.

The British plan calls for a constituent assembly which will draft a federal constitution. This assembly would comprise delegates from the provinces of British India, delegates from the major states.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

CENTER OF OUR ATTENTION Look forward, not backward; look out, not in; look up, not down. Here is a three-fold rule for the living a wholesome and happy life.

Some people spend their lives looking back regretfully on things that can never be changed. Those who think bitterly of what cannot be changed, who brood over mistakes, who nourish resentments for slights of long standing, and who in the doing of this keep their eyes turned to the past are miserable indeed. Look forward! Let the dead past bury its dead!

There are those who every day miss the wholesome joys of living because they insist on keeping their thoughts centered on their emotions, on their aches and pains, on their bothersome problems. The sun shines brightly, the landscape beckons them with graceful hands of beauty, but still such people remain miserable, their thoughts fixed upon themselves. To such people the message is, Look out, not in! Above all, look up—above the turmoil of selfish men to the perfect justice of God. Common sense and religious faith urge us to look up from a world which would drive us to despair, and to keep our eyes fixed on the eternal principles of life which God has established as securely as he has established the stars.

Look forward, not backward; look out, not in; look up, not down. All Rights Reserved—Babson Newspaper Syndicate

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

(First of Two Articles) By BRACK CURRY

Washington—A idea from Brooklyn may coax the juvenile crime wave back within bounds.

With teen-age law breakers on the rampage as never before, Attorney Gen. Tom Clark and the United States attorneys are quietly employing a plan to give the errant kids a break and head off future crime outbreaks.

Some months ago, the attorney general told me in an exclusive interview, he became alarmed by reports that juvenile crimes were soaring.

Clark ordered statistics assembled and found that:

More persons aged 17 are being arrested than in any other age group. Youths under 21 represent 15 per cent of all murderers, 36 per cent of robbers, 51 per cent of all burglars, 34 per cent of all thieves, 26 per cent of all arsonists, 62 per cent of all car thieves and 30 per cent of all rapists.

"The arrests of girls under 18 have increased 198 per cent since 1939," Clark noted. "Arrests of boys under 18 have increased 48 per cent for homicide, 70 per cent for rape, 72 per cent for assault and 101 per cent for drunkenness."

"When these figures were presented to me I felt—and I still feel—that this repulsive and dangerous situation called for federal action."

Clark believes he has found the right method in the "Brooklyn plan." Sometimes it is called the "deferred prosecution plan."

The attorney general explains it this way:

"The basic idea underlying the Brooklyn plan is to determine whether prosecution is necessary."

"First an analysis is made of the youthful offender and the offense. If the United States attorney decides after considering all factors that there is a possibility the youth will commit no further offense and will adjust himself to society, the youth is placed on probation."

"If there has been no further breach at the end of the probation period, the original complaint is marked 'not entertained' or 'prosecution deferred.' A criminal record for the youth is thereby avoided. There is no black mark to hinder the youth in going straight."

The Guy Who Wanted Action

his life into constructive channels, he says. "The parents grasp quickly that their boy or girl has a chance of escaping the stigma of a criminal record. "But if a youth has been convicted of a felony, he often says, 'What is the use?' and follows a life of crime. He finds himself barred from many jobs and perhaps ostracized in his community. Machinery Stocks: Although there are exceptions, the machine tool industry will be beset for some time by a tremendous second-hand market. Its stock prices, however, are not over priced.

Merchandise Stocks: Sales and earnings will probably hit new peaks this year. I prefer, however, the chain stores, with their assets distributed broadly throughout the country, rather than the department stores with their assets concentrated in a few large cities subject to bombing.

Mining Stocks: There should be a continuous increase in the demand for non-ferrous metals in the months ahead. Mining stocks are also in the "bombing-proof" group. Crude Equipment Stocks: The office equipment companies have been suffering from the demands of reconversion, but the better-grade stocks should continue to be attractive to conservative investors.

The taxi driver, Porter Flournoy Turner, was stabbed to death last August. His body was dumped on the lawn of a physician's home in DeKalb County, a part of the Atlanta metropolitan area. The case has never been solved. The flogging victim, Hugh Johnson, who saw service in the Navy and is now a bellhop, said that while one man covered him with a gun, the others lashed him 52 times with a two-tailed leather whip. The beating occurred February 13 in College Park, near Atlanta's municipal airport.

They capped the spree with sirloin steak dinners and a watermelon.

Rains Save Ukraine Spring Wheat Crops

(Continued From Page One) Heavy rains have broken the drought that threatened harvests in the great wheat producing areas of the southern Ukraine and northern Caucasus, Tass said today.

The official Russian news agency reported that rains during the last five days had created highly favorable conditions for crops throughout the two districts and also in the vicinity of Kharkov, Kiev, Stalinograd, the Volga basin and Moldavia, Romania.

The rains fell in the nick of time to save spring crops. Ukrainian officials and members of an UNRRA mission to the Ukraine had said that continuation of the drought would have brought disaster to the wheat on which millions of Russians depend for their daily bread.

Foreign correspondents who visited Kiev last week were told there that rain would change the situation entirely in regard to spring wheat, probably resulting in a near bumper crop.

The winter wheat crop which is now nearing the harvest stage, probably will be favorably affected, but not enough to increase the yield greatly.

Capping Ceremony

The very impressive capping ceremony of the Red Cross Volunteer Nurses' Aides was held at the Episcopal parish house on Thursday, June 6, at 8:30 p. m. A large number of relatives and friends were present. The Reverend Roscoe Haas, rector, presided at the prayer service. The Rev. J. Leonard Middleton, chairman of the Pitt county chapter of the American Red Cross, presided and introduced Dr. J. B. Aycock, who spoke concerning the fine work that the Red Cross volunteer nurses aides were doing at the Pitt General hospital. He explained that the nation of an amazingly large number of trained nurses, leaving the folks "back home" in desperate need of nursing care, it was Mrs. Walter Lippman who conceived the idea of Red Cross volunteer nurses' aides, and the training program for these volunteers was soon under way. Dr. Aycock listed many of the important duties performed by the aides for the patient, and he stressed that the aides in Greenville continue to render invaluable services.

At the conclusion of Dr. Aycock's talk the graduates of the Red Cross volunteer nurses' aide course were capped by their instructor, Mrs. Blanche Cherry. Dr. W. H. Pott awarded the certificates and John Warner, chairman of the Red Cross Volunteer Nurses Aide Corps, presented the pins. The following graduates were duly honored: Miss Rosalie Taylor, Miss Constance Marie Barker, Mrs. Frances S. Cobb, Mrs. Jack Foley, Sr., Mrs. Lynn Dudley Thigman and Miss Helen Stuart Perkins.

Immediately following the capping ceremony the guests were invited into the adjoining room for a social hour where Mrs. James Little presided over the punch bowl.

Staff Members Of Army Paper Ousted After Censor Dispute

Manila, June 8—(AP)—Twenty-two staff members of the Daily Pacifican, Army newspaper, were ousted today and assigned to line duty after a dispute in which they charged they were censored in handling news.

The development drew these contrasting viewpoints:

Maj. Gen. J. G. Christensen, deputy commander of army forces, Western Pacific said the ousted staff members, by their statements, made it evident they could not accomplish their mission prescribed by the War Department.

Lt. George Cornell, Oklahoma City, officer who was in charge of the newspaper, said "this is the beginning of the end of honest army journalism."

Lieutenant Cornell said the 22 were assigned to the 86th division.

The ousted men appealed for a Congressional investigation. When they reported for duty this morning, they were told to return to barracks and await orders.

Cornell quoted Brig. Gen. E. J. McGaw as saying "they'll make use of all of you at the 86th and that's what you all need."

"No honest newspaperman wants any part of spoon-feeding soldiers with only those ideas the command thinks they should think."

Potato shipments will begin in a few days.

Some of these days the people of Pitt county may learn that interest on a bond issue sufficient to build good roads all over the county would not take as much money from their pockets each year as they now pay for road taxes to say nothing of the profit it would be to them in other ways to have good roads.

Hunt Continues For Carolina War Bride

Anderson, S. C., June 8—(AP)—A search for Mrs. James F. Mann, attractive 18-year-old Welch war bride of Innelly, South Wales, and her six-months-old daughter dragged into the third day today and so far no trace has been found.

Since arriving in Anderson May 18, Mrs. Mann has reportedly been happy with the parents of Sgt. Mann, who live in a mill village near Anderson.

The girl's father-in-law said that there should have been no reason for the girl to be unhappy, and he had boasted to his friends how happy they had been as a family.

Mrs. Mann disappeared from her husband's home here Wednesday afternoon, saying that she was going to attend a movie. She carried her infant daughter with her, but had no provisions for the baby's care.

On the telegram subject, the appropriations committee was told in secret session that one senator brought a list of several thousand names to the Senate Telegraphic Office and directed that each name receive a copy of a message at government expense.

The telegraphic activities of another senator also received closed-door inspection before the 300 limit monthly was agreed upon.

Senators now may designate the collect and paid messages which will be at government expense but the new provision would require that "all official business telegrams in excess of 300 per month shall be billed to the individual senator at prevailing government rates."

At the same time the appropriation committee approved an increase in long distance telephone calls at government expense for each senator to 50 strictly official calls aggregating per month not more than 250 minutes. The present limit is 25 calls totalling 130 minutes.

Russians Assert Japs In Fighting

Moscow, June 8—(AP)—A Tass dispatch from Shanghai, dated June 5, said today it had been learned from reliable sources that the Chinese government was using armed Japanese units to fight Communist troops.

Discipline by Rufus Heed

Chapter 20 That evening alone in her apartment Whitney sat disconsolately looking at the remnants of a cold supper she had scrambled together from left-overs in her miniature kitchen. She had a lot to think about.

That afternoon Paul had said definitely that Gregory had deliberately accused him of cheating at cards. If Gregory knew how to play baccarat, Paul was right. But he had told her so many times that he never played cards! This was something she must find out at once. It put an entirely different aspect on this quarrel between these two men. If Gregory knew the game and deliberately chose an exciting moment of play to make an entirely false charge against Paul, she knew nothing was going to work out the way she had hoped it would.

Going into her bedroom, Whitney piled up the pillows on her bed, replenished her stock of cigarettes and settled down to try and make some sense out of a situation which she knew now was rapidly getting out of her control.

The whole affair was far more serious than she had ever dreamed it would be. Something must be done at once. She would have to do it or see their names dragged through a public scandal in a court of law.

"It's all my fault," she thought bitterly. "I should never have invited those two men to the same breakfast."

If only she could talk to Polly! But Polly was just coming in for Mrs. Field's reception the next day and with all she, Whitney, had to do tomorrow she knew there would be no chance to see her sister alone. Whitney had wanted "time" to work things out for herself—well, she was getting it with a vengeance!

One more call she made before she went to bed. This was to Irene Parker, society editor of the Washington "Standard." Her enthusiasm over Whitney's telephoning her was instantaneous.

"You are just the person I most want to see," the society editor exclaimed. "Of course, I'll meet you early tomorrow in the Field apartment. But you're a much better person than the fussy little Field story than the fussy little Field story than the fussy little Field story."

"It was all too clumsy. Whitney was suddenly sorry she had started any of this."

"I'll say he does! He's much better at cards than he is some other things where I'd say his technique is decidedly moudly."

"You seem to know him pretty well," Whitney laughed shortly. "I manage to get around a bit. And I must say some of these foreigners are pretty obvious. Your crowd never bothers much with them, so you wouldn't know, being under the age limit."

That thrust made Whitney wince a little, but she'd asked for it. "I suppose all men have the customary number of alibis when it comes to their social existence—especially in this town."

Irene Parker snorted. "I wouldn't exactly call the Mexican divorcee she's playing around with an 'alibi'! She's more or less a main event, to get my metaphors slightly mixed. You see, everyone knows the Count is out after a rich wife!"

DEATH TOLL ON HIGHWAYS

Highway Official Tells Kiwanians Interesting Story

By CHESTER WALSH Col. H. J. (Doggle) Hatcher of Raleigh, commanding officer of the State Highway Patrol, speaking at the Greenville Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night, made a profound impression on the 77 representative citizens who comprise the club's membership.

"Can we afford to go on having 100 persons killed on the highways of the state every month?" he asked. He paid tribute to the 170 men who make up the highway patrol and said it is planned to ask the next General Assembly to double the force. If it is not doubled it should be abolished, he said, after painting a dramatic and tragic word-picture of the casualties of the highways.

Col. Hatcher said North Carolina is the dumping ground for nearly all of the broken down cars of nearby states. Virginia and South Carolina have compulsory motor vehicle inspection laws, and when cars can not stand the test they are ordered off the highways, and then they are sold in North Carolina, he declared.

The highway official explained that the General Assembly will also be asked to pass a law requiring compulsory inspection of motor vehicles. He said the patrolmen are overworked and that they average about 18 hours on duty each day. "Help us to arouse public sentiment to influence the Legislature and then we can reasonably assure you that you and other members of your family may leave home in the morning and return there safely at night," he said.

At the conclusion of Col. Hatcher's wonderful message Marvin K. Blount offered a motion pledging the Kiwanis Club's fullest support to the highway patrol, and Sen. Arthur B. Corey seconded it. President Ed Rawl gave the highway official a word of appreciation for his good work. Lieut. Lester Jones introduced the speaker.

Police Chief Jim Tanner, who had charge of the program, announced that a local safety campaign will get under way in Greenville Monday. He suggested that if an officer stops your car for a checkup, don't be worried, and said he is trying to save lives and property.

Clyde Hollowell will have charge of the program next Friday.

Dynamiting Results In Prison Sentence

Halifax, N. C., June 8—(AP)—Conviction of assault with a deadly weapon by dynamiting one of his tenant houses resulted in a two-year prison sentence for J. W. Williams, 64-year-old farmer of near Weldon.

Judge John J. Burney, who passed sentence yesterday in Halifax Superior Court, said that he was setting a light penalty because of the defendant's age.

Williams was convicted of throwing sticks of dynamite at a tenant house occupied by Mrs. Louise Brickell and her seven small children last May 15. Williams testified he "was only trying to scare the Brickell family into moving."

Vets Office Has Poll On Housing

Washington, June 8—(AP)—The Veterans Administration reported today 60 per cent of a sample 3,000 married ex-soldiers were still looking vainly for homes or apartments three and four months after they were discharged.

The Veterans Administration went after the information at the request of the National Housing Agency. The ex-soldiers all were enlisted men discharged last September at eight army and navy separation centers in northeast and central states.

The administration's report said many of those who were lucky enough to find suitable, separate living quarters had to pay more than they thought could afford. When questioned at the separation centers, only eight percent were prepared to pay more than $50 a month, but the survey disclosed 16 per cent were forced to go above that figure.

At the other end of the scale, 42 per cent said they needed housing at $30 a month or less. Only 25 per cent were able to get it.

As a result of these findings the Census Bureau will make a national survey for the Housing Agency during the next two months.

Revised Italian Truce Approved

Washington, June 8—(AP)—Government officials said today they expect the revised Italian armistice worked out by the Foreign Ministers' Conference at Paris last month to be signed next week and announced shortly thereafter.

The armistice revision was designed to give a greater degree of authority to the Italian government. It does away with the allied commission running Italian affairs and instead substitutes a military agency to look after the affairs of allied forces remaining in Italy.

The continuing purpose of these forces, in the controversial Trieste area, is stated here to be the maintenance of allied supply lines with British and American forces in Austria. The armistice revision is understood to do away with the use of allied forces for occupation of Italy.

The troops which remain in the country will be covered, according to authoritative information, by special agreement between the Italian and the allied governments.

Russo-Argentine Rift Is Healed

Buenos Aires, June 7—(AP)—Russia and Argentina have reestablished diplomatic relations, severed in 1917 after the overthrow of the Czarist regime.

Announcement of the termination of the 29-year-old diplomatic rift between the powers was made here by President Juan D. Peron at his first press conference since taking office last Tuesday.

Simultaneously, the Moscow radio, heard in London, said the two governments, "inspired by the high principles of collaboration and understanding between peoples, declare they have decided to establish from today complete diplomatic, consular and trade relations."

The Moscow broadcast said ambassadors would be exchanged "in the very near future."

The official Soviet press said the diplomatic link between the nations would result in extensive trade. A Russian mission which came here ostensibly to promote commerce was given diplomatic status at Peron's inauguration.

clubs will chip in the extra $15 each week. President Ray Goodman of Williamston presided over the meeting. The increase in salary is expected to attract some better umpires, it was stated.

It was also decided to make payment of $25 necessary with each protest a club enters. If the protest is upheld, the money is returned; otherwise, it will revert to the league treasury.

The league officials also voted to schedule each raffied out game as part of a doubleheader during the next meeting between the teams involved.

Two new umpires—veterans of the league's prewar days—have been signed. They are Roy Green and Tom Hanna.

Sports

Pittsburgh, June 8 — (AP)—The American Baseball Guild lost a drama-packed decision last night when the Pittsburgh Pirates voted against a strike for recognition, but despite the setback Robert Murphy, diamond union leader, declared:

"This fight barely has begun. This particular ball game isn't over just because the opposition got a few hits."

The players' decision to play ball was reached in a two-hour, secret clubhouse meeting from which writers, radio men—and even Murphy—were barred.

Their announcement—made to Pirate Field Director and Farm System Head Bob Rice—was only a terse "no strike." Rice was called into the meeting in the closed off trainers' section of the clubhouse from Manager Frank Frisch's office.

Washington, June 8 — (AP)—Those echoing cheers today are for none other than your old acquaintance Bobo Newsum, the traveling man, who has proved once again, they don't call him "Old Showboat" for nothing.

Against a backdrop of 22,709 howling fans, including some of his severest critics in the past, old Bobo kept his word by pitching a two-room, 3-2 victory over Chicago's White Sox last night.

When roving, 37-year-old Bobo came to the Washington Senators this week from the Philadelphia Athletics he told reporters, "I ain't predictin' this time—I'm just pitchin'."

Then he ambled out to the mound for his first start in his fourth hit with the Senators and came within two pinches of hurling a no-hit game.

New York, June 8 — (AP)—There is one more broken jaw and one less featherweight champion on Jacobs Beach today, and the beachcombers felt sorry for Sal Bartolo and welcomed Willie Pep as the first "no-argument" 126-pound, king since Henry Armstrong was taking the little men apart.

The broken jaw was plastered on Boston Sal last night in Madison Square Garden in the course of an uninteresting tussle in which Willie flattened the hub-town tumbler in the twelfth round of a 15-rounder to make one featherweight boss blossom where two have been blooming for almost a decade.

After 11 rounds of waltz-time walloping, Wee Willie from Hartford caught up with Sal at 2:41 of the 12th and put him to sleep with a short right hand either pill, which is something the 9,881 customers who chipped in to a $53,486 gate thought they were nibbling on throughout the fight. That's the kind of taffy-pull it was.

Greenies Bow To Wilson Sluggers

There was a thump last night that could be heard all over Guy Smith Stadium, when the Wilson nine out-hit the locals and tossed them into the cellar of the Coastal Plain League standings.

It was the Wilsonites' ninth straight win in defeating the Greenies 11-5.

Kelly Kee, pitching for Wilson allowed but six hits; and the Tobaccoists racked up fifteen hits off the combined efforts of the Greenville hurlers.

Of the six hits allowed the locals, Manager Payne was credited with three, one of them a circuit-clout in the seventh frame... but the bases were empty.

Truman Plans...

(Continued from Page One) gress to request immediate emergency strike control legislation. At that time he urged that no long-range measure be passed without six months study.

His appeal went unheeded, however. The senate that same day complete action of the Case bill and the house a few days later sent it on to the White House. Meanwhile, the emergency legislation has been approved in varying versions by both chambers and is now stalled in the House Rules Committee. Its members told newsmen they plan to await presidential action on the case measure before they do anything.

Large Number...

Only one of the 19 witnesses who previously defied a court order to testify for the prosecution was recalled to the stand in today's brief court session, but the prosecution announced 12 of them had "voluntarily" offered to talk if recalled.

The strike, which yesterday cut short the prosecution's case against Lt. Granville Cubage of Oklahoma City for lack of witnesses, was based on complaints by the witnesses against "army injustice."

All the strikers are confined in the guardhouse on what some called "trumped-up charges"—while defendants "run around here free," some complained.

The witness heard today was Pfc Arthur B. Duncan, of Elizabethtown, N. C., a former Lichfield jailer who is awaiting trial on cruelty charges. Duncan testified guards were instructed by Ennis to beat prisoners.
