

LEGISLATORS APPROVE NEW KING OF SIAM

Eighteen-Year-Old Brother Deceased Monarch To Ascend Throne

Bangkok, June 10.—Prince Phumiphon Aduldet, 18, was named king of Siam today while this very much shocked nation mourned the death of his brother 20-year-old King Ananda Mahidol, who was found in the royal palace yesterday with a bullet wound between the eyes.

The new king, who will become the ruler of more than 200,000 miles of territory and 18 million subjects, was unanimously selected by an extraordinary session of the legislature, meeting 12 hours after his brother's death.

The Siamese police director general told the legislature that Ananda's death was accidental. Phumiphon Aduldet, the almost constant companion of his older brother, was born in Boston, Mass., while his father, the late Prince Mahidol of Songkhla, was studying at Harvard. Phumiphon Aduldet and Ananda attended school together in Switzerland.

A three-member council of regency was named by the legislature to advise the new monarch. Prid Phanomyong, reappointed premier only three days ago, was expected to be retained in that position.

Only sketchy details were disclosed on the shooting of King Ananda, a bespectacled, diffident youth often described as a reluctant monarch, who had become extremely popular since his return from Switzerland last December.

The young ruler had been ill for two days and arose at 6 a. m. yesterday. (Continued on Page Four)

Probe Is Ordered Of Indian Rights

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark today ordered a complete investigation of complaints that some "selection" officials are refusing to permit North Carolina Cherokee Indians including 300 war veterans, to register as voters.

Clark said the civil liberties of the Justice Department's Criminal Division will make the investigation. He said this action "follows complaints filed with the Department of Justice by the American Legion's Steve Younger Post at Cherokee, N. C. The complaints were made in a letter signed by the post commander and four members.

"It is claimed by the Younger Post representatives," Clark said, "that among the Indians deprived of their right to register are 300 honorably discharged veterans of World War II.

"The complaints further allege that efforts to register were denied during the recent registration periods by some wounded Indian ex-servicemen but they were not allowed to do so. It is also contended that the rejected applicants to register are qualified to vote under the North Carolina law."

Changes In Insurance Costs Go Into Effect

Raleigh, N. C., June 10.—(AP)—Reductions of up to 50 per cent in costs of some types of automobile fire and theft insurance and an increase of 10 to 22 per cent in collision coverage rates were effective today in North Carolina.

Landon Hill manager of the Fire State Insurance Rating Bureau, said that the fire insurance rate on commercial cars was reduced about 25 per cent and theft rates lowered about 13-15 per cent. Cost of collision insurance on private automobiles was increased approximately 22 per cent and that on commercial cars was hiked about 10 per cent.

Truman's Decision On Case Bill Is Awaited

Associates Believe Presidential Veto In The Air; Chief Executive To Send Message To Congress Tomorrow

By CLAIR JOHNSON Washington, June 10.—(AP)—President Truman told his congressional leaders today he would send a message to Congress tomorrow on the Case labor disputes bill, but apparently did not say whether he would veto or sign it.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) told reporters after a 45-minute conference with the chief executive at the White House: "Whether it will be a veto or a message on approval we don't yet know."

Rayburn also disclosed that the administration leadership will try to get a rule in the House to send the president's own emergency strike control proposal to a conference of the two houses this week. Each passed it in different form.

"It is just a matter of awaiting action on the Case bill," Rayburn said.

Close associates of President Truman said today they expect him to send a message to Congress Tuesday vetoing the Case labor disputes bill.

White House intimates of the chief executive voiced this opinion privately, following two days of intensive study of the measure by the president and his advisors. Similar views were expressed by administration spokesmen on Capitol Hill.

None of these officials, however, would say positively that Mr. Truman has decided against approving the legislation, which sets up new federal mediation machinery and carries several sweeping regulations of union activity.

They reported only that they have received no indication the president will take any but the veto to course.

Mr. Truman himself was keeping his own counsel although he may disclose his decision today to congressional Democratic leaders at a regular weekly conference with them.

However, even if he does this, it is expected they will be pledged to silence until the message reaches Capitol Hill.

House leaders said they expect a message Tuesday, although the president has until midnight Wednesday to act on the legislation. If he does not sign or veto it by that time it automatically becomes law.

Even Case bill proponents in the House said they expect a veto, and they scheduled an informal strategy session today to discuss what action to take.

Some told newsmen they have enough strength to override a veto. This would require a two-thirds vote. Others expressed doubt.

They said they favored modifying the bill to meet halfway any presidential criticism and then returning it to him as soon as possible.

Several key Republicans reported that if Mr. Truman vetoes the case proposal they would just as soon not pass anything, and then blame the president later for any strikes or labor trouble which develop.

But other GOP legislators contended it is more important to get new labor regulations laws on the books soon, before any more major strike outbreaks.

CHINESE REDS BREAK TRUCE

Fierce Fighting In Manchuria Few Hours After Cease-Fires

Nanking, June 10.—(AP)—Field dispatches today reported fierce fighting broke out in Manchuria and in north central China within a few hours after Chiang Kai-Shek ordered a 15-day truce.

The government's Central News Agency said 200 government officers and men were killed or wounded as 12 Communist brigades armed with mortars and mountain guns battered government positions at Lafa and Kiu railway stations, east of Yungki.

Meantime, government and Communist leaders prepared to meet separately with U. S. General Marshall to discuss terms for permanent peace in this country, torn by civil strife for 18 years.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson radioed from Peiping that the government's Central News Agency charged the Communists attacked four Manchurian cities four hours after Chiang's cease fire order, to government troops became effective Friday.

Masterson said it was likely the Red troops were without radios and were not informed of the truce news of which was broadcast a day in advance.

The government agency's report from Changchung, the Manchurian capital, said the Communists attacked Taolachiao, 70 miles to the north; Lafa, east of Yungki; Hushih and Halahai. It described the Lafa offensive as "large scale."

Masterson, in another dispatch said a government spokesman told of "heavy casualties" in battling to retain the important Shantung province rail city of Tsinan, 70 miles north of Tsinan, provincial (Continued on Page Four)

Acquittal Asked For Accused Wife-Slayer

Columbia, S. C., June 10.—(AP)—Acquittal from the wife-murder charge on which he was convicted and sentenced to life in prison was sought today by Samuel R. Epes of Richmond, Va., in an appeal to the South Carolina Supreme Court.

Epes, 28, son of a wealthy industrialist family, was convicted last September on a charge of poisoning and suffocating his pretty, auburn-haired wife to whose makeshift foxhole grave he led officers in February, 1945, two weeks after he had reported her missing.

His chief defense counsel, State Senate president pro tempore Edgar A. Brown, told the court that the state had failed to prove that Mary Lee Williams Epes had been murdered. He asked Epes acquitted on this count.

New Republic

ROME, June 10.—(AP)—Italy formally became a republic late today.

In brief ceremonies in Montecitorio palace's "Hall of the Wolf," Chief Justice Giuseppe Pagano announced that the Court of Cassation, highest tribunal in Italy, had officially determined that the people had voted out the House of Savoy monarchy in the plebiscite last week.

It was believed that Umberto would leave immediately after the ceremony for Portugal, where he will join his wife and children in exile.

It was expected that the Supreme Court would finish the tabulation of ballots cast in last week's plebiscite on the monarchy versus the republic earlier in the day.

GREAT FUTURE SAYS CHERRY

Gov. Predicts Next Ten Years To Be State's Best Period

Wrightsville Beach, June 10.—(AP)—Governor Cherry predicted today that the next ten years will be the finest, most productive, most progressive, the very best period in our state's history.

But he warned in an address prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Merchants Association here, that only by our work can we overcome current obstacles and problems and move forward on the economic front.

Calling for more production to supply the things needed in the state to balance prosperity, the governor said:

"We have no actual problem here in North Carolina in producing more goods, more jobs, more income, and more a better life for everybody. If there is a problem it is the need for more and harder work to provide these things."

Recalling that after the first World War there was "more money than production, tending toward serious inflation," Cherry said that "we don't want a boost in prices today, if it is attended by a decrease in supply."

"We must not have the lower standard of living that such a situation would bring," he said, and added: "Let's understand that the sound way to get more money is to invest more work in more production. We are a practical people here in North Carolina. We are a sound state. We can be prosperous, but the four-letter word 'work' is the key to our whole economy."

He described North Carolina as a fantastic state, one in which we have more things for more people (Continued on Page Four)

Workers Still Hunt Victims Of Flames

Second Hotel Fire In Four Days Takes Unknown Toll; Fifteen Bodies Found In Building, Many Unaccounted For

Dubuque, Iowa, June 10.—(AP)—Workmen were bracing the creaking walls of the Canfield Hotel today preparatory to further search for bodies in the gutted structure where 15 persons died when fire broke out yesterday.

In addition to the 15 dead, three who still were unidentified, American Red Cross officials said 23 persons remained unaccounted for. Twenty-one persons were injured, 16 of whom still were in Dubuque hospitals.

While officers held off further search for bodies on orders of Deputy State Fire Marshal Zack Cook who said the walls were dangerously sagging, the American Red Cross continued a radio appeal for all persons who were registered at the hotel Saturday night to report to the Red Cross.

Fire Chief Perry Kirch said he believed most of the persons unaccounted for after the fire roared through the 55-year-old building early yesterday morning were permanent guests who were registered at the hotel, but had left for the weekend.

The hotel register listed 123 names, many of which were illegible because of water damage. The Red Cross said the missing probably included the three unidentified dead.

Kirch said he expected to find a few more bodies in the piles of charred debris.

Meanwhile a three-way investigation was scheduled to open here this morning in attempt to determine the cause of the blaze, which apparently started in the basement. (Continued on Page Four)

Summer Baseball League Started

The recreation department summer baseball leagues will get under way Tuesday, June 11. There will be nine teams competing in the three leagues. The Training School section will have four teams to represent that part of the city. Three teams will come from the Third Street School section and West Greenville will have two teams. The games will be supervised by Boley Farley and assistants and will be staged at different playground areas.

Any boys who want to play baseball or softball, who have not already signed up with one of the teams may do so by getting in touch with any of the playground directors.

The schedule for tomorrow's schedule for tomorrow is: UR51kGamesSt Training School Wildcats vs. the Third Street Giants at Third Street at 10 a. m.

Training School Cardinals vs. Greenville Indians at West Greenville at 2:30 p. m.

Training School Yankees vs. the Third Street Tigers at Third Street at 3 p. m.

The older boys' league and the softball leagues will begin operation later in the week. Announcements will be made in this paper.

Congressmen Get Go-Ahead Signal

BIG THREE OF TOBACCO SAID MONOPOLISTS

Supreme Court Affirms Conviction In 6-0 Decision; Heavy Fine Imposed

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today affirmed conviction of three major tobacco companies on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust act.

The case involved the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company and the American Tobacco Company. They were fined a total of $255,000 in U. S. district court in Lexington, Ky. The sixth federal circuit court upheld the conviction.

Justice Burton delivered the 5-0 decision. Justices Reed and Jackson did not participate.

Burton said the companies "have been found to have conspired to establish a monopoly and also to have the power and intent to establish and maintain the monopoly. To hold that they do not come within the prohibition of the Sherman act would destroy the force of that act."

Justice Frankfurter in a brief concurring opinion said he believed the court also should have ruled on whether errors were committed in the (Continued on Page Four)

House Labor Subcommittee To Attempt Working Out Solution Of Maritime Dispute As Federal Mediation Attempts Appear Deadlocked; Strike Deadline Draws Near

By MAX HALL

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—House labor subcommittee is going ahead with plans to work out a congressional solution of the maritime dispute now that other federal mediation attempts appear deadlocked.

Kelley of the subcommittee on labor-management, told a reporter that his group had held off hearings hoping the labor department could work out a settlement.

"We had hoped for a settlement by tomorrow but now that it looks like there will be nothing coming out of the labor department negotiations we feel that we should get busy right away," Kelley said.

"The deadline for the strike is getting right on us."

Seven unions affiliated with the CIO-dominated committee for maritime unity (CMU) have set a strike date for midnight Friday in behalf of their demands, principally for a reduction in the present 56-hour work-week for seamen.

Kelley said his committee will open hearings tomorrow with testimony from either Joseph Corran, president of the CIO National Maritime Union, or Harry Bridges, the head of the CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. They are co-chairmen of CMU. Another witness will be Joseph Kelly, president of the CIO American Communist Association.

Union preparations for a maritime strike Friday night roared to high gear today after the CIO National Maritime Union turned down a proposal to give seamen shore leave with pay.

This suggestion first was put forward by labor department conciliators as a possible way to break the deadlock over the length of the work at sea.

The idea was to give one day of shore leave for every 14 days at sea, and keep the present 56-hour week—eight hours a day, seven days a week.

Eastern ship operators accepted the suggestion last night and formally offered it as a proposal in a negotiating session which lasted until well after midnight.

But the union, which is demanding a 44-hour week, rejected the idea as impractical, and then proposed exploration of other ways of meeting its demands, according to a labor department announcement. (Continued on Page Four)

Senators OK Snyder For Treasury Post

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—The Senate Finance Committee today approved President Truman's nomination of John W. Snyder to be Secretary of the Treasury.

Snyder succeeds Fred M. Vinson, who has been nominated for Chief Justice of the United States.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) said the committee's action, taken at a closed session, was unanimous. Senator Donnell (R-Mo.) made public a statement he delivered to the committee which said:

"I am of the opinion that the nomination of Mr. John W. Snyder to be Secretary of the Treasury should be confirmed. I believe his capacity and integrity qualify him to perform creditably the duties of this highly important office. The state of Missouri is greatly honored by the fact that the President has made this selection from among her sons."

THE WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE India's scene 600 ruling princes—comprising at a guess, the vast majority of the world's supply of such bejeweled anachronisms—are heading for a tremendous shake-up under the program for Indian unification and it won't be surprising if five-sixth of them don't survive the ordeal.

Pandit Nehru, president elect of the All-India Congress and next to Mahatma Gandhi the most powerful figure in the country, called during the week-end in no uncertain terms for democratization of the native states within the federal government which is projected. That is, Nehru demands that the rule of the principalities be transferred from the autocratic princes to the people.

This apparently doesn't preclude the retention of a prince as head of state if his people want him. However, he will be merely a nominal ruler instead of having the power of life and death over his subjects, which many of these petty sovereigns have. Moreover—and this is the real catch—hundreds of the principalities are so small that they are hardly worthy of the designation, and these may be amalgamated into provinces which will permit of the princes and thus end their rule. It's an interesting commentary on the change which has come over India, that Nehru should challenge the princes. He himself is a Brahmin aristocrat of aristocrats among the Hindus. Yet this blue-blood, who was educated at Harrow and Cambridge University in England, is battling for the rights of the common folk of his country. Of course one can name maharajahs who have been real benefactors to their people. I've been the guest of some of them in their palaces. (Continued on page 20)

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

By CLAIR JOHNSON (Substituting for James Marlow.) Washington, June 10.—(AP)—A row in the House Foreign Affairs Committee is holding up publication of a report critical of Russia's policies in dealing with her neighbor nations behind "the Iron curtain."

The report, by a four-member subcommittee which toured Europe last fall, should have been made public last week.

But because of sections which condemn Soviet activity in Poland and the Balkans, plus Iran as well, administration supporters in the committee are urging a change in language before its release.

Some of these members even said that "undiplomatic references" to Russia made them favor indefinite suppression of the report.

One of the subcommittee members, Rep. Mundt (R-SD), told a reporter that "apparently an attempt is being made to squelch our report."

He declined to discuss its details but added that if the committee blocks publication "we will take it upon ourselves to see that the public gets the facts."

Mundt would say only that the material in the report is "a factual statement of what we found on our trip," but he hinted some sections "are pretty hot."

One portion of the report, a committee connected official reported privately, is highly critical of the Moscow-blessed regime of Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia.

In this connection, Mundt told the House recently that the subcommittee intended to recommend trial by an international tribunal for Gen. Draja Mihailovitch, Yugoslavian guerrilla leader and Tito's opposite number of a resistance leader during the war.

Mihailovitch is now scheduled to be tried this week on charges of (Continued on Page Four)

Witnesses Unite In Laments Before Committee Probing Bread Shortage

Washington, June 10.—(AP)—A woodworker clad in work clothes appeared before a senate congressional committee today, flourished a loaf of bread and complained he'd spent two hours and searched five bakeries to find it.

The unscheduled witness, F. L. Frillman of Washington, had a double tale of goe to relate to the Senate's small business committee, which is trying to find out the reasons for the bread shortage.

On top of the bread scarcity, the man lamented, it's getting so you can't find meat—"nothing but salami."

"And the only way to eat salami," he said, "is in a sandwich and the only way to have a sandwich is with bread, and you can't get bread now."

A bevy of bakers got their chance, too, to pass along the gripes they've been getting from bread-hunting housewives. And a sugar broker, in tones far (Continued on Page Four)

In Memoriam
We the members of the Tar River district of the Rural Letter Carriers Association, pause in honor and respect to our late Brother Walter C. Buck, who departed this life February 20th, 1946.

There is a beginning and an ending to everything, and between the beginning and the ending of a human life, there is that constant urge desire and ambition to reach outward, to look upward for the realm of the beyond, where all is well. Our Brother Buck possessed all of these qualities, putting first things first in his life.

As he was faithful to his commitments of right, as he was obedient to the demands of honor and justice in his labors, we strain our eyes in vain endeavor to scan with mortal vision the infinite shore. But thanks to our Heavenly Father, who giveth fruition to his children's hopes. He died to look again and again.

Brother Buck was sixty-six years old at the time of his death. He was born and raised in Pitt county, lived practically all of his life in this county. He lived that life in a most honorable way, winning the confidence and respect of the citizens of Pitt county. Brother Buck was a member of the Baptist Church. He served loyally and faithfully on the church board for a number of years. To the end, it could truthfully be said of him, that he was a Christian gentleman. We can pay no higher honor to our Brother.

Forty-five years ago Brother Buck married Miss Ida Stocks. To this happy union were born three children, Mrs. Lottie Buck Meeks, W. Scott Buck, J. Clifton Buck and seven grand children. They can look back, as but few can, with pride and say, Walter C. Buck was my husband or father.

Brother Walter Buck was a rural mail carrier for 26 years. He first began carrying mail out of the Ayden post office. When the department was consolidating so many of the routes, a vacancy occurred in the Winterville office. When this occurred, the department consolidated the routes of the Ayden and Winterville offices. It fell to Brother Buck's lot to be transferred to the Winterville office, where he served faithfully to the time of his retirement, February 18th, 1941. After his retirement, he engaged in the mercantile business.

His family, his church, his friends, his patrons and the Rural Letter Carriers Association have suffered a severe loss. But for him let us think of it as a real gain, for he has gone to dwell where they will never grow old.

Hudson-Kilgo
Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage on Saturday evening, June 8, of Miss Louise Troy Kilgo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Luther Kilgo, of Sterling Lanier Hudson, son of Mrs. A. C. Hudson and the late Mr. Hudson of Greensboro. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Bradshaw, pastor of the church.

Prior to the ceremony a program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley, organist. Her selections included Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata," Chopin's "Nocturne," and Schubert's "Serenade." Mr. E. O. Parkinson, Jr., sang, "Through the Years," and "Until" and at the close of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Parkinson, Jr., Elizabeth Bridges and Spruill Spain sang the "Benediction" by Peter Lutkin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, fashioned with long basque effect waist and high neckline. The sleeves came to a point over the hands and the skirt of bouffant style, displaying a front panel of Venice Medallion lace, ended in a cathedral train. Her veil of illusion fell from a cap of the same Venice Medallion lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, showered with valley lilies.

Attending the bride was her sister, Miss Susanne Kilgo, as maid of honor and Misses Margaret Hudson, sister of the groom, and Miss Louise Taylor of Oxford as bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore a dress of cloud-blue net over lace, made with tight bodice, softened with fish of net, and a full skirt. She wore a beaming cap of match-ings net and carried a bouquet of lavender d-labium and pink roses, tied with or-lid ribbon.

The bridesmaids wore dresses and caps identical to that of the maid of honor and carried bouquets of blue delphinium, pink roses and yellow daisies tied with pink ribbon.

Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. Rolla Holt of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Ronald Slay of New York, Misses Lillian Howard of Raleigh, Charlotte Elliot of Edenton and Phyllis Shuff and Lucy Blount of Greenville.

Joe Powell of Greensboro attended the groom as best man. The groomsmen were Claude Teague of Chapel Hill, Franklin Howard of Raleigh and Tom Webb of Greenville.

The ritual used in the ceremony was the same from which the bride's grandfather, the late Bishop J. L. Kilgo, was ordained, and from which later her mother and father were married and she herself was baptized.

The bride's mother wore a gown of aqua crepe with becoming hat of violet straw and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Hudson, mother of the groom, wore dusty rose with shoulder corsage of roses.

Mrs. Hudson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Luther Kilgo and the granddaughter of the late Bishop J. L. Kilgo, once president of Trinity College now Duke University.

She attended Greensboro College for Women, was for some time a voice student of Frank La Forge of New York and was later graduated from East Carolina Teachers College.

The groom is the son of Mrs. A. C. Hudson and the late Mr. Hudson of Edna Elias Charlotte, and Mr. Joe Powell Greensboro.

Assisting in receiving were Mrs. Lee Folger, Miss Sue Barrett, Mrs. Fred Haar, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Stancil, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Slay.

Christian Science service
"God the Only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the lesson- sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, June 9.

The Golden Text was from Jeremiah 10:10. "The Lord is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting king: he hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and stretched out the heavens by his discretion."

Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon were the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good." (Genesis 1:13).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine principle, or spirit, comprehends and expresses all, and all must therefore be as perfect as the divine principle is perfect. Nothing is new to spirit. Nothing can be novel to eternal mind, the author of all things, who from all eternity knoweth His own ideas. Deity was satisfied with His work. How could He be otherwise, since the spiritual creation was the outgrowth, the emanation, of His infinite self-containment and immortal wisdom."

A. L. Manning Passes After Long Illness

Chapter 21
Polly Wilson was waiting for Whitney at the Club Eighty-four the next day at noon. Whitney had telephoned that she would be late in Iowa delegation scheduled for the end of a busy morning in the office had necessitated a late luncheon hour.

The club lounge was almost empty. There was an air of elegance and complete withdrawal from the hectic Washington scene in this high-ceilinged room with its fine paintings and old damask draperies drawn against the admission of too much light and noise. Polly was grateful for this chance to think out a few troublesome questions before she met her younger sister. A mistake now on her part might cost her Whitney's confidence and that could certainly be a calamity just at this time.

She remembered an old bromide her father used to repeat when she was a little girl clamoring for something she wanted very much at the moment.

"Polly," he would say with that definite air of rightness which dulled of his generation always turned on the young men when they were about ready to say "no," "don't you know that the worst thing that could happen to a boy or a girl would be to give them exactly what they want the most?"

The logic of that seldom appealed to Polly in her teens but she was wondering about it today in regard to Whitney. She had insisted she wanted time to decide which of these men she really loved. She was getting all she asked for in that respect and quite a lot more.

That morning at the breakfast table Spuds had told her that a law suit of this kind would certainly involve Whitney and the Scotts. A bad situation might become very much worse if something were not done about it.

She watched Whitney crossing the wide hall, coming toward her with the free long stride of a girl who lived much of her life outdoors. Her red-gold hair swept down on her shoulders and framed her lovely glowing face. Polly felt a surge of pride and deep affection sweep over her. Whitney was one of the best—she didn't want her hurt now—dragged through scandal.

"Oh, Polly, am I ever glad to see you." Whitney put her arm around the two girls started walking slowly toward the restaurant. "I thought I'd never get here. I couldn't get a taxi anywhere. Finally I telephoned Gregory and he drove me over in his roadster."

"I suppose you are seeing a lot of him here in Washington," Polly observed as the waiter departed with their luncheon order.

"Yes," Whitney replied slowly. "I am. And tonight I'm going to have a showdown."

In spite of herself Polly gave a start of surprise. "Why," she asked, startled at the abruptness of her sister's remark. "Has anything else happened?"

"No, but something is going to force this case gets to court."

"I don't understand."

"Just that I'm tired of Gregory's evasions. He won't tell me what is back of the charge he made against Paul. I'm beginning to think he doesn't any more believe Paul as cheating at backgammon than you do."

"What on earth are you talking about?" Polly exclaimed suddenly, felled at the unexpected indignation in her sister's voice. It began to look as if the careful arguments he had marshaled up for Whitney's consideration might not be necessary after all.

"Have you found out that he doesn't know how to play the game?"

"Yes, I'm sure he knows a lot about cards," Whitney said in a level voice, "but there is more to it than that. At first I thought he didn't and that in the excitement of the game he'd made a mistake. He that could be righted by a gentleman's agreement—out of court—a apology, that sort of thing. But Gregory won't do that."

"Paul, of course, insists on going through with the libel suit."

"There isn't anything else he can do," Whitney's voice sounded tired as if she had rehearsed the matter many, many times before. "Gregory is the only one who can make the mend honorably and satisfy Paul now. Things have gone too far. The case will be called in eight days."

Polly was silent while the waiter brought their luncheon. The silence between the girls lasted until he had disappeared into the pantry. It was so late now they were the last people left in the restaurant.

"I've decided to find out for myself what is back of all this, Polly. Paul isn't here. He left this afternoon for the Pacific Coast. But even if he were here I wouldn't be telling him. He's only been in Washington once since the hunt breakfast. Gregory says nothing. He puts up like a clown whenever the subject is mentioned. But he must have some reason for deliberately getting a court action like this wreck in his career. It jolly well will, too, if the case gets into court. The empress lawyer told the Senator that so days ago."

"But what can you do, Whitney?" Polly asked anxiously. "After all, you are not responsible in any way for what happened. It is strictly a matter between these two men and don't want you involved in it any more than is absolutely necessary. Here isn't anything you can do."

"I'm not so sure you're right about that," Whitney retorted. "Senator Field knows what gives and I'm going to make him tell me tonight. Don't worry. Polly, if I am out of Washington for a few days, I'll be right and the Senator will know here I am. I'm the girl with a name."

"I see," Polly's voice was dubious. "You had one before, remember?"

I'm not so awfully keen about these plans of yours."

Whitney laughed. "Well, I don't think the first one was too brilliant—but this one may be better—sort of victory of labor over management idea! Anyway, I am not going to sit around and do nothing. I'm going to get some action—but fast!"

Suddenly for no accountable reason Polly began to feel better.

Paraguayan Army Revolt Quelled

Asuncion, Paraguay, June 10—(AP)—A pre-dawn barracks revolt

in which five Paraguayan soldiers were killed Sunday appeared quelled today after President Gen. Higinio Morinigo "reassumed" control of the army and four high cavalry officers fled to the Brazilian embassy.

Rifle and artillery fire rattle around the suburban Campo Grande barracks for four hours to 6 a. m. Sunday and truckloads of soldiers sped through the streets of Asuncion, mostly unaware of the uprising except for the gunplay, was quiet for the rest of the day and transportation and entertainment facilities operated normally. It was the second attempted revolt this year.

The noisy but futile revolt appeared to have been headed by Col. Victoriano Benitez Vera, who was angry because of his removal as commander of the first cavalry division, while he was in Buenos Aires on a special diplomatic errand. Returning, Benitez Vera went to divisional headquarters where he apparently gained sympathy of other officers and raised the rebellion.

How well did General Electric meet its objectives last year?

GENERAL ELECTRIC has a three-fold responsibility—to the public, to its employees, and to its owners. The 1945 annual report, just printed, gives some indication of how well we met these objectives last year.

General Electric's growth has come from new and better products for the public, continuously improved.

Out of production efficiency have come higher wages, increased jobs, and the earnings needed to continue these gains.

This year General Electric did not get off to as good a start as in 1945. But the objectives and aims of General Electric are the same and will continue to be the same—to keep wages as high as possible, to keep prices down as far as possible, and to earn a fair profit.

For a copy of General Electric's Annual Report and Yearbook for 1945, write Dept. 6-237, General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

"GREATER LOVE HATH NO MAN THAN THIS"

One of the finest heroes of the recent war was Chaplain George S. Rentz of the U. S. S. Houston.

When the Houston was sunk by the Japanese on March 1, 1942, Chaplain Rentz was wearing a life jacket. He swam to the side of a raft which had a capacity for twenty men and found that twice that number were either on the raft or clinging desperately to it. Many of these men had no life preservers. Looking over the situation, Rentz deliberately took off his life preserver and gave it to a young seaman. "I am an old man," he said (he was just 60). "I have lived the major part of my life and I am willing to go. You are young, and your life is yet before you. You take the life preserver." The seaman to whom Rentz gave his life jacket eventually reached shore and was saved.

Of course Chaplain Rentz was not the only man who did this sort of thing during the war. Three chaplains, one Catholic, one Jewish, and one Protestant, gave up their life preservers to members of another crew and went down with their ship. But the heroic act of Chaplain Rentz did not derive its moral value from the fact that it was unique. Done millions of times over, it would still have been a remarkable piece of heroism. His act was great because it was disinterested, self-effacing, and Christlike.

Corner F. S. Leonard said there would be no inquest unless suggested as a result of this investigation. He said the deaths were the result of suffocation or cremation in nearly all instances.

The blaze was fought 21-2 hours by 75 firemen and there were numerous scenes of horror and heroism. One man saved the work of Williams who saved firemen and 35 policemen to bring out victims.

indeed constitute interference with our internal affairs."

Few details have been released on arrangements for the trial, originally scheduled for mid-May but postponed by the government without explanation. Names of the defense attorneys have not been announced, but it is understood they have prepared their case.

Approximately 70 foreign correspondents have gathered from all over Europe to attend the trial which, according to the Tanjug Agency, will be held in Topcider, a Belgrade suburb.

The 24 defendants include Chetniks, members of the former Yugoslav government-in-exile in London, and alleged collaborators. Those appearing in the dock, however, will be followers of Nediz and Mihalovic. The others will be tried in absentia.

Constantin Fotich, former Yugoslav ambassador to the United States, will be among those to be tried in absentia. Fotich who resigned his post in July, 1944, and refused to recognize the government of Premier Marshal Tito, is still in the United States.

of Kiwanis International, Bradley gave these veterans statistics: 9,000,000 of 12,500,000 discharged from the services were now employed.

1,000,000 were "on vacation," having no jobs and not seeking any for the time being.

750,000 have been enrolled in schools and on-the-job training. 1,750,000 were drawing readjustment allowances.

He said 250,000 student-veterans would find no room in first-choice schools to which they would apply.

Bradley said housing shortages, joblessness and inflation were the consequences of the war, and that the veterans "must suffer these out-

The Justice Department contended its case against the companies showed there was "intent and power to produce a result which the law condemns—exclusion of competitor." It agreed that "neither on authority nor on reason is the further element of actual exclusion of competitors necessary to this offense" of monopolization.

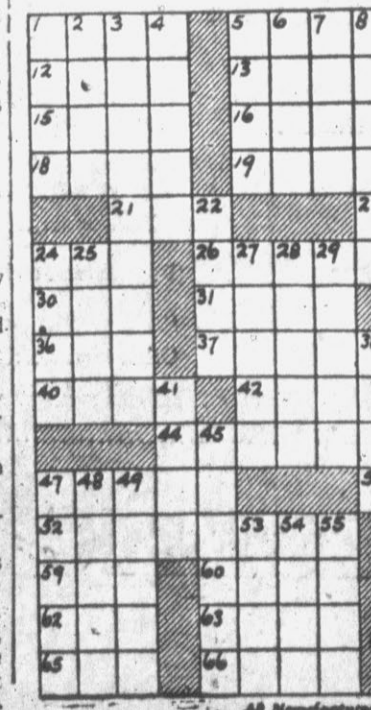

Justice Rutledge wrote a brief concurring opinion in which he said he agreed that "the offense of monopolization is complete when power is acquired to exclude competitors and therefore actual exclusion need not be shown."

Funeral Rites Today For John R. Cannon

John R. Cannon, 61, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary A. Worthington, in Grifton Sunday morning at 5 o'clock. He suffered a stroke of paralysis last October and had been ill since then.

Funeral services were conducted at the home of Mrs. Worthington this afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Rev. H. G. Sullivan, Christian minister of Wilson. Burial was in the Ayden cemetery.

Mr. Cannon lived in the Ayden and Grifton communities all of his life except for three years when he lived in Newport News, Va. He was a farmer. He was a member of Roundtree Christian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Leona McLawhorn Cannon, two daughters, Miss Laura Cannon of Greenville and Miss Omega Cannon of the home, three sons, J. R. Cannon of the U. S. Army, now overseas; Reginald (Buddy) Cannon of Newport News, and Morris L. Cannon of the home; two grand children; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Worthington of Grifton and Miss Mattie Cannon of Greenville, and four brothers, J. E. Cannon of Ayden, R. L. Cannon of Richmond, and E. aces and have observed their fine work. For the most part, however, the princes through the centuries have lived Arabian nights existences by exacting terrible taxation from their people.

Scores of these potentates have squandered vast fortunes on heaps of jewels and other follies while their subjects literally went hungry. You have to see this way of life at first hand to believe that it could survive. Indeed, if you haven't seen it already you may miss out altogether, for the princes as we have known them are as fast fading institution.

The paramount prince of India—and one who presumably will continue as a constitutional ruler—is His Exalted Highness, the Nizam of Hyderabad. He is absolute ruler over a state about the size of Kansas and having a population of more than 16,000,000.

ocrat is the richest man in the world, and it's easy to believe this may be true, although he himself probably has no idea of the extent of his possessions. It has been estimated that he has $1,500,000,000 in jewels alone, and that's easy to believe if you've seen some of the collections possessed by the princes.

But the riches of some of the maharajahs doesn't rest in jewels alone by any means. When I first visited India in 1916 I was told that the Nizam had 250 wives. I didn't count 'em, and I doubt if he ever did, but half a dozen more or less doesn't matter among so many. It was related that he took sixteen of them on an excursion one time and that during the holiday eleven of them became mothers. But maybe I shouldn't have mentioned that.

The major princes already have signified their willingness to participate in the proposed independent federal government for India. We may be certain that the All-India Congress will insist that the principalities be placed on the same democratic basis as the provinces of British India.

Grain Market

Chicago, June 10—(AP)—All grains held at ceilings throughout the session on the board of trade today. Activity was very light as traders focused attention on Washington and the legislative battle over the OPA extension bill. Small offerings of wheat, corn and oats were absorbed at maximums without difficulty.
Final prices were at ceilings of $1.98 1/2 for wheat, $1.46 1/2 for corn, 88 cents for oats, $1.58 1/2 for rye and $1.35 1/2 for barley. Country offerings of cash grain fell off, purchases for future delivery amounting to 40,000 bushels of corn and 30,000 bushels of oats.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 10—(AP)—Buying of steels and special issues stiffened the stock market generally today although demand was notably light in most departments.
The direction was upward after a moderately hesitant opening and, near the close, gains of fractions to 2 or more points were well distributed. Scattered losers persisted and many leaders did little or nothing. Transfers for the full proceedings held to around the 1,000,000-share level.

Our slogan this summer is "Around the world with books." All persons who read 15 books and report on them are eligible to receive a certificate.
Books are good companions. Happy is the girl or boy who has learned to love a good story. He or she is never lonely. He has a friend, who is the envy of every child in the neighborhood. He has traveled all over the world, and enjoyed the most thrilling adventures that one could imagine.
Nothing can supply the place of books.
We have been very much pleased with our visitors this week.

"CONCRETE EVIDENCE"
From an Editorial in GREENSBORO DAILY NEWS

"... concrete evidence of the program recently inaugurated by the North Carolina Association for Wine Control to clean up conditions in the industry and of the teeth and determination which the campaign has given in the revelation that a... man (retailer of wine) has been arrested and convicted of having in his possession illegal wine. Counsel for the Association assisted in the prosecution of the case."

"There is no reason why, with proper leadership and appreciation of its responsibilities, this industry should not be lifted to the plane of dignity which will bring public sanction to permit this state to reap the economic gains to which its natural qualifications for a great grape-growing center entitle it."

Persons are invited and urged to enroll in the class on Tuesday evening.

Just think how grand you'll feel when your dentures stay comfortably secure from the time you put them in until you take them out... how wonderful to be able to say goodbye to sore, irritated gums and mouth... how marvelous to enjoy eating and chewing all the foods you like... and be able to talk or laugh without fear of plates slipping to cause embarrassment. So, get a tube of pleasant, easy-to-use STAZE at any of our stores today or tomorrow sure with this positive guarantee—you'll be completely delighted with the wonderful dental plate comfort and security STAZE will bring you or you'll get your money back—when you return unused portion of the tube.

Read what these grateful plate-wearers say!

"It is the only thing that will hold my lower plate in. Have had five made and not one will stay in my mouth without the help of Staze."—C. R. M.

"I find it most wonderful. Hot drinks don't affect it as they do the powders. It also fills in perfectly where shrinkage has occurred."—J. K.

"Only a person suffering the inconvenience of a loose plate can appreciate the relief of Staze."—Mrs. L. O.

"Without Staze, I would be unable to eat... as my lower plate rests on a flat surface—no ridge at all."—Mrs. J. S.

"It holds false teeth so tight, food particles don't get under plates."—Mrs. R. W.

The above quotations are typical of thousands. But the important thing is not what STAZE is doing for others—but what it can do for YOU! So act NOW! Get a generous introductory tube of STAZE at any of our stores and discover for yourself how all your days may be "happy days with STAZE."

Introductory 35¢ Tube ONLY 29¢

Discover for Yourself this Easy, Proven Way to Forget Loose-Plate Troubles and Worries!

Be guided by the experience of grateful thousands. Follow their example and just squeeze a little STAZE on your uppers and lowers first thing each morning and you'll discover that:

1. Staze not only helps prevent chafing by holding your plates securely in place, but also quickly relieves soreness by forming a s-o-o-t-h-i-n-g "comfort cushion" under plates.
2. Staze seals around plate edges to help prevent annoying food particles from getting in between plates and mouth to cause annoying irritation and often unpleasant "denture breath".
3. Easier and much more pleasant to use than messy "powders". Spreads evenly over plates by itself. No uncomfortable "lumping".
4. Most economical because it lasts longer, and there's no waste when you use it. (Costs less than a penny a day.)
5. All the ingredients in Staze are absolutely pure. Nothing to upset your stomach or cause nausea. Safe for any denture material. Approved by Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Don't let loose plates continue to make your life miserable! Get a big introductory tube of Staze—at any of our stores today or tomorrow. Discover for yourself how all your days may be "happy days with Staze."

After winning two games in Saturday's double-header against Tarboro, the Greensies lost their game to the Tars in the Guy Smith Stadium by a 10-11 score Sunday.

The locals opened their Sunday session with a six-run first frame, featuring Milt Narron's homer with bases loaded.

Tarboro took the lead in the third inning, and kept it. Vorell, Diederick and Lucas, of the visiting team, connected for home runs.

The winning run was scored in the eighth on Arakelian's triple and Vorell's single.

Mexico City, June 9 (AP)—A "real" world series between the winner of the American-National league series in the United States, and the champion of the Mexican baseball league will be proposed formally to A. B. (Happy) Chandler tomorrow by Mexican League President Jorge Pasquel.

Pasquel told reporters tonight that the playoff between the American and National leagues was no more a true world series than a shaggy play-off in the Piedmont League.

The millionaire sportsman who has enticed some of the best talent of the major leagues to the Mexican cactus circuit said he would suggest that the "real world series" be played in Los Angeles, Calif., because we haven't got a park in Mexico big enough to hold the crowd that would turn out for such a game.

Pittsburgh, June 10 (AP)—While the union-conscious Pirates were busy winning ball games, Baseball Guildsman Robert Murphy revealed he was preparing charges of unfair labor practices against the Pittsburgh club.

The stocky Harvard graduate lost the first round in a battle for recognition of the Guild Friday night when Pirate players dramatically voted not to strike.

Parents' Film Forum To Begin On Tuesday

A series of Film Forums during June is announced by Superintendent J. H. Rose of the City Schools in the various schools of Greenville. Every parent has been urged to attend as many of these films as possible.

Miss Louise Swann, Home Economics teacher in Greenville High School, the Principals and the Parent Teachers Association Presidents of each school have arranged the following meetings:

Third Street School—3:30 Tuesday afternoons, June 11, 18, 25; West Greenville School—8:00 Thursday nights, June 20, 27; Classroom Building, East Carolina Teachers College—3:30 Thursday afternoons, June 13, 20, 27; Greenville High School—3:30 Friday afternoons, June 14, 21, 28.

The films which have been selected are some of the newest and best in the field of homemaking and individual health. The first movie is an entertaining picture of "How to Get Most Out of Your Refrigerator." It gives many summer-time suggestions for the proper use of the refrigerator. It is approved by national nutrition authorities and gives valuable suggestions for caring for food to conserve food value.

PTA Room mothers and girls from homemaking classes are helping in arranging for and publicizing the meetings in the various school areas.

Kansas City, June 10 (AP)—Dead-Pan Frankie Parker, of Los Angeles, America's number 1 amateur tennis star, headed for St. Louis today and the coming Davis Cup zone matches with Billy Talbert's scalp and the heart of America Invitational Tournament title in his hip pocket.

After dropping the first 3-6, Davis Cup Captain Parker played the spots to win out 8-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Playing under a baking sun, Talbert weakened late in the second set and was unable to maintain his early ace.

Cleveland, June 10 (AP)—A familiar dark horse charged into the National Open golf picture today in the person of ageless Gene Sarazen, perennial ranking contender of America's golfing fraternity.

While the experts were trying to decide which section of the Hogan-Nelson-Snead triumvirate would grab goldfod's top 1946 prize, Sarazen boomed his National Open stock yesterday by dropping a hole-in-one at Cleveland's Canterbury Club.

Sarazen further startled the guess artists by flatly predicting that the National Open championship at Canterbury would not be copped by the booming drives of Sammy Snead, the mechanical lions of Byron Nelson or the precision putting of Ben Hogan, the "Mighty Mite" from Texas.

"Some outsider who hasn't taken part in all these gruelling cross-country tours and has spent a week or so sizing up the Canterbury course and mastering its difficulties will win the 1946 Open" Gene declared.

To prove his point, Sarazen stepped to the third tee, leveled his fists and waited a perfect mid-air shot which arched over a small pond and dropped into the cup, 176 yards away.

Verne Blackwell Fifth In Batting

Verne Blackwell, Greenville's centerfielder, is hitting in fifth place with a .356 average, according to official figures released by J. Gas-kill McDaniel, league statistician. The figures include games played through June 2. Cohen of Kinston is leading the entire league with a .460 percentage; Shelter of New Bern is second with .378. Schroeder of Goldsboro is third with .375 and Titus of Tarboro is in fourth place with a .357 percentage.

Verne Blackwell is also leading the league in runs batted in with 37 to his credit, and also Greenville players take first place in the number of doubles with Ray Carlson and Verne Blackwell hitting a total of 11 to lead the league. Milt Narron, Greene catcher, is up there in the matter of triples with three to his credit. Tepedino, of Kinston holds first place in this division with four so far this season.
