DISAGREEMENT OVER FRANCO ISSUE IN UN

Gromyko Dissatisfied With All Plans; Evatt Backs U. S. Compromise

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
New York, June 13.—(AP)—Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko today expressed complete disagreement with a compromise plan for the United Nations Security Council to refer the Spanish question to the General Assembly but did not at this point invoke his power of veto.

The council adjourned until Monday afternoon with the Spanish question still undecided. Gromyko's stand against the compromise plan as well as a bitter attack on the conclusions of the subcommittee which investigated Spain made it certain that the delegates would have to arrive at another solution if the Spanish question is to be acted on in the council or sent forward to the assembly.

Gromyko, who held the floor during most of today's session, condemned the compromise plan as a "dangerous precedent" which would mean that the council has "evaded its duties."

The United States, Australia, China, France, Poland, Brazil and Egypt—a majority of the council—backed the plan, which represented a modification of the subcommittee's report.

The Netherlands delegate, Dr. Eelco Van Kleffens, sided with Gromyko in calling for action by the Security Council instead of referring the case to the General Assembly.

However, Van Kleffens said that in the "interest of unanimity" he would not oppose the compromise plan. He reserved his position for future discussions.

The next meeting was put over until Monday at the suggestion of Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, who has yet to tip his hand on the modified proposal brought up by Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, of Australia.

Dr. Evatt, chairman of the United Nations Security Council subcommittee which investigated Spain, proposed today that the Spanish (Continued on Page Six)

OPA Bill Moving Near Final Vote

Washington June 13.—(AP)—The Senate plugged for a final vote today on an OPA extension bill which Stabilization officials have condemned as dooming price and rent controls.

Majority Leader Barkley (Ky.) told reporters he believed the roll could be called in "a very few hours" after the 11 a. m. (EST) convening time.

The death of Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) halted a drive to pass the bill last night. Paradoxically, arrangements for Bankhead's funeral tended to speed legislative action today. A dozen senators to be named on the funeral committee are scheduled to leave for Alabama about 4:30 p. m.

One important change was written into the bill yesterday, the second day of Senate debate.

By a roll call vote of 44 to 29, the Senate approved an amendment by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) instructing OPA that manufacturers' ceilings must reflect their price in the Oct. 1-15, 1941, base period, plus the average unit cost increase in the industry since then.

Yesterday's adjournment came with the Senate apparently on the point of voting on an amendment by Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okl.) to yank all farm products, oil and timber out from under price control. But little support for Thomas' proposal was evident in the debate.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow
Washington, June 13.—(AP)—One of the important decisions of our time—how to continue OPA—is being made in Congress.
OPA, with all its price and rent controls, will die automatically June 30 unless Congress votes to keep it going after that date.
There's no doubt Congress will extend its life, perhaps for a year. That's taken for granted. But the big question is this:
In what form will OPA be continued? As a strong agency, with plenty of controls and able to drop them when it thinks right?
Or will it be turned into a weak agency, stripped of some of the most important controls, and therefore only a shell of itself?
The future prosperity and welfare of the country may depend upon the decision taken.
Inside and outside Congress there are two main arguments on OPA. Here, roughly, is one:
This still is the reconversion period. The supply of goods is far below the demand for them.
If price controls are yanked off widely now, prices will go zooming

Justice Black and Jackson in Court 'Feud'

Supreme Court Justices Hugo Black (left) and Robert Jackson (right), now involved in a bitter "feud," were on better terms when this picture was made as they attended a movie preview in Washington in August, 1942. Mrs. Jackson sits between them. In Nuernberg, Germany, where he is serving as chief American prosecutor in the Nazi war crimes trial, Jackson issued a statement June 10 criticizing Justice Black for participating in a decision involving a case in which his former law partner, Crampton Harris of Birmingham, Ala., had appeared as representative of United Mine Workers. Judiciary Committee Will Not Act In Court Battle

Chairman Sumners Reports Insufficient Evidence To Warrant Investigation of Jackson-Black Controversy; Go-Slow Attitude Favored

By J. FRANK TRAGLE

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—The House Judiciary Committee decided today it does not have sufficient evidence to take any action in the Supreme Court controversy involving Justices Robert H. Jackson and Hugo L. Black.

Chairman Hutton W. Sumners (D-Tex.) told reporters at the end of the closed meeting that there is "no determination at the moment to conduct an investigation." Sumners said Jackson's criticism of Black, cabled to the committee Monday from Nuernberg, Germany, was discussed at length but the consensus was that the committee had no jurisdiction in the matter.

"There may be something shaping up," he added, but said nothing received thus far indicates committee jurisdiction.

Sumners explained that the committee's action is limited to studying or recommending legislation, and to matters dealing with impeachment. But, he emphasized that there was nothing in the case to indicate the need for impeachment proceedings.

The committee remains free to take action or recommend action later, the chairman said, if any evidence should indicate the need.

Even before the meeting, Sumners was on record as favoring a go-slow attitude. At that time, he said the committee could take one of three courses:

1. Recommend an investigation into Jackson's complaint that Justice Hugo Black employed "bullying" tactics and threatened him with "war" unless he "covered up facts" in the portal-to-portal mine wage case last year.

2. Decide to take no action at all.

3. Adjourn without taking formal recognition of the matter.

The latter decision, Sumners said, would leave the committee free to act later if it desired.

Sumners' position in support of a hands-off attitude for the present was echoed in stronger words by his opposite number in the Senate when Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) of that chamber's Judiciary Com-

Premier Strengthened By Temporary Compromise Solution In Italy's Crisis; Umberto Flies To Unknown Destination

By GEORGE E. BRIA

Rome, June 13.—(AP)—King Umberto II and his suite left Quirinale Palace early this afternoon and soon afterwards the monarch's party left by plane from Ciampino airport for an unknown destination.

The rejected monarch's moves came as Premier Alcide De Gasperi was granted new powers as acting chief of state in a temporary compromise solution of Italy's political crisis.

Military personnel at the airport refused to discuss the king's destination but farewells, marked by check-kissing and in several cases, looked final.

Queen Maria Jose and her two children went to Portugal aboard an Italian cruiser last week, soon after it became apparent that Italy had voted to overturn the royal House of Savoy in favor of a republic.

Umberto's father, tired old King Vittorio Emanuele III, went into exile in Egypt on May 9, clearing the throne for his son for a month.

The king and his party left the palace in five automobiles. A small crowd of about 50 Italians was at the airport. Many were soldiers and some shouted "Long live the King" as the party drove on to the field.

Earlier in the week, bloody riots had erupted in Naples, Taranto and Rome, provoked by Umberto's reluctance to quit the throne until the Supreme Court ruled on petitions charging fraud in the election that deposed him.

De Gasperi was authorized to take over as provisional chief of the Italian state early today by a cabinet order which avoided any mention of the monarch's position.

Umberto thus far has declined to accept the result of the recent plebiscite favoring establishment of a republic.

Transport minister Riccardo Lombardi suggested that the cabinet—harassed by bloody monarchist (Continued on page six)

BLAST BLOWS MAN TO BITS

Pamlico Sound Site Of Accident In Search For Oil

Stumpy Point, June 13.—(AP)—A misunderstood radio signal was blamed today for a 55-pound ornate blast that killed one man, mangled and seriously injuring two others, in the waters of Pamlico Sound near here yesterday.

Killed outright by the blast was Rosser Tillet, 50-year-old Wanchese boat skipper, who literally was blown to bits by the blast of five pounds of dynamite clasped to his body and the subsequent detonation of 50 additional pounds of explosive.

Ray Threkeid, of Houston, Texas, member of the technical staff of Independent Explorations, Inc., and Elton Gallup, of Wanchese, were the injured men.

The force of the explosion shattered the stout fishing boat, one of several engaged in seismographic exploration operations, on which the three men were working.

Other boats in the vicinity rushed to the scene of the disaster and rescued the two injured men. Nothing was found of Tillet. The boats had been working in rough water 10 miles out from this remote fishing village.

Threkeid, reportedly gravely injured by the blast, was taken to a physician at Englehard, 26 miles south of here by road. Gallup was rushed to Manteo, 25 miles across Croatan Sound and site of the nearest telephone communication, and from there he was taken to a Norfolk, Va., hospital.

The blast was set off from an observation boat, where it was thought the go-ahead signal had been given by the dynamite-laden location boat.

CHINA'S TRUCE FAILS AS NEW BATTLE OPENS

U. S. Marine Garrison Near Scene Of Action; Govm't Troops Advance

Nanking, June 13.—(AP)—China's fifteen-day truce between warring Nationalist and Communist factions appeared to be reduced to a scrap of paper today.

The government's tightly-controlled Central News Agency reported Nationalist troops were driving ahead in Manchuria and had frustrated attempted landings by Communists near Tsingtao, where U. S. Marines have one of their strongest north China garrisons.

Chinese press dispatches said without other confirmation that martial law had been proclaimed in the Shantung peninsula seaport.

While deep concern was shown over the situation in Tsingtao, U. S. General Marshall's headquarters said it had failed to halt negotiations for a permanent settlement of China's civil war.

A spokesman at the capital said that General Marshall was "continuing with regular affairs although no attempt was made to hide concern over reported heavy fighting within scope of American Marine garrisons.

In Manchuria the Central News Agency asserted that Nationalist troops had cleared Communists north of the capital city of Changchun and south of the mighty Songhua River and captured three more towns identified as Nungan, Swatien and Swatien. An undisclosed number of Communist troops were said to have surrendered to Gen. Tu Li-Ming's new first army, which has now crossed the Sungari in a push northward toward Harbin.

Although the official Chinese army spokesman, General Kuo, declined the situation in Tsingtao as "critical," with its fate dependent upon the action of U. S. Third Marine Brigade garrisoned there, persistent foreign quarters tended to minimize the danger to the seaport. These quarters said that clashes in the vicinity of the city did not necessarily portend a Communist attack on the city itself.

American authorities appeared watchful but there was no discernible sign of anxiety.

Anderson said each Negro pays for his own house which all help to build and which is furnished with pieces made at the school.

The school is conducted under provisions of the Federal Vocational Training program. The committee is now considering a bill introduced by Barden, its chairman, to extend the program.

CAFE PRICES ON NEW BASIS

OPA Order To Reflect Higher Costs For Restaurateurs

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—OPA opened the way today for higher restaurant prices.

But in doing so, the agency followed only in part a recommendation of the Senate Banking Committee, which voted to wipe out ceilings on meals made up of foods on which there are no price controls.

OPA issued an order which simply allows new menu prices to reflect the full amount of any higher costs stemming from the removal of price ceilings on food items.

The order is effective immediately but it will have little immediate effect on restaurant prices. The reason is that there are not many food items exempt from price control at this time.

But OPA officials said the new (Continued on Page Six)

Colonel In Meeting With Germans

Mihailovic Tells Role Of U.S. Army

Belgrade, June 13.—(AP)—Gen. Draja Mihailovic told the Yugoslav military court today that he and Col. Robert H. McDowell, chief of a U. S. mission to Chetnik headquarters in 1944, in a conference with Germans that year proposed that they turn over their arms to the Chetnik leader and McDowell held parleys with the Germans in 1944.

Marshal Tito's government in its indictment of Mihailovic charged that the Chetnik leader and McDowell held parleys with the Germans in 1944.

Mihailovic, testifying with apparent reluctance today, said he and McDowell refused to discuss the danger of communism with a German officer named Sterker, a deputy of the chief of the administrative staff of the German command in Yugoslavia in September, 1944.

"You need not worry about it," Mihailovic quoted McDowell as saying when Sterker attempted to bring up the question of the danger of communism in Europe.

"Col. McDowell told him Germany was defeated and would capitulate and told him the arms you have must be turned over to Gen. Mihailovic," the defendant testified.

"These were the main points of the meeting," Mihailovic went on (Continued on Page Six)

BARDEN WANTS FARM HOUSING

N. C. Representative Advocates Govm't Aid Farm Building

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—Rep. Barden (D-NC), who says he's a country boy from way back, now wants Uncle Sam to start encouraging farm folks to stay there.

Instead, he complains, the housing officials are "piling up little caves and cliff dwelling places in the city for people who have no jobs and expect to live off somebody else."

And as he sees it, "that's a dangerous threat to our democracy; this concentration of too many people in too few big cities."

Specifically Barden said he was mad because building materials are not being allotted to Prof. S. C. Anderson, Negro vocational director at Pender County Training School, Rocky Point, N. C.

"Anderson and his students have built 263 homes for themselves, and costing from $190 to $400 apiece," he told the House Education Committee. "They've replaced Tobacco Road shacks with first class houses—and now they can't get materials to continue their work."

Anderson, who last week was named the year's outstanding alumnus of Hampton Institute, appeared at the hearing with a folder of "before and after" pictures showing what he and his "boys" have done.

The school is conducted under provisions of the Federal Vocational Training program. The committee is now considering a bill introduced by Barden, its chairman, to extend the program.

CAPITOL HILL MOURNS DEATH

Colleagues Pay Tribute To Passing Of Senator Bankhead

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—Death dropped the name of Bankhead from congressional rolls today for the first time since Grover Cleveland sat in the White House almost 60 years ago.

Senator John H. Bankhead, third of his family to serve on Capitol Hill in that long span, died yesterday in the U. S. Naval Hospital at nearby Bethesda, Md. He never completely rallied from a stroke he suffered three weeks ago.

He was 73 when death came and the Senate immediately recessed to honor his memory. Colleagues paid tribute to the important legislative roles he had filled since first coming to the Senate in 1930.

Accompanied by associates on many legislative years, Bankhead's body will start homeward late today for funeral services Friday at Jasper, Ala., where he will be buried in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Son of a Senator, brother of a speaker of the House and father of a former representative, Bankhead was perhaps best known on Capitol Hill as an advocate of farm legislation, particularly measures affecting cotton.

His father, John H. Bankhead, was elected to Congress in 1837, inaugurating the family's unprecedented long service on Capitol Hill.

A brother, William B. Bankhead, carried on the tradition, becoming speaker of the House. Then the Senator's son, Walter Will Bankhead, took over representing his Alabama district in the House.

Bankhead was stricken May 24 while attending a night session of Senate committee.

His passing brought up an historical might-have-been, for it was Bankhead in 1944 who stepped aside as a candidate when the vice presidential tide started to swing to (Continued on Page Six)

SEC. BYRNES LEAVES TODAY FOR SHOWDOWN

Paris Meeting To Prove Whether Big Powers Can Settle Europe's Peace

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes leaves today for Paris and a showdown meeting with Russian Foreign Minister Molotov on restoring peace to Europe.

Diplomatic authorities said there appears to be no doubt that the Big Four Foreign Ministers' meeting opening Saturday will prove finally whether the great powers are capable of settling the European peace in unity.

Byrnes, along with Senators Connally (D-Tex.) and Vandenberg (R-Mich.), was scheduled to leave National Airport about noon.

His ace in the hole in trying to persuade Molotov to come to agreement on such critical issues as the disposition of Trieste and settlement of Italian reparations is an announced determination to carry the whole controversy to the United Nations in September if it is not settled at Paris.

American officials frankly regard this as a desperate move justified only by the conviction here that conditions of peace must be at least partly restored in Europe by the end of this year.

Byrnes himself is represented as feeling that the main stumbling-block in the way of drafting peace treaties for Italy and Germany's former Balkan satellites is the Soviet-American dispute over Trieste. Russia backs Jugoslavia's claims to the entire Venezia Giulia area, while the United States insists that Trieste, being overwhelmingly Italian, must go to Italy.

There is some hope here that a solution may be reached along the lines of British and French suggestions for internationalizing the area under the United Nations. This hope is based on the belief that the disputants may regard a compromise as preferable to a complete deadlock.

Beyond the question of the treaties are other proposals previously (Continued on Page Six)

Suit Is Brought Against Petrillo

Attorney General Tom Clark today announced the filing of a criminal information charging James C. Petrillo and his Musicians' Union with coercive practices affecting radio broadcasting.

Clark said "the charge is the outcome of Petrillo's alleged violation of the Lee Act. He became a federal law April 16, 1946." He said the information was filed in Federal District Court at Chicago by United States Attorney J. Albert Woll.

The Lee Act, passed by Congress in April and termed by legislators the "anti-Petrillo" act, provides for up to one year's imprisonment and $1,000 fine for any union which compels or attempts to compel broadcasters to hire more employees than they want.

Petrillo, president of the AF of Musician's Federation of Musicians, contends the act is unconstitutional and invited a test by calling a strike on May 28 of three studio librarians at Chicago station WAAF. He said he called the strike because the station refused to hire three additional librarians.

Spectacular Blaze Outside Wilmington

Wilmington, June 13.—(AP)—A spectacular fire yesterday on the east bank of the Cape Fear river opposite Wilmington destroyed the sheds and warehouses of the Stone Marine Railway Company.

The damage was expected to amount to several thousand dollars. Fed by stored paint, turpentine, oil and gasoline, the blaze sent flames nearly 100 feet in the air and several thousand Wilmingtonians gathered to watch the fire.

Wilmington's entire fire department was called to aid in the fire-fighting.

THE WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
England's outspoken Foreign Secretary Bevin, whose bluntness is one of his notable characteristics, came close to out-blunting himself yesterday during his extemporaneous speech on his conduct of Britain's foreign policy at the annual Labor Party Conference in Bournemouth.

Mr. Bevin climbed two crazy peaks, from which there is no retreat. These were his declarations regarding the Palestine crisis and his two-fold program for the forthcoming Paris conference of Big Four foreign ministers which failed in its last session.

As for Palestine, he set news bulletins flashing around the world when he announced that he would reject immediate immigration of 100,000 Jews to the Holy Land. He was equally direct regarding the Paris meeting, vowing that if negotiations bogged down he would sign separate peace treaties with the defeated European nations. A week (Continued on Page Six)

Settlement Indicated Reduced To Matter Of Wording In Contract; Strike Preparations By Unions Moving Forward; West Coast Gets Foretaste Of Tie-Up Tonight

By STERLING F. GREEN
Washington, June 13.—(AP)—Gov. Granville Conway of the War Shipping Administration indicated today that negotiations for an agreement to avert the maritime strike have been reduced to a matter of wording.

"There is a dispute over the wording of four or five things," Conway told reporters as signs pointed generally to agreement on major issues.

CIO President Philip Murray also spoke likewise: "Some issues need further clarification."

These developments followed the statement by a government negotiator that there's a good chance for settlement today. The all-out maritime strike is set to start tomorrow night.

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—The government hammered away at stubbornly resisting maritime unions today to swallow a federal conciliation formula for averting a shipping tie-up on all coasts at midnight tomorrow.

Disgruntled employers, shunted to the sidelines yesterday while the federal officials turned on the heat. The unions were invited back into today's sessions.

But grim strike preparations went forward.

CIO leaders reportedly were holding out for more money.

Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson said he would not be that optimistic when asked if he had something ready for both sides to sign. CIO Secretary Leo Pressman said there were plenty of things to be said.

Meanwhile 200,000 union members girded for the crowding strike deadline.

Scores of soup kitchens were set up, strike rallies were called, and seaports were scoured for living quarters for thousands of seamen "on the beach."

The west coast was due for a foretaste tonight. Work stoppages were set for late today in major cities to permit stevedores and seamen to attend mass meetings.

Some labor department officials expressed belief privately that most of the 62,000 AFL seafarers would be idle, too, if the CIO's united front strike grips the merchant marine.

Ship operators said the government—which owns most of the vessels they run—had not filled them in on terms of the settlement proposal. However, as pieces together from assorted persons close to the negotiations—but lacking any official confirmation—they appeared to include:

A $17.50 monthly wage increase for seamen, with overtime to start after 48 hours instead of the present 56. The work week would stay at 56 hours.

Women IN THE CHURCH

by Mary Fowler

Miss Mabel E. Emerson, secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, Boston, Mass., is on a visit to the Congregational-Christian missions in Greece, Syria, Turkey and Bulgaria. A New Englander by birth, a graduate of Wellesley College, Miss Emerson has long been associated with mission work in the Near East, in Africa, and in India and has helped determine the mission policies in these fields. She is a former chairman of the Foreign Missions Conference.

The Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor estimates that 80 per cent of women in the labor force of the country work to support themselves, and that 30 per cent support other persons in addition to themselves. "War casualties will force many women to continue in employment," says Miss Eleanor Neff of the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, "and the excess of women over men in the post-war population will compel them to be self-supporting. Many women will continue to work so as to supplement their husbands' pay, in order to

I began to save my time and today I have enough to buy him the Bible." According to Miss Burton, the taxi driver has since purchased a Bible dictionary a concordance, a personal workers' manual and a book of sermon outlines. "When he was very ill he heard about the Gospel from a companion and decided that God gave him life and health he would use his influence for Him," explains Miss Burton.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfonza Whittlebottom Wanstaman invite you to the wedding of their only daughter, Sallie Samanda Wanstaman, on Wednesday night at 8:15 o'clock, June 19 in the Red Oak Community Center. The bridegroom is old Mr. Willie Hatestodt, who has managed to ward off the girls for sixty long years, but has finally been swept off his feet by sweet little Sally.

Folks from far and near will attend this wedding, and just about all the boys and men in the neighborhood will be in it. The Tyson Twins, dressed in dainty little dresses, will be flower girls. In their hair (or at least, on their heads) they will wear a lovely pink bow, held in place by Scotch tape.

The two Manning brothers, Waddell and Charles, dressed in dainty dresses, will carry the long train of sheer tobacco cloth worn as a veil by the lovely bride.

Little Carl Crawford will bring in the ring on a tiny pink pillow. His dress will be short and dainty.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Tripp will attend the wedding.

Little Miss Pattie Thecutesthing will sing as a solo "I'm a Big Girl Now" and Miss Lawrence Bing Crosby Tyson will render that beautiful song, always so appropriate at a wedding, "He'll Wish He Was Single Again."

Circle No. 2 of Red Oak is sponsoring this "Womanless Wedding" on June 19, and the proceeds will be used for the benefit of the church. They invite everybody to come, and have a good time. A list of the entire wedding party will be in this paper next Monday.

The Junior Woman's Club of Greenville held their annual banquet at the Red Oak Community Center last evening. The folks at Red Oak enjoyed paying them and hope they had such a good time that they will come back again sometime.

Please do not forget the services at Red Oak Sunday. All members are urged to bring a well-filled basket.

Marine Corps Opens Colored Recruiting

Raleigh, N. C., June 13.—Doors of Marine Corps recruiting offices, temporarily closed to them during the post-war stabilization period, have been reopened to colored youth, according to an announcement by Marine Corps Headquarters in Washington, D. C. on June 10.

Colored enlistments have been limited to ex-Marines until appropriations, quotas and other considerations have been settled.

Drill fields and class rooms as well as the extensive recreational facilities of Montford Point, N. C., part of the great Marine Base at Camp Lejeune, are being readied for the Negro 17 to 29 years olds who enlist from the southeast.

Qualifications and other information may be obtained at all Marine Recruiting Offices including the stations at Raleigh, Greensboro, and Greenville, N. C., for any colored youths who may wish to follow in the path of those who acquitted themselves so well as Marines in the war.

WARNING FOR ALL FARMERS

The following editorial from the Country Gentleman is worthy of the attention of all farmers. Mr. Speight said:
"A proposal has been made to Congress that would virtually abolish the Soil Conservation Service. The soil-conservation districts would remain, but all the technical, educational and advisory work would be turned over to the Extension Service. The intention, in which the proposal is clothed, is to coordinate farm agencies and programs and to avoid overlapping. This part of the aim is a worthy one, but it starts in the wrong place."

"The Soil Conservation Service program represents one of the most valuable services being rendered to the nation. It is proving out in practice. Farmers like it and want more of it, as demonstrated by the fact that new soil-conservation districts are being organized at the rate of fifteen a month and not one has given up by action of farmers themselves."

Bahamians To Work Pitt County Farms

Ninety-four Bahamian laborers, including some women, are expected here the latter part of the month to work on Florida farms. They will come here about a week earlier than last year. They had to be contracted for at this time in order to get them, it was stated at the farm agent's office. Later on the men will crop tobacco; the women work at the barns.

They are satisfactory workers, farmers who used the Bahamians last year said. They are intelligent, easy to manage and are clean in their habits. Women in the contingent are wives of the men workers.

Soil Conservation Service In Danger, M. O. Speight Said

By CHESTER WALSH
M. O. Speight of near Winterville, Pitt County supervisor for the Federal Soil Conservation Service, has called attention to an editorial in the Country Gentleman, nationally circulated agriculture paper, urging that Congress not change the present set-up of the service.

Farmers all over the United States should urge their congressmen to stand by the Soil Conservation Service and the wonderful work it is doing to improve farming, conserve the forest, stimulating interest in pasture lands and encouraging terracing and tiling and draining.

Mr. Speight, one of the most progressive farmers in the State, pointed out some of the effective work now being done, and stressed forest fire prevention as well as control. Every farmer should write to his congressman and urge him to leave the Soil Conservation Service as it is now. There has been some lobbying by outside interests to maintain present districts and place the soil conservation program under county farm agents, who already are overburdened with duties, it is understood.

the nation itself. The Soil Conservation Service and its co-operative program afford practical and effective machinery for this purpose. The proposal to tamper with it is ill-advised. The Extension Service is doing a necessary and valuable work in its sphere. So is the Soil Conservation Service. They are finding more and more ways of working together for the common good of farm people. This is the kind of co-ordination needed."

"As now set up, soil-conservation work is real democracy in action. The soil-conservation districts are organized efforts of, by and for the farmers. They decide upon the program of conservation operations to be carried out. The individual farmer becomes a co-operator by his own choice and selects the improvements he wants to undertake. The Soil Conservation Service furnishes the technical assistance to farmers in working out their plans and putting them into effect. It is a co-operative effort that begins where it should—back on the farms."

"The soil of America is our basic capital. Upon the conservation of its fertility and productivity depends not only the welfare of the nation's farm families but that of

FARSIGHTED
Baltimore, June 13.—(AP)—Police Lieut. Alexandre Emerson and his vice squad made a raid and arrested two men on a charge of bookmaking.
While gathering evidence, Emerson stationed patrolman Cornelius Trenkamp at the telephone. The phone rang, and when Trenkamp said "Hello," the party on the other end seemed to sense something was amiss.
"I'll take $50 on Emerson to win," the caller said, and hung up.

Chapter 23

It wasn't Whitney's idea that she should have dinner with Gregory that evening. She had too much to do, too many plans to make. It was Gregory who insisted on it, just as they were starting out in his car to go to a small bistro on the outskirts of town where the seafood was usually good, he said something she could not brush off lightly.

"Whitney, I want you to marry me now!"

She crushed her cigarette into the ash tray on the side of the car. "Oh, Gregory, I can't—I'm not marrying anyone right now."

There he was, sitting beside her in the dark. The same way black as the same bold black eyes, with the same quiet way of taking her breath, knowing he would understand her without many words of explanation. Seemingly nothing had changed—but Whitney knew there was a great difference between them now. She thought of the happy hours they had together. At that moment they seemed very far away.

"But I must marry you this week. I belong to me, Baby." The low voice was urgent. "I may return to my country soon. I want to take you with me. We planned it that way—remember?"

"No, Gregory, that cannot work for us. There are other things I have to do right way. Paul will be home in a few days. Make an appointment to meet him with your wipers. Tell him the truth—that you know he wasn't cheating that night at Random Polly. Make the right answers. In that way you might be able to keep this whole patched business out of the courts."

"I think that is something you've nothing to do with." His voice suddenly hard and uncompromising.

"You mean you want me to keep this patched business out of the courts?"

"Yes."

"Why, Gregory? After all, I am engaged to Paul and it was my decision to take more time in—well, in making up my mind."

"To see if you would marry him—would marry me," he interrupted. "That was a good decision. By now say, you marry me—"

"Gregory, please take me back to my apartment."

"But the dinner at Michael's! It is all ordered. Your favorite chowder—lobster thermidor—"

Whitney gave a weary little sigh. "I'm so sorry, Gregory. But tonight I must say 'No.'"

Without more discussion he slowed down the car, waited for a traffic light, then slowly made a four-corner turn and headed the car back toward the city.

"Your slightest wish is my command," he said shortly and Whitney realized that that had always been one of the Count's great assets in her eyes. He had respected her decisions, even in little unimportant matters. He never questioned her judgment. He liked her as she was, taking her suggestions in his stride.

At her apartment building, fifteen minutes later, he walked with her into the lobby. When he spoke his voice was wary.

"Baby, the time is short. I will call you in the morning. But I think we must hurry."

"Gregory," she flashed a quick smile at him. "I am not marrying you tomorrow—or any other time. I'm not marrying anyone. I want you to get that straight right now."

She saw the bitterness in his eyes. "I guess that makes everything clear. Lucky at cards—unlucky at love. All right, Whitney. But that doesn't change my plans. Paul started this a long time ago, and by God, he's going to pay for it now."

He turned abruptly and stalked through the lobby to the street, leaving a very bewildered girl going up in the elevator to her apartment on the eighth floor. Once inside, she threw her coat and hat on the sofa in her diminutive living room and signaled the long distance operator on the telephone.

"Give me Charlottesville. I want to speak to John Armstrong. It's a person-to-person call."

Time passed. There were two calls from the operator who said they were trying to reach Mr. Armstrong, but he was not at home. More time passed. Whitney finally decided at

The Utah senator advanced his suggestion to the 14-member Senate-House conference committee which is trying to adjust differences in Selective Service legislation passed by the two branches of Congress.

Whether teen-agers, now exempt from the draft, should be made subject to induction again after July 1, is the prime stumbling block.

Arabs Adopt New Palestine Plan

Budan, Svria, June 13.—(AP)—The Arab League formally announced a 10-point program on Palestine today, and said other secret resolutions had been adopted. One of the secret provisions was reported reliably to be a threat to arm Palestine's Arabs unless Britain disarms the Jews.

Another secret agreement reportedly provides means of halting illegal Jewish immigration by force if necessary.

Points on the announced program included enlargement of funds to prevent sale of Palestine land to Jews.

Rival Arab factions in Palestine were directed by the League to reconcile their differences and unite under an executive committee headed by the grand mufti of Jerusalem, implacable foe of Jewish immigration into the Holy Land.

Closing an extraordinary five-day session here, representatives of the Arab League last night ordered dissolution of both the Palestine higher committee and the higher front, which was formed 10 days ago as a dissident Arab faction.

In place of these two bodies the league created an executive committee under the spiritual leadership of the Mufti, Haj Amin Effendi Al Hussein.

Thomas proposed yesterday that the deadlocked draft extension bills be amended to permit these Poles and other veterans of wartime allies to enlist in the United States Army.

WANT ADS PAY

11 o'clock that she would go to bed and try to get Jack in the morning. Just as she was about ready to give the night man in the garage the order to get her car ready for an early morning start, about a quarter of twelve, the telephone rang again and it was Jack on the other end of the wire.

"What goes on?" he asked with a laugh when he heard her voice.

"Good heavens, Whitney, don't tell me you've stirred up something else down there in Washington! Paul had us all by the ears when he was down here two weeks ago."

"I'm afraid it's more of the same thing, Jack," Whitney acknowledged hastily. "Maybe I'm starting in where Paul left off."

"What gives? Paul was certainly in a dither about that lawsuit."

"That's what I've called you about. Jack, I'm coming to Charlottesville tomorrow."

"Swell! That's what I call a break. Come right up to the house. Mother will give you some of the best cooking you can get in the South."

"Thanks a million, Jack, but I'm staying at the Country Club. It's always been one of my favorites. Maybe it's the influence of Thomas Jefferson on my troubled conscience. But I do want to rummage through your garret—attic to you!"

She heard the surprise in Jack's voice as he answered her. "But of course, Whitney," there was a pause, then she heard him say slowly, "Come over, by all means. Maybe you can find it. Mother says men can never find anything in a house—this one, especially. Paul and I sure tried. Maybe you'll turn the trick. Telephone me in the morning, and I'll come for you in the car. I started driving last week."

It was nearly three o'clock when she finally fell asleep.

To Be Continued

"Foreign Legion" For U. S. Urged

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) threw his support today to a proposal for creating this country's first "Foreign Legion" as part of the draft extension program.

Enlistment would be limited to soldiers of the nation's many wartime allies.

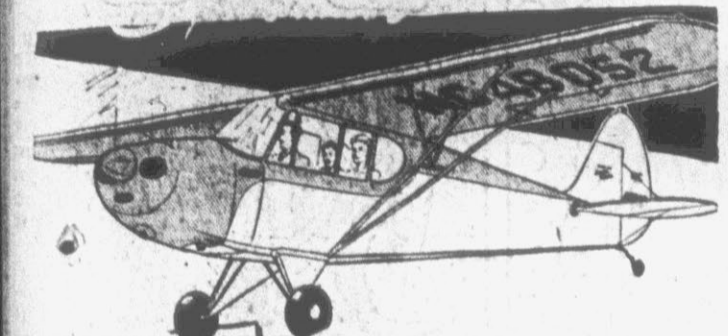

Citing the fact that the Army already has employed several thousand Poles as civilian guards abroad, Bridges told a reporter he is "intrigued" by the suggestion of Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Military Committee.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
TRUE CHRISTIANITY IS TOLERANT

We have a perfect right, without manifesting the least intolerance, to try to answer the question, What is Christianity? But we do not have the right to try to answer the question, Who is Christian?

The Bible tells us that the Lord knows them that are his. The Lord knows who is a good Christian and who is not, but we have no such knowledge. We may be tempted to look at a man whose beliefs are vastly different from ours and declare that he is not a Christian. How do we know this? Have we been able to look deeply enough into his heart or to have examined his actions with sufficient care that we can pass judgment upon him?

Soundness of belief is only one of the factors of the Christian life. It is a very important factor but it is not the only one. People are sometimes orthodox in their beliefs and in good standing with the church and still are not Christians because they do not practice the good doctrines to which they give intellectual assent. On the other hand, some people are quite unorthodox in their beliefs and still maintain a most tenuous relationship with the church, or perhaps no relationship at all, and still their whole lives manifest many moral qualities which the Christian gospel commends.

We have no right to say who stands well with God or who stands ill with Him. Let us have firm beliefs and stick to them. Let us accord others the same privilege. And let us admit that the ultimate issues of life are in the hands of God alone.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—The National Commission of Fine Arts has gotten up a list of suggestions for World War II memorials.

The commission starts out by quoting an early resolution of Congress in connection with a memorial to one of the heroes of the Revolution.

Congress described this memorial as "not only a tribute to gratitude, justly due to the memory of those who have peculiarly distinguished themselves in the glorious cause of liberty, to perpetuate their names by the most durable monuments erected to their honor, but also greatly conducive to inspire posterity with an emulation of their illustrious actions."

This statement, the commission says, "defines the three-fold intention of a war memorial: (a) gratitude, (b) recollection and (c) inspiration."

Any proposed memorial, it says, should be judged according to these.

The commission concedes that it's really up to individual communities to determine what type of memorial it should have, but recommends that the nearest art gallery or museum be consulted on general ideas. It suggests one or all of the following be consulted for technical assistance:

American Institute of Architects, 1741 New York Avenue, Washington, 6, D. C.
National Sculpture Society, 1083 Fifth Avenue, New York, 28, N. Y.
American Society of Landscape Artists, 9 Park Street, Boston, Mass.
National Society of Mural Painters, 115 E. 40th St., New York, N. Y.

The commission does not advise playgrounds, clinics, recreation centers or other "living memorials."

"While eminently commendable in themselves," it says, "these civic improvements usually have no specific or necessary connection with the men who fought in the second world war."

A park area is regarded by the commission as "deserving special consideration" as a memorial idea. However, it points out that a tablet, column, fountain or arch may be combined with the general utility of a park.

In origin, the commission says simply that a memorial "should be a work of art." Selection of an ar-ist is vital, it says, and professional sources should be consulted before one is chosen. Competition sometimes brings out the best possible design.

Social Security

Are you planning to work holidays, Saturdays or after school hours? If you do not have a Social Security card already, you may need one. Whether or not you will need a Social Security account number this year, depends upon the place where you are going to work. If it is in a store, or an office, or a factory or in other industry or business—you will need a Social Security card; for such employment is "covered" by the Social Security Act. If, however, the job is on a farm, in a private home, in a non-profit religious, charitable, or educational organization, or the office, county, state, or federal government, no Social Security card will be needed. Such employment is not "covered" by the law. Do not get a card unless you need it.

Now, if your job is in industry or commerce you should apply for a card at the nearest field office of the Social Security Board. Whether you work full time or part time, for a day or for a year, and no matter what your age is, you should get a card. If you are under 21, however, and are going to work for your father or mother you will not need a Social Security card.

If your new job is covered by the law, show your Social Security card to your employer or the bookkeeper—and see that both your name and the number on the card are copied on the firm's records exactly as they appear on the card. That number identifies your Social Security Account. Your employer will need that number when he sends to the Government his report of the amount of wages paid you. The reported wages will be recorded in your Social Security Account which is kept by the Social Security Board.

It is very important that you have only one number. If you have more than one, your wages will not all be recorded in one place, and you may have trouble later in getting all the insurance money coming to you.

If you have ever had a Social Security card and have lost it, apply for a duplicate—that is, for a card with the same Social Security number that was on the original. Do not get a new number.

A Social Security card is like an insurance policy with the Federal Government. It should be kept safe. One Social Security card—no number—during your whole lifetime.

Film Comedian Dies After Auto Accident

Los Angeles, June 13—(AP)—Film Comedian Charles Butterworth died early today of injuries received when his automobile skidded 50 feet and hit an electric light pole, police reported. The actor died in an ambulance just as it was arriving at General Hospital. Attendants at the hospital said he had incurred severe head injuries. Officers said his automobile, a foreign make, was almost completely demolished. There were no other persons in the car.

Special Election On Paving Bonds

The special bond election to be held in Greenville next Monday to permit the citizens to express their will on whether or not the city shall spend $250,000 for the proposed street paving program. The regular registration books will be used. Registrars are at the regular places to register any whose names may not be on the books. The votes cast will be counted for or against the bond issue.

If the bond issue carries the money will be used for the street paving program on unpaved streets. The bulk of the money will be used for this purpose. A businessman pointed out today that if Greenville, with its excellent tobacco market expects to keep abreast of other Eastern Carolina cities, improve-

CIO's Southern Leaders To Meet

Charlotte, June 13—(AP)—Leaders in the CIO's southern organizing campaign will meet here June 20 to complete plans for the drive in South Carolina and coordinate it with work already underway in North Carolina, William Smith, North Carolina director, announced today.

In addition to Smith, the meeting will be attended by George Baldanz, vice-chairman of the Southern Organizing Committee; Franz Daniel of Spartanburg South Carolina campaign director; E. L. Sandefur of Winston-Salem, Carolinas CIO director, and Roy Lawrence, Southern Regional director of the Textile Workers Union of America. Smith also announced the appointment of Dean Culver as head of the organizing campaign in Gaston County, where the first objective will be the Firestone Mills. Culver, who will have five assistants, is a former representative of the United Steelworkers of America at the Badin plant of the Aluminum Company of America.

Forty-five organizers are at work in North Carolina, Smith said.

Flood Control In Committee Soon

Washington, June 13—(AP)—Hearings on the proposed $70,000,000 Yadkin river flood control project in North Carolina will be scheduled before the Senate Commerce Committee the week of June 25, Senator Hoey (D-NC) said today.

Previously Hoey announced the board of army engineers would review the 1945 favorable report of the district army engineers—June 18.

This report recommends four flood control dams and reservoirs two north of North Wilkesboro, and two near the mouth of the Reddies river, with an estimated first cost of about $11,000,000.

These reservoirs, Hoey stated, will be used only for "impounding excess water during floods, and would impound up to six inches of flood run-off from the drainage areas above them."

Governor Cherry has asked Senators Hoey and Bailey (D-NC) to expedite consideration of this project so that it might become part of pending rivers and harbors for flood control legislation.

Tojo Glum Over Map Of Defeat

Tokyo, June 13—(AP)—The men whom the Allies charge with having flung the Pacific nations into war saw their ambitious bid for an empire paraded before them on huge, 15-foot square, red-lined maps today as the prosecution opened its case before the international war crimes tribunal.

War-time Premier Hideki Tojo and 25 others who associated with him in the great Asian gamble watched intently as the maps charting Nippon's expansions and collapse in Manchuria; China, Southeast Asia and the South Pacific were unrolled.

Tojo, a worried-looking little man with lined brows, studied each map with deep concentration. Each—on its great frame above and behind the rows of defendants—told a chapter of Japan's aggression and decline over a decade and a half. At the start Japan alone was outlined in the blood-red paint. Then with the succeeding years the red stretched out to the mandated islands, Manchuria, China, the Phil-

Have Fun with Your Picnic Food

Food cooked outdoors always tastes extra good. Add to that some new fun-to-eat food and your picnic is bound to be a huge success. Try the two newcomers shown below at your next picnic, and ten to one you'll agree

Mor Kabobs and Mor Roll-Ups ... for Mor fun at your picnic

"At Home" Preparations:
Mor Kabobs—Cut 1 can Mor into 6 slices; cut each slice into 2 squares. Arrange Mor, onion slices, and squares of sliced bacon alternately on a skewer (as shown above).
Mor Roll-Ups—Cut 1 can Mor into 16 thin slices. Roll each around a slice of sweet-sour pickle and a piece of Certified American Cheese. Fasten with a toothpick.

At the Picnic
Transfer Mor Kabobs and Mor Roll-Ups to roasting forks or green twigs and roast over glowing coals. Yummy!

More Appetite Satisfiers
Finish off your picnic with a big dish of potato salad; shoestring carrots, crisp celery, small whole tomatoes, and green onions; plenty of coffee and milk; with a choice of baked custard and bananas (either or both) for dessert. You'll feel good two ways—the food's delicious and filling without being heavy; you've cooperated in the emergency food program by using an abundance of fresh foods.

Stormy Weather
Yes, it happens even in June, so be prepared. Have your plans made just in case. No reason at all why the Mor Kabobs and Roll-Ups could not be heated in the oven or broiler, which ever is more convenient.

Patience Savers
1. It's no fun to get ready to open can at a picnic and discover the can opener is missing. So, make a list of supplies and equipment that you always need on a picnic and see that they are replaced in your picnic basket after each picnic. This will probably include salt and pepper, can openers, jars of preserves, pickles, and Wilson Mayonnaise, picnic "silverware" paper plates, cups, and napkins.
2. If your picnic equipment double for everyday use, keep the in the basket for easy checking.

Fourth Arrested In German Jewel Theft
Washington, June 12—(AP)—The War Department today announced the arrest of Roy C. Carlton, a former enlisted man, for investigation in connection with the Kronberg castle jewel theft.
An army officer said that Carlton, the fourth person seized in the fabulous case, had been arrested by federal customs agents at his home at Kilgore, Tex.
The officer said that "the extent of his (Carlton's) participation is believed to be minor."
Carlton, the officer said, is the previously unidentified former technician 5th grade who was mentioned by army investigators as being involved in the jewelry.
Carlton was discharged from the army several months ago and as a civilian is beyond the army's current jurisdiction, the spokesman said.

Senator Pepper Says We Must Aid Russia
Ridgecrest, June 12—(AP)—Russia will be a better country if we help her more," Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) said here last night.
Speaking before 3,000 students at their closing retreat session, Mr. Pepper said Stalin had told him that some bond other than war would have to be worked out by the former Allies with the coming of peace.

Arab League Council Dismisses U. S. Role
Bludan, Syria, June 12—(AP)—Possible participation by American troops in maintaining order in Palestine is causing no concern to the Arab League Council, league officials indicated today.
"The Arabs never have been and never will be strong enough to beat Britain alone," Abdel Rahman Azem Pasha, league secretary general, said today, "so it makes no difference whether we have to fight one or both."

June German Tickets Found Counterfeited
Rocky Mount, N. C., June 13—(AP)—Somebody has been counterfeiting tickets to the June German and offering them for sale, according to J. D. Winstead, Jr., president of the Carolina Cotillion Club, which sponsors the annual dance here next Friday.
Winstead said the State Bureau of Investigation and local police had been asked to investigate. Invitations to the June German, he said, are not for sale and never will be.
He said reports had been received that the phony tickets had been offered for sale in Morehead City, Raleigh, New Bern, Durham and Wake Forest for prices ranging from $5 to $10.
A special doorman, familiar with the original invitations, will examine all guest cards Friday night.

House Banking Group To Vote On Big Loan
Washington, June 13—(AP)—A semi-final victory for the proposed $3,750,000,000 British loan appeared assured today, as the House Banking Committee met for a vote on legislation recommending the huge credit.
While several of the 27 committee members went to the showdown session still non-committal, only seven have indicated they will vote against the loan proposal which passed the Senate by a 46-36 vote.
However, the opposition girded for a sizzling final battle when the bill reaches the House floor, with a close vote predicted there on the final showdown.

Election Probes In Two Counties Start
Winston-Salem, June 13—(AP)—An investigation by the State Board of Elections was under way today in Stokes and Surry counties in connection with reported irregularities at the polls in the Fifth District Congressional race during the recent Democratic primary.
Meanwhile, the State Bureau of Investigation had called off its projected probe of campaign expenditures until after the second primary June 22.
Principals in the run-off will be Rep. John H. Folger of Mount Airy and Thurmond Chatham, millionaire blanket manufacturer of Winston-Salem and Elkin, who led the incumbent by 59 votes in the first primary.
Joe J. Harris, third candidate and low man in the May 25 primary, indicated his support yesterday for Folger.
The elections board of investigation was launched yesterday at Dobson by Col. W. T. Joyner, board chairman.

HASTE MAKES WASTE
Chicago, June 13—(AP)—A gunman held up three men at the Panarys Auto Sales Company last night and fled with $567 he took from their wallets. But he overlooked an additional $3,200 when he failed to open the zipper portion of the wallets.
Owner Percy Panarsky said he lost $250, but the gunman left $750; Jack Farlow's of Boston lost $301 and retained $900, and Harry Pichel lost only $6, while $1,600 was untouched by the hasty gunman.

HOT SPOT
Pittsburgh, June 13—(AP)—While the mercury soared toward 90 degrees in the city's first 1946 heatwave, a policeman in Central Station mopped his brow and gasped: "When it's like a furnace here, I can't stand it."
He wasn't kidding. Someone had fired the furnace full blast.

POPOFF TOO LATE
Chicago, June 12—(AP)—Two gunmen invaded Sam Cohn's tailor shop and after forcing him into a washroom started looting the establishment.
They didn't stay long, however. Cohn told police because pentup steam began pouring from a safety valve on a pressing machine, apparently frightening the bandits.
"It was a fine wosh and whistle," Cohn told police, "but it came too late. The bandits had taken $135 and two suits before the valve popped."

N. C. Beef Subsidy To Be Discontinued
Raleigh, N. C., June 13—(AP)—Beef cattle production in North Carolina will be discouraged by the Commodity Credit Corporation's decision to discontinue production payments on June 30, according to Lenoir Gwyn, State Agriculture Department cattle marketing specialist.
"While the payment of the subsidy of 50 cents per hundred pounds does not amount to a great deal," he said, "it has acted as a stimulus to produce better beef, and heavier carcasses."

IT TAKES SMOKE TO ROB THE BEES, BUT FIRE CAN ROB BEEHIVES BANK ACCOUNT OF FAST GROWING TIMBER!
There's good reason to smoke a hive to gather honey, but the smoke from a wild fire in the woods is something else. It means damage to timber, young trees and soil—a drain on a valuable asset.

The older boys baseball league got off to a flying start yesterday when the Training School Bobcats defeated the Third Street Trojans in an exciting game on the Third Street diamond.

The Trojans, behind the pitching of Bobby Fife, and led by Billy Jordan's six hits and Lem Pleasant's three triples in five times at bat, held the edge over the Training school nine until the Bobcats hit up at 14-14 in their half of the last inning.

The Trojans were unable to score in their half, and in the extra inning, Little Bland sewed it up for the Bobcats with a two-run homer.

Winning pitcher: Batchelor.

There was joy in Flatbush today—all along Bensonhurst, Williamsburgh, Coney Island and the Gowanus Canal. In the hearts of some 1,786,000 Brooklyn residents there was nothing but forgiveness for their dear Dodgers who were due back home on any train now from their weary and nearly disastrous western invasion.

And why not? Hadn't their beloved Bums presented their faithful followers with the most desirable birthday present imaginable by whipping those hated St. Louis Cardinals for the first time in five meetings this season right of Brooklyn's 300th anniversary?

What mattered if the Brooks had dropped five straight on the road? So what if their once respectable four and a half game margin has shrunk to two? Who cared whether the Redbirds had walloped their heroes four successive times prior to yesterday's contest?

That was water under the bridge. Hadn't those beautiful Bums won the game they wanted them to win most of all? And weren't they coming back home still in first place? For a time, it appeared the Dodger faithful would have to go to bed without their birthday present as the ninth inning opened with Brooklyn trailing the Cards 7-6. But Pistol Pete Reiser, Brooklyn's most explosive weapon, led off the frame with a double and before the round was over, the Dodgers had kayoted the Cards 10-7 to safeguard their slim lead.

Reiser almost singlehandedly kept the Brooks in the game until the glorious ninth. He smacked a triple and single in addition to the two bager, drove in three runs, scored twice and stole home for the fifth time this season.

The payoff wallop, however, was delivered by Cookie Lavagetto, whose pinch hit triple scored Gene Hermanski with the run that put the Dodgers ahead.

The Cincinnati Reds handed the New York Giants their fifth straight defeat, 3-2, to drop the polo grounders to within a half-game of the last-place Philadelphia Phillies.

Once again Bobby Feller, the Cleveland ace, proved his greatness when he cooled off the torrid Boston Red Sox 7-2, enabling the Indians to become the first western club to defeat Joe Cronin's American League leaders in 19 games at the Hub.

While snapping the Red Sox' 12-game winning streak, Rapid Robert struck out 10.

Detroit's Tigers made it three in a row over the New York Yankees last night by coming from behind to defeat the Bronxites 6-5.

A wild throw by Frank Crossetti, while trying to complete an inning-ending double play, cost the Yanks the game.

In a brilliant pitching duel, the St. Louis' Browns Jack Kramer bested Washington's Bobo Newsom 1-0 in 10 innings.

question be referred to the General Assembly for its action.

Dr. Evert opened the Security Council session with an announcement that the sub-committee had approved modifications of its recommendations as suggested by Herschel V. Johnson, acting U. S. delegate.

The sub-committee had recommended that the General Assembly call upon the United Nations for a complete break with Generalissimo Francisco Franco if he still is in power in September.

The United States modification would allow the General Assembly to take such action as it deems appropriate under the circumstances at the time.

This would leave the way open for action less drastic than a diplomatic break if the assembly decided upon a more moderate course.

Johnson has been working day and night among the delegates to obtain a basis for action upon which agreement might be reached.

Dr. Evert stressed that positive action would be recommended by the Council and declared that the United States suggestion would make the sub-committee recommendations more flexible.

"In the opinion of the sub-committee it is in accordance with the findings in the case and it will mean no diminution of the authori-regulation means the cost of dining out probably will go up sharply if ceilings are stripped from meat, poultry, eggs and dairy products. The Senate committee has recommended removal of these controls July 1.

Under the OPA order, restaurants may raise their prices for any meal, individual food item or beverage, if the major ingredient is exempt from price control at all other sales levels.

For example, if meat ceilings are discontinued, a restaurant could hike its prices for a steak dinner if it had to pay more for the meat.

The same would hold for an order of eggs or chicken or a glass of milk, if ceilings on these items are removed.

In calculating the amount of increase, restaurants start with the actual cost of raw food exempt from ceilings and add to that their

VETS SCHOOL TO OPEN HERE

Special Courses Offered Under Terms Of GI Bill Of Rights

Vocational and trade schools for veterans will be opened in Greenville on next Wednesday June 19 in the Greenville vocational school buildings and in the C. M. Eppes High School. This announcement was made today by Supt. Julius H. Rose, following a final conference yesterday with representatives of the North Carolina office of the Veterans Administration.

Four courses will be offered and more if necessary. The courses include general machine shop, wood-working and auto mechanics. At the C. M. Eppes High School a school for building trades will be offered.

These schools will be operated under the GI Bill, and all fees for the veterans will be paid for under the GI Bill of Rights. Applications are already being received for these schools.

In order to attend these schools, a veteran will have to have a certificate of eligibility from the Veterans Administration. In connection with this, Mr. Rose stated that the Veterans Administration has informed him that a veterans administration district office will be set up in Greenville on June 20, next week.

Mr. James D. Walters will be the officer in charge of this office. Mr. Walters will be able to get certificates of eligibility for the veterans. Ex-servicemen will be allowed to enter these schools at any time during the next thirty days.

Local Man Honored

JUDSON H. BLOUNT

The 44th annual convention of the North Carolina Merchants Association held in Wrightsville Beach was brought to a conclusion with the banquet and election of officers for the 1946-47 year.

O. P. Mathews of Gastonia was elected president; Judson H. Blount, Greenville, first vice-president, M. Driskill of Charlotte, second vice president, and W. L. Dowell, secretary.

For many years Mr. Blount has been active in the state and local Merchants Association work, and served as president of the state organization in 1930-31.

He is also president of the local strip OPA immediately of almost all its price controls except those over rents and minerals.

The action, by roll call vote of 51 to 21, came in rejecting an amendment by Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) to the OPA extension bill.

Thomas' proposal specified that price controls be lifted from "timber, petroleum, cotton, milk, livestock including sheep and wool, tobacco, poultry, fish and shellfish, grain, peanuts, fruits and vegetables, or any product processed in whole or substantial part therefrom."
