Veto Cries Raised As OPA Bill Is Returned To House

Battered Extension Measure Called Defeat For Administration; Bowles And Porter Rumored Ready To Quit; Skyrocketing Prices Predicted Should Bill Remain Unchanged

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK Washington, June 14.—(AP)—In a resounding defeat for the administration, the Senate sent a thoroughly mauled OPA bill reeling back to the House today with the price agency granted a year's anemic lease on life—and little more.

However, the situation has yet to reach that explosive showdown stage, for the final version of the legislation that goes to the White House is still to be decided. House and Senate must first adjust wide differences on their separate measures for extending OPA beyond June 30.

The outlook for OPA's continuation "as is" was rated darker than ever.

It was a 53-to-11 Senate vote that approved another year of price controls last night, but the same vote ripped away many of OPA's wartime powers and ordered ceilings wiped out July 1 on many major cost-of-living items.

Meat, butter, milk, all other dairy products, eggs, chickens, leaf tobacco, cigarettes and other tobacco products, gasoline and other petroleum items—all were stripped from further price control on July 1 under the bill.

The elimination of these particular ceilings was not included in the House bill. Thus they might be restored when a Senate-House committee adjusts differences between the two chambers and puts the bill in shape to go to President Truman.

Stabilizer Bowles and OPA administrator Porter both have declared that either Senate or House bill would wreck price controls completely and touch off soaring inflation.

Neither would comment immediately on the final Senate vote, but Bowles last week promised to urge Mr. Truman "with all the vigor at my command to veto that (Senate) bill in clear and ringing terms."

Forecasting disastrous consequences if it becomes law, he asserted in that speech "no honest man would attempt to administer it—a comment implying that he would step out.

After last night's defeat in the Senate, the hopes of administration lieutenants to recoup the situation were pinned on the chances (Continued on Page Eight)

Expecting Maritime Truce Signed Today

Observers Anticipate Settlement Before Deadline; Bridges Gives Ground On Demands, Threatens Strike Later

By MAX HALL

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—President Truman reported today that he had been informed there was a good prospect for settling the maritime labor crisis in time to prevent a shipping tieup tonight.

This was related by the President at his news conference, while on Capitol Hill Capt. Granville Conway, war shipping chief, said that Harry Bridges had agreed to accept a wage increase of 22 cents an hour for his CIO longshoremen.

In view of this, Conway told a House labor subcommittee investigating the scheduled strike of maritime unions at midnight, "it seems reasonable to me that it be settled" this afternoon.

Bridges' objection to the 22-cent figure has been one of the biggest—and perhaps the last—stumbling blocks separating unions and operators and the government from an agreement.

His decision now to take it as reported by Conway, convinced the chairman, A. B. Kelly (D-Pa.) of the House groups that the strike was "over."

Bridges had given ground bitterly, and even as he brightened the prospects of averting the strike now he flung a threat of another maritime crisis in little more than three months.

He hinted he would take the 22-cent figure only until September 30.

Navy Ready

New York, June 14.—(AP)—The Third Naval District announced today that the Navy has "taken preliminary steps" to order to active duty naval reservists needed to man government-owned merchant ships in the event of a maritime strike at midnight tonight.

Rear Adm. Monroe Kelly, commander of the Third Naval District made the preliminary move on orders from the Navy Department in Washington, the announcement said.

HOPEFULS HIT ROAD IN RACE

S. C. Scene Of Hold-over From Historic Political Past

Bennettsville, S. C., June 14.—(AP)—The iron-lunged, brass-throated glory who run for office in South Carolina hit the road this week in the Democrats' own small-Democratic plan for acquainting the people with public issues.

That plan—the last semblance of the joint debates which dominated American politics during the 19th century and which were climaxed in the famous Lincoln-Douglas debate—requires that each of the candidates for state office speak at least once in every one of the 46 county seats.

To simplify the campaign, the party arranges an itinerary providing for their appearance together at one town in the morning, another in the afternoon during the two-month tour which ends August 5, five days before the primary. They spoke here and in Dillon today.

ITALIANS SEE UMBERTO PLOT IN MANIFESTO

Fear Monarchist Restoration Attempt; Say Charges Based On Falsehoods

By JOHN P. MCKNIGHT

Rome, June 14.—(AP)—A proclamation issued in the name of King Umberto II five hours after his dramatic flight into exile yesterday was interrupted by Republican leaders as the first move in a monarchist plot to restore him to the throne.

The manifesto, issued by the royal house, charged that the cabinet had used the king's powers in a "revolutionary gesture" and said he had left Italy only to avert civil war. At the same time, a royal aide said Umberto would consider himself king pending a formal court ruling on last week's plebiscite.

The cabinet, in answer to the proclamation, said it was a "painful document based on falsehoods" and hinted that it might not have been written by the king at all.

Umberto, who left Italy after ruling for a little more than a month spent last night at Barcelona, where his four-engine plane arrived shortly after dusk. He resumed his flight to Lisbon today, to join his queen and their four children.

The royal proclamation asserted that the cabinet had acted illegally in naming Premier Alcide De Gasperi as provisional chief of state while Umberto was still on the throne.

The proclamation said Umberto would release members of the armed forces and others from their oaths of loyalty to the crown, but not of their loyalty to the nation.

Gen. Adolfo Infante, the king's aide-de-camp said in an interview that Umberto would consider himself king and legal chief of state until the Supreme Court ruled on monarchist charges of fraud in last week's plebiscite. The court is expected to announce its decision June 18.

Steelman Appointed Reconversion Chief

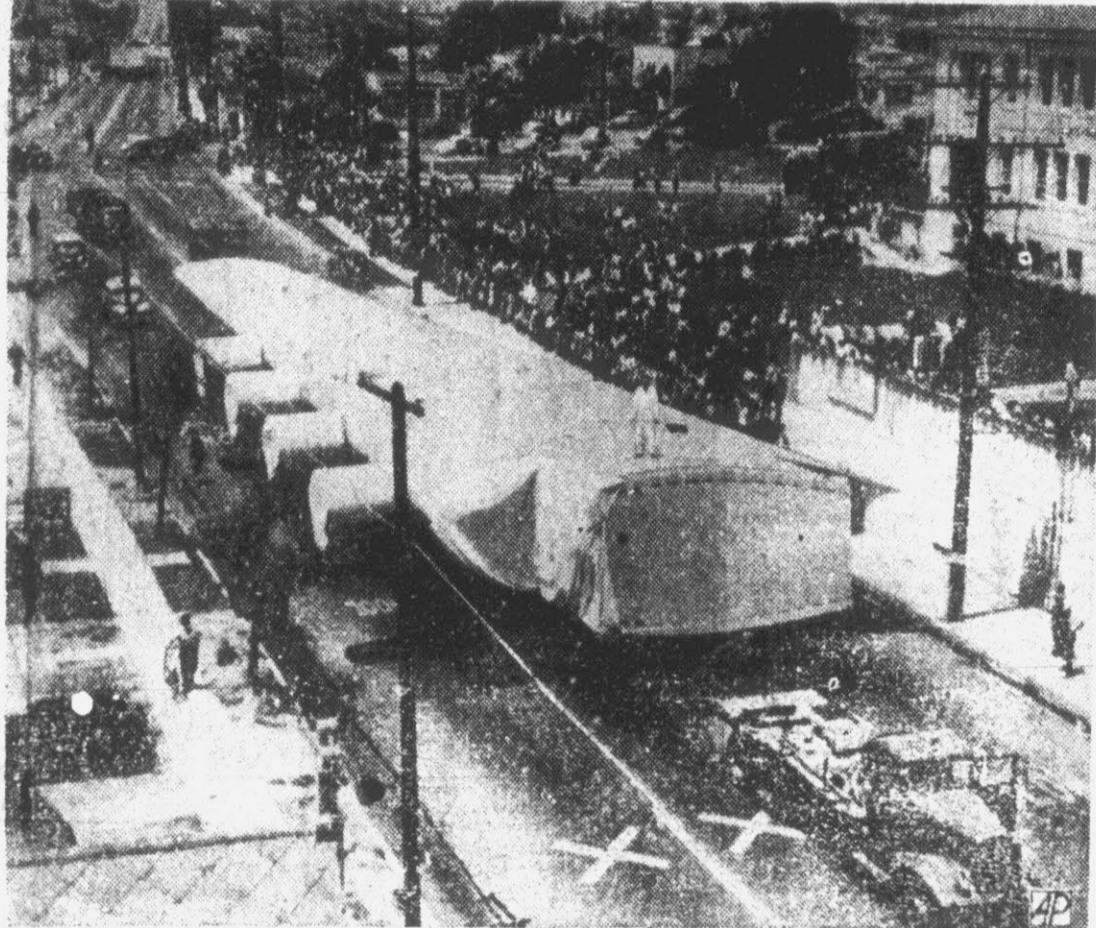

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—President Truman today announced he was appointing John R. Steelman as Director of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. Steelman, a special assistant to the President, will succeed John R. Snyder, who has been nominated for Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Truman told his news conference that he had decided to continue the OWMR on the advice of practically all members of his cabinet as well as the OWMR advisory committee.

He previously had said that OWMR would be gradually liquidated since he believed most of the country's reconversion problems had been solved.

Training Of Troops For China Endorsed

Convicted CIO Chief Files Appeal Notice

Gaffney, S. C., June 14.—(AP)—C. D. Puckett filed notice of appeal yesterday of his conviction of leading, conducting and organizing a parade without having a permit, for which he was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail or pay a fine of $100.

The case, tried by a four-man jury in the Court of City Recorder Floyd L. Baker, resulted from picketing May 22 at the strike-bound Gaffney Manufacturing Company plant.

Puckett, TWU-CIO leader, and seven other strikers were arrested following a demonstration in which children participated. Puckett was charged with contributing to the delinquency of juveniles, in addition to the parade charge, under an ordinance which holds parents responsible for behavior of children in picket lines.

Osborne Medley, one of the arrested strikers, has appealed a conviction. No date for trial of the others has been set.

Paul McNutt Chosen For US Ambassador

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—Paul V. McNutt will be the first U. S. ambassador to the Republic of the Philippines.

The designation was announced by President Truman who told a news conference that McNutt's nomination would go to the Senate today or tomorrow.

McNutt is now high commissioner to the Philippines and is in the islands helping with preparations for the inauguration of independence July 4.

Rear Adm. Gilchrist Stockton already has been appointed U. S. embassy attaché at Manila.

Gen. Marshall And Sec. Byrnes Approve Bigger Role For China In Keeping Asiatic Peace; Congressional OK Required

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—The United States is ready to help train a Chinese army of possibly 1,000,000 men, provided Congress gives its okay.

The training would include both Central Government and Communist troops, in a ratio of five to one.

The exact number of men still is uncertain, but Gen. George C. Marshall, special ambassador to China, has approved a program developed by the State War and Navy Departments calling for an "effective small army" of 60 divisions.

That descriptive came from officials who said the objective is three—

BOARD FINDS LITTLE FAULT

Primary Check-Up Shows Little Cause For Early Charges

Raleigh, N. C., June 14.—(AP)—Some "loose handling of some election matters" in Surry and Stokes Counties in the May 25 primary was found in the course of a three-day investigation by Chairman W. T. Joyner and Secretary Raymond C. Maxwell of the State Board of Elections.

"The situation is not so bad as the parties in their excitement had pictured it," Joyner said in a statement issued yesterday. "I think that all parties concerned are working to eliminate from the second primary any ground for a justifiable complaint by either candidate."

The investigation resulted from charges made by Thurmond Chatham of Winston-Salem and Rep. John H. Folger of Mt. Airy during tabulation of Surry and Stokes votes in the fifth district congressional primary.

The original charges were not pressed by either candidate when the state board canvassed the vote here, although they had caused election officials in the two counties to impound boxes in three precincts.

Chatham had a plurality of 39 votes over Folger in the official count, and Folger asked a second primary, which will be held June 22.

Folger's later charges that Chatham had spent more than $100,000 in his campaign resulted in an appointment by Solicitor Ralph Scott of the 21st judicial district that he would investigate. Scott asked the State Bureau of Investigation to help in the probe and Director Walter Anderson replied that he would assign SBI agents to the district if requested to do so later the second primary.

MUSIC'S CZAR IN TEST CASE

Petrillo Surrenders To Court; Posts $1,000 Bond

Chicago, June 14.—(AP)—James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL Federation of Musicians' Union, surrendered in Federal District Court today to answer charges of violating the Lea law in calling a strike of three radio station librarians here on May 28.

By agreement with the court and U. S. Attorney, Petrillo was allowed to withhold a plea to the charge He posted bond of $1,000.

Joseph Padway, counsel for the American Federation of Musicians, told Judge Walter J. LaBuy that he wanted to withhold the plea because he had several motions that he would like to file in writing.

Judge LaBuy allowed Padway until July 15 to file the motions, and until August 5 to file briefs in support of the motions. The government was given until September 9 to file reply briefs.

"We're in court now and will remain with this case until it is disposed of," Padway told reporters following the court proceedings.

"I'm in the hands of my attorney now," Petrillo's only comment, explained to the court that the union spokesman appeared in response to a summons instead of the customary warrant.

Information filed yesterday will charged Petrillo had violated the recently enacted Lea statute in attempting to "coerce, compel or constrain" radio station WAAP to employ three persons "not needed by the station to perform actual services."

The law specifically prohibits action compelling or attempting to compel radio stations from maintaining employees not needed in the performance of actual services.

Agrees To Destroy Its Own Store Of A Bombs And Halt Manufacture If Adequate Control System Is Set Up; Far-Reaching World Security Program Submitted By Baruch

New York, June 14.—(AP)—The United States today proposed to the world the creation of an international atomic development authority to handle atomic energy and agreed to destroy its own store of atom bombs and cease manufacturing them if an adequate control system is set up.

The United States made it crystal clear that there must be no veto power in any part of the framework it was proposing for the development and peaceful use of atomic energy.

It called for renunciation of the atom bomb as an instrument of warfare and for a world security program "not composed merely of 'hous thoughts but of enforceable actions—and international law with teeth in it."

Bernard M. Baruch, 75-year-old financier who played a leading role in this country's victories in both world wars, laid the United States' atomic cards on the table at the first meeting of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, on which he is the U. S. representative.

He lost no time in getting down to business. Addressing himself to "my fellow citizens of the world," Baruch said the United States "proposes the creation of an international atomic development authority, to which should be entrusted all phases of the developments and use of atomic energy."

"When an adequate system for control of atomic energy, including the renunciation of the bomb as a weapon, has been agreed upon, and put into effective operation, appropriate (suitable) punishments set up for the violations of the rules of control which are to be stipulated as international crimes," Baruch said, "we propose that:

"1. Manufacture of atom bombs shall stop;

"2. Existing bombs shall be disposed of pursuant to the terms of the treaty; and

"3. The authority shall be in possession of full information as to the know-how for the production of atomic energy."

"My country is ready to make its full contribution toward the end we seek, subject of course, to our constitutional processes, and to an adequate system of control becoming fully effective, as we finally work it out," Baruch said.

"The charter permits penalization only by concurrence of each of the five great powers—Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, the United Kingdom, China, France and the United States.

"I want to make it very plain that I am concerned here with the veto power only as it affects this particular problem. There must be no veto to protect those who violate their solemn agreements not to develop or use atomic energy for destructive purposes."

Baruch, in proposing the international atomic development authority, said that starting with raw material it should have:

"1. Managerial control or ownership of all atomic energy activities potentially dangerous to world security.

"2. Power to control, inspect, and license all other atomic activities.

"3. The duty of fostering the beneficial uses of atomic energy.

"4. Research and development responsibilities of an affirmative character intended to put the authority in the forefront of atomic knowledge and thus to enable it to (Continued on Page Eight)

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—Watch what happens to OPA in the next two weeks.

What happens to it will affect you, your pocketbook and your cost of living.

Here's the story. The House and Senate (the Senate last night, the House weeks ago) have voted to continue OPA.

In doing so both houses would strip OPA of many price controls, leaving it only a ghost of itself.

No one seriously denies that throwing off OPA controls will bring higher prices. Higher prices mean inflation.

goods reach the market, prices will start coming down.

The main points is: How high will the prices (inflation) go, how long will they stay up, when will they start coming down, how far down will they come?

And there's this: If prices get out of hand, the government no longer can attempt to hold wages down. Labor will start demanding higher pay if prices go screwy.

And there's this: If wages go up the cost of production will have to go up. Then, will wages and prices ever come down to where they are now?

But even with OPA still in control, as it is now and has been up to this time, living costs have gone up.

Byrnes First To Arrive In Paris

Paris, June 14.—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes was the first of the foreign ministers to arrive today for the fateful four power conference which is expected to decide whether Europe will be united or divided into Eastern and Western spheres.

V. M. Molotov was expected momentarily from Moscow and Ernest Bevin was to arrive during the afternoon.

Both Byrnes and Bevin have indicated the meeting starting tomorrow might be the last attempt of the foreign ministers to resolve differences, and that the United States and Great Britain might execute separate peace treaties with defeated European nations if they are unable to agree with Russia.

Previous foreign ministers conferences in London, Moscow and Paris since the war have failed to produce accords.

Byrnes and his conferees, Sen. Connally (D-Texas) and Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) all declined comment. All seemed in good spirits as they awaited smilingly from President Truman's private plane "The Sacred Cow." A crowd including U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery and French Undersecretary Jerric Schneitter greeted them.

Truman Tells Congress Cost Of Aid For China

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—President Truman told Congress today it cost the United States $300,000,000 to transport four Chinese armies by air to place them in position to disarm the defeated Japanese after V-J Day.

The President disclosed this in his 22nd report on lend-lease operations in explaining why it was deemed necessary to continue such aid to the Nationalist forces, after lend-lease had been terminated for all other nations.

Total lend lease aid to all countries from March 11, 1941, through Dec. 31, 1945, amounted to $49,396,000,000, the President said.

In addition to the "gigantic lend-lease operation" of ferrying Chinese troops by air, Mr. Truman revealed that $66,000,000 in vehicles and $50,000,000 in ammunition were lend-leased to China from American Army supplies in the Far East.

"Two armies were transported by air from west and south China to the area of Shanghai," the President said, "and one of these was transferred further by aid to Tientsin. Another army was picked up at Hankow and transported by air to Peiping."

THE WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The world has seen many momentous international conferences during the past decade of crises but the forthcoming show-down in Paris among the Big Four must rank among the most important for upon its success or failure hinge relations between Russian and the Western Allies.

Again the Foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, Russia and France will meet to try to break the deadlock over the European peace treaties. The outcome will in major degree lie among the Big Three—Russia on the one hand and on the other, America and Britain—France has been playing the part of balance among the rest.

Secretary of State Byrnes arrived in Paris this morning on President Truman's private plane "The Sacred Cow," accompanied by Senators Connally and Vandenberg as advisors. And the President himself took the unusual course of going to the airport at Washington yesterday to wish his envoys God-speed—an action which perhaps was calculated to emphasize the gravity of the mission. Secretary Byrnes earlier had said that failure of this conference would be a disaster for mankind.

Senator Connally, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, indicated America's position in a statement in which he declared that no veto by one foreign minister must be allowed to upset the whole peace program. He added that unless the Paris conference achieves "a quick and definite agreement" it should adjourn and call a peace conference of the 21 nations interested in these treaties.

And over in England only the day before British Foreign Secretary Bevin had announced that if negotiations bogged down he would sign separate peace treaties with the defeated European nations. Previously he had characterized the Paris conference as "one last attempt" to gain Russian cooperation for peace.

In Memory of Professor and Mrs. Claud Wayland Wilson

When the Woman's Missionary Society of Immanuel Baptist Church gathers in the Wilson room for its various meetings, we find there a vacant chair. It has been vacant since the passing of our loyal and devoted friend and co-worker, Mrs. Carrie Wilson, whom death claimed on April 11, 1945. We have not yet become accustomed to her absence, for as long as life on earth was hers, she was always there to occupy that chair. Though we can see no physical likeness of our departed friend and helper, her influence is always with us seeking to help us in all that we try to accomplish in Christ's name.

Over the fireplace in that room hangs the likeness of the late Professor Claud Wayland Wilson, husband of the late Mrs. Carrie Wilson. Those of us who met in that room on Sunday mornings twenty-five years ago sat under the spell of his kind and expressive voice as he taught from the book of all books. Many of us could not realize at that time the rare privilege that was ours.

We had yet to learn that only once in a long time could we hope to claim as a personal friend, one whose every act, deed and word seemed to witness for his Lord.

And so at this era, when the entire Christian world is giving thanks for a possible universal peace, the Woman's Missionary Society of Immanuel Baptist Church wish to say from the depths of our hearts, "Thank you God, for the lives of Brother and Sister Wilson. Mrs. Arthur Denton, Cor.-Sec. Mrs. R. H. Evans, President Miss Ruth Bizzell Honored Miss E. Ruth Bizzell, whose engagement to C. Burton Warren was recently announced has been the recipient of many social events during the past week.

The Extension Workers in Pitt County, her co-workers, honored her and Mr. Warren at a Steak Dinner in the private dining-room of the Proctor Hotel on Sunday night. The long banquet table was centered with a miniature bridal scene with a background of white candles. On each side was a beautiful arrangement of summer white flowers—fever-few, gypsophilla and sweet peas. The place cards were marked with a corsage of red roses for the ladies and a boutonniere for each man.

A delicious steak dinner was served. W. F. Pruden, Assistant Farm Agent, was master of ceremonies. An informal, but amusing program which included much advice to the bride and groom elect was enjoyed.

A shower of gifts was presented to the honoree.

Those present were E. Ruth Bizzell, honoree, Verona Lee Joyner, Mesdames Ruel W. Tyson, W. F. Pruden, F. F. Hendrix and A. W. Bizzell, Messrs C. Burton Warren, Fred T. Langford, Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson, W. F. Pruden, F. F. Hendrix and S. C. Winchester.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By SAM L. DOUGLAS A BIG MAN'S JUDGMENT.

In the war between the states General Robert E. Lee sometimes found himself bitterly opposed by his associates. There was one officer, behind Lee's back, often said unflattering and derogatory things about the general.

One day Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, asked Lee whether he thought this man could fill a certain important post. Lee replied in terms of warmest praise for the man's ability. When someone later Lee's friends expressed surprise that he had spoken well of a man who had spoken ill of him, the great-hearted general replied: "I was not asked for this man's opinion of me but for my opinion of him."

It is hard for us to keep ourselves out of situations. In fact, most of our distress in life arises from the fact that we get in our own way, stumble over our own prejudices, our aversions, our resentments. We think how much someone has hurt us or slighted us, and our resentment hides from us the great service this person might render a cause to which we are devoted. We condemn the man because we do not like him, and by so doing deprive the cause of his services.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

by ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Washington—The eastern tent caterpillar is on one of its bigger foliage-destroying rampages this spring.

Reports to the Department of Agriculture indicate an unusually heavy infestation of the leaf-eating pest from the New England states to Virginia. A report from northern Virginia says the tent caterpillar is the most abundant there it has been in 25 years. The insect is appearing in considerable numbers also in central, Georgia and north-eastern Mississippi.

The leaves of wild cherry trees are the favorite food of the caterpillar and therefore are usually the starting points for outbreaks of the pest. The apple tree is second in favor. The slimy-looking nests or tents of the caterpillar are often seen in neglected orchards. Commercial orchards are seldom infested because early seasonal sprays for codling moths usually kill the insects.

Government entomologists, who are receiving many complaints from gardeners and other home owners, say the caterpillars do not eat vegetables or garden crops. Sometimes they devour the leaves of shrubby such as rosebushes as well as the foliage of plum, grape, pear and various shade and forest trees.

The insect experts say control of tent caterpillars is comparatively easy if you get at them early. They can be killed by a spray composed of a tablespoon and a half of lead arsenate along with three tablespoons of hydrated lime in a gallon of water. The new insecticide DDT is also rated very effective.

The Department of Agriculture advises spraying the web-tent or nest and the tree branches with a DDT emulsion. One quart of such emulsion is made by adding two tablespoons of a five percent DDT household spray to one quart of hot water in which 1-2 tablespoons of soap flakes or soap powder has been dissolved. This should be shaken well before using.

The department warns that this DDT emulsion should not be used for any purpose other than for tent caterpillars, and then only on infested branches, as the oil may burn foliage of some plants. Tents which are too high for spraying can be burned by a flame attached to a pole. Care should be taken not to injure the tree with the heat of the flame.

Early in the summer the caterpillars mature into moths via the cocoon route. They then stop destroying foliage until the next spring. The moths deposit eggs in bands around the twigs of trees. The egg masses on twigs can be collected by cutting off the twigs and destroying them in winter, with good results in preventing damage to foliage the following spring.

With the kind of OPA Congress has decided upon, prices will go up but faster.
A tremendous amount of work has been put into the job done on OPA by Congress: lengthy hearings and much debate.
But, as noted, the congressional action is not final and it's possible OPA will squeeze through with a whole skin after all.
The House and Senate bills for continuing OPA are similar but not identical. In some respects they are quite different.
So a joint committee on both bills has been set up to try to work out a bill upon which both houses can agree.
Then that agreed-upon bill will go to President Truman for his signature or veto.

If it's like the present House and Senate bills, he'll probably veto it and send it back to Congress. All this will have to happen in 30 days or less, unless a law is passed to extend it. OPA automatically ends June 30.
No one wants to kill off OPA altogether, but by the time a year reaches Congress, the date would be pretty close to June 30.
That wouldn't leave much time for debate or for cooking up a new bill. If Congress can't pass the kind of bill it wants over the President's veto.
A two-thirds vote of both houses is necessary to pass anything over veto. This is not easy to set up.
So with June 30 staring it in the face the legislators might pass a simple resolution continuing OPA. Such a resolution would say OPA was to be continued, pretty much as it is now, for perhaps another six months, or nine months.

Chapter 24
It was raining when Whitney left the club house at Charlottesville. Jack had driven over for her in his car. By the time they reached the Armstrong house on a quiet side of the city, the rain had settled into a steady all-day downpour.

"My leg improves," Jack explained as he limped through the dripping garden to his front door. "I think driving will help it, but it's weather like this which plays the very devil with my knee. I'm afraid I'll not be of much assistance to you today while you are going through my trunks and boxes."

"I'll manage them all right. Ever since I was a little girl I've loved rainy days in an attic. Listening to the rain on the roof was always exciting. It made playing among the old trunks more mysterious and thrilling. This is a good day to find that paper."

Jack laughed. "Okay by me. I hope you have better luck than Paul and I had. I guess the best I can do will be to direct operations from the bottom of the attic stairs."

Mrs. Armstrong's greeting was cordial. She was a quiet little woman with a perpetually worried expression on her thin face which deepened every time she looked at her son. She explained she had packed Jack's papers, books and sport things in boxes and trunks when he left for the navy. His room had not been touched otherwise.

"I've made a thorough search in this room," Jack said as he and Whitney stood in the doorway of his bedroom on their way to the stairs leading to the garret. "The paper is not here. It's funny I can't remember where I put it because I certainly wanted to keep it."

"That's what makes me think it's still in this house," Whitney said quickly. "You've just put it away too well. But it will show up. The Senator says if he has it he is hoping to settle the case out of court."

"It certainly wouldn't put the cap stone on Barberini's checkered career! No doubt about that. He's pulled fast ones ever since he came to this country and Paul is the only person to date who has caught him red-handed. That's why he hates him so."

Whitney was silent as they walked to the back of the house. If she had only known so many things she knew now! When they reached the narrow steep stairs, Jack sank down on the lowest step, shaking his head dolefully at the closed door at the top of the single flight of steps.

"I'm just not good at even those few steps," he groaned. "But Mother went up right after you telephoned and dragged all my boxes and a couple of trunks over to the window. Everything that belongs to me you'll find packed away in there. Heaven knows what kind of a chore you've laid out for yourself. Paul gave up on the proposition after an hour."

He looked curiously at the girl standing beside him. "You must be awfully worried, Whitney, to take all this trouble."

"I am, Jack," she replied quickly. "I feel as if I got Paul into this mess."

"Good Lord, you had nothing to do with that louse's idea of trying to smear Paul and get even with him for exposing his own cheating years ago. You didn't even know he knew Paul—did you—that is when you first met him?"

"That's right. I'd known the count several months before he told me he knew Paul in college. In fact he only told me just about six weeks before Paul came home."

"Yeah, that's just the way he would work! He'd probably never told you they were in college together if Paul had stayed away another year or two. But when he knew he was coming back, he had to expose that paper. I hope to heaven you find that paper. It will probably be the best one-way ticket to his country that anyone could get for him."

"Tell me something about the paper I'm going to look for," Whitney said abruptly, suddenly not wanting to hear any more about the Count.

"As I remember it, it was a brief statement typed on club stationery. It was signed by Barberini and witnessed by Paul, Sidney White and myself. The Count never came into the club again. We kept our word and he got his degree a few weeks later without a word of his cheating at cards ever being repeated by any of the men present there that evening. It was a better break than he ever deserved."

"But you can't change a guy like that. He's a born gambler and always will be."

Whitney never forgot that afternoon. Alone in the huge resounding attic she went through boxes and trunks as long as there was enough daylight to see anything at all. The steady drumming of the rain on the roof only helped to emphasize the uselessness of her search as time went on. Carefully she looked through old notebooks and long-discarded school books, peering under fishing tackle and worn-out baseball gear in the hope of finding some sort of file or box containing papers.

As daylight faded she felt a mounting tension—a sort of growing despair. Nothing she could do now would help Paul. Of course he would win his case, but vindication would come after the accusation against him had been broadcast not only through the county but in Washington as well. It wasn't fair. The grey day brought only greyer thoughts.

Finally she acknowledged her defeat. As she closed the attic door and started slowly down the steep stairs, Whitney was more depressed than she had ever been before in all her carefree, sunny existence.

The old house was very still. Outside the steady beat of the rain was the only sound she could hear. It seemed to make the silence more intense. Quietly she went down to the main floor, and, seeing a light shining through into the hall, walked into an old-fashioned sitting room where a table was laid for tea by a small fireplace.

All she wanted now was to get the first train back to Washington.

Former GI Cleared Of Theft Complicity
Washington, June 14.—(AP)—The War Department and Customs Bureau have completely exonerated Roy C. Carlton, former Texas GI, of any connection with the removal of the $1,500,000 Hessian crown jewel loot to the United States.

The Customs Department announced in a formal statement: "United States customs officials said today that Roy C. Carlton former army technician stationed at Kronberg, Germany, had been interviewed by treasury agents and army investigators without developing any evidence that he had any part in the alleged smuggling into the United States of a fortune in gems belonging to the Hesse family."

Izvestia Proclaims Russo-Afghan Treaty
Moscow, June 14.—(AP)—A new Russian-Afghanistan treaty announced today allots to Russia the Kushkan area in the northwestern border of Afghanistan bordering Iran. Izvestia said the 1921 treaty on incorporation of the area into Afghanistan had lost power. The treaty was signed by Foreign Minister Molotov and Sultan Ahmed Khan, Afghan ambassador, to revise the frontier in the region along the Amu Darya and Pyandzh rivers.

This agreement once more shows the respect which the Soviet government pays to the rights and the needs of small nations," Izvestia said.

Under terms of the new pact, the frontier will be midstream in the river, instead of on the Afghan side as before, Izvestia said.

Grain Market
Chicago, June 14—(AP)—All deliveries of oats moved to ceilings at times today on moderate local buying. Purchases were based on the belief that feeding demand for all grains would expand if ceilings are removed on livestock and poultry, but not on grains, as now provided in the OPA extension bill.
Oats closed unchanged to 1/2 higher than yesterday's finish with all contracts at their 83 cent ceilings. There was no trade in corn or barley.

N. Y. Stock Market
New York, June 14—(AP)—Selected steels, rubbers and special issues attracted further buyers in today's stock market while associated rails and recent industrial sprinters were intimidated by light profit cashing.
From the start selling was about as timid as bidding and the ticker tape frequently was at a standstill. While gains of fractions to a point or so were fairly well distributed near the close, the minus column was widely populated. Transfers for the full proceedings ran to about 1,000,000 shares.

Baptist Convention Studies Endowment
Winston-Salem, June 14—(AP)—The Baptist State Convention will meet in special session "at some central point as soon as practicable" to consider the Reynolds' Foundation's conditional offer of $10,500,000 endowment at Wake Forest College, it was decided here yesterday.
The General Board of the convention authorized the president, recording secretary and general secretary to set the date, fix the place and notify churches to select and send messengers. Although no date was mentioned in official action, the last week in July or the first week in September were frequently mentioned as logical times. The special session is to be held prior to the annual convention scheduled for November at Asheville.

Police Are Accused Of Approving Klan
Commerce, Ga., June 14—(AP)—A member of Georgia's legal department asserted before a civic group here that Ku Klux Klansmen had been told by an Atlanta policeman the Klux would be allowed to "handle any race riot" and that such a riot was expected before July 17, date of the state primary.

Addressing the Commerce Kiwanis Club last night, Assistant State Attorney General Dan Duke also quoted the policeman as telling a later Klan meeting that "if there ever is any trouble the Klan will be permitted to do its work before the police are called out."

A recent meeting of Klan Post No. 1 in Atlanta was attended by 38 police officers in uniform, declared Duke, a member of Georgia's legal staff, charged by Gov. Ellis Arnall with directing the fight to disband the hooded organization.
Duke asserted that the Klan thrived on hatred and added that in Tennessee the Klan had burned crosses "in front of peaceful, law-abiding Jewish people" engaged in business.

HEAVYWEIGHTS CONFIDENT AS FIGHT NEARS

Louis Said Working Under Wraps; Conn Called Picture Of Confidence

JOE LOUIS

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 14—(AP)—Al Hoosman, one of four big, clever Negro fighters who have been helping Joe Louis sharpen his batting eye here for the past 44 days, is convinced that the champion is holding out a few secret weapons to use on Billy Conn next Wednesday night.

"I'm sure Joe's using a little camouflage," was the way the tall Los Angeles stylist put it. "Just every now and then he shows me enough in there for me to know he isn't doing his best all the time. He's much faster than when we started training, and he can hit plenty sharp when he's a mind to."

"There's not a doubt in Hoosman's mind that Louis will catch Conn fairly early, though he admits to a great admiration for Billy after having dropped over to his camp several times to watch him box. "He is a fine little fighter," he said seriously. "It's too bad he has so much harder than he can. Nobody's going to keep Joe from hitting him."

Louis, as though to bear out Hoosman's contention that he has been showing flashes on his best form only in spurts, looked about 50 per cent better yesterday than on Tuesday. He still wasn't trying to sail in and drop his partners, and he even permitted a small smile to play about his mouth at times, but he never let any doubt who was boss.

BILLY CONN

Greenwood Lake, N. J., June 14—(AP)—Joe Louis could just as well be a guy fishing in a Sampan in Siam, for all the attention Billy Conn gives him and what he does or how he looks.

And as for thinking about Louis, once his daily clouting chores are done, Billy is interested only in the order of their importance, with:

- (a) Gin rummy, (b) poker and (c) a little game of skill and chance known as 5 skin, which means you can be very well peeled playing it.

Sweet William hasn't lost even a little bit of the confidence he brought with him when he came swinging down the pike out of Pittsburgh, a puny middleweight, and went on to drive within three short fox-trots of taking the Bomber's crown away back in '41. This is the unwavering conviction that he can beat any man whoever walked, using fists alone.

He feels that the reason Joe turned the lights out on him in the 13th round of their last scramble was because he made the mistake of trying to slug it out, thereby giving Louis a "sucker shot," and Joe cashed in. And since he doesn't expect to make the same mistake again, he doesn't see any reason for changing his mind for Wednesday's taffy-pull.

"I'll either win or get killed trying," he grinned today after you finally got him to speak a small piece about Joe "and I'm not figuring on getting killed, unless maybe there's lightning."

FISH STORY

Virginia, Minn., June 14—(AP)—When Harold Lakoskey's friends laughed when he tried to tell about the big one that got away, he went on another fishing trip in Hoodob Lake.

And he came back with a better story. He had caught the one that had fooled him the first time, a 20-pound northern pike.

To prove it, he exhibited the fish from whose jaw his original hook leader and sinker still dangled,

Tenth Inning Is Fatal To Locals

With the score tied, 3-3, at the end of the ninth frame, the Greenville and Kinston's Eagles played an extra inning with disastrous results for the local nine.

The Eagles scored five runs in the 10th inning, on four hits, four stolen bases, a walk, an error and a passed ball—better than they had been able to do in all nine of the preceding innings. In their half of that ill-fated tenth, the Greensies didn't score.

M. Blackwell, Greenville second-infielder, re-inforced his already high batting average, with a 300-foot homer in the eighth, and also had a triple to his credit for the evening. The box:

Trojans Come From Behind To Win Game

Yesterday at Third St. Park the Third St. Trojans won over the W. Greenville Robins by the score of 14 to 12 in a free hitting game that was not decided until the last inning. The Robins ran up what looked like a commanding lead in the first four innings but lost out when the Trojans scored eight times in the last two innings. The winners showed up better in the field which won the game for them because the losers had a lot more power at the plate.

Smith, Lewis, Eilers and Wall all got three hits apiece for the West-end team. Fred Joseph, captain of the Trojans, led his team at bat with two homers and a double.

Elks Will Send 12 Boys To Camp

At a meeting of Greenville Lodge No. 1645, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, last night it was announced that the chair officers will be delegates to the North Carolina Elks' Association convention at Wilmington June 27-28. They are John W. Glover, exalted ruler, Charles E. Blair, R. L. Bunting and J. Frances Bowen.

The Elks Lodge will send a dozen worthy boys to the Elks' Summer Camp in the western part of the state this summer. E. Hoover Taft, Jake Hadley and Guy V. Smith compose the committee in charge of this. The boys, selected on their merit by the committee, will be sent to camp for two weeks, with all expenses, including transportation, paid by the various Elks lodges. The Greenville lodge, organized nearly five years ago, does considerable work for the benefit of young people and others. The lodge now has 160 members.

BUS LINE IS CITY ASSET

Public Utility To Change Hands; Owner In Ill Health

By CHESTER WALSH

The F. P. Hill passenger bus line which has operated so successfully in Greenville the past several months indicates that the people here will patronize the buses. Mayor Jack Boyd said today. Hill, operator of bus lines here and at Ashok and South Norfolk, Va., has been ordered by his physician to go to a hospital with a heart ailment and to take a long rest. He recently notified the city that he would retire and desired to give up his franchise in Greenville and sell the buses. Mayor Boyd, realizing the value of the service, got busy and made contacts which led up to negotiations with some parties to take over the bus franchise when Hill retires.

J. R. Mauldin of Rocky Mount and B. W. Ginn of Raleigh applied to the Board of Aldermen for the franchise and it was granted to them on recommendation of the Rocky Mount Bus Lines. Hill is expected to come here this week to complete negotiations for sale of his buses to Mauldin and Ginn, the mayor said.

In the meantime Hill is continuing the bus service until the new franchise-holders can take over. The bus drivers like Greenville and would like to remain here, it is understood. Hill also plans to sell his bus lines in Ashok and South Norfolk, he said.

The bus line has functioned efficiently here and regular schedules are maintained. Traffic has increased considerably, business being especially good on the Five Points-Airport route. The buses are a great convenience for people on the other side of the river, going to and from work. The buses also have been handling passenger traffic from Five Points to the baseball park. They have all safety appliances, they are large and contain roomy and comfortable seats, and the state law requires that the operator carry ample insurance.

The bus line will be a profitable enterprise to the owners and a great public convenience for Greenville Mayor Boyd said.

2. To help preserve peace in Asia and.

3. To cooperate in whatever way is necessary with United Nations peace forces yet to be organized.

Secretary of State Byrnes sent Acting Senate President McKellar (D-Tenn.) a request for the necessary legislation before he left yesterday for the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Paris. The proposal was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee for action.

"I firmly believe," Byrnes wrote McKellar, "that the national interest, including this country's interest in the establishment and preservation of peace and security in Asia, requires that the United States give aid to the Republic of China by assisting that country to organize and maintain modern military forces of moderate size which will permit China to make a substantial contribution to peace in that part of the world."

U. S. Army forces in China now number only about 6,000 men including both officer and enlisted personnel. This is all that remains of the once large American military establishment in Eastern Asia. However, long before the U. S. Army's Chinese theater passed out of existence on May 1, plans had been made for the eventual assignment of a military group of land, sea and air advisers to the government of Chiang Kai-Shek.

Some of the officers still in China are reported to have been held there in anticipation of such an assignment.

The goal of 60 divisions, composed of 50 divisions of National Government troops and 10 of Chinese Communist troops was laid down by General Marshall last January.

(Continued From Page One) sources of even the old vaudeville troupers. There are 21 candidates in all this year—eleven seeking the gubernatorial nomination, which is tantamount to election—and their movement from town to town assumes the proportions of a major migration.

Each audience is treated to over three hours of solid political oratory. It would probably get more if the time-keepers were not strict about the time limit—12 minutes for each of the gubernatorial candidates, six for each of the others seeking state offices. Some of the candidates stop in mid-sentence when time is called, but some squeeze enough additional time to get to the period. None go beyond that point.

But the candidates and the audiences take it in stride, for this ### Veto Cries . . .

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) who will be one of the Senate conferees, said he hoped the committee could work out a more satisfactory measure than either the Senate or House bill.

He told the Senate Mr. Truman had advised him that he would be "compelled to veto" OPA legislation if it came to him in the form passed by the House. Barkley added that he would not attempt to pass judgment on whether the Senate bill is better or worse than the House.

Taylor To Continue Position At Vatican

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—Myron C. Taylor will continue as the President's ambassador to the Vatican in Rome until after world peace has been secured, Mr. Truman told his news conference today. He added that he recently had informed a group of Protestant clergymen that Taylor's tenure would continue until the peace treaties had been written.

After that, he said he told the group, we would no longer have an official representative at the Vatican.

Prisoner-Promotion Vetoed By President

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—President Truman today vetoed legislation calling for promotion of navy, marine, corps and coast guard personnel who had been prisoners of war.

He told Congress in a message that the measure was neither necessary nor in the national interest.

Action On Vinson's Nomination Delayed

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—Action on the nomination of Fred M. Vinson as chief justice of the United States today was delayed until next Wednesday when two persons asked to be heard by a Senate Judiciary sub-committee.

The men were Robert Gray Taylor of Media, Pa., and Edwin J. Greer of Washington, D. C.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) instructed both to file statements and proof to support any objections by noon Wednesday.

Taylor told newsmen "I have not questioned the integrity of Mr. Vinson and I do not question it. He said he was interested generally in the integrity of judiciary."

HOT ARGUMENT

Toia, Cal., June 14.—(AP)—Things got flaming hot for catcher Dave Semple during an argument at the plate in a Kansas-Oklahoma-Missouri baseball league game last night.

At the height of a dispute between his battery-mate and umpire George Carney, fans saw the Miami, Okla., backstop start snaking sparks from his chest protector, and then quickly throw the protector aside as flames burst forth.

Source of the fire was believed to be a carelessly-thrown cigarette which had lodged in the protector as it lay on the ground between innings.

Sugar Allotment For Bakers Cut

Washington, June 14.—(AP)—OPA today ordered a cut in the sugar rations of commercial bakers in a move to limit the output of cake, pie and other pastry.

September quarter bakers will receive 60 per cent of the amount of sugar they used during the same period in 1941. At present they are receiving 70 per cent.

The reduction places bakers on the same basis as most other industrial users of sugar. These include candy makers, ice-cream manufacturers and beverage producers who have been receiving 60 per cent of their base use and who will get the same amount during the next quarter. The ration cut for bakers, OPA officials said, is aimed at surbing production of pastries and thus checking diversion of scarce flour from bread.

The new home canning coupon becomes valid July 1 is Spare Stamp 10 in family ration books. It will be good through Oct. 31.

Home canning stamp nine, now valid for five pounds, also may be used through Oct. 31. Validation of a second home canning stamp has no effect on the regular household sugar ration of five pounds every four months. OPA said present plans call for validation of the next five-pound household stamp Sept. 1.

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—Congressional investigation of the resurgent Ku Klux Klan has been postponed indefinitely by a 5-to-1 vote by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Some members said privately today, however, that an informal check of Klan activities by committee investigators will continue.
