Senators Demand Action On Peace

Allied Agreement On Blocked Treaties Asked Before U. S. Entrusts A-Bomb Secrets To International Control

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) demanded today speedy allied agreement on the long-blocked peace treaties of World War II before the United States moves to entrust any atomic secrets to international control.

Millikin saw a definite link between the future work of the United Nations Atomic Commission in New York and the outcome of the reconvened "Big Four" Foreign Ministers meeting at Paris, where a new effort is being made to end the stalemate on treaties.

Durants' Counsel Demands Charges

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Col. Jack W. Durant and Capt. Kathleen B. Nash Durant denied through their counsel today that they had "admitted any act which they considered criminal" in connection with the Kronberg castle jewel case.

The Durants have been held in army custody at an undisclosed place since last week in connection with the investigation of the removal of the Hesse Royal jewels, valued at $1,500,000 or more, from the Kronberg castle in Germany.

Washington, June 15 (AP)—This country isn't offering to give away its special atomic secrets overnight. It won't give them away at all unless the other nations agree to certain conditions satisfactory to the United States.

MINISTERS OF THE FOUR TO MEET TODAY

Impasse Appears As Serious As Last Meeting To Make World's Peace

Paris, June 15 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers meet again in Luxembourg Palace today for another attempt to hammer their war-torn swords into the machinery for world peace.

The ministers—James F. Byrnes of the United States, Ernest Bevin of Britain, V. M. Molotov of Russia and Georges Bidault of France—will reconvene at 3 p. m. GMT (10 a. m. EST) to attempt to break the impasse which prevented the writing of peace treaties at their last session here.

American circles said the ministers were just as deadlocked today on how the peace treaties should be written as they were when they left Paris less than a month ago.

Sources close to Byrnes said that Washington and Moscow had not exchanged any diplomatic notes on the proposed treaties in the interim between the meetings.

The United States has sent a draft of a proposed treaty to Austria to the other governments, the American sources disclosed, but Moscow has not replied.

In the face of the apparent deadlock, it was problematical how long the session would continue.

Despite recent accusations by Molotov that the United States and Britain had formed a bloc aimed at imposing their will on Russia, the two western nations were expected to press for quick action on peace treaties, freedom of transport on the Danube, evacuation of armies from Austria and the Balkans, and reconstruction of Europe.

Verdict Awaited For Lichfield Trial Case

Bad Nauheim, Germany, June 15 (AP)—The Lichfield case of Lt. Granville Cubage of Oklahoma City went to a court martial for a verdict today.

The prosecution had demanded that Cubage not be allowed to shift to superior officers the blame for alleged brutality to American soldiers confined during the war in the guardhouse of the 10th replacement depot at Lichfield, England.

The 27-year-old Cubage is the first officer tried in the Lichfield cases, which have produced testimony of former prisoners that they were clubbed, slugged and kicked by soldier guards.

Red Cross Gives Aid After Pitt Tornado

Immediately following the tornado in the vicinity of Grifton, the Southeastern Area headquarters of the American Red Cross, in Atlanta, dispatched four representatives to the disaster area.

The reported damage caused by the tornado consisted of: six houses destroyed, four houses damaged, thirty-two other buildings destroyed and sixteen others damaged.

Red Cross expenditures in Pitt County amounted to $2,560.48. The funds were sent to the Pitt County chapter in Greenville from area headquarters in Atlanta.

Favorable Reaction To U. S. Atomic Plan

Foreign Capitals Reserving Official Comment Pending Study Of Drastic Political Implications Given By Baruch

New York, June 15 (AP)—Favorable reaction was sapping up today for the principles of the United States' rigidly conditioned offer to scrap the atomic bomb monopoly in exchange for a guaranteed world front outlawing the weapons of mass destruction.

Foreign capitals, however, reserving official comment until the governments have thoroughly reviewed the drastic political implications of the plan laid before the United Nations atomic energy commission yesterday by U. S. delegate Bernard M. Baruch.

The first British press comment was favorable to the American plan and members of the U. S. Senate and atomic scientists gave it an enthusiastic reception.

Delegates to the 12-nation atomic commission, while praising Baruch's presentation as a moving and historic document, indicated they substance before the commission assemblies again next Wednesday afternoon.

After listening solemnly to Baruch's proposal to establish an international atomic development authority but only after all the countries have met the iron-clad conditions laid down by the United States, the delegates dispatched his 4,500-word document to their home governments.

These conditions provide for the abolition of the Big Five veto power in relation to the operation of the atomic development authority (AD-A) as an all-powerful agency in its field, armed with unprecedented authority of search, seizure and punishment.

Baruch made it clear that the United States proposed to have guarantees meeting all the specified conditions before making the final bomb-disposal commitments in treaties which must be ratified by a two-thirds majority of the Senate and by the several governments in the United Nations.

He emphasized the condition that the Big Five powers must yield their veto in the Security Council so far as it relates to the field of atomic energy.

Fair Exchange

New York, June 15 (AP)—An authoritative source suggested today that the United States is willing to trade its atomic bomb for a world government or security system that can and will keep the peace.

This source, who would not permit himself to be identified, envisioned a guardian of world peace even higher and brighter than the United Nations Security Council if the council holds tight to the veto. Just what form it should take he added, is under study.

The United States was represented as being in position to attain peace by an old-fashioned swap—the bomb for the peace.

TESTIMONY IN PROBE VARIES

Contradictory Statements Confuses Hunt For Assailants

Atlanta, June 15 (AP)—Investigation of the alleged abduction and rubber hose flogging last week of a Gordon Negro was underway today amid contradictory statements by interested parties.

The American Federation of Labor asserted in a statement that four masked men took the Negro, Willie Dudley, from his work in a South Georgia clay pit and beat him up as a consequence of his refusal earlier to resign from an AFL-affiliated union.

The union statement, given out here by George E. Googe, AFL's southern representative, said the victim had identified all four men and listed their names, which included that of a Twigg County deputy sheriff. The men "also represented themselves as members of the Ku Klux Klan," the statement said.

Sheriff W. E. Hamrick of Twigg County said an investigation by his office had disclosed that the men were "merely members of local anti-union folks" and that Dudley could identify his assailants only by voice.

Googe's statement said the Negro was first visited at his home on the night of June 8 and ordered to sign a resignation from the union, which he had recently joined.

"He refused to do so," the statement added. "He went to work at 11 p. m. and shortly after midnight four masked men came on the job with guns, handcuffed Dudley and

BRIDGES SAYS NEW WALKOUT DUE IN FALL

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Harry Bridges has gone down the line for unity.

He goes back to San Francisco embittered, the only union leader in the Committee for Maritime Unity who leaves Washington with just about what he had when he came.

But he says he will renew his try to get more when his new contract expires Sept. 30, so there might be a new maritime crisis this fall.

Holding out until close to the last minute of the 11th hour, Bridges, president of the powerful CIO International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Association, finally yielded for two reasons, according to some of his maritime allies:

1. To avoid splitting the newly formed Committee for Maritime Unity, made up of six CIO unions and one independent, and bolstered by the claimed support of the World Federation of Trade Unions embracing workers in some 40 countries.

2. To avoid bringing down on all labor the wrath of Congress a major new strike might arouse. Passage of the Case strike-control act made organized labor a bit apprehensive, despite its veto by President Truman.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, is understood to have advised moderation and even—according to reports circulating at the settlement talks—to have taken a stern line with Bridges.

This gave rise to conjecture of a Murray-Bridges rift. The speculation was not discouraged when Bridges pointedly omitted to give Murray the slightest credit for the seamen's gain in his address telephoned to West coast workers Thursday night. By contrast Joseph Curran, his co-chairman in

Babson Discusses More Industries

Babson Park, Mass., June 14—Once every six months I prepare a brief summary of the leading industries. Half of these, I discussed in this paper last week. I am now completing this summary.

Paper Stocks: The outlook for the paper industry is good. Just now it is handicapped by a scarcity of pulp; but this should be remedied as soon as the pulp mills of Europe get into full swing.

Petroleum Stocks: Although these stocks have been behind the rest of the market, they may be one of the best purchases. Readers, however, should buy the stocks of companies having large oil reserves rather than the stocks of the distributing companies.

Public Utility Stocks: These are destined for public ownership. This means that stockholders will be compelled to turn in their securities for cash at a time when cash may not be worth much.

Railroad Equipment Stocks: The railroads are in great need of new equipment of all kinds from spikes to locomotives. It seems as if such companies should do well for the next few years.

Rubber Stocks: The rubber industry has completed its re-conversion problems and earnings for the next two or three years should be satisfactory. Furthermore, the existence of large synthetic plants should make the industry more stable than in the past.

Steel Stocks: This country cannot enjoy prosperity without the steel industry benefitting therefrom.

Last Minute Settlement Ends Threat To Shipping

Seamen And Waterfront Workers Of AFL In Some Ports Stage Walkouts; Have Yet To Accept CMU Agreements; Ratification Of Terms Awaited By Scattered Crews

By the Associated Press

Most of the maritime unions in the nation's ports canceled strike plans today and scheduled meetings for ratification of last night's Washington agreement ending the CIO maritime labor dispute.

But at the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor, more than 5,000 seamen and waterfront workers were called out on strike at 12:01 (PST) and L. B. Thomas, local chairman of the committee for maritime unity, instructed his vessels, to live in their quarters but not to work on the ships.

Thomas said he doubted if the membership of the seven unions involved could be called together today for ratification.

Plans for picketing New York's waterfront were called off by the New York joint maritime committee, which has nearly 30,000 seamen in five unions.

All demonstrations have been canceled and five membership meetings are scheduled for noon to vote on the committee for maritime unity (CMU) agreements," said a statement by Joseph Stack, chairman of the joint committee.

The statement came several hours after 5,000 members of the committee adopted by unanimous vote a resolution declaring a strike "in accordance with the policy of the committee for maritime unity" and instructed all national maritime union men to report for picket duty at 6 a. m. (EDT).

It was estimated that 4,000 seamen walked off the majority of 308 American ships in the harbor before midnight.

Earlier, Stack declared that "as far as we are concerned the strike is on until the membership calls it off." He added, however, that the joint committee would recommend acceptance of the agreements.

In Boston, where 750 CIO seafarers struck for two hours after the midnight deadline, the national maritime union ratified terms of the agreement and the men drifted back to their vessels. Picket lines at East Boston and Castle Island were called off.

Picketing of the port of Philadelphia, which started at the midnight deadline, was ordered halted two hours later after receipt of official notification of the Washington settlement.

Washington, June 15 (AP)—OPA is planning to slap a higher price on another market basket item—sugar.

And the cost of coffee may be increased three to five cents a pound soon.

With price hikes authorized or already in effect for milk, bread, butter, cheese and some cereals, an OPA official disclosed that housewives will have to pay more for sugar shortly.

This official told a reporter privately that the increase at retail will be about a fifth of a cent a pound—a penny on a five pound package. The price will be raised, he said, to offset wage increases granted to sugar refinery workers.

It will be the second price boost for sugar this year. The cost went up a half cent a pound last February.

Importers have been conferring with Stabilization Director Chester Bowles on the possibility of a price increase for coffee. Bowles has told them he will decide after final action has been taken on the price control extension bill, now in House-Senate conference.

Unless renewed, a subsidy of three cents a pound paid to importers will expire June 30. Price bills passed by both the House and Senate trim subsidies substantially and thus necessitate elimination of some of these payments.

Officials said withdrawal of the coffee subsidy would push prices up three cents a pound, and that it

COURT DENIES U. S. AVIATORS AS WITNESSES

Mihailovic Defense Plea Refused; Say Testimony Would Be At Variance

Belgrade, June 15 (AP)—The court trying Gen. Draga Mihailovic on charges of treason and collaboration refused a defense request today to call United States aviators as witnesses.

The request was opposed not only by the prosecutor, but by Mihailovic himself.

"In principle, I disagree," Mihailovic said. The court dismissed the proposals by saying to the defense, "Go on with your questioning."

The public prosecutor, opposing the proposal, said that what the Americans would have to testify would be in contradiction to the testimony of Mihailovic himself.

The defense had proposed that the court call Capt. Walter Mansfield of New York, former member of the American military mission to Mihailovic; Mike Markur, and J. K. Levin, aviators saved by the Chetniks; and W. L. Rogers, president of the committee for defense of Mihailovic.

Questioned about the proposal, Mihailovic said: "I would like time to consider it."

"This is a matter which does not need reflection," the court president said. "Do you agree that these witnesses should appear or not?"

"In principle I do not agree with the proposal," the defendant replied. Later he added: "The prosecutor had used this opportunity to attack me. He should understand these men could bring much in my defense, but in principle I do not agree."

The courtroom rang with applause when the prosecutor said the aviators' testimony would contradict Mihailovic, and the president called for order.

The defense attorney said he had received a cable from the United States stating that the witnesses sought to testify that Mihailovic did not collaborate with the enemy. The message was sent from New York June 12 and received June 13.

Mansfield was the first American officer parachuted into Yugoslavia. Mihailovic denied he had ever collaborated with the enemy.

FOOD PRICES JUMPED AGAIN

New York, June 15—NBC reported in a Tokyo broadcast today that six members of the Japanese war crimes tribunal defense counsel had resigned, charging they had not been given sufficient time to prepare their case and asserting that continuation of the trial under present conditions would be "a reflection of American justice."

The six attorneys conferred with Gen. MacArthur last week in an effort to persuade him to intervene, but MacArthur refused to act on the grounds that a postponement is a matter for decision by the tribunal itself, the broadcast said.

Arrangements for their return already have been completed, NBC said, and some of them will leave Tokyo Monday and others will leave by plane Tuesday morning.

The six have expressed an intention to urge a congressional investigation of the trial.

Picket Lines Forming As Agreement Is Reached; Committee For Maritime Unity Hails Terms As 'Unprecedented' Triumph; Average 30 Percent Pay Increase Given

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The shadow of a crippling maritime strike lifted from the nation's busy waterfronts today—the big tie-up cancelled exactly one minute before it was to begin.

A hectic, nick-of-time settlement ended the prolonged and stormy labor dispute even as crews were quitting their ships and picket lines formed.

The agreement, which seven maritime unions hailed as a sweeping victory, saved the country from having a third major labor emergency piled on top of the coal and rail crises. And it heralded peace—at least temporarily—in the shipping industry for the first time since last July.

Because of the last-minute nature of the settlement some confusion prevailed in several American ports, as seamen and dock workers discussed ratification of the new wage-hour pact.

But an announcement by Harry Bridges and Joe Curran that it represented an "unprecedented" triumph for the unions was counted on to expedite approval by the rank-and-file and insure no important interruption in merchant marine operations.

"We'll keep 'em sailing," promised Curran, who is co-chairman with Bridges of the Committee for Maritime Unity.

The break in the strike threat deadlock came last night at 11 p. m. (EST), after a long day of suspense and an evening of better-skillet chaos at the Labor Department. It was then union leaders and employers began signing the documents that meant they had agreed at last.

Only 45 seconds later the strike deadline arrived in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other East coast ports.

While strike plans went into effect along some waterfronts before settlement news was received, the nation at large quickly learned the crisis had been surmounted. A long strike of CIO dock workers, seamen, engineers and radio operators had been averted.

Today these main facts emerged from the settlement of the most complex and confusing big labor dispute in recent years.

1. A powerful new labor alliance, the Committee for Maritime Unity (CMU), composed of seven unions claiming 214,000 members, had sailed successfully through its first test under the joint leadership of Bridges and Curran.

2. By threatening a disastrous strike it had won from the government and the private ship operators large wage increases and other concessions.

3. Not only that, but it served notice it will "come again" in September. Bridges agreed to the settlement only as far as Sept. 30, and said his West coast longshoremen will seek still higher pay at that time. Cio radio operators and engineers also have contracts expiring Sept. 30.

Meantime AFL sailors—not represented in the CMU negotiations here—were seeking more pay in wage talks at San Francisco and New York.

The newly-won CMU agreements give seamen:

A wage increase of $17.50 a month, retroactive to April 1, and a dollar an hour overtime pay for Sunday work at sea and for Saturday and

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

America's proposal to the United Nations for international control of atomic energy development, and for the scrapping of the atomic bomb as a weapon, may be the lever needed to break the deadlock in the conference of Big Four Foreign Ministers which is re-assembling in Paris today for a "showdown."

There is no doubt that Uncle Sam's possession of the only atomic bombs in existence, plus the secret of their manufacture, has created in Russian minds doubts and fears which have done much to widen the breach between Moscow and the western allies. Washington's offer to pool this terrific secret—the greatest discovery of its kind in history—and to join in outlawing the bomb in war, is calculated to remove much of this suspicion.

If this gesture by the United States doesn't set the quartet of foreign ministers to harmonizing, then it is difficult to see what will turn the trick. Certainly no more likely moment could have been chosen to make this move since, as I've reported previously, there have been recent signs that Russia was veering about in the direction of compromise after winning many of her most important demands. Secretary of State Byrnes has said that failure of the Paris conference would be a disaster for mankind. We can see that it might easily mean the division of Europe not only into two sections but into two air-tight and bitterly hostile sections. British Foreign Secretary Bevin, in an impassioned passage of his speech before the labor party conference Wednesday, put the thing like this: "We've already brought within its new zone of influence Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Romania, Albania, Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Finland. It will be surprising to this column if some of these countries don't make application before long for admission to the Soviet Union, as did the Baltic states. However, that's a matter of speculation. What we do know is that this Russian sphere of influence is already thoroughly organized. The Paris conference must work from this basis, aiming at preventing the erection of a stone-wall through the heart of Europe. But the effect of the American proposal will reach far beyond the (Continued on Page Two)

Strength FOR THE DAY

IS PRAYER WORTH WHILE?
How much faith do we really have in prayer?

We may insist that we have a great deal. Do we not say our prayers regularly, perhaps both morning and evening? Do we not take the overpowering situations of our lives to God in earnest supplication. Is not our faith in prayer therefore demonstrated?

Not fully. First, we need to realize that prayer is something more than the offering up of occasional petitions. Real prayer is a constant attitude. The person who makes his belief in prayer work a person who not only prays occasionally, or even regularly, but one who maintains such an attitude toward the unseen world continually that his whole life is a prayer. No one attains perfectly to this ideal, but that is the ideal we must follow. No one can deny who has read the Bible thoughtfully and thoughtfully analyzed his own personal experience.

The second factor necessary to successful praying is what we might call objectivity. If praying is going to do us any good, we have to believe deep in our hearts that there is someone at the other end of the line listening. We have to direct our prayers to a God we are very sure is there, and with all the conviction we can muster we have to assure ourselves of his eagerness to give us his best gift. To pray in any other mood is to utter vain and repetitious words.

The formula is this: Pray as if you expected something to happen, and make prayer an attitude as well as an utterance.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

by FRANK CAREY
Washington—The noise of New York City at midnight is no louder than the hum of your home refrigerator. A noisy rest... and is not... than an average factory. And ordinary conversation is more intense in tone than the noise of a quiet automobile.

These are some of the findings reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. W. H. Pielemier, Pennsylvania State College physicist. He has measured the intensity of noise ranging from the rustle of leaves to the whirring that goes on in an airplane motor test chamber.

The doctor uses a sensitive meter which records the intensity of sounds in "decibels"—a unit of sound measurement.

In a report in the Scientific Monthly, Pielemier said the noise of a refrigerator and the noise of New York at midnight had shown the same reading on the instrument—45 decibels. He did not say how far the instrument was from Times Square.

Ordinary conversation registers 60 decibels, midway between the noise of a "quiet typewriter" and that of an average restaurant.

But Pielemier found that a battery of typists going full steam in a stenographic room make as much noise as workers in an average factory.

Other sounds in the order of decreasing loudness: Pneumatically rock drill; airplane motor at 23 feet; automobile horn; punch press; boiler factory ringer; train passing subway station and elevated train overhead; a passing truck and a printing press.

A quiet office and the average dwelling; a broadcast studio, which was found to be only five decibels louder than "a whisper at five feet"; and the rustle of leaves, which shows 15 decibels.

The physicist reported that he was out in his flower garden on V-J day, measuring the loudness of sounds produced by insects, when all of a sudden his instruments picked up the noise of the V-J celebration on the college campus—almost a mile away.

There Are Two Sides To Every Question

V-J noise, he'd have to raise his speech level from the usual 60 decibels to about 75 or 80.

Pielemier also points out that there are some loud-mouths in the insect kingdom which would interrupt many a dinner-table conversation if our ears were tuned to catch their high-pitched sounds.

With his instruments, he has picked up the song of a meadow grasshopper called the Conocephalus fasciatus which "broadcasts" at a tonal pitch of 40 kilocycles. "If our ears," says the doctor, "were as sensitive to 40 kilocycles as they are to three or four kilocycles, we could hardly carry on a conversation if several of these slender meadow grasshoppers were singing in our midst."

all nations taking part in the agreements.

National sovereignty means a nation's freedom to make decisions of its own, as it sees fit, to protect itself or its interests.

Because this is so important, the big nations in the United Nations insist upon having a veto upon the actions of the others.

Suppose the United States saw fit to invade some neighboring nation. The United Nations would go into session to see what could be done to stop this.

They all might vote to take unilateral action against the country but by voting "No" the United States could stop the others from moving against America. That "No" is the veto power.

This veto power for the big nations was written into the charter of the United Nations, and agreed to by the members, before the atomic commission was created.

Now Baruch suggests that if atomic energy control is going to work, then the nations must give up their veto in the United Nations in so far as it affects control of atomic energy.

Here, again the United States Senate would have to approve before we could agree to anything like that.

If we did agree, it would be the first time in our history that we were willing to lay aside our national sovereignty under any circumstances or for any purpose.

It could mean this: If—after we and the other nations agree to international atomic control—we for some reason wanted to make atom bombs, the rest would be free to jump on us.

J. T. THORNE DIED FRIDAY

Funeral Services For Prominent Farmville Man Sunday At 4

By CHESTER WALSH
John T. Thorne, 73 prominent citizen of Farmville, died at a Rocky Mount Hospital, Friday night, after several days' illness.

Funeral services will be held at the Farmville Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Officiating ministers will be the Rev. E. R. Clegg, pastor of the church; Rev. W. T. Grant of Rocky Mount, district supervisor of the Methodist Church, and Rev. E. S. Coates, pastor of the Farmville Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Forest Hill Cemetery.

The body is at the Farmville Funeral Home. It will remain there until Sunday at 1 p. m. when it will be taken to the Methodist Church to lie in state until the funeral hour at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Thorne was a prominent merchant, banker, farmer and dairyman. He went to Farmville when a young man as a school teacher. He always took an active part in community affairs. He was prominent in educational and religious circles. He held prominent offices in the N. C. Cotton Growers Cooperative Association and the Farm Bureau. He was one of the organizers of the Farmville Methodist Church, and was a member of the board of stewards many years. Some years ago Mr. Thorne established the John T. Thorne Endowment for the Methodist Church. He was a member of the Pitt County School Board for a quarter of a century and was a charter member of the Rotary Club.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Croom Thorne, and a daughter, Miss Mary Leah Thorne a student at St. Mary's College, Raleigh, and other relatives.

Jeweler Offers Sum For Hesse Collection

New York, June 15—(AP)—Jacob M. Werk, Dayton, O., jeweler, said today he had cabled an offer to the House of Hesse to buy the Hessian crown jewels and was prepared to pay as much as $3,000,000 for the fabulous collection now for the most part in U. S. Army custody following its theft and recovery.

An army colonel, his wife and one other army officer were taken into custody last week by investigators who said the three were responsible for the theft of crown jewels valued at $1,500,000 from ancient Kronberg castle in Germany.

oration bonds pay 5 per cent. Stocks: I continue to believe that well-selected stocks are the best investment at the present time both for safety and yield. Furthermore, as investors look into the situation, carefully and impartially, they will come to similar conclusions. As the supply of good stocks is distinctly limited, this means that they should sell for higher prices than at present. I believe that the stocks of certain companies that yield only 3 per cent may be safer over the longer term than the bonds of the same companies.

Conclusion: Of course, much care should be exercised in selecting both industries and individual companies. Do not invest too much of your funds in companies that have most of their assets in large cities—especially large coastal cities. The safest stocks are among those of companies that have their assets distributed throughout the nation, especially in small communities.

Brozek Girl Willing To Return For Trial

Charlotte, N. C., June 15—(AP)—Solicitor Basil Whitener reported last night receipt of a letter from Loretta Frances Brozek, former Charlotte nursemaid charged with kidnaping, saying that she is willing to return to Charlotte for trial but is deterred because her volunteer lawyer refuses to drop an extradition fight.

The letter was said to have been addressed to the late John G. Carpenter, former solicitor of the 14th judicial district. Officials said it would be turned over to the United States attorney in Washington who handled the state's case in a previous habeas corpus hearing.

The girl, charged with kidnaping Terry Taylor, small daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Taylor of Charlotte, was arrested in Annapolis, Md., four days after her disappearance with the child last February.

Corey Speaker Kiwanis Meeting

By CHESTER WALSH
"Flag Day" exercises featured the program at the Kiwanis Club's supper meeting last night, with Clyde Hollowell in charge of the program. State Sen. Arthur B. Corey was the speaker. His description of what the National Flag means was informative and impressive. He gave a narrative history of flags, how they originated, and what they represent to a nation. He traced the history of flags from the time of earliest known history. The senator's manner of describing the flag of this country and what it means was dramatic, and he illuminated his fine talk with numerous practical anecdotes and concluded with a poem to the flag of this country. His significant message will linger long in the minds of those who heard the speech.

Fast President Claude D. Ward presided for President Ed Rawl, who did not return from Atlantic City in time for the meeting. Secretary Dave Moore, Jr., Joe Taft and Rufus Keel gave brief but interesting reports of their experiences at the Kiwanis International Convention in Atlantic City. Each had something to tell on the other. Last night's meeting was one of the best of the year. Albert Lum led the singing. Kiwanis songs, with Mrs. Ray Clark as accompanist. Marshall Clarke won the attendance prize.

A full report of the convention will be made at next Friday's meeting.

Cases Tried In Police Court

In Police Court yesterday Judge Jimmy Roberts used much of the "wisdom of Solomon" in hearing the case in which Raymond L. Keel was charged with temporary larceny of an automobile. His Honor said he could find no evidence of temporary larceny and ruled that Keel was not guilty. "We apparently are trying the wrong case—this seems to be a family row in which in-laws are involved," the judge said.

John Thomas Lee charged with driving while drunk, asked for a jury trial in Superior Court. The court accommodated him. Late yesterday Highway Patrolman C. L. Teague arrested Lee again on a charge of driving while drunk.

Speeding: Frank E. Ocheltree, James A. Elks, Charlie Howard and Dall Laughinghouse, Jr., each paid $15.

Roosevelt Clark, colored, charged with larceny of an automobile, was bound over to Superior Court under $1,000 bond.

Disorderly conduct: Jesse James Garris, colored, $15.

The case against W. Seth Harrington, charging abandonment, was not pressed with leave.

Arnold Taft, Jr., colored, was not guilty of being a peeping Tom.

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

Early cloutclopes are coming in. The building for the ice plant is ready for the machinery, but the manufacturers are slow in getting the latter here.

The suggestion of establishing a hospital in Greenville should not be allowed to fall by the wayside. The matter was up a few years ago and a wealthy northern gentleman offered a handsome contribution to establish it, but for want of interest here at home the offer was not embraced. Perhaps if proper steps were taken now the offer might be renewed.

Thad Eure, of Raleigh, state president, will convene the opening business session of the convention at 2:30 at the Elks Home.

The convention banquet and ball will highlight the first night's doings, starting at 7:30 o'clock with Superior Court Judge John J. Burney of Wilmington, officiating as toastmaster.

Howard R. Davis, of Williamsport, Pa., past and esteemed leading knight and chairman of the Grand Lodge's lodge activities committee, will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Friday morning's business session will be taken up with reports on lodge activities, convention committees, old, new and unfinished business, report of the president, secretary, treasurer and chairman of the Boys' Camp seal committee and the camp's board of governors.

Following a luncheon for Elks and their ladies at the Elks home, the final business session will be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, highlighted by the election and installation of officers for 1946-47 and the selection of a 1947 convention city.

Humber To Speak At Services In Kinston

Mr. Robert Lee Humber, widely-known North Carolinian, has been invited by a union of six churches of Kinston, to speak at a special Father's Day service to be held there tomorrow.

The services will be opened at 9:30 Sunday morning and will be conducted in the Kinston Court House in order to accommodate the large numbers expected to attend.

Senate-House Group Debate Draft Plans

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—A conference committee of Senate and House ironing out kinks in a bill to extend the draft law plans to meet again Monday amid indications a compromise is near.

The biggest headache is over whether to draft teen agers, over Senator Gurney (R-SD) told a reporter that probably would be cured by recommending drafting boys of 18 only as a last resort, with the proviso they not be sent overseas before they are 19.

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Military Committee said it was agreed to restore the draft age limit of 45 years in place of the present 29. However, the army has said it does not want men over 30. The present draft law expires June 30.

British To Give Indian Decision

New Delhi, June 15.—(AP)—Britain will announce her "last word" tomorrow in the deadlock over an interim government for India, a highly placed source said today, adding that an "imposed peace" probably would usher in Indian independence.

An authoritative informant said the Congress party working committee rejected British proposals for Hindu-Moslem parity in an interim government and also turned down proposals for compulsory grouping of provinces during the period of transition to independence.

Letters detailing the British cabinet mission's position in the deadlock were reported being transmitted to both the Congress and the Moslem League later today.

"Once again Britain has been forced against its will to take decisive action," one source said. "These weeks of misunderstanding and failure to agree cannot go on indefinitely."

It appeared unlikely that the Congress would drop its opposition to parity with the smaller Moslem League, or would agree to the participation of European delegates in India's constitutional convention, another debated issue.

GOV. TO WORK FOR FARMERS

Revision Of Farm Marketing System Goal Of Gov. Cherry

Raleigh, N. C., June 15—(AP)—North Carolina farmers today had the promise of Governor Cherry that "I intend to do everything possible within my office to help create this much-needed revision" of the farm marketing system.

The governor, speaking yesterday before the annual conference of North Carolina vocational agriculture teachers at State College, declared that "farmers have been forced to sell their products in a buyers market too long."

"Artificial trade barriers between the states must go," Cherry said. "Discriminatory transportation systems, starting at state and municipal boundaries, are contrary to the best interests of the people who produce food for sale and the consuming public who buy it."

Farmers are now drawing peak prices for the products, the governor pointed out, with the total value of farm products sold in 1944 amounting to $611,515,000.

Declaring that "an increase in the use of farm foods and fibres must be had" if the South's agriculture is to continue on a solid basis, Cherry advocated "the laboratory and the microscope" to find new uses for Southern farm products.

He predicted decentralization of industry as result of strikes and slow-downs in the urban centers and "a better economy for all" where most small industrial plants "appear in well-selected rural centers."

Testimony...

(Continued from Page One) carried him off the job, beating him up with a hose. They told him it was because of his refusal to quit the union and if he told anyone about it he would be killed x x x.

George said the Georgia Bureau of Investigation and the FBI had been advised of the details.

Political Crisis In Italy Takes Backseat

Rome, June 15—(AP)—As fast as it blew up, Italy's political crisis apparently had blown over today. No new instances of disorder were reported, and the flight into exile of King Umberto II had ceased even to be a subject of frequent debate on Rome streets.

Apparently in deference to the wishes of Interior Minister Giuseppe Romita, there were no celebrations of the king's departure or of the defacto advent of the republic.

Even the tone of the press was more moderate today. Leftist newspapers yesterday applied such epithets as "traitor" and "rebel" to the king. Today the only extremely partisan comment was in the Communist Unit, which carried a headline about the "provocateur rebel hunted away from Italy."

DOUGH NUT TOUCH

Evanston, Ill., June 15—(AP)—The thieves who have been stealing a food shop's doughnuts for the past two weeks escaped a policeman by fleeing with their loot into the nearest trees.

William Rogers, a doughnut maker, called police after a food shop complained someone had been breaking into the cardboard boxes of doughnuts he delivered to its doorway early each morning.

Fatrolman William Jansen stood guard, but before he could intervene, four squirrels popped open one of the boxes and one made off with a fat cruller.

STILL GOING UP

Budapest, June 15—(AP)—A one-trillion pengo note was issued today at Hungary's inflation reached a new and fantastic level.

If this note—officially termed the "egymillo milpengo"—had been in existence before the war, it would have been worth roughly $200,000,000,000.

Today the new note is worth about 35 cents.

NYLON SALLE Pittsburgh, June 13—(AP)—A crowd estimated at 50,000 gathered last night when a department store, in response to a request from Mayor David L. Lawrence, advertised a "Night Sale of Nylons for Business Girls."

Only 13,600 pairs of hose were offered any many thousands of girls got none. The line stretched 18 blocks and police said 12 women fainted during the 10 hours the sale was under way.
