Breaks Six-Month Political Silence In New French Governmental Crisis

By ROBERT C. WILSON
Paris, June 17 (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle was back into the political limelight today as France faced a governmental crisis precipitated by Communist refusal to support any regime headed by the Moderate Popular Republican movement.

De Gaulle broke six months' political silence yesterday during an address at Bayeux, Normandy, where he proposed that a two-chamber legislature and a strong executive be written into the constitution of the fourth republic. The MRP has advanced similar proposals.

While he was making this suggestion, the Communist party's central committee in Paris was voting against participating in a government headed by Foreign Minister Charles Bidault, whom the MRP had proposed as provisional president. The Communists want a socialist-headed government.

Most observers felt that despite the De Gaulle speech, the General had no immediate intention of returning to active politics. There was a strong belief, however, that should France choose a charter along the lines he suggested he first become the fourth republic's president after next autumn's elections.

De Gaulle resigned as provisional president during a governmental crisis last January. Explaining that move, he told his Bayeux audience that he had sought certainty that "no question could be raised about an individual, director of a state exercising an influence on the task of the legislators."

Meanwhile, the immediate problem for the nation was the formation of a government quickly, while the Foreign Ministers' council is in session and while a possible peace conference is in the offing.

It appeared up to the socialists to resolve the deadlock by reversing their decision against taking the presidency of the provisional government for the duration of the new constituent assembly.

The Socialists said recently that they would not propose a candidate. There have been reports, however, that if the Socialists assumed the role of arbiter, either Francisque Gay Ortelix Gouin might be nominated. Gouin took the reins of government in a compromise last winter when De Gaulle stepped down.

Presidential Probe Of Trials Is Asked

Bad Nauheim, Germany, June 17 (AP)—Col. James A. Killiam has asked a presidential investigation of the Lichfield trials, it was disclosed in court today as the former commander of the U. S. Army depot at Lichfield, England, was brought to trial on charges of cruelty to soldiers imprisoned there.

Killiam, 54-year-old cavalry officer of Highland Park, Ill., asked postponement of his trial until he had received an answer from President Truman. The court did not rule immediately on his postponement move.

Killiam's attorney was not permitted to read the letter to the President in court.

Economizing

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board advised Congress today against any further cuts for the present. At the same time it counseled "prudence" in government operations to create—with present high tax receipts—a continuing surplus to pay off federal debt as an anti-inflationary step.

The board, in its annual report to Congress, also opposed increasing the interest rate on government borrowings. Noting that interest on the national debt will reach $5,000,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1, the report said interest "has become the largest single item in the budget aside from expenditures for national defense, and exceeds by $800,000,000 estimated expenditures for veterans' pensions and benefits for the fiscal year 1947."

LIVING COSTS RISE HIGHER

OPA Orders New Retail Price Increases On Food Items

Washington, June 18 (AP)—OPA today ordered retail price increases of 11 cents a pound for butter and six cents a pound for cheddar cheese.

The agency also raised manufacturers' prices effective immediately. The retail increases go into effect upon each retailer's first purchase from his supplier at the higher prices.

These price boosts, authorized by Stabilization Director Chester Bowles, followed an assertion by a top government economist that living costs are climbing at an alarming rate.

OPA also announced a retail increase of one cent for a 141-2 ounce can of evaporated milk.

Union Goal Said Health Insurance

Atlanta, June 17 (AP)—The time is past when unions can operate as private clubs without consideration of the public. Emil Rieve, international president of the Textile Workers Union of America, said today.

Rieve, here to address a statewide conference of textile workers, said "Unions must now accept responsibility, not only to their own membership, but to employers and the general public."

At present, Rieve continued, the trend in textile union negotiations is toward area wide contracts, especially where chain mills are concerned.

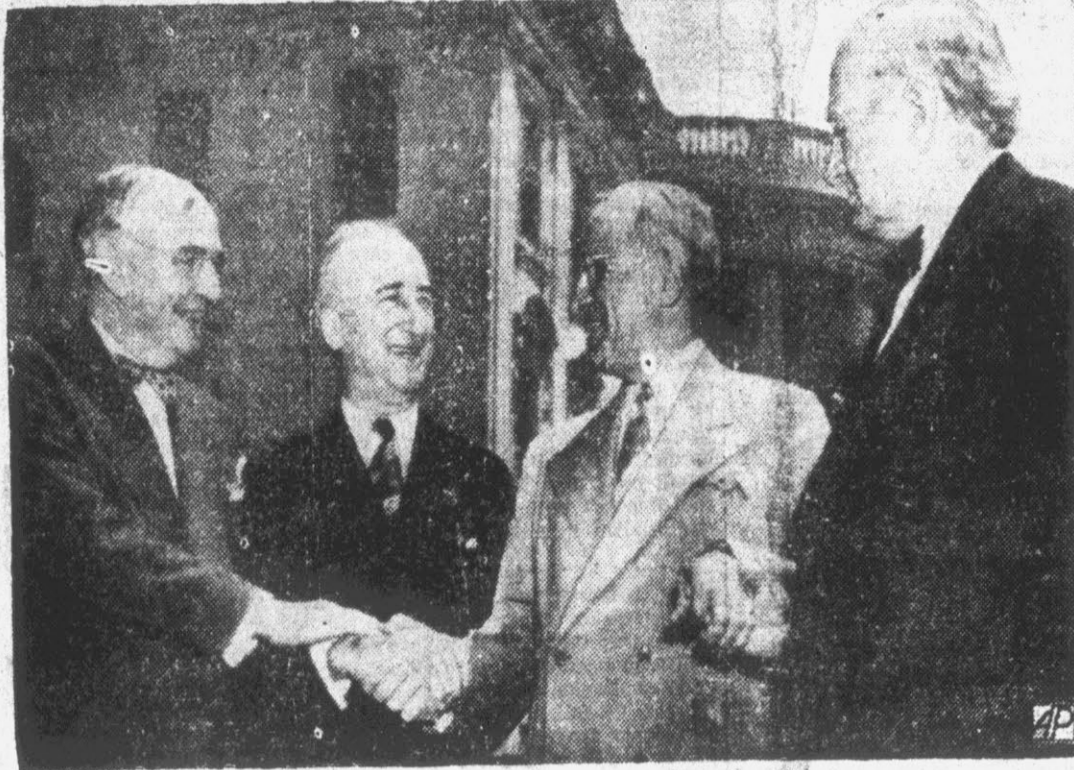

"The Eastern and New England employers," he said, "are accepting that plan quite readily and the practice is moving into the South, although some Southern industrialists still want to bargain collectively for each mill."

Rieve also said his union now has agreements with 1,300 employers and a membership near 450,000.

Aside from wages, said the union leader, the primary concern of textile union organizers today is that of health insurance.

"We are not ready for an annual wage in our industry," he said, "but we are vitally interested in having written into our agreements health and welfare insurance."

Trieste May Be Key To Success In Paris

Italian Treaty Before Ministers Of Big Four; Russian Attitude On Trieste Can Make Or Break Meeting's Success

Paris, June 17 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers resumed today the task of writing an Italian peace treaty, and an American source said the success or failure of the conference might well hinge on the Russian attitude toward Trieste.

A close associate of U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said the head of the American delegation considered Trieste a question of principle and the secretary never compromises with questions of principle.

Thus, since the United States apparently will not budge from the stand that Trieste must remain Italian, diplomatic observers anxiously awaited indications as to whether Russia would be willing to compromise on her demands that the Adriatic port be ceded to Yugoslavia.

A wave of optimism swept over the conference Saturday after Russia in a surprise conciliatory gesture agreed to the discussion of the Austrian problem. Some observers even went so far as to interpret this as a softening in the Soviet policy.

Much of this optimism was dispelled, however, when the Moscow press and radio yesterday launched a new offensive against what they termed western reactionaries and enemies of peace.

An American informant expressed belief that if a satisfactory solution could be found for Trieste, the council would thereafter encounter little difficulty in writing the remainder of the treaty. Other disputed points on the Italian question are:

- 1. The Italian-Yugoslav frontier. This is tied up with the Trieste issue.
2. Reparations. Russia in opposition to Britain and the U. S. holds that reparations should be partly paid from current Italian production and that the allotting of Italian warships should not count as reparations.
3. Colonies. The United States has favored turning the problem over to the United Nations if the ministers themselves can reach no solution. Russia and France want Italy to retain trusteeship over her own colonies, under the United Nations. Britain wants the trusteeship of Cyrenaica.

Sen. Pepper To Talk At Greensboro Meet

Greensboro, N. C., June 17 (AP)—Senator Claude Pepper (D-Fla.) will deliver the opening address tonight before the 13th annual meeting of the Carolina Institute of International Relations, which is expected to draw some 200 delegates from nine states.

Pepper will be the first of eight principal speakers who will participate in the institute, which will continue through next Friday at the Woman's College here.

The theme of the institute is "Building for world order," and Pepper has taken for his subject tonight "the role of the United States in building for world order."

Other speakers will be Louis N. Ridenhour, atomic scientist; Jerome Davis, Russian affairs analyst; T. Z. Koo, adviser to the Chinese delegation for United Nations; Rayford Logan, dean of the graduate school of Howard University; Representative Jerry Voorhis (D-Calif.); Martin Hall, journalist; and Vernon Nash, former Secretary of World Federalists.

BBC ACCUSED OF CENSORING

Newsman Says Not Permitted To Broadcast His Own Views

London, June 17 (AP)—Howard K. Smith, European chief for Columbia Broadcasting System, reported today the British Broadcasting Corp. had refused to broadcast a commentary in which Smith took the position that Russia, alone, was not responsible for failure of the foreign ministers to write European peace agreements.

Smith, veteran of ten years of European reporting, said "this is the first time I ever heard of BBC censoring in peace time."

A BBC spokesman said Smith's commentary, planned as part of an armed forces educational program, was a "highly individual view."

"As this was not what we asked for," the BBC added, "and as Mr. Smith felt unable to alter his own script, we were compelled to cancel the talk and substitute another talk for it."

Smith said he submitted the script six days ahead of the broadcast scheduled for June 13. BBC requested some changes to which he agreed. When additional alterations were demanded, he added he replied.

"The script will have to stand if I can't make any more changes than I've already made," Smith said. V. Allford, head of the forces educational program, said the commentary was controversial and they did not want to present any controversial matter without balancing comment.

Among other things Smith's commentary complained that commentators assigned to coverage of the Paris conference get their information from their own national representatives.

"You will hear the viewpoint of your side and not that of the other," he declared in developing the contention that Russia was not solely responsible for failure of the foreign ministers to reach agreement.

"History will record as one of the outstanding consequences of World War II," the script added, "that not only two great nations expanded their influence in astonishing degree, one is Russia—the other the United States."

Features Of Case Labor Bill Gets Senate Okay

Judiciary Committee Approves "Anti-Racketeering" Provision In Case Bill; Truman Labor Measure Foes Said Gaining

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee approved today the Hobbs "anti-racketeering" provision of the Case strike control bill vetoed by President Truman.

Chairman McCarran (D-Neb.) said no record was made of the committee vote but that it was not unanimous.

The bill would make it a felony under federal law for any one to interfere with movements of goods in interstate commerce "by robbery or extortion."

Violations would be punishable by fines up to $10,000 or imprisonment for up to 2 years. The measure backer says it is aimed among other things, at stopping the practice by some unions of collecting a fee from farmers who drive produce to markets in their own trucks.

These unions demand the fee in lieu of the hiring of a union driver. The committee acted while congressional friends of organized labor were predicting that settlement of the threatened maritime strike had blocked enactment of any drastic legislation this year.

While some lawmakers still talked of pushing through a modified version of President Truman's emergency strike control bill, the administration itself was obviously relieved over the fresh turn in industrial relations.

In comment typical of those who usually espouse union viewpoints of Capitol Hill, Rep. Biemiller (D-Wis.) told a reporter: "Settlement of the maritime dispute takes away the ammunition of those trying to take away labor's rights with drastic legislation."

Biemiller said he believes he and his associates now can prevent passage of the emergency bill asked by Mr. Truman.

This measure, which would require union leaders to take affirmative action toward ordering their men back to work in government-sized industries, has passed the House and Senate in varying forms. It is before the House Rules Committee now awaiting further action.

Biemiller also contended that the long range Case labor disputes bill (Continued on Page Four)

FBI CHECKING BOTTLENECKS

Clark Says Construction Slowdown Under Investigation

Washington, June 17 (AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark said today that the government is making a nationwide investigation of what he termed "trade restraints in the construction industry which are retarding the housing program."

The FBI is conducting the probe for the Justice Department's antitrust division, Clark told a reporter, adding: "The investigation also encompasses reported abuses in allied fields, including mortgage interest rates, and reports of black market dealings in lumber. It is the prelude to an all-out effort to eliminate the bottlenecks which are largely responsible for the housing shortage and are delaying the erection of new homes."

Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge, who heads the antitrust division, contended "the whole construction industry has long been plagued with illegal trade restraints which keep prices high and resist the entrance of new processes and techniques." In an interview, Berge added: "Mass production methods have not been utilized in the home construction industry. The antitrust division's activity in lumber, masonry, cement and plumbing has revealed the existence of flagrantly restrictive practices. These four items represent more than two-thirds of the cost for materials in the average house."

"Consumers have been forced to year elements of 'phantom freight'; products are distributed at inflated prices." (Continued on Page Six)

Senate-House Group Locked on Draft-Age

Washington, June 17 (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee tentatively agreed today upon a nine-month extension of the draft until next March 31 but remained deadlocked on the question of drafting teen-agers.

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Military Committee reported the tentative agreement as the conferees recessed for lunch.

"If we can agree upon the teenage issue then we'll reach a final agreement like that," Thomas told reporters, snapping his fingers.

Police Trap Set For Extortionist Works

Winston-Salem, N. C., June 17 (AP)—Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Winston-Salem police early this morning arrested Henry C. Swain, 34, for an alleged attempt to extort $10,000 from his father, S. A. Swain.

Officers said the elder Swain, an employee for Reynolds Tobacco Company, had received a note threatening that if he did not produce the money, "your granddaughter will disappear."

The granddaughter referred to was young Gae-Nell Swain, the defendant's own daughter.

The letter, received through the mail, gave instructions that the money be left in a rural mail box near the Swain home, the officers stated.

A cordon of officers was thrown around the area prior to the time designated for leaving the money, and the younger Swain fell into the trap, it was stated. After extensive questioning, the defendant admitted writing the note, the officers reported.

Swain was scheduled to be given preliminary hearing on a charge of extortion this afternoon before U. S. Commissioner Charles E. Ader.

MERGER FOES SAY TRUMAN'S PLAN DOOMED

Concessions To Navy Called Insufficient; Time Element Is Brought Out

Washington, June 17 (AP)—Army-navy merger foes pasted a "too little and too late" label on President Truman's revised unification plan today.

In general, they took the attitude that the concessions the President and the War Department made to the sea arm on such points as the marine corps and the joint chiefs of staff were insufficient to overcome previous objections.

And with only four weeks remaining before Congress plans to put work for the year, they said the prospects of final action at this session are extremely remote.

Senator Robertson (R-Wyo.), in comment typical of those who have been critical of earlier merger proposals, said Mr. Truman's plan has "still the insurmountable defect of the secretaries of the army, navy and air forces not being cabinet members."

These three officers would be subordinate to the secretary of national defense under the administration plan, and Robertson, a member of the Senate Naval Committee, told a reporter: "I am fearful of one-man control."

The Wyoming senator said he was glad to see that Mr. Truman "decided to leave the marines in being" and that the army had bowed to the navy in favor of the present joint chiefs of staff.

In fact, aside from the decision to retain the joint chiefs instead of setting up a single military commander to be rotated among the services, the entire new member plan differs in few major respects from the proposal Mr. Truman first submitted to Congress last December.

In sending his plan to the chairman of the Senate and House Military and Naval Committees late Saturday, Mr. Truman said: "I am confident that you will find it a realistic and workable plan."

British Question Franco-Findings

New York, June 17 (AP)—Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate to the United Nations Security Council, proposed today that the case of Franco Spain be referred by the council to the UN general assembly without any recommendations for a break in diplomatic relations with Madrid.

The British delegate questioned the legality of the findings of a council sub-committee which investigated Spain and recommended that the security council ask the general assembly to call for a United Nations break with Generalissimo Franco if he still is in power next September.

Cadogan, revealing the British position for the first time since the sub-committee report was made public June 1, said that Spain was a "serious problem" and that great Britain was quite willing "to have the question examined by the assembly next September."

However, he proposed that the sub-committee report be referred to the assembly without recommendations. Cadogan suggested that the international court of justice be asked for an opinion on the legality of proposals made by the sub-committee.

The answer is, I'm afraid, that we might be faced with the uncomfortable possibility that this nation was staying out for ulterior purposes—that it was cherishing ideas which didn't fit in with universal peace. Certainly the American proposal will open the closet door on any such skeleton.

Within the comparatively few hours since Mr. Baruch placed these sensational proposals before the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission there has been more than a little speculation whether their adoption and successful application might inspire a venture into world government in due course. Well, it strikes me that this is legitimate speculation, though it is in the same class as conjecture about what atomic energy ultimately will be able to do for us.

We surely can go this far: If the atomic proposals are adopted and are made to work, then the whole machinery of the United Nations organization, with its numerous ramifications, can be made to work. And the U. N. in itself, with its demands for concessions in sovereignty, is by way of being at least an embryo world government.

Mighty oaks have grown from much smaller acorns than this. However, your correspondent has no intention of trying to hold his breath until a global government is established. The American proposals, wholly altruistic, should go far towards it. (Continued on Page Four)

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The United Nations talk again Wednesday in New York about atomic energy and how to control it.

So much has been written and said about the atom in the past ten months that average readers probably are lost in the smoke of arguments.

This is a brief outline of what has been said and done about the atom and where we stand now. The talk started when the bomb hit Hiroshima last August 6. Everyone knew man now had created his greatest monster.

One thing was certain: men had talked of it for years but here at last was atomic energy. They had found how to use it.

We were at the beginning of a new age which called for a new kind of thinking. We might have to change our thinking a bit from year to year.

And for a good reason: the use of atomic energy was all so new that no one honestly could foresee or predict the future.

Four things became pretty clear: 1. The United States had the bomb secret and could keep it, but perhaps only for a year or a few years.

2. Other countries particularly Russia, would learn how to make the bomb.

3. When this happened, and unless controls were set up, the great nations eventually would race to make bigger and more terrible bombs.

4. But if the nations agreed to curtail the bomb, or control it, atomic energy could be tamed to great peaceful uses.

Out of all the arguments on those four points, two main ideas emerged. 1. Something had to be done about developing atomic energy for the public welfare. The government would have to control it in this country.

2. We were willing to share our atomic secrets with other nations but, before we did, we wanted to be sure they'd never be used against us.

Take the No. 1 idea—the government control in this country—first. A fight developed fast in Congress. Should the armed services or civilian authorities be boss over atomic energy in this country?

The Senate wanted the House to work along with it in finding a good answer. The House ignored the Senate and went its own way.

A seemingly endless parade of scientists and civilians trooped up to the Capitol to say what they thought should or should not be done.

The House and Senate began their own studies separately. The Senate created a special atomic committee headed by Senator Brien McMahon, Connecticut Democrat.

This committee, after a great deal of work, finally came up with a bill which the full Senate approved and sent to the House. The House hasn't acted yet so it still is not law. This bill proposes:

The atomic energy program should be headed by a five-man board. (Continued on Page Four)

THE WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

An outstanding feature of America's proposal for international control of the development and use of atomic energy—and second only to that control in importance—is the fact that inauguration of this security system means the surrender by all nations of such degree of sovereignty as is necessary to make the plan effective.

Every nook and cranny of each nation, big and little, would be open at all times for the inspection of the international atomic development authority. Not only would secrecy regarding atomic developments be impossible, but a lot of other privacy would go out the window.

History offers no precedent for such voluntary surrender of sovereignty rights to a central authority, and despite the fact that, as American delegate Bernard Baruch said in presenting the proposal, "we must elect world peace or world destruction," there may be nations which will hesitate to give any international body carte blanche to sleuth about when and where it sees fit.

Mr. Baruch's answer to this is that the people of the world have war and "are not afraid of an internationalism that protects; they are unwilling to be fobbed off by mouthings and narrow sovereignty which is today's phrase for yesterday's isolation." But supposing we encounter in some nation a refusal to subscribe to this plan for global security?

Among the citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; he that keepeth thee will not slumber. The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore." (Psalms 121: 1, 2, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The relations of God and man, divine Principle and idea, are indestructible in Science; and Science knows no lapse from nor return to harmony, but holds the divine order or spiritual law, in which God and all that He creates are perfect and eternal, to have remained unchanged in its eternal history." (p 470).

The altar of the church was banked with pines. Baskets of white gladioli and tall candelabra holding white tapers were used.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Ruth Beppard of Winterville at the piano played "Poem," by Fibiell and "Vivacious Melody," by Williams. Miss Gay McLawhorn of Winterville sang, "I Love You Truly," and "Because."

"Ceremony" was softly played during the ceremony. The Processional by Lohengrin, and the Recessional by Mendelssohn were used.

The ushers, Mr. J. D. Buck and Edward Buck, brothers of the bride, lighted the candles.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. D. C. Buck. She wore a two piece street length dress of light pink eyelet, with white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

She had as her dame of honor and her only attendant, her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. D. Buck. She wore a two piece dress of light blue eyelet. Her corsage was a white peony.

The groom was attended by Mr. Perry Nobles of Kinston.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip. They will make their home at 203 East Street, Kinston, N. C.

Return From Girls State
Misses Frances Tucker, Lina Washington and Bernadine Worsley returned Friday from Women's college in Greensboro, where they attended the seventh annual session of the Tar Heel Girls State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Girls State is held each year in an attempt to familiarize the girls of North Carolina with the government of their state.

The highlight of the week was a trip to Raleigh where the girls held sessions in the senate and house chambers of the capitol, and enjoyed a talk by Governor Cherry.

In the afternoon the Girls Staters were guests at a tea in the Governor's Mansion where they were received by such dignitaries as Mrs. Gregg Cherry, Mrs. O. S. Slaunwhite, department president of the Legion Auxiliary, and Jewel Adams, Governor of Girls State.

A banquet at the college Thursday night concluded the events of the week.

Christian Science Service
"God the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches and Societies on Sunday, June 16.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 40:11, "Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord, for thy lovingkindness and thy truth continually preserve me."

Forty Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR June 17, 1906

J. B. James went to Elm City this morning.
W. H. Dail, Jr., returned from Baltimore Sunday evening.
Bill Horn left this morning for Baltimore.
J. W. Higgs returned from Virginia Beach Sunday evening.
The potato market is getting lower.

This hot sultry weather is bad on infants who are teething and many little ones are sick.

Bascom, Willie and Carl Wilson returned from New York Sunday evening.

Those expected to attend are the president, Dr. J. M. Barrett, immediate past president; Vice-President, Eli Bloom, and David C. Moore, Jr., secretary-treasurer; directors, Dr. H. G. Haney, John D. Hice, William H. Taft, W. Arthur Tripp, Guy V. Smith, Odell C. Calhoun, David A. Evans, Judge J. W. H. Roberts and Chester Walsh, chairman of the Public Relations Committee.

SISTER DIED AT HENDERSON.

Miss Virginia Aycock, 32, sister of Mr. W. W. Aycock, manager of the Carolina Telephone & Telegraph Company, died at a Henderson hospital this morning. She had been in ill health some time. Funeral services will be held some time Tuesday, but arrangements have not been completed. Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Aycock of Henderson; three brothers, W. W. Aycock of Greenville; R. M. Aycock and George R. Aycock, both of Norfolk, Va., and other relatives.

Dail-Zechiel

Miss Helen Gertrude Zechiel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cleophas Zechiel, of Fredericksburg, Va., became the bride of Mr. Macon Doyle Dail, son of Mrs. Harvey Dail and the late Mr. Dail, of Greenville, N. C., in a ceremony performed in historic Tabernacle Methodist church at Chancellor, Va., on Wednesday, June 12, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The Rev. Charles H. Tressler, pastor of the bride was the officiating minister.

The beauty of the old church was enhanced with decorations of palms, woodwardia ferns, pink larkspur, blue delphinium yellow snap dragons, baby's breath and cathedral candles.

Mrs. Thomas Thornburn, organist and Mr. Alwyn Howell, soloist, presented a program of nuptial music. Mr. Howell sang "All For You," preceding the ceremony and as a benediction sang, "Oh Perfect Love." Traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white marquisette made with drop shoulder yoke outlined with a ruffle of marquisette, a fitted bodice and long tight sleeves which ended with a ruffle of the same material over the wrists. The skirt which ended in a wide circular train was made of narrow ruffles of marquisette. Her finger tip veil of bridal illusion was held in place with a tiara of tiny seed pearls. Her only ornament was a cameo pin belonging to her mother. She carried a colonial bouquet of Stephanotis, white roses and orchids.

Miss Mary Mason of Acconiac, Va., was maid of honor. She wore a dress of blue marquisette, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and was trimmed with matching ruffles. She wore a picture hat to match her dress and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and delphinium.

Bridesmaids were Miss Helen Selig, of Alexandria, Va., and Miss Lucille Burbank of Hampton, Va. They wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor and carried colonial bouquets of pink beauty roses and pink sweetpeas. They too wore matching hats.

Mr. James R. Patton of Durham, N. C. was best man. Ushers were Lt. James R. Skinner of Hartford, Conn., and Mr. James R. Patton, Jr., of Durham, N. C.

The bride's mother was attired in a dress of light blue crepe with matching hat. She wore an orchid corsage.

The groom's mother wore a dress of powder blue crepe with a yoke of embroidered organza and a powder blue flower hat to match with orchid corsage.

Immediately following the marriage ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Dail left for a wedding trip to unannounced points. After June 17 they will be at home, 1506 Dickinson avenue, Greenville, N. C.

For traveling the bride wore a suit of grey linen with black accessories and an orchid lifted from her bouquet.

Mrs. Dail was graduated from Chancellor high school and Westminster choir college, Princeton, N. J.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Greenville high school and North Carolina State College at Raleigh.

Out of town guests to attend the wedding were Mrs. Harvey Dail of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skinner, and Lt. James Skinner, of Hartford, Conn., Mr. Earl Zechiel, Knox, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. James R. Patton and Mr. James R. Patton, Jr., of Durham, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Lavern and Mr. Bobby Lavern, Washington, D. C., and Miss Bertha Lee La Place of Hartford, Conn.

At 12:30 long picnic tables were spread under the big Red Oak which has stood sentinel over the church for over half a century, and the tables fairly groaned under their load of country ham, fried chicken and all kinds of home-made cake, etc. But it did not groan long!

"Best Be the Tie That Binds" was sung followed by a blessing by Rev. W. H. Brunson of Ayden, one of the most revered of our own Christian ministers, and then the table's burden began to be lifted.

The evening's service was not supposed to begin until 2 o'clock but about thirty people began to find their seats in the auditorium to enjoy a musical prelude by Mr. Fontaine. The service men present occupied seats of honor at this service in which the members lovingly dedicated their new tapistry to the "glory of Christ" and in "honor of our sons and daughters" who were in service. It was a most impressive occasion. Four ministers were in the pulpit. Rev. Mr. Brunson, Reverend Glenn Haney and Rev. Howard James made short talks. The message of the afternoon was brought by Rev. Thad Cox, retired army chaplain, and now pastor of the Farmville Christian Church. He talked on "The Service Man and the Church," and everyone in the congregation was deeply impressed.

It was a lovely day. People from all our neighboring churches, Piney Grove, Arthur, Ballards, Farmville, Ayden, Oak Grove, Greenville Free Will Baptist and Methodist churches, Red Banks Primitive Baptist, Edwards Christian Church in Beaufort county, from Greene county and Wilson and Winterville. In fact, people from far and near came and helped us celebrate our boys' return to their homes and church.

One could tell by the happy looks that the pain and distress of war was no more—and there was peace and quiet and restfulness and good will and fellowship among all.

Yes, Cousin Henry, you and I and many others will never forget last Sunday, June 16!

Visiting in Virginia.
Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Roberson of Norfolk, Va., who spent the weekend in Greenville visiting Mrs. Roberson's mother, Mrs. Bertha Parker, 311 Summit street, returned to Norfolk Sunday night. Mrs. Parker accompanied them for a few days' visit in the Virginia city.

Red Oak News

Mr. H. C. Smith, better known as "Cousin Henry," waved his hand at me as he said goodbye at Red Oak yesterday and said, "I'll never forget this day!" That was the farewell remark of many people, old and young, yesterday as they said their goodbyes. The occasion was a day set apart in honor of the service men and women of the community.

It was Father's Day also, and at the Sunday School hour, with 108 present, several old familiar hymns were sung and dedicated to the 12 fathers present by all the young folks in Sunday school. Perhaps the two songs most enjoyed was "Whispering Hope" and "Where We'll Never Grow Old."

Mr. John Fontaine, professor of music at Atlantic Christian College, with Mrs. R. B. Plyler, Miss Edith Tyson, and our own Howard James, rendered a musical program at the 11 o'clock service. "There Is No Death" was sung by Howard in memory of one of our boys who lost his life in the past war.

Civil Service Tests For Physicist Ahead

An examination for probational appointment to the position of Physicist was announced today by the Director of the Fourth Civil Service Region, Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Under the new Federal pay rates effective July 1, the salary of this position will be $2644.80 per annum. The employment lists resulting from this examination will be used for filling vacancies in various Federal establishments within the states of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, and North Carolina.

Separate employment lists will be established in the specialized branches of physics including electricity and magnetism, heat, light, mechanics, modern physics, and sound. The examination will be of the assembled type. Competitors will be notified at a later date of the time and place of examination.

Application forms together with complete details may be obtained from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at any first- or second-class post office. Applications must be received by the Regional Director, Fourth U. S. Civil Service Region, Winston-Salem, North Carolina, not later than July 10, 1946.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WHILE THERE IS YET TIME

A speaker from one of the liberat- ed European countries spoke recently and told of the great suffering of his people. In a quiet undramatic fashion he told what he and his family had endured during the war and what they were enduring today. He was appealing to the members of a certain Christian denomination to contribute to one of their church funds in order that plans might be carried out for restoring Christian work on the continents of Europe and Asia.

The day following his address this humble stranger from another land was amazed to receive a check for $150. A young man and woman had heard him speak. They were engaged to be married. The young man had put aside $150 which he had carefully saved in order that he might buy a bracelet for his fiancée and give it to her when they were married. At the girl's insistence and with his consent, the $150 was being sent with the suggestion that it be used to feed the hungry. The prospective bride declared that she could take no pleasure in any such gift while all the time people were dying for want of daily bread.

Are we Americans going to let millions starve while we take our ease? We need, everyone of us, to make sacrifices. We need also to write the President, members of Congress, and other government officials and urge that the food necessary to feed a starving world be captured at the farm and at the granaries.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By FRANK I. WELLER

Washington—If a thin Jasper with a look full of sharp edges puts the wrist on you at the White House, go quickly... because you're going away.

He'll be Robert W. Francis, new inspector of White House Police uniformed forces.

He will say, "Please accompany me, sir," but he is "all cop." He has had 31 months as captain of military police in the Pacific battle zone, 12 years on the White House force and four years on the Washington metropolitan force.

White House policemen (106 of them) guard the Mansion, the buildings and grounds. They probably are the most patient and polite law officers anywhere in the world. They are trained to a gnat's eyebrow. Their pistol team holds the police national range record of 1,165 bullseyes out of a possible 1,200 with the 45 automatic. Francis has been among the top marksmen for six years and has the distinguished expert citation.

When Francis was a farm boy around Sioux City, Ia., he could pick a squirrel out of the tallest hickory with a 22 rifle.

The inspector is about two axehandles tall and weighs 160. He combs his full, graying black hair straight back, hooks rimless spectacles on his long nose and talks with his teeth hard together. He brings his teeth hard together if you misuse and can make his lean face as tight as the skin on a snare drum.

Once when he was a motorcycle cop around here a streetcar motorman hooked onto his bike and dragged him 50 feet before he said he was sorry. Hobart came up with a handful of tickets and a broken toe.

Francis has always been tough and alert. He was under fire six months in France with the coast artillery during the old war and never got a scratch. During the last war he commanded 500 MPs among 8,000 in Manila when the Japs were chased out. Everybody was in an uproar, catching Jap spies and soldiers. Allied troops tore into one another, and when Francis tried to break it up they ganged together on the American MPs. He restored order with only one MP shot to death.

His wife says he is the easiest man in the world to please with "any kind of table vittles," and they always go on vacation to visit his

Before Your Meeting Gets Too Far Along—

17 brothers and sisters in Iowa, where he pitches horseshoes and whittles.

The police are separate from the White House secret service detail, but on occasion picked crews snuck their harness and went along in civilian clothes when FDR motored to Hyde Park during the dangerous days just before and during the war.

Francis was a private then, guarding the Pennsylvania avenue entrance to the Mansion. He spent stiff-backed and courteous hours telling women, mostly, that his hobby was tennis and that he used to play first base on semi-pro baseball teams.

Such questions, he says, were just bait to fish around for answers to some of the most hair-raising questions about the private lives of White House occupants.

President Truman himself, on Oct. 3, 1945, had suggested Congress create such a commission. At the same time he said there should be international agreements on atomic energy.

So now take the No. 2 idea listed above: international control. President Truman met here Nov. 15, 1945, with England's Prime Minister Attlee and Canada's Prime Minister MacKenzie King. The three men urged international control.

Since England and Canada had worked with this country in developing the bomb, the three men said the three countries would share their atomic secrets.

But they said the snarling would be done only after satisfactory agreements and safeguards had been established against use of this information by any nation for making bombs.

This all was such a tremendously long-range project, involving all nations, the three men suggested the United Nations should set up a special atomic commission of its members to study the problem.

The United Nations then created the special commission. Mr. Truman appointed Bernard Baruch to represent the United States on the commission.

Last Friday Baruch outlined the United States proposals for sharing atomic information and outlawing the bomb.

He too said we'd share our atomic information but only after we were satisfied the other nations really meant to play ball and not make bombs.

When the United Nations Atomic Commission meets Wednesday there will be answers by other nations to Baruch's proposals.

That's where the story — which will go on for years — stands now.

The World Today

(Continued From Page One) laying the suspicions which have been aroused by the fact that Uncle Sam possesses the only atomic bombs there are as well as the secret for their manufacture (or does he?). By the same token, other doubts and fears will be removed if and when the atomic development authority gets into action and starts checking up on what is going on in all countries.

If a nation has nothing to conceal, it's difficult to see what objections it could have to such inspection. Indeed, the fact that it was willing to play the game would in itself be a certificate of good character.

The Nation

(Continued from Page One) civilian commission appointed by the President. An Army-Navy committee would work with the commission since the Army and Navy are responsible for national defense.

The commission made a decision contrary to Army-Navy ideas, the latter could appeal to the President. He'd have final say-so.

NOTICE OF SALE

In The Superior Court
North Carolina
Pitt County
Jas. O. Whichard and wife, Mrs. Ina Whichard, Mrs. Pearl Carson and husband, Ernest Carson, Mrs. Eunice M. Copeland and husband, Dwight Copeland, Mrs. Alma Rogers and husband, Eli Rogers, Emanuel Whichard and wife, Jessie D. Whichard, Forrest Whichard, unmarried, Mrs. Eva Purser and husband, Ernest Purser, Mrs. Emma Smith, a widow, and Mrs. Daisy Powers and husband, Melvin Powers.

By virtue of power vested in us by that judgment entered in the May term, 1946, we shall offer for sale, at public auction, at the Court House door, in Greenville, to the highest bidder for cash, on Monday, June 24, 1946, at 12 o'clock, noon, the following:

First: All of the timber of every description, standing, growing and being, and which shall measure 10 inches diameter and over 14 inches above the ground on the day of sale or at the time of cutting, upon the following tracts of real estate, lying, being and situate in Patactus Township in the County of Pitt and State of North Carolina, to-wit:

First Parcel: Beginning at the corner of the lands of J. G. Mason, Dec., in the run of Grindle Creek, near a cypress stump at the forked log hole, and running thence with said Mason line to a pine in the Fox Pocosin, corner of Willoughby by Whichard land; thence with the line of said land to H. E. Daniel's corner in said pocosin; thence with her line to the run of Grindle Creek; thence up the run of the creek to the beginning, containing 150 acres more or less, and being the same land described in deed from James Whichard to A. J. Whichard, recorded in Book A-6 at page 284 of Pitt County Registry, to which deed reference is had.

Second Parcel: That certain tract or parcel of land, bounded on the east by the lands of A. J. Whichard, on the south by the run of Grindle Creek, on the west by the public road leading from R. T. Whichard's store to Whichards, N. C., and being lot No. 4 in the division of the lands of John G. Mason, containing 42 acres, more or less, and the same that was allotted to Mary E. Mason in said division and by her conveyed to A. J. Whichard by deed recorded in Book B-14 at page 521 of the Pitt County Registry, to which reference is had for more complete description.

Third Parcel: Beginning at a stake opposite the road leading to W. A. Ross and running 70 yards an easterly course to a pine; thence running a south course 70 yards to a stake; thence a west course parallel with the first line to the road 70 yards to a pine; thence with the Willoughby road to the beginning, containing 1 acre, more or less, lying the parcel of land conveyed by E. C. Yellowly and John G. Mason and wife to School Committee District No. 36, white race, as appears of record in Book T-3 at page 477, Pitt County Registry, and same as conveyed to A. J. Whichard by Pitt County Board of Education by deed recorded in Book D-17 at page 942.

Excepting from the above described three tracts of real estate any timber trees, standing, growing and being on the following described five acres of land which was conveyed to J. E. Dixon by deed bearing date of May 22, 1946, to-wit:

Beginning at a point where the eastern line of the James Evans lands joins the western line of the A. J. Whichard lands at the old Willoughby road on the north side of the highway leading to Stokes; thence a northerly direction with the dividing line between the A. J. Whichard lands and the James Evans lands a distance of 350 yards; thence an easterly direction parallel with the road leading to Stokes a distance of 70 yards; thence a southerly direction parallel with the first line a distance of 350 yards to the main highway leading from the A. J. Whichard home to Stokes; thence a westerly direction along the north side of said highway leading to Stokes 70 yards to the beginning, and being a part of the A. J. Whichard lands.

The purchaser of said timber shall have 3 years from the date of the deed in which to cut and remove the same and shall have the full right of ingress and egress over the A. J. Whichard lands for the purpose of cutting and removing said timber, but shall not have the right or authority to cross any of the tillable lands during the season for planting, growing and harvesting thereon.

Second: At the aforesaid time and place we shall offer for sale, subject to the sale of the timber standing thereon, as above described, and excepting the 5 acres of land above described which were conveyed to J. E. Dixon, the following:

The three tracts of real estate, fully set out and described above.

The purchaser of the timber and the purchaser, or purchasers, of the lands will be required to deposit with the Commissioners 10 per cent of the amount of their respective bid, or bids, at the time of the sale, and upon failure to make such deposit, the lands, or timber, or both, in whichever case deposit shall not be made, shall be immediately offered for re-sale without further advertisement.

These sales are made subject to confirmation of the Court.

CREDIT FIRM OPENS TODAY

Commercial Credit Corp. Opens Branch In City

Opening of a branch office in Greenville by the Commercial Credit Corporation was announced today by Mr. Arthur Pue, Greensboro, vice-president in charge of the corporation's operations in this region.

William F. Clark has been appointed manager of the firm's new office at 117 West Fourth Street, which will specialize in the installment financing of consumer goods. "The opening of this office," said Mr. Pue, "will extend to the Greenville community the resources and facilities of a national financial institution capitalized at $80 millions. The scope of the services now available to our Greenville customers may be suggested by the information that this office is in a position to extend to Greenville business men a commercial financing service which can provide sums amounting to millions, and at the same time make available to Greenville parents the more modest amounts needed to finance their children's education through our corporation's budget method of

Worse than a two alarm fire
You wouldn't believe it if a doll, but it happens often. Dolls, toys and other articles left on stairs and floors cause accidents... accidents that frequently result in law suits for thousands of dollars, losses worse in times than fire.
Of course, dolls should not be left on stairs and floors. Yes, and home owners should not be caught without proper insurance protection in case of such an accident.
Let us show you how economical this protection is. In fact, let us show you a complete plan that will give you freedom from worry over financial losses caused by not only accidents but fire, crimes, and many other hazards as well.

PHI Farm Labor News
The season for harvest time in Pitt County has been for many years a time for cooperation among all of its citizens. Many are the ways that we work out our solutions during all emergencies. The crops of Pitt County remain the strong of support in possibly every endeavor in this county, and good old Mother Earth is pouring out her blessings through the beautifully developing crops this year. While nature with all its mysteries helps man make this place more and more comfortable to live as time marches on. Today the tobacco harvest time is drawing closer and closer. It is predicted that the crops will be somewhat earlier than usual this year.

The people living in the cities and towns of Pitt County are asked to begin planning now to help with the harvest of our tobacco as you have done with potatoes. The following people who live in different sections of each city or town have been appointed. Farm labor leaders in their districts are: Ayden, Prof. J. J. Brown, Mrs. M. B. Murphy, Mrs. Sarah Reaves, Mrs. J. M. Reaves and Mrs. Laura Brown; Bethel, Rev. C. H. Hazel; Farmville, Prof. C. H. Hazel; Station, Palkland, Prof. C. Bembry; B. M. Ellis, Mrs. Lena Joyner and Mrs. S. A. Phillips; Fountain, Rev. S. E. Hemby and Mrs. Ammie Taylor; Grifton, Rev. J. L. Dunn; Grimesland, Prof. W. A. Cherry; Pactivus, Mr. H. C. Clemons and Mr. B. E. Hardy; Simpson, Mr. Paul Gatlin; Stokes, Mr. Bud Clemons. The Greenville group has not been completed.

The farm labor board is showing a motion picture, titled, "The Victory Harvest." Notice the dates and places thus far arranged: Calico, June 11; Stokes, June 18; Moye Chapel, June 20; Warren Chapel, June 25; Pactivus, June 27; Grimesland, June 28; Simpson, July 1. Admission free. Come and see how you may help with the coming tobacco harvest. All farmers are urged to begin planning now for the help that they will need. We know that the non-farmers of Pitt County are large enough in number, far sighted enough in vision, strong enough in courage, Christ-like enough in spirit to hold a helping hand with our tobacco harvest. May God help us to see and take advantage of the opportunity to help a fellowman. Plan now. —Matthew Lewis Farm Labor Assistant

"MAKE IT A MILLION!"

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES!

Where will you find a job with all these advantages?

AIR FORCES—GROUND FORCES—ADMINISTRATIVE AND TECHNICAL SERVICES

If YOU'RE a young man just out of high school, and have the physical and mental qualifications for enlistment in the Regular Army, no career in the world offers you a greater opportunity.

Get your friends and classmates together and find out—at the nearest Army Recruiting Station—what the Army holds for you!

Highlights of the Armed Forces Voluntary Enlistment Act

1. Enlistments for 1 1/2, 2 or 3 years. (One-year enlistments permitted for men now in the Army or more months of service.)
2. Enlistment age from 18 to 34 years inclusive (17 with parents' consent) except for men now in Army, who may re-enlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
3. An increase in the readjustment bonus to $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service, provided readjustment is within 90 days after last honorable discharge.
4. Up to 90 days' paid furlough, depending on length of service, with travel paid to home and return, for men who re-enlist within the prescribed time after discharge.
5. A thirty-day furlough each year with full pay.
6. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged as readjusters.
7. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
8. Bonus under the GI Bill of Rights for men who enlist on or before October 31, 1946, a 4-year college, trade or business school course, with expenses paid, at the end of a 3-year enlistment.
9. Family allowances for the term of enlistment for dependents of men who enlist or re-enlist before July 1, 1946.
10. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater (if those still open) on 3-year enlistments.

You can have the finest technical training, and be well paid while you learn! Army pay compares favorably with that in almost any civilian job—for you get food, clothes, housing, medical care, low cost insurance and a host of other advantages. You will have every chance, too, for promotion and higher pay.

You'll be working with other keen young men of your own age, using the most modern equipment, doing an interesting, constructive job. What's more, you'll have an opportunity to fulfill your personal responsibility—by helping your country keep its commitments in the post-war years.

COLLEGE, TRADE OR BUSINESS SCHOOL WITH EXPENSES PAID!

If you enlist on or before Oct. 31, 1946, you'll have educational benefits under the GI Bill of Rights. At the end of a 3-year enlistment, you'll be entitled to a full 4-year course in any college, business or trade school you choose and for which you are qualified for admission. The Government will pay your tuition, laboratory fees, etc., up to $500 per ordinary school year, plus $65 a month living allowance ($90 if you have dependents).

Billy (David Harum) Southworth, who doesn't consider a day well spent unless he comes up with a "Medusa" for his Boston Braves wigwag, appears today to have scored a 10-strike in his latest exhibition, popular Billy Herman, one of baseball's top-flight infielders during the past decade.

Only an hour and a half after then 34-year-old Herman joined the Braves yesterday, it became apparent that Southworth's final transaction before the trading deadline might prove to be his most profitable.

Arriving 30 minutes before game time following the trade which brought him from Brooklyn in exchange for catcher Stu Hofferth, Herman drove in the Braves' initial run in the first game of Boston's doubleheader with Cincinnati which sent the hub on its way to a 1-0 triumph over the Reds, 2-1 and 2-0.

In his second appearance at the plate, with the Braves trailing 1-0 in the fifth inning, Herman slashed a double to the left-field fence, scoring Connie Ryan with the tying run. He followed Ryan over the plate a moment later with the winning run on Phil Masi's singles.

Mort Cooper, another former Cardinal who preceded Southworth to the Braves, followed Ed Wright's eight-hit performance with a sterling 3-for-5 in the nightcap.

The league-leading Dodgers increased their margin over the runner-up Cards by whipping the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

The Cards were forced to accept a split with the New York Giants when the polo-grounders came back to humble them, 9-1, after the Cards had won the opener 4-1.

Three-run homers by Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper, both ex-Cards, helped bury their former mates in the nightcap.

The Boston Red Sox dropped their first series of the season when they could do no better than divide two games with the Chicago White Sox. After losing two in a row to the White Sox, Boston took the opener 6-1. The Windy City boys, however, came back to rout four Sox pitchers to win the afterpiece, 7-4.

After pounding out a 9-2 win over the St. Louis Browns, the Yankees cashed in on a three-base error by pitcher Tex Shirley to win the nightcap, 7-5, in 10 innings.

Third-place Detroit dropped to an even dozen games off the pace when the Washington Senators triumphed 6-3 in a game held to seven innings by rain and darkness.

The Phils extended their winning streak to four straight when they beat Pittsburgh 4-3, but the Pirates came back to hand the Phils their fifth defeat in the last 17 games, 10-1.

Cleveland moved into fifth place by copping both ends of its doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics 2-1 in 11 innings and 3-2. The second game was stopped after five and a half innings because of rain and darkness.

In a free-hitting game, the Wildcats of the Training School won over the West Greenville Indians this morning by the score of 14-9.

Tucker with three doubles and a single, Charley White with two doubles and a single, and John Karsnak with three singles led the hitting for the winners. Whitehurst with two doubles, a triple and a single was top man for the losers.

LOCALS SPLIT SUNDAY BILL

League Leaders Lose First, Win Second, In Game Here

Greenville posted a 2-1 triumph over Rocky Mount in the first game of a double-header, but fell before the league-leaders, 8-4, in the second.

Joe Alamo hurled six-hit ball to win the opener for Greenville. The winning run was scored in the eighth when Carlson walked, stole second, and scored on Earl Smith's double to left.

The second game was limited to six innings because of the Sunday curfew. The Rocks scored their winning run in the third on a fielder's choice and three walks. Pepper Martin homered for the winners in the fourth with one on and Smith connected for the circuit with two on in the fourth for Greenville.

U. S. Davis Cup Team Takes Opening Match

St. Louis, June 16 (AP)—The United States Davis Cup team which swept through its opening round match with the Philippine Islands without loss of a set, was on its way today to Orange, N. J., for the final zone match with Mexico June 28-30.

The Americans clinched the best three-of-five match Sunday when its doubles team of Billy Talbert of Wilmington, Del., and Gardiner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., trimmed Cesar Garmona and Felicísimo Ampon, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1.

Friday's two singles matches were won by the U. S. Talbert and Mulloy had little difficulty in yesterday's doubles because Ampon was off his game, netting the ball or hitting it out most of the time.

Living Costs ...

1. Established for the first time price ceilings on milk bought from milk producers by dairy products manufacturers and by industrial and commercial users.

2. Brought under price control for the first time all bulk sales of commercially separated cream and sales of farm separated cream sold by any seller other than a farmer. Sales by a cream station to a butter manufacturer are exempt.

Higher prices for butter and for cheese follow by 10 days an OPA order raising the cost of milk a penny a quart. Bowles has estimated that these dairy product price hikes will cost housewives at least 250,000,000 a year.

He said the increases were very likely prompted by higher grain costs and apparent congressional determination to slash food subsidies.

Increases in manufacturers' ceilings announced today amount to 10 cents a pound for butter, five cents for cheese and 35 cents a case for evaporated milk.

Merger ...

(Continued From Page One) program had his "unqualified endorsement." He added that Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, had promised to support it along with Secretary of War Patterson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff.

Of the 12 "basic principles" for merger outlined by Mr. Truman, he had to reserve disputes between Mr. Forrestal and Mr. Patterson on four of them. And on only one of the four did the navy get that full nod.

LOCAL MASONS PLAN BANQUET

Will Honor Grand Master W. J. Bundy Thursday Night

Greenville Lodge of Masons, No. 284, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, will honor W. J. (Dick) Bundy, grand master of North Carolina Masons, at a banquet at the Greenville armory Thursday night June 27, at 7:30 p. m. Prominent Masons and wives from all sections of the state are expected to attend.

Mr. Bundy has attained the highest possible ranks in Masonry, having had conferred upon him the 33rd degree last November in Washington, D. C., with President Truman and several other nationally known figures. He is also the incoming potentate of Sudan Temple for 1947. He has singly honored Pitt County and Greenville by being the first grand master of Masons in North Carolina to live here. He has given much of his time for the advancement of Masonry in North Carolina, and for this unselfish and noble service, the Greenville Masonic Lodge is honoring him on this occasion.

There are expected to be about 400 Masons and their wives at the banquet. Former Mayor B. B. Sugg of Greenville will be master of ceremonies. Various committees are at work preparing for the affair. All Masons desiring to attend, may obtain tickets from various members of the committee. Herman Hardee is chairman.

LOAN REPORT BEFORE HOUSE

House Banking Committee Approves British Loan, 20-5

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—The House Banking Committee formally reporting its 20-5 approval of the proposed $3,750,000,000 loan to Britain, declared today the financial agreement will be helpful to this country, to England and to the entire world.

"The alternative would be to risk the division of the world into two conflicting economic blocs with the ever present danger of economic warfare."

"Such a state of affairs could only mean an intensification of national hatreds, jealousies and suspicions. Under these conditions the United Nations' efforts for cooperation in maintaining peace would certainly be doomed to failure."

The committee made these specific claims for the loan:

1. It will end the wartime currency...

That point concerned the future of the Marine Corps as "a constituent part of the naval service" to conduct limited land operations in seizing or defending advanced bases and prosecuting a naval campaign.

CURES FIRST BARN TOBACCO

Grimesland Farmer Will Crop Nearly 2,000 Pounds Acre

By CHESTER WALSH
Jesse B. Hardy of the Grimesland section put in a barn of tobacco last Wednesday and the lugs cured up excellently, with good color, weight and usually fine texture. A Tennessee tobaccoist who looked over the curing and the crop in the field estimated that Hardy's 30 acres of tobacco will produce nearly 2,000 pounds to the acre.

Hardy put in two more barns today. He said the leaf is ripening uniformly and that he will follow right on through with the curings until all 30 acres are housed.

The Grimesland farmer planted his seed-beds last Christmas. He used White Stem Orinoco seed. He made his first transplanting in the field the latter part of March and the first part of April. The plants got away to quick growth and were not bothered by insect or other pests. When he saw some signs of blue mold in his plant beds last winter he took off the cloth and the blue mold disappeared, Hardy said.

Hardy has been farming about half a century. He admitted that he "took a chance" when he set out his plants so early, but claimed that early tobacco makes the best quality. His tobacco rows are three feet, nine inches apart. The plants have grown so luxuriantly and spread across the rows that the croppers could not get the trucks in between the rows today and were taking the ripened leaf from the fields by hand. Farmers and others who have looked over Hardy's first curing of lugs and the growing plants in the field predicted that the Grimesland farmer will crop close to 2,000 pounds of leaf to the acre.

Incidentally, Hardy has always sold his tobacco at Greenville warehouses. His dealings with the warehousemen and buyers have been satisfactory and each tobacco season for many years he has worked for different Greenville warehousemen.

Hardy's tobacco crop is worth going a long way to see. It's money coming up out of the ground," one farmer said.

Mass Arrests ...
The report of the mass arrest of Beth Haavara residents, although unconfirmed officially by police was received from reliable sources. This report said that dogs led the police from the Allenby bridge across the Jordan, one of those damaged, to the small collective settlement on the Dead Sea shore. It was understood that a British army unit surrounded the village and carried out a complete search. Some residents of the little Jewish community reportedly offered "passive resistance" against the searchers, resulting in a minor clash in which two Jews were injured. All persons found in the village were reported brought to a prison here for further investigation.

Meanwhile, the army and police continued a concerted search of all villages along the Palestine frontier in the vicinity of the damaged bridges.

program had his "unqualified endorsement." He added that Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, had promised to support it along with Secretary of War Patterson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff.

Of the 12 "basic principles" for merger outlined by Mr. Truman, he had to reserve disputes between Mr. Forrestal and Mr. Patterson on four of them. And on only one of the four did the navy get that full nod.
