Ministers Agree On Evacuation

Conferees Set Time-Limit For Troop Removals After Peace Is Signed; Iron Out Problem Of Treaty Inspection Committee In Italy; Final Italian Pact Still Untouched

By LOUIS NEVIN Paris, June 20.—(AP)—A British informant said the Foreign Ministers Council agreed today that British and American troops in Italy and Russian troops in Bulgaria should be evacuated within 90 days after peace treaties with those two countries go into effect.

The British source said the representatives of Britain, Russia, the U. S. and France, working in an unusually conciliatory atmosphere also broke a deadlock that has existed for several months over the question of an Allied treaty inspection commission for Italy by adopting a Soviet counter proposal for a commission to be composed of the four Allied ambassadors in Rome.

The commission will supervise the carrying out of the terms of the treaty. The Russians previously had refused to approve the idea of such a commission, declaring that it would be an infringement of Italian sovereignty.

On the first item of business today, however, the question of the French-Italian frontier, the Russians requested more time to study a report by a commission of hydro-electric experts. Discussion of the question was postponed.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin agreed to the principle of withdrawing British troops from Italy within 90 days after the treaty goes into effect on condition that Soviet troops be withdrawn from Bulgaria within a similar period and that the U. S. permit British lines of communication to cross the American zone in Germany to Austria.

U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes and Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia have agreed to the conditions and the proposal was adopted. On the question of an Allied inspec-tor commission in Italy, Britain and the U. S. earlier had proposed a body of commissioners for 18 months. Molotov's suggestion today called for 12 months.

There were no indications that any of the principals had changed their attitude toward the troublesome problem of Trieste, which U. S. sources have described as the key to the whole problem of peace treaties for Italy and the Balkans.

Senate Urged To Act On Terminal Pay Bill Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Senator Johnston (D-SC), urged the Senate today to give early consideration to legislation granting terminal leave pay to enlisted personnel of the armed services.

"This bill passed the House without dissent and I am confident it would elicit little opposition here," Johnston said. The measure is now in the Senate Military Committee.

Army and navy officers under an 1864 law receive pay after leaving active service for furloughs to which they were entitled but did not receive. This is known as "terminal leave pay."

The cost of extending the same law to enlisted personnel has been variously estimated up to $6,000,000. "In good faith," Johnston told the Senate, "we can do no less for our enlisted men and women than for our officers."

GRAND MUFTI GIVEN REFUGE BY EGYPTIANS

Farouk Grants Sanctuary To Spiritual Leader Of All Arabs In Palestine

Cairo, June 20.—(AP)—Hajj Al Hussein, the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, missing since his flight from France early this month, has taken refuge in Egypt, and a highly reliable source said today that King Farouk would grant him sanctuary.

The Egyptian monarch already has advised the British government of his decision to grant sanctuary to the Mufti, spiritual leader of all Palestine's Arabs, this informant said. The practice of giving asylum to those seeking it is traditional in Arabic countries.

A communique issued at Abnab palace said the Mufti—forced out of Palestine by British pressure in 1937—"called at the palace, signed the royal visitors' books and asked for an audience from King Farouk" Tuesday night.

"The audience was granted," the communique added, "and the Mufti told the king: 'I have taken refuge in your palace.'"

The Mufti's whereabouts had stirred widespread speculation since he fled from exile in a Paris suburb about June 9, and efforts to locate him in the Middle East coincided with an outbreak of violence involving Jews and British troops in the Holy Land, where 24 persons have been slain and six British officers wounded.

Jerusalem, June 20.—(AP)—The Jewish city of Tel-Aviv was proclaimed out of bounds today for all British troops, except military police and patrols, following a new outbreak of violence which resulted in the death of a 35-year-old Jew.

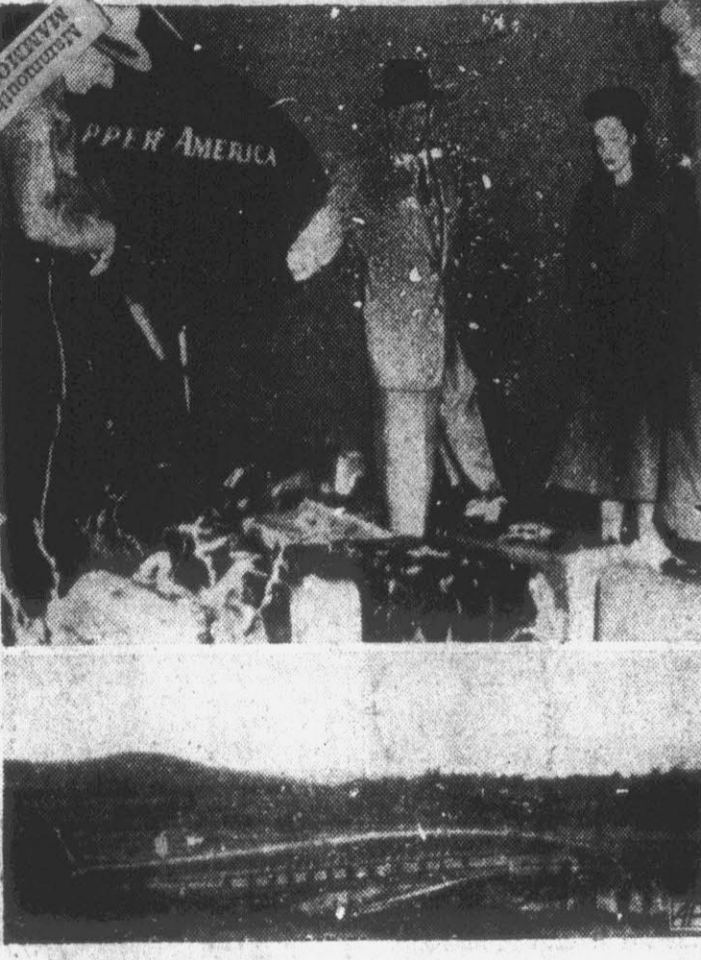

The killing brought the three-day death toll in Palestine to 22 Jews and three Britons.

Palestinian Arabs celebrated the return of the Mufti, Hajj Amin Al Hussein, to the Middle East in an atmosphere tense with military preparations against further violence in the week-long revolt of Jewish illegal organizations.

Heavily armed British troops guarded all rail junctions and manned numerous road blocks while the entire Palestine countryside teemed with soldiers. Reinforced police and military patrols guarded all streets in Jerusalem and barbed wire barricades were thrown around all public buildings.

Throughout the night searchlights swept the highways, focussing on every passing automobile. Pamphlets attributed to underground groups were scattered.

Weakening Of Price Control Is Assailed

Bowles Hints Resignation Should House-Senate Measures Be Passed; Calls Bills "Inflationary Booby-Traps"

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Dropping broad hints that he is prepared to resign, Stabilization Director Chester Bowles today assailed both House and Senate price control bills as inflationary "booby traps."

Bowles said "none—literally none" of the OPA changes now being considered by a House-Senate conference committee "seek to strengthen the hand of the government in the fight against inflation."

To this evaluation of the two bills sent to conference, the Stabilization Chief added this indication that he will pick up his hat if legislation unacceptable to him is adopted.

"I could never agree to any compromise which can only bring us one step nearer inflation," Bowles expressed his views in a statement prepared for release at a news conference. What he had to say followed a round of separate appeals for effective price control by four top government officials—Assistant Secretary of State Acheson, Housing Administrator Wyatt, Secretary of Commerce Wallace and Secretary of Labor Schwelb.

Bowles reiterated that "if the bill which finally comes from the Congress is clearly inadequate to deal with the inflationary forces we are facing, the only remaining hope is a firm and unequivocal veto" by President Truman.

A veto, he added, might then be followed by House and Senate action allowing "effective price and rent controls to continue as they are for another year." The present legislation expires June 30.

Bowles expressed the opinion that with a "good bill, free of dangerous compromise and corner cutting, we can maintain relatively stable prices and rents during coming months."

Seek No Strike Pledge From Building Unions

Expediter Wilson Wyatt Taking Steps To Insure Housing Program Will Swing Into Full Stride At Early Date

By STERLING F. GREEN Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt is shunning out AFL and CIO building unions on a six month no strike pledge to let the homes-for-veterans program swing into full stride. This became known today as the National Housing Agency ordered to effect the million-dollar subsidy program for softwood plywood.

Manufacturers will be authorized to pay $7.50 per 1,000 feet more for "pecier" logs, the kind needed for plywood, and to get full reimbursement from the government if they boost production 25 percent or more above normal quotas.

That regulation was signed as a quick followup to the subsidy of $3 a thousand for bricks and structural tiles produced in excess of quotas. Both subsidies are part of the $4,000,000 "premium payment" plan approved by Congress to stimulate output of building materials.

Wiles of the NHA administrator, disclosed his no-strike efforts, saying privately that Wyatt hopes to obtain a pledge from organized labor in the construction and building materials industries to refrain from any work stoppages until December.

By that time, they said it is felt, thousands of homes now standing partly finished can be completed, new residential starts can be made with confidence, and—as one official put it—the 1946 shelter program can "get over the hump."

First efforts went out to the AFL, dominant in the building trades. While no official request has been made or assurance given, it was indicated that the idea is receiving consideration from union chiefs.

The Wyatt move is parallel to that of Stabilization Director Chester Bowles, who has talked to Presidents William Green of the AFL and Philip Murray of the C. O. about a renewal of their wartime pledge against work stoppages. Bowles' objective is to get production rolling and check the upward spiral of wages and prices.

First hint of Wyatt's plans came from the NHA chief himself at an informal news conference at which he explained the subsidy program for bricks yesterday. When asked for his views on the strike moratorium idea, Wyatt said:

"We are in the middle of negotiations now with labor. I don't want to make any comment at this time." Today it became clear that he was speaking of his own independent plans, rather than Bowles' delicate negotiations. Wyatt now understood to be waiting for labor's opinion to crystallize before making a formal request based on the urgent need of providing shelter for ex-service men.

By that time, they said it is felt, thousands of homes now standing partly finished can be completed, new residential starts can be made with confidence, and—as one official put it—the 1946 shelter program can "get over the hump."

Disagreement In Control Of Atom

ARMY BUDGET GOES UP FOR HOUSE ACTION

Seven Billion Dollars Asked For Biggest Peacetime Army Budget

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—A $7,091,014,700 army budget—biggest ever in peacetime and with an extra $175,000,000 tossed in for atomic energy development—went to the House floor today.

It was almost twice as large as the last pre-war allotment, voted in 1941. Nearly balancing the extra cash granted the army's famed Manhattan project which produced the atomic bomb, the appropriations committee trimmed $150,000,000 from Budget Bureau estimates for army-supervised relief and government activities in occupied countries.

The Budget Bureau had recommended $50,000,000 for the relief military government program and $203,000,000 for the atomic service. The committee revised the sums to $350,000,000 and $375,000,000, respectively. The army itself had asked $97,000,000 for the Manhattan project.

Otherwise the committee generally followed the Budget Bureau's recommendations for War Department funds for the fiscal year starting July 1.—Net changes in the big measure represented a reduction of $117,728,729.

The committee approved in full the $1,199,500,000 allotment for the air corps after hearing General Carl Spaatz relate plans for an air force adequate to detect and repel any surprise attack, to launch a crippling counter offensive and to back up the land and sea forces.

The committee boosted the atomic service fund—part of which will be used for atomic energy and atomic bombs, no one of them would be able to prevent actions by the others to enforce the pledges.

Gromyko demanded that before any sort of international atomic control machinery is created pro- (Continued on Page Four)

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, June 20.—(AP)—Dragi Jovanovic, Belgrade police prefect during the German occupation, today identified a picture of Miss Ruth Mitchell, sister of the late Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, as that of a person he had seen "with the Gestapo and Chetniks."

Jovanovic is a co-defendant in the trial of Gen. Draja Mihailovic. He said a man in the picture was King Peter, now deposed. "Did she have any connection with the Gestapo?" the prosecutor asked, referring to the American woman who has reported she spent some time at Mihailovic's headquarters during the war.

"I don't know," Jovanovic answered. The picture was shown the former police official with a paper covering the caption. He immediately identified her as an American he had seen with German secret police. He could not remember her name until prompted by the prosecutor.

SUIT BROUGHT AGAINST KLAN

State Of Georgia Seeks To Dissolve Charter Of KKK

Atlanta, June 20.—(AP)—The State of Georgia instituted court proceedings today seeking to dissolve the charter of the Ku Klux Klan, charging that the hooded organization is trying to "grab control of governmental agencies."

In a suit filed in Fulton county (Atlanta) Superior Court by State Attorney General Eugene Cook, the State accused the Klan of having as its "ultimate aim" enforcement of "its principles and doctrines upon the State of Georgia by force, violence, terrorism and hate."

The State charged that the Klan intends "to organize police officers, cab drivers, truck drivers and others in key positions so that the defendant (Klan) can seize" parts of the state government, charged with protection of citizens.

The State legal department was ordered by Governor Arnall to break up the Klan in Georgia. Cook, in filing his suit, said it was his intention to wreck the mass organization as a national group.

The suit, filed in the nature of quo warranto proceedings charged that seven posts of the Klan in the Atlanta area "have conspired and are conspiring" to violate the life, liberty and property provisions of the State Constitution.

The suit said that the Klan "has become the forum for teaching fanatical intolerance and hatred. That the ultimate result of such teaching will result in discord, and strife and violence."

State legal officials also alleged that the Klan "has committed numerous crimes against society by conspiring to beat and terrorize Georgia citizens."

No Time Limit Set In AFL Dixie Drive

Carolina Director For Union Campaign Sees Drive As Going On Indefinitely; CIO And AFL Working On Different Basis

Charlotte, June 20.—(AP)—Earle R. Britton, recently appointed Carolina director in the American Federation of Labor's campaign to organize the South, gave a bristly "no comment" today when asked about competition from the CIO.

"We're going to try to see the workers a good program and a good bill of goods on the merits of the American Federation of Labor and its affiliated organizations."

William Smith, director of the CIO's organizational drive in North Carolina, said virtually the same thing when he established an office here about a month ago. "No name-calling," was the way he put it.

However, there are two basic differences in the two campaigns. The CIO drive is being handled by organizers working directly under Smith, and specific industries—textiles and furniture manufacturing—have been selected as the first objectives.

Britton, who has just established his headquarters here, said his job would be to coordinate the efforts of organizers working for the various international craft unions, and that the AFL would set no industry goals. Instead, he explained, it will attempt to organize any workers who may be prospective members.

"This drive will, in my opinion, he said, go on indefinitely. We have always had an Atlanta office, and as the campaign expands, I think we will carry it on indefinitely. In other words, we haven't set any time limit."

Herriot Offered Post In Cabinet Paris, June 20.—(AP)—Former Premier Edouard Herriot, leader of the Radical-Socialist party, said today that President Georges Bidault had offered him a post in the new French cabinet.

Herriot declared that before accepting he would have to confer with members of his party to see whether they were willing to participate in the government. He did not disclose what portfolio he had been offered.

Investigators On Trail Of Fabulous Thirty-Million Dollar Jewel Theft

Batavia, Java, June 20.—(AP)—A mysterious Japanese colonel, believed to have the bulk of a reported fabulous $30,000,000 treasure stolen during the occupation was trailed today after the Eurasian mistress of his subordinate talked so much she exposed the theft.

British army personnel, Dutch and Japanese were involved. Allied investigators on the elusive path of the ten steel trunks and five crates of jewels, gold and cash said eight arrests had been made. A British captain and sergeant and the woman were among those held. Other Britons en route to England faced arrest.

The investigators reported some $8,000,000 of the loot including diamonds as big as your thumb has been recovered. The treasure was confiscated from individuals in the wealthy Netherlands East Indies during the Japanese occupation.

Authoritative sources gave this version of the jewel plot, described as far bigger than the theft of the Hesse crown jewels for which an American colonel and his wife captain bride are awaiting action in Germany.

IMPASSE FOR DRAFT FUTURE

Deadlock Over 18-Year-Olds Holding Up Extension Bill

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Senate and House conferees rolled up their sleeves today for a fresh try at ending the deadlock over drafting 18-year-olds in the future.

Tempers were short and signs of an agreement still dubious as the joint conference members headed toward another closed-door session on how Selective Service should be continued after July 1.

Despite optimistic expectations the situation was not visibly improved by the remote control proxy vote ratified in by Rep. Walter G. Andrews (R-NY) from the mid-Pacific, registering him in favor of inducting 18-year olds only as a last resort.

The vote from Andrews, who is en route to the Bikini A-bomb test, had been expected to end the existing impasse in the conference (Continued on Page Four) when the time seemed right. His latest move has coincided with the election of a new president who will serve only six months while the constituent assembly frames another constitution to replace the one rejected in the referendum because the voters felt it leaned too far to the left. De Gaulle's appearance once more on the speaker's platform brought him much public acclaim, but there was no indication that he expected to take a more active hand in the political show at this precise moment.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Take the case of Harold D. Smith, 49, with eyeglasses, a good head, a wife, four children. His case raises a sore point in the government. Congress may do something about it. Chances are that it won't.

Smith was director of the Budget Bureau, one of the most important jobs in the government.

THE WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News By DEWITT MACKENZIE France's political crisis—the conflict between left and right—is developing in a manner which suggests that General Charles De Gaulle may be maneuvering for a position which would permit him to resume the leadership of his country at a particularly difficult time in its struggle for rehabilitation.

The general's dramatic reappearance after six months of retirement and silence makes it clear that he neither has lost interest in the struggle nor has he abandoned it. Three times within the past few days he has made important speeches, the most notable being one in which he warned there is danger of dictatorship in France and urged that political power—legislative, executive and judicial—be clearly separated and strongly balanced. He also advocated a strong executive and a two chamber legislature.

De Gaulle's emergence into the open again wasn't wholly unexpected. As I reported this column when I was in France ten weeks ago, while the public was puzzled by the general's resignation of the presidency in a burst of anger and his retirement to seclusion, still there were close observers who felt that he might be playing a shrewd political game and would reappear

The bride's mother chose a black sheer crepe dress with a lace top with matching accessories for the wedding and the mother of the bridegroom wore a pale pink crepe dress with black accessories. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home. Mrs. John Brown and Mrs. Bernice James acted as hostesses. Mr. and Mrs. John Staton greeted the guests on the front porch. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Latham invited the guests in at the door and Dr. and Mrs. Connell Garrington introduced them to the receiving line.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and feverfew flanked by silver candelabra holding white burning tapers. A three-tiered wedding cake was at the end of the table.

The other rooms of the house were decorated with spring flowers and greenery.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Smith presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. John Hooker served the bridal cake and Mrs. X. E. Manning served the ice cream. Assisting in serving ice cream, punch, bridal cakes, nuts and mints were Mrs. Ferd Pollard, Misses Betty Smith, Sally Jo Gurganus, Daisy Lee Andrews, Mrs. H. L. Lewis and Mrs. J. B. Bryant. Also assisting in receiving and serving were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Riddick, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Gurganus, and Mr. and Mrs. Cary Hammond.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. James presided over the bride's book and goodwishes were said to Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gurganus.

After the reception the couple left for a wedding trip north. For traveling the bride wore a white gabardine suit with black accessories. Her corsage was an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Lossman attended East Carolina Teachers College and Norfolk Business College. For the past four years she has been employed by Civil Service at the Naval Supply Depot in Norfolk.

The bridegroom attended Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., for his pre-dental work and received his D. D. S. degree at Northwestern University Dental School in Chicago. He is a member of Xi Psi Phi dental fraternity. In June 1941 he received his Naval Reserve commission and in November, 1942, he was called to active duty. Lt. Comdr Lossman has recently returned from 19 months of overseas duty in Guam. He will return to inactive duty in the near future.

The couple will make their home in Chicago, where Lt. Comdr. Lossman has his office located and will resume his practice.

After the wedding rehearsal Friday night, Mrs. Robert Young and Mrs. B. F. Manning, Jr., entertained at a cake-cutting at the home of the bride's parents for the members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

The bride was complimented by a number of prenuptial parties. Mrs. Howell Lewis and Mrs. Earl Lewis honored the bride Wednesday afternoon at a tea. Mrs. J. L. Gurganus, Mrs. Linwood Gurganus and Sally Jo Gurganus were hostesses at a coffee hour given in honor of the bride on Tuesday morning. Miss Carol Webster and Mrs. Fred Johnson entertained in Norfolk at a luncheon and linen shower and Mrs. George Verakis, Misses Emily and Elizabeth Grubb were hostesses at a party and lingerie shower honoring the bride.

Ex-Marine Hurt In Auto Crash

By CHESTER WALSH. Charles Ramm, 21, of Youngstown, O., photographer in the employ of Henry Renfrew, was seriously injured yesterday morning when his car crashed into a tree on Fifth Street, near Jarvis Street.

He was taken to Pitt General Hospital with a crushed ankle, cuts and bruises and possibly internal injuries, police said. The car was completely wrecked, insurance adjusters said.

The officer investigating the accident said the best information he could procure was that a woman drove a car out of the college into the path of Ramm's car, and that in trying to avoid running into the car, swerved and crashed into the tree on the other side of the street. The engine was rammed back into the front seat of the car.

Ramm was a photographer in the Marine Corps with Henry Renfrew. They served two years overseas.

Training Center Is Helping The Blind

Visits of various business and professional men to the Training Center for the Blind to make talks to the students on various practical subjects is proving fruit of excellent results. The 70 or more white and Negro students, men and women, are manifesting keen interest in the talks. The talks are always on some useful subject, merchandising, industry, etc., the practical things of life.

Recent speakers at the training center were C. A. Plyler of Belk-Tyler's department store, "Personality of Retail Salesmanship"; J. Carroll Waldrop, "Wholesale Experiences and Problems"; Ernul Willis, "That Special Something We All Work For"; C. F. Chancy of J. C. Penney Company, and Chester Walsh of the Reflector.

A wonderful work is being done for the sightless at the training center. It was interesting to observe how quickly the students learn to do things. They are inspired to feel that they can accomplish those things which will enable them to become self-supporting.

Chapter 27
Paul was waiting for the Senator when he arrived at Random Folly next afternoon.
"What gives, Senator? Whitney tells me you think you can settle slander case this afternoon."
"We can make a try at it, son. I say for that girl she's given us a only chance we would possibly have to keep the action out of the courts."
"The Senator noticed how white and tired Paul seemed. It was evident the last few days had been a strain on him. The tall, young commander was silent a minute, then he said shortly, 'If Barberini makes a complete retraction of the charges he made against me and there is a definite withdrawal which I'll accept, I know statements signed by him have not been worth the paper they were written on as far as he's concerned, but in this case it vitally affects me—not him.'"
The Senator nodded gravely. "I hoped you would see it that way. I think I can get him to sign this."
He handed the statement he had prepared to Paul who read it in silence and then returned it to him without comment.
"Is that adequate, Paul?"
"Yes, sir."
"You noticed it calls for the payment of damages?"
"A silence fell between the two men. It was broken at last by Paul and there was a hard, vibrant note in his voice which the Senator had never heard before.
"Barberini is a cad. In his crazy way he thought a charge like this against me was revenge for the time I caught him playing with marked cards, and then there was Whitney. He thought if he smeared me in this way he'd get my girl. He thought she'd fallen for him—to some extent," he added quickly, seeing he was protesting in the Senator's face.
"Arm in arm the two men marched to the door of the library where they met Whitney, Polly and Spuds just coming in. Not five minutes after Count Barberini was announced.
When he saw the people already here, he instantly sensed the fact that they were waiting for him.
"I did not know—I thought—what is this?" he demanded abruptly, still standing in the doorway.
"Come in, Barberini," the Senator said in a level voice. "There is a chair for you." He indicated one on the opposite side of the library table where Paul was sitting. The Count avoided looking at Paul and quickly skirted the room to take the chair near the Senator.
"We are here this afternoon to see if it will be possible to avoid a court action this week. My client is willing to discuss that possibility with you now."
The Count looked around the room. All color had drained from his face. His eyes rested longest on Whitney who sat near Polly. She was staring out of the window, her delicate clear-cut profile a silhouette against the fading light of the winter afternoon.
"The action was brought against me by Paul Scott. What is his proposition now?"
"That you retract the charge you made against him at baccarat the night of October 25th and that you do it this afternoon here at Random Folly in the presence of these witnesses."
The silence that gripped the room was sudden, sharp, intense. The Senator had left his chair and was standing in front of Barberini as he spoke directly to him. Slowly the Count rose to his feet. He faced the Senator.
"That all?" he asked.
"Your verbal retraction and apology for the slander against my client's good name is not enough. He demands that you sign the statement I hold in my hand."
The Count's eyes flashed fire. He made no move to take the paper the Senator had indicated. Instead he stared at the Senator with a hard unflinching gaze and his voice was almost monotonous as he repeated his question again.
"That all?"
"There will be damages which must be paid my client."
"I see. Anything else?"
"Nothing else. If you fulfill these stipulations, my client agrees to withdraw the libel suit against you."
"What will the damages amount to—in cash?"
"That is the last thing to be agreed upon. The satisfaction of a gentleman's honor is first—that is paramount."
The Count drew in his breath sharply. "It all seems extremely well planned in advance." The words came with a rush from the bitterness inside of him. He looked around at the faces which were watching him now so grimly. Suddenly he knew they were alien—no longer friendly faces.
"I am not impressed with any of this," he said abruptly. "I was not told I was to face demands like this this afternoon. My lawyer is not here."
"That is fortunate for you, Barberini," the Senator interposed quietly. "He is also the lawyer for your embassy. I have here a paper—another paper—which you might not want him to see, especially."
"Explain, please. I do not understand."
This time the Senator made no move to give the Count the paper he had taken from a small case. Instead he re-folded it carefully and, returning it to the case, slipped it into his vest pocket.
"It is the paper you signed May 25th, 1941, in the Tavern Club near the Yale campus."
"A look of sudden fear swept the Count's face. He looked down at the statement the Senator had previously asked him to sign. It lay on the table between the two men. Without looking up he picked up the paper and read it slowly, carefully. When he had finished he held it in his hand while the two silent minutes marked off his time of decision.

Then, without a word, he took a pen from his pocket and signed the paper.

China Communist Asks End To War
Nanking, June 20—(AP)—Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief Chinese Communist negotiator, called today for an end to "all hostilities both in China proper and Manchuria" without any time limit.
At the same time he rejected a Chinese government suggestion that General Marshall, special U. S. envoy, arbitrate the dispute, saying any Allied mediation should be based on "principles laid down by President Truman's statement of December 15, 1945, and the Moscow communique of the big three of December 26."
Both of these declarations, urging a united, democratic China, in effect said that the United States, Russia and Great Britain should keep hands off China's internal difficulties.
Before issuing his double-barreled statement, Chou met for two hours with Marshall and later with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.
The current truce in Manchuria ends Saturday and a Communist spokesman expressed concern over the current negotiations deadlock, which came after the government demanded the Communists give up some strategic areas in north China.
Chou declined to amplify his statement, which the spokesman said represented the Communist party position in the negotiations.

World Federalist Is Speaker At Institute
Greensboro, June 20—(AP)—Strongly advocating steps to bring about an immediate world government, Vernon Nash, director of field work for World Federalists, Inc., told delegates attending the 13th annual Carolina Institute of Internationalism at Woman's College this morning that "the UN, as it now stands, cannot possibly succeed in preventing war."
"A world government," said the speaker, "that does not have the power to deal in a positive way with the causes of war won't have the power to suppress war."
Speaking on the morning program, along with Nash, was Martin Hill, free-lance journalist and authority on European problems. His topic, "German Youth—Promise or Threat," gave the audience a picture of the German youth of the past and the one of the future.

Lexington Man Dies Of Gun-Shot Wounds
Lexington, June 20—(AP)—Dr. Earle Bulla Craven, Jr., 40, died at his home here yesterday of a gunshot wound which Dr. W. G. Smith, Davidson County coroner, said was self-inflicted.
Dr. Craven, Lexington physician since 1934 and for a number of years a member of the Duke University hospital and medical college staff, was said to have been in poor health for the past two years. He had undergone extended hospital treatment several times.
He is survived by his widow, Dr. Jean D. Craven, two sons, his parents, a brother and a sister. Funeral services were to be held today.
He was a fellow of the American College of Physicians and a licentiate of the American Board of Internal Medicine.

Swindle?
WASHINGTON, June 20—Rep. O'Toole (D-NY) demanded today the New York State Boxing Commission hold up the purses of Joe Louis and Billy Conn until an investigation can be made of last night's championship fight.
O'Toole voiced his demand in a telegram to Edward Egan, commission chairman, which asserted that the championship bout was "a fraud."
It declared that the purses should be held up and the investigation be made "in justice to those who were swindled" at the fight.
"One more fraud such as last night's and boxing will be ruined in the United States for many years to come," O'Toole declared.

Camp Hardee On Pamlico River Having Fine Season
By CHESTER WALSH
The Greenville Girl Scouts annual summer camp, which opened at Camp Hardee, on a high bluff overlooking Pamlico River, below Chocowinity, has the largest attendance since Camp Hardee was opened five years ago. There are 47 campers this year, compared to eight the first season.

Every precaution for the health, safety and pleasure of the girls is provided. The buildings and tents are adequate and comfortable. The bathing beach is ideal, sloping gradually toward the channel. League Opposing Union Campaigns Little Rock, June 20—(AP)—A campaign to combat "radical" labor activities and to offset organizing drives of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations in Arkansas has been mapped out by the Arkansas Free Enterprise League.
In a meeting here last night, the league decided to work toward these goals:
(1) Passage by the 1947 legislature of a law providing criminal penalties for violation of the state's anti-closed shop amendment;
(2) Protection for the 1943 "anti-violence" strike act from any movement by labor to repeal or weaken it;
(3) Election of "reputable, capable men to the legislature";
(4) Promotion of harmony among employers and employees, convincing Arkansas labor that its welfare is bound to the welfare of Arkansas employers; and
(5) The offsetting "to the greatest degree possible (or) the organizational efforts of the two major labor organizations of the nation (CIO and AFL) in Arkansas."

Members of the league include plantation owners and other business men.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WE MUST MEET THE REQUIREMENTS

Will democracy survive?
To answer that question we have to go back and examine some of the circumstances under which democracy arose. Democratic principles are religious principles applied to situations of government. Both the Old and New Testaments contain spiritual principles which, when they were fully grasped, led men to resist tyranny and to advocate government with the consent of the governed. Democracy is the application in the field of government of principles which have their origin in the field of religion.

Democracy, therefore, having come out of religion, can continue to exist only if people have religious faith. Only religious people can really make democracy work.
In countries where religious faith is weak or vitiated, democratic forms of government meet with little success. Within our own population we observe that anti-religious groups almost invariably give their approval to some form of dictatorship.

Many will deny all this and scoff at the alleged relationship between sound religion and democracy. But it nevertheless exists. A rebirth of democracy means a rebirth of religion. If the spiritual life of a nation is sound, its democratic institutions will be secure.

This is a requirement we cannot evade.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—A man applying for work at the Chicago post office said he had never been arrested but had been fingerprinted in Columbus, O. The FBI, in searching his finger impressions, found he had been convicted of a forgery charge at Milan, Mich.

The search of another civil service applicant's fingerprints found that he had been charged at New Orleans with possessing subversive literature and inciting riot. This man had applied for a position at the Bremerton, Wash., Navy yard.

During the war the Civil Service Commission sent the FBI the fingerprint card of a man applying for work at the Boston Navy yard. He claimed he had never been arrested or fingerprinted. From the files of the FBI's identification it was found that the man had been sentenced in 1918 to serve 30 years for disloyalty.

One week after Pearl Harbor the FBI received from civil service a fingerprint card for a man applying as a hospital aide at the Veterans Administration in New York City.
He said he had never been arrested.
The FBI found that he was arrested in Atlantic City in 1919 for false pretense, served a year in Florida for issuing worthless checks, and from 1926 through 1929 served several sentences for false pretense and violation of the drug act.

The FBI's identification division checks the fingerprints of all applicants for government jobs with the 15,339,000 criminal prints in its records. Many individuals are disqualified in this way.

Of the men who applied for work at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., ordnance plant, the most vital of the atom bomb projects, one was identified by the FBI as a former convict.

He had served five sentences since 1917 at San Quentin, Leavenworth and the Minnesota and Colorado state penitentiaries for embezzlement, auto theft and operating a confidence ring.

Another man applying for a job as guard at the plant was found to have been sentenced at Lexington, Ky., in 1932 for arson.

In 1945 the Civil Service Commission sent the FBI the fingerprints of a man applying for a position as rubber specialist with the War Production Board. The man answered "no" in the space on the card asking if he had ever been arrested.

FBI technicians in searching their criminal prints found that he had been arrested in Cleveland in 1943, charged with fraud against the government and had been fined $500.

The FBI has a total of 101,000-000 fingerprint records. These include the 15,399,000 criminal prints, 358,723 of prisoners of war, 5,572-961 of registered aliens, and 71,066-497 miscellaneous non-criminal records.

The Nation . . .
gress to raise government salaries all along the line, including a raise for representatives and senators from their present $10,000 to $20-000.

But Congress finally passed a bill—the President signed it and it will become effective July 1—raising all government workers' salaries 14 percent, but only for those making under $10,000.

Salaries of $10,000 or over will remain unchanged. Here's the only chance—a slim one—that Congress may, perhaps next year, give those getting $10,000 and over a boost.

The Senate just passed a bill to reorganize Congress and voted a raise for all senators and representatives from $10,000 to $15,000. The bill now has to be voted upon by the House.

The House may, or may not, vote on the bill this session.
But if Congressmen give themselves a raise, they'll probably feel self-conscious about it and give other government officials making $10,000 or better an increase.

The following shows the kind of salaries paid by the government:
The President, at $75,000 a year, tops the list. Next is the Chief Justice of the United States, $20,500.
The eight Associate Justices come next with $20,000.

Then come the cabinet members with $15,000. The Directors of Re-conversion and Economic Stabilization also get $15,000.
Judges of the Circuit Courts of Appeals get $12,500. District judges get $10,000.

The heads of some government agencies—like OPA, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Works

Agency, Federal Security Agency—
get $12,000.
The undersecretaries, assistant secretaries and heads of bureaus get $10,000 or less.

Disagreement . . .
duction of atomic bombs should be stopped and those now in existence —meaning those in the United States—should be destroyed. Baruch, on the other hand, suggested that the machinery first should be created and that when it was in operation the United States then would be prepared to dispose of its atomic explosives.

3. Implied in Gromyko's proposal for an initial treaty to banish atomic armaments is the idea of "outlawing" these weapons. But many of the advisers who helped develop the American plan have contended that this in an impractical approach to the problem. They argued that during the last war all major belligerents had stocks of poison gas to use and that none of them used it simply because it was militarily undesirable to do so, not because gas warfare had been outlawed.

Officials pointed to one possible inconsistency in Gromyko's plan which they said might open the way to some negotiation on the veto issue. This was his declaration that violators of any treaty to banish atomic armaments should be punished by the United Nations.
These officials noted that so long as the United Nations Security Council operates under an unrestricted veto rule by which all the great powers have to agree before the council can take any punitive action, it evidently would be impossible for the council to punish any one of the big powers because that power would veto its punishment.

mittee, subject to House action
when the bill is considered tomorrow, contemplate an average army strength of 1,279,000 for the coming fiscal year, with a total of 1-070,000 on June 30, 1947.
Backing up these active forces would be a National Guard of 240-000 officers and men, an air National Guard of 47,646, organized reserves of 1,083,000, and a reserve of officers training corps of 377,100 students.

Impasse . . .
group, but members today predicted additional fireworks before a decision.

Both senate and house representatives, named to iron out differences over draft extension legislation, said tremendous pressure was being brought upon Rep. Brooks (D-La.) to stand pat on the House compromise proposal to induct 19 year olds but to provide unconditional exemption for youths of 18.

The Senate plan provides no 18 year olds would be called until all other manpower supplies had been exhausted, including volunteers, inductees above 18 and 20 years old;
and then only if the President certified the need, with service limited to the continental United States until the youths reach 19.

All parties agreed that other Senate-House differences over draft extension legislation will be settled quickly once the 18-year-olds question is out of the way.

Chicken is Delicious Any Day!

With meat so scarce, chicken will probably appear on your table more frequently during the week as well as on Sunday. Right now, stewing hens are the most plentiful. One favorite way of cooking fowl of this size is by braising it, as explained below.

Luscious Braised Chicken . . . moist heat makes it "fork tender"
Clean and cut in serving pieces
1 (4-5 lb.) WILSON'S CERTI-FIED STEWING HEN.
Sprinkle moist pieces with 3 tsp. salt
dash of pepper,
Dredge in 1/2 cup flour.
Brown on all sides in 1/4 cup ADVANCE SHORTENING or rendered chicken fat Add 1 cup water, cover tightly, and cook very slowly on top of range or in a 300° F. oven about 3 hours or until very tender. Add more water, 1/2 cup at a time, if needed. When chicken is tender, remove cover and let excess water evaporate. Make cream gravy of the drippings. Serves 6.

Epic Playwright Visiting Manteo

Manteo, June 20—Playwright Paul Green conferred today with officials of the Roanoke Island Historical Association on preparations for the revival of his epic drama "The Lost Colony."

Green arrived here last night after flying to Durham from Hollywood, where he was doing movie scripts. He plans to remain here until after the premiere of his play, but meanwhile will meet with officials of the Jamestown Drama Corporation in Williamsburg, Va. on June 24-25 to discuss details of another historical play he has been invited to write.

Green said he believed the proposed Jamestown drama and the Lost Colony should complement each other.

The 40-voice Westminster Choir of Princeton, N. J., also arrived here last night.

Army Voted New Atomic Powers

Washington, June 19—(AP)—The House Military Committee today voted to strengthen the army's control over atomic bomb production by giving it power, under certain conditions, to make its own atomic weapons.

The committee wrote into senate legislation authority for the President to direct the proposed atomic energy commission to allow the armed forces to "manufacture, produce or acquire any equipment or device utilizing fissionable materials or atomic energy as a military weapon."

Hirohito Asks Diet To Strip His Powers

Tokyo, June 20—(AP)—Emperor Hirohito urged the Diet today in the name of the Japanese people to adopt a new constitution which will strip him of most of the power invested in the throne ever since ancient times.

In the first written message ever handed Japan's law-makers, Hirohito called for approval of the revised constitution in the name of "the supreme will of the people," a phrase never before used by a Japanese sovereign.

The message told the legislators in his special message, which was not read in person, that the nation must "renounce war," one of the chief features of the proposed new basic law of the land.

Earlier in the day he appeared before the Diet and read the imperial rescript of convocation. A special message was needed to assure action on the General MacArthur-approved constitution. Revision can be initiated only by the throne under Japanese law.

Five Communist members of the Diet, who have outspokenly asked for the emperor's dismissal, boycotted the opening of the Diet.

Conn Says He Will Never Fight Again

Kid From Pittsburgh Announces Decision: 45,266 Fans See Great Champion At Near To His Best In Eight-Round Victory

BY GAYLE TALBOT
New York, June 20—(AP)—Joe Louis has it.

Billy Conn knows. Knocked out by one of the greatest of champions, bleeding from cuts across his left cheek and nose, Conn sat smiling on a rubber table deep under Yankee Stadium last night and declared with solemn finality that he would never fight again.

"The kid from Pittsburgh is putting his cue stick in the rack," said the gamesteer who had gone down under an eighth-round barrage from the fists of Louis. "You've seen the kid's last fight. It's not there any more."

Tears glistening in his eyes, little Johnny Ray, who raised Billy from a pup in the boxing game, added his own sad words to Conn's vaudeville. "There's no use going on if he's going to get his head knocked off. Billy will never fight again. He's done. We're not kidding ourselves."

Up to the last few seconds, when the dynamite in the big Negro's fists suddenly went off and left Conn wrapped in darkness on the floor, the great crowd banked in the Yankee ball yard had witnessed as dull a fight as the ring game ever spawned. At $100 a head it must have been horrible.

He was a far different Conn from the cocky, aggressive youngster who just five years ago thrilled a similar crowd by fighting Louis for all he was worth down to the bitter end in the 13th round. Last night the spark was gone. Possibly Billy left his best fight in his training camp.

"I knew I was making a stinking fight," he said apologetically to State Athletic Commissioner Eddie Egan, who visited him in his dressing room. "I thought I could keep away from Joe for 15 rounds," he added with a rueful grin. "I know better now."

The 45,266 fans who paid $1,255-$64 to witness the one-sided spectacle at least can tell their grandchildren they saw a great champion at near to his best. Perhaps it was his best. Conn at least, said it was a more terrible Louis he faced last night than in 1941.

The early stages were boring. With Louis holding his fire and Billy operating with extreme caution, not a half-dozen blows were exchanged in the opening round, and most of those were light lefts flicked to the champion's emotion-

GREENVILLE'S ON GOLF MAP

Dr. Barrett Stymies National Tournament in Cleveland

Lloyd Mangrum won the National Open Golf Championship at Cleveland last Sunday over the rugged Canterbury course with as fine a display of golf that has ever been shot during the 46 years the event has been held, but it took Dr. J. M. Barrett of Greenville to provide the feature attraction for the 13,000 spectators who witnessed the event.

Dr. Barrett, who attended the Open with Simon Move, Jr., W. L. Allen, Roger Taylor, and Reynolds May of this city, was sitting calmly on the fringe of the 17th green at Canterbury when Byron Nelson, Lloyd Mangrum and Victor Ghezzi stepped up on the tee of the 17th green to play that hole. The weather was a little on the warm side so the Greenville physician removed his hat and placed it on the ground in front of him to make himself more comfortable. Nelson, Ghezzi and Mangrum were tied when they approached No. 17. Nelson drove first. His shot hit just over the green, bounded up and hit a spectator, and then bounced back into the soft confines of Dr. Barrett's hat. A roar went up from the crowd, as they began to speculate what the result would be. Would Nelson have to play the ball, or would he be penalized? No one knew. U. S. G. A. officials were swarming to the spot where the hat lay. Then the press made a bee-line for the same place. Camera bulbs were flashing all around, and the question running in every one's mind was "To whom did the hat belong?" One of the marshals running the tournament turned back the band inside the hat, and saw that it came from Frank Wilson's store in Greenville, North Carolina. The word "North Carolina" shot through the crowd.

Finally, Byron Nelson, the greatest golfer in the world today, approached the ball smiling. After a 15-minute conference among the U. S. G. A. officials, it was decided that Nelson could lift his ball out of the hat without penalty. Nelson calmly lifted the hat, dumped the ball on the ground, and play was continued.

"One thing was certain though—Greenville, North Carolina, had made its mark on the National Open," Reynolds May said.

less pan. That round and the third were the only ones that could have been awarded the Pittsburgh Kid.

Gradually Louis increased the pressure, until, by the fourth chapter, he was dealing Conn considerable punishment with stinging left jabs and occasionally was crowding his lighter opponent close to the ropes and whanging him to the head and body with hard left and right hooks.

Billy tried fewer and fewer punches. Once, in the sixth, he slipped to one knee after taking a jolting Louis jab on the chin, but he bounced up without a count and tried to grimace cheerfully at his pursuer. But it was a sad effort.

Apparently sensing the kill, Louis went out to finish it in the eighth. For the first time, the men in his corner sent him out with sharp ejaculations of impending victory. The end came with stunning suddenness at 2:19 of the eighth round. As they came together in a neutral corner the big Negro whipped a right cross to the head that buckled Conn's knees, then, the great finisher that he has always been, he whanged another right to the jaw that started Billy down, and brought across a left that dumped him on the canvas.

Conn struggled as Referee Eddie Joseph took up the count with the official timekeeper, but at the final sweep of the official's right arm the Pittsburgh Kid had only succeeded in propping up one elbow. His eyes were glazed and unseeing as his handlers rushed across and helped him to his stool.

For defending his title successfully for the 22nd time, Louis figured to draw approximately $577,700 as his end of the purse. Conn's share was approximately $289,000.

Purchase Of Indians Nearing Completion

Cleveland, June 20—(AP)—Baseball exhibitionist Bill Veeck laid plans today for rejuvenating and "dressing up" the Cleveland Indians, as sale of the tribe to a syndicate headed by the 32-year-old ex-Marine appeared imminent.

Veeck, who fired Milwaukee fans with unusual added attractions during a five-year ownership of the Brewers, reported he placed in escrow yesterday "a considerable amount of money and a written proposition which we consider a legitimate, fair offer for purchase of the Indians."

The Marine veteran said his group

Sports

Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals, whose singing talents are confined mainly to the bathtub, were humming the same tune today—and it sounded suspiciously like the song entitled "Coming in on a Wing and a Prayer."

Searching frantically for another starting moundman to ease the pitching burden of his overworked staff, each perspiring pitcher received a much-needed lift yesterday when Joe (Brooklyn) Hatten and Ted (St. Louis) Wilks, a pair of pitching problems all season, came through with handsome hurling exhibitions by bringing victory to the Dodgers and Cards, respectively. Both Durocher and Dyer were keeping their fingers crossed praying that their heretofore erratic moundmen have finally hit their stride.

Hatten, highly touted ex-sailor, whose stylish left wing was counted on the notch "at least 15 victories" for the Dodgers in this, his freshman year, finally flashed the form expected of him as he blanketed the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-0 yesterday on seven well-scattered safeties to enable the Brooks to retain their game-and-a-half National League bulge over the runner-up Redbirds.

It was only the third triumph against five setbacks for the 23-year-old Bancroft, Iowa, speedboy, who prior to yesterday's performance had been knocked from the mound in six of his eight starts.

Dyer's sign of relief resulted from the gilt-edged performance turned in by Wilks, whose serene arm had been a source of constant worry to the freshman mentor. The relief-sized Wilks, relegated to relief chores after failing to finish in each of his three starting assignments earlier this season, replaced faltering Red Barrett in the third frame of last night's tussle with the Boston Braves and held the tribe scoreless the rest of the way while the Cards went on to win 8-3.

Detroit's Tigers continued to crawl up close to the leaders in the American League by clawing the Philadelphia Athletics 3-0 in a twilight affair before 12,413 home rooters.

Held hitless for six innings by Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell, the New York Giants turned upon the Reds' freshman sensation in the seventh with a pair of damaging blows which, coupled with four walks and a hit batsman, produced four runs and gave the polo grounders a 4-3 victory.

DOUBLING UP
Hillside, Pa., June 20—(AP)—The housing shortage is pretty serious here, asserts P. W. Gordon; even the birds are doubling up.

Gordon said a robin, apparently pressed for a building site, constructed her nest on top of a wren box, laid her eggs and is now engaged in hatching them. The mother wren, with a brood of babies on the first floor, seems undisturbed.

Karnsak, Foley, Umphlett and Tucker got the Wildcats' four hits.

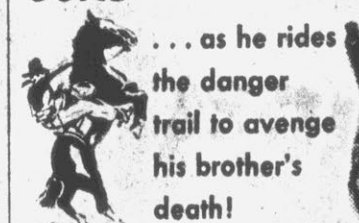

Cardinals 122 010 0-6
Wildcats 610 100 x-8

In the best game of the season Third Street's Tigers defeated the Yankees from the Training School Wednesday afternoon at the Training School by the score of 1 to 0. It is very unusual for younger boys to play such a low-scoring game. Bobby Flye pitching for the Tigers allowed only one hit and his mates gave him good support in the field. The Wildcats got only three hits. The winners scored the lone run of the game in the 11th. John Sideris walked and scored on Watson's single after going to third on Odum's single.
