Powers In House Angry Over Ban

"None For Russia" Tag Looms For American UNRRA Contribution Because Of Russian Refusal To Admit U.S. Newsmen To Check On UNRRA Operations

By WILLIAM F. ARROGAST Washington, June 25—(AP)—A "none-for-Russia" tag on this country's $465,000,000 final contribution to UNRRA became a definite possibility today.

President Truman's disclosure that Moscow has balked at letting American correspondents report on the relief agency's activities in two Soviet republics sent influential House members into an angry huddle.

They tried before but failed to ban the use of United States funds in nations which refused to give American press and radio representatives free access to UNRRA news.

Finally they settled for a provision requiring the President to seek through "appropriate channels" to obtain admission of American correspondents to recipient countries.

"Apparently we did not go far enough and will now have to get tougher," Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) told a reporter. "It may be that the House now will be willing to insist that no UNRRA funds supplied by the United States be used in countries which won't allow our reporters to go inside and find out how the money is being used."

Brown was one of the leaders in the previous fight to put a "no reporters no money" proviso into UNRRA legislation.

The final $465,000,000 American allotment to the UNRRA fund is included in a deficiency appropriation bill scheduled for House consideration late this week. It will bring this country's total contribution to $2,700,000,000.

Brown said he was unable to see why Russia refused to permit American newsmen to check on UNRRA operations.

MINISTERS TO RENEW STUDY OF PROBLEMS

List Includes Ten Items On Which Decisions Have Been Deferred

Paris, June 25—(AP)—An American informant said the foreign ministers council met today with nothing on its agenda.

It was thought possible, although no confirmation could be obtained, that the representatives of the United States, Russia, France and the United Kingdom intentionally left their agenda open to enable them to return to the crucial Trieste issue, which is believed blocking the writing of the Italian peace treaty.

One conference source said the Russian delegation was noticeably postponing decisions of relatively small questions until the Trieste problem, on which the Russians were believed stalling everything, could be decided.

Deputies of the foreign ministers drew up a list of ten problems attached to the Italian treaty on which the ministers have deferred decision.

The list, which will be submitted at the afternoon session, are the Dodecanese Islands; the Italian-Yugoslav frontier; personal injury by Italians to allied nations; reparations; compensation for damaged United Nations property; Italian assets abroad; compensation for expropriated allied property; the French-Italian frontier; Italian colonies; and surplus Italian naval units.

Russian and U. S. opposition to a French proposal for internationalization of the disputed city of Trieste dimmed today the prospects for an early compromise solution to the key issue blocking peace treaties for Italy and the Balkans.

As the foreign ministers of the Big Four assembled for another try at examining the remaining differences preventing completion of peace pacts for Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria, American sources voiced doubt that the French plan for Trieste—claimed by both the Italians and the Yugoslavs—would be adopted.

YADKIN DAMS UNDER DEBATE

Flood Control Project In Hearing Before Senate Group

Washington, June 25—(AP)—North Carolinians were debating today at Senate Commerce Committee hearings the $7,104,000 proposal to start construction of Yadkin River floods by four dams on the upper Yadkin.

Opposition from landowners of Caldwell and Wilkes Counties who do not want dams built at Upper Wilkesboro, Wilkesboro, and near the mouth of the Reddies river will be presented by W. H. Strickland of Lenoir.

William M. Allen of Elkin said yesterday he'd have Yadkin Valley citizens at the committee again today to speak their pieces in favor of the project recommended yesterday by army engineers as the first step of a comprehensive program for the Yadkin-Pee Dee rivers to cost approximately $99,000,000.

Acting Chairman Overton (D-La.), serving in the absence of Senator Bailey (D-N.C.), who is ill, has suggested the committee limit approval to the part of the project immediately proposed—the four dams on the Upper Yadkin—rather than adopt the complete river plan recommended by engineers.

Cost of the individual dams proposed now has been estimated by army engineers as $2,180,500 for the Wilkesboro site; $2,085,500 for the Upper Wilkesboro; $1,006,700 for one dam on the Reddies, and $811,900 for the other.

Browder Departs London For U. S.

London, June 25—(AP)—Earl Browder, former head of the Communist party in the United States, left for New York by air today, after two days spent in security custody imposed by the British government. The plane is due at La Guardia Field, New York, between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m. EST, tonight.

The airline spokesman said Browder returning from a visit to Moscow, was escorted to the ship by British security officers, who had held him incommunicado since his arrival Saturday night, and was placed in custody of the ship's commander, Capt. C. T. Robertson. The British-imposed ban on interviews or other communications with the deposed boss of U. S. Communists, was enforced up to the moment of departure. He was not brought from his place of detention in security police barracks until shortly before the takeoff.

NON-HOUSING CONSTRUCTION CUT BY ORDER

CPA Administrator Reports Non-Essential Building Curbs Effective

Washington, June 25—(AP)—More than $1,370,000,000 worth of non-home building has been okayed by the Civilian Production Administration controls went into effect in March.

A Civilian Production Administration report disclosed today. It showed that in the first 11 weeks of the order designed to curb such building in order to make more materials available for new homes, there were 31,457 approvals for store, factory, office and other non-housing construction and 14,971 rejections.

However, CPA Administrator John D. Small said that ratio has been reversed this month. A cutdown in non-residential approvals was ordered May 29 when it developed that materials were being used up faster than they were being produced.

The cutdown resulted too, other officials have said, from complaints by Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt that the volume of non-residential building was jeopardizing the homes-for-veterans program.

Small's statement declared, however, that "inquiries and applications" for non-housing construction totaled more than 500,000 and that CPA turned back some 450,000 of these "before they reached the formal application stage."

Only the remaining 10 per cent, he said, reached CPA for a decision whether the projects were essential and non-deferrable.

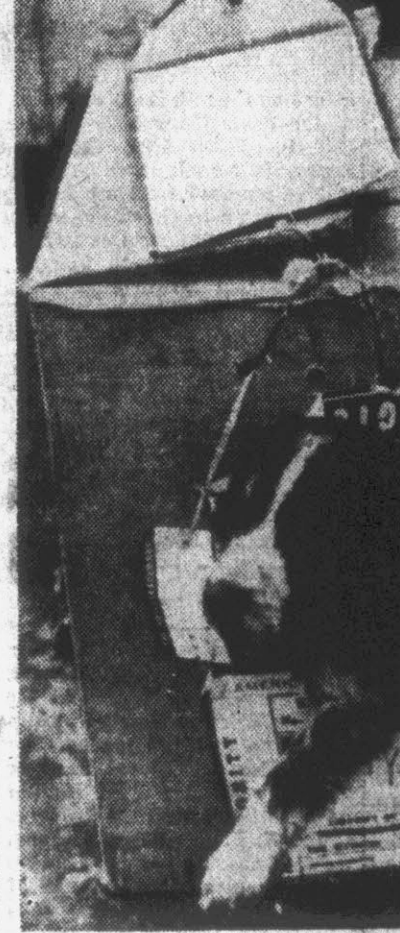

Small asserted that the 71 citizens' construction committees which advise CPA field offices on construction requests have been doing a "difficult job patriotically and well."

"They are not infallible and some mistakes are unavoidable but, country-wise, their mistakes have been few," he continued. "Almost every action that has been criticized has been found upon investigation to have been warranted by the facts."

Congress Fears U. N. Deadlock Over Atom

Lawmakers Emphatic A-Bomb Will Be Kept Secret Until Adequate Controls Are Set Up; Rebuke Moscow's Charges

Washington, June 25—(AP)—The threat of a United Nations deadlock over atomic energy control followed by a global atomic arms race stirred Congress today as the result of Russia's blunt "do it our way" approach to the problem.

Leading lawmakers declared emphatically that this country is not going to surrender its O-bomb secrets until tested international controls are set up—something that the Soviet plan does not appear to guarantee.

A charge by the Communist paper Pravda that the American plan for international control of the weapon "reflects evident striving for world rule" provoked sharp and bitter counter criticism from members of the Senate's special atomic committee.

Calling the charge "ridiculous," Senator Russell (D-Ga.), a committee member, told a reporter he believes "the Russians should stop judging all other nations' motives by their own selfish attitudes."

"Nobody in the world has ever offered to give away so much for so little," the Georgia senator declared. "The Baruch plan is a generous proposal in which we offer to give away a development we bought with our genius and our money. All we ask in return is protection for the world and ourselves against its use for destructive purposes."

"I am bitterly opposed to revealing one iota of information until adequate international controls are set up," he said. (Continued on Page Four)

Bill Falls Short Of Administration's Goal, But Less Stringent Than Was Expected; Presidential Approval Believed Forthcoming; Leaves Price Controls Intact Over Meat, Butter, Cigarettes And Gasoline

WASHINGTON, June 25—(AP)—Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the House Banking Committee today expressed belief that President Truman will sign the compromise OPA bill worked out last night by a Senate-House conference committee.

In his opinion, Spence said, the bill is workable.

The Kentuckian, who has battled for months for continuation of some price control law, made this statement to newsmen as the House convened two hours earlier than its usual noon meeting time for a session which probably will see a showdown vote on the OPA compromise.

EXTENSION OF DRAFT PASSES HOUSE TODAY

Compromise Measure Goes To Senate; Service; Pay Increase Approved

WASHINGTON, June 25—(AP)—Here are the major provisions of the new selective service legislation passed by the House today and sent to the Senate:

- 1. Draft Age Limits—19 through 44.
- 2. Length of service required—18 months.
- 3. Fathers—May 1 of be drafted. Those now in service may apply for discharge after August 1, 1946.
- 4. Duration of act—until March 31, 1947.
- 5. Pay increase—50 per cent for lowest grades, ranging down to 10 per cent for highest officers.

Under the Senate-House compromise, the pay increase bill was divorced from the draft extension bill and handled separately.

Washington, June 25—(AP)—Compromise legislation extending the draft law until next March 31 but prohibiting the induction of 18-year-olds was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

The roll-call vote was 259 to 110. It came after a War Department announcement that the Army plans to draft no one in July and August.

The bill permits the induction of non-fathers between the ages of 19 and 44, both inclusive; limits the length of service of drafted men to 18 months; puts ceilings on the size of the armed forces, prohibits the induction of fathers, and allows fathers now in service to obtain their discharge upon request after August 1, 1946.

Eliminated in the give-and-take of compromise between the Senate and the House was a House provision prohibiting any inductions before next October 15 and banning the drafting of 19-year-olds as well as 18s.

The Senate had voted to draft 18 and 19-year-olds. The present draft law expires on June 30. The Senate originally had voted for an extension until next May 15 and the House until February 15.

Before approving the compromise, the House unanimously passed and sent to the Senate a compromise bill raising to the pay of all service personnel.

UNION STARTS PURGING REDS

Furniture Workers To Attempt Severance With Left-Wingers

Philadelphia, June 25—(AP)—A move to rid the CIO-United Furniture Workers of America Union, representing a claimed 20,000 members, of "communists and left-wingers, was underway today. George Bucher, president of Local 37, reported.

Bucher told a reporter that 53 locals had been invited to attend a conference in Washington Saturday that may lead to a move for affiliation with another union.

"We're going to put this situation up to CIO President Philip Murray," Bucher asserted last night. "We want to disassociate ourselves completely from this communist-controlled group, possibly through affiliation with another that has jurisdiction in the field."

"And I believe that Murray has authority, through the national CIO office, to call a special convention of the UFWA to adopt a provision barring communists from office as the Utility Workers Organizing Committee (CIO) did recently."

Bucher declined comment on the possibility that the UFWA may consider separation from the CIO at the Washington meeting.

Attacking the union's recent convention at Detroit, Bucher said it resulted in "nothing but dissension and discord."

The left wingers elected Max Perlow (of New York) secretary-treasurer, and when they elected Ernie Marsh (of Los Angeles) national director of organization the right wing saw the handwriting on the wall and declined to run for any other office.

The result is the union now is a lock, stock and barrel Communist-controlled except for President Murray (of New York) who supported

Hoey Sees Early End To Tobacco Control

Washington, June 25—(AP)—Senator Hoey (D-N.C.) predicted today that tobacco and tobacco product price controls will be removed soon despite agreement of a congressional conference committee to retain them.

Hoey told a reporter the Department of Agriculture has stated controls on tobacco are not needed and the committee action giving the power of keeping or lifting such controls to the Secretary of Agriculture will decentralize tobacco soon. He said he did not believe this will be done by next week.

The conferees—representing both the House and the Senate—agreed to a program calling for specific quantities of lower cost clothing.

1. A half-to so-called cost absorption on such things as autos, refrigerators and radios.

2. A requirement that average unit cost increases since 1941 must be reflected in all price ceilings.

Last night's session was forced by widely varying extension bills passed separately by the House and Senate.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow Washington, June 25—(AP)—When a man says "I make so much a year," just say to him: "Sure, but how much in take-home pay?" That take-home pay tells the story in 1946. The take-home pay of America's most important government officials is not what it used to be. True, a job which paid $15,000 a year, ten years ago still pays $15,000. But, because of higher taxes, the official who made $15,000 in 1936 took home more than the official making $15,000 today. And when the 1946 official gets his take-home pay home, he can do less with it than the official of 1936. The reason: Higher living costs. Living costs have risen at least 36 per cent since 1936, according to government figures. But at this time—when living costs and taxes are up and salaries generally have risen—top government officials' salaries have remained the same. (The salaries of government workers making under $10,000 will be raised 14 per cent, starting July 1.) This story will show, by comparison, what has happened to top government pay. If the examples given...

THE WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. For MacKenzie Pravda's outburst against the American atomic control plan has brought the to-be-expected reaction—a re-statement of our determination to keep such secrets as we can until unbreachable safeguards have been set up against boomerangs, and an expression of belief that the Russians are judging other people by themselves. There is resentment that America's goodwill is not accepted at face value; that we are accused of desiring world domination in the face of our altruistic record. Although admittedly working in our own interest in attempting to set up controls before every nation, large or small, becomes a potential threat to peace, there is bitterness that we should be expected just to give up, without quick pro quo, the fruit of the expenditure of billions of dollars and the greatest concentration of changed genius in history. Even the British and Canadians, who contributed in every way they could, have not expected the United States to yield information which is peculiarly theirs. But of course the British and Canadians do not foresee a time when they might be seeking to expand military ideology at the danger of a clash with the capitalist world. However, the point is that the actual circumstances surrounding the prospects for atomic control reduce today's argumentation to the status of mere fulmination. These are the sketches of opening skirmishes. The truth is that control of atomic power involves the same principles as control of war itself, no less: that neither is likely to come without the other; and that many years, with great changes in the attitudes of both Russia and the United States, are likely to come first. Bernard Baruch, with his singular ability to strike to the heart of a problem, hinted that any ultimate control plan might develop into an over-all peace formula. He was assigned merely to present a plan for atomic control. Others are assigned to the peace job. Otherwise the Baruch report might have placed greater stress on this angle. Since any really workable control plan would need merely the substitution of 'implements of war' for the words 'atomic bomb' to accomplish the entire desire, a great many observers are wondering if a concentrated 'Manhattan project' aimed at overall peace might not have been the better procedure.

Proclamation

Whereas, the President of the United States has warned that "more people face starvation and even actual death from want of food today than in any war year, and perhaps more than in all the war years, combined," and Whereas, the President has expressed his faith that "the conscience of the American people will not permit them to withhold or stint their cooperation while their fellow-men in other lands suffer and die" and Whereas, the American people have food to share because this country enjoyed a near-record production of food in 1945, and a record crop of wheat, and Whereas, disease and pestilence, brought by food shortage threaten the health and peace of the world, and Whereas, the Emergency Food Collection gives every American an opportunity to help prevent famine overseas. Now, therefore, I, J. H. Boyd, Jr., Mayor of Greenville, N. C., call upon all citizens of this community and all religious, educational, patriotic, civic, fraternal, business and labor groups to cooperate in this collection of canned food and cash contributions for the purchase of UNRRA for free distribution to starving people. In witness thereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the city of Greenville to be affixed on this 24th day of June 1946. J. H. BOYD, JR., Mayor of Greenville.

She lived a model Christian life as a daughter, wife, mother, neighbor and friend, always doing deeds of kindness and love, trying to help others live that better life, which brings peace and happiness.

Her home was a lovely place to go in time of joy or sorrow as she always helped to comfort and help with her strength of good and right living.

God blessed her to live 90 years. Truly He was with her always. Her life was a beautiful example of a Christian, visiting the sick, helping the unfortunate, bringing cheer and good will to all, looking for strength from God to help her.

Yes, we shall miss her here on earth. She has lived such a beautiful life. We always cherish her memory, and strive to live that kind neighborly life she showed; doing deeds of kindness and little words of love, making here as she would have us live.

Women IN THE CHURCH by Mary Fowler

An "overture" was approved by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. meeting recently in Atlantic City, N. J., which opens the way for the ordination of qualified women as ministers within that communion. The proposal now "goes down" to the 268 presbyteries throughout the United States and must be approved by two-thirds of them before it can become church law. It will take a year or more before the vote is tabulated, and it is known that there will be opposition to the measure in some of the presbyteries.

Sixty-two national women's clubs, representing thirty-one nations, are in the process of organizing "international correspondence groups" for the purpose of aiding world peace. The worldwide project is under the auspices of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The individual clubs in the plan have the following program: contact a foreign club; adopt and correspond with a foreign club for one year; correspond regularly with women in foreign countries; prepare materials for cultural exchange; study the "adopted" country. Eventually the plan will include an exchange of college scholarships and fellowships among the national clubs.

"Building family life upon an enduring basis should be one of our chief objectives in the post-war world," says Miss Katherine P. Leir, root, of the U. S. Children's Bureau. "The impact of the war on families and children resulted in increased tensions and strains and deprived many children of normal home life. Sound employment policies, good housing, social security and the efforts of churches and community agencies to strengthen the cultural and spiritual foundations of family life are essential if the home is to play its part in a free society."

The Methodist Church of Brazil—founded by North American missionaries and made an independent church in 1930—is soon to establish an Order of Deaconesses. The women will be teamed to assist in church work, in social service, in education, and in nursing. The Church has 200 ministers, 233 parishes and 30,000 members in Brazil.

Another Clean Sweep For Greenies In Double Header

Locals Continue Drive As Cubs Bow 4-3, 5-2

Teamwork Displayed As Greenies Out-Hit, Out-Play Fayetteville; Gaining Steadily On Clubs In Upper Bracket

By BERT MOYE
 Manager Virgil Payne's Greenies continued their march up the ladder in league standings when they won both ends of a twin bill from Fayetteville Cubs here last night. The opening tilt 4-3 and the second game, a seven-inning affair 5-2. The double win the Greenies placed them with one game of the fourth place Goldboro Bugs, who lost their game with the Tarboro Tars last night.

In the second game Tommy Lee was master of ceremonies as he held the Cubs to five hits in the night-cap. The Cubs did all their scoring in the first frame when Johnson and Mustal singled, Anderson sacrificed and Bolduc hit a line drive to Payne, who erred the ball with Johnson and Mustal scoring as a result. Both runs were of the unearned variety.

Greenville came back in the first frame to score one run when Joe Parise singled, Merle Blackwell walked, and Verne Blackwell doubled to bring Parise home. The Greenies knotted the count at two all in the fifth frame when Parise tripled and came home on Ray Carlson's single. The Greenies' big inning was the sixth frame when they scored three runs to put the game on ice. Payne reached first as the result of Bolduc's error, Narrown singled, Ranweiler walked, Lee singled to score Payne, Parise was hit by pitcher Starret forcing in Narrown, and Ranweiler scored on a passed ball by catcher Book.

Greenville journeys down to Fayetteville to meet the Cubs there tonight, but they return home Wednesday night when they meet the Kingston Eagles at 7:41 at Guy Smith Stadium.

Yankees New Skipper Earns Spurs Hard Way

By JACK HAND
 (Associated Press Sports Writer)
 Bill Dickey is earning his manager's spurs on his first western jaunt as New York Yankee skipper, picking up 3 1-2 games on the front-running Boston Red Sox with a revitalized lineup.

The trip isn't over yet and the Yankees have a rugged afternoon date today with rapid Robert Feller. But seven victories in 10 starts comes under the heading of good news in Larry MacPhail's swank, Fifth Avenue office.

Probably the most important development of the western swing has been the "arrival" of Floyd (call me Billy) Bevens as the No. 2 man on the pitching staff, right behind Spud Chandler. Although Red Ruffing remains unbeaten with five straight decisions, it is evident the veteran can't be called upon more often than once a week.

Bevens has gone well in the Midwest, where he topped St. Louis and Chicago before shutting out Cleveland 1-0 in last night's contest. Last night Bevens got a "break"

Boston played in Detroit but could get no better than a 5-5 tie in a twilight contest called after nine frames because of darkness. As a result their margin over the Yanks was sliced to 6 1-2 games.

Chicago outlasted Washington 12-7, in a night game marred by seven errors, coming from behind twice to give Al Hollingsworth his first decision in a White Sox uniform.

Brooklyn boosted its National League lead over idle St. Louis to three games by outscrambling Cincinnati 6-5, in 13 innings. Rookie Carl Furillo singled home Dixie Walker with the winning run to climax an uphill struggle.

Ed Wright hurled the Boston Braves to their fifth straight triumph, a neat five-hit shutout of Chicago, 5-0.

All-Star Managers

Aubrey Shackleton of Tarboro today announced that the sportswriters of the Coastal Plain League have selected by vote Harry Souzas, manager of the Rocky Mount Rocks, and Bill Herring, manager of the Goldsboro Gold Bugs, to be rival all-star managers on July 15, when the game will be played in the town leading the league on the morning of July 5.

Each manager will pick four players from each club.

The vote: Northern Division—Souzas, 2; Dickens, 1; Kardash, 1. Southern Division—Herring, 2; Rogers, 1; White, 1.

BOYS LEAGUE BASEBALL

After leading for most of the game the Yankees from the East-end lost another close game to their arch rivals, the Tigers from Third St. The Yankees scored one in the same up after being ahead but in the last inning the Tigers won the game when Bobby Flye doubled, went to third on Scott's bump and scored on Vainwright's hit to left.

Ayers, Louis Clark, Roberson and Bobby Bradshaw led the hitting for the Yankees with two hits each. Bobby Williams was the only Tiger to get more than one hit, he garnered two singles and a double.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By KARE L. DOUGLAS

IF WE FAIL IN THIS HOUR

We often hear, the statement that while Rome burned, the emperor Nero watched the conflagration from afar and strummed a lyre. When Russia was in the throes of the bolshevik revolution, the priests of the old Russian Orthodox Church held a national convocation. It was said that their chief topic of discussion had to do with the number of tassels a priest should have on his vestments.

The age in which we live is one of the most significant in world history. We may not be able with any degree of accuracy to pick out the particular events which will determine the future course of history. We may well be making too much of the discovery of atomic energy. Perhaps something else we regard now with comparative indifference may prove a century from now to have had more significance for world development than this or any other scientific discovery.

But that this is an age of social chaos no one can deny, and that social chaos is pregnant with possibilities of catastrophe everyone will admit who has read history with care. The world is starving—that is the most significant fact confronting humanity today. What are we going to do about it? Hungry men are desperate men. If we strum the lyre of selfish pre-occupation or discuss tassels of political expedience while men, women, and children starve, God will blow upon us the breath of his hot anger.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By KATHLEEN STOKEY
Washington — The other day a New Yorker wrote the Government Printing Office suggesting that the Congressional Record needed a face lifting.

Why not pep up the Record's appearance, he asked, using bold-face type for all headings and other eye-catching innovations? His proposal was politely, but decisively, turned down. The Record (averaging circulation 42,000 daily) remains one of the dullest-looking but liveliest publications in official Washington.

The reason is obvious: Its list of contributors ranges from the President of the United States to an amateur poet out in Connorsville, Ind.

The President, members of Congress and government officials get the Record free but more than 1,450 persons pay $1.50 monthly for cash subscriptions.

What do they get for their money? A complete recording of the "proceedings and debates" in the House and Senate, as well as articles on subjects as diversified as those in an almanac.

Each Senator and Representative has the privilege of "extending and revising" his remarks for the Record. This means he may lengthen, cut or correct what he says on the floor. He also may insert accompanying articles.

Most extensions appear in the appendix, which comprises about a third of the entire Record. Here you will find speeches, editorials, eulogies, newspaper and magazine articles, letters, essays, history jokes, recipes, tables (usually illustrating the evils or virtues of OPA) and poems.

Most careful revisers are Rep. Plumley (R-Vt.) and Rep. Neely (D-W. Va.). Most vitriolic insertions are penned by Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.).

Typical is a letter sent by Bilbo to "the most limicolous liar and no-forious scandalous ... radio commentator of today." Bilbo told him "You are like all rabble-rousing, strife-breeding Communists. ... You are just a dirty scandal-monger ..."

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) described the merits of Wisconsin cheese. Rep. Coffee (D-Wash.) included an account of the Lewis and Clark expedition. Rep. Doyle (D-Calif.) inserted a six-page "factual report" addressed to voters of his district and including a list of his speeches

Congress Fears ...

we have some irrevocable plan of inspection and I think the majority of Congress is in the same frame of mind.

The Georgia senator said he fears Russian insistence on the veto, renewed in the Pravda outburst, may deadlock U. N. atomic negotiations a view shared by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) another committee member.

Both said the result of ultimate failure to agree on international controls is liable to be a new armaments contest.

"If the Russians continue to maintain the position that they must have a veto over the operation of the control machinery," Mr. Johnson said, "an atomic bomb armament race becomes inevitable."

Pravda, the official organ of the Communist Party, charged that the American plan for gradual disclosure of secret processes as controls are set up and prove workable is an attempt to "clinch" the monopoly position of the United States in the production of atomic weapons for an indefinite period.

"This," it said, reflected a striving for "world rule" which "cannot succeed."

Senator Huffman (D-Ohio) said the Russians, as well as everybody else, ought to know from the American record in two world wars that this country wants no new boundaries nor reparations.

Powers In ...

lean reporters to check on UNRRA operations when all other nations have removed press bans in that respect.

Reporting to Congress on Russia's position, Mr. Truman said yesterday "satisfactory arrangements are in effect to permit American press and radio representatives to report without censorship on the UNRRA programs in all UNRRA receiving countries except the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics."

Senator Huffman (D-Ohio) said the Russians, as well as everybody else, ought to know from the American record in two world wars that this country wants no new boundaries nor reparations.

Ministers ...

They said the plan, under which the strategic Adriatic port city would be internationalized under the United Nations for 10 years, with its final sovereignty to be decided by plebiscite at the end of that time, was under study, but commented that similar plans in the past never had worked very well. This apparently was a reference to Danzig and Plume.

Non-Housing ...

refer particularly to race tracks and similar projects on which there has been much comment — was begun before the issuance of the control order and therefore could legally go ahead."

Duke Gives Degrees To Graduating Class

Durham, June 25 — (AP)— Duke University yesterday awarded degrees to 146 graduates during commencement exercises for which Rear Admiral Laurence Toombs DuBose, commandant of the Sixth Naval District, was the principal speaker.

Sixty-five graduating members of the Duke Navy V-12 program received commissions from Captain A. M. Kowalsky, Jr., NROTC commander.

Among the graduates were Marie Lovette Foote of Birmingham, Ala., and Gertrude Theodora of Hampton, Va., the first women to be graduated from the Duke College of Engineering.

"The love of freedom and the knowledge of how to use it for the benefit of mankind," said Admiral DuBose, "is more than equipment for waging war in the name of humanity."

Tobaccoists To Meet In Raleigh

Raleigh, June 25 — (AP)—The Tobacco Association of the United States, which controls the auction system in the nation, will meet here Thursday and Friday to set opening dates for markets in the various belts and adopt regulations governing the 1946 sales season.

The meeting will be preceded by the annual convention tomorrow of the Tobacco Exporters Association, which controls the leaf export trade. James S. Ficklen of Greenville is president.

The first TAUS session will be held Thursday morning, when the board of governors will meet to hear recommendations from allied groups as to market opening dates. The board's recommendations will come up for adoption either Thursday afternoon or Friday morning.

Among regulations scheduled for consideration are buyer allotments, sales time for each auction day, the rate and speed of sales, poundage limits, and other matters.

L. Lee Gravelly, Rocky Mount tobaccoist, is president of TAUS. The association's annual banquet, discontinued during the war, will be held Friday night.

Waiting is tough on us, too

For months we've been hoping to present each and every one of you with the new Packards you've ordered, and have been waiting for so patiently.

Last fall, the outlook was good. Packard was confident it would double its pre-war output in 1946. (The factory is equipped to turn out far more than that.)

Look what has happened!

Then came material shortages. Parts shortages. For reasons completely beyond its own control, Packard was able to keep its assembly line moving only nine days in the first quarter of this year.

In the meantime . . .

Our friends have kept calling us up and asking, "Hey! Where's that new Packard I ordered weeks ago?" Many of these are old friends—Packard owners since 'way back.

But to make life more complicated, everybody seems to want one of these grand new Packards. Over 65% of the people out to buy new Packards are now driving some other make.

Honest, it's gotten so we hate to answer the telephone or look our friends in the face. But . . .

Your patience will pay off!

One of these days, the shortage of parts and materials is bound to ease up. And when it does, those twin-assembly lines at Packard will really roll.

Anyway, you can depend on this:

As fast as the factory ships cars to us, we'll do everything we can to deliver yours at the earliest possible moment.

So, we hope you'll be patient a little longer. We're doing the best we can, and so are the folks at the factory!

Chapter 29

Whitney and Paul were standing beside Grey Goose's stall. It was nearly midnight and the stables were quiet except for the occasional restless moving of the horses. The good smell of the stables was warm and close about them.

Whitney tried to say something about Paul's going away but his words choked in her throat. For a moment it seemed to her that this tall quiet man beside her was almost a stranger.

"You and I will have to get acquainted all over again, Whitney." Paul's voice was matter-of-fact as his statement was startling. "We aren't the same two people we were when I went off to the war."

And suddenly Whitney knew he was right. Her childhood defenses of what she had thought she wanted during the weeks he had been home now faded her completely. She was bitterly ashamed of the situation she had brought about through her insistence on having her own way. She began to cry softly in the dark.

"Don't cry," he said gently. "Harder things than this have been worked out. It's only that you have changed and so have I. The old way of messing around—muddling through—isn't good enough now for either of us. I don't blame you, Whitney. But didn't I ever expect you to do that I might expect definite cooperation and first consideration when I came home—especially from the girl I came back to marry?"

"I see that now," she said miserably. "I kept thinking of myself all the time. And then I wanted to keep Gregory's friendship, not knowing he was knifing you in the back. I didn't know that until it was too late."

"I tried to tell you he was no good."

"I know," she stifled back more tears. "But I wouldn't listen to you—then."

Whitney's throat felt dry. She stopped crying. It swept over her that the best of her life was over now and that she'd better make the most of the next few minutes before she had to say goodbye to Paul forever.

"From now on I shall work very hard and concentrate on my career," she said disconsolately. "It will give me a better understanding of what a day's work means to men like you."

She could not see the smile on Paul's face in the dark. His voice was still stern.

"When I was in Honolulu the girls there certainly put themselves out to do everything they could for the men. Even in Japan today men are treated with consideration. I wonder sometimes if American girls don't take a lot for granted, expecting everything they want before they think very much about what their men are going to want at home after three years of fighting—and hell, generally."

A chill shot up her back—a curious shiver of premonition.

"I hope the new job is all you expect it will be, Paul," she said at last, trying to shake off the depression that was settling down upon her. "If we have to say goodbye, let's say it here. It is goodby, isn't it?"

"I'll have a couple of days at home before I go back."

His voice was noncommittal. Grey Goose came over to the edge of his stall and rubbed his soft nose against Whitney's arm. "I'll be out early in the morning," she whispered as she stroked the long, arched neck. "I can always count on you."

There was another long silence, broken at last by Paul who finally said, almost too casually, "Things don't always happen the way you expect them to, but I think I can arrange to see you sometime tomorrow. Maybe you could have luncheon with me in town."

"Oh, darling!" The words were out before she could stop them. "That would be wonderful! Of course I can. I don't know why we aren't still engaged—or are we?"

He waited, and a little shiffle from the end of the stall told him tears were again imminent.

"I started this mess, so I guess I'll have to get out of it as best I can. If you think we're still engaged, Paul, I'd like to have my ring."

The next instant his arms were around her and he was holding her tight, close to him, while Whitney was sobbing wildly, incoherently on his shoulder.

"There, there, darling," his voice was unsteady. "I can't kiss you when you go on this way—and I want to kiss you."

She kissed him.

"Then we are engaged?" she managed to gasp at last.

"And how we are! I shall bring your ring tomorrow. Did you finally find out you do love me after all, Whitney?"

A tear-drenched voice replied softly, "Of course, silly! I knew that all the time. It was just that I had a kid's idea I would make a great decision after you and my family realized I was no longer a child."

She laughed suddenly but the laugh was still shaky.

"It doesn't make much sense now as I look back at it, but I was very serious about it, Paul."

"I know you were, dear. But it isn't that complicated any longer. No one wants you anything but what you are now—entirely grown-up and going along the road with me all the way—thinking—"

"You are the grandest man in the world," she whispered.

Grey Goose gave up trying to get any more attention from his mistress and went back to his hay.

"Whitney," Paul said as they walked back very slowly through the gardens. "I'm not keen about engagements with or without rings. Think it over tonight. Maybe we'll give Polly the surprise of her life tomorrow!"

"I don't know. Polly is a very hard person to surprise with anything. But she does move fast—if you know what I mean."

"I'm just beginning to at long last, my sweet—and I think you are a delightful, unpredictable, absolutely adorable redhead!"

And then he kissed her again.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, June 25—(AP)—In one of the slowest sessions since last March, the stock market today proved unprofitable for a definite trend.

Rails and assorted industrials inclined to slip from the start while scattered favorites managed to edge forward on timid bidding. Irregularity persisted near the close with the ticker tape frequently at a standstill. Transfers for the full proceedings ran around 900,000 shares.

At the close corn, oats and barley were at their respective ceilings.

Grain Market

Chicago, June 25—(AP)—All grain futures held at ceiling prices today, after an opening selling flurry in oats temporarily knocked September and November deliveries from the ceiling. Absorption was good, however and within a short time the offerings dried up and all deliveries were back at the top. All corn and barley were bid at ceiling prices.

On June 6 Greenville's radio station WGTC celebrated six years of successful operation and service to the people of its primary and secondary areas in Eastern North Carolina. Operating on 1490 kilocycles with a power of 250 watts as assigned by the Federal Communications Commission, WGTC serves a population of 352,370 people in its primary and secondary areas. This area is composed of 72,877 families with over 37,830 radio homes. General Manager Billy S. Hodges said today.

listening audience of 85.4 percent Monday through Sunday, 6 a. m. to 12 p. m. Completely hemmed in by power stations and competing networks, this average is unique and reflects the listener loyalty established by WGTC among the people that it serves.

Future plans are indicative of the confidence, the ownership and management of WGTC have in radio and this area. Striving always to provide the best in radio service this station has already received a grant from the Federal Communications Commission for a FM station, which will provide static free listening, and enable the radio listener to obtain perfect reception at all times. The station is now in the process of completing the final engineering details prior to placing orders for equipment which will install a new station housed in the same existing facility, providing a coverage of 15,600 square miles with a 3,000 watt transmitter. This means complete coverage day and night of a radius from 58 to 60 miles in a complete circle with Greenville as a focal point.

Affiliated with the Mutual Broadcasting System and the Tobacco Network, WGTC enjoys an overall

members of its staff: Billy S. Hodges, general manager; Carl J. McKinney, commercial manager; Charles H. Whedbee, program director; Warren Palmer and Hank Tribley, engineering department; Charles H. Whedbee, Hank Tribley, Johnny Greene and Carl J. McKinney, announcers' staff; Mary Eakes, continuity; Margaret Richardson, traffic manager; Rachel Hawkins, bookkeeper, and William Lovett, custodian of the building.

The Greenville radio station gave unlimited time to war activities; its facilities are always available to those who would promote the progress and development of the section. In time of disaster the radio station is of incalculable value. If for any reason the schools should be ordered closed on account of flood, storm or fire WGTC is always ready to flash the information for the convenience of the public. The radio station is in constant contact with law enforcement agencies, police and fire departments and ready to render instant public service. It cooperates fully with the Daily Reflector and its news facilities.

Incidentally, considerable local talent has been developed on programs presented over WGTC, and Rubloff, the great violinist, and Claude Thurston, internationally known band leader, who appeared on programs over this station, paid high tribute to WGTC's facilities and exceptionally fine staff.

The Greenville station's connection with the Mutual and Tobacco networks provides the people of this part of North Carolina with the fullest coverage on international, national and state programs.

Three and one-half hours later Barkley beckoned 20 waiting reporters into the marble decorated room and announced the agreement.

Because of the many ceiling adjustments that will have to be made under the compromise version, the conferees inserted a provision giving OPA 30 days after July 1 to re-price articles still under control.

The conferees reached their own compromise on the hotly disputed issues of subsidies—government payments designed to keep down retail prices.

They voted to hold them to an even one billion dollars and to quit paying subsidies next April 1.

The bus plunged through a guard rail and caught fire on the Snoqualmie Pass Highway 50 miles east of Seattle at 8 p. m. last night, in an unexplained tragedy that scattered victims over the Rocky slope and trapped others in the burning bus.

Only a charred skeleton remained of the bus when rescuers removed the trapped bodies. Several of the injured were in critical condition

Charges By Chinese Disturb Marshall

Nanking, June 25—(AP)—Communist Leader Mao Tse-Tung's accusation that the United States was menacing peace in China caused grave concern today at the official residence of General Marshall.

The special U. S. envoy, who had been reported making some progress toward a government-Communist agreement, was non-committal but other American sources termed Mao's statement "outright propaganda."

Contrary to previous plans, China's peace committee held no sessions today. It had been expected to exchange views on unifying Chinese armies after reportedly agreeing on the only other two issues still before it—ending hostilities and restoring communications.

Retail Prices On Beer Given Hike

Washington, June 25—(AP)—The high cost of living hit beer today. OPA approved a retail price hike of a cent a bottle for the brew.

OPA announced its action and later issued an explanatory statement which said the order does not apply to beer sold by the bottle in restaurants or taverns and consumed on the premises. However, it was added, an increase of one cent a bottle shortly will be granted on such sales.

The increase amounts to 24 cents per case of 12 ounce bottles—if you can coax a dealer into selling a case.

Draught beer prices are unchanged, however, OPA said, because "the increase per glass is too small to reflect 1 cent."

But for brewers the agency granted an interim increase of $1.27 a barrel.

Snyder Takes Office As Sec. Of Treasury

Washington, June 25 — (AP) — John W. Snyder was sworn in today as the 53rd Secretary of the Treasury. He took the oath of office in the presence of President Truman, who remained to shake hands with the hundreds who attended the ceremony.

The oath was administered by Snyder's predecessor in the secretaryship, Fred M. Vinson, who became chief justice of the United States only 24 hours earlier.

Mr. Truman walked over from the White House to witness the officetaking of his long-time friend from Missouri.

Snyder, a former St. Louis banker who passed his 50th birthday last Friday, declared that "I shall do my best, and it is my fervent hope that I shall be equal to the task."

Speaking of government responsibilities, Snyder said that it must "reduce its expenditures in every possible way, maintain adequate tax rates during this transition period, and achieve a balanced budget for 1947."
