

PATTERSON IN APPROVAL OF ARMY REFORMS

War Department Takes Action Doolittle Board Commendations

Washington, June 26—(AP)—The army launched a military "new order" experiment today by narrowing social and other distinctions between officers and enlisted men without wiping them out.

It also decided it can get along with less saluting, except where a snappy salute counts.

Secretary of War Patterson put the new formula into army life when he gave carefully qualified approval last night to all but two of the 14 recommendations submitted by the Doolittle board, which investigated postwar GI complaints of too much caste in the service.

Patterson announced that the War Department is ordering:

1. Abolition of saluting except on military posts, in overseas occupied areas and on ceremonial occasions.
 2. Elimination of an existing requirement that officers wear distinctive uniforms, live apart from their men in garrison, and confine their social contacts to other officers.
 3. Granting enlisted men the same privilege as officers, effective July 1, in accumulating unused leave time, currently 30 days a year.
 4. Studies looking to a possible upward revision of pay schedules along with allowances for food quarters and travel.
 5. Measures to train officers better for leadership, and to overhaul the present system of promotions.
 6. Rewriting of regulations to define "essential" privileges of officers and to prohibit or minimize "possible abuses of authority and prestige."
 7. Efforts to improve the social facilities available to enlisted men.
- Announcing the War Department's action on recommendations made by the Doolittle board a month ago, Patterson rejected outright a proposal that the terms "officers" and "enlisted men" be eliminated entirely, and stressed there must be no weakening of discipline in the army.
- Patterson rejected also a proposal that reports of Inspectors General of the War Department should bypass field commanders. His reason was that no change should be made that would give the inspectors anything of "Gestapo" or under-cover status.

Quarrel Brings Flag Pole Sitter To Earth

Coshocton, O., June 26—(AP)—A lover's quarrel last night brought "mad" Marshall Jacobs off his 170-foot flagpole, which he ascended May 30 in quest of a world sitting record.

Today he had disappeared, and his fiancée, Miss Lorraine Cosmar went to the top of the pole and said she would stay there until he returned. They are scheduled to be married on the pole Sunday.

For 20 days Jacobs had clung to his perch, despite electrical storms and hot sun. But Miss Cosmar wanted to go to Cleveland today to take part in a radio broadcast and Jacobs forbade her to go.

She insisted, and then Jacobs came down despite her entreaties.

The steeplejack, who had planned to stay aloft until July 4, then went to his hotel room, took a bath and disappeared.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Washington, June 26—(AP)—The OPA bill which Congress may send to the President today will mean a lot of higher prices. They will mean higher living costs.

But how much higher prices? How much greater the living costs? The simple answer is: No one knows.

But first here is the background of the bill.

OPA automatically would die June 30 unless Congress voted to continue it. Congress knew that some kind of price control was necessary for a while, even though the war has been over for nearly a year.

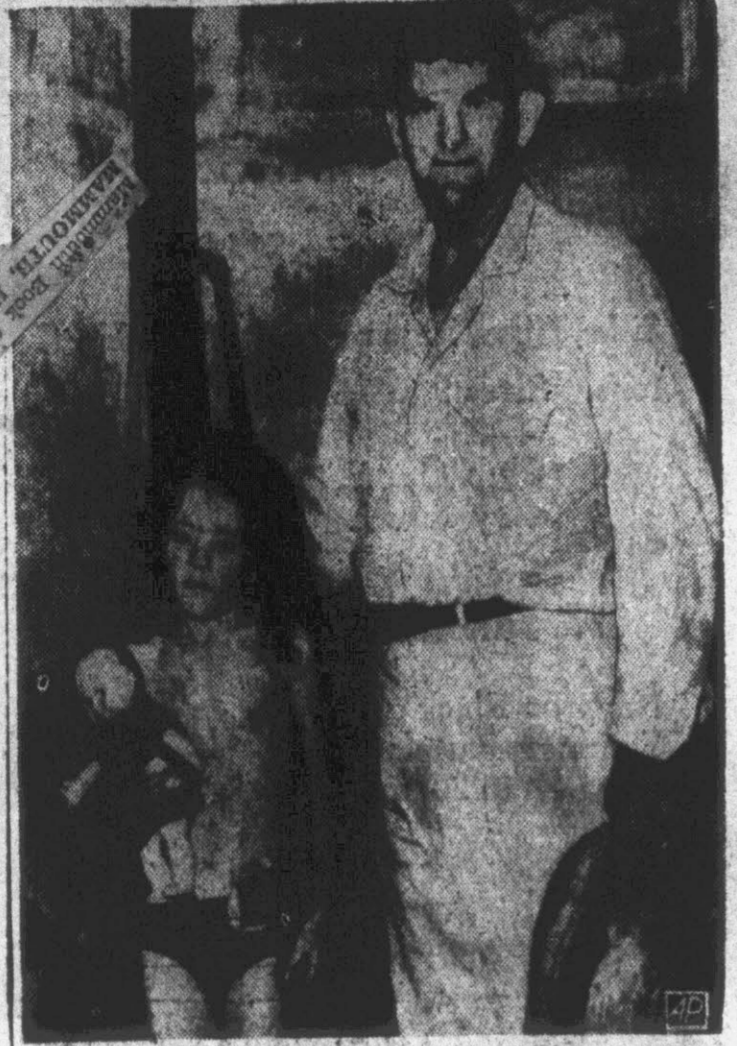

But how much price control? How strong should OPA be from now on? Those were questions Congressmen asked themselves. The House and Senate, separately, held months of public hearings to find out.

Business men went before the committees of both houses and said something like this:

"OPA price controls are keeping down profits and therefore production of the goods which people want to buy. Businessmen can't or won't produce unless they can make a profit satisfactory to them."

"The war is over. If price controls are removed, business will get

Servicemen Await Signing Draft Bill

Draft compromise and pay hike pass both houses; measure to mean discharges for many still in uniform; Truman expected to sign before July 1

By EDWIN B. HAARINSON
Washington, June 26—(AP)—With more than $50,000,000 at stake, the nation's men in uniform riveted their attention on the White House today to learn when the draft extension compromise and its companion pay increase measure become law.

The twin bills cleared final congressional hurdles yesterday in double-quick time after months of argument.

Public interest centered on the nine-month extension of the wartime draft beyond June 30 with non-fathers between 19 and 45 probably most concerned as possible draftees. Neither service, however has indicated any desire to draft anyone over 26. Other prime provisions of the measure include:

1. An 18-month limit on compulsory service.
2. No further inductions of fathers.
3. A clause that fathers now in service may apply for release after August 1.

But the men of the army, navy, marines and other armed services—from gold-brided officers down to private and apprentice seamen—were more interested in the time of the pay boost signing.

The increases—ranging from $25 a month for the privates up to $166.67 for the upper bracket generals and admirals—will become effective on the first day of the month following the presidential (Continued on Page Four)

RIFT BETWEEN TOBEY-TRUMAN

Washington, June 26—(AP)—A marked political coolness reported to have developed between President Truman and Senators who successfully fought his nomination of Edwin C. Pauley as Under Secretary of the Navy.

Capitol Hill is wondering whether the strained relations will be carried over into the political campaigns this year and in 1948 when some of those involved—including Mr. Truman—may be candidates.

Evidence that the President has not forgotten, or forgiven, the battle put up against his nominee came to light in a letter Senators said he wrote to Senator Tobey (R-NH). Tobey led the opposition to Pauley's confirmation.

While Mr. Truman apparently has not directed at others the sharp (Continued on Page Four)

Soviet Discloses State Penalties

Moscow, June 26—(AP)—Two formerly autonomous Soviet republics in South Russia have been deprived of their autonomy and many of their inhabitants have been resettled in other parts of Russia as penalties for wartime treachery, it was disclosed officially today.

The Crimean and Chechen-Ingush autonomous Soviet Socialist Republics, units of the Russian Soviet Federal Socialist Republic, were abolished as such and reduced to the status of provinces of the federation.

Total populations of the areas were listed as 1,500,000 but a large proportion of Russians and Ukrainians, who lived in the republics and whose loyalty was unquestioned, were not removed.

The banished residents included those who lived around the Grozny and Mosdok oil fields in the Northern Caucasus, near the high tide of the German invasion. The action was revealed in published decrees of the Russian Soviet Federal Socialist Republic. Precisely how many were uprooted and where they were moved were not announced.

REFERENDUM ON TOBACCO JULY 12TH

Farmers To Vote On Limiting Acreage; Control Means Higher Prices . . .

Henderson, June 26—Describing as "most democratic" the national referendum to be held on Friday, July 12, to determine whether marketing quotas will be continued on flue-cured tobacco, beginning on the 1947 crop, Fred S. Royster, president of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association, urged all growers in the six flue-cured tobacco states to go to the polls and vote according to their own convictions.

"The referendum gives all growers affected the privilege to an equal vote regardless of whether he produces one-half acre or 100 acres," Royster declared. "Every tobacco grower should make a thorough study of the favorable prices received for his crop since quotas have been in effect to keep production in line with the demand."

Royster said that quotas have increased the tobacco growers' income from an approximate 112 million to 513 million dollars. He also pointed out that in 1932, before marketing quotas were in effect, flue-cured tobacco sold for an average of only 11.6 cents per pound and when quotas were voted out in 1939, the price dropped from 22.2 cents for the previous year to 14.9 cents. The 1945 crop sold for an average of 43.7 per pound.

Approval of quotas will assure continuation of loans at 90 percent of the parity price to protect growers in the event tobacco does not bring a higher price. If quotas are not approved, the government is not authorized to provide loans for the 1947 crop.

As to the present supply and demand picture, the 1946 crop is expected to supply enough tobacco to equal world consumption and to (Continued on Page Four)

CHINESE REDS OFFER TERMS

Marshall Given Plan For Unsettled Points Blocking Peace

Nanking, June 26—(AP)—General Marshall has been handed a Chinese Communist proposal for the reorganization of China's army, last and most crucial unsettled point standing in the way of peace, a dependable source said today.

The same source asserted the peace committee of three, composed of Marshall and a government and a Communist representative, had agreed on the two other outstanding points—cessation of hostilities and restoration of communications.

The new Communist proposal was understood to be a long way from Chenissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's demands, which include requirement that the Communists give up certain strategic areas in North China.

To Kang Pao, newspaper of the extreme Kuomintang (Chiang's National Party) right wing, claimed the Communist plan made these four points:

1. Army reorganization should be limited to Manchuria.
2. All areas liberated by the Communists to remain in Communist hands.

Head Local Veterans Administration Office Explains Medical Care Plan

Declaring that there is considerable misunderstanding concerning medical care for ex-servicemen and women, Mr. James D. Walters of the local Veterans Administration office pointed out today that outpatient treatment and hospitalization are subject to restrictions imposed by law.

Mr. Walters, who is officer in charge of the VA's local office, said that many persons have the mistaken idea that any veteran may receive medical treatment and hospitalization and then send the bills to the Veterans Administration for payment.

"It's not as simple as that," he declared, "but it is sufficiently simple that a veteran who requires medical care for a service-connected disability or ailment may receive it promptly."

"The law is that all veterans with service-connected disabilities—that is, with disabilities that arose out of their service to the country or that were aggravated in the service of their country—shall be furnished complete medical care for such disabilities," the officer stated. "The law provides that a veteran with a service-connected disability is entitled to hospitalization or outpatient treatment for that disability. Veterans who have no service-connected disabilities may be hospitalized in VA hospitals or other federal hospitals under certain conditions."

Assassination?

Bangkok, Siam, June 26—(AP)—A reliable report today said medical evidence secretly studied by a board of 18 physicians supports to a considerable extent the theory that young King Ananda Mahidol was the victim of an assassin.

The 20-year-old monarch was found dead in his apartment June 9. The official report to Parliament the next day said he was shot and that the bullet went through the forehead.

There were numerous rumors, however, that the king either had committed suicide because of a thwarted love affair while he was a student in Switzerland or because of dissatisfaction with his role as monarch, or that he had been killed by reactionary royalists who disliked his democratic tendencies.

As a result of the rumors the commission was appointed to make an investigation. The commission ordered the body taken from its great golden urn in Dusit Hall for examination and x-rays were made to determine the course of the bullet.

ATOMIC GROUP SIDETRACKING VETO PROBLEM

UN Commission Optimistic Of Merging Proposals Into One Program

New York, June 26—(AP)—The United Nations atomic conference left the veto issue deadlocked between the opposite views of the United States and Russia today and headed for an amicable start on a plan aimed at ultimate world control and development of atomic energy.

When the last members of the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission had been polled yesterday for their views on separate control programs advanced by the United States and Russia, all but those two great powers were agreed there were broad measures of merit in both plans.

The United States has offered no comment as the commission sessions since the initial presentation of her program, and Russia made no reference to the American ideas in offering her counter-proposals.

Only Poland gave unqualified endorsement to the Russian plan, but it was generally agreed that the two proposals might be welded into a single strategic program to end the terrible threat of atomic warfare.

Ohio Farmers Strike In Protest Of OPA

Columbus, O., June 26—(AP)—The Ohio farm strike picked up momentum today and the master of the state grange declared the movement "ought to be a warning to Congress."

A group of 150 Lorain County farmers joined hands with the Ohio Marketing Quota Protest Association, which called on its membership to withhold all food from channels of distribution. The association claims 17,000 members in 40 of Ohio's 88 counties.

Twenty-four hours after the association called the strike in protest against Congress' failure to abolish the OPA and grant other concessions to farmers, the effect of the campaign to cut off the flow of food was not immediately apparent.

UNRRA FUNDS RECOMMENDED

Appropriations Committee Okays $465 Millions For Fund

Washington, June 26—(AP)—A new $465,000,000 cash allotment for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was recommended today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The UNRRA item was the most controversial and largest of a group of miscellaneous appropriations in a $726,571,900 deficiency supply bill sent to the House floor for debate today.

It is expected to touch off a bitter wrangle over whether any of the money should be spent in Russian republics which do not allow American news and radio correspondents free access to news of UNRRA operations.

In addition to the new UNRRA funds, the bill carries $106,650,000 for the Office of Price Administration and $27,750,000 for the Selective Service System. Generally, the money is intended to tide over the agencies during the current fiscal year and meet anticipated shortages in the next year.

The bill also cancels $3,065,486,427 in appropriations previously granted for war activities, mainly for the army and the navy. The new cancellation (Continued on Page Four)

Democratic Leader Barkley Says Compromise OPA Measure Is "Best Bill Possible Under The Circumstances;" Bill Unlikely To Return To Committee For Revision

Washington, June 26—(AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley told the Senate today that the compromise OPA extension measure is "the best bill possible under the circumstances."

He asserted that it contained "imperfections." At the same time he called upon his colleagues to follow "the lead of the House and accept the legislation as put together by a joint committee which worked out differences between the two branches."

In its present form, the bill would extend the life of OPA until July 1 of next year, strip the severity of many of its wartime controls over rising prices, but kept the ceiling on meat, poultry and dairy products.

A parliamentary ruling made it unlikely that Senator Wherry (R-Nebr) would even be able to make his motion to return the whole bill to the joint committee for further revision.

The ruling was made by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), the president pro tem of the Senate. As he explained the situation to the Senate, the conference committee's recommendations first must be voted up or down—although full debate is permissible before that vote.

If the committee report is approved, the bill goes on to the White House. Only if the report were voted down could any member have the right to move to ask the House for a new conference, and instruct Senate conferees to insist on inclusions of any particular amendment.

Ever before this ruling, a drive by Republican senators to send the bill back to conference with the House showed signs of folding up. (Continued on Page Four)

Jurist To Quit Jap War Trials

Tokyo, June 26—(AP)—Duties in Massachusetts make it necessary that Justice John Higgins resign from the international war tribunal and return to his home state, he said today.

He denied flatly that dissension in the court was responsible for his action.

He issued a prepared statement, saying:

"The death since my departure of my successor, acting Chief Justice Brown, and the illness of his successor, successorship being determined by law, makes it imperative that I return to my duties as Chief Justice (of Massachusetts) at the earliest possible date. When I took this assignment I was assured that the trial would be completed by September.

"The best opinion is that it can't finish before early 1947 and I could not when I accepted the appointment, or much less now, justify being away so long a period from my duties as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the state of Massachusetts.

"I have complete confidence in my colleagues, all of them are sincere and competent men."

Asked how all the evidence he has heard would be conveyed to his successor, Justice Higgins said:

"There have been only seven trial days. He can read the transcript. This trial will last at least a year."

Extradition Of Prisoner Delayed

Trenton, N. J., June 26—(AP)—Arthur Garfield Hays, counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, yesterday asked New Jersey Attorney General Walter D. Van Riper to recommend that the governor of New Jersey have no part of what Hays called the "barbaric chain gang system" of South Carolina, by refusing to sign extradition papers for John Collier, 33-year-old Negro fugitive.

Van Riper admitted, at the reopening of a hearing here, that Governor Walter Edge was not bound as the courts were to disregard the fairness of the South Carolina trial of the fugitive now held in the Essex County jail for extradition to Greenwood, S. C., from where he escaped in 1937.

Van Riper previously had said he "would like to do something for this boy but I don't believe I can." At yesterday's hearing he said though, that "this far only one side of the story has been heard," and that South Carolina would be asked if it wished to submit its position in the case.

Collier has said he was tortured into confessing minor thefts at the age of 17, and that the trial judge refused to accept an innocent verdict brought in by a jury but cloaked himself with the jurors before a guilty verdict was rendered (Continued on Page Four)

THE WORLD TODAY

An Analysis Of The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(For MacKenzie)

This world might be saved a lot of worry and possibly more serious trouble if Stalin would hire and take the advice of a good American newspaper editor, nationally-experienced politician, or public relations man.

I hear through Central European diplomatic circles that:

- 1—Moscow was much surprised and taken aback by the extent of American reaction to Russian activities in Iran; that Stalin couldn't understand what difference it made to us, and if he had anticipated the result, would not have considered the project worth the ensuing row.
- 2—Stalin said some time ago that Russia did not need "much more" to complete her "security" campaign; and that whatever this is may have been delayed in the hope that, first, America can be convinced that it is proper.
- 3—The Soviet actually desires to establish greater accord with the United States, that Stalin has said it must be done; that he sees little if any hope of a real accord with the British empire and, faced by the solidarity between Britain and America, has not been able to discover a practical means of combat-

Turnage-King Wedding

At 8 o'clock this morning in the Christian Church a pretty marriage was solemnized, the principal parties to the happy event being Mr. W. J. Turnage and Miss Mammie King.

The decorations of the church were in splendid keeping with such an occasion and most pleasing to the eye. From the ceiling across the pulpit were festoons of white and green from the center of which hung a mammoth horse shoe of white flowers. Both the pulpit and choir platform were covered in white, the latter being flanked with palms, ferns and pot plants.

Attending the bride were Miss Lena King, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Miss Vernessa Smith as bride's maid. Each of these ladies were gowned in white china silk and carried white and pink carnations.

The bride was robed in a handsome going away suit of blue tulle feta silk and carried bride's roses. Mr. Jesse Speight was the groom's best man.

The ceremony that made the couple man and wife was impressive, the soft strains from the organ adding solemnity to it.

Mr. and Mrs. Turnage received a large number of beautiful bridal presents. The couple left on the morning train for a bridal tour to Asheville.

Need Cooperation In Public Health

By CHESTER WALSH
Pitt County health authorities today suggested that householders and others provide containers for garbage and that covers also be used as a protection against disease-bearing flies and that the containers be placed so they may not be overturned by prowling stray dogs. The health department is making some demonstration with DDT, effective insect-killing spray, against mosquitoes and flies. They seek public cooperation.

Suggestion also was made that householders remove from their premises old cans, jars or other receptacles that hold water for mosquitoes to breed. A single family can breed enough mosquitoes in an

The Army Air Forces offers three major advantages in its drive for peacetime enlistments.

The opportunity to participate in rapidly advancing scientific research and development projects is one of the top advantages offered by the A.A.F. Good living conditions, with better food, clothing, quarters and recreating available under the peacetime system, is another inducement toward service in the Regular Army Air Forces. Increased facilities of AAF schools coupled with off-duty post service educational conveniences offers an unexcelled opportunity to prepare for the future.

In the field of radio, experiments were conducted during the war and are being continued today, which are bringing about new developments and increasing the uses of communication equipment. Increasing speed of aircraft, for instance, to nearly sonic proportions causes static interference to radio reception, and the project is therefore faced with an apparently never ending developmental problem. All new radio equipment as developed is tested in actual flight.

Thus the AAF is in need of many personnel to help perfect and develop all types of radio research, according to the AAF Recruiting Office at ORD, Greensboro, N. C. old can or jar that holds water to produce enough mosquitoes to make life miserable for an entire neighborhood.

The anti-hydrophobia dog quarantine ordered by the Health Department is still in effect. It is unlawful for dogs to run at large. Orders are that dog owners confine their canines to their premises during the quarantine.

Some neighborhoods continue to be pestered by an epidemic of fleas, distributed by dogs and cats. Some interesting information was revealed as a result of an article in this paper recently about Greenville's pests No. 1 and 2—stray dogs and cats. It was learned that numerous persons had driven their cars at night to the western part of the city, especially along unpaved streets, and dropped shoeboxes of new-born kittens on the street, or hurled out cats in paper boxes or otherwise.

Pitt County health authorities today suggested that householders and others provide containers for garbage and that covers also be used as a protection against disease-bearing flies and that the containers be placed so they may not be overturned by prowling stray dogs. The health department is making some demonstration with DDT, effective insect-killing spray, against mosquitoes and flies. They seek public cooperation.

GREENIES WIN STREAK HOLDS

Local Club Again Downs Cubs In Bid For Fourth Place

The Greenies continued their winning streak last night by again defeating the Fayetteville team by a score of 5-2. This made five consecutive victories for the local club, which has won ten of the last fifteen games they have played.

Johnny Foell, pitching for the Greenies, allowed seven scattered hits and struck out the same number of batters. Phillips, on the mound for the Cubs, allowed nine hits and struck out but two.

The game was sewed up in the fifth when Greenville scored two runs on a single by Hanawalter, a sacrifice by Foell, a triple by M. Blackwell and an error by Johnson. Kinston meets the Greenies in a doubleheader here tonight, and the Cubs are scheduled for a doubleheader in Kinston tomorrow.

Chicago Police To Check Story

Phoenix, Ariz., June 26—(AP)—Richard R. Thomas, 42-year-old painter who police says maintains that he killed Susanne Degnan and dismembered her body in Chicago, wrote a note in his jail cell early today in which Sheriff E. W. Roach reported "he said, 'I don't know why these people torture me because I can't remember every detail.'"
The note, written in pencil on a wrinkled piece of wrapping paper, was handed by Thomas to the night jailer, Roach said. It was unsigned.

"I never could remember everything when I was sick like that," the note read. "I get those awful feelings often, but when something bad happens then they are gone."
"There were two or three detective magazines here in jail with stories about the Chicago case," the note continued, "but I would not even read about it, so you see if I wanted to make up a story I could have read all the details x x x but as it is I was too frantic."

SIMON MOYE GOLF CHAMP

Wins Tournament At Country Club Over Boyd Moore; Prizes

Simon Moyer, Jr., won the annual club championship golf tournament of the Greenville Country Club by defeating Boyd Moore 9 and 7. Moyer shot brilliant golf to cop his first championship, while his opponent failed to exhibit the brand of golf he had displayed in winning his way to the finals. The tournament was the most successful that has been held in some time, with more than 50 golfers participating.

Henry Harrell won the championship of the first flight by defeating Bruce Baker. Solicitor Reddy Clark took top honors in the second flight by winning a hard-fought battle from Luke Herring, one up.

In the third flight, John Warner and W. W. Brown came up to the 18th tee all even, and Warner finally won out with a four to Brown's five.

Jess Moyer won the fourth flight, defeating Red Corbett, and Marvin Huneycutt took fifth flight honors by triumphing over L. S. Taylor.

The winners and runners-up in each flight will receive prizes to be given at a club dinner at a later date.

Social Security

Benefits are payable only to workers (and the families of workers) who are "insured"; that is, workers who have been employed long enough in private industry or business to have built up insured standing. In most cases this means about half the time between January 1, 1937 (when the program started) and the time the worker reaches age 65 or over.

However, the law shows special consideration for the children and the widow of an insured worker who dies. His children under 18 and his widow are eligible for monthly benefits even when the deceased worker was employed in covered jobs only about half the time during the last three years of his life.

There are two kinds of benefits—retirement and survivors. Retirement benefits are payable to the wage earner and his family when the worker retires at 65 or later. Survivors benefits are payable to the wage earner's family when the worker dies, no matter at what age he dies.

Monthly retirement benefits are payable to: (1) the insured wage earner when he is 65 or older and stops work; (2) his wife when she is 65; (3) his children under 18 (if in school and unmarried).

Retirement benefits range from $10 to $85 a month. The average retirement benefit is at present around $24 a month. In that case the worker's wife at 65 would get half as much, or $12, making $36 for the couple. A child under 18 (if in school) would get another $12. At present the average monthly payment to a widow with two children is about $47 a month; to a widow with three or more children $51.

Large Mexican Plane Crashes On Take-Off

Mexico City, June 25—(AP)—A four-motored plane (DC-4) of the Mexican Aviation Company (CMA) crashed today a mile from the end of the runway but none of the 42 passengers or four crew members had more than minor injuries. The plane, bound for Los Angeles failed to gain much altitude but the exact cause of the accident has not been determined.

Fire broke out in the plane while passengers were getting out but the airport fire department prevented serious effects.

The ship was one of three used in a new daily fast service between Mexico City and Los Angeles. Among the passengers were 25 U. S. citizens. Some of them continued to Los Angeles aboard another (American Air Lines) plane. The plane that crashed was in command of Chief Pilot Capt. Marcial Huerta Jones.

Strength FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

AVOID TRAFFIC JAMS EARLY

We had a great flood in our part of the country recently, and one of our highways was rendered impassible. A friend of mine drove his car to a place where the torrent was sweeping across the road and there, to his amazement, found a traffic officer. The man should have been back at a crossroads 3 miles east of the flood where he could have directed traffic along the detour and thus have avoided a troublesome traffic jam.

Most evils in life become overwhelming because we do not stop them at their source. Fundamental to the teachings of Jesus was his contention that the way to avoid gross evils was to deal with them while they were petty evils. He said the way to avoid murder was by declining effectively with anger and name-calling. He declared that adultery begins with the lustful look. He attributed most of life's untruthfulness to the widespread human tendency to exaggerate. All this is detailed in the fifth chapter of Matthew.

The time to settle labor troubles and international disputes is long before they reach the stage of conflict. The basis of all personal sin is selfishness. The way to avoid great evils is to direct energy along the highway of usefulness before we reach the torrent and become involved in a traffic jam.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By CHARLES B. HOLSTEIN

Washington—Two separate coal strikes again this year brought home the fact that the coal mining industry is a combination of two separate entities with little in common except John L. Lewis.

The soft coal (bituminous) miners and the hard coal (anthracite) miners are part of the same big AFL United Mine Workers of America, face similar occupational hazards and struck for substantially the same contract benefits. But they are as different fundamentally as the types of coal they mine. Different, too, are the effects of their strikes.

When the bituminous miners quit, the entire productive economy of the nation was threatened with paralysis. Blast furnaces and steel mills shut down. Automobile factories and other industries dependent upon steel suffered severe setbacks. Railroads began canceling runs to conserve fuel. Brownouts were ordered.

Nothing like that results from an anthracite shut-down—at least not at this time of year. Even in anthracite's big eastern seaboard markets, a hard coal strike right now is mostly just something to read about in the newspapers. Only if it lasted into the fall would the picture be likely to change.

That's because anthracite has become almost exclusively a domestic home-heating fuel. Home furnaces in Philadelphia, New York, Washington, and other eastern cities are shut down for the summer.

It wasn't always that way. Anthracite, the first underground fuel to be discovered in this country was once important in steel, in gas manufacturing, in railroad and other industries and was used in a lot more factories and home-heating plants than it is now.

It has been a growing sense of concern to the hard coal region that coke, oil, gas and even soft coal have steadily been cutting into anthracite markets.

So intense is the feeling in the anthracite area against competing fuels that residents have been ostracized and businessmen boycotted for using oil. The story goes that a hard coal Congressman was defeated for re-election once when constituents discovered he had installed a gas-fired boiler in his Washington residence.

Anthracite is perhaps the most concentrated fuel in existence, more so than gasoline. It is hard as rock, long-burning and smokeless and clean in comparison to bituminous, but it is also more expensive to mine.

An anthracite miner on the average goes hundreds of feet deeper than a bituminous miner in reaching the coal face, has a tougher time dislodging the coal when he gets there. He is inclined to look down a little on the soft coal miner as professionally inferior.
But he gives soft-coal miner John L. Lewis his loyalty when contract time comes around. Like his soft-coal brothers in the UMW, the anthracite miner it's "no contract, no work."

housewives mad in a hurry.
The provision would have removed all price controls from meat, eggs, poultry and butter July 1.
Yesterday the House finally agreed on a single bill which left out that provision but left in many others which will permit price rises in many directions.
The Senate takes up that same bill today. If it passes there, it will go to President Truman for him to sign into law or to veto. He'll have to act before June 30.
If he should veto it, Congress would have to decide in a terrific rush whether to pass it over his veto, let OPA die outright or pass some simple resolution continuing OPA, almost unchanged, a while longer.
Even if OPA were to remain just as it is right now, prices and living costs still would go up, although perhaps not so fast.
OPA for months has been easing up on prices in many directions and the effect of many of these actions may not show up for months.
To make a long story short—We're in for higher prices, with or without a strong OPA. The only difference is this: With a weak OPA, prices will go up faster.

The future sales of our tobacco will depend upon the availability of dollar exchange with foreign countries can use to buy tobacco produced and also upon our success in selling our tobacco in competition with tobacco produced in other countries.

In voicing his approval of the continuation of quotas, Royster said that "marketing quotas will maintain sound production policies and should place the tobacco industry in a better position to develop the largest possible outlet for tobacco that will maintain fair returns to the growers."

The referendum is being held in accordance with the recent amendment to the AAA Act of 1938, which directs the secretary of agriculture to call a referendum of growers to determine whether they want quotas continued. Growers may vote for quotas for three years beginning with the 1947 crop; for 1947 only, or against quotas.

A two-thirds majority of the growers voting must favor marketing quotas before they can be in effect.

criticism he is said to have voiced of Tobey and former Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes in that letter, some Senators have asserted privately that they feel the White House welcome mat was removed so far as they are concerned after their stand against Pauley became known.
Senators who saw the letter to Tobey told a reporter Mr. Truman wrote in vigorous language that the New Hampshire Senator and Ickes were responsible for the President's subsequent failure to induce some high type men to take federal posts because of the fear of similar fights against them. The letter was said to have described the criticism of Pauley as unwarranted.
Tobey had written Mr. Truman what the Senator called "a Macedonian cry" for more grain for poultry raisers in New England. The President was said to have reported, in effect, that he was a little weary of Macedonian ("help") cries from Tobey and that in a choice between grain for starving people abroad and for chickens at home he would choose to feed the people.

connected disabilities may be treated in a private hospital at government expense when there is no bed available in a VA or other federal hospital, or in cases of emergency. This privilege is not available for treatment of non-service-connected disabilities, except in the case of women veterans who may be treated in private hospitals at government expense.
Mr. Walters emphasized the necessity for prior authorization by the Veterans Administration of all types of medical care furnished by private physicians or hospitals. In cases of emergency, where authorization cannot be obtained in advance, VA approval must be sought within twenty-four hours after hospitalization or treatment.
A veteran with a service-connected disability who wants out-patient treatment by a private physician or hospitalization in a private hospital should get in touch with the regional office in Winston-Salem, explaining the treatment he needs and, if possible, the name of the doctor who will treat him. He may obtain additional information or assistance in completing an application at contact offices of the Veterans Administration or through the Hospital Saving Association or offices of the North Carolina Veterans Commission.
Veterans who wish treatment in a VA hospital should contact the VA hospital nearest their home. In cases of emergency, where the contact is by telephone, a doctor familiar with their condition should make the call. The Veterans Administration will accept collect calls from doctors relative to emergency treatment or hospitalization of veterans with service-connected disabilities.
For complete information in individual cases, Mr. Walters suggested that veterans contact the local Veterans Administration office located in the armory.

Pressure lessened in the fourth hour and extreme setbacks were reduced in a number of cases. Plus signs were in evidence here and there near the close but declines predominated. Sheriff's Posse Capture Convict Union, S. C., June 26—(AP)—Chasing the most sensational man hunt in 15 years of Union County history Sheriff Rochelle Boyle, his deputies and a posse of hundreds of armed men, cornered and captured a man who states he was Reatha Cummings, 23, half Indian, and an escaped convict from a North Carolina prison farm where he was serving a 50 year term on various highway robberies.

The 46 hour chase ended late yesterday afternoon when the fugitive was cornered in a small patch of woods approximately seven miles south of Union. Cummings was being sought in connection with the assault and robbery of C. C. Williford, rural merchant early Tuesday morning.

Cummings admitted to police officers late last night that he had assaulted and robbed Mr. Williford and that he had stolen an automobile belonging to a local citizen which was recovered late Saturday night after being abandoned in the vicinity of where Williford lived.

Officers are continuing their investigation of the prisoner and checking with North Carolina prison officials for all information on Cummings.

Backfire by Rufus Heed

Chapter 30
Two days later, at noon, Whitney was a radiant picture in her mother's wedding gown, with the lace her grandmother had worn at her wedding in the long veil which floated in billowing folds from the top of her red-gold hair. Polly was watching her with deep affection in her eyes. Whitney had been riaz about her sister, Polly had moved very fast indeed in the last two days! By some magic, she and a dressmaker from the village had managed the creation Whitney was wearing and just that morning Polly in some mysterious way had obtained orange blossoms for the bridal veil.

"You are beautiful, darling," Polly breathed as she stepped back to look at the lovely picture Whitney made. Suddenly her eyes misted with quick tears which she dashed away impatiently.

"I wish I didn't get so emotional at weddings—somehow they always make me feel so—"

"Alone," Whitney said in a breathless little voice. "I know what you mean." The sound of the wedding march came from a distance.

"I feel this minute as if I were the only person in a great empty space—as if no one in the world existed but Paul and me—"

"Hi, Whitney, look what I just found!" Spuds burst unceremoniously into the room, breaking the spell that for a few moments had drawn the two girls very close together. "Say, what goes on here? You are gorgeous, Handsome—but why do women always have to cry at weddings?"

"That's something a man would never understand," Polly returned gravely.

"Yeah? Well, here's something to items: "One tablespoon of macaroni cooked in salted water, (without cheese or butter); two lettuce leaves chopped — no dressing; one thin slice of dark bread—rye or whole wheat and seven raisins.

The above is a typical mid-day meal of Greeks, and the other war devastated and pliffed nations of the world are faring no better.

"Such food conditions do not make for peace and happiness, but on the contrary sow seeds of discontent and suspicion, which must eventually burst into flame of conflagration and conflict.

"The Emergency Food Collection, which is now conducting a campaign in Greenville, is doing its all to assist in eliminating the starvation conditions, and is calling upon all Christian, peace-loving citizens of this country to lend all possible aid by contributing tinned food or the funds with which to purchase foods.

Hotel Destroyed In Second Fire
Raleigh, June 26—(AP)—Breaking out for the second time in 12 hours, a fire at the Clyde Roberts Hotel one mile south of here, on Highway 15-A early this morning caused a total property loss of approximately $35,000 and destroyed the personal effects of 23 guests at the hotel, all of whom were rescued without injury.

According to Fire Chief W. R. Butts, the first call to the Roberts hotel came at 5:50 p.m. yesterday, when a small blaze was found in the boiler room and an adjacent rest room.

The fire department extinguished the blaze by 6:25 p.m. The first fire was thought to have been caused by faulty wiring in the building.

At 12:55 this morning, the fire department received a second call to the hotel, and arrived to find the entire southeast corner caving in flames. Water supply at the hotel was too far away for utilization by the fire department, Chief Butts said, and the hotel was completely destroyed.

"Whitney, will thou have this man . . . to love, honor and cherish—?"

"This man" was her man now and the words she was repeating after Uncle John seemed to wipe out the past, making only the future with Paul anything that mattered.

And then Paul was kissing her and their neighbors and families were all around them, talking at once, congratulating Paul, wishing them happiness, saving all the things people always say at weddings. And Mrs. Paul Scott was very happy.

A few hours later Mr. and Mrs. Scott were in a plane flying west.

"Will we have a house of our own?" Whitney asked, her head resting comfortably on Paul's shoulder. "I'm afraid I don't know very much about cooking."

"That doesn't matter, my sweet." Paul's voice was gentle in the traditional manner of all bridegrooms. "We'll live in hotels at first until we know how long we'll be in the west."

Whitney suddenly sat up very straight and her eyes were shining with a new light.

"You mean that we aren't going to live out there forever and forever!" she exclaimed.

Paul laughed.

"Something like that. I know what Random Polly means to you, dear, and yesterday I asked if I could return to the Washington office later. They said that had been their plan all along when this particular piece of work was finished."

Whitney smiled up at him as she slipped back once again to her resting place on his shoulder.

"Well, love isn't geographical. I learned that years ago when I was a child—but it's going to be swell to live at Random Polly and now have to sell Grey Goose."

"Dope," he said gently, holding her hand warm and chafing in his own until she fell asleep.

Self Ex-Commando After Prison Break

Sundown, Isle of Wight, June 26.—(AP)—Three hundred British paratroopers ransacked the wooded chalk hills of the Isle of Wight today for an armed former commando who has used all his wartime raiding skill to elude searchers since he fled Parkhurst prison 11 days ago.

Low flying airplanes, bloodhounds, police and troops all have tried in vain to trap the ex-commando, George Jackson, driving him from one corner to the other of the 147-square-mile island that guards the "narrow" to Southampton Harbour. The island's 88,000 residents have been terrified by a dozen robberies, a hatchet attack on one man and the theft of two automobiles.

consist of Indian government officials and department secretaries. The announcement followed rejection by the Congress party of a previous cabinet mission proposal for an interim government composed of representatives of India's various parties. The party objected to details of the representation. The rival Muslim League had accepted the plan. The statement said the cabinet mission would leave India Saturday to report to the British cabinet and Parliament.

Auto Production Far Behind Set Schedule

Detroit, June 26.—A total of 654,000 passenger cars, more than 1,680,000 below schedule, were turned out during the first six months of 1946, the Automobile Manufacturers Association reported today. General Manager George W. Romney reported that an estimated $1,500,000,000 in sales have been lost already this year and that additional loss is anticipated. The individual companies, according to Romney, reported to the War Production Board in 1946 schedules for this year which called for assembly and delivery to dealers of 2,320,000 cars by the end of June.

NEW COUNTY PRICE BOARD

OPA Head Said Old Members Not In Sympathy With Program

Raleigh, June 26.—The OPA area price control board in Greenville has been replaced "in the interest of better price control," according to Theodore S. Johnson, State OPA director. Johnson yesterday declined to comment further on the matter. Sources in Greenville, however, stated that the board was dismissed "because it was not in sympathy with the OPA program." J. B. Kittrell served as chairman of the Greenville board since its organization January 3, 1942. Other members of the board were J. L. Kilgore of Greenville and T. G. Worthington of Ayden.

When questioned yesterday as to reasons for the replacement of the board, Johnson refused to comment on the matter other than to state that the action was taken "in the interest of better price control." Reports from Greenville were that the board was dismissed on complaint of a district OPA investigator because it had not been performing satisfactorily in the interest of OPA price control. A new board was appointed, consisting of William J. Bundy, who was elected chairman; and Dr. Paul A. Toll, Edward W. Harvey, Jr., Claude D. Ward, and Frank M. Wooten, Jr.

No Quick Relief For Meat Crisis

Chicago, June 26.—(AP)—A virtual 32 pupils per class, increased teacher pay and an improved retirement system; expansion of the school lunch program; federal aid to education; an effective school attendance law; the state medical program; consolidation of schools, and districts on the basis of child welfare, and adult and veteran education. These were the outstanding planks in the program as presented last night by Howard Carr of Greensboro to the institute being held by the Parent-Teacher Congress. He is chairman of the organization's committee on legislation.

famine in fresh meat for most of the nation was reported today—with no indications of immediate relief—as the Senate prepared to act on the House-approved compromise OPA bill retaining meat price control.

Some packer industry spokesmen said should the bill become law, keeping the lids on livestock and meat prices, the country's meat supply "will get even worse." Others asserted the scarcity would continue for several months. One large packer said the shortage would continue "until the fate of OPA is determined." There were threats of a complete shutdown of facilities from packing houses to retail markets in Los Angeles because of expressed dissatisfaction over the OPA bill provisions.

The abnormally low volume of livestock at markets during the last two weeks has resulted in the lowest output in history at many plants. An increase in livestock receipts, however, was expected next week by some industry spokesmen who said many farmers would release cattle which they had been holding back pending settlement of the OPA issue.
